19,164. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where were you when he came up to you?—Going home, down the street.

19,165. After your day's work?—Yes.

19,166. What is Corderoy?—A painter.

19,167. He meets you, and salutes you and says, "Have you made up your mind for whom you are "going to vote?"—He said something like that. He asked me which way I was going, and I told him I should not promise; that is what I said.

19,168. You knew he was canvassing, I suppose, for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

19,169. What did he say?—He did not say anything more to me about it.

19,170. You did not tell us what he said?—He asked me which way I was going, and I told him I should not promise. That is all he said to me, besides making the offer.

19,171. Tell us how he made the offer; what did he say when he made the offer?—Well, I don't know. He could not say more than that he would give me 10*l.* if I would go their way.

19,172. He said, "I will give you 10*l.* if you will "go our way"?—That is all.

19,173. Is that what he said?—Yes.

19,174. Did not you look at him and say, "How "can you get 10*l.*?" You did not think he had 10*l.*?—I was not going to vote that way.

19,175. Do you think he had 10*l.* to give you?—It is very likely he might; I cannot say.

19,176. Do you think he had?—I did not see the money.

19,177. I know you did not; but did you think he had it to give you? It is a high price, you know?—It is a high price.

19,178. You had heard that the people who were on the committee were to have 4*l.* or 5*l.*?—I heard so; but it was merely hearsay.

19,179. Of course you had heard it. Everybody had heard it, that the gentlemen on the committee were receiving 4*l.* or 5*l.*, 30*s.* a week. How long was it before the election that you spoke of this?—A week or ten days; I cannot say.

19,180. You did not believe that he would give you 10*l.*?—He might.

19,181. Did you believe it?—I could not say.

19,182. Did you believe it?—If he told me so, I had no right to disbelieve it.

19,183. You had in your mind an opinion at the time?—But I did not want the 10*l.*; I was not drawed up for 10*l.*

19,184. Did you believe you could have had 10*l.*?—I might have had it.

19,185. Do you believe it now; seriously?—I might; I cannot say.

19,186. I will not ask you whether you can say that you would have had it; but did you believe you could?—No doubt, if I had liked, I could have had it; but I did not want it. I was not going to vote that way.

19,187. How soon after that did you see any of the Gower party?—I had seen them before.

19,188. You had not promised them?—No.

19,189. How soon after that did you see any of the Gower party? That is my question?—I used to see them every day.

19,190. Who used you to see every day?—I cannot say particularly; at the station there are so many backwards and forwards that I cannot say.

19,191. I am beginning to think there is a great difficulty in getting matters out of you?—That is all I know about it.

19,192. Who did you see of the Gower party after that offer?—I cannot say particularly.

19,193. To whom of the Gower party did you mention the offer of 10*l.* that was made to you?—I did not say anything about it till after the election for some time, not till lately.

19,194. During the election you had made up your mind to vote for Gower, and you are what we call a 10*l.* proof voter. Did not you tell anybody, "Here "I am; I was offered 10*l.*"?—No, I did not.

19,195. Did you tell your wife you were offered 10*l.*?—No.

19,196. How soon after the election did you mention it?—I cannot say precisely.

19,197. How soon after?—I cannot say.

19,198. To whom did you mention it after the election?—I do not know who it was; I cannot say who it might be.

19,199. You say you did not mention it before the election; to whom did you mention it after the election?—Not any one particular.

19,200. Did you mention it to any one at all?—Not till lately.

19,201. To whom?—I cannot say.

19,202. You say it was not till lately; surely you can tell us who it was?—It was not till lately.

19,203. How long ago?—I cannot say precisely.

19,204. A week or a month?—It might be a week, or it might be a month, or it might be three weeks; I cannot say.

19,205. I ask you, did you ever mention it to any human being till to-day?—Yes; a person asked me the other night whether there had been any money offered.

19,206. Who asked you?—Job Apted asked me.

19,207. When was it that Job Apted asked you?—One night last week.

19,208. Since this Commission? Where was it?—Against the hall door; I was looking at the names on the door.

19,209. He said, "Mr. Stapleton, you will be "examined soon," did not he?—No, he did not.

19,210. What did he say?—Well, I will tell you what he did say. He asked me whether I knowed anybody had been offered money by the Monsons.

19,211. He said, "You are going to be examined, "Stapleton," did not he?—No, not as I am aware of.

19,212. Oh come, come?—That is the truth.

19,213. Everything is truth, you know, till it is discovered to be otherwise?—That is the truth.

19,214. How could Job Apted know that anybody had offered you money?—He did not know.

19,215. You had not told it to any human being?—I might have said I had been offered 10*l.*

19,216. You told me you did not, you know; you said it was Job Apted asked you. Well, what did you say to him? He said, "Have you been offered any "money?" or, "Has anybody offered you any money?"—I do not understand.

19,217. Job Apted met you at the door and asked you if you had been offered any money?—He asked me if I knowed anybody had been offered money down our way, and I could not say "No;" I told the truth, and I said "Yes."

19,218. He asked you if you knowed anybody who had been offered money by the other side?—Yes.

19,219. What were you doing at the hall?—Looking at the names.

19,220. After you had got your summons?—Yes.

19,221. And Apted came up to you?—His door is opposite.

19,222. He saw you looking at the names?—I suppose so.

19,223. He asked you if you knew anybody, and what did you say?—I could not say "No" if I told the truth.

19,224. No, no; tell me what you did say?—I said "Yes."

19,225. What did you say?—That was all that passed.

19,226. Job Apted did not stop there?—Yes, Job Apted did stop there.

TWELFTH DAY.

G. Stapleton.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,227. He said, "Well, who was it that offered "money?"—He might ask me who it was, and I told him Corderoy; that is all.

19,228. He asked you if you could tell him anybody who was offered money, and you said, "I was," I suppose?—I told him I had been.

19,229. He said, "Who offered you the money?" Why don't you tell us the whole story?—I do tell you as well as I can.

19,230. Then you said, "Mr. Corderoy"?—Yes.

19,231. You see I have to get it word by word from you. And then he asked you, "When was it?" —No, he did not ask me anything about time.

19,232. Then he asked how much money it was? —He might have said, "How much?"

19,233. Did not he? You know this only occurred last week?—Yes; I told him 10*l.*; that was all.

19,234. And he said, didn't he, "Why, you have "been offered no money on our side?"—No, Mr. Apted did not.

19,235. "Well, you know you have received no "money from us," or something of that kind?—No, he did not say no such thing.

19,236. Did not he?—No.

19,237. You have not been offered any money on that side?—No.

19,238. And you had no money?—Well, I had some for work I had done.

19,239. What? You had been at work? You did not tell me you had been at work?—Oh, I am a pretty good chap to work.

19,240. Well, how long had you been at work?—Well, I went to four of the meetings; that was all I did.

19,241. You went to attend meetings?—Yes.

19,242. What did you put them down at each? What did you receive for them?—I received 3*l.*

19,243. That would be 15*s.* a meeting?—Then there is the nomination and polling day, you know, sir.

19,244. That was included?—Yes.

19,245. Who paid you?—Joyes.

19,246. Who engaged you?—Joyes.

19,247. What meetings did you attend?—One at Mead-vale; one at Redhill; one at Earlswood; and one at Reigate-hill, and I was liable to all calls when they engaged with me.

19,248. Of course you considered yourself liable to be called?—Yes.

19,249. What time do you work for your master? What hours?—From 7 to half-past 5.

19,250. Of course if you were called in those hours you did not consider that you should go?—No; it was the evening I had to do it; but I would rather be without the work; I could earn more at home than at electioneering, even at that price.

19,251. And I suppose you do earn more?—Yes, during the summer.

19,252. At what?—Gardening.

19,253. Did Apted ask you how much you received on the Gower side when he spoke to you?—No.

19,254. He was only anxious to know what you were offered by the other party?—He never asked me anything about the Gower side, and nobody ever promised me anything.

19,255. How long before the election was it that Joyes asked you to attend the meetings?—I do not know; it might be seven or eight weeks, perhaps; I can't say exactly.

19,256. What did you do at the meetings?—I did not do anything particular; I went the same as the rest, to hear and see, and say "Gower for ever," perhaps.

19,257. To say what?—"Gower for ever;" that is generally the cry, you know.

19,258. You had not voted before, had you?—I voted for Wilkinson.

19,259. Had you been employed?—Yes.

19,260. Oh, you had been employed in 1863?—Yes.

19,261. For what?—Attending the meetings and so on of a night; taking papers to the "Swan," and Mead-vale.

19,262. What were you paid on that occasion?—3*l.*

19,263. The same?—Yes.

19,264. Have you voted at any other election?—No.

19,265. That was the first time you voted?—Yes.

19,266. By whom were you paid 3*l.*?—By Mazden, I believe.

19,267. That was for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

19,268. And Joyes paid you in 1865?—Yes.

19,269. Were you one of these men that are called rooks or rabbits?—No.

19,270. What did they call them?—They called them Monsonites and Gowerites. That is all I know of.

19,271. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were a Gowerite?—Yes.

19,272. Who is your master?—Thomas Dann.

19,273. Did he canvass you?—No, he never said anything about the election, except "George, wilt "promise?" or something of that sort. He never said anything to press me in any way whatever. He never has done so, and I have worked for him for 15 years.

19,274. Did Mazden speak to you about voting for Gower?—Yes.

19,275. What did he say?—Something about "Going our side, George," or something of that sort.

19,276. Did he speak to you about going on the committee?—I do not know, and I cannot say whether I was on the committee or not.

19,277. Did he say, "If you come on our side, it "will be better for you, you will get paid for your "work"?—Something of that kind. "If you go to "work you will get paid for it."

19,278. Did Mazden tell you what you might expect?—No.

19,279. Was that before you had seen Joyes?—I never saw Joyes.

19,280. I understood you to say that Joyes paid you the 3*l.*?—Yes, the last election. Mazden has not spoken to me about this election.

19,281. Did he speak to you about the election of 1863?—Yes, he said, "Come and work for us, "George," or something like that.

19,282. Who did he canvass for?—Wilkinson, I believe. I voted for Wilkinson.

19,283. He told you if you came and worked you would get paid?—Something of that kind.

19,284. Did you get paid in 1863?—Yes, but none too well for running about.

J. Trussler.

JAMES TRUSSLER sworn, called, and examined.

19,285. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Trussler?—A plasterer.

19,286. What rent do you pay for your house?—13*l.* a year.

19,287. Whom did you vote for at the last election? Mr. Gower.

19,288. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower came to me.

19,289. And so did Mr. Monson, did not he?—No, Mr. Monson did not.

19,290. And was that your reason for voting for Mr. Gower, because Mr. Gower canvassed you?—No, that was not the reason. About 12 months before the last election Mr. Hanbury, a gentleman, canvassed on behalf of Mr. Gower.

19,291. Twelve months before the last election came on, do you mean for the previous election?—No, not the previous election; on account of another election coming on.

19,292. Oh, for fear that there should be another election?—Yes.

19,293. Mr. Hanbury was canvassing for Mr.

Gower?—Yes. Mr. Gower came to me, and I said I would not vote against him. I thought he was an ill-used man, because he was fit for us at first, and yet not fit for us this time.

19,294. Was that your reason for voting for Mr. Gower, because you thought he was an illused man, and because he came and canvassed you himself? You don't mean that?—Yes, I do.

19,295. Were you put on Mr. Gower's committee when the election drew near?—No.

19,296. You were not?—No.

19,297. Were you asked to go on his committee?—He asked me to go on his committee, but I declined.

19,298. Then did he come a second time, when the election was going on?—He only canvassed me once.

19,299. That was a long time before the election?—No, he did not come till a month or five weeks, I cannot say exactly the time.

19,300. And did anybody else come to you about Mr. Gower besides Mr. Gower himself?—No one came to me to trouble me at all about Mr. Gower, except himself.

19,301. Not to trouble you, but to canvass you?—I might have been asked.

19,302. That is the very thing I want?—There might have been one.

19,303. Who was the one?—No one came to me and asked me.

19,304. Who asked you without coming to you, then?—A man named Titchener.

19,305. Did George Jupp come and ask?—He did not ask me, for when Mr. Gower came he run out of the way.

19,306. Why did he do so?—I don't know.

19,307. Was he shy about his vote?—I do not know I am sure. After Mr. Gower was gone he came out.

19,308. You mean when he saw him coming he cut away?—Yes.

19,309. Did he ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No; he knew I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

19,310. Did he ask you which way you were going to vote; because he was not present at the interview?—He knew it.

19,311. How did he know it?—Because I told him myself.

19,312. Did you tell Jupp why you were going to vote for Gower?—I told him all along I was going to vote for Gower, because I thought he was the best man.

19,313. Give me the time?—I do not know that I can recollect.

19,314. I think I can remind you?—If it is right I will tell you.

19,315. Oh, then you do recollect there was something?—I do not know what you are going to say.

19,316. Do you remember telling George Jupp that you had been offered 2*l.*?—No, I do not.

19,317. That is not the right sum?—I do not recollect that ever I told George Jupp that I was offered 2*l.*

19,318. Never mind whether you recollect or not; did you tell him so, or have you forgotten it?—No.

19,319. Do you mean to say you did not tell George Jupp that you were offered 2*l.*?—No.

19,320. Did you tell George Jupp that you had received the 2*l.*?—No.

19,321. Well, what was the story about the 2*l.*? I wish you would let me have it?—I do not know that I had any conversation with George Jupp about 2*l.*

19,322. What was the story about the 2*l.*? Somebody said something, you recollect?—They might have said something.

19,323. What was the story about the 2*l.*?—I was told that a man of the name of Kilminster said that Stevens gave me 2*l.* on the polling day in "Grapes" yard.

19,324. That was Edwin Stevens?—Yes.

19,325. Was that right?—It was not right. I was not in "Grapes" yard all that day.

19,326. Do you recollect Mazden's name being in the story?—Mazden had nothing to do with me.

19,327. Did you receive 2*l.* from him?—No, I did not.

19,328. Had he anything to do with the 2*l.*?—No, Mazden never had anything to do with any money to me.

19,329. Then it was George Stevens?—Edwin Stevens.

19,330. When did you receive the 2*l.* from Stevens?—On the polling day (it was said).

19,331. Where was it he paid you the 2*l.*?—It was said that it was in the "Grapes" yard, but where it was I don't know. I never seed the 2*l.* I take my oath.

19,332. You told me just now that Edwin Stevens paid the 2*l.*?—I did not say that Edwin Stevens paid me the 2*l.* I said that Edwin Stevens give me the 2*l.* The report was given out that I received it on the polling day.

19,333. When did you receive it? If it was not on the polling day, when was it?—After the election.

19,334. Edwin Stevens paid you?—No, he did not.

19,335. Who paid it?—Titchener.

19,336. What did he pay you the 2*l.* for?—For loss of time on the polling day and nomination. The report was so.

19,337. The report was pretty well founded, only there seems to have been some mistake in the name and the day. When was the promise made about this 2*l.*?—At the time the election was on. It was three weeks or something like that before the election.

19,338. Were you promised it by Titchener or by somebody else?—By Titchener.

19,339. Was not I right in what I said before, that you told George Jupp that you received the 2*l.*?—He told me that I was accused of taking 2*l.* from Stevens on the polling day.

19,340. And you did not receive anything from Stevens?—No.

19,341. He was on the wrong scent to some extent. Did you say more than that? Did you say to Jupp something like this, "How in the world do you know "that"?—No, I do not recollect it.

19,342. But I want you to try if you cannot. Don't you remember saying to Jupp, "What, do you mean "to say you know about it"?—No, I don't.

19,343. Something like that?—I don't recollect anything of the sort.

19,344–5. Didn't you go on and beg Jupp not to split?—No, I did not, for I would not sell myself for a glass of brandy and water, and I know he would.

19,346. Did not you say to Jupp, "Well, I know I "had; pray don't split," or something like that?—No, I don't recollect that.

19,347. Don't you recollect telling Jupp that you hoped he would not split?—No.

19,348. Nothing of the sort?—I do not recollect it.

19,349. You don't mean to say that you did not say so?—I do not recollect.

19,350. Do you think it impossible?—It might be; it might be that I did.

19,351. It might be that you did say so?—I won't confess to that.

19,352. Will you deny it? We can get Jupp in a very short time?—It is so long ago.

19,353. Then I won't ask you any more about it. Had you been asked to vote for Monson?—Yes.

TWELFTH DAY.

J. Trussler.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,354. And who asked you to vote for Monson?—Henry Francis, I think it was.

19,355. Anybody else?—Spence.

19,356. Did Henry Francis offer you money?—Yes.

19,357. You did not agree with him; people did not seem to think him the right man?—I promised to vote for Gower, and I went for Gower.

19,358. Francis offered you how much?—6*l.*

19,359. Did you object to that on principle, because you had promised to vote for Gower, or was it because you did not think Henry Francis was very good pay?—No, not at all; I had promised Mr. Gower, and I did not mean to vote for Mr. Monson.

19,360. Did he show you the 6*l.*?—I did not see it.

19,361. What did Spence say?—He told me that if I would vote he would give me 5*l.*

19,362. Did you say, "I might think about it." Then did he say, "Well, then, I will call on you "again;" or, "We shall have some hopes of you"?—I never saw him afterwards about it.

19,363. Did you tell Henry Francis the same, "Well, I won't make up my mind," or did you say to yourself, "I won't have much to do with Francis"?—I told him I would not promise.

19,364. Did you get anything at all put down by the Monson party?—No.

19,365. Not a farthing?—No, I did not.

19,366. Might you not?—Well, if I liked to have took it, perhaps I might.

19,367. Who from?—If I liked to take it from Mr. Francis, I might, but I would not promise him.

19,368. And is your recollection good enough to say you are sure that you did not receive anything?—Yes, my recollection is quite good enough for that.

19,369. You were shaky about the 2*l.*?—It is quite good enough for that, I assure you.

19,370. Well, I see the difference. Was this the first election at which you had voted?—Yes.

19,371. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you had promised to vote for Mr. Gower before Francis and Spence came to you?—Not Francis.

19,372. You told Francis that you would think about it?—I told him I would not promise.

19,373. But you told us just now that, having promised to Mr. Gower, you were going to stick to it?—Yes.

19,374. Then why did not you tell Francis at once that you had promised Gower, and therefore he need not come to offer you money?—I had made up my mind.

19,375. Then was not the shortest way of getting rid of him to say, when he came and offered you money, "I have promised Mr. Gower"? Did not you feel very much insulted that you had been offered money?—I did not mean to take Monson's money.

19,376. But you had no objection to take Gower's money?—Not for the time I had lost.

19,377. Then why didn't you tell Francis at once that you had promised Mr. Gower, and that you didn't want to be bothered by him? Why did not you tell him that, and so get rid of him?—You see the result of your not telling Francis that you had promised Mr. Gower was that you got a visit from Spence?—No, Spence called before Mr. Gower came out.

19,378. That is not what you gave us to understand just now. When was it that you first had a glimmer that you were going to have something for your services for Mr. Gower?—A month or five weeks before the election.

19,379. Who was that from?—From Titchener.

19,380. Then eventually he paid you?—Yes.

19,381. Did Titchener tell you where he got the money from?—No.

ALVIN STREET sworn and examined.

A. Street.

19,382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification at the election?—15*l.* a year rent.

19,383. And what are you?—A carpenter at Mr. Wyatt's.

19,384. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

19,385. Were you on his committee?—I believe so.

19,386. Who canvassed you?—Mr. Alec. Rose canvassed me.

19,387. Where do you live?—In Holmesdale-road.

19,388. Did Rose ask you to go on the committee?—Yes.

19,389. Did he tell you what you were to have if you went on the committee?—No.

19,390. Did Rose say anything to you about being remunerated for work?—Yes.

19,391. What did he say?—He said I should be paid for what work I did.

19,392. Did you do any work?—Well, I was at their meetings.

19,393. You attended meetings in the evening?—Yes, that was all.

19,394. Did you attend meetings in this hall?—Yes.

19,395. Did you attend any of the meetings at the public houses?—I attended one or two.

19,396. You attended one or two public house meetings?—Yes.

19,397. Did you canvass?—No.

19,398. You did not ask anybody to vote?—I did not ask, only amongst my own class of people.

19,399. If you tumbled in among any of your own class you asked them, I suppose, which way they were going to vote?—Yes, and I took out messages and some circulars.

19,400. Well, that did not hurt you?—No.

19,401. I suppose the messages were not many?—One or two.

19,402. Do you go to the extent of two messages?—More than that.

19,403. But so few you cannot tell me how many?—I cannot tell you how many.

19,404. Did you see Frederick Joyes?—I saw him during the election time.

19,405. Did you have any conversation with him about your work?—No.

19,406. Did Joyes speak to you about being on the committee?—No.

19,407. It was only Rose?—No.

19,408. Have you been paid anything?—Yes.

19,409. What were you paid?—4*l.*

19,410. Who paid you?—Mr. Rose, I think.

19,411. You think Rose?—Yes.

19,412. When did he pay you?—Two or three weeks after the election.

19,413. How came you to be paid so soon after the election? did you ask for the money?—I believe I saw him one day, and upon saying the elections were all over he said, "I owe you a little money for your "work." I said, "Yes;" when he said, "You had "better come down with me, and I will pay you."

19,414. Where did you go to be paid?—At Mr. Smith's office.

19,415. The election agent?—Yes.

19,416. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who took you?—Rose.

19,417. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you at Mr. Smith's; was it in his presence you were paid?—Mr. Smith gave Rose a cheque, and he gave it to me.

19,418. Was it a cheque for 4*l.*?—Well, I forget now.

TWELFTH DAY.

A. Street.

19,419. Where did you get the gold ?—I cashed it at the bank.

19,420. Did you go to the bank yourself ?—Yes.

19,421. And on presenting it yourself you got the 4*l.*?—It was 5*l.* I think I gave Mr. Rose 1*l.* to give to somebody else.

19,422. You are quite certain you went to the bank and got the money ?—Yes.

19,423. And gave Rose the 1*l.* ?—Yes.

19,424. Did Rose tell you who the other 1*l.* was for ?—Yes, Mr. Ede.

19,425. Can you tell us which Ede ?—I don't know no more than it was the one who worked at the stone quarries.

19,426. When you were at Mr. Smith's was anything said to him about your services, what you had done ?—I do not know there was in particular.

19,427. Were you present when Mr. Smith gave the cheque ?—Yes.

19,428. Then either you or Rose asked him for the cheque ?—Rose did.

19,429. Did you hear Rose tell Mr. Smith what he asked him the cheque for ?—I forget, but I dare say it was to pay me for the work I had done.

19,430. To pay you ?—Yes.

19,431. Is that all you have received ?—Yes.

19,432. Was anything paid you, besides the 4*l.*, for going to the poll, for polling day ?—No.

19,433. How were the particulars made out so as to make up the 4*l.* ?—I made out a little account for being messenger and delivering messages.

19,434. Was there anything else in the account ?—No, nothing more.

19,435. Did you vote in 1863 ?—No.

19,436. Were you on the register ?—No.

19,437. Did any of the Monson party canvass you this last election ? — No, only Mr. Monson himself.

19,438. Was anybody with Mr. Monson ?—Serjeant Johns.

19,439. Was it Josiah Ede the 1*l.* was to be paid to ?—I do not know his name just now.

19,440. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What Ede was it given to ?—I gave it to Mr. Rose ; at least, I do not know whether it was Mr. Rose or Mr. Joyes who took it ; we were together.

19,441. Who was the 1*l.* to go to ?—To Ede ; but I do not know his Christian name.

19,442. What is he ? — He works in the stone quarry.

19,443. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you never receive any money from Joyes ?—No.

19,444. Neither before or after the election ?—No.

19,445. You received no money from him ?—No.

19,446. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure the money you paid out of the 5*l.* was to go to the man Ede working in the stone quarries ?—He used to work in the stone quarries. I never paid him the money myself.

19,447. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I understand you paid it to Alec. Rose ; you only suppose it was to be paid to one of the Edes ?—Yes.

19,448. Did you hear from Rose he wanted it for one of the Edes ?—That is what he said in Mr. Smith's office.

19,449. And that is all you know about it ?—Yes.

19,450. Is there anything you know more about the 4*l.* or 5*l.* that ought to be told to us ?—No.

19,451. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know any Ede that works as a gardener ?—I believe that is James Ede.

19,452. Do you know his uncle ?—No.

19,453. Or his nephew ?—I do not know any relationship of the Edes, the only one I know being the one whose Christian and surname too I have given.

19,454. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you give a receipt for the 4*l.* ?—No.

19,455. For the 5*l.* ?—Neither.

19,456. Did Mr. Smith ask you for a receipt ?—No.

19,457. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you quite sure that out of the 5*l.* 4*l.* were for you ?—That is what I had.

19,458. Did Rose go to the bank with you ?—No.

19,459. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The cheque was made out in your favour ?—Yes.

19,460. And did Mr. Smith understand he was giving the 5*l.* for you ?—No, because it was mentioned before Mr. Smith in his office Mr. Ede was to have 1*l.*

19,461. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you certain as a fact you never received a farthing from Mr. Joyes ?—I am quite certain.

The witness then withdrew.

JOSEPH STEER sworn and examined.

J. Steer.

19,462. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A coachman.

19,463. In whose employ ?—Mr. Wilson Sanders.

19,464. You were in his employ during the election last year ?—Yes.

19,465. Are you there still ?—As his coachman.

19,466. What rent do you pay for your house ?—10*l.* 8*s.* a year.

19,467. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

19,468. Was that the first time you voted, Mr. Steer ?—Yes.

19,469. I believe you were a very active friend of Mr. Gower's, and that you were on his committee ?—I was on his committee.

19,470. And very active ?—I do not know as to being very active ; perhaps I may have been.

19,471. Who put you on his committee ?—I saw James Ede and Rose, and I suggested that my name should be put on his committee ; I had come down purposely.

19,472. Had you anything to sell ?—Yes.

19,473. Because we heard of a person who had a cannon to sell ?—I had pigs.

19,474. Did Ede or Rose take a fancy to your pig ?—No.

19,475. They did not buy it ?—No, and no one did take a fancy to it.

19,476. Did they offer you anything for it ?—No, they never offered me anything.

19,477. Do you not remember being offered 7*l.* for it ?—No, I wanted 7*l.* 10*s.*

19,478. They asked you the price of it ?—Perhaps they might.

19,479. Where was this grunter ?—At home in my garden.

19,480. I suppose they came to you and saw it, I suppose they were both together, Mr. Ede and Mr. Rose ?—No, they never came to see it.

19,481. Who came to you ?—Nobody, that I know of. I saw some of the Monson party sometimes and asked them if they wanted to buy a pig.

19,482. Did anybody offer you anything for it ?—No.

19,483. Who spoke to you about it ?—Nobody. I spoke to them.

19,484. Who did you speak to ?—James Apted ; I thought he was a pork butcher, and therefore might buy it.

19,485. Did he come to you ?—No.

19,486. Did you go to him ?—No ; I knew him very well.

19,487. Did he ask you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No.

19,488. What did you say to him ?—I do not recollect it ; it is so long ago that I forget.

19,489. Did you offer him the pig ?—I told him I would sell him my pig for 7*l.* 10*s.*

19,490. What did he say ?—I cannot recollect.

TWELFTH DAY.

J. Steer.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,491. I suppose he would not give so much; you wanted 7*l.* 10*s.*, and he said it was a high price; did he not say that?—No, I do not recollect what he did say.

19,492. Did he offer you anything at all?—No.

19,493. Did he offer you any money for the pig?—No.

19,494. I believe you said whoever would buy your pig should have your vote?—No, I did not.

19,495. Was it in jest?—I was joking. I did not mean anything when I was talking about selling the pig.

19,496. Then it was only a joke, it was in a joke?—Yes.

19,497. Well, you were on Mr. Gower's committee; what did you receive?—1*l.* 10*s.*

19,498. From whom?—From James Ede; I saw Rose, I think, in the square one night, he asked me who I was going to vote for. I said I had not made up my mind to decide right off. On Saturday I came down intending to have my name put on the committee. I was going in when James Ede, who was at the door, said if I did what was right, and attended the meetings, I should be paid for my work.

19,499. What time was that?—That was five weeks before polling day.

19,500. Who paid you the 30*s.*?—James Ede.

19,501. When?—It might be six weeks or two months after the election.

19,502. And that was all a jest about the pig?—Yes.

19,503. Did you not mean to offer it?—I never meant to sell the pig, not on that account. If they had offered to buy the pig I should have let them have it, but not on that account. It was not well.

19,504. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it worth 1*l.*?—I gave 25*s.* for it.

19,505. Yes, but it was not well; what was the real value of it?—I cannot say.

19,506. At all events it was not worth 7*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

19,507. Was it worth 40*s.*?—It was a nice pig, but I do not know what it was worth.

19,508. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not mean to sell it?—No, I never meant to sell the pig on that account.

19,509. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you anything more to tell us?—No, that is all, I have done, and all I know about the thing.

19,510. You knew that others received money?—I believe, John Brooker received 30*s.* from Ede.

19,511. What is he?—A gardener.

19,512. You believe he received 30*s.* from James Ede?—Yes, but I do not know; I heard Brooker say so one night, for work he had done.

19,513. During the election?—Yes, during the election.

19,514. What was the work you did?—I attended two meetings down stairs, and the nomination day and polling day. I had some one to give me notice to come down, and I did come down here.

19,515. Some of the notices you did not attend to?—Yes, I did.

19,516. But that was all the work you did?—Yes.

19,517. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 30*s.* from Gower?—From Ede.

19,518. Did you not receive 1*l.* from Mr. Apted?—No.

19,519. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is there any other Steer besides you?—My brother voted for Mr. Monson; his name is Thomas.

19,520. Was there any other Steer who voted for Mr. Gower?—Not that I know of.

19,521. Did you not receive 1*l.* from Mr. Apted?—No.

19,522. Just recollect yourself?—I did not receive 1*l.*

19,523. Is there anything you know about 1*l.* from Apted?—No.

19,524. Or money at all as connected with Apted?—No further than James Ede said he would pay me something for my work.

19,525. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Apted say that?—I believe he did one night.

19,526. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The actual payment, besides what you received from Ede, was 1*l.*, from Apted?—No, I did not receive that, I never received any more than 30*s.*, and that was from Ede.

The witness withdrew.

B. Smith.

BENJAMIN SMITH sworn and examined.

19,527. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A shoemaker I may say.

19,528. Were you ever a baker?—I do a little of it now I may say, my missis and I.

19,529. Were you not on Mr. Gower's committee?—Well, I was not on particular, no other way than this, in case I was wanted. I promised I would do anything that they wanted.

19,530. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

19,531. What rent did you pay?—I think I am rated at 10*l.* a year.

19,532. But what rent?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

19,533. You say you offered, if they wanted you for anything, to do it?—Yes.

19,534. Did they want you for anything?—If they wanted me to collect voters together.

19,535. Did they require you to do that?—Not any further than that I attended the hall, and was ready to carry any message, and in case they wanted anybody to assist I would go.

19,536. I wish to know whether they ever did want you to help them, and to collect the voters together?—No; I believe I went to some of the voters to say there was going to be a committee meeting called, and to keep them together.

19,537. You did a little for them?—Yes, it was but a little.

19,538. What did they pay you for that little?—I had 2*l.*

19,539. Did you receive it altogether?—Yes, altogether.

19,540. Not more?—No, not more.

19,541. Who paid you?—Mr. Durrant.

19,542. When was that?—It was some time after the election, but many weeks, though I cannot say exactly well how long.

19,543. I believe they used to come to your house?—No; they went in when they could to the freehold hall; they gave Mr. Gower leave to make use of that.

19,544. Make use of what?—What they call the freehold hall, and I think Mr. Gower first met there.

19,545. Have you got anything to do with the hall?—No, sir, it was the chapel.

19,546. Did they not use a room in your house?—No, not Mr. Gower; but I voted for Mr. Wilkinson before, and they had it.

19,547. Were you paid anything for your house or the hall last election?—No.

19,548. Did you receive nothing but the 2*l.*?—No.

19,549. Was Mr. Monson's party trying to engage a room in your house?—Yes; I was asked by one or two.

19,550. What did they offer for it?—They offered nothing in particular, but they asked whether they could have it for a committee room, and I told them I had no objection. They said, "Who do you vote "for?" I said I had promised to Mr. Gower, "but "it has nothing to do with my room." They said, "If you vote for Mr. Gower we cannot give you "much of an answer at present," and so it went off.

19,551. Did you get anything from the Monson party?—No; but I was rather tempted that way.

19,552. Who tempted you most?—I was asked by two or three parties.

19,553. What was the highest sum?—They told me a sovereign, but they said, "We can do that" (holding up five fingers).

19,554. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Holding up five fingers?—Yes; but nothing was said.

19,555. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did that?—If you wish to know, it was Mr. Grutchfield.

19,556. When he held up the five fingers, did you say "All right"?—No; I said, "I have made up my "mind to go for Mr. Gower."

19,557. Was this your first election?—No, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson. I never voted only at two elections.

19,558. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes, I suppose it was.

19,559. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

19,560. What did you get that time for all your services?—It was a long time I was on his committee, three weeks, but I cannot tell to a day or two. I think it was close up to that.

19,561. What did you get?—5*s.* a day.

19,562. Do you know what it came to?—I cannot tell to a day or two.

19,563. Did they pay you by the day?—They paid me by the day; I think I took in two payments.

19,564. Did you get 35*s.* twice over?—No, not so much as that. Oh! twice 35*s.*; I know I have gone over a fortnight, and perhaps three weeks.

19,565. You got 5*s.* a day for close upon three weeks?—Yes, I think it was.

19,566. Who paid you?—Mr. James, at the "Swan."

19,567. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you do for your 5*s.* a day in 1863?—For Mr. Wilkinson?

19,568. Yes?—I had a goodish bit to do round about the freehold. There were a good many papers, and I went sometimes twice a day. There were a good many papers carried about that time, and mostly something to do every day.

19,569. You were not going about all day long?—No, not all day long. I hope not. At election times people are not expected to do that.

19,570. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you say?—I said people are not expected to work all day long at election times, not for that money; it is rather light sometimes.

19,571. Was it Mr. Durrant paid you the 2*l.*?—I had but little to do, for Mr. Gower was so strong they had not many circulars to send round.

19,572. Was it Mr. Durrant paid you the 2*l.*?—He paid me if I would promise to do anything I was wanted to do.

19,573. After the election you were paid 2*l.*?—Yes.

19,574. Are you sure it was Durrant who paid you?—Yes.

19,575. The brewer?—Yes, I am quite sure. I beg your pardon, I am a little deaf. I did not understand you right.

WILLIAM TAYLOR sworn and examined.

W. Taylor.

19,576. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—I did, sir.

19,577. For whom?—Mr. Gower.

19,578. What are you?—A carpenter.

19,579. What do you pay for your house?—6*s.* a week.

19,580. Who do you work for?—Mr. Nightingale.

19,581. Which way did he vote?—I suppose he voted for Mr. Gower. I have never seen the poll books.

19,582. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

19,583. Who put you on the committee?—Mr. Joyes.

19,584. Frederick?—Yes.

19,585. Were you to do anything for being put on the committee?—No.

19,586. Were you to work for the party?—Nothing was said about it; I went on my own accord, and Mr. Gower put me on the committee.

19,587. Had you been told if your name went on the committee you would get paid like the others?—No.

19,588. When did you go on the committee?—Soon after Mr. Gower said he was going to put up as a candidate.

19,589. Had you voted for Mr. Gower before, on the previous election?—Yes.

19,590. Were you on his committee then?—I was.

19,591. Were you paid anything for the election in '63?—Yes.

19,592. Who paid you?—Mr. Love—George, I think—the painter.

19,593. What did George Love pay you?—He paid me 1*l.*

19,594. What was that for?—It was for loss of time.

19,595. What time had you lost?—The nomination day, polling day, declaration day, and attending committee meetings at the "White Hart."

19,596. How many committee meetings did you attend in 1863?—About two at the "White Hart."

19,597. Were there any refreshments going at the "White Hart"?—Not in the committee room.

19,598. At the bar?—No.

19,599. Did you have anything there?—I never had a drop at the bar.

19,600. Had you a drop anywhere else?—I had a glass of grog in the room below.

19,601. At the "White Hart"?—Yes.

19,602. Did you pay for it?—No, I did not.

19,603. In which room were you the longest at a time; where the committee meeting was, or where the refreshments were?—In the committee room, where I was nearly all the evening, with Mr. Phillips, Mr. Hanbury, and others.

19,604. In the committee room there were no refreshments, but only in the room below?—That is all.

19,605. You got 1*l.* in 1863?—Yes.

19,606. Having got that in 1863, did you not expect something in 1865? did you not expect it in '65?—No, I did not expect it, because I never asked it.

19,607. How came you to get it?—This was in September, after the election in February, when I received the 1*l.* He said, "Here is 1*l.* for you, Taylor, "for services you rendered at Mr. Gower's election." I could not afford to lose my time, and therefore I took it.

19,608. Do you mean to say nothing was said to you about being on Mr. Gower's committee before you walked into the room?—No.

19,609. Did you attend the meeting here saying, "Those who voted for him should be well paid"?—I was in the committee room. I heard that speech, but I took no notice of it.

19,610. Why?—I could not tell whether it was a promise or anything else.

19,611. You heard him say, "Those who worked "should be well paid"?—He said he hoped that every one would put his shoulder to the wheel.

19,612. What else did he say?—I did not hear him say anything about payment; I did not hear every word, but it was to that effect. I did not hear any promise.

19,613. Do you know Mazden?—I do.

12,614. Is he a neighbour of yours?—No.

19,615. But you know him?—Yes, he keeps a public house in Mead-vale.

19,616. Did he speak to you in 1865 about voting?—No.

19,617. Nor 1863?—No.

TWELFTH DAY.

W. Taylor.

19,618. Do you know George Jupp?—No.

19,619. Will you undertake to say you had not said in Mazden's presence you received 2*l.* in '65?—Yes.

19,620. Did you receive 2*l.* in any way, in meal or malt?—No.

19,621. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you receive?—1*l.* in '63.

19,622. And in 1865 nothing?—Nothing.

19,623. Have you never asked anybody for anything?—No.

19,624. Be very cautious, will you?—I am cautious.

19,625. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know Buckland?—I do.

19,626. Will you undertake to say he never paid you anything?—He paid me 5*s.* five or six weeks before the election.

19,627. Did he owe you 5*s.*?—No.

19,628. How came he to give you 5*s.* five or six weeks before the election?—Mr. Buckland said to me, "It is very hard for you to go about and spend "your own money, which I am sure you cannot "afford to do; here is 5*s.* to get yourself a glass of "ale with." It might be three or four weeks before the election.

19,629. That was no reason for your going about the election?—No doubt it was not; but those were the words, as near as I can recollect.

19,630. Did not Buckland say something about going on the committee?—No.

19,631. Was it before or after you went on the committee?—I think it was after, because I know I went on the committee the very first.

19,632. Did you not think it very strange he should offer you the 5*s.*?—No, not at all; I did my best in 1863.

19,633. I mean this time; surely your services were worth more than 5*s.*?—I would freely have given my services for nothing.

19,634. You are put down as a man that was paid?—I was not paid more than what I have told you.

19,635. You may have forgotten it?—No.

19,636. Have you not received something else from Buckland besides the 5*s.*?—Not a fraction.

19,637. Has Buckland spoken to you about having more?—No.

19,638. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you engaged as a canvasser or messenger?—No, sir.

19,639. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Joyes or Rose say anything to you about canvassing?—I did my best.

19,640. Well, but was it not worth something?—Yes, but I do not think it is right a man should make a fortune by such things as that.

19,641. They do not make fortunes here, though a candidate may lose one; did you not speak to Job Apted about it?—No.

19,642. Come, I see you have got something to tell?—I have received nothing but the 5*s.*, and if you were to keep on till the world's end you would only make me tell lies if I told different.

19,643. Do you know Durrant?—A brewer?

19,644. Yes; do you know him?—I do not know that I ever spoke to the man.

19,645. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are put down by your friend Buckland as a paid man?—I am sorry for it.

19,646. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Since you received your summons have you been talking to Buckland, Joyes, or anybody else about your evidence?—No, there was no evidence for me to give.

19,647. Have they not spoken to you about coming before this Commission?—Not that I know of; I have spoken to them and many others.

19,648. Not as to giving your evidence here?—No, sir.

19,649. Do you mean to say nobody has told you to come here and keep things dark?—No, nobody has ever said such a thing.

19,650. Or anything like it?—No.

19,651. I ask you this because Mr. Buckland has said he paid you money, and I do not suppose he means the 5*s.* when he says that, and if Mr. Buckland comes here and says he paid you more it would rather astonish you?—It would on my part; what he may have put down I cannot say, but I never received it.

19,652. Is there any other William Taylor on the register?—Not that I know of. I think there is a William Taylor of Redhill. I am William Taylor of Nutley-lane.

19,653. Did you not tell George Jupp you had received 2*l.*?—No; I do not know such a man as George Jupp.

19,654. A journeyman carpenter?—I might have seen him, and may know his face, but I do not know him by name.

19,655. What time in the day, Taylor, did you poll?—I think it was about 2 o'clock in the day that I polled.

19,656. What time of the day did you poll in 1863?—I think it was at 8 in the morning.

19,657. And then I suppose you went to your work at once?—No, I did not.

19,658. What did you do then? did you walk about all day?—No, I did not, I went to Redhill and other places.

19,659. You did not go back to work?—No.

19,660. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you not expecting something for what you did at the election of '65?—I do not know that I was expecting anything.

19,661. That is hardly an answer; is it that you do not know?—I was never promised anything; I was very well satisfied as it rested, and would have been more so if Mr. Gower had been left in his seat.

19,662. After the election were you not rather expecting that your services would be recollected?—A man might think so.

19,663. When you were put on the committee this last time was it not explained to you, that if you did work your services would be paid for?—There was never a word said about it; there was only Mr. Joyes in the room I believe. I asked him to put my name down on the committee for Mr. Gower, and I would do what I could for him. That was all that was said; he put me down, and I left the room.

19,664. The money you received this last election was 5*s.*?—Yes.

19,665. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know Mr. Apted?—I did.

19,666. Is it not the fact that you have complained since the election that you have not been paid?—No.

19,667. Have you never made a complaint at all to anybody?—No.

19,668. Or ever thought of making a complaint?—No.

19,669. Do you know Mr. Nightingale's yard?—Yes, that is where I work.

19,670. Were there any of your fellow workmen expecting to be paid?—I believe a man of the name of Pullen, who was here yesterday, expected to be paid.

19,671. Was he disappointed?—I do not know whether he got anything.

19,672. Did he not express before you, amongst your fellow workmen, that he was disappointed in not being paid?—I do not know whether he did, there was so much said in the shop from day to day.

19,673. Did you hear that?—Not to my knowledge.

19,674. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it not in Mr. Nightingale's yard there used to be beer sent to you?—Yes, our lunch beer was sent every day.

19,675. Do you recollect one day when you were in there complaining that the beer was all very well, but you expected to be paid for your services?—Not me.

19,676. Do you recollect anything of the sort?—No.

TWELFTH DAY.

W. Taylor.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,677. Do you recollect saying that if they did not pay you better you would go over to Mr. Monson?—I had no such a thought in my head.

19,678. Did you say so?—No.

19,679. You might have said so, and they thought that you meant it?—No, they would not have done so from the part I took on Mr. Gower's side.

19,680. Might you have said so and led them to think so?—No.

19,681. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You seem to be a respectable man; did you know that you were returned as a man who was paid for canvassing and work for Mr. Gower, as a man who was liberally paid by your friend Mr. Buckland?—I was not, but I did a great deal of work.

19,682. You are returned as a man who was paid; does that satisfy you?—I did not have the money.

19,683. Did you authorize anyone to put you down?—I do not know whether they ever understood that I was to be paid, but I never understood that I was to be paid; I rendered my services with the greatest pleasure all the time.

19,684. Nothing is worse treatment to a man who works honourably for others and is unpaid than to be put down by others as a paid man, he not being paid; this your friend Mr. Buckland has done. What do you say to that?—I should think it is not quite right; the only amount which he did give me was the 5*s.*, and that was weeks before the election.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM TURNER sworn and examined.

W. Turner

19,685. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labourer.

19,686. What rent did you pay for your house?—3*s.* 6*d.* a week.

19,687. How did you get on the register?—I do not know.

19,688. How long have you been a voter?—I voted at this last election.

19,689. Do you know who put you on?—I do not know who put me on the register.

19,690. For whom did you vote?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

19,691. I suppose you were on his committee?—Yes.

19,692. How long were you on his committee before the election?—About three or four weeks.

19,693. And what did you receive?—1*l.* 10*s.*; 30*s.*

19,694. Only 30*s.*?—No more.

19,695. From whom did you receive it?—From Alec. Rose.

19,696. Was it Mr. Rose who put you on the committee?—Mr. Joyes canvassed me.

19,697. Mr. Joyes put you on the committee, and Mr. Rose paid you?—Yes.

19,698. I suppose he told you you would be paid when you were put on the committee for what you did?—Yes, that I should be paid for my work.

19,699. When were you paid the 1*l.* 10*s.*?—After the election.

19,700. That was not paying you for much work?—No.

19,701. You expected more I suppose?—I did expect rather more.

19,702. How much did you expect; 5*l.*?—No.

19,703. How much for your work during the four weeks?—I expected 3*l.*

19,704. I suppose they told you that you would get the other 30*s.* by-and-by?—No, they did not.

19,705. Or that you would get something by-and-by?—Yes.

19,706. When did you apply again; did you apply at all for the other 30*s.* or whatever it was?—I applied to Mr. Joyes before I got any and he said he had got none.

19,707. After you received that 30*s.* did you apply again?—Not for more.

19,708. You thought that was no use?—Yes.

19,709. Had you been canvassed at all by the other side; the Monson party?—No.

19,710. Nobody came to you?—No, not to say anything about the election.

19,711. (The Chief Commissioner.) This was your first election?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE TREW sworn and examined.

G. Trew.

19,712. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you? A carpenter.

19,713. What rent do you pay for your house?—I pay quarterly; 10*l.* a year.

19,714. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

19,715. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I looked down Mr. Monson's list, and I could see the names, and as they were such as I did not like when Mr. Gower asked me, I said yes, I would decidely vote for him.

19,716. Was that some time before the election?—It was the first time I saw Mr. Gower.

19,717. Were you put on his committee?—Yes.

19,718. You were not put down so soon as that?—I believe I was put down as soon as the next committee list came out.

19,719. What were you to do on his committee?—I was to use my best endeavours in his interest.

19,720. And what besides?—If I was there ready to do a job, and he gave me one, I should do it.

19,721. Did it happen that they did want you do a job at all?—Yes, they wanted me to put a flag up, and I did. I bought the flag.

19,722. Not out of your own pocket?—I did.

19,723. What did it cost?—15*s.*

19,724. You paid for that?—Yes.

19,725. Where did you put it up?—In my garden.

19,726. Yours is a private house?—Yes.

19,727. You mean it was your enthusiasm that made you put the flag up?—Yes.

19,728. Were you paid for it?—No.

19,729. You were not paid for it?—No.

19,730. You said that if they wanted you to do any jobs for them you were to be ready. Did they want you to do any jobs for them?—I went to all the meetings.

19,731. Yes, but that you did from your own enthusiasm? Did they ask you to do anything for them?—I did the same as the rest if I was sent anywhere to work.

19,732. I want to know whether you did anything more than the rest did?—I believe I did.

19,733. Tell me anything more?—I attended all the meetings.

19,734. Tell me what more you did than the rest did?—They did not all attend the meetings.

19,735. But I mean in point of work?—There were a few papers I took.

19,736. What did you consider your services were worth altogether?—Sometimes I can earn 1*l.* a week and sometimes more.

19,737. What do you think they were worth to Mr. Gower?—A great deal more than I got.

19,738. Do you think so?—Yes.

19,739. Were you not satisfied?—No.

19,740. I am sorry for that, and I dare say Mr. Gower is too. What was it you did get?—2*l.*

TWELFTH DAY.

G. Trew.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,741. You gave us some notion of how much work you did?—Yes.

19,742. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Tom Penfold.

19,743. Did you tell him you were not very well satisfied?—No; he came and brought me the money and put it on the bench, and he said, "George, here "is a little money for you." It was just before Christmas.

19,744. Which of Mr. Gower's men did the money come from?—Tom Penfold paid me.

19,745. Who did he get the money from?—I do not know.

19,746. I thought you would have asked?—No, my employer was there, and I did not want him to know all about my business.

19,747. What was your employer's name?—Mr. B.

19,748. He was there?—Yes.

19,749. Was he a Monson man?—I do not know what he was.

19,750. But who did he vote for?—He voted for Mr. Gower.

19,751. You did not say anything more; you only took the money?—I said I wished he would double it, or something like that. I also said, "I should "like it every day."

19,752. When you saw Mr. Penfold again did you not ask him where it came from?—No.

19,753. Did you not say, "Who sent that? because "I should like some more"?—No.

19,754. Nothing like that?—No.

19,755. Did he tell you that, may be, there would be some more for you?—No.

19,756. That was all that you got, was it?—That was all.

19,757. Was there not five shillings more?—Never five pence.

19,758. You did not go out watching at night at all?—I did, one night.

19,759. You forgot to tell me that in the first instance?—That was just before the time of the election.

19,760. I have been asking you particularly about all the service you did, and that never occurred to you till I mentioned it?—No. That was to watch my own property.

19,761. To take care of your own boat?—Of my own flag. If any of the Monsonites had got it I would have given him a punch of the head.

19,762. They did not have an eye to your flag?—They would have taken it if they had dared.

19,763. Do you think that they had an eye to it?—They were skulking round about the premises.

19,764. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why did you not drop your flag at sunset?—Because I dared them to take it.

19,765. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you sat up all night to protect your flag?—Yes.

19,766. You had not much pleasure from it if you were up all those nights to protect it?—It was only one night.

19,767. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you go off your property that night?—Most likely I did.

19,768. Did you?—Yes.

19,769. (The Chief Commissioner.) If you were going about, you can tell me whether there was plenty of treating going on?—I never had plenty of treating.

19,770. Did you see much treating?—No.

19,771. You saw none at all?—Yes, I did.

19,772. You did see some?—I suppose it was treating. I saw a little beer going forward on Earlswood-common; a pot, or perhaps two or three pots. I do not know how much.

19,773. You do not mean that it was flowing in the gutter?—No.

19,774. Was that Gower's or Monson's beer?—Mr. Gower's, I suppose, as I had just heard Mr. Gower speak. I do not know. I know I did not pay for it. The stuff was not good enough for me.

19,775. You did see beer going on the common?—I saw beer drinking.

19,776. Were you a voter in '63?—Yes.

19,777. Who did you vote for; for Mr. Wilkinson or Mr. Gower?—Mr. Wilkinson.

19,778. Were you on his committee then?—Yes.

19,779. Did you do as much work for him then as you did this time?—No.

19,780. Not so much.

19,781. How much were you paid?—About 30*s.*

19,782. Was that because of the difference in the work that you received 30*s.* instead of 2*l.*?—I was on his committee for seven or eight weeks for 2*l.*

19,783. You were not so long on the other?—I was not so long on the other. I was only three or four weeks on the other.

19,784. Who did you say you voted for in '63?—Mr. Wilkinson.

19,785. Was there any flag then? You did not have the same one; the one in '65 was a new one?—This last one was a new one. I had a flag in '63.

19,786. Was the flag a new one for '63?—No, it was one sent to me.

19,787. Had it done duty at any previous elections?—Never.

19,788. What colour was the flag staff?—White; there are three of them in my garden.

19,789. Yes, that is at common times?—Always.

19,790. What do they mean?—I put things on at different times to go round; weathercocks.

19,791. You do not mean that you put different things on yourself?—Yes.

19,792. According to your colours?—No, not according to my colours.

19,793. What; you take a weathercock according to the time?—My mode is to put it to the east.

19,794. When you get a weathercock on the top, and different things on yourself, people might contrast one with the other; that is so?—No, I think not; sometimes I have got some boats sailing round, and weathercocks.

19,795. Have you voted before '63?—No.

19,796. That was your first election?—No.

19,797. Do you consider you were pretty well paid?—No, not for the time; coming here and there, poking about over at that place, and only for 30*s.* I had to poke about at that place over there.

19,798. What do you mean by "that place over there"?—I had to poke about there.

19,799. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which do you call the poking place?—The "Swan." It is a rum place to be forced to be blocked up in a room.

19,800. Was the flag of '63 the same colour as the flag of '65?—No; one was a Union Jack, and one was Mr. Wilkinson's own colours. One was "Gower "for ever!"

19,801. You said one was "Gower for ever!" When you were for Mr. Gower you put up the flag "Gower "for ever!"—Yes.

19,802. It was not Mr. Gower in '63?—No.

19,803. I do not think I caught from you how it was that you got on Mr. Gower's committee in '65?—He asked me himself when he asked me for my vote, and I said yes.

19,804. Did any one else speak about your going on the committee?—No; Mr. Penfold and Mr. Smith were along with him. They never spoke to me, but I suppose they told him who I was.

19,805. Who paid you in '63?—Smith, I think he calls himself; over there, the agent.

19,806. He was not agent then?—It was Mr. James who was the man.

19,807. Do you know a gentleman of the name of Mazden?—I know a man of the name of Mazden.

19,808. You call him a man. You know a man of the name of Mazden?—Yes.

19,809. Did you have any conversation with him about the election of '65?—No.

19,810. Did he not talk to you about being on the committee?—No.

19,811. Did he not tell you that if you went on the committee you would be paid like the others?—No.

19,812. Or that you might expect to be paid?—No; I told Mr. Gower if I went on his committee I should expect to have something for my labour. He said, "Yes, I want no one to work for me for "nothing."

19,813. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that at the last election?—Yes.

19,814. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that when he canvassed you?—Yes.

19,815. (The Chief Commissioner.) He said, "Yes, "certainly, he did not want any one to work for "nothing"?—Yes, or something to the same effect.

19,816. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you attend the committee meeting just before the election down here when Mr. Gower made his speech down below?—Yes.

19,817. When Mr. Gower said something of this kind, that all those who worked for him should be paid well?—I never heard those words.

19,818. You did not hear that speech; perhaps you were not present?—I might have stepped out.

19,819. If you did step out, where were you likely to step to?—Over to Mr. Fuller's.

19,820. What house is that?—The "White Hart" tap; I might have stepped there.

19,821. You might have gone into Mr. Bonny's, close by?—No, I never go into that house.

19,822. You do not condescend to go into Mr. Bonny's; nothing below the "White Hart" tap?—If I want a drop of porter I go to the "White Hart" tap or the "Little Crown." Except Mr. Mazden's, I only drink at my own house.

19,823. Except Mr. Mazden's?—I was only once there.

19,824. When you were at Mr. Mazden's during that once did you have any talk about the election?—No.

19,825. Mr. Mazden did not talk to you about it?—Never.

19,826. He looked upon you as a good man without that, did he?—No, we did not drink tea together exactly.

19,827. Then Mr. Mazden and you were not on very good terms; is that what you mean?—Yes.

19,828. When you had your beer at the "White Hart" tap, did you pay for it?—Yes.

19,829. Always?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

ABNER TRUELOVE sworn and examined. A. Truelove.

19,830. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification to be on the register?—11*l.* is the amount I pay.

19,831. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

19,832. What are you?—A gardener.

19,833. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—Yes, the Sunday before the election Mr. Brown came to me and asked me if I had promised my vote.

19,384. Who did he come for?—For Mr. Monson.

19,835. Now tell us what he said?—Mr. Brown came and asked me if I had promised my vote.

19,836. What is Mr. Brown?—He is a plasterer, so far as I know.

19,837. What is his Christian name?—Jim; Jim Brown. He came to me in the morning, and I told him I had been on the committee ever since Mr. Gower came, and he must have seen it; he said "That "may be, and your promise, like pie crust, may be "broken." I said "That all depends upon what fat "you put in the crust." He said he could not do more for me than 5*l.*

19,838. Then he understood what you meant by the fat in the crust?—Yes, he knew. I said, "Can you "give me more than 5*l.*," or could he give me the 5*l.* then. He said he could not that day, but he could meet me the next morning at Cockshot-hill, at Mr. Wick's.

19,839. Was that where you were working?—Yes. On the following morning, the Monday morning, somewhere about 10 o'clock, Jim Apted and Brown came to me.

19,840. Were Mr. Brown and Mr. Apted together?—Yes, they were together, but when first I saw them Mr. Apted was in what we call Smoke-lane; there is a little gate which leads out of the field into Smoke-lane. Brown came up, and he called to Apted, and he said, "We are short of money to-day, but will 50*s.* do "for you." I said, "Yes, I will take it."

19,841. That was James Apted?—Yes, James Apted the porker. He told me to go to the "Castle," to get the other 50*s.*

19,842. Did they give you the other 50*s.*?—I never asked for it.

19,843. Did you have the first 50*s.*?—Yes.

19,844. Which of the two gave it you?—James Apted.

19,845. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When he said, "Will 50*s.* do for you," what did you say?—I said I would take it.

19,846. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What were you to do for it?—They did not say whether I should do anything.

19,847. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was to vote for Mr. Monson, I suppose?—He said, "Will "you go for Mr. Monson?" I said, "I will go," but I did not say what for.

19,848. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you understand what he meant by his saying "Will you go for "Mr. Monson?"—Yes; but I did not say that I would vote for him.

19,849. You took the 50*s.*?—Yes.

19,850. Did the other side come for you?—Mr. Gower came to me in the first place.

19,851. Did you promise Mr. Gower when he came to you?—Yes, at once.

19,852. Was that before you saw Apted and Brown?—Yes, three weeks or a month before.

19,853. How long before the election did you take the 50*s.* from Mr. Apted?—On the Monday morning before.

19,854. That was after you had been advertised on the committee?—Oh, yes.

19,855. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee?—I do not know who put me on. Mr. Durrant asked me whether I would mind going on, and I said I did not care whether they put me on or not. I know my name was on soon after that, but I never authorized them to put me on.

19,856. That was the little temptation held out to you?—There was no temptation held out to me at that time.

19,857. When was it held out to you?—The Monday before the election.

19,858. The day when you saw Mr. Brown and Mr. Apted?—Yes.

TWELFTH DAY.

A. Truelove.

4 Sept. 1866.

19,859. Who held out the little temptation?—Mr. Durrant came to me on Monday night.

19,860. What took place between you and Mr. Durrant?—He said, "I suppose we shall have you these two next days;" I said, "I do not know."

19,861. Those were the nomination and polling pays?—Yes; after I said I did not know, he said why, and I said, I should not lose my time to vote. Well, he said, "if you like to get up to-morrow morning and "come and stick up some flags and poles, I will see "you righted." He never said what I was to have at that time.

19,862. There was no mention of any money?—No.

19,863. You were to be paid?—I was to be satisfied.

19,864. You could only be satisfied with money?—Well, that will satisfy me as soon as anything else.

19,865. You understood from Mr. Durrant that you were, in fact, to be paid?—Yes.

19,866. Did you put up the flags?—Yes, the next morning, on nomination morning.

19,867. How many flags did you stick up?—Three I think.

19,868. Were those in Mr. George Trew's garden?—No, I do not know where they were.

19,869. Where did you stick up the flags?—On the freehold; I do not know whether it was Mr. Trew's.

19,870. Was that all you did?—Yes.

19,871. Then you attended the nomination?—Yes.

19,872. And shouted?—Yes.

19,873. Heartily?—As loud as I could.

19,874. What did you do after the nomination?—We stopped about in the town all the day.

19,875. You went to different houses and had a little refreshment?—I drink only beer; I did not have anything else.

19,876. You did not pay for it, of course?—At some places I did, and at some places I did not.

19,877. On the following day; was it the polling day?—Yes.

19,878. What time did you poll?—As soon as it was open.

19,879. Was that 8 o'clock?—Yes.

19,880. What did you do after?—I remained here one hour, and then I went home.

19,881. Did you stop at the polling booth to give three cheers to your men as they came up?—No; I was at home a great part of the morning.

19,882. Doing the domestic?—No, I was in the garden.

19,883. Was it your own garden?—Yes.

19,884. Did you come down to the poll and take the voters up?—In the afternoon I spent my time with George Waters.

19,885. Who is George Waters?—A publican on the freehold.

19,886. There was a little refreshment going on there of course?—Yes, with paying for it; not without.

19,887. Did Mr. Durrant satisfy you for all this work?—Not so much as I expected.

19,888. What did he give you?—1*l.*

19,889. When?—I cannot say whether it was three weeks or a month after the election.

19,890. When he gave it you, did you tell him you were not satisfied?—I told him I thought he could have done a little more; he said he could not, he did not know whether he would be able to give me any more or not.

19,891. Did he send you a cask of beer?—No; I wish he had.

19,892. He gave you 1*l.* and said you might expect more?—He said he could not say whether I should get any more or not.

19,893. He rather led you to expect that that was not all you would get?—I thought that was what he meant.

19,894. He did not give you 5*l.*?—No; I wish he had.

19,895. Were you at Groom's the night before?—The nomination night?

19,896. Yes?—I was there about a hour and a half.

19,897. You did not stop there all night?—No; I like my bed too well.

19,898. Some of the voters did?—I heard so, but I never saw them.

19,899. Were you out watching that night?—No.

19,900. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you make up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower?—When he first came round.

19,901. Do not say that, because I do not think you would be rogue enough to take 2*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Apted and Mr. Brown if you had made up your mind previously to vote for Mr. Gower; do you give yourself so bad a character as that?—I had promised Mr. Gower.

19,902. Let me understand you; did you intend to vote for Mr. Gower at the time you received the 2*l.* 10*s.* from these men?—Yes.

19,903. You did?—Yes.

19,904. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you on your regular work at the time of the election?—Three or four days a week.

19,905. What was that?—I was jobbing about at the time.

19,906. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And I suppose if you had got the 5*l.* you would have kept it?—Yes; I thought it would learn them better than to come and offer me money.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that the witness meant by that, that by becoming a rogue himself he might teach other people morality.

R. Turner.

RICHARD TURNER sworn and examined.

19,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A smith.

19,908. What rent do you pay for the house for which you vote?—15*l.*

19,909. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

19,910. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes, I believe I was.

19,911. You know you were?—My name was put on when they asked me.

19,912. How long before the election had your name been on?—I cannot say.

19,913. Three or four weeks?—More than that.

19,914. Were you told that you would be paid for what you did if your name was on the committee?—No; not at that time.

19,915. When were you told that?—Some time after.

19,916. By whom?—By Mr. Joyes.

19,917. What were you to be paid?—I was to be paid for being on the committee and doing what they wanted.

19,918. But how much?—No price was mentioned.

19,919. You voted in 1863, did you not?—No, I did not.

19,920. Yes you did, did you not?—I think not.

19,921. Just recollect yourself; it was when Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates?—I did not vote then.

19,922. How many weeks were you engaged in attending committees?—No time was mentioned.

19,923. Well, how much did you receive?—I received 3*l.*

19,924. From whom?—From Mr. Joyes.

19,925. After the election?—After the election.

19,926. Did you receive it in one sum or two sums, or how ?—I received it in one sum.

19,927. You were to receive other monies, were you not ?—No, there was nothing else.

19,928. You expected more, did you not ?—No.

19,929. Was it 3*l.*?—3*l.* There was nothing more mentioned.

19,930. Had you been offered money on the other side ?—No.

19,931. They did not come to you ?—Yes, they came to me.

19,932. Who came to you ?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Hart.

19,933. They did not offer you money ?—No.

19,934. Did any other person on behalf of Mr. Monson come to you ?—No one ; I told Mr. Monson I had promised my vote for Mr. Gower.

19,935. I thought you voted in 1863 ?—I did not vote in 1863.

19,936. How was that ?—I did not vote at all.

19,937. You had a vote in 1863 ?—Yes ; but I did not vote at all.

19,938. They offered you no money ?—No.

19,939. They came to you ?—Yes ; I told them I would not vote at all.

19,940. You told them you would not vote unless it would be worth your while ?—No.

19,941. You voted in 1859 ?—Was that for Mr. Monson or Mr. Wilkinson ?

19,942. Did you vote in 1859 ?—Not at that time I did not.

19,943. Did you vote in 1863 for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, I did.

19,944. I told you you did, and you said you did not ?—I made a mistake.

19,945. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

19,946. What did you receive ? I will take it shortly ?—Nothing at all.

19,947. I do not mean for your vote ?—No,

19,948. Did you not work for them at all ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

19,949. Did you not work ?—No.

19,950. Did you ever receive any money except this 3*l.* at any former election ?—No.

19,951. On any former election did you receive money ?—No.

19,952. You never received any ?—No, not before this.

19,953. You received money at a former election, did you not ?—No.

19,954. Did you not receive money ? —I never received any money for my vote.

19,955. At that election did you not ? — What election ?

19,956. Well, I will ask you ; in 1859, did you not receive money ?—No.

19,957. Nor in 1858 ?—No.

19,959. Nor in 1863 ?—That was when I received the 3*l.*, this last election.

19,960. You received money for your loss of time ? —No, I did not.

19,961. If you received money in 1865 why should you not receive it in 1863 ?—It was in 1863 I received the 3*l.*

19,962. Is that the only money you ever received at any election ?—I had a present of 5*l.* once before that.

19,963–4. When was that ? We will call it a present ; that is the best name.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who did you vote for when you got the present of 5*l.*?—I did not vote.

19,965. Who gave you the present ?—Mr. Joyes brought it.

19,966. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The election before the last ; in 1863 ?—Yes.

19,967. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Just be certain ; was it in 1863 ?—Yes.

19,968. Was it the election before the last ?—Yes.

19,969. You did not vote in 1863 ?—No, I was not at home ; I went out.

19,970. How came you to go out ?—I did not want the bother.

19,971. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where did you go to ?—I went to London.

19,972. Did you get 5*l.* for going to London ?—Yes.

19,973. How long did you remain there ?—I came back the next day.

19,974. Mr. Joyes gave you 5*l.* as a present ?—Yes.

19,975. You did not think that was for keeping out of the way, did you ?—No.

19,976. A man of your intelligence and age, did you not know that it was for keeping out of the way ?—I did not know it at all ; I did not tell him I was going, and I did not ask him whether I should go.

19,977. How did Mr. Joyes know you were in London ; did you not tell him you were going ?—He lived next door to me, and so he knew I was gone.

19,978. Which Mr. Joyes ?—Frederick Joyes.

19,979. Did he give you any money to go ?—No.

19,980. You did not know you would have any money at that time ?—No, I had no promise of anything.

19,981. You did not expect anything when you came back ?—No.

19,982. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which side was Mr. Joyes on then ?—Mr. Wilkinson's.

19,983. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now, that being in 1863, I should really like to know for whom you voted in 1859 ?—For Mr. Wilkinson, I believe.

19,984. You voted on that occasion ?—Yes.

19,985. I ask you what money you got for your vote on that occasion ?—Nothing at all ; not a farthing, nor yet a glass of beer.

19,986. Did you vote in 1858 ?—I voted in all the elections the last few years.

19,987. Did you vote for Mr. Doulton ?—I voted for him once.

19,988. Money was very plentiful then, there was a great abundance ?—If there was I never saw any.

19,989. Who canvassed you for Mr. Doulton ?—I met with him myself at Reigate-heath ; he was alone there.

19,990. You did not know anything about him and he did not know anything about you ?—No.

19,991. Did you expect anybody else to canvass you ? —No;

19,992. He canvassed you himself ?—Yes, he hoped that I would vote for him.

19,993. Were you on his committee ?—I believe he put my name on.

19,994. You lost some time over his election ?—No.

19,995. Did you not receive any money at that election ?—No.

19,996. No money whatever ?—No.

19,997. Did you receive any other money at elections except the 3*l.* and the 5*l.* you have spoken of as a present, or in any way ?—Not in any way whatever.

TWELFTH DAY.

W. Johnson.

WILLIAM JOHNSON, desiring to make a statement, was ordered into the witness box, sworn, and examined.

19,998. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have some statement to make with respect to something you saw in the paper about a witness of the name of Potter?—Yes, I saw it yesterday. One day in the fore part of last week I went from the Court into the "Grapes" in Bell-street, when Potter was there.

19,999. You are going to tell us something that took place at Mr. Nichols' between Potter and who?—Between Potter and Mr. Nichols. In the first place I did not know who this Potter was at that time, until after Potter spoke over the bar to Mr. Nichols, and I did not hear what he said, but Mr. Nichols came to the other side of the bar in the passage, and Potter said to Mr. Nichols, "I shall know nothing."

20,000. (The Chief Commissioner.) You heard him say that?—I heard him say that to Mr. Nichols, "I "shall know nothing." Mr. Nichols said, "What-"ever you know, you had better speak it at the first, "because you will have to speak it."

20,001. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. Nichols said that?—Yes. Potter then asked him if he would stand a pint of beer for him, and Mr. Nichols turned round to him and said, "I am disgusted with you," and then Mr. Nichols walked towards the door, at the same time saying. "Here is a fine witness to go "forward; he wants me to treat him with beer." There were several men there at the time when Mr. Nichols spoke those words.

20,002. Who were there?—There were three or four there. There was one close to the door, one of the reporters here; Mr. Inglefield is the man.

20,003. Anybody else?—Mr. Apted was standing at the bar.

20,004. Could Mr. Inglefield hear what was said by Mr. Nichols?—He could hear what was said by Mr. Nichols because he stood close to the door and Mr. Nichols spoke it out loudly.

20,005. Is there anybody else that you wish to mention who was near?—There was James Apted who was there, and I cannot remember who the others were, but there were some more there.

20,006. "Ned, do not know anything," that was the expression of Potter yesterday?—That was the expression I saw in the paper. I went to Mr. Nichols and said, "This is a false statement," for I had heard what the man said, "and I am ready to go forward "and state that it is so."

(The Witness.) There was another statement made, probably you would rather have it now than at another time, and that is a statement in the evidence of George Walker.

20,007. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What day was he examined?—I forget.

20,008. When did you see Mr. Walker's statement?

20,009. (The Chief Commissioner.) Oh, Walker the gardener. What was it?—Where he denied the statement about having the money. He told me the same day that he had been paid 5*l.*, and that there was 15*s.* due to him, which he had paid for expenses, that he had not got, but that was to come; he told me that on more than one occasion.

20,010. That was the man who said he was discharged?—No.

20,011. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He received 5*l.*, from whom?—From Mr. Smith, and he likewise said, if Mr. Smith did not pay him his master said he would.

20,012. (The Chief Commissioner.) His master was Mr. Conway?—Yes.

20,013. Mr. Conway denied it, and the denial might still be perfectly true?—Yes. It was only with reference to Mr. Walker's statement I wished to speak.

Mr. Page here informed the Commissioners that he wished to make a statement. He had been in Court yesterday when Potter said that when he came into the committee room Mr. Monson was singing. He was there, and he would distinctly say that Mr. Monson was not singing.

20,014. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had he been any part of the evening?—Not that I am aware of. The witness Potter also stated that he had paid for some rum for his wife. Mr. Monson never paid for it himself in any way.

Mr. Commissioner O'Brien remarked that they would hear from Mr. Monson himself, who, no doubt, would be desirous to repudiate it.

Adjourned till 11 o'clock the following morning.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

THIR-TEENTH DAY.

W. Bone.

5 Sept. 1866.

Wednesday, 5th September 1866.

WILLIAM BONE sworn and examined.

20,015. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

20,016. Who for?—Mr. Monson.

20,017. What is the rent of the house you occupy?—I paid 4*s.* 6*d.* a week during the time of the election; I pay 5*s.* a week now.

20,018. What are you?—A carriage inspector.

20,019. Of the South-eastern or Brighton railway?—On the South-eastern railway.

20,020. What wages do you get?—32*s.* a week.

20,021. Is that the rate of wages which all you carriage inspectors get?—No, I get 32*s.*; but my three workmen get 24*s.* a week.

20,022. Then you are the superintendent inspector?—Yes.

20,023. We had one carriage inspector here yesterday?—Yes.

20,024. Was he one of your inspectors?—Yes, his ame was Edward Hayward.

20,025. Are there any other men under you who have votes besides Edward Hayward?—No, they have not got votes.

20,026. How came you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I was canvassed by Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower, but I did not promise my vote to either of them; afterwards I was asked by Mr. Shepherd to go on the committee for Mr. Monson.

20,027. When did he ask you to be on the committee, how long after you had seen Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower?—Some time after.

20,028. How long before the election?—About a month previous.

20,029. When Mr. Shepherd asked you to join the committee did he tell you what you would have?—30*s.* a week; he did not ask me for my vote at the time.

20,030. You understood perfectly well that if you went on his committee you would be holding yourself out to your neighbours as a voter for Mr. Monson?—It may appear so, but at the same time no promise was made of my vote.

20,031. Do you mean to say that if you give a gentleman permission to put your name on his committee, that you do not intend to give your vote also?—It appears so; but at the same time I look upon the matter in a different light, to me it does not appear to make much difference.

20,032. Just explain the way you looked at it?—I mean to say then that I never promised my vote; I was never asked for my vote by Mr. Shepherd or Mr. Monson.

20,033. Mr. Gower asked you for your vote, and Mr. Monson, and you hesitated, and afterwards you went on the committee and were to have 30*s.* a week; did not you consider that it was binding upon your vote?—I did not consider it binding, but it appeared as if I should vote for Mr. Monson.

20,034. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not binding as a promise?—Not as a promise. I did not promise my vote.

20,035. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then what did you consider was Mr. Shepherd's object in placing you on the committee?—I suppose he thought I would vote for Mr. Monson, of course, but he never asked me the question.

20,036. I suppose you looked upon it more as a question of contract than as a question of honour?—I did.

20,037. That is a very honest answer so far as it goes. Were you to do anything on the committee?—I was to do anything that might be required, and I attended once or twice in the evening. If there was nothing to do of course there was nothing for me to do.

20,038. Amongst you railway men had you agreed all of you to go together?—We had met in a room.

20,039. Was that before Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower called on you?—It was afterwards.

20,040. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What room was it?—Mr. Langridge's.

20,041. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) To talk about this matter amongst yourselves?—Yes.

20,042. Was it not arranged amongst yourselves that you would all go the same way?—I cannot say that it was.

20,043. There was some arrangement amongst yourselves that you should all combine together and get what you could?—There was some arrangement of the kind.

20,044. Was that before Mr. Shepherd called upon you?—After.

20,045. Did you agree with Mr. Shepherd directly he made an offer to you to go on Mr. Monson's committee?—I do not know about an agreement.

20,046. There was an agreement about 30*s.*?—30*s.* was mentioned, but there was nothing binding about it.

20,047. We will not call it a binding agreement, but there was an understanding?—There was something to that effect.

20,048. Was it before you had the understanding with Mr. Shepherd that you railway men met in the room that you speak of?—There were more besides railway men there.

20,049. I mean at the time that you men collected together about your voting?—That was afterwards.

20,050. When you met in this room was it generally spoken of about this arrangement with Mr. Shepherd?—No, it might have been the subject of conversation.

20,051. On that occasion did you talk about your all going on Mr. Monson's committee and having 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

20,052. Did you meet on the platform or about the premises of the railway and talk the matter over?—Not to my knowledge.

20,053. If there was such a meeting you were not a party to it?—No.

20,054. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What amount would that give you at that time if you had received all?—4*l.* 10*s.*

20,055. You would have received 6*l.* if you had been paid?—The last week was not paid.

20,056. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you have any money paid down from Mr. Shepherd?—I was paid week by week.

20,057. Were the other men paid week by week?—Yes.

20,058. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Mr. Shepherd pay you?—Yes.

20,059. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you recollect Mr. Apted being spoken to about the election by any of your men?—I do not remember anything of it myself.

20,060. Do you recollect Mr. Hayward going to him?—I heard something about his going one morning.

20,061. Who went with him?—I do not know.

20,062. Did he come back and report the result of his interview with Mr. Apted; you heard of it?—There was something mentioned; I think that he could not come to terms.

20,063. At one of these meetings at which you were present was it not spoken of, that one of you should go to Mr. Apted and try and arrange better terms to vote for Mr. Gower?—I said nothing about voting for Mr. Gower.

20,064. Well, then, never mind about voting for Mr. Gower, but about going on his committee?—There was something about it, but I did not intend to go on his committee.

20,065. You had not promised your vote to Mr. Monson, and therefore if the Gower party had promised you more money you were perfectly willing to go on the committee?—No.

20,066. You told me it was a question of contract and not a question of conscience?—I do not know that I should.

20,067. On whose side did your political principles lead you, on Mr. Monson's or Mr. Gower's?—I think I should have voted for Mr. Monson if I had not received anything.

20,068. If you had not received anything?—I believe I should.

20,069. Do you recollect anybody going to Mr. James Nichols about your going on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, I do not.

20,070. Were you a party to any discussion to arrange a deputation to go to Mr. Nichols?—I suppose you mean about something being written.

20,071. I am speaking of a deputation going to Mr. Nichols?—Yes, I do recollect it.

20,072. Were you one of the party?—I was one I presume.

20,073. Were you one of the party agreeing to the deputation to Mr. Nichols?—I believe I was.

20,074. You know you were, do not say you believe?—Well, I cannot say that I know I was. I do not remember whether I agreed to it, but I know there was something mentioned about it.

20,075. Never mind about agreeing, you assented?—You would say so I suppose.

20,076. You see you are quarrelling with words and terms. You fence with the questions?—I do not know that I do, I remember being present on that occasion and something being said about sending to Mr. Nichols.

20,077. Was Shepherd present on that occasion?—I believe he was.

20,078. Were several of your railway men present?—There were several present.

20,079. How many?—I cannot say the number.

20,080. Somewhere about 15 or 16?—There might be that number, but I should not say there were; of course I cannot tell you.

20,081. Were there not about all the men belonging to the railway present, who had votes, at that meeting?—I do not think they were all there who had votes.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Bone.

5 Sept. 1866.

20,082. There are not more than 15 or 16 who had votes?—I should not think they were all there.

20,083. Were a dozen there?—Yes, there might have been a dozen.

20,084. Did you put your name to any writing?—I believe I did.

20,085. You wrote it yourself?—Yes.

20,086. Did you see the paper to read?—I did not read it, I heard it read.

20,087. Tell me, were not the terms these in fact, that you would all go in a body for Mr. Monson's side if you could be guaranteed 8*l.* a vote?—I do not remember anything mentioned to that effect.

20,088. Was it not 4*l.* 10*s.* for attending the committee to begin with?—From Mr. Monson.

20,089. I am speaking now of the original which you signed which was to go to Mr. Gower?—Yes, but nothing was said about Mr. Gower, I have no recollection of any deputation being sent in our behalf to Mr. Gower.

20,090. You know that Mr. James Nichols was the leading man, and agent for Mr. Gower?—No, for Mr. Monson.

20,091. Oh, I beg your pardon. That was after you saw Mr. Apted?—I know nothing about Mr. Apted.

20,092. Then a deputation went to Mr. Nichols on the part of Mr. Monson?—Yes.

20,093. Was not the sum mentioned that you were to receive, 4*l.* 10*s.* for being on the committee?—I received it.

20,094. I am speaking of the document you signed?—There was no money mentioned in that, so far as I recollect; it was only respecting the polling day.

20,095. Then 1*l.* 10*s.* for the last week, and 1*l.* for the nomination day, and 1*l.* for the polling day?—I think it was something to that effect.

20,096. You know it was, do you not?—Something was said to that effect, but I cannot recollect word for word what was said.

20,097. Who drew up the paper, who wrote it?—Mr. Burlton I think.

20,098. You are quite sure about that, are you not?—Yes, it was Mr. Burlton.

20,099. And was not Mr. Burlton's name the first that was put upon the document?—That I cannot say.

20,100. Did you see Mr. Burlton writing his name there?—I saw him write it, but whether he put his name first or not I cannot say.

20,101. You signed your name to it?—I believe I did.

20,102. You were the fourth man who signed his name; did you see Cheyney sign his name?—I cannot say whether he signed, I do not recollect whether he was present that night.

20,103. You think he signed it without being present?—No, I do not imagine he would sign it without being present.

20,104. Was not the paper you signed to this effect: that you and the rest of the railway men would not vote for Monson unless you received 1*l.* 10*s.* for the week of the election, and 1*l.* for nomination day, and the same for the polling day?—That was sent to Mr. Nichols.

20,104*. What became of that paper?—I do not know.

20,105. Was not that first of all a document which was to be made as an offer to Mr. Gower's committee?—There was something said about that I think.

20,106. There was to be a deputation to Mr. Gower's committee?—I know nothing about Mr. Gower.

20,107. Do you know nothing of a deputation of Mr. Edward Hayward and Mr. Reeves attending at the town hall for Mr. Gower?—I do not, not to Mr. Gower.

20,108. This paper was signed by you?—Not in the way you said; this paper written by Mr. Burlton was to Mr. Monson.

20,109. Was there one signed to go to Mr. Gower?—Not that I remember, I never signed any, and I do not know what any one else did.

20,110. Perhaps they were signed in duplicate, and one sent to Mr. Gower's committee and one to Mr. Monson's?—Not that I know of.

20,111. Were there not two deputations?—Not that I know of.

20,112. We know as a fact that somebody went to Mr. Apted and that Mr. Apted would not agree to terms, and his excuse was in evidence yesterday that if he went to 16 or 19 men as a class there would certainly be a petition?—It was not so to my knowledge.

20,113. You only speak of a deputation to Mr. Monson?—That was all, so far as I know.

20,114. The same terms were offered to Mr. Monson's party, 8*l.* per vote?—That is the one I went on. I do not know about 8*l.* a vote, but we wanted 1*l.* 10*s.* for a week, and I received three weeks, which made the total 4*l.* 10*s.*

20,115. Did Mr. Shepherd promise you anything for your polling day?—No.

20,116. Or anything for nomination day?—No.

20,117. Then for the Saturday following the election, if you had 1*l.* 10*s.*, it would amount to 6*l.* If there had been an agreement you would have received 1*l.* 10*s.* extra for the work?—Yes.

20,118. He had not agreed to that, he had only agreed to give you 4*l.* 10*s.*?—There was no agreement for 4*l.* 10*s.*

20,119. Yes, you were to have 30*s.* a week up to the Saturday before the election; that would be 4*l.* 10*s.* Now, did not your men want to be paid for the week of the election?—Yes, I believe we did.

20,120. And did not you want to be paid for nomination day and polling day?—Yes, I believe we did.

20,121. You wanted to be paid 1*l.* 10*s.* for the week of the election, and 1*l.* for the nomination day and the same for the polling day?—Yes.

20,122. So that each of you would have 3*l.* 10*s.* for the week of the election?—It would make it so.

20,123. That was what you wanted?—It was mentioned.

20,124. Having been mentioned between you, was it not agreed between you that that offer should be made both to Mr. Gower's committee and Mr. Monson's?—Not to my recollection, it was only to Mr. Monson's.

20,125. Who went to Mr. Gower's committee to make the offer?—I did not.

20,126. You went to Mr. Nichols?—I believe Mr. Hayward was one who went with them, I cannot say.

20,127. And Mr. Reeves?—I do not know.

20,128. What is Mr. Reeves? What wages does he get?—I do not know what his wages are.

20,129. Somebody did go to Mr. Nichols on Mr. Monson's part. Did you ever hear the result of the offer to Mr. Monson's party; somebody went and wanted to have the extra 3*l.* 10*s.* for the election week; did you ever hear the result of the application?—I do not know whether I heard the result word for word; I know I have heard it.

20,130. Did not some one tell you what the answer of Mr. Nichols for Mr. Monson's party was?—I believe it was spoken of by Mr. Hayward.

20,131. What did Mr. Hayward tell you, did he tell you that the Monson party would agree to it?—No, it was not Mr. Hayward; it was Mr. Shepherd.

20,132. What was it Mr. Shepherd said?—He said we could not get any more. I believe those were the words he used, he said he could not agree to it. I did not bother about it.

20,133. But it was rather an important thing. 3*l.* 10*s.* for the week; did you ever hear whether Mr. Shepherd went to the Gower committee?—I never heard him mention it.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Bone.

5 Sept. 1866.

20,134. Did you ever hear that Shepherd had applied to Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

20,135. You were paid the 30*s.* a week up to the Saturday before the election ?—Yes.

20,136. And then all of you went and voted for Mr. Monson ?—I voted for him myself.

20,137. You know very well who voted for Mr. Monson ?—I know that I voted, and I believe that Mr. Hayward did, but I cannot say.

20,138. Do you not believe that all of you voted for Mr. Monson ?—I cannot say ; I can say that Boscawen did not vote.

20,139. Yes, we know all about Boscawen. Did any of the Gower party come to you before the election and ask you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—No, I was not canvassed by any one, only by Mr. Gower.

20,140. Did you make any application afterwards for more than the 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—No, I did not.

20,141. You never asked Mr. Shepherd ?—I do not recollect asking him after the election.

20,142. Not after the election ?—No.

20,143. Did you have 1*l.* for the nomination day ?—No, I did not.

20,144. Did you on the polling day ?—No, I did not.

20,145. Did you see Mr. Shepherd on the polling day ?—Yes, I saw him in the afternoon.

20,146. When did you vote, what time ?—I cannot say exactly, but I think it would between 2 and 3 o'clock, about half-past 2, after my dinner.

20,147. Did you before you voted ask Mr. Shepherd whether you were going to get this extra money for nomination and polling ?—No, I do not recollect. I recollect asking him on the day whether he had polled, and I think he said no. I saw him just before going to dinner.

20,148. Do you know what became of the piece of paper that was drawn up by Mr. Burlton and signed by him ?—I do not.

20,149. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that the first time you voted ?—Yes.

20,150. It was all the same to you whether you voted for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower ?—I believe I should have voted for Mr. Monson if I had not been on his committee.

The witness withdrew.

JOSEPH GOLDSACK sworn and examined. J. Goldsack.

20,151. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A coke-man.

20,152. At the Redhill station ?—Yes.

20,153. What do you pay for your house out of which you vote ?—6*s.* a week.

20,154. What are your wages ?—18*s.* a week.

20,155. You voted for Mr. Monson at the last election ?—Yes.

20,156. Was that the first time you voted ?—No.

20,157. You received, I suppose, like the others 30*s.* a week for being placed on his committee ?—Yes.

20,158. You were aware of the arrangement made with Mr. Shepherd ?—Yes.

20,159. Were you one of the deputation that waited upon Mr. Nichols ?—After the election ?

20,160. Not before the election ?—No.

20,161. You waited upon him after the election ?—Yes.

20,162. How many of you went after the election ?—Three.

20,163. You and who else ?—Mr. Hayward and Mr. Taylor.

20,164. What was that for ?—To know if he would give us 1*l.* for the two days.

20,165. You mean 1*l.* a day for each day, do you not ?—Yes.

20,166. And 30*s.* for the week ?—Yes.

20,167. You asked for 3*l.* 10*s.* after you had received 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—No, 2*l.*

20,168. Did you go on behalf of the other men for 2*l.* more for each man who voted ?—Yes, I tried for the other 2*l.*

20,169. Not for yourself alone merely, but on behalf of the other men ?—Yes.

20,170. How many of you were there in respect of whom you applied to Mr. Nichols ?—About eight or nine.

20,171. More than that ?—I cannot say exactly.

20,172. There were nearly 20 ?—No, I do not think they were all spoken to.

20,173. You went on behalf of those men for the 2*l.* You thought they were entitled to it ?—Yes, I understood we were to have it at first.

20,174. According to the original agreement ?—Yes, that was what I understood.

20,175. You were one of the people ; who put down your name ?—I did not put it down myself, but I said I would have it put down. It was not convenient for me to be there.

20,176. What did Mr. Nichols say ?—He said we had got all we should have.

20,177. To whom did he say that ?—To myself and two others.

20,178. If he had said that before the election the result would have been different ?—No, it would not have been different with me I think.

20,179. This was a day or two after the election ?—Yes.

20,180. You had your hopes up till then ; he told you, "I am afraid there will be no more money for "you" ?—He told us we had all we could get. I thought it was part of the agreement to have the 2*l.*, and we went to see whether we were going to get it or not, and he told us we should not get it.

20,181. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you satisfied or dissatisfied ?—Not dissatisfied. I was very well satisfied.

20,182. You got you 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM BELCHER sworn and examined. W. Belcher.

20,183. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are a railway man, are you not ?—Yes.

20,184. What rent do you pay ?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

20,185. What are you ?—Driver to a stationary engine.

20,186. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not a locomotive ?—No.

20,187. Which company do you work for ?—The South-eastern.

20,188. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Monson.

20,189. And who asked you for your vote ?—I applied for money the same as the others.

20,190. You did in the first instance ?—I was never asked by any one.

20,191. And did you enter into the same arrangement as those we have been talking about entered into, to receive 30*s.* a week ?—Yes.

20,192. And was the arrangement made with you by Mr. Shepherd ?—Yes.

20,193. I believe it was after the election that you were not very well satisfied with the terms, and there was a deputation to Mr. Nichols, was there not ?—Yes.

20,194. That was after the election ?—Yes.

20,195. You went on the deputation to Mr. Nichols, but you did not get any satisfaction ?—No.

20,196. Were you paid your 30*s.* by the week, or how ?—Weekly.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Belcher.

20,197. Altogether it made 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

20,198. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You of course kept on your work at the railway, and still received your 18*s.* a week ?—Yes.

20,199. And your 30*s.* a week from Mr. Shepherd —Yes.

20,200. (The Chief Commissioner.) It was Mr. Shepherd who paid you too ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

T. England.

THOMAS ENGLAND sworn and examined.

20,201. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A warehouseman on the South-eastern railway.

20,202. What wages do you get ?—1*l.* a week.

20,203. What is the rent of the house you occupy ? —6*s.*

20,204. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Monson.

20,205. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee ?— Yes.

20,206. At the request of Mr. Shepherd ?—Yes.

20,207. In the same way as the others ?—Yes.

20,208. Did Mr. Shepherd pay you ?—Yes.

20,209. How much did he pay you ?—For three successive weeks, at the end of the week 30*s.*

20,210. Did you do anything for that 30*s.* a week ?—I was called on the committee, as the others were ; I was ready to do anything, but I cannot say that I did any actual work ; I was ready to do anything of course.

20,211. But you did nothing ?—I did nothing that I could call actual work.

20,212. You have served the South-eastern Railway Company and know what work is ?—Yes.

20,213. You got 1*l.* a week for your services as warehouseman ?—Yes.

20,214. Did you do anything practically of the value of 1*l.* 10*s.* for Monson ?—Not after that rate.

20,215. Or any other rate ?—No, I entered it the same as the rest, and I expected to do more than I did do ; I thought there was nothing wrong in receiving 30*s.* a week being on the committee.

20,216. You voted for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

20,217. Did you sign a piece of paper which was to be sent to Mr. Monson's agent ?—I think very likely I did sign, but I cannot recollect.

20,218. You might have signed or authorized your name to be put on the committee.

20,219. You know what the paper was ?—Yes.

20,220. It was in fact to ask for an increase of pay ? —Yes, 2*l.*

20,221. And 30*s.* besides ?—Yes, for an extra week.

20,222. 30*s.* for the election week ?—Yes.

20,223. Was it after or before the election that the paper was drawn up ?—Before the election.

20,224. Was it during the week before ?—It was something like eight or nine days before, but I do not recollect exactly.

20,225. Do you know whether Mr. Hayward went with that paper ?—There was Mr. Hayward I think.

20,226. To whom did you go ?—To Mr. Nichols.

20,227. Then perhaps you can tell me whether that was before or after the election that you went to Mr. Nichols ?—It was certainly before the election.

20,228. You went before ?—Yes.

20,229. Were there two deputations, one after and one before ?—I know nothing of one after.

20,230. Tell me what took place between you and Mr. Nichols before the election ?—I never spoke to Mr. Nichols at all.

20,231. Who went with you ?—There were three or four.

20,232. Did Mr. Shepherd go ?—He did not go ; Mr. Hayward was one of them.

20,233. Was Mr. Hayward one of the spokesmen ? —He did speak, I am sure I did not speak ; myself.

20,234. Whoever spoke, will you tell us what was said ?—I believe a party went and spoke to Mr. Nichols outside the room, I do not remember a word that Mr. Nichols said, I understood afterwards that the request would not be complied with, that was all.

20,235. You knew what the request was, it was to get that increase paid ?—Yes, it was.

20,236. Which would make it come up to 8*l.* a vote ?—It was an extra 2*l.* besides the 4*l.* 10*s.*

20,237. Yes, it would be 4*l.* 10*s.* up to the Saturday night before the election, 30*s.* for the week of the election, and 2*l.* for the nomination and polling days ?—That was what we requested.

20,238. You went in the name of all the voters belonging to the railway ?—Oh, yes, of all that were present at that time ; of course it was in the name of all ; there is no mistake about that.

20,239. Some 16 or 17 ?—Yes, about 15 or 17.

20,240. Do you know of a deputation being sent to Mr. Gower's committee ?—Nothing at all.

20,241. Or to Mr. Apted ?—No, I never spoke to Mr. Apted in my life.

20,242. But did you hear of any person going to Apted ?—No, I would not have had anything to do with Mr. Gower's party at all, not under any circumstances.

20,243. You were not of that way of thinking ?— No, if I had got nothing I should still have voted for Mr. Monson.

20,244. You did not get your request acceded to ? —No.

20,245. Do you know of any deputation being sent after the election to Mr. Nichols ?—No.

20,246. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was not expected that all the railway people should be present at the nomination ?—Not that I am aware of.

20,247. You were never intended to be there, the men could not come away from their work ?— No.

20,248. (The Chief Commissioner.) It would be almost impossible for any of them to get away to attend the nomination ?—It would have been so for me.

20,249. The South-eastern railway would not allow their men to come away ?—Those who worked over night perhaps might have.

20,250. If they had chosen they might have been out next day ?—They might have got leave, myself and others.

20,251. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But it was not intended you should attend the nomination ?—I should think not.

20,252. (The Chief Commissioner.) When the deputation went to Mr. Nichols you were one of them ? —Yes, I was requested to go.

20,253. Are you sure that was before the election ? —Yes.

20,254. Was Hayward with you ?—He was there.

20,255. Do you remember whether Goldsack was there ?—I do not recollect Goldsack being there.

20,256. Do you remember a man of the name of Taylor there ?—He was.

20,257. Can you tell me whether Goldsack was there or not ?—I do not remember his being there, but I will not say he was not there.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN MCMILLAN sworn and examined.

20,258. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are an engine driver ?—Yes.

20,259. What are your wages ?—7*s.* a day.

20,260. Two guineas a week, including Sunday ?—Yes.

20,261. What do you pay for the house for which you vote ?—13*l.* 10*s.* a year.

20,262. You voted for Mr. Monson on the last election ?—Yes.

20,263. And did any one canvass you at all, or did you come into the arrangement ?—Shepherd called on me and asked whether I would permit my name to be put on the committee.

20,264. Your belonging to the committee would be no matter, for you would be on your engine ?—I attended no committee, I had not an opportunity.

20,265. He paid you 1*l.* 10*s.* a week ?—He left it at my house.

20,266. You were away ?—Yes.

20,267. I suppose he left it with your wife ?—He left it at my house.

20,268. (The Chief Commissioner.) He paid you by the week, every week ?—Yes.

20,269. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And I suppose you came up and voted ?—No, I was on duty at the time.

20,270. Did you not vote at all ?—No, I could not come in time.

20,271. I am afraid you did not return the money ?—No.

20,272. I suppose it was a mere accident your not voting ?—If I had been at Redhill, I should have come and voted for Mr. Monson.

20,273. Did you with a party afterwards wait on Mr. Nichols for more money ?—I did not, I could not attend any meetings.

20,274. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Shepherd knew very well what your employment was ?—Just so.

20,275. And that it would be almost impossible for you to attend ?—He knew very well I could not get there.

20,276. But you might by accident have had an opportunity of voting ?—Yes ; I said on one occasion if I could get there conveniently I would come.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN REEVES sworn and examined.

J. Reeves.

20,277. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you in the employ of the South-eastern Railway Company ?—Yes.

20,278. What are you ?—I am a signalman.

20,279. What rent do you pay for your house ?—6*l.* 10*s.* a year.

20,280. Do you pay by the year ?—No, I pay 2*s.* 6*d.* a week ; I pay it weekly.

20,281. What wages do you get ?—1*l.* 5*s.* a week.

20,282. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long has your name been on the register ?—It is not on the register.

20,283. How long have you been in the company's service ?—I have been in the company's service 24 years.

20,284. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How came you to be on the register ?—I never was on the register.

20,285. (The Chief Commissioner.) At the last election were you employed at the station for Mr. Monson before the election ?—No, sir, I never had anything to do with Mr. Monson at all, or any of his agents.

20,286. You took an active part about the election ?—I did a little.

20,287. For Mr. Monson or for Mr. Gower ?—Not for Mr. Gower.

20,288. Did you know the arrangement made among the railway men was to go for Mr. Monson ?—I cannot say what the arrangement was ; I know there was an arrangement.

20,289. That was some time before the election, some three weeks ?—Yes.

20,290. Do you know what the arrangement was they came to ?—No, I do not know what the arrangement was.

20,291. Did you not learn it from some of them ?—I heard it rumoured about, but not from any foundation.

20,292. You know Hayward ?—Yes.

20,293. Did you not hear it from Hayward himself ?—Yes, I did.

20,294. Did he not give you to understand that it was 30*s.* weekly for three weeks, amounting to 4*l.* 10*s.* —He told me it was 30*s.* a week.

20,295. Then you did know ?—No, because there was the polling day, and they said nothing about that.

20,295*. What arrangement was it they made ?—No more than what the men have said this morning.

20,296. What arrangement was it ? — He never mentioned to me about polling day.

20,297. But he told you it was 30*s.* a week ?—Yes.

20,298. Do you recollect coming into the town here and meeting Hayward when he was going to talk to one of the Gower men ?—I do.

20,299. Did you go with him ?—I did.

20,300. And who was it you went to ? — Mr. Joyes, Mr. Apted, and Mr. Buckland, the agents of Mr. Gower.

20,301. Were they all sitting together ?—I do not think Mr. Buckland did sit down ; I think he came into the room, and went away very shortly.

20,302. Had you told Hayward just before that it would be a good thing for him to go, on behalf of the other railway men, to talk to Apted or some of the Gower agents ?—I do not know exactly.

20,303. You were an active man for Gower ?—Yes.

20,304. And you were anxious to get the railway interest for Mr. Gower, I suppose ?—That is right.

20,305. Did you not tell Hayward something of this sort, "If you come up to Gower's people, very "likely you will have better terms than with the "others" ?—Yes.

20,306. Well, that naturally would be so ; and Hayward as a deputation waited on Apted ?—Yes.

20,307. How was it Hayward did not get more satisfaction from Mr. Gower's agents ?—Mr. Joyes and Mr. Apted said Mr. Gower was in London, but they would see him in the course of the day, and would let him know their minds before 7 o'clock of the evening, either yes or no.

20,308. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What were the terms ?—The terms were 30*s.* a week, the same as Monson was giving, and to put them on Mr. Gower's committee on the first of his coming out ; that would be a fortnight longer.

20,309. That would make it more ?—Yes.

20,310. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It would be 3*l.* more ?—Yes ; but Hayward would ask for no polling money or nomination money.

20,311. He wanted the back money ?—Yes.

20,312. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know the terms Hayward wanted ?—Yes.

20,313. What was the reason they did not come to terms ?—I could not tell ; I do not know ; they sent up to my house, saying they would not come to such terms.

20,314. That was at 7 o'clock the same evening ?—Yes.

20,315. Who had they seen in the meantime ?—I do not know.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Reeves.

5 Sept. 1866.

20,316. I thought as you were a Gowerite they would employ you to take a message ?—No, I do not know what was the cause no further than they sent word over "No."

20,317. Did you afterwards attempt to come to terms with Mr. Gower for the railway people?—No, I had nothing more to do with it after that.

20,318. The negotiations were broken off ?—Yes.

20,319. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was anything said to the Gower party, that the men would require to be paid polling and nomination money ? —Not a word that I heard ; there might be.

20,320. Were you present at a meeting of the railway men when a document was drawn up ?—No, I was not.

20,321. (The Chief Commissioner.) When Hayward came over here I suppose he probably came by himself ?—Yes.

20,322. And you took him in and introduced him to Apted ?—Yes.

20,323. He knew that you were a Gowerite ?—Yes.

20,324. He would therefore rather go in introduced by one of their friends than introduced by himself ?—Yes.

T. Tullett.

THOMAS TULLETT sworn and examined.

20,325. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A bricklayer.

20,326. What do you pay for the rent of your house ?—5*s.* per week.

20,327. For whom did you vote at the last election? —Mr. Gower.

20,328. You were on the committee, I suppose ?—No.

20,329. Who applied to you ?—Mr. Durrant.

20,330. Did not Durrant put you on his committee at all ?—No, not that I am aware of. I did not see it on the bill.

20,331. Had you been engaged for him long ? Had you been engaged on behalf of Mr. Gower long before the election ?—Well, about a fortnight.

20,332. What did you do for him ?—Well, I do not know as I did anything particular.

20,333. Well, but I mean you were supposed to be doing something for him ?—Yes, I was supposed to be doing for him. I did not.

20,334. They did not ask you to do anything ?—No.

20,335. What was to be given you for the fortnight ? —I told Mr. Durrant I could not afford to lose time, and he said he would see me paid.

20,336. You told him you could not afford ?—Yes, and he said he would see me paid, and he did.

20,338. Did he pay you, or see you paid ?—He paid me himself.

20,339. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) After the election ?—Yes, I should think it was five or six weeks after the election.

20,340. Did you go to his house ?—No ; he saw me.

20,341. He called you in as you were passing ?—He came up to the front.

20,342. Do you live near him ?—Yes.

20,343. And he gave you the 2*l.* ?—Yes.

20,344. Did he tell you that was what he thought was going ?—There was nothing mentioned about money.

20,345. Did he pay you the 2*l.* without saying something ?—Well, he told me there was my 2*l.* for my time to make up for what I lost.

20,346. You told me you lost no time ?—Yes, I did lose time.

20,347. You said you did nothing ?—I did nothing, but there was nomination day and polling day.

20,348. You think that was a loss of time which it is right for men to be paid for ? You call that loss of time ?—Yes.

20,349. Do you always expect to be paid for polling? —I do not know as I always expect it.

20,350. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you think that a labouring man ought to be paid for going to the poll ?—I think so.

30,351. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And for going to the nomination ?—Yes, every man ought to be paid for that.

20,352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What would you think would be a fair remuneration for a labouring man who votes ?—Well, I am sure I do not know.

20,353. You think he ought to be paid ?—Yes, he ought to be paid for his day's work.

20,354. Well, what ought he to get? Let us see what you think he ought to get for the nomination. You are the best judge of that ?—Well, I should like to get all I could.

20,355-6. That is not the question at all. You would not like to get anything dishonestly. What do you think would be a fair remuneration for a labouring man like yourself for attending the nomination ? Really you must answer this.

20,357. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were paid 1*l.* a day ?—Yes, but I was there a fortnight before that.

20,358. A fortnight doing nothing ?—I cannot say I did anything, but I was ready to do anything they wished me to do.

20,359. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You think a labouring man ought to be paid for attending the nomination and attending the poll. What I want to know from you is what do you think would be a reasonable sum to pay for the nomination day, for a man who had a vote ?—I do not know.

20,360. You know very well what you think would be a fair remuneration ?—I know what I received.

20,361. Never mind what you received. What do you think would be a reasonable sum ?—Well, I think 1*l.* a day would not be too much.

20,362. You are not speaking now on behalf of all the labouring men in England, because they would not claim that. Now, in the case of a man who has a vote, what should you think should be paid for loss of time ? I am speaking now of an honest loss of time, not of a man who wants to sell his vote, but a man who is entitled to be paid for his loss of time ; what do you think he ought to get ?—I do not know.

20,363. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What do you get as a bricklayer ?—5*s.* a day.

20,364. Do you think you ought to get more than 5*s.* a day for voting ?—I do not know as I ought.

20,365. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it the opinion of the labouring men in Reigate, as far as you know, that they ought to be paid for polling and for the nomination ? Is that the general opinion among the labouring classes of Reigate ?—I am sure I do not know whether it is the general opinion.

20,366. Is it the opinion of those that you know ? Do they think that they ought to be paid ?—I cannot tell. I have never heard them say anything, so I cannot tell their thoughts.

20,367. It is your opinion ?—Yes.

20,368. I suppose you would not vote without being paid ?—Yes, I should.

20,369. You would not have lost your time without ?—Yes, I should have lost time to vote for Mr. Gower.

20,370. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Out of whose pocket do you think the money ought to come to pay you for attending the nomination and the polling ?

Who ought to pay you?—Well, I am sure I do not know. Mr. Gower, I should think.

20,371. And do you think that any gentleman who stands for this town ought to pay all the voters for their loss of time?—I do not know.

20,372. Is that your view of political rights?—Yes, well I should say so.

20,373. You should say so?—Yes.

20,374. What did you do on the nomination day to earn this 1*l.*?—I was about in the morning looking about to get the voters together.

20,375. The nomination day I am speaking of. What did you do to earn your 1*l.*?—Only go to the nomination.

20,376. And shout?—No.

20,377. You did not even make a noise?—No.

20,378. Did you hold up your hand?—Yes.

20,379. And that was all?—Yes.

20,380. What did you do after the nomination?—I cannot say what I did.

20,381. Go to the beer house?—No.

20,382. Did you go to your work?—No.

20,383. You were idle all the day?—Yes.

20,384. Then you think that a gentleman who stands here as a candidate is to pay you for being idle all day?—I should not have lost my time.

20,385. Who asked you to be idle all day?—Well, very often we cannot begin a job if we do not go to it in the beginning of the day.

20,386. I suppose you were very glad of the chance of being idle?—No, I do not know.

20,387. Did you go to your work on the polling day?—No.

20,388. What did you do besides voting?—I was only about getting the voters together.

20,389. Whom did you get together?—I do not know.

20,390. Did you get one?—I do not know as I got one. I went round and saw them, round about the town.

20,391. Tell me one you brought up?—I never brought one up.

20,392. In fact you did nothing?—I cannot say what I did do, hardly, that day. I forget.

20,393. You forget?—Yes.

20,394. Were you sober?—Yes.

20,395. Did you go to any house for breakfast?—No.

20,396. You had breakfast at home?—Yes.

20,397. What time did you vote?—Half-past eight.

20,398. You voted at half-past eight, and you had got some work to go to, hadn't you?—No.

20,399. Whom were you working for?—Mr. Charles Nightingale.

20,400. Why couldn't you go and work for Mr. Charles Nightingale after you voted? Were you on day work for Nightingale?—Yes.

20,401. And time work too. Were you not on time work for Nightingale? You understand what I mean, as a working man, so much an hour?—It was the hour system.

20,402. Do you mean to say you could not go back to your work?—I believe the labourers and everybody left off for that day. Nobody was at work then.

20,403. They were all idle?—Yes.

20,404. And all expecting to be paid by the candidates?—No; a great many did not expect it, because they had not got any vote.

20,405. But those that had votes wanted to be paid?—I cannot say, I am sure.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM WHITMORE sworn and examined.

W. Whitmore.

20,406. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are a railway man?—Yes, on the South-eastern.

20,407. And what rent do you pay?—10*l.* 8*s.* a year.

20,408. Do you pay by the week?—By the quarter.

20,409. What are you?—I am a labourer on the South-eastern.

20,410. What do you get?—1*l.* a week.

20,411. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes, I did.

20,412. For Mr. Monson?—Mr. Gower.

20,413. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

20,414. How was that?—Well, I thought he was the best man.

20,415. Well, what was the reason you voted for him, I want to know?—I voted for my own interest. I thought he was more likely to benefit the working man.

20,416. Well, who secured your vote for Mr. Gower?—I believe Gower and Smith called.

20,417. Whom did you promise your vote to?—Not to anyone.

20,418. To whom did you make the promise to vote to Gower?—Mr. John Simmons called, but I was not at home; and Mr. Gower came and I promised it to him. I said I should not vote against Gower.

20,419. Do you know Stephen Jordan?—No, I do not.

20,420. I thought you knew him?—No.

20,421. Not anything about him?—Not anything about him.

20,422. You have heard of such a man?—No, I do not know that I have.

20,423. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you say John Simmons?—Yes.

20,424. What is he?—He keeps a beer house.

20,425. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he put you on Mr. Gower's committee?—I was told my name was on, but I told them they must put it off, for I should not attend any meeting. I think they took it off. I never attended any meetings.

20,426. What were you to get for your services?—Nothing at all. I was not promised anything, and I never had anything.

20,427. For your loss of time, I mean?—I never lost any time. I went and gave my vote in at 20 minutes past 8, and went to work again.

20,428. Did not you expect anything?—No, I did not expect anything.

20,429. What did Simmons say to you?—He never said anything, no further than he said, "Will you "promise your vote for Gower?". That was all that passed.

20,430. And you said "Yes?"—I said "Yes."

20,431. Did you have any talk with any other agent?—No, not in the least.

20,432. Did you make any application to any person?—No, not at all.

20,433. Do you know that the railway men were voting generally for Monson?—No, I do not. I had no interest then, whatever.

20,434. Interest in what?—In the railway men. I went to work in the morning and came home at night, and I never attended any meeting at all, and never associated with them.

20,435. Were you not aware which way they had agreed to vote?—No.

20,436. You knew which way they did vote?—I did not, not till I came here.

20,437. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There are two William Whitmore's?—Yes.

20,438. Is the other William Whitmore any relation of yours?—No, he is no relation of mine. I live in North-street, Warwick-town.

20,439. Where does the other man live?—I believe in Mead Vale, I am not certain.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Whitmore.

20,440. He is near Mazden?—Yes.

20,441. (The Chief Commissioner.) There is a man at Mead-vale of the name of William Whitmore?—I believe there is. If you will look at this I think you will find it right (handing a notice to the Commissioner). That is what I received this morning; perhaps you will look at it.

20,442. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you were not associated with the other men?—No, I was not.

20,443. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you aware at the time that there was an arrangement among the railway men, although you may not have known what the arrangement was?—No, I did not know anything at all about it.

20,444. Whom did you see besides Simmons?—No one at all. I went and gave my vote in in the morning.

20,445. But before that?—No one at all before that. Mr. Monson's party never came near me, never asked me.

20,446. Do you know Henry Green?—Yes.

20,447. Do you know Mazden?—Yes, I do know him; never in his company.

20,448. You have been in Green's company?—Yes; he is here now; but never before.

20,449. Had you any conversation with Green before the election?—No; not any whatsoever.

20,450. About your vote?—No.

20,451. You are clear about that?—Yes.

20,452. I want to go one step farther. Did Green propose any arrangement to you?—No.

20,453. That you should vote for Gower?—No, not then; no words passed whatever.

20,454. Nor after the election, didn't you see Green?—No. I went to my work, and I never saw him afterwards.

20,455. Did you never receive money or money's worth, or anything for the vote you gave to Gower?—No, I never received anything; never was promised anything.

20,456. But were you never expecting to be paid anything whatever?—No.

20,457. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You never claimed anything?—No.

20,458. You thought it was your duty to vote without claiming anything for loss of time?—Yes. I went and gave my vote in, and then went to my work.

20,459. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you ever voted at an election before?—No; this is the first time I ever voted.

The witness withdrew.

T. Tullett.

THOMAS TULLETT recalled.

20,460. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I want to know whether you were spoken to about your vote by James Smith?—Yes, I was.

20,461. Did he offer you money?—Well, not the first time.

20,462. Was he a voter?—Yes.

20,463. Whom did he vote for?—Mr. Monson.

20,464. Did he offer you money?—Well, the last time he did.

20,465. When was the last time?—On the Monday before the nomination; but I did not see the money.

20,466. The nomination was on Tuesday?—Yes, the nomination was on Tuesday; this was on the Monday night.

20,467. What time of the night was it that James Smith saw you, and offered you money for Monson?—Well, I should think it was near 12 o'clock.

20,468. He is on the register, I suppose, James Smith?—Yes.

20,469. Now, what did he offer you?—He stood and talked to me about whether I had made up my mind. I told him I had, and he said, "You had "better by half come our way; I can do better for "you;" and he said, "Would a tenner be any good "to you?"

20,470. Had you told him what you would get?—No, I did not.

20,471. He said, "Is a tenner any good to you?"—I said, "No. I shall not promise you. I have pro- "mised my vote to Gower, and I shall give it." That was all that passed, and I went in.

20,472. Do you know George Baring?—Yes.

20,473. Was he with him?—Yes.

20,474. Do you mean to say you were not paid any money?—I was never paid a farthing of money. I never saw the money.

20,475. Was that James Smith, of 4, Rees-cottages, near the Brighton-road?—Homesdale-road.

20,476. Is Baring a voter?—No, I believe not.

20,477. Where does he live?—In High-street, I think.

20,478. What is he?—He is foreman for Mr. Henry Thornton, a nephew of his, I believe.

20,479. Were you paid any money on the part of Monson?—No.

20,480. Were you paid any other money except that 2*l.* from Durrant?—No.

20,481. Not by anybody?—No.

20,482. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote before 1865?—No.

20,483. When did they come to you?—It was on the Monday when Mr. Smith came.

20,484. At what time?—About 12 o'clock at night.

20,485. To your house?—Yes, to my own house.

20,486. Were you in bed?—Well, I cannot say that I was in bed; I was upstairs. It might not be quite 12. I cannot say exactly.

20,487. You did not think he had 10*l.* to give you?—Well, I could not say whether he had got it, or had not. I did not see it.

20,488. Nor did not think that he had it? It was a mere attempt?—I cannot say.

20,489. You do not mean to tell me that if 10*l.* were placed before you, you would not have accepted it?—I should not then.

20,490. Why?—Because I promised my vote for Gower.

20,491. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you think there was any chance of getting the 10*l.* from James Smith?—Well, I cannot say about that.

20,492. Did that have more effect upon your mind than the promise that was made by Mr. Gower? Were you not rather doubtful of getting the 10*l.* from Smith?—I could not say anything about that. I had made up my mind to vote for Gower, and I voted. If he had offered 20*l.* I should not have taken it when I had given my word.

20,493. You trusted to Durrant's generosity?—Yes. If he had never given me anything I should not have asked him; but still he came and gave it to me.

The witness withdrew.

W. Verrall.

WILLIAM VERRALL sworn and examined.

20,494. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A cow-keeper.

20,495. What rent do you pay for your house?—I pay no rent; it is my own property.

20,496. What is the value of it?—I cannot say.

20,497. By the year?—I am rated at 10*l.* a year.

20,498. That would be about 15*l.* a year in value.

Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—I cannot say whether I was or was not.

20,499. You voted for him?—I voted for him.

20,500. And worked for him; did all you could for him?—I did not.

20,501. Were you not at the nomination?—I was not.

20,502. But you polled for him?—I polled for him.

20,503. Did you receive anything for your loss of time in polling?—Nothing at all.

20,504. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever.

20,505. Who asked you to poll?—Who asked me?

20,506. Yes?—Why, Mr. Gower himself.

20,507. Somebody besides that, you know?—No one.

20,508. I beg your pardon; Mr. Joyes, didn't he?—No.

20,509. Was it Mr. Mulley?—No.

20,510. Now, you did not promise till the day of the polling for whom you would vote, did you?—I promised before.

20,511. When did you promise?—I cannot say exactly. Mr. Gower called at my house, and I promised him my vote, and I voted for him.

20,512. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And he gave you nothing?—He gave me nothing whatever.

20,513. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know Mr. Movely?—No, I do not.

20,514. Do you know Mr. Moody?—I do.

20,515. Did he bring you up to the poll?—He did.

20,516. Where did you meet him?—Well, he met me on the common not far from my house; but not by no appointment.

20,517. Did he bring a cab for you?—No; it was a four-wheeled little van.

20,518. What time in the morning?—Well, I cannot exactly say, but some time in the forenoon; I cannot say exactly the time.

20,519. And had you no refreshment or anything of that kind?—Refreshment before I went, or after I voted?

20,520. Well, after you voted?—I had.

20,521. Where?—I had a glass of brandy and water at the "Warwick Arms."

20,522. I suppose you were treated?—The landlady gave me a glass.

20,523. You did not pay for it?—She gave it to me.

20,524. Well, that is not paying for it?—I did not pay for it, of course.

20,525. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ask for it?—I did not.

20,526. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Generous landlady. Did Mr. Moody order it for you?—He was not there at the time I was.

20,527. How did you go to the "Warwick Arms"? Who told you to go there?—No one.

20,528. How did you happen to get into the "Warwick Arms"?—Well, I might as likely have gone into any other house as there.

20,529. But you would not have got a glass of brandy and water anywhere else?—Well, I do not know. The landlady might have given it to me, or the landlord.

20,530. Was it a Gower house?—I do not know.

20,531. It is dangerous to speak of influence of that kind with a landlady, you know?—Well, I do not know.

20,532. I do not wish to say anything against the landlady?—I think there was nothing improper took place.

20,533. No, no; I know that.

20,534. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you tell your wife?—Well, I do not know as I did.

20,535. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No, I thought so. Is that all you got for voting—a glass of brandy and water? Did you get anything else?—No.

20,536. Was this the first time you voted, the last election?—No.

20,537. But you had been at the "Warwick Arms" before that day?—Before that day?

20,538. Yes; you had known the "Warwick Arms," and the "Warwick Arms" knew you?—Yes, I have known it ever since it has been built, by seeing it.

20,539. Yes, but the "Warwick Arms" knew you very well?—I do not know particular about that.

20,540. You voted before?—I have.

20,541. At another election?—Yes.

20,542. For whom in 1863?—Mr. Gower.

20,543. Were you on his committee then?—I cannot recollect exactly whether I was or not.

20,544. I think you were?—I cannot say exactly, for I forget.

20,545. Did you receive anything for loss of time at that time?—Nothing at all.

20,546. Had you voted in 1859?—1859? I forget the date; if you will tell me the candidates I can answer.

20,547. (The Chief Commissioner.) Wilkinson and the Honourable Mr. Monson?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

20,548. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you on Mr. Monson's committee?—That I cannot say exactly, for I forget.

20,549. Did you get anything for loss of time?—Not at all.

20,550. You got nothing on any occasion?—None whatever.

20,551. You had heard, I suppose, that people were paid?—Well, I did not.

20,552. You travelled about pretty well; you did not hear men had been paid?—I did not know anything about it at that time.

20,553. Now you do?—I have heard it since I have been here; since the Inquiry, but not before.

20,554. (The Chief Commissioner.) You understand exactly the effect your answers will produce?—Yes.

20,555. That you have received nothing at all at any of the elections for your votes?—Nothing whatever.

20,556. Nor for your time in backing the candidates?—Nothing at all.

20,557. Do you mean to give us that impression?—I do, for truth.

20,558. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not understand whether you answered my friend distinctly whether you knew Mr. Frederick Joyes?—I knew him by sight, but never had any conversation with him.

20,559. You have never spoken to him about this election?—Not at all.

20,560. Before?—Never.

20,561. Before the election?—No; nor yet after.

20,562. Were you on the committee?—The election committee?

20,563. Yes?—Well, I am not certain whether I was or was not; but I never attended.

20,564. Your name is William Verrall, of Earlswood?—Yes.

20,565. Well, you were on the committee?—Well, I say I cannot recollect whether I was or was not.

20,566. Do you recollect anybody speaking to you about going on the committee?—I do not.

20,567. Do you know your name was there?—I do not; I do not remember anybody asking me or my telling them.

20,568. Was it put there without your authority?—I cannot tell you how it came there; but I cannot remember, to the best of my knowledge, telling anybody.

20,569. Do you know Mazden?—I do.

20,570. Had he spoken to you about it?—Not a word.

20,571. Do you recollect the meeting on Earlswood-common, where there was a big booth?—I remember seeing the booth.

20,572. Were you at that meeting?—No; I saw the booth, but I never went into it.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

W. Verrall.

5 Sept. 1866.

20,573. Did you go into the little refreshment house very near the booth at Earlswood?—I did.

20,574. There were a great many voters there?—Well, they were very nearly all gone when I got there. I had been haying, and I was on my road home, and I went in and got a pint of ale.

20,575. You paid for it, I suppose?—Yes.

20,576. Did never anybody before that speak to you about the meeting?—They did not; and I did not know there was going to be a booth there till I saw it.

20,577. Did nobody speak to you about it?—Not a word.

20,578. Was your name put on the committee without your authority?—Well, I do not know. I do not recollect telling anybody to do it; not to the best of my knowledge.

20,579. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want to ask you one question, Verrall; you have a house of your own?—Yes.

20,580. It is a freehold?—No, it is a copyhold.

20,581. I hardly like to ask you the question, but, however, is there any charge on your house, on your copyhold house?—Any charge on it?

20,582. Yes; has anybody got a charge upon it?—Not that that I know of. The sheepskins are at home right enough.

20,583. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The parchment you mean?—Yes, that is it; the skins.

20,584. (The Chief Commisioner.) Just tell me whether anybody has got a charge on it?—No one.

20,585. In case any suggestion is made, this gives you the opportunity of denying it. That you are sure about?—I am sure about it.

20,586. Did you have any conversation with the Monson party before you gave your vote at the last election?—No one.

20,587. Nobody?—Nobody.

The witness withdrew.

W. Walby.

WILLIAM WALBY sworn and examined.

20,588. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A butcher.

20,589. And what rent do you pay for your house?—25*l.*

20,590. At the last election, 1865, were you in the same house?—Yes.

20,591. Whom does the house belong to?—Mr. William Heath.

20,592. Whom did Mr. Heath vote for at the last election?—I cannot positively say.

20,593. No, but whom do you think he did?—I believe that Mr. Heath and Mr. Bachelor are partners, and one voted each way, but which way I can not tell you.

20,594. Then there is nothing in that?—No, nothing; nothing in that.

20,595. You understand me?—I understand you.

20,596. Now, you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

20,597. I believe you were rather active, and attended the meetings and heard what was going on?—Sometimes; not all of them.

20,598. No, not all the meetings?—No.

20,599. But you attended a good many meetings?—A few.

20,600. And knew what was going on?—Yes.

20,601. And did you see much treating?—A little.

20,602. Well, both sides, were you aware of it?—I cannot say anything about Monson.

20,603. You cannot?—I cannot.

20,604. What was the reputation of the Monson party for treating?—I do not know.

20,605. You do not know?—I do not know anything about it.

20,606. You will not give them a bad character?—I cannot say anything about them.

20,607. At the last election, as far as Mr. Gower's side went, was treating pretty free?—Not particularly free, it was not.

20,608. Had you seen the previous elections?—Yes.

20,609. Well, now, comparing it with previous elections, was not treating at the last as good as any of them?—Well, I had very little to do with the election before; I cannot say.

20,610. I suppose you were canvassed in the first instance by Mr. Gower himself?—Not in the first instance.

20,611. Who canvassed you in the first instance?—Joyes, Frederick Joyes.

20,612. Did you promise him or say you would think about it?—No.

20,613. What did Joyes say to you about it?—Well, I do not know what he did say. He asked me about my vote or something. I do not know what it was, but in the course of conversation it was.

20,614. But he said a little more than that. If he did not the first time it must have been another time?—Very likely.

20,615. Did he say anything to you about it the first time?—I do not think he did.

20,616. The next time he talked to you about it; was it after Mr. Gower had been to you, do you recollect?—Yes, I think Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith were there together; I am not sure.

20,617. Did you promise Mr. Gower when he came?—No.

20,618. You had seen Joyes again?—Yes.

20,619. Be so good as to tell me in your own way what passed between you and Joyes?—I promised my vote to Joyes.

20,620. You promised Joyes you would vote for Gower?—Yes.

20,621. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) On the second interview?—It might have been the third or fourth; we had so many interviews.

20,622. You wanted a little pressing?—No, my mind was already made up.

20,623. What passed?—He asked me for my vote, and I promised him. We made an agreement that I was to work up to the time of the election for 5*l.* after the vote was given.

20,624. It had nothing to do with the vote, but you were not to be paid until after the vote was given?—Nothing was said about it.

20,625. I thought you said so?—The agreement was made after I had promised the vote.

20,626. (The Chief Commissioner.) I quite understand. Was that 5*l.*, as you understood Joyes, to include everything, or were you looking for something more, something extra for the two last days?—No, nothing more; nothing extra.

20,627. And that is what you were really calculating on?—Yes.

20,628. Was there anything more said?—What about?

20,629. About that; about any further terms?—No.

20,630. I believe you went on and did stick to the Gower party?—Oh, yes.

20,631. To the end?—Yes.

20,632. And polled for them?—Yes.

20,633. Did you get your money?—No.

20,634. Whom did you ask for it?—Nobody.

20,635. I suppose you rather expected Joyes in the first instance was the man to look to?—Yes, that is the man I should look to for it.

20,636. Didn't you make any application or whatever you call it?—No, I made no application whatever; but in the course of conversation it came up, and he said I should have it. That is all I know about it.

20,637. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did he say that.

20,638. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was after the election?—Oh, some time after the election, some months.

20,639. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Recently?—It might be four or five months, or six months ago.

20,640. (The Chief Commissioner.) Can you account for your not having had it at all?—No.

20,641. No portion of it?—No.

20,642. Well it seems rather hard?—It does, doesn't it?

20,643. Now, you told me very candidly about that. Now, in 1865 was there any overture made to you by the Monson party?—Not to my knowledge, never.

20,644. Well, but you would know it?—No.

20,645. There was not?—No.

20,646. I do not mean they came and offered you so much money, but did they canvass you?—Yes, I was canvassed for my vote in my absence.

20,647. Was any overture made to you at all, any proposal made to you about voting for Monson?—No, I do not remember any.

20,648. Well, you would remember it if there was?—No.

20,649. Did any of his agents come to say, "We "can do just as well for you if you will do work for "us," or anything of the kind?—I do not remember anything of the sort.

20,650. Before the election you had friends among the Monson party?—Yes.

20,651. And have now friends, private friends?—Yes.

20,652. Did any of them come and make any suggestion as to what business might be done?—No.

20,653. Now go back to 1863, the previous election; whom did you vote for then?—Wilkinson.

20,654. In 1863 did you work for Wilkinson on his committee?—I do not know. I forget whether I was on the committee or not. I won't be certain.

20,655. You were a kind of partisan for him before the election?—I was.

20,656. Whom had you made any arrangement with then?—No arrangement was made.

20,657. But who was the person to whom you had promised your vote? Who was the Frederick Joyes at that election?—He was the same Frederick Joyes he is now.

20,658. He had been to you in 1863, much the Frederick Joyes which he was in 1865?—No. He was the same man, but he was not in the same way as he was in 1865.

20,659. Not in the same relation to you?—No.

20,660. Well, but you promised your vote to him?—I think I did; yes, I did.

20,661. I would much rather have it from you; hadn't you any sort of terms with him or understanding?—When?

20,662. In 1863?—Not any.

20,663. Nothing at all?—No.

20,664. With anybody?—No.

20,665. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever.

20,666. And did you get anything for your vote?—No.

20,667. Did you get anything for your vote the last time?—I did.

20,668. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you get?—2*l.*

20,669. (The Chief Commissioner.) I would much rather have got it from you; you did not volunteer that?—I will give you an answer "yes" or "no." I might make a mistake if I went on of myself.

20,670. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Frederick Joyes.

20,671. Well, he was in much the same relation to you in 1863 that he was in 1865, wasn't he?—No, I do not think so.

20,672. Perhaps you mean that the difference was that although in both he paid you money, yet in 1863 he had not promised you any sum?—I was not aware that any would come in 1863. It came voluntarily to me after the election for my services.

20,673. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) So you were inclined to trust him in 1863? That is the reason why you were inclined to trust him in 1865?—He paid me without any agreement, or without my having knowledge that I had anything to come,

20,674. What was the 2*l.* for?—For assisting, bringing up voters, and so on.

20,675. On the polling day?—Yes.

20,676. You did not expect it?—I did not expect it.

20,677. Why didn't you expect to have anything?—I did not expect it.

20,678. Why not?—I rendered my services if I could assist them in bringing up voters to the poll.

20,679. Looking back to the general election in 1865, had you voted then?—I did not.

20,680. Had you voted before 1859?—No.

20,681. When Joyes canvassed you in 1865, didn't you say something to him about this 2*l.* that you had received in 1863?—No.

20,682. Didn't you say, "Well Joyes, you gave me "2*l.* in 1863, what am I going to have this time?"—Nothing mentioned about the election of 1863, or the money.

20,683. No little nods or winks, or anything of that sort?—No.

20,684. No signs?—No, all straightforward.

20,685. No holding up of fingers?—I did not know anything about it, I did not understand it.

20,686. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 2*l.* from Mr. Joyes in 1863?—Yes.

20,687. He told you he had that for you, I suppose?—Yes.

20,688. You knew it was not out of his own pocket?—Certainly not.

20,689. How did you know that he had not more than 2*l.* for you?—I did not know anything about that.

20,690. How did you know he had not 4*l.* for you?—I did not, I never asked; I was very well satisfied with two sovereigns.

20,691. How did you know he did not get 5*l.* for you, now?—I do not know.

20,692. You did not apply to a higher source, you did not go to anybody else?—I did not.

20,693. You did not?—I never made an application to any one.

20,694. You were to work up to the time of the election; that was said after you had promised to vote. If that was a fair transaction, why didn't you proceed to enforce it?—I took the man's word for it.

20,695. Did you not proceed to enforce it?—No.

20,696. He gave you no excuse or explanation why the money was not coming?—No; only the thing I thought of was, I thought the petition might be going on, and I would not say anything about it.

20,697. But you are a respectable man, and if it was really for honest work, what about the petition? That could have nothing to do with it?—I do not know that it has.

The witness withdrew.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

G. Walker.

5 Sept. 1866.

GEORGE WALKER sworn and examined.

20,698. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A gardener.

20,699. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—15*l.* 12*s.*

20,700. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

20,701. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

20,702. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Rose.

20,703. Did he tell you you would be paid when he put you on?—He told me I should be paid, but no amount.

20,704. You would be paid so much a week, I suppose?—He never said anything of the kind. He said I should be paid.

20,705. He did not say how much a week?—No.

20,706. How long before the polling day was it?—I think it was about three weeks and four days.

20,707. And I suppose you continued on the committee up to the polling?—Yes.

20,708. What were you paid afterwards?—3*l.* 5*s.*, that is 5*s.* for night work.

20,709. Oh, the 3*l.* was for the committee work?—Yes, and 5*s.* for night work.

20,710. Were you paid the 3*l.* after you voted?—Yes, a month afterwards.

20,711. By Mr. Joyes?—No, 2*l.* from Mr. Smith, and 1*l.* from Mr. Apted.

20,712. Did you go to Mr. Smith?—Yes, I went to the office.

20,713. Mr. Smith the solicitor? You went to the office?—Yes, Mr. Smith the lawyer.

20,714. Did you take a bit of paper with you, or anything of the kind?—No, I sent my bill in.

20,715. To whom?—To Mr. Smith.

20,716. A bill in writing?—Yes.

20,717. What did you say in the writing?—Well, you know, of course I put on my time, how long I was on the committee, and I charged for my time.

20,718. But I mean how did you put it? "Mr. "Smith to Mr. Walker"?—Yes.

20,719. "3*l.*"?—No, I put down 4*l.* 15*s.*

20,720. Had you received 5*s.* then?—No, I received 5*s.* a day for polling day.

20,721. You had received the 5*s.* then?—Yes.

20,722. Then how did you make up the 4*l.* 15*s.*?—Well, I put down according to the time I was at work for Mr. Gower, and the time I lost.

20,723. How did you get out the 4*l.* 15*s.*?—I cannot exactly say how I put it down; but I dare say you have got the bills.

20,724. No, I have not, indeed?—Well, I cannot say exactly.

20,725. You did not put down any days or time,—only said "Mr. Smith to Mr. Walker, 4*l.* 15*s.*"?—Yes, according to the time.

20,726. That is a curious sum, 4*l.* 15*s.* How many days did you charge for in that?—I was there three weeks and four days.

20,727. Three weeks would be 18 working days, and four days would make 22 days. I cannot make out the 4*l.* 15*s.* now?—I did not get it.

20,728. You only got 3*l.*?—I only got 3*l.* besides the 5*s.*

20,729. Did you do anything else besides being on the committee?—I did everything I was required.

20,730. Did you do anything else besides being on the committee?—I think I brought three or four voters to the poll.

20,731. You were in Mr. Conway's service?—Yes.

20,732. You did not leave his service?—Only at night, when I had done work.

20,733. Will you tell me what you did besides being on the committee?—Well, I cannot recollect anything I did; merely did the best I could as regards getting voters for Mr. Gower; that is principally what I did.

20,734. What did you do; now, tell me?—I did not do anything but that.

20,735. In fact, you did nothing?—Well, I did do something.

20,736. What did you do? You are a good, honest fellow; what did you do?—Well, I have told what I did; I told you that I did the best for Mr. Gower as I could with regard to fetching voters to the poll.

20,737. Tell me any one thing you did?—I did nothing more than that.

20,738. Tell me anything at all you did?—No, I cannot.

20,739. Attended the committee; were you chairman of the committee at all?—No.

20,740. (The Chief Commissioner.) I will take this answer down, "Cannot tell anything I did"?—No.

20,741. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many committee meetings do you think you attended during the three weeks?—Well, I think I might attend to three or four; I do not know exactly now.

20,742. Were there refreshments going?—Yes.

20,743. I mean refreshments on account of the election?—There was drink.

20,744. Which you might help yourselves to, and did, as committee men?—Yes; it did not make no difference to me; sometimes I had a glass of ale and sometimes a bottle of ginger beer.

20,745. You had what you liked?—Yes.

20,746. And didn't pay for it?—No.

20,747. Did you ever apply for the balance; you only got 2*l.* from Mr. Smith; how came you to go to Apted for the other 1*l.*?—I went there before I went to Smith.

20,748. I thought you sent in a bill to Mr. Smith?—So I did. I had the pound from Apted before Smith paid me; that was on the polling morning.

20,749. (The Chief Commissioner.) Before you polled?—Yes.

20,750. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On the polling morning?—Yes.

20,751. That is a kind of refresher?—I do not know what you call it.

20,752. Where did you receive the 1*l.*?—At Apted's.

20,753. You called in there before you went to the poll?—That was before I went to the poll; I never went to the poll till 10 or 11.

20,754. What time did you receive the pound?—About half-past 8.

20,755. As you were going to work?—No, I was going to Redhill to fetch voters.

20,756. Did you deduct that 1*l.* from the 4*l.* 15*s.*?—I reckoned that when I made up my account; I took that into account.

20,757. Your claim was only 3*l.* 15*s.*?—It was only 3*l.* 5*s.*

20,758. What did Smith say when he gave you the 2*l.*?—He did not say anything particular; he said he could not let me have it all; he gave me a cheque for 2*l.*

20,759. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it paid by cheque?—Yes.

20,760. Did you apply again to him for the 1*l.* 15*s.*?—No.

20,761. He said he could not let you have it all?—He said when settling-up time came it would be all right; I have never asked him for it since.

20,762. Had you voted before 1865?—No, this was my first time.

20,763. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were not very well pleased at not getting all the money you wanted, were you?—I was very well satisfied with what I got.

20,764. Did you complain to Mr. Conway that you had not been paid all you expected?—No.

20,765. Did you tell him that you had not had your money before you were paid it?—No.

20,766. Hadn't you any talk at all with Mr. Conway about the money you thought was due to you for your services?—No.

20,767. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever; I had no conversation at all with Mr. Conway.

20,768. Did Mr. Conway tell you that he thought you ought to be paid?—No.

20,769. You sent in an account, you know, to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

20,770. Did you know that other people were doing the same thing?—No, I never troubled my head about other people; I looked after myself.

20,771. Did you know that other people who had the same sort of claim that you had were sending in their accounts too?—No, I did not.

20,772. Didn't you know one that did?—No.

20,773. Did you say in your account, "Services "during the election"?—I might have said that; I do not exactly know what it was.

20,774. Something like that?—It might have been something like that.

20,775. Do you recollect going to any one before you did that, and asking in what way you had better make out your account?—No, I do not recollect anything at all of the kind.

20,776. Don't you think you did do so?—Did what?

20,777. Go to somebody and ask them, "How had "I better make out my account"?—No, I do not. I sat down to my table and wrote out my bill, and the time I spent on the election, and of course I put it just what I thought proper.

20,778. And you put down something like, "For "services rendered"?—I cannot exactly say.

20,779. Before you sat down and wrote out your account had not you made inquiry about how the other people made out their account?—No, I did not.

20,780. You are sure?—Yes, I am.

20,781. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you speak to Mr. Gower about your services?—I did not.

20,782. Did Mr. Gower speak to you;—I do not recollect his speaking to me at all after he canvassed me.

20,783. Did Mr. Gower say something to you of this sort, "Well, we all know how much you have "worked; no doubt you have got many voters to the "poll, and Mr. Smith will pay you"?—No, nothing of the kind; I never had any conversation at all with Mr. Gower.

20,784. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said something when you received the summons to attend here, did you not?—I only received it this morning at breakfast time. I did not know anything about it till this morning at half-past 8.

The witness withdrew.

JACOB WESTBROOK sworn and examined.

J. Westbrook.

20,785. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A brickmaker.

20,786. What rent do you pay for your house?—5s.

20,787. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

20,788. At the last election whom did you promise your vote to?—Well, I never promised no one particular.

20,789. Did you take an active part for Mr. Gower? No.

20,790. I thought you did; I thought you treated the people, and that you talked to some?—No.

20,791. Did you ask them to vote for him?—No.

20,792. You know Mazden?—Yes.

20,793. Did you receive any directions from Mazden about what you were to do for Gower?—Nothing particular.

20,794. But general; what general directions did you get?—No general directions.

20,795. Well, what directions did you get?—All that I was to do was to see what I could see, and hear what I could hear.

20,796. Mazden told you; is that right?—Nothing particular.

20,797. Did Mazden tell you that you were to see what you could see, and hear what you could hear?—Yes.

20,798. Were you on the committee?—No.

20,799. What were you to get for seeing all you could see, and hearing all you could hear?—Well, all that I got was the loss of time.

20,800. No. What were you to get? You may have seen nothing, and heard nothing?—No, I did not see, nor I did not hear anything or say anything.

20,801. I do not say you did; but will you tell me?—10*l.*

20,802. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You saw nothing and heard nothing?—And said nothing.

20,803. Did you get your 10*l.*, or any portion of it? Did you ask for it?—Yes, but I did not expect to get it.

20,804. Did you ask?—I asked Mr. Mazden and I asked Mr. Smith, but I never expected to get a halfpenny.

20,805. What answer did you get from those gentlemen?—They would see.

20,806. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get anything?—No.

20,807. Why not?—I do not know why, I am sure.

20,808. Did you pay any money to the voters out of your own pocket?—No.

20,809. Did you make any payments at all out of your own pocket when you were looking about?—Well, I spent a good many shillings, but I never treated anybody except myself. I may have given some of them a pint of ale.

20,810. Did any one tell you that you were to treat the voters, to give them a pint of ale?—No.

20,811. Nothing of the sort?—No.

20,812. Did not Mazden say so?—No.

20,813. I want to know then why in your opinion you were not paid. Why do you think you were not paid?—Well, I don't know.

20,814. It is rather curious, do not you think so?—No, I do not at all.

20,815. Don't you think it is rather curious you were not paid?—No.

20,816. I think we shall find out how it was, but I wanted you to tell me. Do you recollect being applied to by the Monson party?—Yes.

20,817. Who was it made an application to you?—Well, I cannot hardly tell you. There was a man named Coomber.

20,818. Which one was that, because there are three or four of them?—John, I think his name was, and Hewett.

20,819. They applied to you on Monson's behalf?—Nothing was mentioned.

20,820. What did they say, if you please?—Nothing in particular. I do not remember exactly what might have been said.

20,821. They came to you, or you went to them?—They came to me.

20,822. I wish you would tell me a little more readily. They had a conversation with you?—No.

20,823. You do not mean "No" to that. They had a conversation with you?—No conversation whatever.

20,824. Then they came to you, stood quite silent in the house, turned round three times, and walked out again?—Out of my house?

20,825. Yes?—No.

20,826. They were not a very pleasant party if you had no talk at all?—I never saw Coomber but once, when he came to my house.

20,827. What did he come for? It is no use getting Coomber in the house if he doesn't say anything?—I had a mistake and a disagreement, and he came to rectify it.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Westbrook.

20,828. Well, what was it?—A disagreement in words, nothing at all to do with the election.

20,829. Just tell me, you won't mind satisfying my curiosity about it?—No, but it was nothing concerning the election whatever.

20,830. I should like very much to know about it. I don't want to go into private concerns?—It is a private concern what we were speaking of, nothing to do with the election whatever.

20,831. I don't want to press it, but you ought to tell me by rights?—It is nothing to do with the election, nothing whatever.

20,832. Which side was Coomber?—Monson's.

20,833. Which side was Hewett?—Monson's.

20,834. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are wrong as to the Christian name. It was either George or William, not John?—I understood his name to be John.

20,835. Edwin Coomber, you know, voted for Gower?—I think this was John.

20,836. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you any private arrangement with Hewett?—With Hewett?

20,837. Yes?—Well, he wanted me to attend their meetings, and said if I attended I should have half-a-crown every time I went.

20,838. Did they both propose that, or only Hewett?—Only Hewett.

20,839. If you went you were to have half-a-crown each time?—Independent of the election. The election had nothing to do with it.

20,840. I know that, but was it each time?—Each time.

20,841. And that was to be independent of the election—Yes.

20,842. What did you say to that? I suppose you were quite willing?—No, I told him I could not always attend; and he said I was to go when I could.

20,843. Did you say you were agreeable about that, to go when you could?—Yes, but not on condition to give my vote.

20,844. No; you were to go when you could. Did you agree to that?—Well, that was circumstantial.

20,845. Did you agree to those terms?—I went once or twice, and then we disagreed.

20,846. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you get your half-crowns?—I got 30*s.*

20,847. Who from? Hewett?—Hewett.

20,848. But you were only to get half-a-crown a meeting. How came you to get 30*s.*, for going once or twice?—Two weeks, I suppose.

20,849. But you were only to get, you know, according to your statement, half-a-crown a meeting?—That is what it was.

20,850. Did you go to all the meetings?—No.

20,851. Did you attend every night?—No.

20,852. Only once or twice?—Well, I cannot say exactly how many times.

20,853. When was the 30*s.* paid you by Hewett?—That I cannot say. It was paid in two instalments.

20,854. Weekly instalments?—Two 15*s.*

20,855. On Saturday night?—I think it was.

20,856. When did you have your disagreement with Hewett at the commttee room?—I never had no disagreement with him.

20,857. Oh, was that with Coomber?—With Coomber.

20,858. If they paid you so well as 15*s.* on those two Saturday nights why did not you continue to go there?—That would not pay me for the loss of time while I had been there.

20,859. Don't talk to me about loss of time, you had only been once or twice?—I did not attend every night.

20,860. You say, "I went once or twice and got 30*s.*" [illegible] up properly and tell me what you [illegible] times did you go?—I do not [illegible]ep no account.

[illegible] more than once or twice?—[illegible]s.

20,862. What, during the fortnight?—Yes.

20,863. Did that dozen times extend over more than one or two evenings?—More than one or two evenings.

20,864. You know there would be 12 nights only for the fortnight. Did you go every night?—Well, I do not know.

20,865. If you went every night, where did you go? Where were the meetings?—At different places.

20,866. Where these places were was there refreshment?—Well, all that I had ——.

20,867. Answer me the question, were there refreshments at these different committee rooms, where you went?—Nothing but beer. There was a little brandy, but I never took anything.

20,868. You don't call beer refreshment, I suppose. Did you pay for the beer you had?—Occasionally I did.

20,869. Not often?—Sometimes I paid for it, and sometimes I did not, but generally speaking I was money out of pocket. It cost me more.

20,870. What did you do at the committee meetings?—I never was at committee meetings.

20,871. What do you call the meetings you attended then?—I do not know.

20,872. What business was conducted at the meetings. Any business at all?—Nothing particular.

29,873. Did you attend more than six of those meetings?—I believe I did.

20,874. Do you usually go out to a beer house of an evening?—No, never.

20,875. You are a brickmaker, you know; you cannot work overtime at brickmaking in the dark?—I work generally from 4 o'clock in the morning to 8 or 9 at night.

20,876. I suppose you did on this occasion?—No, I left off sooner.

20,877. How much sooner did you leave off?—Two or three hours. And then I have got other parties to pay when I am absent.

20,878. At what did you go to these beer houses of an evening?—Generally about 7 o'clock.

20,879. How long did you stop?—About two hours; I cannot say exactly.

20,880. And you were paid 15*s.* a week for attending those beer houses? Was that so? Eh? And you considered that bad pay, did you?—It required a great deal of money to attend those places.

20,881. Was it before or after Mazden had promised you the 10*l.* that you attended these meetings for Hewett?—It was after, I believe.

20,882. It was after?—I believe so, or before, I am not certain. I believe it was before.

20,883. Now, was it before?—I won't say for certain.

20,884. How long before the election did Mazden promise you the 10*l.*?—Not many days; it might be a week before; I cannot say.

20,885. How long before the election was it that you attended these beer houses?—I should say a month.

20,886. Well, your transaction with Hewett, you know, was before the one with Mazden; it must have been?—It was no transaction at all, I don't call it.

20,887. Now, did you have any quarrel with Hewett?—No.

20,888. Why did not you go on attending with him, and getting the 15*s.* a week? Did you want more money?—No.

20,889. Did you ask him for more?—No.

20,890. Then why did not you go on?—On account of some of the publications printed about Mr. Gower turned my mind against him.

20,891. Was it in consequence of that that you ceased going to these beer house meetings?—No.

20,892. Did you speak to Hewett about it?—No; I spoke to another man; I forget his name.

20,893. One of Monson's party?—Yes.

20,894. Was he a person you used to meet at these meetings?—I saw him once or twice.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

J. Westbrook.

5 Sept. 1866.

20,895. Did he leave the Monson party?—I do not know whether he did.

20,896. Then did you go and make overtures to Mazden and say, "I am disgusted with these papers "that my party have been publishing, and I am coming "over to you"?—No, I hardly ever see him.

20,897. After you had left these beer house meetings did you ever see Hewett again?—No.

20,898. Did not Hewett come and speak to you, and look you up?—I saw him the night before the election.

20,899. Did not he come and speak to you, and look you up, and say, "How is it you are going to "vote on the other side"?—No.

20,900. Did nobody?—There was somebody come in the morning; I do not know who it was. I cannot say who it was.

20,901. Were you at the "Grapes" at all?—No.

20,902. Never attended there?—No.

20,903. The public house?—No.

20,904. Who took you up to the poll?—Well, I come up with two or three more.

20,905. Who were they?—Brown was one; I forget the other names.

20,906. William Brown?—No, I do not think it was.

20,907. George Brown?—Yes; it didn't make any difference to me whether they come with me or not.

20,908. Where were you when you were asked to come up to the poll on the polling day?—I was home.

20,909. What time of the day?—I should say about 9 o'clock in the morning.

20,910. Quite early?—From that to 10.

20,911. Did you ever apply to Joyes or to any of those men for a part of the 10*l.*?—No.

20,912. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said you could not give me any answer why you never got any of the 10*l.*, do you recollect?—Yes.

20,913. I dare say now you can give me a very good reason why you did not get any of the 10*l.*?—No.

20,914. I wonder you cannot; I can give you a very good one. I thought it would be likely to come out. They were not very likely to pay you when you were in the enemy's pay?—I don't think they would for that.

The witness withdrew.

ROBERT HOULTON called, sworn, and examined.

R. Houlton.

20,915. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A chimney sweep.

20,916. What rent do you pay for your house under which you vote?—10*l.*

20,917. Have you been long a voter for this borough?—Only two elections.

20,918. For whom did you vote in 1865?—I did not vote at all.

21,919. Not the last election?—No.

20,920. Didn't you?—No.

20,921. How was that?—Well, I kept away from it; working for all nearly.

20,922. Tell me how you kept from it?—I went away on purpose because I should not vote.

20,923. Where did you go to?—London.

20,924. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that the election of 1865?—Yes.

20,925. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) When did you leave? We understand the election was on the Wednesday; when did you leave for London?—The day before.

20,926. That was on the Tuesday, the nomination day?—Yes, at least I won't be sure whether I did not leave on Monday.

20,927. And how long did you remain in London?—Till after the polling was over.

20,928. I mean till what day?—Wednesday, the polling day; at night I came back.

20,929. In the evening?—Yes.

20,930. Where did you stay in London? You were pretty comfortable there?—I cannot recollect. I was all over the place.

20,931. And what money did you expend?—I cannot tell.

20,932. You went up on Monday and enjoyed yourself till Wednesday. What did you spend? A couple of pounds?—I do not know.

20,933. About; I do not want it to a shilling or two?—I might have spent more.

20,934. Did you take your wife with you?—Yes.

20,935. Any one else; any of your children?—I took a young child with me, not my own.

20,936. Well then, I suppose it cost you more than that?—It might have done; I never kept an account.

20,937. Who paid you that?—Mr. Nichols.

20,938. But he paid you for more than what you expended, I suppose; loss of time?—No, I never lost any time.

20,939. You were away from your business from the Monday?—He did not know where I was going.

20,940. What did he pay you?—What he paid me was 5*l.*

20,941. When did he give you the 5*l.*?—A week or two before, perhaps.

20,942. He gave it to you a week or two before?—Yes.

20,943. Do you recollect which it was?—I cannot say particularly. I should think it was quite a fortnight.

20,944. Before he gave you the 5*l.*?—Before the polling day.

20,945. Mr. Nichols paid you 5*l.* about a fortnight before the polling day?—It might be thereabouts.

20,946. I suppose that was to be part of your expenses for being away to avoid the trouble?—He never knowed nothing about my going away, sir.

20,947. What did he pay the 5*l.* for?—In the first place it was a bit of chaff with Lucock.

20,948. Never mind that; what did he pay you the 5*l.* for?—To get Lucock to vote for Monson, and to do what I could for him.

24,949. He gave you 5*l.* What was it for?—That was to give to Locock, if I could buy his vote and interest.

20,950. You are a voter yourself?—Yes.

20,951. And you received 5*l.*, which, of course, you have not returned to Mr. Nichols?—No.

20,952. Then you know you got it for yourself. You received it on your own account, otherwise you would not have spent it. You received 5*l.* Now tell me, what were you to do for that 5*l.*?—There was 5*l.* and I could do as I liked with it, or the best I could with it; one or the other. I cannot say which.

20,953. Telling you to do the best you can is telling you to use it yourself?—He did not tell me those words, but I understood the money was to go to pay Lucock to work for Monson. That is what I understood.

20,954. Take care?—I cannot say more than the truth.

20,955. Be cautious. Did you pay Lucock?—He would not have anything to do with it.

20,956. Did you return it?—No.

20,957. Now, giving you an opportunity of explaining, let me ask, did you not receive it for the purpose of doing as you liked with it?—Yes, of course, that was to do service.

20,958. And you expended it in going away to

THIRTEENTH DAY.

R. Houlton.

5 Sept. 1866.

London?—I did not say I expended it all in going away to London.

20,959. But you expended some of it in going to London and taking your wife and a child. What did you do with the remainder?—I might have spent it with some of Monson's party at public houses.

20,960. Well, of course you might, and you might not. Do you mean to tell me that you did spend any of it in that way?—Yes.

20,961. How much?—I cannot tell.

20,962. What did you spend of the 5*l.* with Monson's party?—I cannot tell what I did spend.

20,963. Did you spend any?—Yes.

20,964. With whom?—Well, I could not say the names of the parties I might meet with; Monson's party.

20,965. With whom?—I should be troubled to mention the names.

20,966. You cannot tell when you spent nor with whom you spent. When you went away I suppose you had not promised Mr. Nichols that you would vote for Mr. Monson?—I told them both; both understood that I should not vote at all.

20,967. Never mind what both understood; I am speaking about Mr. Nichols. Did you tell him that you should not vote for Monson?—Of course I told him I should not vote at all.

20,968. Did you tell him you should not vote for Monson?—I do not think he asked me.

29,969. Did not he?—I believe not. One day Mr. Monson and he was coming up Reigate-hill as I was going down, and he called me.

20,970. Did not he ask you?—I never stopped to hear what they had to say.

20,971. Did not they stop you?—They called me.

20,972. But you went on?—Yes.

20,973. Who canvassed you on behalf of Mr. Gower? You did not treat them so badly?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Morrison.

20,974. Did they speak to you?—Yes.

20,975. You stopped to hear what they said?—Yes, of course I did. They came to my house.

20,976. And did you promise them to vote?—No, I told them I should not vote.

20,977. You told them you should not vote for whom?—I told them I should not vote at all.

20,978, Did you say why?—Yes, I told Mr. Morrison.

20,979. Tell me, what reason did you give to Mr. Morrison?—Because I worked for most of the gentlemen.

20,980. And you told him you would not vote at all?—Yes.

20,981. Did you tell Mr. Nichols you would not vote at all?—I do not think he asked; he understood it. I do not recollect his asking me to vote.

20,982. Did you tell him you would not vote at all, that was my question?—I do not know whether he asked me whether I was going to vote at all. I cannot answer that question.

20,983. You say he understood you were not going to vote?—Of course he did; or else if he had not understood it he would have asked me for the vote.

20,984. You told him, I suppose, that you were not going to vote?

20,985. (Mr. Commissioner Smith). You said so before, you know?—If he asked me I must have told him.

20,986. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien). At the time you got the 5*l.* I suppose?—No; before that.

20,987. How long before you got the 5*l.* from him was it you told him that you would not vote?—I do not know that I told him at all. If I told him, it must have been before that time.

20,988. How long before that time?—I should rather fancy as soon as they began to canvass.

20,989. Tell me who was pressing you to vote for Mr. Gower; which of the gentlemen you worked for; who was pressing you most?—Not one.

20,990. Not one?—Not that I recollect.

20,991. When you went away, you know?—There was not one; not to my recollection. Only Mr. Morrison and Mr. Gower came and asked me, and I said "No."

20,992. How long have you been a voter for the borough?—Only the last two. I do not think I was on before, not in Mr. Monson's time.

20,993. You were in 1863. For whom did you vote then?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

20,994. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—No.

20,995. How came you to vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—I worked for Mr. Norman Wilkinson, and knowing what a kind man he had been ——

20,996. Never mind the kindness. You were working for Mr. Norman Wilkinson?—At his house.

20,997. You mean only occasionally; in your professional calling?—That is all.

20,998. You were paid for that and you gave service for it. What were you paid? How much did you receive for that?—Of Mr. Wilkinson?

20,999. On that occasion?—Nothing at all.

21,000. I do not mean from Mr. Wilkinson himself?—Not any one else.

21,001. Nobody?—No.

21,002. Nobody at all?—Nor did I expect to.

21,003. Who took you to poll for Mr. Wilkinson?—Perhaps a dozen; nobody took us; we went of ourselves.

21,004. With whom did you go?—Mr. Holdsworth, Mr. Catling, and Mr. Bartlett.

21,005. You did not receive anything from Mr. Holdsworth in 1863?—No, not a farthing.

21,006. Did you promise Holdsworth to vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—I did not want any asking for that. Mr. Gower and James Nichols met me in Church-street, and he introduced me to Mr. Gower, and he asked me if I would vote, and I said, "No; if I vote "at all, I shall vote for Mr. Wilkinson." He called once and I told him he need not call again, as I had made up my mind if I voted at all to vote for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,007. You received 5*l.* in 1865 and did not vote?—Yes.

21,008. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me; although you did not vote you took rather an active part about the election in 1865, didn't you?—Very little, sir.

21,009. But a little?—It was a little. I went to four people.

21,010. Did you canvass Webb among others?—I went to Webb.

21,011. And did you ask him to vote?—Yes.

21,012. Which way did you ask him to vote?—For Mr. Monson.

21,013. That is a man named Matthias Webb?—Yes.

21,014. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which way did he vote?—For Gower.

21,015. (The Chief Commissioner). Did you know at the time you went to him that he was a Gower man?—I could not tell.

21,016. But did you know at the time that he was along with the Gower party?—I won't say that I recollect so or not. I should rather fancy from his words or his ways that he was that way.

21,017. Then may I take it that you believed at the time he belonged to Gower's party?—Yes.

21,018. Well, what did you tell him you would do or get done for him if he voted for Monson?—I said if he would vote for Monson I could get three or four pounds for him. That is what I said.

21,019. I need hardly ask you who told you to say that?—Oh, there was not a word passed at all, scarcely.

21,020. I meant to say I need hardly ask you which of Mr. Monson's agents it was who induced you to do that?—They never made use of such words.

21,021. Who told you to say you could get 3*l.* or

4*l.*?—Mr. Nichols did not tell me to say that. He said I was to go and do what I could.

21,022. Did Nichols give you three or four names on a piece of paper and say, "Go to Webb and the "other, and I will tell you what you may do. You "may offer them 4*l.* a head"?—I do not recollect. He never gave me no paper.

21,023. But had he a bit of paper, first of all, with the names written down?—I do not know that he had.

21,024. Do answer me?—I never saw the paper.

21,025. That won't do for me; there may be a way out?—I don't want a way out.

21,026. Did Nichols give you those four names written out?—No.

21,027. Did he give you two or three names written out?—No.

21,028. Did he mention three or four persons to whom you had better go?—That is nearer.

21,029. I want to know, first of all, whether the names were down on the paper?—Not that I know of. He had got no paper.

21,030. Did not Mr. Nichols mention the name of Lucock to you too?—Yes.

21,031. Where was Lucock at that time?—I think he was at the top of the town I believe at that time; oh, no, I don't know.

21,032. Was Lucock at that time up in the town?—I cannot tell where he was at that time. It was not then that I saw him; it might have been the next day.

21,033. Where did you see him the next day?—I think it was at the top of the town.

21,034. You knew Lucock very well; you went to him and said that you could get him 4*l.*?—Yes.

21,035. If he would vote for Monson?—Yes.

21,036. Well, now, what was the name of the other?—I did not offer any money to the others because they would not hear. Monk was one. I asked him.

21,037. Did you say the same to Monk?—No; at least I do not think I promised any amount of money to him.

21,038. "I do not think I said the same to Monk." Is that it?—I asked him to vote for Monson.

21,039. I will take any answer you like to tell me to put down?—It is a long time to recollect.

21,040. Did you say that you could get him 4*l.*?—I think not.

21,041. Very well, I will take it that you did not?—I asked him if he would vote for Monson, and he said he had not made up his mind about it.

21,042. One would think that would be just the time to pop in with the offer of the money?—I do not think I mentioned it.

21,043. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you the man that offered him 30*s.* a week; I mean Monk?—No.

21,044. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me also who the other man was?—I went to Turner; but he would not hear.

21,045. Which of them?—William, I believe; but he would not hear a word I had to say.

21,046. Where did you get William Turner's name? From Mr. Nichols too?—Yes.

21,047. Do you recollect whether there was anybody else?—No, I never asked any more.

21,048. How long was it before the election that you got these names from Mr. Nichols?—About a fortnight, I suppose.

21,049. During that fortnight, you know, there was plenty of time for you to have some talk with the Gower people?—I had no talk.

21,050. You had not?—None at all; not as I know of; they never come to me; never troubled me a bit.

21,051. Then why did not you vote for Monson?—I told you why.

21,052. Because you thought you would annoy your customers?—Yes.

21,053. If I take your answer to that as quite correct you must allow me to have my own understanding about Mr. Nichols and the 5*l.* and the journey to London?—Yes.

21,054. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take the 5*l.* from Nichols because you did not want to annoy your neighbours, the people you work for?—That is another side of the question.

21,055. Well, let us take the other side of the question. I want you to answer that?—I was wrong in having anything to do with him.

21,056. Now, really was not the truth of it this, that you were to have the 5*l.* for going to London; not to vote?—It would be against their interest, because if I voted I should vote for Monson.

21,057. Then you got the 5*l.* to vote for Monson?—No.

21,058. What for?—To play with Lucock; to give to him, and to go and see these four.

21,059. You never gave a single penny to any of them. If it was given to you to give to Lucock, and he would not take it, why did not you give the money back to Mr. Nichols?—He never asked for it.

21,060. Common honesty would have suggested to your mind to give it back. You received the money you say to play with Lucock?—It was not mentioned for that.

21,061. What was it for?—To do as I liked with it, and I suppose I did as I liked with it.

21,062. Was not it honestly given to you, in fact, in order that you should vote for Monson?—No.

21,063. You did not understand it so?—It was not so.

21,064. Was not Nichols afraid you would be caught hold of by your customers on the Gower side; was not that the reason?—No.

21,065. You were afraid to vote for Monson?—I did not want to vote for either.

21,066. You did not want to vote for either, and you were afraid to vote, and so you took the 5*l.* Well, I think we can understand it, if you don't give your explanation?—I did not want to vote.

21,067. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told us that Nichols gave you 5*l.* before you went up to London?—I said a fortnight before the election.

21,068. That was not the only amount, was it?—Yes.

21,069. Are you sure?—Quite sure.

21,070. The only amount at that time, but you received a little more money, did not you?—No, not at any time.

21,071. I do not mean for yourself?—I was not offered any at all.

21,072. Were not you paid a little more than that?—No.

21,073. Recollect?—I do not want no recollection.

21,074. Are you quite sure?—I know what you are thinking upon; Buckland and Joyes fancy that it was more, but they are very much mistaken.

21,075. I have not seen either of them, but they thought it was 10*l.* didn't they?—It has been hinted, but they did not know what I had.

21,076. What made them think it was 10*l.*?—I cannot tell what makes them think; I cannot tell what you are thinking of now.

21,077. Was there anything said about 10*l.*?—No.

21,078. Perhaps I ought not to have said 10*l.*, but 2*l.*?—No.

21,079. I want to have this explained. You were to tell two or three of these people, two of them certainly, that you could get 4*l.* each for them. That would be 8*l.*, and your fiver would not do for that?—If I had got them to promise I should have gone to head quarters at once.

21,080. Were not you already provided with some

THIRTEENTH DAY.

R. Houlton.

5 Sept. 1866.

money, if they were willing, to slip it into their hands as an earnest?—Only that 5*l.*

21,081. Was not that it?—No, only 5*l.*

21,082. Do you mean to say you never were offered another 5*l.*?—No, I was not.

21,083. Nor got it?—No, nor yet expecting it.

21,084. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not think you have told us what was your real object in going to London?—Yes, I have; because I did not want to vote.

21,085. You had no other object?—No; I might have done some business there.

21,086. But very likely you did not?—Very likely.

The witness withdrew.

J. Worsfold.

JAMES WORSFOLD called, sworn, and examined.

21,087. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted at the last election?—Yes, for Gower.

21,088. What are you?—A coach painter.

21,089. What wages do you get?—27*s.* a week.

21,090. What rent do you pay?—10*l.* a year.

21,091. And how long have you been on the register here?—Only this last election.

21,092. Were you on Gower's committee?—Yes, I believe I was.

21,093. Who asked you to go on the committee?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith canvassed me five or six weeks before the election, and I promised Mr. Gower there and then.

21,094. That is not when you went on the committee?—I do not know what time I might have gone on; a few days; I do not know.

21,095. No one else asked you?—No one else but Mr. Gower. He asked me then, and I promised to vote. He asked me if I had any objection to go on the committee.

21,096. Did Mr. Gower tell you that if you went on the committee you would get remunerated for your loss of time?—No, he did not.

21,097. Or Mr. Smith either?—No.

21,098. You know Mr. Durrant?—Yes, I do.

21,099. Did he speak to you?—He did not.

21,100. Not about the election?—No

21,101. Have you received any money since the election?—No, I have not been offered anything. It is very acceptable sometimes, but I have not been offered anything on this occasion.

21,102. Has not Durrant spoken to you about this election?—No, he has not.

21,103. Not in any way?—He might have spoken something about it, but he did not ask me for my vote. Mr. Gower asked me five or six weeks before, and I promised it then, and no one else has asked me for it. Mr. Gower asked me if I had any objection to go on the committee.

21,104. Not Joyes?—No.

21,105. Nor Buckland, nor any of those men?—No, none of them.

21,106. Did you attend the committee often?—No, I did not attend the committee at all.

21,107. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—No, I was not.

21,108. Not at all?—No, I did not have one of the Monson parties to see me about it.

21,109. Were you at the committee when Mr. Gower made the speech which you know has been mentioned here, that those who worked for him should be paid well?—No, I was not there, but I have seen the speech he made, though I was not here to hear it.

21,110. Where did you see it?—In the paper.

21,111. Since this Inquiry?—Since the Inquiry.

21,112. Not before?—No, I did not hear of it before.

21,113. Did not you hear it abroad amongst your committee men?—No; I do not remember anything about it.

28,114. About what?—About what was in the paper. I only saw it in the paper. I had not heard it before.

21,115. What Mr. Gower said?—I saw something in the paper about it.

21,116. Before the election did you hear it rumoured amongst your fellow committee men that they were going to be paid for their services?—No, I did not.

21,117. Or get something for their work?—No.

21,118. Have you been offered anything?—No, nothing.

21,119. Who took you up to the poll?—Well, I don't know who it was. I was up early in the morning. I came up in a carriage with a few more.

21,120. Were you at the nomination?—No.

21,121. Did you go to your work after you had polled?—No, I was about that day.

21,122. What, attending, bringing up voters?—No, I was about in the town.

21,123. Doing nothing?—Doing nothing.

21,124. About in the refreshment houses then?—Well, I can't say I was not in a refreshment house. I was in one.

21,125. Which one was that?—I believe it was the "Crown" that I went into.

21,126. Who keeps that?—I do not know.

21,127. Did you pay for your refreshment?—Yes, I paid for what I had, and I was asked to drink by some one who stood in the bar. I do not know who it was.

21,128. Did you attend any of the refreshment houses before?—Yes, I was at the "Angel."

21,129. Was there a good deal of refreshment going on?—I do not know; there might have been. I was there an hour or so.

21,130. Did you have refreshment there?—I don't know. I was asked to take a glass of grog, and I had it. Who paid for it I don't know.

21,131. And you, upon your oath, say that you never were offered anything, and never received anything?—No, I never were offered anything and never received anything.

21,132. You know Groom?—Yes.

21,133. Groom that keeps the "Barley Mow"?—No.

21,134. But you know him?—Yes.

21,135. You knew him previous to the election?—Yes.

21,136. You recollect a conversation with him about the election?—He is a shopmate of mine, and of course we had plenty of conversation together.

21,137. You had a conversation about the election?—No, nothing particular.

21,138. You had not?—Nothing out of the usual way.

21,139. Do you recollect Groom saying anything about Durrant to you?—No, he did not.

21,140. You were at the breakfast at the "Barley Mow," were not you, on the day of the election?—Yes, I was.

21,141. At what time did you go in there?—I do not know what time; it was sometime before I come to the poll. It might have been 8 o'clock, or perhaps a little before.

21,142. Well, about 8 o'clock; you breakfasted there?—Yes.

21,143. Did any one take you in there?—Did any one take me in? No.

21,144. How did you know there was a breakfast?—Well, I was living close to the place, and I was asked to go in and have breakfast, and I went in.

21,145. Who asked you?—I do not know. There were several about there. I cannot tell.

21,146. Had you made up your mind whom to vote for before you went in?—I told you I had promised Mr. Gower five or six weeks before the election.

21,147. But you might have altered your mind?—No; when I make a promise I keep it.

21,148. On that occasion did you have some conversation about whether you did mean to do it or not?—No, I did not.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS WILLIAMS called, sworn, and examined.

T. Williams.

21,149. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Williams?—A potter.

21,150. Where do you work?—Where I live, at Woodhatch.

21,151. What rent do you pay for your house?—28*l.*

21,152. Are you a master?—Yes.

21,153. You employ people?—Yes.

21,154. How many people do you employ or influence?—I do not know that I influence many. I employ four or five.

21,155. You might influence them by employing them occasionally, not regularly. Did you vote for Gower?—Yes.

21,156. Before the election you were on his committee, were not you?—Yes.

21,157. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Gower, I suppose, or Mr. Smith. I do not know.

21,158. Who asked you to go on?—Mr. Gower or Mr. Smith.

21,159. What were you to do?—Nothing.

21,160. Shall I put that down, "I was to do no-"thing"?—Yes; I never was asked to do anything.

21,161. And were you to receive anything?—No; there was nothing mentioned about that.

21,162. What did you expect?—Nothing.

21,163. Did not you expect to be paid for your services or loss of time?—No.

21,164. Did not you lead them to think you were expecting something?—No.

21,165. Were you asked by anybody to canvass for Gower?—Well, I don't know; I might be asked by Mr. Durrant; that is all.

21,166. Do you mean to say that Durrant came to you and asked you to do it for nothing?—Yes, I never asked him for anything.

21,167. I did not say you did, but did Durrant come to you and say, "Will you be good enough to "canvass and do what you can for our side for "nothing"?—Well, he asked me if I would ask one or two to vote, but as for any money there was nothing said about it.

21,168. I know there was nothing said about money?—I never recollected any.

21,169. Did he ask you to go and speak to one or two people for nothing?—There was nothing said about money.

21,170. He did not state that what you were to do was to be gratuitous?—I thought so; I did not expect anything, and he never said a word about any.

21,171. Any what?—Any money.

21,172. Not about any money, but did not he say you would get something?—No.

21,173. Not for loss of time?—No, I never lost any time.

21,174. You may have lost no time, but when Durrant asked you to go to these men he could not tell that you were not going to lose any time?—No, very likely not.

21,175. Then did not Durrant give you to understand that if you did lose any time you would not be forgotten?—No.

21,176. Have you seen Durrant lately?—No, no lately.

21,177. How long since?—Three or four days.

21,178. Did you tell Durrant you were summoned?—No.

21,179. Did Durrant tell you were summoned?—No.

21,180. Did Durrant know you were summoned?—No, I have never been summoned

21,181. I beg your pardon, how is it you are here?—I had a letter here this morning.

21,182. Not a summons?—No.

21,183. It is quite immaterial. Did Durrant say anything about what was going on up here?—No.

21,184. You had no conversation at all?—No.

21,185. Have you made any application to any person since the election?—What for?

21,186. Anything?—No.

21,187. Not to anybody?—No.

21,188. Were you here yesterday?—No.

21,189. Did you hear at the election anything about a cannon that was changing hands?—Yes, I did.

21,190. What was the name of the man to whom the cannon belonged?—Russell.

21,191. You all supposed that was his cannon, did not you?—I believe it was his cannon.

21,192. Do you recollect going to him about the cannon?—Yes.

21,193. You offered him something for the cannon, did not you?—Well, I did sir, and I gave him something at the time.

21,194. Who sent you to him?—Mr. Durrant.

21,195. When was that? How long before the election?—I cannot tell you how long; a fortnight or three weeks.

21,196. Well, what did Durrant tell you to offer for the cannon?—He did not tell me to offer anything for the cannon, not then.

21,197. Not when?—When I asked Russell about it, he told me he had been bid 6*l.* for the cannon, and he had been bid 10*l.* for the cannon.

21,198. I dare say he told you who it was bid the 10*l.* Who was it?—Mr. Holdsworth.

21,199. Will you be kind enough to tell me what Durrant told you to give for the cannon if you could get it?—He told me I could offer him 6*l.* for it.

21,200. And you did offer it?—I gave it to him.

21,201. Oh, you gave him 6*l.*?—I gave it; Durrant gave me the money to give to him.

21,202. Did you take the 6*l.* with you?—When Durrant gave it to me.

21,203. Did it not strike you as rather odd that he had refused 10*l.*, and come down to 6*l.*?—I don't know whether he had the 10*l.* right down offered to him.

21,204. Did he tell you who the man was that offered it to him?—Mr. Holdsworth.

21,205. I am afraid you did not walk off with the cannon?—No.

21,206. It was up in the bush?—Up in the bush.

21,207. Did you say to Russell, "I should like to "see the cannon; just come and show it to me"?—No, I did not.

21,208. You did not see it at all?—No, I knew where it was.

21,209. Well I have never seen it yet; perhaps you never have?—Yes, I have.

21,210. When did you see it?—A twelvemonth ago.

21,211. It was after the election?—No.

21,212. You have never seen it since you bought it?—No.

21,213. Whose cannon is it now?—Whose is it now?

THIRTEENTH DAY.

T. Williams.

5 Sept. 1866.

21,214. Yes?—I do not know that I can tell you.

21,215. Did Durrant send you with any more money to anybody?—No.

21,216. You knew that money was going on the Gower side?—I knew that, because I took it.

21,217. Did not you know that money was going on the Gower side?—No, I did not.

21,218. But you took this 6*l.*?—I took this money, and took it down to him.

21,219. Did you not know from that circumstance that money was going on the Gower side?—Not any more.

21,220. But you knew from that circumstance that money was going on the Gower side? Say "yes" or "no," whichever you like. — I did not know that more was.

21,221. I have not said a word about "more," but you yourself took 6*l.* and paid it. Now do you mean to say you have no notion that money was going on the Gower side?—Well, there was money going.

21,222. Do you mean to saythat you were not looking for anything for your vote?—No.

21,223. Not looking for anything for your services?—No.

21,224. I do not mean going to get it, but expecting it?—No, nor expecting it.

21,225. Nor hoping for it?—No.

21,226. But were not you thinking you deserved something for your services?—I might have deserved something, but I never asked for anything or expected anything.

21,227. I forget whether you told me how long this was before the election?—Three weeks.

21,228. After that had you some talk with some of Monson people?—No.

21,229. Or they with you?—No.

21,230. Was any sort of overture made to you from the Monson side?—No, not from any one.

21,231. Were you at any of the Monson houses?—I may have gone into the "Grapes," to have a glass of beer or anything of that sort.

21,232. At Mr. Nichols'?—Yes.

21,233. Do you happen to recollect when it was you went into the "Grapes"? It was in the evening, was it not?—Yes.

21,234. Tell me how long before the fortnight, may it have been a week?—It may have been a fortnight.

21,235. What did you do in there?—I do not recollect anything in particular.

21,236. Cannot you recollect any one in particular you met there?—No.

21,237. Do you recollect meeting any one of Mr. Gower's party in Mr. Nichols'?—No, I do not remember it.

21,238. I wish you did remember who was in Mr. Nichols'?—I do not recollect.

21,239. Did you see Mr. Nichols himself?—That I cannot say.

21,240. Did you have a little talk with him about the election?—No; I never talked with him about the election.

21,241. The election had gone off then. I do not know whether you mean any conversation about the election which had taken place, or the election which was about to take place?—No, never.

21,242. But about what was going on?—I never had any conversation with Mr. Nichols about the election.

21,243. Do you recollect coming out of the "Grapes" and seeing one of the Monson party?—No.

21,244. I will go back from that to the other story, going back for what you did for Mr. Durrant when you bought the cannon. Did you go back at once, and tell him what you had done?—No.

21,245. What did he say to you?—All right.

21,246. What, "good-bye" like that (making a motion with his hand)?—Yes.

21,247. What did he say about you? Did he ask you to go to somebody else, as you were rather a good hand?—No.

21,248. Then did you say, "Very well; good-night "Mr. Durrant"?—I suppose I did, but I do not know.

21,249. Something like that. Is that all that psssed?—Yes, I never went to any one else.

21,250. I do not say you did go to anybody else; but did Mr. Durrant say that he would like you to go to somebody else?—No.

21,251. I do not understand those things so well as you; but it seems to me odd that when you went back to Mr. Durrant, and said you had made such a good bargain, that he should merely say, "Very well; good "night." It was an odd way of dismissing you; did you not think so?—Yes.

21,252. Was not something else said by Mr. Durrant? Did he not say, "All right, you shall not be forgotten"?—No.

21,253. Did you have a glass of grog with him, or anything like that?—I have had several glasses of grog with him.

21,254. But then?—No.

21,255. It seems to me such a very odd thing to dismiss a man like that who had made a very good bargain.—I had nothing to do with the bargain.

21,256. If you sent a man to buy a horse, and the man bought it for you on good terms and a little bit cheaper than you expected, and he came back and said, "I have bought the horse," you would not say "Good night;" that would be rather abrupt. There would be some little talk about commission for the horse, or something of that kind?—I do not know; that was all that passed.

21,257. My friend has suggested to me that if you got nothing you had the satisfaction of grumbling over it that Mr. Durrant was rather ungrateful; you felt that?—Not at all.

21,258. Did you not expect what you had done would be reported in higher quarters, and go up to the commander-in-chief?—Not that I know of; it might have been.

21,259. May I take this down, "I did think after I "had bought the cannon it might be mentioned in "higher quarters"?—No.

21,260. Did you receive any other money, whether it was for yourself or for other people; did you not receive any other money beyond the 6*l.*?—No.

21,261. When Mr. Durrant told you to go and get the cannon how much money did he give you?—6*l.*

21,262. But he did not know Mr. Russell's price?—I told him Mr. Russell's price, and I took it straight to Mr. Russell.

21,263. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had been with Mr. Russell twice?—Yes.

21,264. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you tell Russell, "I think I can get you your price for the "cannon"?—I did not tell him that; he told me what he wanted, and I said I would see Mr. Durrant, and let him know.

21,265. What he wanted was 6*l.*?—Yes.

21,266. Did he tell you that first?—Yes.

21,267. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you live next door to Mr. Russell?—No.

21,268. How far from Mr. Russell?—Half a mile.

21,269. You are a man who employ five or six men; what is Mr. Durrant?—A brewer.

21,270. Were you under any obligation to Mr. Durrant?—No.

21,271. Do you mean to tell me Mr. Durrant would come to you, a man who employs five or six men, and say, "Go to Russell"?—No, he did not.

21,272. What did he say?—That came up in conversation.

21,273. What did he say?—He asked me if I knew Russell, and I said yes.

21,274. Go on?—He asked me to go and see him about his vote.

21,275. That is telling you to go. It does strike me as singular a respectable man like you should be made a messenger to Russell; you were to go and see Russell about what?—About the gun.

21,276. About the cannon?—Yes.

21,277. You know that was all a sham; you were to get Mr. Russell's vote; we will have things by the right name?—Yes, of course it was.

21,278. And you knew it?—Yes.

21,279. You went on a sham to go and bribe Mr. Russell, and you went up there and saw him?—Yes.

21,280. Did you go to his house?—No.

21,281. I want to know the employment of a respectable man who has five or six men under him; did you go up and see him?—I saw him in the road.

21,282. Where did you find him?—He came out in the road.

21,283. Did you go to his house?—Not then.

21,284. How did you find him in the road?—He was out in the road in front of his house.

21,285. Then you did go to his house; what time in the day was it when you went?—The evening

21,286. You want in the evening half a mile; what part of Reigate is it?—It is at the back of the park.

21,287. Rather a remote place; you went to the back of the park and saw Mr. Russell on a July or June evening in front of his house; he was a poor man, and you knew a little money would be in his way?—I did not know it.

21,288. Yes you did know he was a poor man; you said, "What will you take for your cannon," and then you went back again to Mr. Durrant?—Not that evening.

21,289. When did you go to Mr. Durrant again? You had ascertained then that there was a voter to be had for 6*l.* "Now," you said, "I am sent on this respectable "message to bribe this poor man, and I have found "him willing to receive 6*l.*;" when did you see Mr. Durrant with that message?—I cannot say what date.

21,290. You went very soon after. How far does Mr. Durrant live from you?—Half a mile.

21,291. Did you go to Mr. Durrant or did Mr. Durrant come to you?—I went to Mr. Durrant.

21,292. When?—In the evening.

21,293. The next evening?—No.

21,294. When?—A night or two after.

21,295. Did you go to Mr. Durrant to deliver the message to him, or for any other purpose?—I do not know that I went in particular for that.

21,296. What did you go to him for?—I do not know.

21,297. You were in constant communication with Mr. Durrant during the three weeks?—No, not particularly; I saw him a great many times.

21,298. You saw him almost every day in the week?—No, I should say that I did not see Mr. Durrant not once in the day; it was in the evening.

21,299. I mean almost every evening?—Not every evening.

21,300. Almost every evening during that time?—No.

21,301. How often in the week?—Two or three times a week.

21,302. Now, you went down to him, and you told him you had seen Russell, and that he was a safe man, and that he would be ready to be here for 6*l.*?—Yes, I told him he would sell the gun for 6*l.*

21,303. Don't tell me about the gun; Mr. Durrant knew as well as you did that it was all a farce and sham. You said to him, "Here is a man who is to "have 6*l.*;" did he give you the 6*l.* then?—I do not know whether it was that night.

21,304. Did he say, "You must come again; I have "not got the 6*l.*; I must go to head quarters and get "the 6*l.*; I must go and get the money"?—He did not go.

21,305. He did not give you the 6*l.* that evening?—Not that evening, I called for it.

21,306. He must have told you that he had not got it; where did he tell you he would get it from?—I do not know; from Mr. Smith, I suppose.

21,307. Where did he tell you he would get it; did he tell you he would go to the committee?—He would get it from Mr. Smith, I suppose.

21,308. How soon after the evening you told him that did he give you the 6*l.*?—Two or three nights.

21,309. You were living half a mile from him, and he told you he would get it from Mr. Smith?—Yes.

21,310. You knew Mr. Smith was the agent for the Gower party?—Yes.

21,311. Then he gave you the 6*l.*; are you sure it was not 8*l.*?—It was not.

21,312. Remember yourself, and be very cautious; now are you sure you did not receive 8*l.* on that occasion?—I did not.

21,313. How did he pay you?—He gave me six sovereigns.

21,314. Are you sure there were not eight sovereigns?—I am quite certain.

21,315. It was too late to go that evening to Mr. Russell?—No.

21,316. As soon as you got the money what did you do with it?—I took it straight down to him.

21,317. How far was Mr. Russell's from Mr. Durrant's?—About five minutes walk.

21,318. Will you tell me why Mr. Durrant did not go with the money?—I do not know why he did not. He asked me if I would take it down.

21,319. Will you tell me why Mr. Durrant employed you in this transaction with the money?—I do not know why.

21,320. Do not tell me that you do not know why. I could very well understand why he should employ you in this transaction with Mr. Russell if it was not a single transaction?—I do not know why it was.

21,321. Is that the answer you give?—Yes; he asked me to go and see Russell, and I told you once before I went and saw him.

21,322. You had seen the gun before you knew the gun was for sale, did you not?—Yes.

21,323. How long before Mr. Durrant spoke to you did you know the gun was for sale?—A week perhaps.

21,324. Who told you?—Mr. Russell did.

21,325. Then you saw Mr. Russell three times about the gun?—I do not know that I saw him about the gun, but he told me about it.

21,326. You saw him three times?—I saw him three times, but I do not know that it was about the gun.

21,327. You told Mr. Durrant that it was to be sold?—I told him so.

21,328. And you told him that his vote would go with it?—Yes.

21,329. I ask you again, upon your oath, for all that dirty work did you not receive anything?—I did not.

21,330. Was it your love of the dirty work that made you do it?—I do not know.

21,331. Had you a love for the dirty work?—I do not know about that. I did not receive a farthing.

21,332. Did you like the work?—No; I wish I had never had anything to do with it.

21,333. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say that three or four days ago you went and saw Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

21,334. Tell me the day?—I do not know the day.

21,335. Tell me what time of the day?—I do not know what time of the day.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

T. Williams.

5 Sept. 1866.

21,336. Tell me the time of the day, do you recollect that?—I think it was on Saturday.

21,337. This last Saturday; now what time of the day was it?—After dinner I think.

21,338. In the afternoon?—Yes.

21,339. Tell me the business you went on?—He asked me if I had got a summons, and I said, "No."

21,340. Mr. Durrant asked you?—Yes.

21,341. That is not what you said half an hour ago; you told a different story then. How came you to go to Mr. Durrant, or did he come to you on Saturday?—He was over at my place.

21,342. He came over to you?—Yes.

21,343. Then you did not go to him?—No.

21,344. Was that the first thing Mr. Durrant said to you, "Have you got a summons"?—No, I do not know that it was. He came to me on business.

21,345. On what business?—He brought me some beer.

21,346. Does he deliver his own beer?—He does sometimes.

21,347. It is not usual, is it?—Oh, yes; very usual.

21,348. Had you ordered any beer?—Yes.

21,349. When?—Two or three days before.

21,350. Were you out of beer?—Yes.

21,351. Mr. Durrant came to you with your beer, and did he at once say, "Well, have you got a "summons"?—I do not know that he did directly; it came up in conversation. He asked me if I had got a summons and I said, "No."

21,352. What was the conversation that brought up the summons?—Something about the election.

21,353. Something about the election and about this Inquiry?—Yes.

21,354. Tell me what he said?—I cannot remember what he said about this Inquiry.

21,355. Yes you can, and you must tell us?—I cannot.

21,356. You omitted to tell us before that Mr. Durrant spoke at all to you about this Inquiry?—It was not about the money.

21,357. About this Inquiry?—He asked me if I had got a summons.

21,358. Why did he ask you that?—I suppose because a great many had summonses.

21,359. He did not stop there. You told him you were likely to attend here?—I do not know I told him that.

21,360. Tell me what took place between you and Mr. Durrant in speaking with reference to this Inquiry?—I do not know that he spoke about my evidence at all; he only asked me if I had got a summons, and I said "No."

21,361. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you not Thomas?—Yes.

21,362. Thomas Williams, junior?—Yes.

21,363. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Durrant give you any caution as to what you were to do if you came before this Commission?—No.

21,364. He spoke to you about the Commission and the Inquiry?—I told him I should out with the truth.

21,365. Yes, but you have not out with it yet?—I have.

21,366. Not the whole of it?—I have.

21,367. Have you anything further that you ought to inform the Commission of and make them acquainted with?—No.

21,368. Be cautious; you say you have not?—I have not.

21,369. Have you not received money from Mr. Durrant?—No, never a farthing.

21,370. (The Chief Commissioner.) Or money's worth?—No.

21,371. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you owe him any money then at the time of the election?—No.

21,372. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now listen, what I have got there is Mr. Durrant's account; it may be you can explain it, and I hope you can. In Mr. Durrant's account I find, "Thomas Williams, "jun., taking an active part in Woodhatch and "Dover-green district." That is your name (handing document to witness)?—Yes.

21,373. There is your name, and Mr. Durrant has returned it. I have not told you what sum yet, but to that name 6*l.* is put; what was that for?—For the cannon.

21,374. It is for taking an active part in Woodhatch and Dover-green district?—I never took an active part in Woodhatch and Dover-green district.

21,375. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take an active part?—This money I took and handed to Russell.

21,376. (The Chief Commissioner.) 6*l.* is what he put you down for, and he appears to have been paid for that?—Perhaps he will answer for that when he comes.

21,377. We shall ask him?—I hope you will.

21,378. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you on your solemn oath swear that you did not have any money from Mr. Durrant?—I do.

21,379. (The Chief Commissioner.) Except the 6*l.* for the cannon?—I do.

21,380. Do you not think, after my reading that over and your seeing your name, that you have got a claim on Mr. Durrant for 6*l.*?—No.

21,381. He seems to have got 6*l.* then for nothing. I wish an account from you; it looks as if he got 6*l.* for you?—I hope he may be able to answer for himself. I have not had the 6*l.*

21,382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Durrant tell you that he had returned your name as having received 6*l.*?—He said he should return it.

21,384. For what?—The cannon.

21,385. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And you assented to that?—Yes, I must; how could I get off from it?

21,386. (The Chief Commissioner.) But you had not received 6*l.*?—I did receive 6*l.*

21,387. I beg your pardon; you never received 6*l.*—I did receive 6*l.*

21,388. You never received a farthing; it is a quibble?—I received 6*l.*

21,389. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It is a quibble; it passed through your hands?—Yes.

21,390. Mr. Durrant returned this amount as having been paid to you?—I never received a farthing.

21,391. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You consented that Mr. Durrant should return you as having received 6*l.*?—Yes, 21,392. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When did he tell you that?—Last Saturday.

21,393. Was not that the object of his visit to you?—No.

21,394. What more did he tell you about that?—Nothing.

21,395. Yes, he did; we are obliged to drag this out of you by degrees; he did not stop there; he said more than that?—He told me he had returned me for 6*l.*

21,396. Did he not tell you something of this sort, that you were not to say that that was 6*l.* on account of a bribe?—No.

21,397. But for your work as canvasser?—No.

21,398. Nothing of the sort?—No.

21,399. Tell me what he did say?—Nothing of the kind. I told him that I should speak the truth.

21,400. Why did you tell Mr. Durrant you should speak the truth?—Because Mr. Russell said he should speak the truth.

21,401. How did you know that?—He told me he would a week ago.

21,402. Then Mr. Durrant did speak to you about his business on Saturday?—About the 6*l.*

21,403. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You went to Mr. Durrant's about it?—Yes, I did.

21,404. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you tell Mr. Durrant that Russell would speak the truth?—Yes.

21,405. You did?—Yes.

21,406. When you told him that Russell said he would speak the truth, what did Mr. Durrant say?—He said "Very well."

21,407. What else?—That was all.

21,408. No, indeed, that was not all?—Well, I do not know.

21,409. If that was all why should you say "It is my intention to speak the truth"?—He told me he had put the 6*l.* to me, and I said, "I shall tell them all "about it."

21,410. In what way did he tell you he had put the 6*l.* to you?—There was nothing more.

21,411. You are sworn to tell the whole truth?—I have told the whole truth.

21,412. No, you have not. I am very much inclined to disbelieve you when you tell me you have told the whole truth?—I have told you the whole truth about the money I received.

21,413. I am asking you about this conversation with Mr. Durrant?—I do not recollect anything more.

21,414. You will, if you only make up your mind?—I do not recollect.

21,415. What I believe is that you have come here not to tell the truth. You have told the Chief Commissioner and myself that you had no conversation about this Inquiry, and then it comes out that you had a long conversation with him?—It was not long.

21,416. Well, then, it was a short conversation, but an important one?—I have told you all about it.

21,417. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you go to Russell's?—Last week.

21,418. What day?—I do not know what day.

21,419. What took you to him? I am giving you an opportunity of clearing it up, and I wish you would; what took you to him?—I saw him when I went down there.

21,420. What took you down there?—I do not know anything in particular.

21,421. You went to see him?—I saw him when I got there.

21,422. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You went on purpose to see him?—No, not on purpose.

21,423. What for?—For a walk; I often go there for a walk in the evening.

21,424. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew he would very likely be examined about the cannon?—Yes, I knew he had a summons.

21,425. And he told you that he would honestly speak the truth?—He said he would speak the truth.

21,426. You saw Mr. Durrant after that?—At my own house; I think it was Thursday.

21,427. It was after Russell told you that he would speak the truth, and then you and Mr. Durrant knew it would come out?—Quite so.

21,428. And then it was that Mr. Durrant said, "Well, I have put you down for 6*l.*"?—He told me that I was put down at 6*l.*

21,429. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have not yet explained why you told Mr. Durrant you should speak the truth; who was it suggested that you should not tell the truth?—I do not know.

21,430. Did Mr. Durrant suggest it to you?—No.

21,431. Why should you make use of that extraordinary expression, that you would speak the truth?—I do not know.

21,432. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you say anything to Russell that it would be rather an awkward thing if that thing came out about the cannon?—No, I did not mind.

21,433. I did not expect that you did; I asked you whether you said that?—No.

21,434. You were a little alarmed then?—No, I did not feel the least alarmed about it.

21,435. You are a man of means?—Yes.

21,436. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say anything like this, "I suppose we are not going to "hear anything about the story about the cannon"?—No.

21,437. You did not say, what?—I did not say anything about that.

21,438. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Durrant say he should not like the story to come out?—I do not know.

21,439. Did he wish it not to come out?—I do not know.

21,440. Did he say so?—No.

EDWARD WORSELL sworn and examined.

E. Worsell.

21,441. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a bricklayer?—Yes.

21,442. What rent did you pay for the house out of which you vote?—5*s.* a week.

21,443. What do you make by the week? What are your wages?—5*s.* a day, 30*s.* a week.

21,444. You voted for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes.

21,445. Had you voted before that?—No, I never had a vote before.

21,446. Were you on his committee?—Yes, I believe I was.

21,447. Mr. Green, I believe, put you on his committee?—Yes.

21,448. Henry Green?—Yes.

21,449. How much did Mr. Green give you for being on the committee?—He never gave me anything further than that I told him I was short of money, and he said, "I can lend you a sovereign;" that was all.

21,450. He lent you a sovereign?—That was all.

21,451. During the time of the election?—Yes.

21,452. I dare say you have paid him since?—No, I have not had time yet.

21,453. I am not at all astonished that you laugh at my simplicity to put such a question to you, but I will take care not to expose myself again to your laughing at me. That was not the only money you expected?—I did not expect any.

21,454. You thought you were entitled to a little more than 1*l.*?—I do not know about that.

21,455. Mr. Green put your name on the committee; that was four or five weeks before the election commenced?—Three or four weeks.

21,456. 1*l.* would be nothing; did you not expect a little more from Mr. Green?—What Mr. Green said to me was he would pay me for my loss of time.

21,457. Of course he would pay you for your loss of time?—Yes.

21,458. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was before he paid you the 1*l.*?—Yes. He was to pay me for my loss of time; I only lost one day.

21,459. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were on the committee some weeks?—I did not lose any time from being on the committee.

21,460. He told you you would be paid?—He told me so, first of all he lent me the sovereign.

21,461. That was on account?—He said it was not on account.

21,462. He said, "Mind, Worsell, I will lend you "this, but it is not to be on account"?—He said he would lend it to me; nothing was said about account at all; he said he had lent other sovereigns to other men and had never got paid.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

E. Worsell.

5 Sept. 1866.

21,463. He must have been a very good man to do that. Did you know a man named Layton or Leaton?—No.

21,464. We may be wrong in the name; it was a man you spoke to about not splitting, you said you would be true and you would not split. You recollect talking to a man about splitting?—I have split now all I know.

21,465. You have not split at all. Do you not recollect speaking to a man about not splitting?—I do not know Layton.

21,466. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is his name if it is not Layton?—I do not know what man you mean; I know Langton and Leatham.

21,467. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said to Mr. Langton or some one else, "They may serve me "with as many warrants as they like, I will not "split." Do you recollect saying that?—No.

21,468. Come now, I will put you in mind of it; you said, "You would be damned if you would split," using a strong word of that kind?—I had nothing to split.

21,469. But you said you would not?—I do not know that I did.

21,470. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You might have done so?—I do not say that I did not.

21,471. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you not get any more money at all?—No.

21,472. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have not applied for any since?—No.

21,473. Of course I mean to borrow any?—No, I have not borrowed any. It is no use to borrow any more, I have not paid that back.

21,474. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not expect to have to pay it back?—I do not know; I thought it was but fair for the time I lost.

21,475. What was the time you lost?—Two days.

21,476. The nomination day and the polling day?—Yes.

21,477. Did you know Mr. Green?—Yes, he was the man.

21,478. Oh, yes. Did you know a man of the name of Richard Goldsmith?—I know William Goldsmith, but not Richard.

21,479. Mr. Goldsmith had a sovereign lent him; I thought perhaps you might have been in the same boat?—No.

21,480. Notwithstanding your declaration, have you got anything further to split?—No, I have told all I have got to tell; there is nothing more.

21,481. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are not expecting to have to pay Mr. Green back that pound; just tell me honestly?—I have not paid it back; not yet.

21,482. Are you expecting to have to pay it?—I did not pay it back; I thought it would about pay me for my trouble.

21,483. It is for your satisfaction more than mine that I asked you; but I see that Mr. Green has charged the 20*s.* to Mr. Gower, so he is paid back?—Oh, then I am not in debt now.

The witness withdrew.

J. Hodge.

James Hodge sworn and examined.

21,484. (The Chief Commissioner.) When were you summoned?—About a week before the Commission came.

21,485. What are you?—A publican.

21,486. Where do you live?—At Woodhatch.

21,487. What rent do you pay?—Thirty guineas a year.

21,488. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

21,489. Who asked you to vote for him?—Mr. Gower himself,

21,490. Did you promise him when he came that you would vote for him?—I told him he need not trouble himself any further, I was all right.

21,491. Did many people come to see you were all right?—Several did.

21,492. Who, among others?—Job Apted.

21,493. Did you go on the committee?—No.

21,494. Were you asked?—Yes, by Mr. Smith, who was with Mr. Gower.

21,495. Not by anybody else?—No.

21,496. What did Job Apted come to you about?—Merely to ask whether I was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

21,497. Had you no particular conversation?—No.

21,498. Woodhatch, how far off is that from this place?—About a mile; it is near the toll-gate.

21,499. Was your house open always?—Always open; not free for liquors.

21,500. But not at the election?—Not at all.

21,501. Was there any committee at your house?—I believe there were two committee meetings; two meetings I believe there were.

21,502. What did you charge for the room for the two meetings?—Nothing at all.

21,503. Were you to canvass?—No, sir.

21,504. Were you to do any work for Mr. Gower's party?—No, sir.

21,505. Were you to be paid at all for your place?—Not a farthing.

21,506. Not a farthing?—No, sir.

21,507. What did you get for what you did?—I sold my liquor.

21,508. Who paid for that?—Mr. Apted paid the biggest part, Job Apted.

21,509. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much might it be?—That I could not tell you, but it was between 4*l.* and 5*l.*; it might be clean on upon 5*l.*

21,510. (The Chief Commissioner.) And how much was the next meeting?—That I could not tell; there were not many there; one paid for some, and then another paid.

21,511. How was it paid for?—It was paid for as it came in. I said I would not make an account; I would have it from the bar.

21,512. Was Mr. Apted there?—No, he was not there.

21,513. Who paid for it?—That I cannot say; that is what I cannot say; whoever ordered it when it was put on the table, two or three pots of beer and two or three glasses, the money was laid down.

21,514. Whose money was laid down?—It was mine when I picked it up.

21,515. I do not ask who picked it up, but who laid it down?—I do not know; it might be three or four would say they would pay for it, and so on.

21,516. Do you mean to say there was no treating that night?—That was all that I knew of.

21,517. You have mentioned none?—Only these two.

21,518. Were there two or three of Mr. Gower's agents there, leading men, and did they take care when any of the others chanced to come in to ask them to have something to drink?—I believe they did.

21,519. And then paid you for it?—Yes.

21,520. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Will you tell me about the amount of the second night?—I could not give you an idea; it was nothing in comparison with the first night, but what it was I can give you no idea.

21,521. But it was not so much as the first night?—No.

21,522. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get no allowance for your rooms?—No.

21,523. Nothing at all?—No.

21,524. Did you not send in some claim for the committee room, two meetings?—No.

21,525. Did you receive any money at all?—No.

21,526. Not for any purpose?—No.

21,527. For no reason?—Not for any reason.

21,528. Did you make no claim?—No.

21,529. Did you send in any account to Mr. Apted?—No.

21,530. No further than the liquor?—The first night I did make out a claim for that, I did make out an account for that.

21,531. Did you send in an account to Mr. Smith?—No, sir.

21,532. Was this the first election you had voted at?—Yes.

21,533. Where were you in 1863?—In America.

21,534. Never mind that; it was the first election you were at?—Yes; I made a mistake, I was at Wandsworth.

21,535. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know a man of the name of Brown?—I did.

21,536. Did Brown come to you?—I cannot say whether I went to him or he came to me; he was up at a building at his work, and I was taking beer to him.

21,537. I believe he is not a voter?—No.

21,538. Did Brown ask you to vote?—Yes.

21,539. Who for?—Mr. Monson.

21,540. Did he offer you anything?—He did, he offered me four sovereigns and two halves.

21,541. Just tell us in your own way all that took place between you and Brown?—I do not know whether it is worth mentioning.

21,542. We will judge whether it is worth mentioning or not; I mean in reference to the election and your voting; we will start with this 5*l.*?—He used to be tempting me all day, and I said, "It is no "use, Brown, it is no use; I have told Mr. Gower I "will vote for him."

21,543. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is Brown?—A plasterer.

21,544. Was it in joking or jesting; why should a plasterer offer you money?—He was trying to canvass me, and then the next day he showed this money, saying, "This is for you, Hodge."

21,545. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he show you the money?—He did.

21,546. Do you know a voter of the name of William Banks?—Yes, he was there at the same time, and was an eye witness to it.

21,547. It is in consequence of what Banks told us we are asking these questions?—Brown said, "If you "will not come our way we will not have any more "beer at your house;" I said, "I can do without you."

21,548. Did Brown say where he got the money from?—Oh, no; I did not ask him any questions.

21,549. Did you ever see Brown at any of the houses in the town?—No.

21,550. You never went to the "Grapes"?—No; I cannot say I never went into it, for I might in passing by, but I never went in on any particular occasion.

21,551. Then that is about all that took place between you and Brown?—Yes.

21,552. Do you know where Brown is now?—No; the last I heard of him was he was in London, but that was shortly after this, for he was dismissed from Carruthers, he was their foreman.

21,553. (The Chief Commissioner.) I suppose you knew Apted very well?—Yes.

21,554. Do you recollect complaining to Apted because he had not paid you according to what you understood?—I asked him twice about the money for the beer which I served the night of the first meeting.

21,555. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Amounting to 4*l.* or 5*l.*?—Yes, just upon that.

21,556. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you not been paid for that?—I have now, I was on about twice.

21,557. After the 4*l.*?—No, after they had had my liquor.

21,558. You told me Apted paid you for all the liquor?—So he had, but it might be five or six days or seven; but so that I got my money that was all I cared about.

21,559. Do you recollect that about this time you had a pig, and rather a fine one?—I had two or three.

21,560. But you had a good pig then?—And so I have now.

21,561. Do you remember offering to sell this pig for a large sum of money?—No, sir.

21,562. Do you mean to say you did not offer to sell it for 20*l.*?—No, that is a mistake; if anybody had offered me 30*l.* I would not have sold him for I had made up my mind to eat him; I was tempted several times about him.

21,563. Before the election or after?—Before and after too.

21,564. Do you recollect being asked the price of it?—No, I never mentioned any price; I never said anything about the price.

21,565. I wish to know whether you were offered anything for the pig?—No.

21,566. Were you asked what the price was?—No.

21,567. Do you recollect saying your vote would go with the pig?—No, I never said no such thing.

21,568. No such thing?—No.

21,569. Nothing of the kind?—Nothing of the kind; if I did I don't know it.

21,570. Was anything said about any rabbits?—That was a common tale about rabbits, but there was nothing about money; there might have been something said, but I did not know it; I was a keeper of rabbits then.

21,571. Do you remember being offered 17*l.* for a lot of rabbits?—I was not; I should have been very glad if I had.

21,572. I do not mind about glad or sorry, but were you offered 17*l.* for a lot of rabbits before the election?—I was not.

21,573. Did anybody ask you what you would take for the rabbits?—They might have done, but I do not remember.

21,574. And did you say 17*l.*?—I did not, for I knew no one would give me such a sum of money for them.

21,575. Is that your only reason for saying it did not take place?—It never took place that I know of.

21,576. If you did, you would know of it?—I should think so; but I should think that was rather exorbitant.

21,577. Did you not say that anybody that gave you 17*l.* for your rabbits should have your vote?—I never said no such thing.

21,578. No such thing?—No such thing at all.

21,579. Do you know at all of anybody who said this took place?—No.

21,580. Did you never hear this before?—I did not; it is the first I ever heard about it.

21,581. There were the rabbits?—There were about 30, to the best of my recollection.

21,582. You were not asked the price of the rabbits or the pig?—No.

21,583. You would not agree for the price of the pig or the rabbits?—No.

21,584. You quite understand me?—I do.

21,585. And you say you never said whoever would give you 20*l.* for the pig or 17*l.* for the rabbits should have your vote?—No, I never said no such thing. I should have been very happy to have done as was done by the cannon. I should have collared the chance.

21,586. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever see Apted?—He was at my house very often; he comes in and out of my house, but I do not take any notice.

21,587. Did you see Brown?—Yes.

21,588. Did you hear him say from whom he got the money?—No, it was when I was up there about the beer. Brown and Apted have been at my house twice.

21,589. Was that before or after Brown had offered you the 5*l.*?—Before.

21,590. Did Brown ever speak to you about your vote at your own house?—I have no doubt he did.

21,591. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know Johnson?—I do.

21,592. Is it William?—I do not know whether it is William or not.

21,593. Do you remember having a talk with him about the pig?—He might do.

21,594. Do you remember having a talk to him about the price of the pig?—He might have said something.

21,595. He might have been saying what he has said now; did he not ask you what you would take for your pig?—He might have said so, but I have no recollection of it.

21,596. Did you say to Johnson your vote would go with the pig or the rabbits?—No.

21,597. That you deny?—I do deny it.

21,598. Did you say to Johnson, I give you the name, "This lot of rabbits I will sell for 17*l.*"?—No, I did not; the rabbits were not for sale.

21,599. And "the vote should go with it"?—No, I did not.

21,600. I give you the name now, and you can see it here; you see it here (showing the witness a paper)?—Yes, I see, but I positively deny that I said that.

21,601. You positively deny any such thing?—I do, any such thing.

21,602. In reference to some prior part of the history of this case, I will ask a question or two: Apted and Brown were frequently at your house?—Brown used to come in sometimes, and Apted would often look in.

21,603. What is Apted's business?—He is a pork butcher; he was pretty well over every day; he has to come and send.

21,604. Did they appear as friends much together?—They were together when I saw them together.

21,605. They were several times at your house?—I might see them three or four times a week; Brown, I think, nearly every day.

21,606. Did James Apted ever offer you money or anything if you would vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not remember.

21,607. He canvassed you, of course?—Yes.

21,608. Did he hold out any inducement to you to vote for Monson?—Not particular that I know.

21,609. Anything out of the particular?—Reeves, a shoemaker, was on to me one day.

21,610. Was that at your own house?—Yes.

21,611. He is a voter?—Yes, I believe he is. He lives down here in Bell-street.

21,612. That is John Reeves?—Yes.

21,613. Did he ever offer you money?—There was some money offered.

21,614. What did he offer you?—10*l.*, on my bar table.

21,615. Did he put it on your bar table?—Yes.

21,616. What became of the 10*l.*?—He took it up again.

21,617. Who did?—Reeves. He wished my missis to take it, saying it would buy her a nice silk dress.

21,618. Did you see this man Reeves offer this 10*l.* to your wife?—No, I went out of the bar, saying I would have nothing to say to it.

21,619. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You saw the sovereigns yourself?—Yes, and I believe there were ten—I thought there were.

21,620. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He told you there were ten?—Yes.

21,621. And he put them down on the table?—Yes.

21,622. And they looked like ten?—Yes.

21,623. Did anybody else canvass you?—No, only the same man.

21,624. How soon after did he try you again?—Not many days; it was something like the week before the election, that was the last time.

21,625. That was after Brown had offered you the 5*l.*?—I think it was; I cannot positively recollect whether it was after or before, to be certain.

21,626. I suppose on the second time when he offered you the 10*l.* you still refused?—Yes.

21,627. You told him you intended to vote for Gower?—Yes, no man's money should buy me. I would not be bought or sold.

21,628. And you received no money from Gower's party?—No, only for this liquor.

21,629. Or expect any?—No, nor yet expect any.

21,630. That was the first time?—Yes, that I was at an election; and I do not know anything of this money that was flying about.

21,631. Did anybody else, except these two men, Reeves and Brown, offer you any money?—No, I think not; and I do not know anything further about it.

Adjourned until 11 o'clock the following day.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

Thursday, 6th September 1866.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Donaldson.

6 Sept. 1866.

JAMES DONALDSON sworn and examined.

21,632. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—Engine driver.

21,633. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* 6*d.* a week.

61,634. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

61,635. Can you tell me how many railway voters there were; perhaps you know the exact number?—No, I do not.

21,636. Do you know it pretty nearly?—I should say about 20 or 22.

21,637. They say between 20 and 30; perhaps you know exactly?—I do not know.

21,638. Did you enter into the same arrangement as the others did?—Yes, I was put on the committee.

21,639. Did you receive 30*s.* a week, making it 4*l.* 10*s.*—Yes.

21,640. Who did you receive the 4*l.* 10*s.* from?—Mr. Shepherd.

21,641. Did you vote at any other election before this?—Yes, several.

21,642. At the last election before this, in 1863, were you at that time engine driver?—Yes.

21,643. Did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson or Mr. Gower?—Mr. Wilkinson.

21,644. Will you tell me whether all the railway men went together, as they did the last time?—The chief part of them.

21,645. You understand my question?—Yes.

21,646. Then do tell me if that was so?—The principal part went together, but there were some who did not.

21,647. So there were this time, there were one or two who did not go with the others; were they as much together in 1863 as they were last time?—I was on the committee.

21,648. But the railway men, did they hang together for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes, they hung together.

21,649. What did you receive in 1863, I want you to tell me shortly?—Nothing.

21,650. How was that? Why was it they arranged to stick together?—There was no arrangement in particular, but we were all for Mr. Wilkinson. There was no committee for him the same as there was this time.

21,651. Was Mr. Wilkinson a director of the railway at that time?—Not that I am aware of.

21,652. I wish you would tell me why it was they agreed to go for Mr. Wilkinson in preference to Mr. Gower?—I suppose they considered he was the best man, because he was for the ballot.

21,653. I do not think that was the reason; I wish you would tell me?—I do not know the reason.

21,654. Did you receive anything at all for it?—Nothing at all.

21,655. No consideration?—No consideration whatever.

21,656. I am to take that as correct?—You are to take that as correct.

21,657. You quite understand that in the fullest sense of the word?—I quite understand; I never received any consideration or anything.

21,658. Tell me, at the general election of 1859, when the Hon. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson stood, who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

21,659. He was not here at that time?—I believe not.

21,660. He was not here at that time himself; he was put up rather behind his back as they say?—Yes.

21,661. Did the railway men hang together; did they go in the same train?—I think they were principally for Mr. Wilkinson, but they were not so much combined.

21,662. You are an intelligent man, and I want to know exactly, as far as you can tell me, in 1859 what did the railway men get for their votes?—I am not aware of anything.

21,663. What did you get?—Nothing.

21,664. Nothing whatever?—Nothing whatever.

21,665. Do you wish me to understand you to pledge your word that they got no consideration at all?—I cannot speak for them, I speak for myself.

21,666. But for yourself?—I did not get anything.

21,667. Nor afterwards?—Nor afterwards.

21,668. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not till 1865?—Not till 1865.

21,669. (The Chief Commissioner.) There were two elections in the year before, in 1858; do you recollect whether you voted on the second election, when Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson fought it?—Yes, I went to the poll every time Mr. Wilkinson stood; I went for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,670. Did you ever receive anything for it?—No.

21,671. Did you go for Mr. Wilkinson on the Doulton election?—I ballotted for him.

21,672. Then you did not go further than that?—No.

21,673. I have finished your evidence with these words, "always voted for Mr. Wilkinson, and never "got anything"?—That is quite right.

21,674. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What wages do you get as engine driver?—7*s.* a day.

21,675. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1865 who was it who came among the railway people for Mr. Monson in the first instance, making arrangements?—Mr. Shepherd was the first who spoke to me about it.

21,676. I know that Mr. Shepherd made the arrangement, but he was not very high up as an agent. I want you to tell me, if you please, who was the first man, so far as you believe, who came down and worked the matter amongst the railway people?—I cannot say any one. I quite understand the question; but I am not aware of any one.

21,677. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not know who put Mr. Shepherd in motion?—No.

21,678. You say you voted for Mr. Wilkinson all through because he supported the ballot?—Yes.

21,679. Did the candidates at this last election, either Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson, support the ballot?—No.

21,680. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson for the ballot. You thought the ballot would put a stop to the intimidation, bribery, and corruption?—To a certain extent it would.

21,681. Do you think it would put a stop to men receiving money for their votes?—I cannot say that.

The witness withdrew.

WILSON BATES sworn and examined.

W. Bates.

21,682. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—An engine driver.

21,683. On the railway?—Yes.

21,684. You are on the South-eastern railway?—Yes.

21,685. What rent do you pay?—At the election time 6*s.* a week, but I am at another house now.

21,686. 6*s.* a week in 1865; what rent do you pay now?—I have a house I have built of my own; it is a society house I live in now.

21,687. A freehold house?—Yes.

21,688. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is it of 10*l.* value?—It is more than that.

21,689. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You get 7*s.* a day?—7*s.* a day.

21,690. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

21,691. Who did you vote for?—For no one at all last election.

21,692. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were out on the line, engaged all day?—I could have voted if I had chosen, but I made up my mind not to vote.

21,693. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you, with the others, agree to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

21,694. You did not come into the agreement?—No.

21,695. Did you promise your vote?—No.

21,696. Did you receive anything from either side?—No.

21,697. Did you not receive anything from Mr. Monson?—No.

21,698. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or from Mr. Shepherd?—No.

21,699. Did Mr. Shepherd offer you anything?—No.

21,700. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote in 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,701. In 1863, do you recollect who canvassed you?—I saw Mr. Wilkinson himself, and I promised him my vote.

21,702. And you gave it to him?—Yes.

21,703. Did you get anything for it?—No.

21,704. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

21,705. How many elections have you voted in altogether?—Two before that.

21,706. Who for?—For Mr. Wilkinson each time.

21,707. Did you not get anything for it?—Nothing at all.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

W. Bates.

6 Sept. 1866.

21,708. You did not get money, but did you not get anything else ?—No, nothing at all.

21,709. No promise or consideration ?—No.

21,710. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You could have voted then, last time; why did you not vote ?—I was not disposed to vote, and I do not intend to vote any more.

21,711. Why not ?—I think I had better let it be.

21,712. In the first instance was any money offered to you ?—Nothing at all.

21,713. Was it offered to you and you handed it back ? Did not anything of the kind take place ?—No.

21,714. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson because he supported the ballot ?—That was chiefly it.

21,715. (Mr.) Commisssoner O'Brien.) What was it disposed you not to vote again ; you seemed not to like it ?—I cannot get off to come just as I like ; it is rather inconvenient to us railway men to vote.

The witness withdrew.

T. Peeps.

THOMAS PEEPS sworn and examined.

21,716. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A smith.

21,717. At the railway ?—Yes, a railway smith.

21,718. About what are you earning ?—6*s.* a day.

21,719. What rent do you pay for the house you vote out of ?—5*s.* a week.

21,720. You voted at the last election ?—Yes.

21,721. Were you one of those men who came into the arrangement made by Mr. Shepherd ?—I was.

21,722. And you received the 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—I did.

21,723. Do you know of the deputation that time to the Gower party ?—No.

21,724. When Mr. Hayward and Mr. Reeves went up ?—I have heard of it since, but I did not know it at the time.

21,725. You knew of a deputation that went to Mr. Nichols, did you not ?—I did.

21,726. For more money ?—I did.

21,727. And you approved of the deputation that waited for more money ?—Yes.

21,728. Do you know of the deputation that waited upon him after the polling ?—I am not aware of any.

21,829. Had you voted before ?—Yes.

21,730. For whom ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

21,731. There was no money going then ?—Not any that I received.

21,732. But, so far as you are aware, was any going among the railway people ?—Not that I am aware of ; I never had any or saw any.

21,733. You would know it from the kind of knowledge that comes generally ; may we take it that so far as you believe there was no money going in 1863 amongst the railway people ?—So far as I believe there was not, I do not know of any, I never saw any or heard of any.

21,734. Can you tell me who it was who sent Mr. Shepherd amongst you ?—No, I cannot.

21,735. Because it was a bad thing ; you agree now with me that it was a bad thing to distribute money amongst respectable men like the railway men ?—It is, so far as it goes ; I suppose it looks bad at the last.

The witness withdrew.

J. Whitmore.

JOHN WHITMORE sworn and examined.

21,736. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification as to rent ?—10*l.* a year.

21,737. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—For Mr. Gower.

21,738. What are you ?—A guard.

21,739. A railway porter ?—No, a goods guard.

21,740. Did you say a goods gatherer ?—A goods guard.

21,741. Do you belong to the railway ?—Yes.

21,742. You are guard to the goods trains ?—Yes.

21,743. What wages do you get ?—30*s.* a week.

21,744. Do you know Mr. Shepherd ?—Yes.

21,745. Did you get any money from Mr. Shepherd ?—I never did.

21,746. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

21,747. Did Mr. Shepherd offer you any money ?—No.

21,748. You were not one of the compact amongst those who got 4*l.* 10*s.* ?—No.

21,749. Who did you get your money from ?—I got 2*l.* from Mr. Green three months after.

21,750. Henry Green ?—That was not for the election ; he said he gave it to me because I was ill.

21,751. (Mr.) Commissioner O'Brien.) What was it for ?—Because I had been ill three months.

21,752. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When did Mr. Green give you the money ?—About three months after the election.

21,753. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. Green.

21,754. How long before the election did he canvass you ?—A fortnight or three weeks, perhaps.

21,755. Were you to go on the committee ?—They put me on, but I scratched my name off several of the papers.

21,756. Did Mr. Green speak to you about going on the committee ?—He did speak to me, and I said no.

21,757. Did he say if you went on the committee and worked you would get something ?—No, he did not.

21,758. Did any one else speak to you besides Mr. Green ?—No.

21,759. Had Mr. Green ever been so charitable before as to give you a couple of pounds ?—No.

21,760. You were surprised, were you not ?—Yes.

21,761. What is Mr. Green ? a labouring man, is he not ?—A builder, I think he is.

21,762. A builder in a small way ?—No, I think not.

21,763. He works with a trowel ?—I do not know about the trowel.

21,764. He works on a building ?—Yes.

21,765. Had you told Mr. Green you wanted money ?—No, I never saw him till he came up to the station.

21,766. Of course you had not told him you had been poorly ?—No, he knew that, because I live close to him.

21,767. Had you been away from your work ?—Yes, for three weeks.

21,768. Did the railway pay you after you went ?—No, only sick money.

21,769. That is, what you got from the sick fund ?—Only what we pay ourselves.

21,770. From the men's sick fund ?—Yes.

21,771. Had you asked Mr. Green for 2*l.* ?—No.

21,772. He paid you at the station ?—Yes, up at the station.

21,773. How long after you had been at work did he pay you ?—About the second or third day.

21,774. Then you were three weeks away without his coming to you ?—Yes.

21,775. He knew you were ill ?—Yes.

21,776. Did he pay the 2*l.* at once ?—Yes, he gave it me in my hand when I was coupling the trucks, and he said, "Here is 2*l.* for a present for you ;" and I said, "Thank you ;" and of course I took it.

21,777. What did he say when he gave you the 2*l.* ?—He asked me how I was. I said I was better, and he made me a present of it.

21,778. Then he pulled 2*l.* out of his pocket and gave it to you ?—Yes.

21,779. (The Chief Commissioner.) I think you are over honest, Whitmore; he did not give you more than 30*s.*, did he; I do not want to take the shine out of Mr. Green?—No, 2*l.*

21,780. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he give you 30*s.* or 2*l.*?—2*l.*

21,781. (The Chief Commissioner.) You got 2*l.* from him?—Yes.

21,782. Then you got no more from him?—No.

21,783. Are there more than one J. Whitmore's?—There are several about.

21,784. Not J. Whitmores?—I do not know.

21,785. Did you not get in the month of August 2*l.*?—It was about three months after the election, as near as I can tell.

21,786. What I want to know is, did you not get 30*s.* from Mr. Green about the time of the election?—No.

21,787. You got about the time of the election, early in July, 30*s.*?—No.

21,788. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you employed as a watcher at all?—No; I am not at home till 11 or 12 o'clock at night.

21,789. (The Chief Commissioner.) I think you must make a mistake; did you not get 30*s.* again soon afterwards?—No; I never received any more than 2*l.*

21,790. Are you a good scholar?—Not much.

21,791. Because here it is written down, and if you like you can see it?—No, I do not care about seeing it.

21,792–3. Just look, perhaps it may remind you. I see in the month of July apparently John Whitmore was paid 30*s.*; that was the same time that Ede and William Whitmore and Oxtoby were paid 10*s.* You know those men?—No.

21,794. Does not that remind you of it?—It is not me, there are other Whitmores.

21,795. I have got the other Whitmore, William Whitmore; he received it the same time as you received it?—No.

21,796. On that occasion I see Bridges and Tivey were down; is there a man named Tivey?—I do not know.

21,797. Just on the same day that Bridges was paid you got another 10*s.*, did you not?—No; I received 2*l.*; that was all.

21,798. Yes; I find the 2*l.* is put down after; that is in the month of August. They were paid at the same time that you were paid the 2*l.*?—I do not know, they paid me at the station.

21,799. Was Cooper there?—No one was with us.

21,800. On the same occasion Cooper is put down 10*s.*?—No, there was no one.

21,801. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you heard that the other railway men were getting 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I heard that they had it.

21,802. You heard them say it?—Yes.

21,803. And they were looking for more, you heard them say that?—Yes.

21,804. You were not sufficiently paid by an offer of 2*l.*?—They never offered me anything at all.

21,805. But you knew as well as they did that it was 2*l.* for your vote. Did you not ask Mr. Green for more? Don't try to put it on his thinking you were ill, that is simple folly; you might have been ill for years and Mr. Green would not have given you a farthing. Did you not apply to him for more?—No.

21,806. You said, "This is rather poor pay, the "other railway people are better off than this; those "who vote for Mr. Monson are better off than I am"?—I never spoke to him.

21,807. Why did you not?—I did not think it worth while to ask him.

21,808. Who else did Mr. Green get amongst you; you know Mr. Shepherd took a great number of you away?—I do not know, I was not at home to see.

21,809. Mr. Green got you and Boscawen and somebody else?—I do not know that.

21,810. What time of the day did you vote?—About 11 o'clock.

21,811. Did you vote at any previous election?—Yes.

21,812. For Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

21,813. All the men voted for Mr. Wilkinson before, I believe?—Nearly all.

21,814. I suppose that was on account of Mr. Wilkinson's influence?—It might be.

21,815. I mean there was no money going?—No.

21,816. Everybody amongst you knew the last time the money was going of course?—Yes.

21,817. What I want to know is, had you arranged amongst the others (I do not mean at any meeting) that you would have money for your vote at this election?—No, I did not; I never thought I was going to get any money at all; I never asked for any, and I never was promised any.

21,818. What influence could Mr. Green have with you; who was Mr. Green; did you know Mr. Green before?—Yes, I did.

21,819. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When the 2*l.* was given to you by Mr. Green you did not believe it was on account of charity by Mr. Green?—I did not believe so.

21,820. Did you not honestly believe it was for your vote for Mr. Gower?—I thought it was very likely.

21,821. You thought it was more than likely?—Yes, when I had the money.

21,822. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have a relative up there of the name of Symonds?—Yes.

21,823. What is he?—My father-in-law.

21,824. Are you his father-in-law or he yours?—He is mine.

21,825. He voted for Mr. Gower?—I think he did.

21,826. He was very active; he exerted himself a good deal, did he not, for Mr. Gower?—I was not at home to see it; I cannot say.

21,827. You know that he did?—I know he was working for Mr. Gower.

21,828. Did he not canvass you for Mr. Gower?—No, he did not know which way I was going.

21,829. Then, of course, nothing passed between you and him about your vote?—No.

21,830. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you voted before 1863 at any other election for Mr. Wilkinson?—I voted twice for Mr. Wilkinson, I think.

21,831. Any money either time?—Yes.

21,832. What was the amount?—2*l.*

21,833. What time was that, was it the first time you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—It was the second time, I think, when I had 2*l.* for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,834. This last time, in 1865, you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

21,835. The election before that was 1863, two years before, and you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

21,836. Was that the time you voted?—Yes.

21,837. (Mr. Commissioner Smith,) Did you get 2*l.* in 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,838. What do you mean by the last election?—The election before this one.

21,839. Who paid you then?—Mr. James.

21,840. What did you do for the 2*l.*?—I had done nothing.

21,841. When did Mr. James pay you?—Some months after the election.

21,842. How came he to pay you?—Because it was the same time he was round, and I lost my day's work.

21,843. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he go round the railway people in 1863?—I know he came round.

21,844. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where were you; were you at home when Mr. James came round to you?—At the "Warwick Arms."

21,845. Did Mr. James come round to look up the railway people who promised?—I do not know.

21,846. You say he came round, what was that for?—To pay them, I suppose.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Whitmore.

6 Sept. 1866.

21,847. Were you paid at the "Warwick Arms"?—I was paid at Symonds's, my father-in-law.

21,848. Did you see him go to Symonds's?—No.

21,849. Were you paid in the street?—I was paid at the corner there, by the door.

21,850. By Symonds's door?—Yes.

21,851. Was the door open?—Yes.

21,852. Were you coming out of the house or was Mr. James coming out of the house?—He came round the corner coming round into the house.

21,853. Did he go into the house?—Yes.

21,854. After he paid you the 2*l.*?—Yes.

21,855. Did you hear from your father-in-law, Symonds, that he had received 2*l.* or any money from Mr. James?—No.

21,856. Do you know what Mr. James went into the house for two months after the election?—No, I cannot say; I know he paid me.

21,857. Directly he paid you he went into your father-in-law's house?—He went indoors.

21,858. Was your father-in-law at home?—I do not know.

21,859. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that a house frequented by the railway people?—No, not much.

21,860. Did your father-in-law keep the "Warwick Arms"?—No.

21,861. Your father-in-law's was a private house?—No, a beer shop; "The Thimble and Nutmeg Grater."

21,862. (The Chief Commissioner.) It is not the "Barley Mow"?—No.

21,863. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Mr. James afterwards?—No.

21,864. Not after he came out of your father-in-law's?—No.

21,865. Did you go into your father-in-law's house?—Yes.

21,866. When Mr. James was there?—Mr. James was coming in when I was coming out, that was when he paid me. I did not go in after.

21,867. You did not follow him?—No.

21,868. Did you ask Mr. James for 2*l.*?—I asked him if he could not pay me for the day's work.

21,869. When did you ask him that?—Before that.

21,870. Did you tell him what time you had lost?—I lost a day at poll and the day before.

21,871. What did you lose?—Polling day and nomination day; half a day on nomination day.

21,872. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told Mr. James that?—Yes.

21,873. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You do not mean to tell me that you let the railway goods stand whilst you went to vote?—I got another man.

21,874. Were you allowed to come to the nomination?—Nobody asked me.

21,875. Nobody asked you?—No.

21,876. You simply thought you would like to see the nomination, and then you wanted to be paid?—Yes.

21,877. How long before Mr. James paid you the 2*l.* had you asked him to pay you for your loss of time?—It was just after the election.

21,878. Had you voted before at any other election?—No.

21,879. That was your first?—Oh, I voted twice for Mr. Wilkinson.

21,880. Then you voted in 1859?—Yes.

21,881. Did you vote then for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

21,882. Were you paid for it?—No.

21,883. Did you owe anything or get anything?—No.

21,884. Did you ask for anything?—No.

21,885. Was Mr. James agent then?—I do not know who was agent.

21,886. Now, having applied to Mr. James in '63, did you not apply to Mr. Green in '65 for loss of time?—No.

21,887. Had you told Mr. Green that you had received 2*l.* in '63 from Mr. James?—No.

21,888. Or that you had received anything from Mr. James?—No.

21,889. Having received 2*l.* in '63 from Mr. James, had you the slightest doubt whatever that the 2*l.* paid to you by Mr. Green was paid for your vote?—I suppose so.

21,890. You are sure it was?—No, I am not sure; he said he would make me a present of it.

21,891. You had not the remotest claim on him except for the election?—I had no claim for the election.

21,892. You had no other claim?—No.

21,893. (The Chief Commissioner.) You got 2*l.* in '63 from Mr. James at the "Thimble and Nutmeg Grater;" did you know Mr. James at that time?—I had seen him about.

21,894. How was he going about?—I did not know what he was going about.

21,895. Are you quite sure you knew him?—They called him Mr. James.

21,896. I should like to know how he did go about?—I saw him walk about the streets; I never saw him interfere with anybody, or ask anybody anything.

21,897. Do you mean he walked about like anybody else?—Yes, like a gentleman.

21,898. Well, like a gentleman; like anybody else?—Yes.

21,899. You believe the man who paid you in '63 was Mr. James?—Yes.

21,900. Had he any difficulty at all in walking about?—Not that I know of.

21,901. Did you notice whether he walked with a stick or without one?—No, that I do not know.

21,902. I want to ask you this; in 1862 Mr. Symonds knew what you had got?—Yes.

21,903. In 1865, when the election came on, I suppose Mr. Symonds had not forgotten it?—I do not know.

21,904. It is a curious thing, but perhaps you cannot account for it; you got the same in 1865. I suppose Mr. Symonds booked you pretty early in the election?—I do not know that he booked me at all.

29,905. Perhaps that is right. When the election came on were you rather disappointed when you heard what was going among the railway people?—Not the least.

21,906. You heard that 4*l.* 10*s.* was going among them?—They went which way they liked, and I went my way.

21,907. So far as that goes you were quits?—I was independent in voting the way I did; I had promised my vote, and that was enough.

21,908. You got paid for it; do not parade too much about being independent. I did not say anything about it at first; it was you who began; but having heard about the 4*l.* 10*s.*, did you not feel a little bit vexed?—No.

21,909. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Tell me about the "Thimble and Nutmeg Grater;" you go there sometimes, do you not?—Yes.

21,910. I am afraid it suffered a good deal during the election?—I do not know; I was not at home to see that.

21,911. You know what a bill there was for broken crockery; come, come, you know there was?—No, I do not know anything about it.

21,912. You have heard of it?—I have seen it in the papers.

21,913. You have heard that there was a large bill for 10*l.* or 12*l.* for broken crockery. You told us that you knew there was money going this time; did you not know that there was money going in '63?—No, I did not.

21,914. You kept your getting money dark?—No, I did not.

21,915. Did you tell any of the other railway people about your getting money?—No, I did not.

91,916. Then you did keep it dark?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

JOSEPH HEWETT sworn and examined.

21,917. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

21,918. When did you get your summons?—Yesterday; no, Tuesday.

21,919. What rent do you pay?—I am a freeholder.

21,920. What is the value of your house a year?—I am rated at 12*l.*

21,921. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

21,922. Mr. Monson, did you?—Yes.

21,923. Do you know Jordan?—Yes.

21,924. Stephen Jordan, is it?—No, Thomas Jordan.

21,925. Did Thomas Jordan ask you to vote for him?—No, sir, for Mr. Monson.

21,926. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He is the builder?—Yes.

21,927. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you been previously canvassed by Mr. Gower or some of his party?—Yes, Mr. Gower tried to canvass me.

21,928. Had you promised him?—I told him I would not have nothing to do with him.

21,929. Then Thomas Jordan had more persuasion about him than Gower had?—Yes.

21,930. Was it Mr. Monson canvassed you?—He never spoke to me at all; he never spoke to me.

21,931. As far as you were concerned, it was Jordan against Gower, and you voted for Jordan?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

21,932. What terms did you make with Jordan?—I went to work on behalf of Mr. Gower, canvassing.

21,933. And when you did canvass what were you to get?—I was to have 15*s.* a week and finishing paying after the election.

21,934. You agreed to that?—Yes.

21,935. How much did you get?—I got 5*l.* to wind up.

21,936. Making it up 5*l.* altogether?—Yes.

21,937. Did you get it from Jordan?—No, I got it from Richard Peat.

21,938. Who is he?—A bricklayer.

21,939. Of where?—Mead-vale.

21,940. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He paid you all, I suppose?—Yes.

21,941. (The Chief Commissioner.) He paid you at once?—No.

21,942. Was it paid at once or at different times?

21,943. (Mr. Commisssoner Smith.) What was the first payment?—The first payment was 3*l.* 10*s.*

21,944. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that your first election?—No.

21,945. In 1863 had you voted?—Yes.

21,946. Who for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

21,947. In 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

21,948. What did you get on that occasion?—10*s.*

21,949. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you get 10*s.* a week?—I got 10*s.* for two days, nomination and polling day.

21,950. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was not all you got?—Yes; and I was money out of pocket.

21,951. If you got anything, one would suppose you got more?—I did not.

21,952. Who procured you that?—Mr. Alexander Rose set me to work.

21,953. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Set you to work?—Yes, to holla and shout; and hard work it was.

21,954. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you?—Mr. Rose.

21,955. He paid you, too, did he?—Yes.

21,956. Do you mean 10*s.* a day, so that you got a pound?—No, 10*s.* for two days.

21,957. Was that really all you received at that election?—Yes.

21,958. And did you not apply to him for more?—No.

21,959. You thought it was too bad, did you not, and that you would get more?—Not a bit.

21,960. Who did you vote for in the general election of 1859?—I did not vote at all; I never voted before 1863.

21,961. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Rose did not canvass you in 1865?—No.

21,962. He did not canvass you in '65?—No, he was too stale.

HENRY CHILD sworn and examined.

21,963. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter?—Yes.

21,964. What are you?—A carpenter.

21,965. What do you pay rent for the house which gives you a vote?—4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

21,966. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

21,967. Had you been canvassed on Mr. Gower's side?—No, sir.

21,968. Did not any one canvass you on Mr. Gower's side?—No.

21,969. Who canvassed you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Joseph Hewett.

21,970. The last witness?—Yes.

21,971. Joseph Hewett canvassed you, did he?—Yes.

21,972. He told you, I suppose, something like this, "I am on the list, and you might as well come "on"?—Yes.

21,973. He told you what that was to him?—Yes.

21,974. The finishing money put it up to 5*l.*; he told you it would all come to 5*l.*?—Yes.

21,975. And I suppose it did come to 5*l.*?—Yes.

21,976. That was the figure?—Yes.

21,977. Did you get the 5*l.* in one sum or two?—In three sums.

21,978. Who paid you?—Richard Peat.

21,979. Who told you to go to Mr. Peat?—No one.

21,980. How did you know he was paymaster?—I did not know till I found it out. I did not know how it was, but Peat told me himself.

21,981. I suppose he said, "I have money for you"?—Yes.

21,982. And he paid you 15*s.*?—Yes.

21,983. And then again did he pay you a second 15*s.*?—Yes.

21,984. You went up early to the poll?—Yes, about 9 o'clock.

21,985. And then you went down to Peat's?—No.

21,986. When did you go for the balance?—On polling night.

21,987. I knew you would not allow a day to pass; were you all paid there together, or did you go separately to Peat?—I did not go to Peat at all.

21,988. Where did you get it?—At the "Plough."

21,989. You got the wheat to go to the "Plough"?—Yes.

21,990. Who keeps the "Plough"?—Worsley, I think; I am not sure, but I think that is the man.

21,991. And you got the wheat to go to the "Plough" in the evening?—Yes.

21,992. And I suppose you had a right jolly evening of it, getting the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

21,993. I suppose they gave you plenty of beer that night?—No.

21,994. Something better?—No, not that night.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

H. Child.

6 Sept. 1866.

21,995. That was a dry night ?—Yes.

21,996. You had had beer probably before ?—Yes.

21,997. Which you did not pay for ?—Yes.

21,998. How many of you were at the "Plough "?—About half a dozen; I cannot say exactly how many.

21,999. Was there a man named Marchant there ?—Yes.

22,000. And Peat was there handing round the money ?—Peat came there, but I was not in the room when he came.

22,001. He was in the room before you ?—No, he came after.

22,002. And there were about half a dozen waiting; did he pay you in the presence of each other, or did he hand the money privately to each ?—We were in the room at the time.

22,003. There was no secret about it ?—No, there was no secret.

22,004. I should like to know whether Jordan was there ?—No, I did not see Jordan there.

22,005. Had you been there before ?—No.

22,006. You are a carpenter ?—Yes.

22,007. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you give us the names of the half dozen that were there ?—Hewett was there and Marchant.

22,008. The builder ?—Yes.

22,009. What is his Christian name ?—James, I think.

22,010. And what is he ?—A builder.

22,011. Can you give me the name of another who was there ?—(A voice in Court.) Fuller was another.

It appearing Fuller was then in Court, he was desired to remain in order to be examined.

22,012. You do not remember anything else ?—There were more.

22,013. Do you recollect any other names ?—I do not recollect any other names.

J. Fuller.

JOHN FULLER sworn and examined.

22,014. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you a voter ?—Yes, I am.

22,015. Had you voted at the last election ?—I did.

22,016. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Monson.

22,017. What rent do you pay ?—I occupy a house in Mead-vale at 4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

22,018. What are you ?—A labourer.

22,019. What do you work at ?—Drying fuller's earth.

22,020. Were you canvassed by Jordan ?—No.

22,021. Who were you canvassed by ?—Joseph Hewett.

22,022. When Hewett canvassed you it was of course for Monson ?—Yes.

22,023. Did you promise to vote for Mr. Monson ?—I never made any promise to any one in particular, at first I told Mr. Hewett I would stick to him.

22,024. Did Hewett say he would stick to you ?—He said he would stand the same as the others.

22,925. In what way was he to stick to you ?—In the same way as he began when he canvassed me.

22,026. Did he tell you what you were to have ?—No, not when he first canvassed me.

22,027. When did he tell you what you were to have ?—After he found it out himself.

22,028. What did he tell you ?—He said he would go and see, and he came back and said he thought he could get me 5*l.*

22,029. I will not make a long story of it, but you voted ?—Yes.

22,030. Did you receive any money before you voted ?—No.

22,031. After you voted were you at this "Plough "?—Yes, I was.

22,032. And you found your friend Hewett there ?—Yes, we were together.

22,033. After he asked you to go to the "Plough" did he tell you what it was for ?—We knew.

22,034. How came you to know what you were going for ?—We were ordered to the room, but what for I did not know.

22,035. When you got to the "Plough" did you see your friend Richard Peat there ?—No, not when I got there.

22,036. But afterwards ?—Yes.

22,037. Was Jordan there ?—No, he was not; I never saw him at all.

22,038. This was on the night of the polling ?—Yes.

22,039. Did Mr. Peat pay you anything ?—Yes, he paid me 3*l.* 10*s.*

22,040. Did you have any paid you before this 3*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes, I had two sums of 15*s.* each in separate sums from Hewett.

22,041. That is just what I was asking you, did you receive any money before the poll, and you said, No, and you did receive 15*s.* each ——

(The Witness.) Did I not tell you that ?

(The Chief Commissioner.) No, you did not, you misunderstood the question; I know you mean to tell me right, but you omitted that.

22,042. Hewett paid you two sums of 15*s.* each ?—Yes.

22,043. Were those paid on Saturday night ?—Yes.

22,044. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you sure it was Hewett who paid you the two 15*s.* ?—Yes.

22,045. Then on the night of the polling you got the additional sum of 3*l.* 10*s.* from Richard Peat ?—Yes.

22,046. Did he tell you what it was for ?—No.

22,047. It was for your voting ?—I suppose so.

22,048. Did you yourself have any beer at the "Plough "?—Not any.

22,049. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not that night ?—No.

22,050. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had had it all before ?—I never had any at that house that night.

22,051. You had got what you wanted ?—I had a portion of liquor that day.

22,052. Did you pay for it ?—No.

22,053. Where did you get it ?—I had a portion at the "Plough," but that was in the forepart of the day, and I believe that was the only place which I had anything.

22,054. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you pay for it ?—No.

22,055. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Tell us who were the persons there that you knew or remember besides yourself ? — There was Marchant, and Hewett, and Child, and I think George Brewer.

22,056. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was anybody else there ?—Only those I think that I have named; at least, that is all that I can remember.

22,057. Did Hewitt tell you where to meet many others ?—No.

22,058. Had you voted at any previous election ?—No.

22,059. That was your first, was it ?—Yes.

22,060. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you hear from Hewett how many would be got on the same terms ?—I am sure I do not know.

22,061. Was it about a dozen ?—As I told you just now, I really do not know.

The witness withdrew.

J. Weller.

JOHN WELLER sworn and examined.

22,062. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A carman.

22,063. And what rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote ?—5*s.* 6*d.*

22,064. 5*s.* 6*d.* a week ?—Yes.

22,065. You voted at the last election, we understand, for Mr. Monson ?—Mr. Gower.

22,066. Oh, you voted for Gower, did you ?—Yes.

22,067. Oh, I beg your pardon. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. Gower himself.

22,068. Oh, yes, but somebody else ?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Joyes.

22,069. Joyes and Buckland, I believe ?—I won't be certain whether it was Mr. Joyes or Mr. Smith.

22,070. Well, Buckland spoke to you, and so did Mr. Apted, did he not ?—Yes.

22,071. You were on Mr. Gower's committee, were you not ?—Yes.

22,072. What were you to have, Mr. Weller, for being on the committee ; working on the committee ? —Nothing.

22,073. What ?—No money.

22,074. But you were to be paid, were you not ?—I have never been paid.

22,075. Oh, no, but you were to be ?

22,076. You were to be paid ?—They told me I should be paid.

22,077. Who told you you were to be paid, Mr. Joyes and Mr. Buckland ?—Yes, Mr. Joyes was one, and so was Mr. Buckland.

22,078. I believe they told you you were to be paid about 5*l.* ?—No.

22,079. How much a week ?—Never no sum weekly. I never had nothing weekly paid.

22,080. But how much were you to be paid altogether ? These other gentlemen came out like men, and told us at once what they were to be paid, and what they were paid ; every one honestly.—I was not paid anything.

22,081. But how much were you to be paid ?—Never had any promise to be paid any certain sum.

22,082. How much did you expect to be paid ?

(The Chief Commissioner.) It all comes out at last. Do tell it all.

22,083. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien) What did you expect to be paid ?—I did not expect anything except they please to give me anything.

22,084. What did you think they would please to give you ?—I do not know.

22,085. You were very angry that you were not paid, weren't you ?—No.

22,086. To whom did you apply for payment afterwards ?—Apply for payment ?

22,087. For money. Never mind "payment," but money ?—I asked Mr. Smith once whether there was anything for me, and he said he had not got anything for me. That is all.

22,088. How could Mr. Smith know anything about you ? Mr. Smith never promised you any money or said you should be paid. Why did you go to Mr. Smith ?—Mr. Rose told me if I wanted anything I was to go to him.

22,089. But Mr. Rose did not tell you that till you spoke to him about money ; applied to him for money ? —Not till after the election.

22,090. After you voted you applied to Mr. Rose for money ?—Yes.

22,091. What did he say to you ?—He said he had not got any ; I was not on his list.

22,092. And then he said you were to apply to whom else ?—To Mr. Smith.

22,093. How soon after the election, or after you voted, did you go to Mr. Smith ?—Some time.

22,094. A week or two ?—A month, I dare say.

22,095. Then you went to Mr. Smith and asked him, "Have you any money for me"?—Yes.

22,096. Very well ; what did he say ?—He said he had not got any money then.

22,097. "Then"?—Yes. And when he had got some he would give me some ; and I never asked anybody since.

22,098. Did you get any money at all ?—No, not a sixpence.

22,099. Had you voted before at any election ?—No.

22,100. This was your first ?—My first.

22,101. Then you were taken in ?—It appears like it.

22,102. It appears uncommonly like it ?—And I did not think that any one had any money myself till after the election.

22,103. You knew money was going after the election ?—I did afterwards, not before.

22,104. You were promised before that you would be paid ?—For nomination day and polling day, they said I should get paid for that.

22,105. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who said ?—

22,106. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I asked you, and you said they did not tell you what you were to be paid ; how much ?—No sum was mentioned.

22,107. Who told you that you would be paid for nomination and polling day ?—Mr. Rose.

22,108. And that you would be paid for what you did on the committee ?—I never received anything.

22,109. But didn't they tell you you would be paid ? —They told me I should be paid.

22,110. For what you did on the committee ?—Yes, but they did not mention any sum.

22,111. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say you did not get any money ?—No.

22,112. You say you did not get any money from Mr. Joyes ?—No.

22,113. And you say you did not get any money from Mr. Smith ?—No.

22,114. You say you did not get any money from Mr. Buckland ?—No.

22,115. Eh ?—No.

22,116. A smallish sum, I grant ; but didn't you get something ?—No.

22,117. Whom did you get 10*s.* from ?—No one.

22,118. Your name is John Weller ?—Yes.

22,119. There is no other Weller ?

22,120. I see here your name for 10*s.* paid ?—I never received a halfpenny.

22,121. Well, it is as well to tell you that your name is here ?—Yes ; very well.

22,122. It is down here as "Weller, 10*s.*," in Buckland's account.

22,123. Did you get something from Mr. Apted ? —No.

22,124. Did you apply to him ? You know Job Apted ?—Yes.

22,125. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You can write, can't you ?—No, I cannot.

22,126. Look at that paper ?—I cannot read.

22,127. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you write ? —No.

22,128. Did you authorize anybody to write anything for you ?—No.

22,129. Is there another John Weller ?—I am sure I do not know what there is about Warwick-town or that way. I authorized nobody, and I received nothing.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It may be somebody has been pretending he was John Weller.

22,130. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever see that piece of paper before ?—No, never.

22,131. Did you ever authorize anybody to make out a bill against Joyes for two days' carrying circulars ?—No.

22,132. Did you carry any circulars ?—No.

22,133. Well, we will just see whether there is another. Are you John Weller, of Nutley-lane ?—Yes.

22,134. We will see whether there is any other John Weller.

22,135. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Weller.

6 Sept. 1866.

Apted yourself?—Yes, I have seen him many times. That is the gentleman you mean, there (pointing).

22,136. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you know Rose?—Yes.

22,137. Joyes?—Yes.

22,138. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Joyes know you?—Yes, I have been in the town with him a good many years.

22,139. He did know you?—Yes.

22,140. He did before the election?—Yes; he does now.

22,141. Ah, he does now; but did he before the election, and at the time of the election?—I do not know whether he did; I have been in the town a good many years.

22,142. Well, then, he did. Don't let there be any mistake?—I hope not.

22,143. Did you receive 10*s.* from Mr. Apted?—No.

22,144. Did you receive any sum from him?—No, from no one.

22,145. Do not say "from no one;" I am not asking you about any one else. Did you receive any sum from Apted?—No, I did not.

22,146. I do not care to have a question answered by something that will fit another question.

22,147. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you at any time make a claim in any shape or way at all, for 10*s.*, for carrying circulars on two days?—No, I did not.

22,148. You never did?—No.

22,149. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You went to Joyes for the money?—I asked Joyes if there was any money allowed for me, and he said he had not any; I was not on the list.

22,150. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is Rose?—There is so many of them; there is first one and then another. I asked him on the road how it was getting on; and then I asked another.

22,151. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But you asked them all? You applied to Joyes and Buckland?—Yes, I asked them all, but I was not on the list.

22,152. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But you did not ask them for any particular sum?—No.

The witness withdrew.

JOSEPH HEWITT recalled.

J. Hewitt.

22,153. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that witness John Fuller, John Fuller, of Mead-vale? because there are two on the register?—Yes, Mead-vale.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE BREWER sworn and examined.

G. Brewer.

22,154. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is the rent of the house you occupy?—4*s.* a week.

22,155. What are you?—A day labourer.

22,156. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

22,157. Who was it asked you to vote for Monson?—Mr. Hewitt.

22,158. Joseph Hewitt? Did you promise him?—Yes.

22,159. At once?—Yes.

22,160. When he asked you to vote for Monson did he tell what you would get?—He told me we should have 15*s.* a week for two weeks, and to wind up we should have the residue of our money.

22,161. (The Chief Commissioner.) So as to make it 5*l.*?—That is it.

22,162. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you and Hewitt and the other men who have been mentioned already working together?—No; Hewitt and I were.

22,163. Were you living near each other?—We were not a great way off.

22,164. (The Chief Commissioner.) Hewitt and you were working together?—Yes, Hewitt and I were working together.

22,165. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you did do work for the money?—Yes, we were about at nights.

22,166. You were about at nights?—Yes.

22,167. What were you doing at nights?—We were several nights canvassing.

22,168. You canvassed?—I did what little I could, and that was not much.

22,169. You voted for Monson?—Yes.

22,170. Then in the evening did you go to the "Plough"?—Yes.

22,171. You were paid 3*l.* 10*s.* there?—Yes.

22,172. Who paid you? Richard Peat?—Richard Peat.

22,173. Did you hear Richard Peat say where he got the money from?—No.

22,174. Had you voted before?—Yes.

22,175. At the election of 1863?—See; that was Monson, wasn't it?

22,176. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Yes.—Yes, I voted for Mr. Monson.

22,177. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For Monson?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Monson was not up in 1863.

22,178. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) No, you make a mistake there. It was Gower and Wilkinson. Whom did you vote for then?—I voted for Wilkinson.

22,179. Did you get anything for voting?—I had 30*s.* a week two weeks. That was all.

22,180. Was it paid you?—Yes.

22,181. Who paid you?—Rose.

22,182. Alec Rose?—Yes.

22,183. Was this for your services in canvassing?—I went to work all the time; what I could puddle about and do.

22,184. How old are you?—76 come the 11th of March.

22,185. Had you voted before? Did you vote in the election of 1859? I will tell you who were the candidates, Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson. Did you vote on that occasion?—I think that I did, but I am not positive.

22,186. If you are not positive about your voting, do you know whether you received any money?—No.

22,187. Had you ever received money before for voting?—Yes.

22,188. When?—Stop a minute. I shall get wrong presently. Let us speak the truth if we can.

22,189. I do not want to hurry you?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson at that time.

22,190-1. (The Chief Commissioner.) Against Mr. Monson?

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1859. You know that was the election before 1863?—No, I cannot say which I voted for.

22,192. Just let me correct a mistake which I think you have fallen into. Wasn't it Ephraim Rose paid you?—I do not know what his Christian name was.

22,193. Where was he living?—Mead-vale.

22,194. Where did he work?—Worked at the asylum.

22,195. Then that was Ephraim. Do you recollect receiving money before for voting?—Yes, I voted for Monson.

22,196. Before ?—Yes.

22,197. In 1859 ?—Yes.

22,198. Against Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

22,199. Were you paid for that ?—Yes, I received 3*l.*

22,200. Who paid you that 3*l.* ? That was for Mr. Monson, who was afterwards Lord Monson ?—Yes. I won't say that he paid me. He stood just like this gentleman (pointing).

22,201. Do you recollect who paid you that 3*l.* in 1859 ?—No, I do not. I was in the room taking refreshments, and when I had taken refreshments there might be three or four gentlemen, as you might be, and who they were I do not know any more than you do. They asked me if I had taken my breakfast, and I said, "Yes, gentlemen, I have." They told me to go out of the room. They were in the room two or three minutes, and they hurried me back again, and there laid my money. You gentlemen all know just as well as I do, who laid the money down. Now I know no more.

22,202. And you do not know who the gentlemen were ?—Not at all, no more than you do.

22,203. Perhaps you can recollect the house where you received that 3*l.* ?—At the "Bell," Reigate.

22,204. At the "Bell" ?—Yes.

22,205. When you saw the 3*l.* on the table did you take it up ?—Yes, and I should have done if it had been five times as much.

22,206. And you would have pocketed five times as much if it had been there ?—Yes.

22,207. Did you receive any hint from these gentlemen that this 3*l.* was for you ?—No more than when I walked in it was close to my plate, the money was. I do not know who put it there.

22,208. You found the money close to the plate where you had been eating refreshment ?—There was only myself.

22,209. Were you the only person having refreshment ?—Yes, in the room.

22,210. When you came out did anybody else go in for refreshment ?—I took my money and drank my beer and walked away, and took no notice of anybody else.

22,211. Before you went away did you see any other voter go into the room ?—No.

22,212. Doing the same as you had done ?—No.

22,213. How came you to go there for your refreshment that day ?—I was ordered to go there, you know, to that house.

22,214. And you do not recollect who ordered you to go there ?—I think I can tell you presently. I think it was Thomas Holdsworth.

22,215. Thomas Holdsworth ?—I think it is. There is many people about here know as well as I do.

22,216. Who was the landlord of the house that you went to ?—He was the very man.

22,217. Holdsworth was ?—Yes.

22,218. Having drawn your recollection to the fact that Holdsworth told you to go to the house, do you recollect whether Holdsworth was in the room when you got the 3*l.* ?—No, there was no one.

22,219. There was nobody in the room ?—No.

22,220. Oh, I see ?—There was no one but myself.

22,221. That is in 1859. Now, did you go to the previous election in 1858 ?—To where ?

22,222. There was an election in October between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson ?—I know nothing about it.

22,223. After the election of February. Do you recollect Mr. Doulton being here ?—Yes.

22,224. And Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—Yes.

22,225. And the Honourable Mr. Monson ?—Oh, was he one with them ?

22,226. He was one with them then ?—Well, I cannot say anything about that.

22,227. Whom did you vote for then ? Did you vote for Mr. Doulton ?—For Rawlinson.

22,228. Did you get any money then ?—No.

22,229. Were you offered any ?—No. I will tell you what I said. I said I would vote for any person who would give me a new flannel jacket; and there was a lady in the room, and she said, "I will give you "one, my man." That is all I know.

22,230. Was there a pocket in the flannel jacket ?—Certainly.

22,231. When you put the flannel jacket on did you find anything in the pocket ?—I will be answerable that there was not anything there. I had 9*s.* 6*d.* given to me to go and buy it, and I bought it at Mr. Elgar's; and he is not the man to put anything in the pocket. We are all too much tarred with one stick.

22,232. Then was that flannel jacket given to you on behalf of Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—I know no more than you do on that subject. I said I would vote for any person that would give me a new flannel jacket, and this lady said, "I will give it to you."

22,233. And you voted for Rawlinson ?—I did so.

22,234. Did you vote in 1857, when Mr. Hackblock was up ?—No.

22,235. You began with the flannel jacket and 9*s.* 6*d.*, and you ended with 5*l.* ?—And dear money earned.

22,236. What is ? The 5*l.* ?—Yes.

22,237. Could you have made more at your own daily labour ?—No, but for what I did I expected better pay. People don't ought to break their heads for nothing.

22,238. Did you canvass anybody ?—No; they would not be ruled by me.

The witness withdrew.

James Marchant sworn and examined.

22,239. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A labourer.

22,240. What do you pay rent for your house out of which you vote ?—Well, I do not pay any rent at all. It is my own.

22,241. What is the annual value of it ?—About 6*s.* a week.

22,242. 15*l.* a year. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Monson.

22,243. You voted, I suppose, with Hewitt and the others ?—Yes.

22,244. Who canvassed you ?—Joseph Hewitt.

22,245. Who spoke to you ? Mr. Hewitt ?—Joseph Hewitt.

22,246. And I suppose he told you what you would get; 15*s.* a week, and finishing up with an amount of 5*l.* ?—Yes, that is it.

22,247. That is it ?—Yes, that is right.

22,248. He told you that that is what they were all having on Monson's side ?—He told me that was what I was to have.

22,249. And what they were all having ?—Well, he did not mention about that.

22,250. Who paid you ?—Joseph Hewitt paid me.

22,251. The two 15*s.* ?—The two 15*s.*

22,252. And who paid you the balance, the finishing up ?—Richard Peat.

22,253. How long before the election was it ? I think it was about a fortnight ?—Oh, longer than that.

22,254. They said 15*s.* a week, you know ?—15*s.* a week is all we had for two weeks.

22,255. About a fortnight before the election ?—Yes.

22,256. I suppose you went pretty freely about among the Monson houses ?—Well, we went round sometimes.

22,257. And had refreshments ?—Well, we had nothing but a glass.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Marchant.

6 Sept. 1866.

22,258. I mean you did not pay it?—Sometimes.

22,259. Very seldom?—It was very seldom; not if I could get it from them.

22,260. Were you out every night during that fortnight?—I was out a great many nights.

22,261. Every night I should think?—Well, before that fortnight I was out.

22,262. What were you doing before that fortnight?—I was on the committee.

22,263. You were on the committee, were you?—Yes.

22,264. I am speaking of after the arrangement, never mind about before the arrangement, when you were to have the 15*s.* and the finishing up. Were you out before that?—We had 15*s.* two weeks running, and then the other 3*l.* 10*l.* afterwards.

22,265. Who told you to go to the "Plough" to receive the money?—That I cannot say.

22,266. It was known amongst you?—It was known amongst us.

22,267. This was not the first time you voted? In 1863 you voted, didn't you?—Never voted before.

22,268. Then I am wrong. You never voted before?—No.

22,269. You had not your qualification?—No.

The witness withdrew.

J. Hewitt.

JOSEPH HEWITT recalled.

22,270. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where did you get the money that you paid to Marchant and to Brewer, and also to Fuller? You paid Fuller two 15*s.* as well as the other two?—Yes.

22,271. Well, where did you get the money?—I got it all from Mr. Peat.

22,272. Of Peat. Did you go in and tell Peat before you got the money what you had been doing?—No; Peat knew what was going on.

22,273. How did he know?—Because he was along with us till this time.

22,274. He was not with you when you were canvassing Marchant and Brewer and Fuller, was he?—I do not know whether he was at that meeting or not.

22,275. That was not a meeting, was it?—Yes, I canvassed them when we met one evening.

22,276. Do you mean they were at some public house?—Yes; it was at a public house.

22,277. Where was it?—At Mr. Wallis's, Mead-vale.

22,278. Was that the time when so much beer was drunk at Wallis's?—I do not know how much was drunk, I am sure.

22,279. No, no; but do answer my question?—Well, there was some drunk. I do not know a great quantity, not that I know of.

22,280. Do you recollect one night at Wallis's beer house when all the beer was drunk out?—It never was all drunk out that I know of.

22,281. Do you remember one night when they said it was all drunk out?—No.

22,282. Don't you recollect one particular night when they said there was no more beer?—No, I do not.

22,283. Did you never hear of it?—No.

22,284. Well, now, it does not appear that Peat was by when you canvassed these men?—No, he was not.

22,285. Now tell me this: Peat was not by, you say, when you canvassed these men?—No, he was not.

22,286. Well then, did you go and represent to Peat what had been doing?—I represented it to Thomas Jordan.

22,287. You represented it to whom?—To Thomas Jordan; and then he told me he had not got time to see to it.

22,288. Then did you understand that Jordan was to go and tell Peat?—I understood Jordan that he would give Peat the money, and he was to give it to me to pay the man, because he could not get round.

22,289. Did Jordan tell you afterwards that he did give the money to Peat?—Yes.

22,290. Eh, he did?—Yes.

22,291. Then did he say, "Go and get it from Peat"?—Yes.

22,292. And you went?—Yes.

22,293. Was Jordan the only man that you accounted to?—Jordan was the person that set me at work.

22,294. Was he like your head man?—Yes.

22,295. Was there anybody else that you accounted to besides Jordan?—No.

22,296. Did you send in your account to Jordan?—No, never sent no account at all in.

22,297. Oh, you did not?—No.

22,298. Well, but then when you got paid for your loss of time, hadn't you sent in the account before that?—No, I never sent no account at all in.

22,299. Then how did it come?—Jordan knew how I was to be paid without an account, so that he could hand Peat the money.

22,300. Yes, but you, for your own services?—My own services? I only received the same as the rest of the voters had.

22,301. But those voters did not canvass you?—No.

22,302. Well, but you had canvassed them and got their votes?—Yes.

22,303. Didn't you send in an account for that?—No.

22,304. Didn't you get anything for that?—Nothing extra.

22,305. Nothing extra?—No.

22,306. The meeting you talk about was at Wallis's?—That was the meeting where I canvassed these men.

22,307. Wallis's is not a beer house, but a private house?—He was going to open it as a beer house, but he found he could not.

22,308. Where was the beer supplied from to Wallis's?—From John Newnham, at Horley.

22,309. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Horley is about five miles from here?—Yes.

22,310. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is Newnham?—I do not know what he is now, I am sure.

22,311. What was he at that time?—He was a brewer at that time.

22,312. Did it come in as it was wanted, can you tell me?—No; it was coming in on the speculation that he was going to open as a beer shop. Then he could not open it as a beer shop after he had got the beer in.

22,313. Who ordered it of Newnham?—I do not know, I am sure.

22,314. How did you know that it came from Newnham's?—I know it came from Newnham's.

22,315. I know that, because you told me; but how did you know?—By hearing people say so, that is all. Leastways, in fact, Wallis told me so himself.

22,316. Did you know Newnham at the time?—Yes.

22,317. Do you know any other house he supplied?—No.

22,318–19. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Newnham was a voter, wasn't he?—I do not know whether he was then or was not. He kept the "Wheatsheaf" at one time, at Warwick-town.

22,320. He was on the register. He kept the "Wheatsheaf" inn at this last election. Was he a voter?—He was on the register.

22,321. Was it John Newnham, of Station-road?—Yes.

22,322. That is the man?—Yes.

22,323. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was Jordan at that meeting at Wallis's?—I do not know whether he was or was not. I forget whether he was or not. I do not much think he was.

22,324. Was Peat there?—Peat was there a little while.

22,325. Was Comber there?—Yes; I believe he was.

22,326. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which Comber? Because there are several?—John Comber, of Meadvale was there. I do not know any but him.

22,327. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect also being at the "Bell" public house just before the election?—The "Bell"?

22,328. At the "Bell"?—Where is that?

22,329. Do you recollect being there?—No, I do not.

22,330. Don't you?—No.

22,331. Do you recollect hearing of a public meeting which was held by the Gower party at the "Bell" public house? Now, bear this in mind, and attend to what I say?—No, I do not.

22,332. Are you sure you do not?—Yes, I am.

22,333. Do you recollect Jordan paying anything to your men to go there?—No. I do not know where the "Bell" was.

22,334. Never mind where it is. Did Jordan tell you to go to the "Bell" when there was to be a meeting of Gower's party there?—No; I do not recollect it.

22,335. Did you hear him tell anybody else?—No.

22,336. Do you remember Jordan handing out to each person a shilling, and telling them to go to the "Bell" public house to make a noise while Mr. Gower's meeting was going on?—No.

22,337. Did you ever hear of that before?—No; not to my recollection.

22,338. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know a man Robert Allen?—No. Oh, I know a man named Robert Allen.

22,339. He was at the meeting that night?—Not that I know of. I have no recollection of it.

22,340. Do you know a man named Jabez Tyrrell?—Yes.

22,341. He was at Wallis's that night, wasn't he?—I do not know, I am sure.

22,342. Yes?—I do not recollect it.

22,343. Nor James Tyrrell?—I do not recollect.

22,344. At the house that night?—Yes; I know what you mean. I do not recollect it at all.

22,345. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you went into the box we did not know you were such an active man; but how many of these men did you canvass?—I do not know how many exactly now; I forget. James Peat is one.

22,346. Don't tell us any of these names we know of. Give us the information. Now tell me how many of these men did you promise the 5*l.* to?—I never promised them at all.

22,347. Then how many men did you canvass, ask to vote for Mr. Monson?—John Fuller, George Brewer, James Marchant, James Peat, and John Lane, Mead-vale.

22,348. John Lane; that is a new name. Now, was there anybody else?—No; I do not recollect anybody else.

22,349. Do you recollect any more men that were paid to your knowledge?—No.

22,350–51. Whether you canvassed them or not?—No, nobody; only Henry Child. He was paid the same as the rest of us.

Well, we know. He has told us so.

22,352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you pay Lane?—Yes.

22,353. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you pay him?—Paid him the same as I did the rest.

22,354. 30*s.* before the election. Was he to be paid the rest, 3*l.* 10*s.*, afterwards?—Yes.

22,355. Peat paid him?—Yes.

22,356. At the "Plough"?—Yes.

22,357. Now let me ask you another general question. Is there anything else in reference to this election that you consider ought to be told to the Commissioners?—No, I do not know of anything.

22,358. As to money being paid, or money being promised?—I was never promised more than I had.

22,359. No, no; about anybody else?—No; I do not know that anybody else was.

The witness withdrew.

James Peat sworn and examined.

J. Peat.

22,360. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were a voter at the last election?—Yes.

22,361. And voted for Monson, I suppose?—Yes.

22,362. What rent do you pay?—12*l.* a year.

22,363. What are you?—A labourer, working on the road.

22,364. You were promised by Hewitt 15*s.* a week?—Yes.

22,365. And he paid you 30*s.*?—Yes.

22,366. Of course you did nothing for it?—Sometimes I had to go a little way to carry a little parcel.

22,367. Did nothing more than just go now and then a little way, and carry a little parcel?—Yes.

22,368. And you were paid 30*s.* before the election?—Yes.

22,369. On the night of the polling were you at the "Plough?"—Yes.

22,369*. And were you there paid 3*l.* 10*s.* by Richard Peat?—Yes.

22,370. Did you vote at the previous election?—The time before?

22,371. 1863?—Yes.

22,372. Were you paid for that?—No; never had a halfpenny.

22,373. Did you vote at any other election?—No.

22,374. Was 1863 your first time?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

Thomas Funnell sworn and examined.

T. Funnell.

22,375. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labourer.

22,376. What do you pay as rent for the house for which you vote?—4*s.* 8*d.* a week.

22,377. For whom did you vote at the last election? Mr. Monson.

22,378. Oh, you were one of Mr. Hewitt's men, were you?—No.

22,379. Who spoke to you about it?—Mr. Jordan, Thomas Jordan.

22,380. Oh, I beg your pardon. Jordan spoke to you himself?—Yes.

22,381. What did he tell you?—Well, I was in his house, and I had nothing to do, and he asked me whether I wanted a job. I told him I did.

22,382. What took you to his house?—Why, it is a beer shop. I was there after a pint of beer.

22,383. He is a builder besides?—Yes.

22,384. He asked you if you wanted a job. Go on?—Yes. Well, I did. He said he would give me one. He would give me some bills and circulars to carry round.

22,385. Yes; what were you to have?—Oh, we did not have any agreement what I was to have then. I went to work for him.

22,386. What was the agreement then?—Did not have no agreement. I went round carrying them round, and sticking the bills up.

22,387. Go on. What did you get?—Well, I did not get anything till after the election was over.

22,388. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you had done your work? That was right.—Yes.

22,389 (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you get?—I got 5*l.*

22,390. Did you get 5*l.* in one sum?—No.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

T. Funnell.

6 Sept. 1866.

22,391. I thought you got nothing till after the election ?—No more I didn't.

22,392. Why didn't they give it to you in one sum ? Who paid you ?—Jabez Tyrrell paid me.

22,393. He paid you, how much ?—He paid me 2*l.*, and then afterwards he paid me 3*l.*

22,394. He did ?—Yes.

22,395. He paid you 2*l.* when ?—About a fortnight, perhaps, after the election.

22,396. Yes ; and when did he pay you the 3*l.* ?—About a fortnight after that.

22,397. How came Tyrrell to pay you ? I thought your arrangement was with Mr. Jordan ?—Jordan left the money there for him to pay me.

22,398. Who told you that ?—Jordan did himself.

22,399. Was that the old man, or the young man ?—The old one.

22,400. He is ill, I am afraid, now ?—Yes, he is. I live close by him.

22,401. Jordan told you the money was there for you ?—Yes.

22,402. Why didn't you get the 5*l.* at once ?—Well, I do not know how it was.

22,403. Now tell me ; you received the money at Jabez Tyrrell's. Who else received money there besides you ?—I do not know.

22,404. Oh yes you do, indeed ?—No, I do not. I do not know.

22,405. Did he pay much money away ? You must know that ?—Well, I do not know anything about it.

22,406. What is Mr. Jabez Tyrrell ? — Why, he keeps a beer shop.

22,407. Oh, another beer-shop keeper. When did you see Jabez Tyrrell ?—The night before last. I was in there last night, but he was in bed.

22,408. But he was not in bed the night before last ?—No.

22,409. He was up and well ?—No. He has not been well for these four years.

22,410. What is the matter with him ?—Rheumatics. Can't get about.

22,411. He was busy at the election ?—Not very busy, I think. He could not get about.

22,412. You got 5*l.* at this election. Were you ever employed at any other election ?—No.

22,413. This is your first ?—Yes.

22,414. Had you ever voted at any former election ?—No.

22,415. This is the first time you had a vote, I suppose ?—Yes.

22,416. You did not go to the "Plough" the evening after the election, did you ?—No.

22,417. Were the other men sent to ?—No.

22,418. Did you know anything of Hewitt at all ? Hewitt had made an arrangement with other men. You were not of that class ?—No.

22,419. Did you know Hewitt ?—I knew him. I had seen him.

22,420. Did you know he was working under Mr. Jordan ?—No, I did not know anything about that.

22,421. How long before the election was it that Mr. Jordan asked you about a job ?—About three weeks I think it was.

22,422. Who told you it would be 5*l.*, if no arrangement was made with you ? Who told you it would be 5*l.* ?—Nobody didn't, till the election was over.

22,423. Well, I mean after the election was over ?—Jordan.

22,424 Jordan told you 5*l.* was what they were giving ?—Yes, and I had it.

22,425. Did anybody speak to you about Mr. Gower ? He was a good man, you know. Did not anybody speak to you about him ?—Well, I do not know that they did.

22,426. Oh, yes, come ; they had spoken to you about Mr. Gower ? Didn't they ?—Well, I made up my mind to vote for Mr. Monson ; so I didn't care.

22,427. But somebody spoke to you about Mr. Gower ?—Yes. Latham did, a neighbour of mine.

22,428. What is his Christian name ? George ? (A pause.) Well, we will call him Mr. Latham. He told you that he thought it would be better for you to vote for Gower ?—Well, I do not know.

23,429. Oh, come. We will get it. He told you that it would be better for you to vote for Gower ?—I do not know what he told me.

22,430. You know it quite well, Mr. Funnell. You know what Mr. Latham told you about Mr. Gower. Now tell me, what did he say ?—No, I do not know nothing more about it.

22,431. Oh, yes, you do. Why do you say you do not know ?—Well, I do not know.

22,432. Yes, he asked you to vote for Gower, and he told you that you would have employment, and go on his committee ?—Perhaps he did.

22,433. Well, I will take that. And he told you you would be paid for it if you went on his committee ; he said that, didn't he ?—I do not know whether he did or not.

22,434. Yes you do ; come, come.—No, I do not know.

22,435. Come, Mr. Funnell.—Well, he might.

22,436. Well, I will take it that he did. First of all he told you to go on his committee, and you would be paid for it ?—I do not know.

22,437. For loss of time, and for labour, and for other things quite right ? Didn't he know you as a neighbour ; and he knew you were out of employ, didn't he ?—I do not recollect anything about that.

22,438. Yes you do. Was it before Mr. Jordan spoke to you, or afterwards, that Mr. Latham spoke to you ; or before that Jordan spoke to you ?—Well, Latham and I lived close together. He talked to me before I saw Jordan.

22,439. I am afraid Mr. Latham did not ; he only told you, I think, 3*l.* was their figure ; wasn't it ? they didn't give much ?—Never told me no figure at all.

22,440. But about money ?—Never told me anything about money.

22,441. That you would not be so well paid for what you did ?—Never said nothing about money at all.

22,442. Well, tell me ; don't be so indignant about money ; don't be so angry.—Well, he never said anything to me about it.

22,443. About being paid for your services ?—No.

22,444. About being on the committee and being paid for your services ?—I do not think he did.

22,445. Why did Mr. Latham say you should not vote for Gower ?—Well, I do not know why he should.

22,446. You do not recollect what Mr. Latham said ? Did you see anybody else ; did you see Apted, or anybody in behalf of Mr. Gower ? — No. I did not go to anybody.

22,447. Did anybody come and see you ? At election times the voters do not visit ; they are visited ?—I do not recollect anybody calling on me.

22,448. You did not see Mr. Rose ? you know Mr. Rose, do you ? or Mr. Joyes, Mr. Apted, or any of these gentlemen ? They did not call on you ?—I know Mr. Rose very well. He never called on me.

22,449. Never spoke to you about the election ?—No.

22,450. About voting for Mr. Gower ?—No.

22,451. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want you to tell me, Funnell, you spoke to Jabez Tyrrell ?—Yes.

22,452. He lives next door to you ?—Almost ; just close.

22,453. He is a neighbour ?—Yes.

22,454. That is quite enough. He has two sons ?—Yes.

22,455. Young Jabez Tyrrell and James Tyrrell ?—Yes.

22,456. Are they at home with him ?—No, they are removed. I do not know where they are. They are up in Norwood or somewheres, or near London. I do not know where.

22,457. How long have they been away ?—Well, they were not with him for some time because they are married men. They lived handy there.

22,458. Ah, I mean, how long since they lived there ?—Well, I cannot say exactly.

22,459. Have they given up their houses?—Oh, yes.

22,460. Left the neighbourhood?—Yes, six or nine months ago.

22,461. And changed their neighbourhood?—Yes.

22,462. They were there at the time of the election?—Yes, both of them.

22,463. Does Jabez Tyrrell, the father, go and see them sometimes?—I do not think he gets out but very little. He has been very ill these four years.

22,464. He does not get out in the morning at all, I believe? He cannot get up very well?—He cannot get up all day, I believe, many a day.

22,465. He can get up in the afternoon a bit?—Some days he can.

22,466. Did you see Jabez Tyrrell yesterday?—No, I did not.

22,467. The day before, Tuesday?—The day before I did see him.

22,468. He was able to get up Tuesday?—Yes, he was up.

22,469. Was he in your house?—No, he was in his own house.

22,470. Oh, you went to see him?—Yes.

22,471. Did you go to his house yesterday?—I did. I went in last night.

22,472. Was he up?—He was in bed.

22,473. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time did you go there?—About 8 o'clock.

22,474. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect seeing him here on market day in the town?—I was not here.

22,475. Did you go and look for him?—No.

22,476. Do you recollect seeing him at market?—I was not here.

22,477. Perhaps it was the market before?—I have not been here ne'er a market for some time.

22,478. Then I am wrong somewhere. Where would his market be; here?—I do not know.

22,479. Well, you live next door. If you do not know I am surprised. I will take it if you say so.—Well, I do not think he goes at all.

22,480. Where does he go to church on Sunday?—I do not think he goes at all. He cannot walk.

22,481. Has he got any trap?—No.

22,482. What is he, a beer house keeper?—Yes.

22,483. Hasn't he got a little trap?—I think when he goes he hires.

22,484. Can you tell me whose trap he hires?—Well, I do not know.

22,485. But I dare say you can guess. Whose trap does he hire?—Well, I have seen him go off in Mr. Church's cart. I do not know whether he hires or how he gets it.

22,486. You are sure you cannot tell where his sons are?—No.

22,487. Do they come home now and then?—I have not seen them since they went away; neither of them.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN READ sworn and examined. J. Read.

22,488. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted at the last election?—I did.

22,489. For Mr. Gower?—For Mr. Monson.

22,490. What are you?—A bootmaker.

22,491. You live in Bell-street?—I do.

22,492. What rent is your house?—I occupy two houses. I pay 40*l.* a year rent. One I let off for 16*l.* a year. 24*l.* I pay rent for myself.

22,493. Did you take an active part for Mr. Monson?—I did.

22,494. And canvassed a good deal?—I did.

22,495. And did you attend the committee meetings?—I did.

22,496. Which committee meeting did you attend, the one at the "Grapes"?—I did not attend one at the "Grapes."

22,497. Which one did you principally attend?—I attended several. I attended one at the "Plough" at Earlswood, I think it is the "Plough," Mr. Moody's house, and several others; and I attended one at the freehold at Reigate; one at Mr. Toplis's, at Redhill; in fact several.

22,498. You went round the borough pretty well?—I did.

22,499. Distributed your services?—I did.

22,500. Pretty freely?—Yes, I did all I could.

22,501. Now, at these committee meetings which you attended was there much refreshment going on?—Well, it was liberally supplied.

22,502. Did you enjoy the festivities of the evening with the others?—Oh, I did.

22,503. Did you pay for what you had?—Well, I did not in the committee room; but what I had in front of the bar I paid for, and I treated a lot of others that stood round.

22,504. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I think we may take it they did not pay for what they had?—Certainly not.

22,505. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And amongst all those who went up into the committee room it was just the same?—Quite so.

22,506. Now, do you know Mr. James Hodge who keeps the "Angel"?—The "Angel" at Woodhatch? I do.

22,507. Now, we are told that you went to the "Angel" and offered him ten sovereigns for his vote?—I never did.

22,508. (The Chief Commissioner.) Oh?—I will tell you what I did do with regard to Mr. Hodge at the "Angel." I only wish to be clearly understood about the matter. Some few days before the election, I cannot exactly say how many days before, Mr. Hodge was anxious, I believe, to let his house. He had repeatedly talked to me about his house, about letting it as a committee house. I offered him 10*l.* for the use of his house as a committee house for us to meet at. He told me that that would be no use whatever to him; his wife at the same time, in a jeering sort of tone, said, "I want all that, and enough "money to buy me a silk dress." That was Mr. Hodge's reply to me.

22,509. (The Chief Commissioner.) No, no; Mrs. Hodge's?—Mr. Hodge's and Mrs. Hodge's too.

22,510. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We will talk about the silk dress presently. How long before the election was it that you offered him that 10*l.*?—I think it was the Monday before the election; the Monday as the election took place on the Wednesday.

22,511. In the very week?—Yes. We felt we were rather weak in that neighbourhood, and we thought that if we could hold a meeting or two we could secure a few votes.

22,512. That is only a beer shop?—No, a licensed house.

22,513. But a very small house?—No, a moderate sized house.

22,514. What rent do they pay?—I suppose it would be about 30*l.* or 40*l.* a year.

22,515. This was the day before the nomination?—No.

22,516. What?—Oh, the night before the nomination; yes.

22,517. You were weak in that district?—We were.

22,518. Just so. Did you ask him for his vote?—No.

22,519. Why not?—I did not.

22,520. You only asked him for his house?—I only asked for the use of his house, and for the use of the house I offered him 10*l.*

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Read.

6 Sept. 1866.

22,521. And you put the 10*l.* on the table?—I did not. I had not 10*l.* in my pocket at that time; not in any shape or form the value of the money.

22,522. If Mr. Hodge said you put 10*l.* on the bar table, is that true?—No, it is a wilful lie.

22,523. Don't say that?—I can prove it.

22,524. (The Chief Commissioner.) Don't say that behind his back?—Well, I should say the same before his face.

22,525. You say it is incorrect?—It is incorrect.

22,526. It might not be wilful at all.

22,527. (Mr Commissioner Smith.) Did you afterwards offer to Mrs. Hodge the 10*l.*?—No, never.

22,528. What? — Never. I never offered Mrs. Hodge one penny piece in my life, unless it has been when I have been passing the house and gone in and had something; I have put my money down to pay for it, and if it has been a sixpence or a shilling I have taken my change in the usual way of business.

22,529. You could only have held one meeting, or two at the most?—No; but you must understand, Mr. Hodge had been in treaty for his house. I believe Mr. James Apted had offered him to take his house.

22,530. But he had not taken it?—No.

22,531. Was that 10*l.* to be as a consideration for the offer made by Apted?—It was understood that Hodge's house was to be let, and we were rather weak in the district, and we offered to take his house for meetings.

22,532. Do you mean to say you were rather hard up for votes in that district?—Yes, we were rather bad in that district.

22,533. Bad for votes?—Yes. Our impression was that if we could hold a meeting in the district we might, perhaps, secure one or two votes.

22,534. Then you would have been satisfied if you could have secured one or two votes by the meeting?—We should have been satisfied, no doubt.

23,535. Suppose you could have secured Mr. Hodge's vote?—I do not know anything about Mr. Hodge's vote. I never asked him for his vote in my life. And I think Mr. Hodge, if you knew him as well as I do, is a very unlikely man.

23,536. Wasn't it in your mind at all events? Didn't you understand that if you paid that 10*l.* for the house on the night before the election that Mr. Hodge was to vote for Monson?—No.

22,537. Why not?—Because I had understood from Mr. Hodge that he was going to vote with a friend of his, and that friend I did not know.

22,538. Did he tell you for whom he was going to vote?—No, he did not. He told me that 10*l.* would be of no use to him.

22,539. Did you know whether Hodge had got any rabbits?—No, I did not. I never was a dealer in rabbits yet.

22,540. But you know they deal in a great many things at the time of an election. Did you ever offer him anything for his rabbits?—No.

22,541. You offered him 10*l.* for the use of his house?—As a committee room.

22,542. It was a large sum?—I know it was. We are rather more liberal at those times than other times.

22,543. I understood you to say that you offered him 10*l.* because Apted had asked him for the use of the rooms three weeks before. You knew that Apted had not taken the rooms?—I did.

22,544. How do you form that as consistent that you should pay for the three weeks?—Apted was with me at the time that the offer was made.

22,545. Was Brown with you?—No.

22,546. You know Brown?—I know lots of them. I do not know which Brown you are speaking of.

22,547. Oh yes you do, Mr. Read?—I do not. We have so many of them in this neighbourhood.

22,548. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was Apted with you in the evening that you offered the 10*l.*?—It was in the afternoon, about 2 o'clock. We have so many persons in this neighbourhood of the name of Brown that I really do not know which one you are alluding to. If you will mention his Christian name I shall be most happy to answer you.

22,549. He was working near by there as a plasterer?—The only other person besides Apted with me was Mr. James Curtis.

22,550. They heard what passed?—They did. I was on my road to Charlwood in the afternoon when I went in there. I offered to take the house as a committee house for 10*l.* to hold a meeting or two there. Mrs. Hodge's reply to that was, she said, "Oh," she says, "we've been offered that long enough "ago. I want that to make a silk dress out of it." I said, "I have got nothing more to say to you."

22,551. Did you hire any other room?—No, I did not.

22,552. I could understand your conduct if you went about and engaged committee rooms. Did you hire any other?—That was the only committee room I was authorized to hire.

22,553. Who authorized you to hire that?—James Nichols.

22,554. Did he name a price?—Anything under 10*l.* I could go as far as 10*l.*

22,555. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say Apted was with you?—He was.

22,556. Did Apted say anything to him about having spoken to him three weeks ago?—I did not hear anything of the sort. I do not believe he did; if he had I should have heard it. He was present the whole of the time. We went in and had a little refreshment. I had a glass of ale; that is the only thing I took, I don't know what the others had, and we went off to Charlwood.

22,557. You say you did not know that man Brown who was very active indeed for Monson?—I really do not know him. I might know the man by sight, but I do not know the man you mean.

22,558. He was the man who did in fact you know offer Hodge two half-sovereigns and 5*l.*?—I am not aware of it.

22,559. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know any Brown who was working for Monson?—Mr. Stephen Brown, of Redhill. I know him. I believe he voted for Monson, but whether he worked for him or not I cannot say.

22,560. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He was working as a plasterer upon a house close by the "Angel"?—I do not know the man, not to my knowledge.

22,561. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now, can you say that you said or did anything to give Hodge to understand that you included his vote. He understood it was for his vote?—I did not give him to understand that it was. I told him he could have 10*l.* for his house.

22,562. That might be enough to make a man believe it?—It might be in your opinion.

22,563. I am not speaking of my own opinion now, but I mean in justice to Mr. Hodge. Mr. Hodge said he believed it, and I say that in justice to him. That is all I say?—I cannot see that, because Hodge had already told me himself which way he intended to vote. He did not tell me which he was going to vote for, but he said there was an old friend of his that he was going to vote with, whether for Monson or Gower I did not know.

22,564. It was an odd thing, if you thought he was going to vote for Gower, that you did not say something?—Not at all, if we thought we could gain two by losing one, by having his house as a committee house.

22,565. It was quite enough to justify Hodge?—I don't think so.

22,566. (The Chief Commissioner.) At an election, the night before the election, a man coming into your house——?—It was not the night before the election, it was the night before the nomination.

22,567. It is the same thing?—Not exactly.

22,568. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Don't think yourself so exceedingly clever: it was the night before the election?—No it was not; it was the night before the nomination.

22,569. The nomination is the election, therefore you are quite wrong, you see. It was the election?—I beg your pardon, then. We expected, if we had taken the house at that time, to have held two meetings there.

22,570. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass any others?—Oh, I canvassed all I could.

(The Chief Commissioner.) You said you were active in your canvass.

22,571. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you make an offer of money to any of them?—No.

22,572. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you receive?—I received altogether a sum of 50*l.*

22,573. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you that?—James Nichols.

22,574. Did Nichols tell you who the money came from?—No.

(The Chief Commissioner.) You say, "I received "50*l.* for my services."

22,575. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You expended more, did not you? Some money passed through your hands?—No, I will tell you honestly and fairly how I spent the money.

22,576. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did you dispose of it?—I should think I spent nearly 30*l.* for ribbons, making colours, during the election.

22,577. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought you had that for yourself?—Certainly not. I had a balance of a few pounds which I considered myself entitled to return. I offered it to Mr. Nichols, and he said, "You can keep that for yourself, Mr. Read; "you have dearly earnt it."

22,578. How much was that?—I think it was 7*l.*

22,579. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you spend any of that in treating at public houses?—Occasionally I have asked persons to have what they liked, a glass of anything.

22,580. Voters?—I was not particular; they may have been voters and may have been non-voters. I am not particular myself.

22,581. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you furnish an account of the money to Mr. Nichols, an account of the 50*l.*, showing how it had been expended?—I did not.

22,582. What did you do with the ribbons?—Distributed them among any that liked to apply for them. I supplied all the horses employed during the election with rosettes.

22,583. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And the voters?—Yes.

22,584. Did you know that was illegal?—I did not. I am not here to answer anything about the legality or illegality of the thing, but I am here to tell you of the fact. I am here to tell you what I did.

22,585. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did you receive the 50*l.*?—I received 20*l.*, then 10*l.*, and afterwards 20*l.*

22,586. Did not you give Mr. Nichols an account of how that was expended?—No, I did not.

22,587. (The Chief Commissioner.) Let me see; you received 50*l.* altogether from Nichols. We will take it altogether that that was about it?—Yes, it was not over 50*l.*

22,588. You say you have sent in no account to Mr. Nichols?—No.

22,589. Then how did Mr. Nichols know what you ought to be paid, because you came in and said, "I "have disbursed a quantity of money, and I am sure "it amounts to very near 50*l.*" I want to know how it was; 50*l.* is a big sum. Why did Mr. Nichols pay you 50*l.*?—I do not know.

22,590. That is really no answer at all?—I did not.

22,591. It won't do; at least it won't do for me?—Very good, sir. I went and volunteered my services towards Mr. Monson for the simple reason that I considered Mr. Gower had no right to be in the field.

22,592. When the work was over, why did Nichols pay you such a sum as 50*l.* without your showing any account or anything?—I do not know. The 50*l.*, you understand, was not given all at once.

22,593. It was given, as you told us, 20*l.*, and 10*l.*, and 20*l.*?—Quite right. Mr. Nichols' instructions were then that I was to go and do the best I could.

22,594. I know that, but I am not talking upon that subject at all. You may as well tell me about the weather?—If I understand you upon any subject I shall be pleased to answer you.

22,595. When a man runs on to another subject I think it shows he dislikes the subject I am on?—I do not dislike the subject.

22,596. He paid you 20*l.*; was that when you came to him and said you had been disbursing money, and wanted some money?—No.

22,597. Why did he pay you the first 20*l.*?—I went to James Nichols, and I was going to state just now, only you would not hear me.

22,598. I beg your pardon. we wish to hear what you have to say?—I was going to say that when I volunteered my services towards Mr. Monson he told me to do the best I could, and he said in the course of the election he had no doubt I should expend money in the way of being about amongst them, and he gave me 20*l.*

22,599. What for? to pay amongst them?—He did not say what for.

22,600. Did you walk into a room, and did Mr. Nichols say, "Here is 20*l.* for you, Mr. Read"?—No, certainly not.

22,601. Did you go and say, "I should be glad to "have 20*l.*"?—No.

22,602. Did you go and say, "My expenses amount "to something like that"?—I told him if I gave up my time from my business my expenses would be something considerable.

22,603. That is not volunteering?—Not volunteering exactly, but I volunteered my services.

22,604. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You volunteered your services, and were to be paid for your time. That is what you call volunteering?—No, certainly not.

22,605. What do you mean then?—I meant to say that if I spent five and twenty shillings or a pound a day in being about canvassing it is not my services, nor yet my time, because there is not one penny of it which is any benefit to me.

22,606. Do attend to me, and not look about?—I am not looking about.

22,607. Pray attend. When you got 20*l.* from Mr. Nichols on the first occasion, I want to know why he gave it; for what?—To go about and do the best I could.

22,608. At that time; was it the commencement?—Yes; at least not exactly the commencement that I know of. I never commenced doing anything till Mr. Gower stepped forward and then I took it up.

22,609. When you went to Mr. Nichols determining to do your best did you ask him for money to go on with?—I went to him and volunteered my services, and told him I would do the best I could, and he gave me 20*l.* then and there.

22,610. What for?—For my expenses.

22,611. But you had not incurred any?—Not then, but for my future expenses.

22,612. Very good; I will take it so. You went on with that. Why did he pay you the next 10*l.* or 20*l.*?—10*l.*

22,613. When was it that he gave you 10*l.*?—I do not know; some weeks before the election.

22,614. I am quite satisfied. How did he come to pay you 10*l.*?—I told him that I had people repeatedly applying to me for colours, and I had spent then over 20*l.*

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. Read.

6 Sept. 1866.

22,615. So he gave you 10*l.* more?—Yes, he did.

22,616. Do you mean to say you had given ribbons and colours three weeks before the election?—I did.

22,617. Did you have any bill for those colours?—No, I went and bought them.

22,617*a*. Who of?—Some of Mr. Austin, and some I bought in London.

22,618. Did you keep any account of them?—No; I know it was considerably over 20*l.*

22,619. We have got now, you know, to the 10*l.* There was another 20*l.* you got from Nichols. When did you get that?—A week or two before the election.

22,620. How did you get that? What did he give you that for?—To go on with the election.

22,621. And did you tell him or give him to understand that you had been at further expense, and wanted more money?—I told him if I was to go on with the election I should want more money.

22,622. That is exactly what I said in substance. And he gave it to you?—He gave it to me.

22,623. At that time, when you got that last 20*l.* which made up the 50*l.*, you say that after repaying yourself all the expenses you had been put to there would be a small balance over, about 7*l.*, which you thought you deserved, and kept?—No, I did not think I deserved it. I could not think I deserved it, otherwise I should not have gone and offered it back again.

22,624. Mr. Nichols thought so. You said there was a balance of 7*l.*; you went to Mr. Nichols, and Mr. Nichols authorized you to keep it?—I did.

22,625. So that was 7*l.* for your own pay?—Yes.

22,626. That was just before the election?—It was after the election.

22,627. You told me just now that it was before?—It was before that I received the money, but it was after the election that I tendered the balance.

22,628. When was it, the next week?—It might be a week after.

22,629. Now tell me this. You were paid in that way 7*l.* for your services fairly enough?—Well, I was paid 7*l.*

22,630. We will take it in that way?—You may take it for that; I do not consider it was for my services.

22,631. Well, how was it that in the month of October you got ten guineas besides?—I never did get ten guineas in October.

22,632. Look at that (handing a paper to the witness)?—I got ten guineas in September.

22,633. I said October on purpose?—On the 29th September I received ten guineas from Mr. Hart.

22,634. I said October on purpose that you might have an opportunity of correcting me?—I am obliged to you.

22,635. Then you received ten guineas on the 29th September. You did not tell me that before?—You have not given me an oportunity of telling you for the future. I have accounted for 50*l.*

22,636. Shall I tell you how?—Yes, I received 20*l.* first, then 10*l.*, and then 20*l.*

22,637. You won't let me tell you?—I have accounted for the 50*l.* that Mr. Nichols gave me.

22,638. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He said you richly deserved it?—Mr. Hart came into my shop on the 29th September, and he said, "We don't know "what to do with you, Mr. Read; you have sent in "no account for your services in the election." I said, "I did not think I was entitled to anything;" and he said, "Here is a cheque for ten guineas, if you "will kindly receive it." I did receive it, and I gave him a receipt for it.

22,639. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that plus the 50*l.* which you had received from Mr. Nichols?—Yes; I am coming to Mr. Hart's ten guineas now.

22,640. But at first, when you were asked the general question, you said you had received 50 guineas?—50*l.* I said for the working expenses.

22,641. (The Chief Commissioner.) No; according to your own showing it was only 43*l.*?—How do you make it so?

22,642. The 7*l.* was for yourself?—Yes. I beg your pardon, sir.

22,643. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, now, Mr. Read, I understand you to say that you received 50*l.* from Mr. Nichols, and 10*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Hart?—I did.

22,644. And you retained the 7*l.* as the balance from Mr. Nichols, and plus that you have this 10*l.* 10*s.*, which will be 17*l.* 10*s.* for your services?—17*l.* 7*s.*?

22,645. No, 17*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

22,646. I don't know whether you intended it, but you did not state it in the first instance; you left it to be supposed that 7*l.* was all that you received?—No, I do not think so. I understood you to ask what I had during the election, and I told you 50*l.* The ten guineas that I received was some considerable time after the election.

22,647. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I asked you what you had had for the election, not "during?"—I understood you to say "during the election."

22,648. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know from Mr. Nichols or anybody where Mr. Nichols got the money?—No.

22,649. Have you any reason to believe where he got the money?—No, I have not.

22,650. When was Mr. Hart appointed as expense agent?—I do not know.

22,651. Was not he acting from the first?—I believe he was; I do not know.

22,652. Was Mr. Nichols the person who was distributing all the money?—I do not know.

22,653. How came you to go to Mr. Nichols and ask him if you did not know?—I frequented Mr. Nichols' house every night, and it came up in conversation, and I volunteered my services towards Mr. Monson.

22,654. (The Chief Commissioner.) Don't talk of volunteering?—I gave them, then.

22,655. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you offer them?—He never asked me.

22,656. Then you offered them?—Yes, I did not consider that I was paid.

22,657. None of them consider they are paid?—Very good, sir. I will explain the reason presently, when you have done with me, why I consider I was not paid.

22,658. Perhaps you will be good enough to explain now?—The wide range that I took, if you might term it so of this borough; having a horse and cart I went all round to see the voters, and did the best I could with them; I consider that my time and the use of my horse and cart was never paid for.

22,659. Not by the 17*l.* 10*s.*?—Certainly not.

22,660. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is to say you consider you were not sufficiently paid?—No.

22,661. (Mr. Commissioner Smith) Do you know Henry Francis?—Yes.

22,662. And Page?—I know Page very well.

22,663. Both of them were very active?—Page was; I don't know whether Francis was.

22,664. Did you know Holdsworth?—Yes.

22,665. He was an active man for Monson?—I do not know that he was particularly.

22,666. Were you frequently at his house?—I occasionally go to get a glass of ale.

22,667. Were you there during the election?—I was; but never at a meeting of Monson's or Gower's, or anything of that sort.

22,668. Were you there when people were canvassing?—I never went to Holdsworth's after 7 o'clock in the evening.

22,669. Why do you say "Never at Mr. Holds-"worth's?" I will put a general question; did you ever canvass people and offer them work?—I offered one work.

22,670. Who was that?—A man of the name of Dickinson.

22,671. In what way did you offer him work?—I told him he might have a pound a week to work. I do not know what his Christian name was.

22,672. Where does he live?—Lisburn-lane.

22,673. What is he?—A journeyman shoemaker.

22,674. What was he to do for a pound a week?—Attend meetings, and do as much as he could among those who had votes.

22,675. How much did you pay?—3*l.*

22,676. When did you pay the 3*l.*?—2*l.* before the election, and 1*l.* after the election.

22,677. When; on the night of the polling?—No, more than a fortnight after the election.

22,678. Of course he voted for Monson?—I do not know which way he voted.

22,679. Did not you know?—No, I did not.

22,680. Did not you ascertain which way he voted?—No.

22,681. You said you had canvassed him?—Yes, he never gave me any promise at all which way he was going to vote. He was a man that was working for me at the time, and I offered him a pound a week to canvass all that he knew.

22,682. He worked under you?—He did occasionally work; he was not thoroughly under my employ.

22,683. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he give you a receipt?—No.

22,684. Nothing on paper?—No.

22,685. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You worked actively for Monson and considered yourself under a personal grievance with regard to Mr. Gower. Do you mean to say you never asked that man which way he was going to vote?—No.

22,686. Was that your usual way of canvassing?—Yes.

22,687. Not to ask them which way they were going to vote?—Not which way they had voted. I knew the way the man was going to vote before the election, before ever I offered him any employment.

22,688. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For Monson?—Yes.

22,689. And you knew afterwards that he voted for Monson?—I do not know that he did; I know he told me he was going to vote for Monson; whether he did or not, I do not know.

22,690. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did not you look him up?—No.

22,691. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You saw him after the election?—I have seen him since the election.

22,692. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you paid him the pound?—No.

22,693. Do you mean to say you had not the curiosity to see which way he voted?—Not the least. The election, after it was over, was so disinteresting to me that I did not trouble anything more about it.

22,694. You knew you had lost?—Yes, and when I have lost I know I generally have to pay as a rule.

22,695. Were you up the night before the polling?—Was I up?

22,696. Yes, about the town?—No.

22,697. You were not up as superintendent of the watchers?—No, I got up at 7 o'clock; I was up at the "White Hart" about 10 minutes past 7.

22,698. Was Henry Francis constantly with you?—I saw him once or twice; once at the "White Hart," and once at the "Greyhound," at Redhill.

22,699. You knew by rumour, did you not, that on the part of Mr. Gower there was a good deal of money flying about?—I heard a good many promises. I did not know about much money.

22,700. You had heard of a good many promises?—Yes.

22,701. Were you struck with the same virtuous inspiration as Francis, to go about to try the purity of the borough?—I do not believe in the purity.

22,702. Did not you ever tempt the voters to see how far they would go?—Never.

22,703. Not if you thought there was a doubtful man?—Never.

22,704. I dare say there were three or four men like Francis, who wished to try the purity of the borough?—I never offered a bribe to a man in my life. If I promised I always paid.

22,705. Well, but did you ever offer anybody else excepting Hodge a handsome sum of money for the use of his room?—No; I never offered Hodge; only for the use of his house.

22,706. Did you ever offer anybody else a handsome sum for the use of a room?—Never.

22,707. Or a handsome sum for anything else? Anything in any shape or form?—Only Hodge.

22,708. That was all?—That was all. I offered Hodge 10*l.* for the use of his house as a committee house.

22,709. Did you ever see Nichols pay money to anybody else besides yourself?—No.

22,710. Did you give Nichols receipts for these moneys?—I have already told you I never did.

22,711. I ask that because I see you are not returned in the election expenses. Did you ever see the election expenses?—No, never on either side.

22,712. Because of course that makes it very much more suspicious, when you receive moneys and those are not returned through the legal channel?—Quite so.

22,713. Therefore you will excuse use for suspecting the application of the 50*l.*, because it is not returned in the legal way as a part of the expenses.

22,714. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I will take it that the 3*l.* you mentioned was paid?—Yes.

22,715. And you got no acknowledgment?—None whatever.

22,716. You got him a pound at a time, I suppose?—Yes, I paid him a pound a week. I won't be sure that it was positively a week. That was the arrangement.

22,717. You paid Dickinson?—Yes, I paid him out of the 50*l.*

22,718. Is this a receipt (handing a paper to the witness)?—I do not know whether he gave a receipt. It was Edmund Dickinson. I am not aware whether he has ever given a receipt at all.

22,719. This is William Dickinson?—I believe the one in Lesbourne-lane is Edmund Dickinson; I did not know his Christian name before.

22,720. Are you sure you never gave Nichols any account?—No.

22,721. You said so before, but I wanted to have it beyond all doubt?—I did not.

JOHN RICHARD HANDSCOMB called, sworn, and examined.

J. R. Handscomb.

22,722. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A house painter.

22,723. What rent do you pay for the house you live in?—26*l.* a year.

22,724. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

22,725. Who put you on his committee? I suppose you were a committee man?—No, I was not.

22,726. Who asked you to vote?—Mr. Mulley.

22,727. When did he speak to you about voting for Gower? How long was it before the election?—Three weeks.

22,728. He asked you, I believe, to exert yourself for Mr. Gower, and you did exert yourself?—Yes.

22,729. In what way?—Well, I asked my friends to vote for Mr. Gower.

22,730. And, I suppose, attended some of the committee meetings?—I believe I did.

22,731. And you were up on the polling and nomination day?—Yes.

22,732. Were you up at all at night?—Yes.

22,733. What did you receive?—I received 1*l.* from Mulley.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

J. R. Handscomb.

6 Sept. 1866.

22,734. Only 1*l.* ?—Only 1*l.*

22,735. Is that all ?—That is all I received.

22,736. Ah, that is all you received; but that is not all you were promised ?—No.

22,737. What were you promised ?—I was promised 3*l.* certain, and if the others got 5*l.* I was to have the same.

22,738. Who promised you that ?—Mulley.

22,739. When did he pay you the 1*l.* ?—I cannot say exactly the time when; some time afterwards.

22,740. Some time after the election ?—Yes. I had been very ill, and I met him in the street, and I asked him if he could let me have some of the money that was promised on the election, and he said, "Well, "I will give you a pound out of my own pocket," and he did so.

22,741. Did you get any more ?—I have not troubled myself about it.

22,742. You never got any more ?—I never got any more.

22,743. Did you apply at all about it ?—No, I never troubled any more about it.

22,744. You took that 1*l.*, and there was an end of it ?—Yes.

22,745. Had you heard at the time that they were getting 5*l.* ?—No, I did not hear what they were getting.

22,746. Had you voted before at the former election ?—In 1863.

22,747. For whom ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

22,748. And I suppose you exerted yourself, as you did this time for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, and more.

22,749. What did you get that time ?—I got nothing then.

22,750. Who canvassed you ?—Mr. Steer and Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

22,751. Did they ask you to be on their committee ?—No.

22,752. You did not expect anything for that time, did you ?—No.

22,753. You were not promised anything ?—I was not promised anything by Mr. Steer, nor by either of them.

22,754. You did not apply for anything after the election, did you ?—Yes, I did.

22,755. To whom did you apply ?—To Mr. James, the agent.

22,756. You took a bill in ?—Yes, for three weeks' payment.

22,757. How much ?—I forget the sum.

22,758. About ?—I cannot say.

22,759. 5*l.* ?—It was not 5*l.*

22,760. 4*l.* 10*s.*, 30*s.* a week, was it not ?—I think, to the best of my recollection, I won't be certain, it was 3*l.* 10*s.* I cannot say; not to speak the truth.

22,761. You sent it in to Mr. James ?—I took it in myself.

22,762. In your own writing ?—Yes.

22,763. Did you see him ?—Yes.

22,764. What did he say ?—I almost forget the words he said; it is some time ago. I never trouble myself about elections when they are over.

22,765. You took the trouble of making out a bill and giving it in to Mr. James. What did he say ?—I cannot tell.

22,766. Did he say, "It is too much;" or, "I can't pay you so much?" What did he say ?—I really cannot tell.

22,767. What did he pay you ?—He never paid me anything,

22,768. Never paid you anything at all ?—No.

22,769. Did you sue him, or threaten to sue him ?—No, I never troubled myself any more about it after he told me he could not pay me.

22,770. Well, you see, you do recollect now that he said he could not pay you. Why could not he pay you ?—I cannot tell.

22,771. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it in 1863, at the election of 1863, that you had been canvassed by Mr. Gower's party ?—I was canvassed by Mr. Gower's party.

22,772. Who by ?—I cannot tell.

22,773. Oh, dear, your memory fails you very much.—I told them when they came that I had promised Mr. Norman Wilkinson and Mr. Steer my vote, and should not change for any one.

22,774. I want to know who came to your house ?—Mr. Thomas Featherstone.

22,775. And what did he propose to you ? Did he tell you how much you would have if you went on the committee and served ?—No.

22,776. What did he tell you ?—Merely asked if I would vote for Mr. Gower, and I said, no, I had promised Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

22,777. What did he say to you ? Did he say, "Well, I hear you are going for Wilkinson" ?—No; he came to my house as a friend.

22,778. Of course he did.—And the subject was brought up in conversation.

22,779. But did he say, "I hear you are going for "Wilkinson" ?—He might have said that.

22,780. And did you say "Yes, I think I shall" ?—No. I said, "Yes, I am."

22,781. Then did he tell you you might as well come and be on their side ?—Not to my recollection.

22,782. But you have just told me that Featherstone canvassed you to vote for Gower ?—He asked me if I would vote for Gower.

22,783. Had he some further talk with you ?—Yes, as a friend.

22,784. I mean as a friend, after you had told him that you were going to vote for Gower. He came in and went on talking to you in the house ?—He did talk to me.

22,785. Did he say, "If you will come with me on "Mr. Gower's committee you will fare like the others" ?—No.

22,786. Did he ask you to go on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

22,787. Did you go on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

22,788. Was not your name on it ?—No.

22,789. It is very odd. Was that all the canvassing you had in 1863 on the part of Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

22,790. No terms mentioned at all ?—No terms mentioned whatever.

22,791. You have not been in any other election ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

H. Worsfold.

HENRY WORSFOLD sworn and examined.

22,792. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election ?—Yes.

22,793. What rent do you pay for the house that you occupy ?—10*l.* a year.

22,794. What are you ?—A labourer.

22,795. You voted for Mr. Gower, I suppose ?—Yes.

22,796. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—No one; no one asked me at all. Mr. Gower called, but I was not at home when he called.

22,797. Just let me ask you a general question then. Did you receive any money ?—Not any; not a farthing.

22,798. Were you on the committee ?—Yes.

22,799. Who put you on the committee ?—Mr. Durrant. I don't know.

22,800. Did Durrant ask you to be on the committee ?—No; no one asked me.

22,801. Did you see Mr. Durrant about voting ?—No.

22,802. Did he ask you to vote?—No, he never spoke a word to me.

22,803. Who was it that asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No one asked me. Mr. Gower called at the house where I lived and left a card, and said he wished me to vote for him, but I never saw Mr. Gower.

22,804. Did you attend any of the meetings?—No.

22,805. Did you do nothing at the election except voting?—No.

22,806. Were you at the nomination?—No.

22,807. Who brought you up to the poll to vote?—I cannot say who it was brought me.

22,808. You did not come alone?—No, I rode up.

22,809. Somebody brought a carriage for you?—Yes; but who it was I do not know.

22,810. Well, if you did not tell anybody how you were going to vote, how did they know that you wanted a carriage?—They all knew that I had voted for Mr. Gower before.

22,811. You do not know who it was that was with you in the carriage?—No, I do not know who was with me.

22,812. Did anybody come to you after the election and offer you anything?—No.

28,813. Was this the only election you voted at?—I voted before.

22,814. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

22,815. Do you know Mr. Groom?—I do know him, sir.

22,816. Were you at his house at the time of the election?—I was at his house one night.

22,817. Which night was that?—I cannot tell you which night it was.

22,818. Was it the night before the polling?—I think it was; I cannot tell.

22,819. It was that night?—I cannot tell the night.

22,820. There were some others there when you were there?—There were two or three more.

22,821. Half a dozen?—I cannot tell how many; I was not there but a very little while myself.

22,822. Well then, on the night that you were there what time did you get away?—I should say between 9 and 10 o'clock.

22,823. You went home to your own bed?—I went to my own home.

22,824. And you left some others at Groom's?—Yes.

22,825. Do you know Groom very well?—Yes.

22,826. Are you often at Groom's?—No.

22,827. That is a private house?—Yes.

22,828. It is not a beer house?—No.

22,829. Who asked you to go to Groom's just before the election?—He asked me to go.

22,830. You asked yourself?—He asked me to go.

22,831. Did he tell you what he wanted you for?—No.

22,832. Just recollect yourself, and see whether you cannot remember that it was the night before the polling; the night before the election?—No, I don't recollect scarcely anything.

22,833. Was it not the night before the election that you were there?—It was within a night or two of the election.

22,834. Mr. Groom asked you to go up to his house; did not he speak to you about the election?—No.

22,835. Are you quite sure of that?—No one spoke to me at all about it.

22,836. Did anybody speak to you on the part of Mr. Monson?—No.

22,837. How very odd that must have been?—Not one.

22,838. It is very odd that they should have missed you?—They did.

22,839. They must have been very bad canvassers. Where was your work? Out in the fields?—Yes.

22,840. And you came home of a night, and very soon went to bed?—Yes, I had not much company.

22,841. Then if that was your ordinary practice of very soon going to bed I do not understand why you went to Groom's a little before the election?—I went to sit awhile.

22,842. What did you have at Groom's? Anything to drink?—I cannot say what we had.

22,843. Had you anything to drink?—A glass of beer, or something of that.

22,844. Were they all drinking beer?—I cannot tell.

22,845. There was beer supplied round was not there?—I cannot tell.

22,846. Did not you see that the others were having refreshment?—Yes, having refreshment; but what it was I cannot say.

22,847. Now we know as a fact that there was a meeting of men at Groom's the night before, was not the occasion when you were there the night before?—It was either the night before or the night before that.

22,848. Very well, that is near enough for us?—It is a thing I cannot recollect.

22,849. Then having gone there a night or two nights before the election, just try and recollect was not the election the subject matter of conversation?—No, I did not hear a word of it; not any that I am aware of.

28,850. Did you see Rose there? Do you know Alec Rose?—No, I did not.

22,851. Where did you breakfast on the morning of the election?—At the "Barley Mow."

22,852. How far is the "Barley Mow" from your house?—Why, not above a hundred yards.

22,853. What time did you go to the "Barley Mow" for breakfast?—About 7 o'clock or after.

22,854. How came you to know there would be breakfast there?—I was going by the place at the time.

22,855. Did not Groom tell you there would be a breakfast at the "Barley Mow"?—No.

22,856. Because Groom knew all about it you know?—He never told me.

22,857. Did you meet at breakfast at the "Barley Mow" any of the persons you had seen at Groom's the night before?—Not that I know of.

22,858. Well, you had your breakfast there; did you go from the "Barley Mow" to poll?—Yes.

22,859. You remained at the "Barley Mow" till you were fetched?—No, I was handy there. I cannot say that I remained there, but I was there at the time when they came after me.

22,860. There were several voters at the "Barley Mow" at breakfast that morning?—I cannot tell whether they were voters.

22,861. There were several people there?—There were several people there.

22,862. They were all breakfasting?—I cannot say as to that.

22,863. Did you pay for your breakfast?—No.

22,864. Were you at the "Angel" at Woodhatch?—No.

22,865. You know it?—Yes.

22,866. You have been there?—At no meetings.

22,867. Was the "Barley Mow" the only place where you took refreshment during the two or three weeks before the election?—Only there; there was no other place I went to.

22,868. You are quite sure that Durrant never made any terms with you?—Not any at all, and no one else.

22,869. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live in a house under Thomas Clutton?—Robert Clutton.

22,870. Did you live in his house at the time of the election?—No, I do not live in his house.

22,871. Whose house do you live in?—Williams'.

22,872. You worked for Mr. Clutton?—Yes.

22,873. Did you work for him during the election?—Yes.

22,874. You had some conversation with Clutton

FOURTEENTH DAY.

H. Worsfold.

6 Sept. 1866.

about the election?—Clutton has never spoken to me about the election.

22,875. I did not say "has," but did he before the election speak to you about it?—No.

22,876. Do you know that he was chairman for Mr. Gower; one of his chairmen?—Yes.

22,877. Where at? Where was he sitting as chairman?—I cannot tell.

22,878. How did you know he was chairman?—I was told so.

22,879. Who by?—I cannot tell who by.

22,880. Did he tell you himself?—No.

22,881. At the time that you voted were you behindhand with your rent a little?—No.

22,882. Are you quite sure of that?—Yes.

22,883. Was the rent all right?—Yes.

22,884. Up to when?—I was not behindhand.

22,885. Not with anybody?—No.

22,886. Did you go to Mr. Clutton before the election?—Oh, yes.

22,887. About what? About the election?—No, Mr. Clutton never spoke to me about the election.

22,888. He did not?—No.

22,889. How long have you been in his service?—Nearly eight years.

22,890. Williams is your landlord; what is his name?—I cannot tell his Christian name. I do not know it.

22,891. Where does he live? Is it Thomas Williams, of Cockshot-hill?—He has a son at Cockshot-hill.

22,892. Thomas Williams, senior, is your landlord?—Yes.

22,893. Did not Thomas Williams, junior, come and ask you?—No.

22,894. Are you certain?—Yes.

22,895. Had you seen him before the election?—Yes, very often.

22,896. Do you mean to say Williams had not spoken to you about voting?—No.

22,897. Never asked which way you were going to vote?—I cannot say "never asked." I don't know as he ever asked or not; I don't remember.

22,898. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did not you know that Thomas Williams, junior, was taking a very active part for Mr. Gower?—No, I do not remember anything about it.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN VIGAR sworn and examined.

J. Vigar.

22,899. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Vigar?—A bellhanger and gasfitter.

22,900. What rent are you paying for your house?—I have not got a house.

22,901. What rent were you paying at the election? 5*s.* a week.

22,902. That is the house you voted for?—Yes.

22,903. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

22,904. Who canvassed you for your vote?—Thomas Jordan.

22,905. You were to receive 15*s.* a week, I suppose, and the back money to make up 5*l.* You were to get 5*l.*?—Yes.

22,906. And did get 5*l.*?—Yes.

22,907. Who paid you?—Thomas Jordan.

22,908. Oh, Jordan himself paid you?—Yes.

22,909. Did he pay you two 15*s.*?—Yes.

22,910. Where did he pay you the balance, 3*l.* 10*s.*?—At his own house.

22,911. Was that the night after the election?—The polling day.

22,912. The night of the polling day?—Yes.

22,913. After you had polled?—Yes.

22,914. Did you go to his house for it?—Yes.

22,915. Did he tell you to go to his house?—Yes.

22,216. Did you know the others were paid at the "Plough"?—No, I did not know that.

22,917. Had you been canvassed before?—For Mr. Wilkinson?

22,918. In 1863; were you employed on that occasion?—Yes.

22,919. Who canvassed you?—No one canvassed me. Mr. John Simmons asked me if I would vote.

22,920. That is the man that keeps the "Thimble and Nutcracker"?—"The Thimble and Nutmeg "Grater."

22,921. You got a pound on that occasion?—Yes; a night and two days.

22,922. You were not running about all night. What do you mean by a night?—Very nearly.

22,923. Did you know how many Jordan had under him?—He gave me money for two more, and I paid it.

22,924. Who were they?—Abraham White and William Bilcliffe.

22,925. What is White?—A bellhanger and gasfitter.

22,926. What is the other?—A sawyer.

22,927. Did you receive the 15*s.* for them, the two 15*s.*, as well as the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, the same time I got the other, and I gave it to them.

12,928. Used you to go to Jordan's house for it?—Yes.

22,929. You only received 1*l.* in 1863?—Yes.

22,930. Now is that all the money you have told us of that you received in 1865?—That is all.

22,931. Of course you had the public houses and beer shops open while you were busy at work?

22,232. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did White and Bilcliffe vote for Monson?—Yes.

22,933. Who paid you the 1*l.* in 1863?—Joyes.

22,934. Were you satisfied with it?—I thought it was very good pay.

22,935. But 5*l.* was better. Was that the only time you voted?—Yes.

22,936. Did any one go to Jordan with you for the money? You went for the three?—White did not go because he lived at a distance. I took his money and paid him on the following morning.

22,937. Did you see any strangers on the polling day when you went back for your money?—There were strangers there.

22,938. At Mr. Jordan's?—At Mr. Jordan's.

22,939. How many that you did notknow? Half a dozen?—Five or six that I did not know.

22,940. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not think you have said how much you paid White?—5*l.* each.

22,941. Did you pay them the same way, 15*s.* a week?—Yes,

22,942. And then you got the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, that was after the polling.

22,943. Is that William Bilcliffe, the man you mean, of West-street?—Yes.

W. R. Warren.

WILLIAM ROBERT WARREN sworn and examined.

22,944. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

22,945. To whom did you promise your vote?—To Mr. Gower.

22,946. Were you at any time paid any money?—Yes.

22,947. Who paid you money?—James Apted, for Mr. Monson.

22,948. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

22,949. What are you?—A labourer.

22,950. What rent do you pay?—I was paying 4*s.* 6*d.* a week. I am now paying 4*s.*

22,951. You say James Apted paid you money for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

22,952. How much did he pay you?—5*l.*

22,953. When did he pay you that?—On the nomination day.

22,954. Did he tell you what the 5*l.* was for?—Yes, it was to get me a new suit of clothes.

22,955. At the same time did he speak about your voting for Mr. Monson?—No.

22,956. Whereabouts was it that he gave you this 5*l.*?—30*s.* at the "Castle," and the rest at Mr. Holdsworth's stables.

22,957. Was anybody else with you when you were at Mr. Holdsworth's stables?—Yes.

22,958. Whom?—Thomas Goddard.

22,959. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) Is the "Castle" a public house?—Yes.

22,960. Who keeps the "Castle"?—John Green.

22,961. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you were at Mr. Holdsworth's stables was anything said about voting?—No.

22,962. Did you understand what you were to do with your vote when you got the 5*l.*?—There was nothing said to me about it.

22,963. You understood what you were to do?—I promised my vote to Mr. Gower.

22,964. You did not tell them so?—I had told some of them before.

22,965. Do you recollect telling Mr. James Apted?—I do not remember speaking to him; he was speaking to Mr. Goddard all the time.

22,966. How came he to give you this 5*l.* for a new suit of clothes?—He said he had heard that our clothes had been torn off our backs, and he had come down to give us some new ones.

22,967. Had your clothes been torn off your backs?—No.

22,968. Do you mean to say nothing was said about the election?—Nothing was said to me.

22,969. You knew James Apted well?—Yes.

22,970. You knew him to be an active man for Mr. Monson?—He told us he was an agent for Mr. Richardson.

22,971. Were you to vote for Mr. Richardson for the 5*l.*?—No.

22,972. Did Mr. Holdsworth say anything to you about your vote?—No.

22,973. Or did you hear him say anything to the other men?—No.

22,974. You knew him to be an active man on the part of Mr. Monson?—No, I did not know anything about him.

22,975. Did you not think it very odd that they should volunteer to give you 5*l.* for a new suit of clothes?—I did not ask them for it.

22,976. You knew very well that the 5*l.* was for yur vote?—No.

22,977. What did you believe?—I did not believe anything at all about it.

22,978. No, I do not suppose you believe anything; what did you think the 5*l.* was for?—For a new suit of clothes.

22,979. No it was not for a new suit of clothes, because you had then told him you had not torn your coat; come, tell us at once?—I do not know what it was for.

22,980. Do you mean to say you did not know what the 5*l.* was given you for?—I did not.

22,981. It was just before the election, on nomination day?—I do not know what it was for.

22,982. You connect the two together, the nomination and the election and then the 5*l.*, and do you mean to tell me point blank that you thought the 5*l.* was for a new suit of clothes, or that you did not know what it was for?—I did not.

22,983. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower?—Because I promised Mr. Gower himself.

22,984. Did you promise anybody else?—No.

22,985. Did you ever get anything for voting for Mr. Gower?—No, excepting working one week for wages for Mr. Durrant and one week for Thomas Williams.

22,986. Thomas Williams, junior?—Yes, digging his garden.

22,987. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did Mr. Durrant pay you for the work?—1*l.* each week; 1*l.* a week for two weeks.

22,988. Was that during the election?—Just before. I had nothing else to do.

22,989. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was not that the week before the election?—The fortnight.

22,990. Where were you working the Monday before the nomination; were you working with Mr. Williams?—No.

22,991. For Mr. Durrant?—For Mr. Durrant.

22,992. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The 1*l.* included the polling day and nomination day; you did not work the polling day?—Not on the polling day.

22,993. Nor the nomination day?—No.

22,994. And the Monday before you did nothing?—No.

22,995. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you at Green's house the night before the election?—Yes.

22,996. Had you told anybody that you had received 5*l.* from James Apted and Holdsworth?—Thomas Goddard knew it.

22,997. He knew it because he was there; Goddard had 5*l.* too, had he not?—Yes.

22,998. Was Goddard working with you at Mr. Durrant's?—No.

22,999. You went to Mr. Groom's the night before the election; how came you to go there?—He asked me to come up for an hour or two.

23,000. Who asked you, Mr. Groom?—I do not know whether it was Mr. Groom or Mr. Durrant.

23,001. Had you been to Mr. Groom's before?—No.

23,002. Never?—Never.

23,003. You had some beer to drink?—I had some cider and ginger beer.

23,004. Did the cider and ginger beer make you sleepy?—No, not it.

23,005. Where did you sleep; did not you sleep at home?—I slept there a little while.

23,006. We know all about that; you slept there all the night?—It was 11 o'clock when I went.

23,007. When did you come away?—About 5 in the morning.

23,008. And then you went to the "Barley Mow" to breakfast?—I went home.

23,009. It was close by, was it not?—Yes.

23,010. Why did you not go home before?—I laid down and went to sleep.

23,011. Did not they take away your boots and shoes?—No.

23,012. Did you find them when you got up in the morning?—Yes.

23,013. Where?—In the room where I left them.

23,014. That was not the room in which you were sleeping?—No, I pulled them off before I went in the room where I was sleeping.

23,015. There were three or four sleeping in the room together?—Yes.

23,016. All voters?—Yes.

23,017. Was Goddard drunk?—No.

23,018. Were any of you drunk?—No.

23,019. Because you ought to know, as you only took ginger beer?—I had cider and ginger beer.

23,020. In the morning I suppose you went to the "Barley Mow" and had breakfast?—I had a cup of coffee there and a bit of bread and butter.

23,021. When did you poll?—At 8 o'clock.

23,022. Who took you to the poll?—Thomas Williams.

23,023. Was Worsell there?—I do not remember his being there.

23,024. You saw him at the "Barley Mow"?—I do not recollect his being there.

23,025. Who was it took you to the poll; was it Thomas Williams?—Thomas Williams.

23,026. Thomas Williams, junior?—Young Thomas Williams.

23,027. And he kept near you all the time till you had polled?—Yes.

23,028. Williams knew then, did he not, that you had been in the stable with Mr. Apted and Mr. Holdsworth, and had been locked up at Mr. Groom's?—I do not know whether he knew it or not.

23,029. When you were at Mr. Groom's did they tell you that you must not go out that night; you must sleep there?—No.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

W. R. Warren.

6 Sept. 1866.

23,030. Something of the sort was said?—Not to me.

23,031. It was said; if not said to you it was said to somebody else?—I do not remember it being said at all.

23,032. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a married man, of course?—Yes.

23,033. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

23,034. Who asked you to go on Mr. Gower's committee?—No one; I believe it was Mr. Gower.

23,035. Mr. Gower did not ask you to go on his committee; Mr. Gower did not want labouring men on his committee?—I heard him ask William Snelling to go on his committee, and I was along with him at the same time.

23,036. Who is William Snelling; is he a working man?—Yes, a gardener.

23,037. You never saw any of the others; James Apted, or Joyes, or Alec Rose?—No.

23,038. What was your real motive for voting for Mr. Gower?—Because I pledged my word to him.

23,039. Was that because you liked his political principles?—That was one reason.

23,040. James Apted and Holdsworth knew that you had promised Mr. Gower, I suppose?—I do not know whether they did or not; I was on the committee.

23,041. When they gave you the 5*l.*, and did not say anything about voting, did they say anything about your not voting?—They did not say anything about voting at all; at least Apted said, "I shall "vote for Mr. Richardson and you will vote for Mr. "Monson" when we got outside the town.

23,042. When James Apted said that did you not believe that the 5*l.* was given you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not take any notice.

23,043. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You recollect the time you got the money; when did you get the 1*l.* from Mr. Durrant?—He paid me weekly.

23,044. I am talking of the 1*l.*?—I got 2*l.*

23,045. When did you get 1*l.* from Mr. Durrant?—He paid me both at the end of the first week and at the end of the other.

23,046. When did he pay you the last pound?—Just before the election.

23,047. On the polling day?—Before the polling day.

23,048. On the nomination day?—The Saturday night before.

23,049. That was for the next week's wage, was it?—No, the week I had been at work for him.

23,050. How many weeks had you worked for him?—Two weeks.

23,051. For Mr. Durrant?—For Mr. Durrant and Mr. Williams.

23,052. How many weeks had you worked for Mr. Durrant?—Two; Mr. Durrant set me to work.

23,053. Mr. Durrant set you to work?—Yes.

23,054. Where did you work?—One week he set me to work at Mr. Tom Williams'.

23,055. What, did Mr. Durrant set you to work at Mr. Thomas Williams'; did he ever set you to work before?—No.

23,056. Now be cautious; Mr. Williams will be here, and we shall know all about that. Do you mean to say you went to Mr. Williams' and worked, and Mr. Williams did not pay you?—Yes.

23,057. Where does Mr. Williams live?—Cockshot hill.

23,058. Where do you live?—On the freehold.

23,059. Be very cautious; do you mean to say you went up to work in his garden without his speaking to you?—No, I saw Mr. William and Mr. Durrant, both of them.

23,060. What did Mr. Williams say?—He asked me to work.

23,061. Why do you say Mr. Durrant set you to work if Mr. Williams asked you himself to work?—Mr. Williams asked me.

23,062. When did you go to work?—On the Monday.

23,063. How long did you remain at work there?—The week; all the week.

23,064. Every day?—Yes.

23,065. Were you ever employed by him before?—No.

23,066. Or since?—No.

23,067. Were you ever employed by Mr. Durrant before?—No.

23,068. Or since?—No.

23,069. How is it he came to employ you?—Because I had nothing else to do.

23,070. You were then, as you are at all times, looking out for a job; they never came after you. You told me you were working for Mr. Durrant the week the election took place?—A fortnight before.

23,071. Then you had only work the time of the election?—No.

23,072. You were only paid the 2*l.*?—That was all.

23,073. Where did you go to work next?—I went to Earlswood next.

23,074. You are not a regular gardener, are you?—No.

23,075. What do you get when employed?—Sometimes 3*s.* and sometimes 3*s.* 6*d.* a day.

23,076. Are you much employed as a gardener?—No.

23,077. Where did you work before?—I had a day's work sometimes.

J. Jordan.

JAMES JORDAN sworn and examined.

23,078. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A working gardener.

23,079. What rent do you pay?—I have a freehold.

23,080. What is the value of your freehold by the year?—It is rated at 13*l.*

23,081. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

23,082. Were you employed at the last election yourself, Mr. Jordan?—Not much I was not.

23,083. A little bit?—Yes.

23,084. Enough, I suppose?—Oh, yes, enough.

23,085. Was any agreement made that you were to get 5*l.* for your vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes, John Cook paid me 15*s.* a week a fortnight before the polling day.

23,086. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who canvassed you?—John Cook canvassed me, and Thomas Jordan.

23,087. (The Chief Commissioner.) Cook paid you in the usual way 15*s.* a week?—Yes, a fortnight before the polling day.

23,088. And he afterwards paid you 3*l.* 10*s.* further on the polling day?—Yes.

23,089. Have you voted before?—Yes.

23,090. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who paid you the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Thomas Jordan.

23,091. (The Chief Commissioner.) I thought you told me Cook paid all?—No, not all.

23,092. How much did Cook pay you?—Two 10*s.*

23,093. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Thomas Jordan.

23,094. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) At his own house?—Yes.

23,095. You went there for it?—Yes.

23,096. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote on any of the elections between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

23,097. Did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—For Mr. Gower.

23,098. Who canvassed you then?—Mr. Durrant.

23,099. What arrangement was made in 1863?—No arrangement at all.

23,100 Did he ask you to work?—Yes, I did a little.

23,101. What at?—Oh, running about a little.

23,102. Were you on the committee?—Yes, I was on the committee then.

23,103. What were you to have?—He never told me.

23,104. He did not tell you any sum, but what were you to have for your services?—He did not tell me.

23,105. I did not say he did; what were you to have?—I received 1*l.*

23,106. What were you to have; if you will not tell me, never mind?—I received 1*l.*, that was all.

23,107. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid it?—Mark Wicks, of the freehold.

23,108. (The Chief Commissioner.) You will not answer the question I put to you?—I cannot answer it. 1*l.* was all I received.

23,109. Did you apply to anybody else for money?—No.

23,110. Did that satisfy you?—Yes, the 1*l.* satisfied me.

23,111. You may not have expressed any dissatisfaction about it, but did it give you satisfaction, that is what I mean?—Yes.

23,112. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He gave you 1*l.* for all the running about you did?—Yes.

23,113. Was there anything for polling day?—No, not a ——

23,114. (The Chief Commissioner.) Not a what?—Not a shilling.

23,115. Was that the first election at which you voted?—Yes.

23,116. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why should Mr. Wicks pay you?—I do not know; that is for you to find out.

23,117. Did you apply to him?—I never applied to any one.

23,118. Did Mr. Wicks come to you and say, "Here "is 1*l.* for you"?—Yes, he did; he said I could have a pound if I liked.

23,119. And you did like?—Yes, I took it; if he had given me another I should have taken it.

23,120. And you told him that you thought you ought to get another, or something of that sort?—No, I did not.

23,121. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not tell him that you should like another?—No.

23,122. Perhaps you lost it by not doing so?—Perhaps I did.

23,123. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you not go to Mr. Durrant about it?—No, I did not.

23,124. Did Mr. Durrant tell you you might be paid?—No, he never told me anything.

23,125. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Let me put a general question to you, and put the onus upon you. Have you anything to tell the Commissioners with reference to the election of '65 which ought to be told them?—No, nothing else that I know of.

23,126. Do you know anything more than you have told us with reference to the bribery and corruption at the election of '65?—No, I will take my oath I do not.

23,127. Do you know of any money which Mr. Cook paid?—No; he paid me by myself, and I am sure I do not know who paid me afterwards.

The witness withdrew.

EDWARD LAMBERT sworn and examined.

E. Lambert.

23,128. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you follow any business?—Yes.

23,129. What business?—I am a miller, corn dealer, and baker.

23,130. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you Edward Lambert senior or junior?—Junior.

23,131. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower at the last election.

23,132. By that you mean that you voted against him on the first occasion?—Yes.

23,133. What was your rent?—I had two or three properties; 50*l.* or 60*l.* My house is 30*l.*

23,134. You voted for that?—Yes, for the house.

23,135. Of course you were on Mr. Gower's committee?—Oh no committee, not that I am aware of; I never authorized my name to be put on the committee.

23,136. A respectable man like you would like to be on the committee?—No; I do not think respectable men were on the committee.

23,137. The candidates would like it, that is all I say. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower this time?—I do not know that I was canvassed. I suppose Mr. Gower called on me once. I did not promise Mr. Gower. He called first, and he never troubled me afterwards. It is very seldom that I am canvassed much.

23,138. You took an active part for Mr. Gower this time?—I do not know; I think not a very active part.

23,139. Did you not attend several of the meetings?—I attended the public meetings.

23,140. Was there speaking then?—Yes. I attended at this hall and at the hall at Redhill to hear both candidates, both Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson.

23,141. Did you not canvass some men for Mr. Gower?—I do not know what you call canvassing. In the course of conversation I might, of course, ask men who they were going to vote for.

23,142. And recommended Mr. Gower?—Yes.

23,143. Do you know a man named Stevens?—I do.

23,144. You canvassed him?—No.

23,145. For whom did he vote?—For Mr. Gower, I believe.

23,146. You know that he voted for Mr. Gower, do you not?—I know from report that he did. I did not see him.

23,147. You saw him after he had voted, did you not?—I have seen him several times.

23,148. But to speak to?—Not probably for a week or two; not about the election.

23,149. He was considerably in your debt at the election?—Yes, he was in my debt a little.

23,150. It might have been a great deal to him and a little to you who are a man of means. It was from 6*l.* to 7*l.*?—I have seen the report in the papers and what is stated. He has never been indebted to me so much as 50*s.* for the last two years.

23,151. Did you strike off any balance?—Not a farthing. I never received a farthing or anything at all for my services, and I never gave anything to anybody. As to the report which has got abroad about my striking off anything, it is all a fallacy and farce; any one can look at my ledger and see it.

23,152. I would sooner look at your face. You say that you never struck off a farthing for the election?—Never anything.

23,153. Did you ever strike off anything?—Never to him or to any one else. I never thought of such a thing.

23,154. It was right, I thought, that you should be called to contradict it?—I am very pleased to be able to do so. It appears to have gone about from a man named William Wesley. He is a man who likes to make himself very forward, and I think he thought there was something to be got. He volunteered a certain amount of information which he said Stevens told him. I do not believe he told him any such thing, and if he did it would be a mere balance. He never owed me to the amount of 6*l.* or 7*l.*

The witness withdrew.

CHARLES WESLEY sworn and examined.

C. Wesley.

23,155. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tinman and brazier.

23,156. What rent do you pay for your house?—18*l.*

23,157. What did you pay at the election? Was it the same house and the same rent?—No, not the same house.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

C. Wesley.

6 Sept. 1866.

23,158. What rent did you pay at the time of the election of '65 ?—15*l.*

23,159. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

23,160. Why did you vote for Mr. Gower ?—Because Mr. Mulley canvassed me.

23,161. You had a great opinion of Mr. Mulley ?—Yes.

23,162. What is Mr. Mulley ?—A cowkeeper.

23,163. Did he put you on the committee ?—Not that I am aware of.

23,164. Did he tell you that he would ?—I do not recollect the words that he used to me. I never looked to see whether it was on the committee, and therefore I cannot say that I was on.

23,165. Did Mr. Mulley promise that you should be on the committee ?—I do not think he did.

23,166. Did any one afterwards tell you that you were on the committee ?—No.

23,167. You do not know whether you were or not ?—I never asked.

23,168. What arrangement did Mr. Mulley make with you ?—Mr. Mulley said, "Wesley, which way "are you going." I said, "I do not know which "way I am going." He said, "Please yourself, "Wesley, but which way will you go ?" I said, "I "have no interest in anything at all whatever, and it "does not matter to me which way I go, not in the "shape of anything at all." He said, "Shall I put "your name down on the committee ?" I said, "Yes, "you can," and he did so I suppose.

23,169. Then he put your name on the committee ?—Yes.

23,170. What had Mr. Mulley to do with you ; is he your landlord ?—No not at all ; I have worked for Mr. Mulley ; I have done several little jobs for him from first to last.

23,171. So you were to be put on the committee ; what were you to do ? were you to take messages, and go about ?—Yes.

23,172. Did you do what work was wanted ?—I did what I could.

23,173. What sort of work ? Did you attend meetings ?—I did attend two or three public meetings.

23,174. Was that the work you did ?—I took several letters.

23,175. I dare say Mr. Mulley wrote often to Mr. Apted and some of the committee rooms ?—I do not know.

23,176. Did you take them to the committee rooms ?—Yes.

23,177. Were you on your own work all the time as a brazier ?—No.

23,178. Were you out of work at that time ?—I have no regular work, I only get a job where I can.

23,179. Have you any other work besides being a brazier ?—Yes.

23,180. Regular work ?—Yes.

23,181. What is it ?—I am a gasfitter sometimes.

23,182. You are a brazier and gasfitter. Tell me when it was over what you got for the election ?—1*l.*

23,183. No more ?—Mr. Mulley gave me the 1*l.*

23,184. When did he give you the 1*l.* ?—About two months after the election.

23,185. That does not seem much. How long before the election was it that he called upon you and proposed putting your name down ?—A full fortnight.

23,186. Were you not looking for more than 1*l.* ?—That was all I received.

23,187. Were you not expecting more ?—He said he would do all he could for me.

23,188. He said that at the first ?—Yes ; but he never made me any promise in any shape or way whatever.

23,189. Did he intimate that it was just possible that you might get a fiver ?—I never knew what I was going to have.

23,190. Did you expect to get 5*l.* ?—No.

23,191. What was the highest amount that you went to in your dreams ?—I never dreamed anything.

23,192. That shows you did work hard ?—Well, I did work very hard sometimes.

23,193. Was this your first election ?—Yes, in this part of the country.

23,194. You have been voting in other places ?—No, I have not.

23,195. Then I do not quite understand you, you said this was your first election in this part of the country ; what do you mean ?—I have been at two or three other elections.

23,196. Without having voted ?—Yes.

23,197. I must not ask you about other elections ; but as far as your experience goes did you ever see anywhere else refreshments more ready ?—I never had any refreshments at all.

23,198. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you been canvassed for Mr. Monson's side ?—Yes.

23,199. Who canvassed you for Mr. Monson ?—Mr. Nichols.

23,200. What did Mr. Nichols say on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—He asked me if I would vote when I took a lot of cans there ; I took 30*s.* from Mr. Nichols ; I did not know Mr. Nichols then.

23,201. What did he say to you ?—I was going to tell you. When I took the cans in Mr. Butler stood at the bar ; he said, "Wesley, how are you to-day ;" I said, "Thank you, much better than I have been," for I had not been very well. After I received the 30*s.* from Mr. Nichols,—I do not know whether it was 30*s.* or 29*s.* 6*d.*, but 30*s.* is near enough,—I went into the parlour. He asked me if I would give my vote for Mr. Monson ; I said I did not know ; no more I did then. He said, "Well, shall I put your name down for "it." I said, "Yes if you like," and so he did, and I came away.

23,202. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that after you had talked with Mr. Mulley ?—It was after that, because I had not received the order at the "Grapes."

23,203. You were at the "Grapes" with Mr. Nichols after you had been talking with Mr. Mulley ?—I cannot say whether it was before or after.

23,204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Nichols close the bargain about your vote for Mr. Monson with any promise ?—He put my name down in his book.

23,205. Did Mr. Nichols give you anything at the time ?—No.

23,206. No money ?—No.

23,207. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you understand you were to have by his putting your name down in his book ?—He said if I voted for him I should have 5*l.* ; but I did not.

23,208. You did not get any of the 5*l* ?—Yes, I did.

23,209. How much of the 5*l.* had you ?—2*l.* 10*s.*

23,210. Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid it to you ?—Mr. Nichols.

23,211. When ?—About a week before the election, as near as I can tell.

23,212. Was it paid at the "Grapes" ?—Yes, I had to go there again.

23,213. To take in another order ?—To take another 10*s.* off.

23,214. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 2*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

23,215. What did he say when he paid you ?—That he would pay the other 2*l.* 10*s.* when I had voted.

23,216. "Here is this now, and you are to have "the other 2*l.* 10*s.* when you have voted" ?—Yes.

23,217. Of course you had not done anything for Mr. Nichols ; you had not been employed by Mr. Nichols to do anything on behalf of Mr. Monson ?—No.

23,218. You worked for the Gower party ?—Yes, I received 1*l.*

23,219. At that time you were sure of getting 2*l.* 10*s.* if you voted for Mr. Monson ; I apprehend you expected more for voting for Mr. Gower ?—I had no promise.

23,220. But you expected more ?—I do not know whether I did.

23,221. You were sure of 2*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Nichols if you voted for Mr. Monson, and you gave a kind of promise to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No, I promised Mr. Mulley to vote for Mr. Gower.

23,222. You promised Mr. Nichols also, because, though you did not say so in words, yet the act of taking the 2*l.* 10*s.* would be a promise ?—I did not take the 2*l.* 10*s.* then.

23,223. But you took it before the election ?—I think it was a week before.

23,224. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had promised Mr. Mulley before you got the 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—I do not know that I had seen Mr. Nichols then.

23,225. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You must have got more than the 2*l.* 10*s.* when you voted for Mr. Gower ?—I did not expect to receive anything.

23,226. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you not heard that 5*l.* was about Mr. Gower's price ?—No.

23,227. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You showed yourself to be a man who would vote for money ; they took you for that ; therefore you expected to get more by the Gower side than you did by the other, did you not ?—I do not see that.

23,228. You did not see it in that light ?—No.

23,229. Do you wish it to be put in the other light, that you took 2*l.* 10*s.* intending to deceive him, and cheated him out of it ; do you wish it to be put in that light ? do you mean to say that you intended to cheat him after you took the 2*l.* 10*s.* ?—I do not know that there was any cheating about it.

23,230. Did you mean to vote ?—Yes, I did intend to vote at one time for Mr. Monson, but I did not.

23,231. It was in reality because you expected more from the Gower party ; that is what you expected, and you were deceived ?—No, it was not.

23,232. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You heard, in fact, that the Gower party were expecting 5*l.* ?—I had not heard anything at all about it.

The witness withdrew.

ROBERT ALLEN sworn and examined.

R. Allen.

23,233. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Monson.

23,234. What are you ?—A labourer.

23,235. What rent do you pay for your house ?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

23,236. And you voted for Mr. Monson on the last election ?—Yes.

23,237. Who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson ?—Thomas Jordan.

23,238. The arrangement was, you were to receive 15*s.* a week, and to receive the rest by the close of the election, making it up in all 5*l.* ?—Yes.

23,239. You were canvassed by Jordan ?—Yes.

23,240. Did you see anybody else besides Jordan ?—No.

23,241. He came to you ?—I saw him in the room.

23,242. Did he pay you ?—Richard Peat paid me the two 15*s.*

23,243. And who paid you the 3*l.* 10*s.* ?—Jordan.

23,244. On the night of the poll ?—Yes.

23,245. You were one of the men who went to his house on the night of the poll ?—Yes.

23,246. Do you know who were the other men who were in the arrangement ?—No ; I saw one or two more there that day.

23,247. You never saw them there till that day ?—No.

23,248. And then you knew what they were about ?—No.

23,249. Had you ever voted before ?—No.

23,250. Did you not vote in 1863 ?—No.

23,251. You had not a vote then ?—No.

23,252. Did you do anything at all ?—I attended the meetings.

23,253. Anything else ?—No, sir.

23,254. How many meetings might you have attended ?—Several.

23,255. I mean in the neighbourhood ?—I attended several meetings.

23,256. Had you attended and had beer and refreshments ?—At some of the meetings I had a glass or two, but at some I had not.

23,257. And on the day of the nomination you had refreshments which you did not pay for ?—Yes, I had.

23,258. And on the day of the polling you had refreshments which you did not pay for ?—I had.

23,259. Both before and after you polled ?—Not after I polled.

23,260. They did not give you any refreshments after polling ?—No.

23,261. What time in the evening did you go for the 3*l.* 10*s.* ?—About 5 o'clock.

23,262. As soon as the poll was closed ?—Yes.

EDWIN STEVENS sworn and examined.

E. Stevens.

23,263. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Mr. Stevens ?—A house decorator and paperhanger.

23,264. What rent do you pay ?—18*l.* rent, and 14*l.* in rateable value.

23,265. Did you take an active part in canvassing ?—No, not in particular, only in ordinary canvassing, anybody I knew.

23,266. And that was only in ordinary canvassing ?—Yes.

23,267. That is in distinction to active canvassing ?—Quite so.

23,268. Did you not go into some of the houses, and in ordinary conversation ask them for a vote over some little refreshment ?—No, I never visited any house in particular.

23,269. But generally ?—Not generally ; if I met any person I knew that I thought I could talk to about election matters I did so, only to know which way they were interested.

23,270. You only tested their intentions, and did not care for their promises ?—Yes.

23,271. Do you mean to say so ?—I do.

23,272. And did not test their principles ?—I had no authority to test their principles, neither did I exercise it.

23,273. Can you give me the name of any person you canvassed in that way ?—I dare say I have spoken to a great many of my friends, but as to telling you who they were would be a moral impossibility.

23,274. You were on the committee, of course ?—Yes.

23,275. And voted ?—Yes.

23,276. In 1863 and 1865 ?—Yes.

23,277. I suppose you were very much interested for Mr. Gower and wished him to succeed ?—Yes.

23,278. Did you attend meetings ?—I attended here, and one at Mead-vale, and behind the park ; those are the only actual meetings I attended.

23,279. There were a great many meetings which were not committee meetings ?—There were some, and perhaps one or two I attended.

23,280. Tell me one ?—Well, the first night we met here we adjourned over to the "Rose and Crown."

23,281. Were there many adjourned to the "Rose and Crown" ?—Five and twenty, perhaps.

23,282. Of the leading men ?—They were all leading men.

23,283. You know they were all leading men on the committee ?—I am aware of that.

23,284. You are the most leading man we have had yet, for the committee men we have had before us have been chiefly gardeners ?—But I am not a gardener.

23,285. They are all respectable men, but not possessed of the influence you have ?—You are very much mistaken, for I do not take upon myself to suppose I have any influence at all.

23,286. When you first came there what was the little amusement going on at the place ?—A general conversation I should imagine, and what were the prospects of Mr. Gower.

23,287. Why did you adjourn ?—I was not one of

FOURTEENTH DAY.

E. Stevens.

6 Sept. 1866.

those leading characters to know why we adjourned.

23,288. Who asked you?—Mr. Apted, Mr. Joyes, and Mr. Buckland; in fact, it was a general invitation.

23,289. I suppose there was a great deal of refreshment going on?—There was nothing I considered unusual under the circumstances; there was some refreshment going on; there was some I paid for myself, and some I did not pay for; some might ask me to have a glass, and I might ask others.

23,290. Was it a mutual treating? Did you pay for what you had?—I paid for a portion of it.

23,291. Who paid for the remainder?—Mr. Apted asked me what I was going to have, and I said, "A "glass of grog."

23,292. You said you did not treat anybody there?—No.

23,293. Who did you treat?—I treated a man of the name of Jupp; you have had it in evidence.

23,294. Was that so?—It was.

23,295. Under what circumstances did you treat him?—Simply because I knew him as having worked at the establishment at Fuller's, in Bell-street, but I did not ask him about his promise.

23,296. Monk; did you know him?—I knew him.

23,297. Did you treat him?—No.

23,298. Did you canvass him?—No.

23,299. Or ask him for his vote?—No; he was brought into the "White Hart" tap to me because nobody else would have him. He said he wanted to poll for Mr. Gower; and he said, "You know what I "want." I said, "What do you mean?" and he made the sign (holding up five fingers). I said, "All right." I shoved him out and took him to the poll.

23,300. That was on the day of polling?—Yes.

23,301. As soon as you shoved him out I suppose you went with him?—Yes.

23,302. What was his name?—George Monk.

23,303. Was he paid anything?—Not to my knowledge.

23,304. Then he did put up his five fingers?—Yes.

23,305. You said, "All right;" you pushed him out, and went with him to the poll?—Yes; but whether he meant 5*l.*, 5*s.*, or 5*d.*, I do not know.

23,306. Do not speak of five pence. Did he apply to you afterwards?—He applied to me afterwards.

23,307. When he asked you to pay him what did you say?—I had nothing to do with it. I had none myself.

23,308. Did you send him to Apted?—No, I understood he went to Mr. Smith, but from no authority from me.

23,309. I am referring now to what Monk said, and it is right, therefore, I should put the question to you. "Stevens asked me what I wanted. I put up my "hand and said five. Then Stevens said, 'All right, "'I will give it you out of my own pocket'"?—I never said I would pay him out of my own pocket, or asked what he wanted.

23,310. When he put up his five fingers everybody there, I suppose, knew it was 5*l.*?—It was the first time I ever had a signal of that sort made to me.

23,311. You had a very shrewd suspicion, had you not? Then Stevens said, "All right, I will give it "you out of my own pocket." Is that true?—That is true; but I never asked him what he wanted.

23,312. Whatever the five was to be you did say, "I will pay it out of my own pocket"?—Yes; but I never meant to pay it, and he knew that I never meant, too.

23,313. Well, that is for us to form our own conclusion upon. "I said, I must go to Redhill first," and you said, "You must vote first." Your story confirms that, because you pushed him out and took him to the poll?—I said, "Go on."

23,314. Did Monk say he must go to Redhill first? You did follow him and saw that he voted?—I did. It might be he said he would go to Redhill first.

23,315. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Monk said, "I made up my mind to vote because of the 5*l.* pro-"mised by Mr. Stevens"?—I do assure you, gentlemen, and I am on my oath, there was nothing of that sort. He never could have thought so, because he had been on the other side; he came to us when he was not wanted; he came to us when he was not worth buying.

23,316. What other side?—He had Monson's colours in the morning, and Gower's in the afternoon.

23,317. Then you knew he was a shaky vote?—Yes.

23,318. That was no reason why he should not go to Redhill?—It was of no use his going to Redhill.

23,319. He might have stayed out of the way?—I wish he had.

23,320. Did Jupp at any time make any of those signs to you?—No.

23,321. Do you know a man of the name of Bobbins?—I never did till the polling day.

23,322. Who introduced you to one another?—He was brought into the "White Hart" tap.

23,323. Was the "White Hart" tap your head-quarters for votes?—It was a house I had been using; I went there for a little rest.

23,324. They would not let you rest. Tell us what took place between you and Bobbins?—He and Jupp wished to go to the poll; they were brought into the "White Hart" tap.

23,325. Who brought them into the "White Hart" tap?—A young man. He said they wanted to go to the poll at Redhill.

23,326. He was an active party in the election?—They did not like to go without riding, and I said, "You may have a fly from the 'White Hart.'" They had a fly, and I went with them.

23,327. To see they were all right, I suppose?—Yes.

23,328. Were they doubtful or shaky voters?—Not that I know of; I never put a question to them at all.

23,329. Was anything said to you by the young man as to any money?—Not the slightest about money matters.

23,330. Do you know the "Red Cross" inn, Holdsworth?—Yes.

23,331. Have you ever been there?—Very frequently.

23,332. But at this time of the election?—Well, yes, I dare say I have more than once or twice, but not at any meetings.

23,333. Probably there were some little incidents you have seen at this house you might tell us?—That I do not know; I know they had a private room.

23,334. Who?—The Monson party; but what they did in that room I do not know, for I never was admitted into it.

23,335. Then you were only at the public entrance to it?—No, I was only at the public entrance, though I am more like one of the family, knowing them so well, that I should not feel any difficulty in going into any part of the house.

23,336. Did you supply colours to any of the voters?—Not to voters, to my knowledge. I certainly purchased a certain amount of ribbons for rosettes, favours, and neck-ties; I gave them away ad libitum.

23,337. You gave them away?—Yes, to children and women, or anybody else who chose to apply for a little bit of ribbon.

23,338. They were all made up?—No, loose ribbons; there were some few rosettes.

23,339. You supplied them to the children to make up for the voters?—It could not interest them at all. Children run about asking for ribbons, and I gave it to them, thinking no harm of it at all.

23,340. Do you know Mr. Morrison?—Yes.

23,341. I believe he took an active part in the election?—Yes, he took an active part.

23,342. Did he and you work much together?—Not much.

23,343. Did he and you canvass together?—I never decidedly canvassed anybody; I knew my influence was of no use.

23,344. You only worked on the day of polling?—

I worked on the nomination day and on the day of polling, and worked very hard too.

23,345. I do not know whether I ought to ask you this question. Were you to be remunerated for your services or loss of time?—I was not promised anything.

23,346. Did you receive anything?—No. I have been given to understand Mr. Frederick Joyes has said something of 2*l.*, which I borrowed of him. I understand he is about to say something of that kind.

23,347. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you borrow it?—I should think three weeks before the election.

23,348. How much?—2*l.*

23,349. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Three weeks?—It might be a fortnight.

23,350. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you repay it?—I have not repaid it. We have cross accounts; I have an account against him.

23,351. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is there any dispute between you and Joyes on the cross accounts?—No, we have never spoken about it.

23,352. When you come to balance the two accounts, on which side will the balance be?—I should say Joyes. I should owe Joyes a little money, but not 2*l.*

23,353. Taking away the 2*l.*, what are your business accounts?—Then, I think, he would owe me 15*s.* or 16*s.*

23,354. Taking the 2*l.* into account, it would be a little in his favour, about 25*s.*?—Yes.

23,355. You were a great deal about on the nomination day and polling day?—Yes.

23,356. I will put it to you, and no doubt you will answer me fairly. Is there anything you can inform the Commissioners of in reference to the conduct of the election, either on Mr. Gower's side or Mr. Monson's side, which ought to be brought before this Inquiry?—You have put a straightforward question to me, and I will give a straightforward answer. I was not in a position to know what was going on. It was commonly reported money was going on both sides, but as to my own knowledge I never saw a farthing.

23,357. Either before the election or after?—Either before the election or after.

23,358. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Monk has told us you said you would pay it out of your own pocket; was that so?—I did say so; I thought it was a matter of joke.

23,359. He believed you?—He had been bandying about from one side to the other.

23,360. But he believed it; he has said so?—Then I am very sorry; I am sure he said the other day he did not believe it.

23,361. Now, Mr. Stevens, I wish to give you every credit for sincerity and truth, but you had a shaky voter, a man whom you knew was liable to be bribed; you said Monk was a man liable to be bribed?—Yes, and had been waiting for that.

23,362. And knowing he had put up his five fingers you said, "It is all right, and if you are not paid I "will pay you out of my own pocket"?—Yes, I said that.

23,363. Do you mean to say you did not think that would operate on Monk's mind?—To the best of my belief, I do not think it would.

23,364. Do you mean to say you did not think at the time it would operate on his mind?—I did not think it would.

23,365. Why did you say you would pay it out of your own pocket; you knew he was a bribeable man?—I thought he would take it in joke.

23,366. And in order to teach him you told him if he would come to the poll you would "pay him out of "your own pocket"?—Perhaps I made a serious mistake.

23,367. You made a serious mistake in doing that, and in my judgment I think you are making a very serious mistake now. On your oath did you not intend that should operate on his mind, and secure him as a voter?—On my oath I did not.

23,368. Did you not intend it should operate on his mind and make him vote for Mr. Gower?—I did not think it would operate on his mind; I did not think it was any inducement whatever.

23,369. Do you not think it did operate on his mind?—I cannot answer that question.

23,370. Do you think he would have gone on so friendly with you, and would not have gone to Redhill?—I do not know.

23,371. He said, "Stevens ought to have paid me;" I have a note of that?—I do not know what I ought ta have done.

23,372. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say that Monk, when he came in, had the Monson colours on?—No, he had the Gower colours.

23,373. How do you know he had Monson colours on at all?—The man who brought him in told me.

23,374. Who was that?—Edward Nice.

23,375. And he told you he had been wearing Monson's colours?—Yes, he came in and said, "Here is "Monk, who wants to vote for Gower; he has had "Monson's colors all the morning, and he wishes now "to vote for Gower."

23,376. How did they know you were a good man to bring him to?—I can't understand.

23,377. It is pretty clear they did consider you a good man to bring him to from the fact of bringing the man; shown also by the fact that you took it on yourself to order a fly?—It was one of the flys with the bills on.

23,378. Who were you authorized to do it by?—I took it on my own responsibility.

23,379. Had you no authority given you by any of Mr. Gower's committee?—Not any.

23,380. Had you no conversation with anyone on Mr. Gower's committee to take people to the poll, and to do what you did?—I was asked to fetch voters in the morning.

23,381. Who by?—I believe by the orders of the acting committee. I had my list written out of the route I was to take to fetch voters.

23,382. Who handed you the list?—I believe it emanated from Mr. Smith.

23,383. Somebody or other on behalf of Mr. Smith or the committee brought you a list which would contain all the men you were expected to bring to the poll?—Yes.

23,384. That is right, is it?—That is quite right.

23,385. Then you cannot say after that you took no part in the proceedings?—I did not say I took no part; I was not authorized to do what I did for Mr. Monk, for instance.

23,386. I am speaking of the general part you took, and I only illustrate it by the fact that Monk was brought in and you took him to the poll; you were acting at that time?—It was a misunderstanding that I was really engaged to act.

23,387. You were really engaged, as you had received an authorized list from the Gower committee with the names on of those gentlemen you were expected to bring to the poll?—Yes, that would be an authority.

23,388. Now do answer me a very plain question, for all things come at last to pounds, shillings, and pence; why were you not paid for your services?—I do not know; simply because I never made an application.

23,389. Why did you not send in your account, "To services rendered on the polling day, &c."; it was evident you worked very hard from your own statement. Tell me why you did not doit?—Neglect.

FOURTEENTH DAY.

E. Stevens.

6 Sept. 1866.

23,390. I do not like the word; do tell me candidly why you did not apply?—It is, as I said before, negligence to a great extent, and I had so much respect for Mr. Gower I thought I could work a day for him for nothing.

Adjourned until 11 o'clock the following morning.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

Friday, 7th September 1866.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

J. Atkinson.

7 Sept. 1866.

JOHN ATKINSON sworn and examined.

23,391. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tailor.

23,392. What rent do you pay?—5s. 6d. a week.

23,393. Was that what you paid at the time of the election?—Yes.

23,394. Are you a master tailor or a journeyman tailor?—A journeyman tailor.

23,395. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

23,396. Did you promise Mr. Gower from the beginning?—Not Mr. Gower, but I promised my vote for Mr. Gower.

23,397. Who did you promise?—Mr. Mulley.

23,398. You were canvassed by him?—I was canvassed by Mr. Mulley.

23,399. Were you put on the committee?—My name never appeared in print.

23,400. Did he tell you you might be on the committee?—Yes.

23,401. What were you to do; you were to do some work for him?—He told me if there was anything I should get it.

23,402. Get it to do?—Yes.

23,403. What were you to get for doing it?—He did not tell me any sum at all, he told me if I did any work I should be paid.

23,404. He did not pay you anything down, I suppose?—No.

23,405. Nothing before the election?—No, not till three months after.

23,406. Three months after the election what did he pay you?—2l.

23,407. Mr. Mulley paid you?—He gave me 2l. on the first or the second of October.

23,408. That was all you received from him?—That was all I received from him.

23,409. Did you receive any other sum from any one on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No.

23,410. I believe you were canvassed by the other side?—Not canvassed.

23,411. You were asked for your vote?—No.

23,412. Something was said to you, just say what it was; who spoke to you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Mr. James Nichols.

23,413. What, shall I put it down that he canvassed you?—He asked me what I wanted.

23,414. Was that after Mr. Mulley had canvassed you?—Yes.

23,415. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What you wanted for what, for your vote?—He did not mention anything at all.

23,416. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say you did want?—"A tenner;" that was the answer I made him.

23,417. What did he say to that?—He put 8l. on the table and said, "You can have that if you like."

23,418. When he put down the sovereigns on the table, and said you could have them if you liked, did you like?—I took them up and put them in my pocket.

23,419. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose you returned them again?—I told him he could have them back again after the election, but he told me he did not want them.

23,420. (The Chief Commissioner.) What were you to do for the eight sovereigns?—I was only to do the best I could for the return of Mr. Monson.

23,421. Did he say, "Mind, you are to do what you "can"?—He said, "Go and do the best you can for 'the return of Mr. Monson."

23,422. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was it in his counting-house, or where?—In the "White Hart."

23,423. In the committee room?—I do not know whether it was in the committee room or not.

23,424. It was in the room at the "White Hart"?—Yes.

23,425. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Alone?—Yes.

23,426. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that all he said?—Yes.

23,427. Not quite?—At last he told me to sign a piece of paper, and I made a cross.

23,428. What was on the paper, "I hereby agree "to canvass and work for the election of Mr. Monson "at this next election and to do all I can to promote "his return"?—I believe those were the words he said to me.

23,429. And, moreover, that is the paper (handing a paper to witness)?—Yes, I believe that is it.

23,430. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you read it?—Yes.

23,431. You can read it, but not write; you put a cross to it?—Yes.

23,432. Who wrote it?—I cannot tell.

23,433. Was it written before you saw it?—Yes, before I saw it.

23,434. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had he spoken to you before?—Yes.

23,435. (The Chief Commissioner.) How long before?—About three months before.

23,436. He asked you to do what you could for Mr. Monson?—He called to me and said, "I will give you "2l. 10s. now and the other when it is over." I said I would not have anything to do with it.

23,437. What other?—I suppose he meant the other 2l. 10s. to make up 5l.

23,438. Did you say that you would have nothing to do with it because you did not think a fiver enough?—It was quite enough for me.

23,439. You did get more. It comes to our mind that you refused the fiver because it was not enough; you refused the fiver first, and you took eight sovereigns. To our ordinary minds that looks as if you refused a fiver because it was not enough?—Had he asked me whether I had pledged my word, I should have told him I had, but he did not ask me; he said, "What do you want?"

23,440. Is not that pledging your word, receiving the money from him? He said, "Do all you can to "promote Mr. Monson's return." You voted for him, of course?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

23,441. Was that the only time when you had seen Mr. Nichols, the time when you got 2l. 10s., and he promised you 2l. 10s. more?—That is the only time that ever Mr. Nichols spoke to me at all.

23,442. Did you tell him at that time that you had been canvassed by Mr. Mulley, and that Mr. Mulley did not appear to be inclined to be very liberal ?—No.

23,443. Did you say anything about Mr. Mulley ?—No.

23,444. Did you say you had been canvassed and had promised to vote for Mr. Gower ?—No, he did not ask me.

23,445. And you did not tell him. Did you receive any more from Mr. Mulley than the 2*l.* ?—No.

23,446. Not any more from Mr. Mulley ?—No.

23,447. Then, you see, your price was a "tenner," and you got it ?—But I did not expect any from the other side.

23,448. What is the other side ?—Mr. Gower's side.

23,449. And therefore you voted for him ?—I voted for him.

23,450. Because you did not expect anything from him ?—I was not told I should get anything, only if I worked, and then I should be paid.

23,451. You had a vote in 1863 ?—No.

23,452. This was your first vote ?—Yes, and I do not care if I never have another. I do not want to be tampered with.

23,453. Not tampered with ? Do you mean the 8*l.* ?—Yes.

23,454. Did you yourself get votes for Mr. Monson ?—I cannot say.

23,455. Did you try ?—Yes.

23,456. You tried to get votes for him ?—I asked several persons.

23,457. For Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

23,458. Did they ask you which way you were going to vote ?—No.

23,459. Do you pay 5*s.* 6*d.* a week still for your house ?—Yes.

23,460. You have got a vote now ?—Yes.

23,461. You are upon the register ?—Yes.

23,462. Did you also at the same time canvass to some extent for Mr. Gower ?—No.

23,463. Did you not canvass a little for Mr. Gower, exactly in the same proportion which 2*l.* bears to 8*l.*'s worth for Mr. Monson ? As my friend says, canvass every fourth man for Mr. Gower ?—No.

23,464. Did not Mr. Mulley, when you asked him for money, say anything about the Monson party ?—No.

23,465. Did you tell him, "Well, 2*l.* is not much, "but to be sure as I do not do all for you it is not so "bad," or anything like that ?—No.

23,466. Did Mr. Mulley throw it in your face that you had been working for the Monson party ?—No.

23,467. Do you not think you would have got more money from Mulley if you had not worked for Mr. Monson ?—I do not know. I am sure I did not expect anything from him.

23,468. Did he tell you to do work if anything was going ?—I did not work for him at all, and I did not expect anything.

23,469. You know that other people did not do work and got something; you know that ?—Yes.

23,470. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did Mr. Mulley come to you, or did you go to Mr. Mulley, when the 2*l.* was given ?—I went out in the street.

23,471. But you went to Mr. Mulley ?—He told me I could have 1*l.* or 2*l.* if I wanted.

23,472. After the election was over, about three months after, did you go to Mr. Mulley for the money, or did Mr. Mulley come to you ?—Neither. I neither went to Mr. Mulley nor did he come to me. I met him in the street, and he said if I wanted 1*l.* or 2*l.* I could have it. He gave one of my neighbours 2*l.*

23,473. What name ?—Jim Smith.

23,474. Did Mr. Mulley come up to you in the street, or did you go up to him ? You saw Mr. Mulley coming down the street ?—Mr. Mulley told me that if I wanted 1*l.* I could have it, and I told him I did not want it.

23,475. Who accosted the other first ?—He accosted me.

23,476. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not want any ?—I did not want anything just then.

23,477. You say "just then" ?—Yes, that was a month or six weeks after the election.

23,478. Who spoke first ?—Mr. Mulley did, and I told him I did not want anything.

23,479. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you working for Mr. Bonny at that time ?—Yes.

23,480. As a workman ?—Yes.

23,481. Is he a master tailor ?—Yes.

23,482. Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Bonny about the election before you saw Mr. Nichols ?—No, I never had any conversation with him at all.

23,483. Had you before you spoke to Mr. Nichols a conversation with Mr. Bonny ?—No.

23,484. Do you remember Mr. Bonny talking to you; I was wrong in calling it a conversation, but he told you you might do yourself some good ?—No.

23,485. Do you remember Mr. Bonny talking to you ?—He said nothing to me about the election.

23,486. I will ask you in plain English, was not Mr. Bonny aware that you were going to talk to Mr. Nichols ?—No.

23,487. Was not Mr. Bonny aware after you had talked to Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

23,488. That you got the 8*l.* ?—Yes.

23,489. You told him ?—Certainly I did.

23,490. What time in the day was it you saw Mr. Nichols; in the evening ?—No, the afternoon.

23,491. After work ?—I was not working at all.

23,492. Do you remember whether you worked the next day ?—No, I do not.

23,493. The next time when you saw Mr. Bonny did you tell him what happened ?—Yes, I told him I had got 8*l.* from Mr. Nichols, and he laughed.

23,494. Did he say that makes 10*l.* ?—No.

23,495. He knew you had been canvassed by Mr. Mulley ?—No.

23,496. Then you only told him half the story ?—That was all I told him.

23,497. Which way did Mr. Bonny vote ?—I am sure I do not know, but I believe he voted for Mr. Gower.

23,498. There is a Frederick Bonny ?—Yes.

23,499. He has not been called; is he a voter ?—Yes.

23,500. Have you anything else to tell me ?—No.

23,501. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you voted for Mr. Gower out of fun; would you wish that to be recorded ?—I did not vote for Mr. Gower from fun at all.

23,502. You said so ?—If I said so, I beg to recall it.

23,503. What did you vote for Mr. Gower for ?—Because I thought he was the best man of the two, and I considered he was an illused man.

23,504. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you consider Mr. Gower was an ill used man while you were canvassing for Mr. Monson ?—Yes, and other people told me so.

23,505. Did you know that Mr. Gower had been an illused man when you received the 8*l.* from Mr. Nichols; just answer that, please ?—I did not know that he had been an illused man, not just then.

23,506. Was it because you considered Mr. Gower an illused man that you therefore received 8*l.* to go

FIFTEENTH DAY.

J. Atkinson.

against him?—I worked for him till I was insulted.

23,507. You canvassed for Mr. Monson, do you call that working for Mr. Gower? You do not like to answer the question, or give an explanation.—I do not understand it.

The witness withdrew.

William Henry Smith sworn and examined.

W. H. Smith.

23,508. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—An engine driver.

23,509. On the South-eastern railway?—Yes.

23,510. Are your wages 7*s.* a day?—Yes.

23,511. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* 6*d.* now.

23,512. You say now you pay 6*s.* 6*d.*; now what did you pay for rent at the time of the election?—I paid 6*s.* a week when I voted.

23,513. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted at the last election for Mr. Monson I suppose?—Yes.

23,514. Were you asked to vote for Mr. Monson by Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

23,515. Was he the first who asked you?—No, I do not think he was, there was an arrangement I think.

23,516. There was an arrangement between all you men upon the line?—Between most of them.

23,517. Was Mr. Shepherd the first person who spoke to you about the arrangement?—I cannot recollect that he was, it was a topic that was talked of.

23,518. What was Mr. Shepherd's engagement?—That we should have 30*s.* a week.

23,519. All the men had agreed together to have 30*s.* a week, had they not?—Yes, most of them.

23,520. And you wanted to be paid, afterwards, for polling and nomination day?—Not that I know of.

23,521. But it was talked about?—Yes, but I think it was not decided.

23,522. You did get the 30*s.* a week up to the Saturday before the election?—Yes, for three weeks.

23,523. You got paid 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

23,524. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you?—Mr. Shepherd.

23,525. What was Mr. Shepherd?—He was a gas-fitter at the station; he had charge of the gas and signals.

23,526. How lately has he been at work there?—He left a short time after the election, but I cannot say exactly when.

23,527. Do you know where he went to?—He has been working at Redhill.

23,528. Have you seen him lately?—No.

23,529. Have you seen him within this last fortnight?—No.

23,530. Has he any relations here?—Not that I am aware of.

23,531. Is he a married man?—Yes.

23,532. With a family?—Yes, he has got a family.

23,533. Do you know where he went to work after he left Redhill?—No, I do not know, I do not know that he has removed from Redhill; I think his wife and family are at Redhill now.

23,534. Did you vote in 1863?—No.

23,535. Did you vote at any previous election?—No.

23,536. This is your first election?—Yes.

23,537. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you mean to say you do not know where Shepherd is now?—No, I do not know where he is.

23,538. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did he leave the company's service?—I do not know.

23,539. When did you see him last?—I do not think I have seen him above twice or three times since the election.

23,540. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you heard it said where he is?—I have heard people say that he is at work somewhere.

23,541. Who did you hear mention he was at work somewhere?—I cannot recollect.

23,542. Who is it that told you that he was at work somewhere?—I cannot say.

23,543. Was it one of your fellow workmen?—It must have been.

23,544. Who was it?—I do not know, I talk to so many of them that I really cannot say.

23,545. Did they tell you where he was?—I heard somebody say that he was out at work every week.

23,546. Where did you hear he went to work?—I did not hear where it was, I heard that he was away every week.

23,547. Away from where?—From Redhill.

23,548. Then does he return every week?—I suppose so.

23,549. He returns to his wife?—Yes.

23,550. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is Mr. Shepherd a voter?—Yes.

23,551. Have you heard within this last week or fortnight that he has changed his work?—No.

23,552. You said that you did not know where he is; do you mean that you know somebody who does?—No, I cannot say that; perhaps his wife might know where he is.

23,553. Do you know whether he has sons here?—No; they are very small if they are here.

23,554. That is what I was going to ask you?—He has but a young family.

23,555. Was he in the employ of the South-eastern railway?—He was at the time of the election.

23,556. Is he now?—I do not know.

23,557. You do not know whether he is on the railway?—No.

23,558. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose he is only a labouring man?—He is a mechanic.

23,559. He is not working on his own account as a master man?—He was not at the time of the election.

23,560. Do you know whether he was at Messrs. Maynard and Wilkinson's some time after the election?—Yes.

23,561. Have you heard whether he was at work for them lately?—No.

The witness withdrew.

George Isard sworn and examined.

G. Isard.

23,562. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—An engine driver.

23,563. Your wages are 7*s.* a day I suppose?—No, 5*s.* 6*d.* now.

23,564. What was your rent?—13*l.* a year for the house I was living in then.

23,565. I did not catch what you received for wages [illegible]y at the time of the election, 5*s.* 6*d.* n[illegible]

[illegible]you aware of the arrangement Mr. [illegible]with the railway men?—No.

23,567. Who spoke to you about voting?—Nobody.

23,568. Did you vote?—Yes.

23,569. For whom?—Mr. Richardson.

23,570. I suppose you had made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson?—I had till I was away at Reading that morning.

23,571. Who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Nobody.

23,572. Somebody did?—No.

23,573. Who canvassed you?—Both Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower; but I never saw them.

23,574. Did you not know Mr. Shepherd?—Know him?

23,575. Did you not have any conversation with him about voting for Mr. Monson?—None whatever.

23,576. What money did you receive?—From whom?

23,577. From Mr. Shepherd, or anybody?—Why, none at all with regard to the election.

23,578. You say you received no money at all?—No.

23,579. Who paid you to vote for Mr. Richardson instead of Mr. Monson?—Nobody.

23,580. You had made up your mind at once for Mr. Monson?—Yes; but when I saw the state of the poll, I thought I would vote for Mr. Richardson.

23,581. Was that because he had none at all, or scarcely any voters?—No; it was because I knew Mr. Richardson. I had known him many years.

23,582. You knew that he was not going to be returned?—Yes, I knew that.

23,583. Why did you vote for him when you had promised to vote for Mr. Monson?—I had no particular reason.

23,584. Who asked you to vote?—Nobody.

23,585. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who told you to vote?—Nobody.

23,586. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were with your engine that day at Reading?—Yes.

23,587. What time did you get back to Redhill?—Two o'clock.

23,588. You voted at Redhill, I suppose?—Yes.

23,589. Do you mean to tell me that you voted for Mr. Richardson without anybody speaking to you about it?—Yes, I do.

23,590. Did you go from Redhill in the morning?—Yes.

23,591. Then you thought it was only Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower?—No, I knew over night that Mr. Richardson was nominated.

23,592. You knew over night, did you?—Yes.

23,593. Were you at the nomination?—No.

23,594. Who told you over night that Mr. Richardson was nominated?—I could see the bills about, and some of the workmen told me.

23,595. Did you not know that several of the men were to receive money for voting for Mr. Monson?—No, I did not.

23,596. You never heard of it?—No.

23,597. Do you mean to say that?—I am upon my oath.

23,598. It was disclosed here two or three days ago; do you mean to say that you never heard it up to this week?—No, I did not.

23,599. You never heard amongst the men that they had received 4*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

23,600. You had no suspicion that any of them received money?—I had no suspicion whatever.

23,601. You intended to vote for Mr. Monson up to the time that Mr. Richardson was nominated?—Yes.

23,602. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who was the man who works with you on your engine?—I have had so many since then.

23,603. I mean at the time of the election?—I was a fireman then.

23,604. Who was the man you were working with?—Wilson Bates, who was examined yesterday.

23,605. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were a fireman at that time, receiving 1*l.* per week, and Bates was the engine driver?—Yes.

23,606. When did you ascertain that Mr. Richardson was to be put up as a candidate, a kind of sham candidate?—I did not know that he was to be nominated until after he was nominated.

23,607. And then you came and voted for him?—Yes.

23,608. Did you tell any one on the morning you went away that you would be back in time enough to vote?—No, it was uncertain; it is always uncertain whether we can be back again when we once go away.

23,609. You intended to vote for Mr. Monson?—I intended to vote for Mr. Monson.

23,610. How was it that Bates was not back in time?—He was back in time. He did not vote. I suppose he had his own reason, I do not know.

23,611. Bates, the engine driver, did not vote at all?—No.

23,612. Did you apply for any money?—No.

23,613. I have no right to doubt your word; I take it that you did not receive anything at all?—No money whatever.

23,614. You were not a party to that arrangement that was made?—No.

23,615. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know Shepherd?—Yes, I knew him.

23,616. Have you seen him lately?—I have not seen him for a month or more I should say.

23,617. Do you know where he is?—No.

23,618. Have you heard?—No.

23,619. Has it ever been mentioned to you about where he is?—No.

23,620. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you know Bates was not going to vote just before the election?—Yes, he told me he would not vote at all.

23,621. Did he give you any advice about it?—None whatever.

23,622. I do not mean whom to vote for; but did he say that it was best not to vote?—No.

23,623. How did he come to tell you that he would not vote?—We were talking about it, and he said that he would not vote at all.

23,624. Did he ask you how you would vote?—No, he is a man who says very little about those things.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM WALKER sworn and examined. W. Walker.

23,625. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A ticket inspector; I was a ticket collector at the time of the election.

23,626. What rent do you pay?—5*s.* a week.

23,627. At the last election, in 1865, who did you vote for?—I had not got a vote then, through the negligence of the overseers I suppose, though I was entitled, and had been for two years, but I find now my name is on the register.

23,628. Then in '65 you did not vote for any one?—No.

23,629. Nor in '63?—No, I have never voted at all.

23,630. You knew the railway men?—Yes, I knew the principal of them.

23,631. You knew Shepherd?—Yes, I knew him very well before; in fact before he came to Redhill.

23,632. Where did you know him before?—I knew him at Folkestone; at Redhill he was the foreman of the gasfitters and plumbers, at the Redhill station I mean, they have a district to go over.

23,633. He was exclusively in the railway employ?—Yes.

23,634. How long did he remain in their employ after the election?—I cannot tell exactly.

23,635. Was it a twelvemonth?—I do not know exactly, but I think I might say 12 months.

23,636. You think he continued about 12 months?—Yes, I think I might say 12 months.

23,637. Did he leave the service of the railway, or proceed to another station?—I believe he left the railway with the intention of going into business with a person of the name of Clarke.

23,638. Perhaps you can tell whether he did or no?—I have no information, but from what I heard I think he did.

23,639. Where did he set up in business first,

FIFTEENTH DAY.

W. Walker.

7 Sept. 1866.

Clarke, where did you hear that, whether correctly or not?—I should say at Mr. Clarke's house.

23,640. Where is that?—Brighton-road, they call it, Redhill.

23,641. How long did he continue with Clarke?—I do not know, sir.

23,642. How long did the partnership with Clarke continue?—I do not know.

23,643. Do you know whether it still continues?—I believe not.

23,644. What makes you think the partnership is now over?—From a remark I heard Mr. Clarke make.

23,645. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was it recently, a day or two ago?—No; I should say it was two months ago.

23,646. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you really think from what you heard it is so?—Yes, for I know he has been working for Maynard and Wilkinson.

23,647. Down in Sussex?—Yes, sir, it was on the Mid-Sussex line. I could almost call it to mind, for I one day wrote a letter in order to pass some luggage they wanted there; the superintendent of the station sent it down; there were three or four parcels, and I saw he went with them; I think they were for Maynard and Wilkinson.

23,648. Have you heard he has left their firm?—I should think he is still in the employ of Maynard and Wilkinson.

23,649. About how long ago was that matter of the luggage?—Six or eight weeks, perhaps more, but I am not sure; say two months.

23,650. Have you heard he was there the last week?—No, but to the best of my knowledge I saw him a month ago in the High-street at Redhill, and I said "John, how are you going on," and he said, "Very well."

23,651. I suppose that was on Sunday, when he was coming home to his wife?—I think it was on a Saturday evening.

23,652. He may, perhaps, have been coming home to his wife; can you give us any information where he is now?—I have not heard, but for anything I know, I should say he was in Redhill still, when he is at home and not in work.

23,653. Have you seen his wife there?—I do not know his wife.

J. Nye.

JAMES NYE sworn and examined.

23,654. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Nye?—A labourer.

23,655. On the railway?—Yes.

23,656. As a platelayer?—Yes.

23,657. What wages do you get?—3*s.* a day.

23,658. What rented house did you occupy at the time of the election?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

23,659. Did you receive any money from Shepherd?—Yes.

23,660. How much?—I had 30*s.* a week for three weeks.

23,661. Then you received the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

23,662. Was that the Saturday before the election?—Yes.

23,663. Do you know of its having been talked about, the asking for more money?—No, I do not.

23,664. You were not one of the party?—No.

23,665. I suppose you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

23,666. Was it Shepherd who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Nobody ever asked me.

23,667. How then did you come to be acquainted with this arrangement, that you were to have 30*s.* a week?—Shepherd asked me to have my name put down, and he gave me 30*s.* a week, but he did not ask me to vote for Mr. Monson.

23,668. You knew the 30*s.* a week was that you should vote for Mr. Monson?—I supposed so.

22,669. I don't suppose you know this person Shepherd?—I know him, but I have not seen him lately.

23,670. Or heard where he is?—No.

23,671. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you told to attend the committees by Shepherd?—No.

23,672. Did you do anything, or told to do anything?—No.

23,673. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You went somewhere and got some refreshment?—I cannot say I did not.

23,674. With Shepherd?—No.

23,675. Or where Shepherd was?—No.

23,676. Where did you go?—I went once to Mr. Langridge's.

23,677. Only once?—Yes.

23,678. You did not pay for it?—Somebody gave me some, but I do not know who it was.

23,679. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was this your first election?—Yes.

J. Lane.

JOHN LANE sworn and examined.

23,680. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

23,681. What rent do you pay for your house?—I live in my own.

23,682. What is the value of it if you were to rent it?—I do not know the value of it, but I suppose I should have 5*s.* or 6*s.* a week to pay if I rented one like it.

23,683. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

23,684. Who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson himself.

23,685. Who else?—Richardson came with him.

23,686. Who else?—There was not any one else came with him.

23,687. Who was it came after Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson came to you?—There was no one came on Mr. Monson's part.

23,688. Were you not put on the committee?—Not that I am aware of, I never saw my name on it.

23,689. Did you attend any committees?—Yes, I attended one.

23,690. Where?—At the "White Hart."

23,691. Who took you there?—Joseph Hewett, he told me there would be a meeting at the "White Hart."

23,692. He is not a railway man?—No, he is not a railway man.

23,693. What time did you poll for Mr. Monson?—In the forenoon.

23,694. Did you receive anything?—I received 30*s.* from Joseph Hewett.

23,695. He gave you 30*s.*?—Yes, I was to have 30*s.* a week.

23,696. (The Chief Commissioner.) He said he would give you 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

23,697. Joseph Hewett said so?—Yes, I suppose that was the arrangement between them.

23,698. Who with?—Hewett and those who promised him.

29,699. What did he pay you?—15*s.* the first week and 15*s.* the next.

23,700. That is all he paid you altogether?—Yes.

23,701. Did you apply to him before you voted for the remainder?—No.

23,702. Why did you not apply?—I did not apply to him.

23,703. To whom did you apply?—I had my orders to go to the "Plough" at the Redhill, the night of the election and it would be paid.

23,704. You got your 3*l.* 10*s.* there ?—Yes.

23,705. Who from ?—Richard Peat.

23,706. You say you were canvassed on the part of Mr. Gower ; at least I think so ?—Mr. Gower came himself and Mr. Smith.

23,707. Never mind those ; did anybody else come ? Yes, Buckland and Apted.

23,708. Did they ask you to vote for Mr. Gower ? —Yes.

23,709. What did they say when they asked you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know what they said, but they asked me to vote for Mr. Gower.

23,710. What did they say they would give you ?— They did not say they would give me anything.

23,711. Was that after you had arranged with Hewett that they came to you, or before ?—It was before.

23,712. I suppose you told them you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—No, I did not tell them who I should vote for.

23,713. You told them you had not made up your mind ?—I had made up my mind to vote for Mr. Monson, but I had not made up my mind to satisfy them. I told th em I had not.

23,714. Did they tell you that your name would be placed on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No, not that I am aware of.

23,715. Just recollect, you had not made up your mind ?—No, I do not know that they said anything about my name being on the committee.

23,716. Did you never get any money at all on the Gower side ?—No, none at all ; I was not promised any.

23,717. Did you apply for any ?—No.

23,718. Had you voted at the last election for 1863 ?—No.

23,719. Was this the first time you ever had a vote ?—Yes.

23,720. I suppose you saw a good many people at the "Plough" when Mr. Read was paying out the money ?—I saw eight, or nine, or a dozen ; I never counted them.

23,721. You all received your money ?—I received my money, and I was very well satisfied.

23,722. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And I suppose you are quite ready to do the same again ?—Well, I do not think I should.

23,723. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) A higher fee perhaps ?—No, I would have no more of it.

RICHARD ASHDOWN sworn and examined. R. Ashdown.

23,724. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ? —A bricklayer.

23,725. What rent do you pay ?—4*s.* 6*d.*

23,726. A week ? Are you a journeyman bricklayer or a master ?—Journeyman.

23,727. Whom did you vote for at the last election ? —Monson.

23,728. Who asked you to vote for Monson ?—Holdsworth.

23,729. Where was he when he asked you to vote for Monson ?—At his own residence.

23,730. At his home ?—Yes.

23,731. And when was this, do you recollect; about what time before the election ?—About five or six weeks before the election.

23,732. Oh, as much as that ?—Yes.

23,733. A good while then. What did he say to you ; perhaps you will tell me what passed between you, will you. Did he send for you to the house ?—Oh, no, he did not send for me.

23,734. Are you often there ?—I am often there. I was working for him.

23,735. Be so good as to tell me what passed ?— He asked me which way I was going to vote, whether I was going to vote for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower, and I told him I was going to vote for Mr. Monson.

23,736. Well, but that was not much ?—No, it was not.

23,737. What else passed ? — That is all that passed ; I decided at once upon it.

23,738. Decided, you mean, whom would you vote for ?—Yes.

23,739. Well, what reason had you for deciding so soon ?—Well, I soon decided which way ; which I would do.

23,740. Yes, I know you did ; but what made you decide so quick, I am aware you did it, but what made you decide so quick ?—Well, I had no particular reason for it.

23,741. Had you no reason at all ?—No.

23,742. Then why didn't you vote for Gower ?—I did not vote for him the election before.

23,743. Who else asked you, besides Holdsworth, to vote for Monson ?—No one.

23,744. Did nobody talk to you about it afterwards ? —No.

23,745. About voting for Monson ?—No.

23,746. Did you know what some people were getting for voting for Mr. Monson ?—No, I did not.

23,747. Well, you didn't know, but you heard ?— I heard so many tales.

23,748. Did you hear, among the tales, what was going for the Monson men ?—I did not.

23,749. Well, you heard there was something going for the Monson party ?—No, I did not.

23,750. Well now, you know this was five or six weeks before the election, it was a long time, did you hear afterwards what was going for the Monson party ?—No, I did not.

23,751. Surely before the election came on you recollect having some conversation about doing some work, or something like that, or going on the committee ?—I did not unite with the Gower party at all.

23,752. No, no, Mr. Monson's party ; I will come to Gower's afterwards ; but Mr. Monson's party. Were you put on the committee ?—My name was on the list.

23,753. Well, did you act ?—Certainly, I took a part, encouraged people to go the same way as I did myself.

23,754. Whom did you talk to about it, who told you to do that, Mr. Holdsworth ?—No, no one.

23,755. You said to Holdsworth you would vote for Monson. Did you go to him afterwards and tell him what you were doing ?—No.

23,756. Then you won't agree to that ?—No.

23,757. I must ask you a little more plainly what you were to get for voting for Monson ?—I was to receive a pound a week.

23,758. And this was five weeks before ?—Yes.

23,759. Then you were to receive at least 5*l.* ?— That was it.

23,760. Did you receive the 5*l.* ?—Yes.

23,761. The Saturday before the election, was it ?— No, a week after.

23,762. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did receive it ?—Yes.

23,763. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you? —Holdsworth.

23,764. (The Chief Commissioner.) You received it from Holdsworth. I want now to come to the Gower party. You said you never did anything for the Gower party, did they ask you to do something for them ?— No.

23,765. Nobody ?—No.

23,766. What, none of the people who were acting for Mr. Gower ?—No.

23,767. Didn't they come and talk to you about your vote ?—No ; not to lead me to think that they were going to encourage me to come over that side, because I was determined to vote for Monson.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

R. Ashdown.

7 Sept. 1866.

23,768. No, there was no chance, I dare say; but did they come and ask you to vote for them?—No.

23,769. Didn't they say, "Will you come and work "for us"?—No.

23,770. Did they make you no offer?—No.

23,771. They found you were staunch?—They never made me any offer on that side at all.

23,772. In 1863 you voted for Wilkinson?—Yes.

23,773. Who canvassed then, do you recollect?—Yes.

23,774. Then tell me?—Norman Wilkinson.

22,775. And did you go on the committee that time?—I did not.

23,776. Did you work and canvass? Did you do what you could, I mean for that side?—I did nothing at all.

23,777. What did you get that year?—2*l.*

23,778. Not more?—A pound for nomination day and a pound for polling day.

23,779. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid it?—Frederick Joyes.

23,780. (The Chief Commissioner.) Frederick Joyes paid it. Well, was that all you got?—That is all.

22781. Was there any attempt made on you by the Gower party that election?—None at all.

23,782. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who told you you would be paid for the nomination day and the polling day?—Who told me I was to be paid for it?

23,783. Yes?—Mr. Joyes himself.

23,784. Before you voted?—Yes; two days' work.

23,785. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you voted?—Yes.

23,786. Had you asked him?—I had not.

23,787. You had not asked him whether you soould be paid?—No.

23,788. But he volunteered payment?—Yes.

23,789. He volunteered the promise without your asking?—He did.

23,790. Was that the only election you had voted at?—That was the only one.

The witness withdrew.

C. Bennett.

CHARLES BENNETT sworn and examined.

23,791. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A house painter.

23,792. What rent did you pay at the time of the election?—11*l.* per year.

23,793. Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

23,794. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

23,795. Who placed you on his committee?—Well, I gave my name in myself voluntarily to go on his committee at one of his meetings.

23,796. Just so; at one of his meetings. Then that was, I suppose, at one of the early meetings?—Some five weeks previous to the election.

23,797. Was Mr. Nichols at the meeting?—I think he was.

23,798. Where was the meeting held?—It was at a house in Mead-vale.

23,799. In Mead-vale?—Yes.

23,800. Do you recollect the name?—I do not.

23,801. Who was acting there for Mr. Monson, to whom you gave your name?—Mr. Hart, the agent.

23,802. Oh, Mr. Hart?—Yes.

23,803. Then did you give your name to Mr. Hart?—Yes, I believe he took it down. I volunteered to go on his committee.

23,804. Just so. Then did you work for Mr. Monson?—Yes, I did.

23,805. Did you work much?—I canvassed part of the borough with Mr. Monson himself.

23,806. To whom did you report progress of your exertions?—At the general committee meetings whenever they were held.

23,807. Yes, to whom?—Sometimes Mr. Richardson.

23,808. Yes. Mr. Hart?—Mr. Hart.

23,809. Mr. Nichols?—Not Mr. Nichols generally.

23,810. But you had reported to Mr. Nichols at times?—Well, yes, we had reported some of our canvassing to Mr. Nichols.

23,811. Then when you reported to Mr. Nichols did you report to him at the "Grapes"?—No, if he happened to be at the committee meetings; there were circulars sent out.

23,812. I suppose you had spoken to Mr. Nichols when he was at the "Grapes"?—Oh, yes.

23,813. You had been there?—Yes.

23,814. And received monies from Mr. Nichols to work with?—No.

23,815. What?—No.

23,816. Not any?—Not one halfpenny.

23,817. Did you receive monies from anybody to work with, or for work?—No, not till after the election.

23,818. Ah, just so. Then what did you receive after the election?—I received 2*l.* from Mr. James Nichols as compensation for my services.

23,819. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When?—Some six weeks after the election.

23,820. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ask him for it?—No.

23,821. Then you volunteered your services, and he volunteered the 2*l.*?—Entirely, I did.

23,822. And he volunteered the 2*l.* entirely?—Yes. I canvassed part of the borough with Mr. Monson, and attended committee meetings; and for my services he gave me 2*l.* I consider my services fully worth it.

23,823. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) More, I dare say?—Well, I think they were for two or three weeks.

23,824. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was anything said before the election about remuneration?—No.

23,825. In your canvassing did you never offer any person in the borough money?—No.

23,826. Not one?—Not one.

23,827. Were you successful?—We canvassed part of the borough a good way from home. Some had promised, and some had not; some were out, and some were going to vote for Mr. Gower.

23,828. Did you get any promise for Mr. Monson?—Not decided promises. It was before the election some time, and they would not promise.

23,829. You found them all very coy; they would not promise?—Yes.

23,830. Perhaps they did not promise because you did not offer anything?—I cannot say how that might be. I offered nothing.

23,831. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you a canvassing book?—I had a register; a printed register.

23,832. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you marked on that printed register the result of your——?—Of our canvass.

23,833. And you handed it into the committee I suppose?—Yes. I went through the register with Mr. Nichols.

23,834. You have not got a copy of it?—No, I think it is destroyed. He told me he pulled it all to pieces. He did not consider it of much value.

23,835. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you talked to by Mr. Gower's party before the election come on?—I was canvassed by Mr. Gower and Mr. Dann for my vote.

23,836. No doubt. I meant more than that. That was early, I suppose?—Yes, some five or six weeks before the election.

23,837. He called on everybody pretty nearly, but after that were you asked by some of Mr. Gower's party to help them?—No.

23,838. I am not asking you whether you did it?—No, I did not.

23,839. It is no imputation on a man to say that he is asked?—No, I promised my vote some four or five weeks before the election.

23,840. But did he come to you? Do you recollect anybody coming to you?—No. Nobody induced me to vote for him.

23,841. During the progress of the election, before it came on, didn't you get asked by somebody to give your services to Mr. Gower's side?—No, they did not in any direct manner at all.

23,842. No, I never said in any direct manner; but I mean in an indirect manner. There are plenty of ways. You understand these things as well as I do?—No, I was only canvassed once by Mr. Gower and Mr. Dann.

23,843. But then, I observe that canvassing has a particular meaning. I mean asked for your services, your assistance. You say, "not in any direct manner," but I want to know in what indirect manner were you asked. I wish you would tell me?—Well, I was not asked for my services.

23,844. In what way were you not asked for your services? I want to know how it was done. Whom did you see belonging to the Gower party?—I saw many of the voters.

23,845. Well, and who talked to you about it?—There was no one talked to me about it, only the canvassing by Mr. Gower and Mr. Dann.

23,846. Never mind the canvassing by Mr. Gower and Mr. Dann; but who talked to you about the election on the Gower side?—Well, I do not know. Hardly any one talked to me about it. Mr. Joyes spoke to me about it.

23,847. Frederick Joyes?—No, William Joyes.

23,848. Is William a brother of Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

23,849. What did he say?—He asked me if I had promised my vote; and as near as I can recollect I told him I had, and I should vote for Monson; and there was no more passed between him and me.

23,850. You went round canvassing. Were you given money to pay some of the voters?—No.

23,851. Did any money pass through your hands?—No, not one halfpenny.

23,852. None from Nichols, or Mr. Hart, or anybody?—No.

23,853. You are sure of that?—I am certain of it, on my oath.

23,854. Were you requested to pay any money to any person mentioned?—I was not.

23,855. When you found anybody were you told to come and report about them, and get money for them?—No, I was not.

23,856. Now, had you voted in 1863?—No, I was not on the register.

23,857. Never voted before?—No.

23,858. Now, do you consider you have told us everything that I am likely to wish to know about the election?—Everything as far as I was connected with it.

23,859–60. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is there anything which you can tell the Commissioners generally about the election which you know?—Nothing.

23,861. About the mode in which it was conducted on either side?—No, I took no further part in it.

23,862. I don't mean to say as to your part; but as you moved about?—No, nothing in particular. Nothing more than what occurs upon an election.

23,863. Nothing in your mind out of the common way?—No.

23,864. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you to say, Mr. Bennett, that you did not expect anything at all?—No, I did not say I did not expect anything.

23,865. Oh, I beg your pardon. I understood you to say that. You said you volunteered, did you not?—Yes, I did.

23,866. Then you did expect something?—Well, I volunteered my services in Mr. Monson's cause, and after I had been engaged I canvassed part of the borough with him. I spent three or four weeks, and I did expect there would be some remuneration for it.

23,867. Then you did it for remuneration? I do not say there is any harm in it; but you did expect to be paid for it?—Yes, I did expect some remuneration for my services three or four weeks.

23,868. And Mr. Nichols paid you some time after?—Yes.

23,869. Did you apply to anybody for payment?—No. In conversation with Mr. Nichols I told him I had spent a good many shillings out of my pocket for the cause; but if there was nothing to come for it I would be content.

23,870. Then he gave you the 2*l.*?—No, he did not give it to me then; two weeks after. He said, "I "dare say there will be some compensation for you for "your services." These were the words that passed between him and me.

The witness withdrew.

EDWARD ANSCOMBE sworn and examined.

E. Anscombe.

23,871. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A painter and glazier.

23,872. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—13*l.* a year.

23,873. You voted at the last election, did you?—Yes.

23,874. For whom?—Mr. Monson.

28,875. To whom did you promise to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not promise any one particularly.

23,876. But I mean who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Nichols spoke to me; asked me if I would have my name on the committee.

23,877. How soon before the election?—Why, it was quite the beginning of the election; very early.

23,878. About five or six weeks before the election?—Yes, quite that.

23,879. And you told him you would, I suppose?—I denied having my name down.

23,880. You refused him?—Yes.

23,881. Did he speak to you again?—No, he never said another word to me about it.

23,882. But your name was down on the committee?—I believe not, I never saw it.

23,883. Did you ever attend any meeting?—Yes

23,884. A committee meeting?—Yes.

23,885. And did you work for Mr. Monson?—I canvassed with him.

23,886. And of course canvassed for him?—Yes, for him; only with Mr. Monson.

23,887. How many days were you canvassing with Mr. Monson?—One day. Once I went with Mr. Monson.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

E. Anscombe.

7 Sept. 1366.

23,888. Did you go more than one day?—Not with Mr. Monson.

23,889. But you went with others canvassing, did you?—No.

23,890. How many days altogether did you lose?—Never lost any time. This was a Saturday afternoon. We leave off at 4 o'clock, and I was to meet Mr. Monson at the "White Hart" soon after 4; as soon as I could after 4; between 4 and 5.

23,891. Who told you to go and meet him?—I was at a meeting at Mr. Toplis's at Redhill, and I was standing on the landing at the top of the stairs, and it was rather late. I should think it was 10 o'clock in the evening; and Mr. Monson, he was standing there too; he was just about to leave the room, and Mr. Richardson stepped back to speak to some one in the room; and I said to Mr. Monson, I says, "Do you think you "think you have canvassed sufficient"? and he says to me, "Is there some one you think that I have not "seen"? I says, "I can't find any one in our neigh-"bourhood that you have seen." "Well," he says, "I should be very glad to see them if some one would "go with me," and I said I would go with him, and Mr. Bennett said he would go with him. So we two went in the afternoon on the Saturday with Mr. Monson.

23,892. And were, I dare say, very successful in getting?—Not very; we were rather too late.

23,893. Oh, they were taken up, were they?—Yes. We should have had a promise or two if we had been a little earlier, but we were just too late.

23,894. You got no promise at all then?—Well, "favourable;" stood favourable some did, and some had partly promised; did not know whether they should vote for us or not.

23,895. What did you do besides for Mr. Monson? That was associating with him. Did you canvass besides; your friends?—No.

23,896. Didn't you speak to your friends about him?—No.

23,897. Did you get anything before the election at all?—Not at all.

23,898. Not at all?—No.

23,899. Not anything before the election?—No.

23,900. Anything after the election?—Yes.

23,901. From whom?—From Mr. Corderoy.

23,902. Where?—At his house.

23,903. Corderoy's house?—Yes.

23,904. Was he canvassing?—He was canvassing, I believe.

23,905. Did he send for you?—No.

23,906. How did you go there?—I was walking down the road some few days after the election. He lives by the side of the road. I was not going a mile round to go past his house.

23,907. He called you in, I suppose? He saw you?—He saw me, and he called me in, and he asked me what would satisfy me for my services. I said, "I "will leave it to you; I will make no price at all." I said, "I don't particular want anything;" and he says, "Will 10*s.* satisfy you?" I says, "Yes;" and he gave me 10*s.*

23,908. Only 10*s.*?—That is all.

23,909. That, you say, you did not expect, even?—I did not expect it. It was some few days after the election. I did not care a pin whether I had it or not.

23,910. Just a compliment like, the 10*s*?—Yes.

23,911. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He did not tell you there would be any more coming, did he?—I said I did not lose any time. I did lose, at my own pleasure, nomination and polling day.

23,912. Did you apply to him again, or did you make any further application?—Not at all.

23,913. To anybody else?—No.

23,914. Was this your first election?—Yes.

23,915. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not see your name among the voters?—It is there. It begins with "A," not "H." It is Lisburn-lane.

23,916. Is that your brother, "John R. Hanscombe"?—No.

23,917. He spells it with an "H."?—Yes, he does. He is no relation of mine.

The witness withdrew.

W. Cook.

William Cook sworn and examined.

23,918. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A builder.

23,919. What rent do you pay?—26*l.* a year.

23,920. You paid that at the time of the election, did you?—Yes.

23,921. Whom did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

23,922. Who canvassed you? Did Mr. Gower himself?—I believe he did.

23,923. Perhaps you had not made up your mind when he called?—When Mr. Gower called?

23,924. Yes?—I had not.

23,925. Well, you made up your mind. Who canvassed you afterwards on his behalf?—I cannot tell you, I do not know who.

23,926. Who was it induced you to vote for Gower?—Myself.

23,927. What induced you to make up your mind? You were in doubt at first and you made up your mind afterwards?—What induced me?

23,928. To vote for Gower?—Nothing at all.

23,929. You were uncertain at first, and at last you made up your mind to vote for Gower. What made you make up your mind?—I cannot say why I did make up my mind.

23,930. I will take that answer. You mean that?—I do. I cannot say what induced me.

29,931. It is rather unusual. When a man makes up his mind for a candidate he generally has some some reason. You say you have none?—Well, I thought Gower was a very good man.

23,932. Whom did you tell you were going to vote for Gower?—Nobody, till I polled.

23,933. Did anybody know whether you were going to vote for Gower?—I do not know.

23,934. They could not have known it unless you told them?—I did not tell them.

23,935. Were you canvassed by the Monson party?—Yes.

23,936. Did Mr. Monson call upon you?—Yes.

23,937. Did you tell him you had not made up your mind?—I did. I told them both the same.

23,938. Did you afterwards get canvassed by somebody belonging to the Monson party?—I may have been. There were many called.

23,939. Who called?—I cannot say who.

23,940. Did you get any money at all before the election?—No.

23,941. Did you receive anything afterwards?—No.

23,942. Not a farthing?—Not a farthing, nor yet a farthing's worth.

23,943. Very well. Did you never receive anything?—Not for elections.

23,944. Well, what was it you received something for then?—Nothing whatever, only in the way of business.

23,945. Never received anything?—Not for the election.

23,946. You mean me to understand that in the fullest sense?—I do; not one farthing, nor a farthing's worth.

23,947. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did any money pass through your hands?—No, only in the way of business.

23,948. (The Chief Commissioner.) What do you mean by "in the way of business"?—Why, in the way of trade. I received money and paid my men.

23,949. What, you mean as a builder?—As a builder. Nothing to do with the election whatever.

23,950. When had you made up your mind to support Mr. Gower did you work a little for him?—No, I did not.

23,951. Did you do any work at all for Mr. Monson?—No.

23,952. Do you recollect receiving a sum of money, not for yourself, but to hand over to another person?—No.

23,953. Not at all?—No.

23,954. Oh, well, I will ask you, do you remember receiving a sum of 5*l.* from somebody?—No.

23,955. Not from any one?—No.

23,956. There must be some mistake about it. Perhaps we have made a mistake about you?—I never had anything to do with the election.

23,957. You never had anything to do with the election?—Not the slightest; only went and polled; and that is all I had to do with it.

23,958. Then I may take that in the strictest sense?

23,959. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you are not William Cook, of Mead-vale?—No. You don't want me any more?

23,960. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Unless you have got anything to inform us?—No, nothing at all. I took no interest in the election, only went and voted.

23,961. You yourself were conducting the election fairly, but perhaps you may have noticed something which struck you as not quite right?—Nothing at all. I never went to any of the meetings; only went on the morning of the polling and polled.

23,962. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You live in Station-road?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS PAVIS sworn and examined. T. Pavis.

23,963. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A boot and shoe maker.

23,964. What rent?—Ten guineas a year.

23,965. Are you a master or a journeyman?—A master.

23,966. Having men under your own employ?—Only occasionally; one now and then.

23,967. Then you have got a shop and you work yourself?—Yes.

23,968. And when you have got extra work you employ?—Yes, I employ a man or two.

23,969. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Richardson.

23,970. It was not your intention to vote for Richardson in the first instance?—Oh, no.

23,971. Had you promised to Monson?—No.

23,972. Not promised anybody for Monson?—I promised neither party, and I did not wish to have anything to do with the election, and I did not intend to vote.

23,973. Well, you had just as little to do with the election as you possibly could by voting for Richardson?—Well, it was by mere accident that I voted for Richardson.

23,974. Will you tell me what the accident was?—I was at work till about a quarter to 4 on the day of the polling, and I came down in the town and saw a friend of mine.

23,975. Who was that?—Mr. Burrell, of the "Yew Tree."

23,976. Now, what took place between you and your friend Burrell?—Oh, we were talking about the election and enjoying the sport that was going on, and he asked me whether I had voted, and I told him, "No;" and he asked me who I was going to vote for and I said, "Nobody;" and he said he should. He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Richardson. I said, "No," at first. Then he said, "Will you go and vote "for Mr. Monson"? and after consideration I said, "Yes;" but when I got to the hall, the public hall, I saw that Mr. Richardson's numbers were so low, that I thought——

23,977. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That you would give him a lift?—I thought the vote would help the figures up a little higher, as the vote would be no good to Mr. Monson.

23,978. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, it would be no use to Mr. Richardson?—Not a bit, but it would make the numbers higher.

23,979. Now, is that really your only reason for voting?—That is the reason, nothing else.

23,980. Then you are a most valuable member of the constituency. Now, did you get paid for that?—No.

23,981. Have you received anything?—No, there was no promise.

23,982. Did nobody pay you after the election?—No, nothing at all.

23,983. Eh?—I tell you I received nothing at all.

23,984. Didn't you apply to Burrell, or Burrell say something to you about being paid for your loss of time?—No, nothing whatever.

23,985. You lost a great deal of valuable time in polling?—Yes, about five minutes, I suppose.

23,986. Well, that was worth something?—Very likely.

23,987. You say you did not get remunerated in any shape or way?—Nothing whatever.

The witness withdrew.

FREDERICK FRANCIS FULLER sworn and examined. F. F. Fuller.

23,988. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A well sinker.

23,989. And what rent do you pay?—I pay 7*l.* a year, but I am rated at 10*l.* 15*s.*

23,990. Then you have a good bargain. How are you rated at 10*l.* 15*s.*? That would be about 12*l.* rental?—Yes, I suppose.

23,991. 13*l.* rental; rated at 10*l.* 15*s.* For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

23,992. Now, who canvassed you, Mr. Fuller?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Nichols.

23,993. Of course they canvassed you, no doubt; but who put you on the committee?—No one. My name was not on the committee.

23,994. But you worked for Mr. Monson, I suppose?—I did.

23,995. And worked hard for him?—I do not know about working hard. I did the best I could.

23,996. You attended meetings?—Yes, I did attend one meeting.

23,997. And you talked to people about him?—Yes.

23,998. What else did you do?—I was out at nights watching, and helped bring voters to the poll.

23,999. How much did you receive?—I had 5*l.* I had no promise. Mr. Nichols made me a present of it the next day. I had no agreement.

24,000. No agreement?—It was only paying me for my labour, what I had done.

24,001. Did you apply to him?—No, he called me into the "White Hart."

24,002. He saw you at the "White Hart"?—He called me in as I passed.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

F. F. Fuller.

7 Sept. 1866.

24,003. He was at the "White Hart" paying his men?—He paid me.

24,004. He paid you five sovereigns?—Yes.

24,005. That was a good pay?—It paid me very well.

24,006. You did nothing but watching?—Yes, I was out several nights watching. I consider I earned what I got.

24,007. How many nights were you out watching?—I was out four or five nights.

24,008. Watching? What were you watching, the stars, or what?—I was looking after the rabbits.

24,009. Looking after the rabbits?—I was looking after the other party.

24,010. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then there was some poaching going on?—I do not know whether it was poaching or what it was.

24,011. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, you were not paid separately for loss of rest?—No.

24,012. We had loss of time; we will put this down as loss of rest. Nichols told you you would be paid for your loss of time?—For my services, what I had done.

24,013. He didn't say any amount?—No; he said he would satisfy me.

24,014. That is a much better word, to be satisfied. How long before the election did he say that?—A fortnight before the election, I believe.

24,015. And were you satisfied?—Yes.

24,016. I believe you have been a voter some time in the borough?—No, this is the first election I voted.

24,017. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you the same person as given on the register as "Frederick Fuller"?—Frederick Francis Fuller.

24,018. Yes, that is your real name; but are you of High-street?—Yes.

24,019. Then you are on the register as "Frederick Fuller" only.

24,020. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But, Mr. Fuller, the other side, I think, had a nibble at you, hadn't they?—Well, they asked me.

24,021. Of course. I knew they would. Who came to you on the other side?—William Joyes came to me.

24,022. I mean before you were landed by Nichols. Nichols landed you, but before that?—No one came to me before that.

24,023. But afterwards?—Yes.

24,024. It was too late then?—Yes.

24,025. What bait did he throw out?—He said he would give me the same as the rest if I would go to work for them. I told them I had promised Mr. Nichols.

24,026. Did he tell you how much the others had?—No.

24,027. But you would be treated as the others were if you went to work?—I suppose so.

24,028. He said so?—Yes.

24,029. Did you know what the figure was?—No.

24,030. But I take it that having promised Mr. Nichols you would not alter?—No, I would not.

24,031. Did you ask him how much was going?—Who?

24,032. Did you ask Joyes?—No, I did not ask him.

24,033. You were friendly with him?—Oh, yes, we always are.

24,034. You did not ask him?—No.

24,035. Did he give you any intimation at all of what was going on the other side?—I had no intimation whatever of what was going on the other side.

24,036. You did not from anybody?—No.

24,037. You did not inquire at all?—I did not inquire.

24,038. And up to the day after the polling you did not know what was going?—I did not know.

24,039. I suppose you thought 5*l.* would be about the thing?—I did not.

24,040. But you had an idea?—No, I had no idea, for I had no agreement with Nichols. He said it would be all straightforward.

24,041. Did you hear at all about a "fiver;" that 5*l.* was going; I do not mean from Joyes?—I did hear that. Mr. Joyes told me 5*l.*, if I recollect.

24,042. That is when he spoke to you about voting?—If I would work for them for a fortnight. He said he did not wish to give it to me without working for it.

24,043. I suppose that, of course, would include the labour of going to the poll?—I suppose so.

24,044. And that was, I suppose, when he canvassed you?—When he canvassed me.

24,045. Did you tell Nichols that at all?—No, I did not. I told Mr. Nichols Mr. Joyes had been to me.

24,046. And spoke of the 5*l.*?—I won't be certain whether I spoke about it or not.

24,047. Oh, yes, you did?—Well, I won't be certain.

24,048. But you might?—Yes.

24,049. I think you did. That accounts for his giving you 5*l.*?—I told Mr. Nichols that Mr. Joyes had been to me, but I am not certain about the 5*l.* He said, "I shall not promise you anything; you "know I have always acted right in what you have "done for me, and if you work for me I will satisfy "you."

24,050. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But you had not voted before at any other election?—No.

24,051. Had you voted in municipal elections?—No. I was not on the list.

24,052. How was that, that he had acted to you before?—For my work.

24,053. He always paid you liberally?—Yes.

24,054. Never quarrelled with your accounts?—No.

24,055. Always paid you what you asked?—He paid me what was fair.

24,056. At all events he said he would satisfy you?—Yes.

24,057. You did not mention the 5*l.*?—No.

24,058. You are very likely to have done so?—I might have done so.

24,059. Then he gave you 5*l.*?—Yes.

24,060. And were you satisfied?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

R. Breeden, jun.

RICHARD BREEDEN, jun., sworn and examined.

24,061. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A plasterer.

24,062. What is your father?—A bricklayer.

24,063. What rent do you pay?—None at all.

24,064. Are you a voter?—Yes.

24,065. What do you vote for?—The house I live in of my own.

24,066. Oh, you are a freeholder. And what is the value by the year?—About 15*l.*

24,067. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

24,068. Did he canvass you?—Yes.

24,069. Did you promise him your vote, or take some time to consider about it?—I considered about it.

24,070. And whom did you tell when you had made up your mind that you would vote for Monson?—No one.

24,071. Well, I suppose people found it out somehow?—Well, I suppose they did by seeing me with the Monson party.

24,072. Whom did you go to of the party to make the confession to in the first instance?—Nobody.

24,073. But before you went about with them they would be rather suspicious of you?—No doubt they were suspicious, because I never promised any party.

24,074. Then you were fair play for both sides?—I never took any interest in it.

24,075. But you went about with the Monson party?—No, I did not.

24,076. You said you went about with them?—I said that? No, I did not.

24,077. Well, I do not want to bind you to that. Whom did you talk to, of the Monson party, about the election?—Mr. Monson I talked to.

24,078. Where was it?—In Bell-street.

24,079. How long was this before the election?—Three or four weeks.

24,080. Now go on in your own way, if you please. What did you say to him? What did he say to you? "'Well,' says I to Corderoy"?—No, I did not say any such thing. If you are going to make a laugh of me——

24,081. Don't be angry with me?—Ask me proper questions and I will answer you. I don't want to be laughed at by all the people here.

24,082. I dare say it was my fault for not asking it properly. I beg your pardon. You saw Corderoy; did he first speak to you, or did you speak to him?—I do not know.

24,083. What was the first thing you recollect being said?—He asked me how I was getting on about the election.

24,084. Did you say "Pretty well," or something like that?—Well, I said, "I don't know. I have not thought much about it at present." That was three or four weeks before the election.

24,085. Was that all that passed?—He said, "You "had better come along with us."

24,086. And did you say, "Very well, I think I "will"?—No, I said, "I rather prefer Monson than "Gower, as I don't like the way he acted at the last "election," because of course he came to the public hall and said he would not come forward to represent Reigate again; and I considered he would not come; and when a man forfeited his word I think——

24,087. That was a very good argument. Did Corderoy agree with it?—Yes. He asked me if I would assist him in canvassing for Monson.

24,088. What did you say?—I said I had hardly made up my mind whether I should vote or not. Well, I saw him afterwards, and we talked it over again then. Of course he asked me again if I would assist him. I said I thought I should. I should not vote for Mr. Gower.

24,089. Then when you said that you should not vote for Mr. Gower, and when you had made up your mind to assist him, and told him so, what did he say to you then?—Well, he said if I assisted him, whatever I did he would see that I should be paid for my services.

24,090. What did you say to that, "Very well," or something like that?—I said, "All right."

24,091. And did you then go and give your services to Mr. Monson?—After that I did.

24,092. Well, and what did you do? What services did you perform?—Oh, I used to get about in the evening. In the daytime I used to try all I could. Of course I have got a great many mates of my own working in the firm, and I used to go about in the evening late at night getting people to vote for him, and said he was the best gentleman, I thought.

24,093. Were you to have so much by the week, or be paid for your services?—No, I was to be paid for my services.

24,094. Not so much a week?—No.

24,095. Did you receive anything before the election?—I did receive something.

24,096. How much?—About a pound.

24,097. From Corderoy?—Yes.

24,098. Do you recollect the exact sum?—I think that was it.

24,099. You say you received 1*l.* before. Did you receive more than one before the election?—No, not more than one.

24,100. And after the election what did you receive?—9*l.* 10*s.*

24,101. Now, just tell me, if you please, who paid you the 9*l.* 10*l.*?—Mr. Corderoy.

24,102. How long after the election?—About a week.

24,103. Well, how was that? Did you meet him, or send in a note for it, or something of that sort?—Well, I met him.

24,104. Did you send him on paper a claim for services or something?—No.

24,105. On no paper at all, no writing?—No.

24,106. Did you go to him and say "When are you going to pay me?" or did he come to you?—He met me in the street.

24,107. What did he say?—Well, he said "The "election is over; I suppose you would like to be paid "for your services now the election is over?" "Yes," I said, "as soon as convenient."

24,108. And who mentioned the sum?—He gave me that sum, and asked if I should be satisfied. I said "Yes."

24,109. Did you know Corderoy well before?—Oh, yes.

24,110. Is he a relation of yours?—None at all.

24,111. Or connexion?—None at all.

24,112. Did he tell you that he had received the money for you, or something of that sort?—No.

24,113. Did it make you open your eyes rather wide when you saw 9*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

24,114. Oh, you were expecting as much as that?—Yes and then was not paid, I don't consider, for the time I was about.

24,115. Very likely; but that was about the sum you were expecting?—Well, as regards expecting, I didn't know what to expect, as far as that goes. He said he would pay me for my services; I received it, and of course I was satisfied. It was no use for me to make any claim upon them.

24,116. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were satisfied, and did not grumble?—No.

24,617. (The Chief Commissioner.) Wasn't it rather more money than you expected?—No.

24,618. In the course of your services did you pay any money away for them?—Afterwards I did.

24,119. Not out of this 9*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I did.

24,120. Out of that money?—Yes.

24,121. Weren't you repaid it?—No, of course not.

24,122. Whom did you pay money to for the election?—Mr. Geer and Mr. Coleman.

24,123. Geer and Coleman. How much?—3*l.* each.

24,124. Where did you get the money from to pay them?—Mr. Corderoy.

24,125. Did he pay you another sum, then, besides the 9*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

24,126. Then this 6*l.*, did that come out of the 9*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

24,127. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that George Geer?—Yes.

24,128. What is Coleman's address, James Coleman, of Nutley-lane?—Yes.

24,129. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But you certainly gave us to understand that you received the 9*l.* 10*s.* for yourself, because you said you were satisfied with that?—I received that for my services, as I said, for trying all I could for Mr. Monson.

24,130. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you mean you paid 6*l.* away out of that for Geer and Coleman?—Yes.

24,131. How can you say that you received it for your services?—Mr. Corderoy knew nothing about that. He knew I polled these gentlemen.

24,132. Did Corderoy know that you had succeeded

FIFTEENTH DAY.

R. Breeden, jun.

7 Sept. 1866.

in bringing a couple of men to the poll?—Of course he did.

24,133. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You brought these two men?—Yes.

24,134. (The Chief Commissioner.) When did you pay these two men, Geer and Coleman?—The next day after I received my money.

24,135. Did they give you a receipt?—No.

24,136. Did you go to their houses?—No, I met them in the street, of course. I am acquainted with them.

24,137. Did you give it to them in money, or how?—In money.

24,138. And they gave you no account of it at all?—No.

24,139. Did you send in their names to any person at all as persons paid by you?—No.

24,140. You are sure?—Yes.

24,141. Did Corderoy know the names of the two men that you had brought to the poll?—Yes.

24,142. Oh, he did?—Yes.

24,143. When did you tell him?—Polling day.

24,144. You saw Corderoy at the poll?—Yes, I was about with him some part of the day.

24,145. Did you say to him, "Those two men I have brought up, you know," something like that?—Of course he knew that.

24,146. How did he know it?—Because he asked me how I got on with regard to the canvassing, trying to get all I could.

24,147. And you told him that you had succeeded in bringing up Geer and Coleman?—Yes.

24,148. Did he ask you on what promise you had brought them up?—I told him that I had guaranteed that they should be paid for their services, as myself; if we could get anything so much the better.

24,149. Did you tell Corderoy how much they were to get?—No, of course not, because I did not know myself.

24,150. Did Corderoy tell you what they ought to be paid?—No.

24,151. Well, who did then?—No one.

24,152. What made you fix upon 3*l.*?—Well, because I thought it would be a fair thing; because I thought it was right I ought to have something more than they did, because I had the most trouble.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had 4*l.* 10*s.*?

24,153. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were these two the only two men that you brought up to the poll?—The only ones I brought to the poll what promised me. I came with other people, but not as regards polling them; I had no conversation with them.

24,154. You looked upon Geer and Coleman as your own property?—I looked upon them as men who were going to work for Mr. Monson. I never mentioned a word about voting. It was known which way they were going to vote.

24,155. What work did they do?—They were about with me in the evening very late at one place and another canvassing, and trying to persuade their fellow workmen to go on the same side with them.

24,156. They were both labourers, working men?—Yes, mechanics.

24,157. Where did you go with Geer and Coleman canvassing, to public meetings?—We went to two or three; but they were about at Redhill and Mead-vale and the town a good many times.

24,158. These were public houses were the meetings were held?—Yes.

24,159. Where there was drinking going on?—Oh, yes, there always is.

24,160. Did you pay for what you had?—Sometimes we did, sometimes we were asked to drink by other people there.

24,161. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You told Geer and Coleman they should be paid what they were?—No, how could I? I told them that they should be paid for assisting me.

24,162. As you were yourself?—No; I could not tell them that. I did not know the amount. I told them that they should be paid for their services.

24,163. You did not tell them they were to be paid 6*l.*?—No.

24,164. That would have diminished your influence?—It might with some.

24,165. They did not know what you were to be paid?—No.

24,166. They thought you were working for nothing?—I do not know what they thought.

24,167. How did you know these men?—I have known them ever since I have been in Reigate. I have worked with them. Geer has been a partner of mine.

24,168. Had you voted before?—No.

24,169. Did not the Gower party speak to you?—Mr. Gower came to me.

24,170. I don't mean Mr. Gower himself.—Mr. Gower and Mr. Buckland came to me, and I was asked in the street. Mr. Ede and Mr. Rose asked me whether I would vote for Mr. Gower. I said, no, I had not made up my mind.

24,171. What were you to do? You were to be on the committee and work for them?—No, they never asked me.

24,172. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were no overtures made to you by Rose, or any of those people who canvassed you for Gower, to go on the committee and work for Mr. Gower?—They asked me to come on their side.

24,173. And work for them?—To work for them, but they did not say I was to be paid.

24,174. Did they say if you would come on and work you should have anything?—No.

24,175. No inducement held out to you?—No, they did not trouble themselves about me much. I suppose they thought it was no good. I had promised Mr. Monson, and I stuck to him.

24,176. Had you voted at the municipal elections?—No.

The witness withdrew.

G. Geer.

GEORGE GEER sworn and examined.

24,177. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

24,178. What rent do you pay?—13*l.* 10*s.*

24,179. What are you?—Plasterer.

24,180. You were canvassed by the last witness, Breeden?—Yes.

24,181. Did you receive 3*l.*?—Yes.

24,182. How long before the election were you asked to vote?—Three or four weeks.

24,183. What were you to do for your 3*l.*?—Why to assist him in canvassing all I could.

24,184. Was 3*l.* the exact sum that you received?—Yes.

24,185. You got no more?—No.

24,186. Now the witness told us that he got your and Coleman's votes?—Yes, he did.

24,187. Did you get any?—Not that I know of, although I asked a great many.

24,188. What is Coleman?—A carpenter.

24,189. Did he work for you?—No.

24,190. Did he at the time?—No.

24,191. Were you canvassed by the Gower party?—Yes, I was.

24,192. Were you asked to go on the committee?—By Mr. Gower?

24,193. By any of that party?—I was asked by Mr. Pullen.

24,194. What Pullen is that?—A carpenter, I believe.

24,195. Is he a voter?—Yes.

24,196. George Pullen, of Lisburn-road?—Yes.

24,197. Did he tell you you would get paid for that work?—He did.

24,198. What did he say?—Well, I went to the "Crown."

24,199. Tell us in your own way what took place between you and Pullen when he offered you payment, you know, for your work?—Well, he took me to the "Crown." I went to the "Crown" with him, and saw Mr. Apted there.

24,200. Job?—Yes; and he says, "Well," he says, "that young man, if he works with you, "Pullen," he says, "I will see he's paid, and well paid, "if he will work with you."

24,201. What did you say to that?—I says, "All right."

24,202. Don't wait for any questions whilst you are telling a story. Tell us all that took place at that interview?—I says, "All right."

24,203. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say, "Put me down on your committee"?—I don't know.

24,204. At any rate you said "All right." Well, go on, please, what did they say further?

24,205. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Tell us all that took place between you?—Well, Pullen says, "I'll see that you are paid."

24,206. Was that all that passed?—I believe it was.

24,207. Did you work?—Did I work?

24,208. Did you work for them?—No, I did not.

24,209. (The Chief Commissioner.) You attended the meetings?—Yes, I went to one meeting.

24,210. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where was that meeting?—At the "Bell."

24,211. Was that the only meeting you attended?—I cannot say I ever went to any other on Gower's side.

24,212. Well, how long was it before Breeden made the engagement with you for the 3*l.*?—Three or four weeks, I believe.

24,213. Which was first?—Why, Gower.

24,214. Did Pullen say anything as to what you might expect?—No he did not, he only said, "You "will be well paid."

24,215. Were you paid anything on the part of Mr. Gower?—No.

24,216. Nothing?—Nothing.

24,217. At any time?—No.

24,218. Why not? Because you voted for Monson, I suppose?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

24,219. (The Chief Commissioner.) Why did not you get paid before the election? You attended the committee meeting, why did not you get paid by Gower's party before the election?—Because I did not think anything about it.

24,220. Did you ask Pullen?—No.

24,221. Nor Job Apted?—No, I did not.

24,222. Tell us why you did not.—Why didn't I?

24,223. Yes.—Because I did not think anything about it.

24,224. Do you mean you forgot the circumstance of being at the "Bell," or what was it?—No; I do not say I forgot anything about it. I took their word as the wind. I did not place any confidence in it.

24,225. But you went to the meeting?—Of course I did.

24,226. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not rely upon their promises?

24,227. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not let the thing pass by, you know, because you went to the meeting. Are you quite sure you did not apply to anybody before you agreed with Breeden?—No.

24,228. Nor after?—Nor after.

24,229. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Breeden canvassed you, did not he?—Yes.

24,230. Did anybody else canvass you?—Mr. Monson.

24,231. Anybody else on the part of Mr. Monson?—Corderoy asked me if I would come and work their side.

24,232. On Gower's side?—No, Monson's side.

24,333. Did he make any offer to you?—No, he did not.

24,234. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Breeden was the only person who offered you money to work?—He never offered me anything. He said I should be paid for my services.

24,235. You rendered no services, and got 3*l.*?—I received 3*l.*

24,236. And did nothing for it?—I was about late. I had to attend Mr. Monson's committee a meeting or two.

24,237. Just so. That was all you did. You brought no voters up to the poll?—Only asked several that I knew.

24,238. As they fell in your way?—Yes.

24,239. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you know that Breeden was to receive any money?—No, I did not.

24,240. You thought he was working for nothing?—Of course, I knew that he was right on for Monson.

24,241. You did not know that he was to get any money?—No.

24,242. Did you think he was to get money?—No, I thought he was not.

24,243. You thought he was not to get any money?—No.

24,244. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not quite understand, and I cannot get an explanation either, how it was you agreed, you know, with Apted and Pullen, and after that went to the meeting, and yet got nothing from the Gower party; because most people that went to the meetings had an understanding with one of the agents, and got something, if it was only a couple of pounds?—Well, I will go anywhere where any one asks me, especially where I think there is any singing going on.

24,245. Did you hear any singing at these meetings?—I did, and Pullen named it to me before I went.

24,246. What, did he say "You had better go to "the meeting; because, among other things, you will "have good singing"?—That's it. I am very partial to a good song.

24,247. Did you sing yourself?—Oh, yes. I never care about going out anywhere without there is some singing.

24,248. Was it an object with the Gower party to have a man at their meetings who could sing?—I do not know, I am sure.

24,249. We shall see. You went to the meeting at any rate, and you sung?—Yes, I did so.

24,250. I thought so. Now was there no compliment paid you for your song?—I cannot say, it is so long ago.

24,251. I meant a tangible compliment?—With who?

24,252. What?—I beg your pardon, I did not quite understand you.

24,253. Oh, I see. Were you paid nothing like a substantial compliment for your song?—I cannot say that I was.

24,254. That you were not?—No.

24,255. But you were paid a compliment for your singing, were not you?—I cannot say.

24,256. Oh, I understand it now. Well, you made a very good song, and you were very well paid for it?—Yes, I generally do sing a song.

24,257. You were paid 5*l.* for it?—No, I did not get 5*l.*

24,258. Not from anybody?—No.

24,259. During the whole of the election did not you get 5*l.*, before or after?—No.

24,260. Then what compliment did you get for your song?—I cannot say; it is so long ago.

24,261. Yes, you can say. I mean a substantial compliment?—No, I cannot.

24,262. What did you get for your song?—Nothing. I never sung at any of Mr. Monson's meetings.

24,263. I am not talking of Mr. Monson's meetings; I am talking of Mr. Gower's meetings, and I wish you would attend more than you do. Does not it occur to you as an odd thing that you should go and sing at Gower's meeting for nothing at all? What were you expecting to get for it?—Nothing.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

24,264. I thought you told us just now that for your services Job Apted and Pullen promised to pay you?—Of course they did.

24,265. Well, you performed some services, and very good ones too; namely, you sang a good song at their meeting. That was a service performed, was not it?—Yes.

24,266. They both promised you?—I never received anything.

24,267. How was it?—I do not know, except that I suppose I did not apply.

24,268. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You got 3*l.* for your services for Monson's party?—Yes.

24,269. It is perfectly right you should know what I think; it was for your vote.—No; there was never a word mentioned about my vote.

The witness withdrew.

T. Barham.

TILDEN BARHAM recalled and examined.

24,270. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have been already sworn, you know?—Yes.

24,271. You told me at your last examination that you were canvassed and did not vote?—No, I did not vote.

24,272. How was it that you did not vote? That though you were canvassed on behalf of Mr. Gower, and offered money, you did not vote?—I did not make up my mind at all to vote.

24,273. You did not make up your mind to vote?—No.

24,274. You were one of the railway men?—Yes.

24,275. What are you?—An engine driver.

24,276. Where?—The South-eastern railway.

24,277. But where?—Redhill.

24,278. Where were you on the day of the polling?—I was on duty.

24,279. So I thought. You could not have voted, then?—I could have done if I had chosen.

24,280. Without asking leave, I mean?—I should have been obliged to ask leave.

24,281. That is what I mean; you did not tell me before that you had received anything?—No.

24,282. Why did not you tell me?—I believe the question was not put to me.

24,283. Now there is no use in saying that. You were exceedingly glib in telling me the offer that was made to you, but you did not tell me what you received. What did you receive?—From whose party?

24,284. Never mind; what did you receive?—I received 4*l.* 10*s.*

24,285. Why did not you tell me that when you were examined before?—I beg your pardon; I do not think I was asked.

24,286. I took it for granted, as you did not vote, that you did not receive anything from anybody else?—I did not say that.

24,287. Your answers led me to believe, and what is more, you intended to lead me to believe that you did not receive anything.

24,288. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was from Mr. Shepherd, was not it?—Yes.

24,289. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You know we have ascertained it from information we have received elsewhere, not from you. Shepherd paid you?—Yes.

24,290. Not the entire, did he? 30*s.* a week was not it, for three weeks?—Three weeks.

24,291. That was to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

24,292. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Shepherd ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not know exactly whether he asked me to vote for Mr. Monson. This 30*s.* a week was to be on the committee.

24,293. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien). Don't lead us astray again. What would you, an engine driver, do on the committee? Were not you asked to vote for Mr. Monson?—I cannot say exactly that I was asked to vote for Mr. Monson. It is very likely he might ask me to vote for Mr. Monson; but I cannot say for certain whether he did.

24,294. Was not it understood?—I have not the least doubt that it was understood to be to vote for Mr. Monson.

24,295. Understood by the men at the railway, and understood by you, that you were to vote for Monson?—Yes; but I do not think the word was mentioned to vote for Monson.

24,296. I no not care about "mentioned;" you received the money for that purpose, voting for Monson?—I did.

24,297. What did you mean by saying that you had not made up your mind to vote? You told me just now that you had not made up your mind to vote?—I told one man I had not made up my mind. I did not tell Shepherd so.

24,298. Had you made up your mind to vote for Monson?—I had made up my mind not to vote for Monson.

24,299. But why, when you had received the money, did you not vote?—I thought better of it.

24,300. After you received all the money?—I returned the 4*l.* 10*s.* back again to Shepherd.

24,301. You did?—Yes.

24,302. When?—On the polling morning.

24,303. That is another new feature. I beg your pardon if that be so?—I made up my mind, as I said, not to vote at all, and I returned the money to Shepherd, 4*l.* 10*s.*, on the polling morning.

24,304. Why did not you tell me that before?—I beg your pardon; I was not asked the question.

24,305. You know you were asked to tell the truth?—I am sorry if I made a mistake.

24,306. You are here to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth?—I did speak the truth.

24,307. I do not question that at all, but you are here to tell everything?—I was not asked to tell everything, I only answer the questions that are put.

24,308. Do I understand you to say that you received 4*l.* 10*s.* from Shepherd, and that on the morning of the polling day you returned it?—I did.

24,309. And told him you would not vote?—I do not think I told him I should not vote; I told him I should do exactly as I liked. I said, "Now I return "you the money, the 4*l.* 10*s.*, and I shall do as I like."

24,310. That was very fair?—It was, and I did not vote at all.

24,311. You told him that in the morning?—I told him that, and I gave him back the money that I had received.

24,312. Having received the 4*l.* 10*s.*, what did he say when you returned it?—He took it back.

24,313. When have you seen Shepherd again?—The last time?

24,314. Yes?—It might be a month. I do not know that I have seen him since that.

24,315. Did you know the men were asking for more?—Yes.

24,316. You did?—Yes.

24,317. You knew that the railway people were asking for more?—Yes.

24,318. Now, I ask you on that morning did not you say to Shepherd that you would not vote for 4*l.* 10*s.*, but that you wanted more?—No.

24,319. Nothing of the sort?—Never a word.

24,320. You know they were asking for more, and you know they were refused. Had that any influence on you on that morning when you returned the 4*l.* 10*s.*, that you knew you would get no more?—Not the least.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

T. Barham.

7 Sept. 1866.

24,321. Were you amongst those who expected to receive another 30*s.*?—I think I was.

24,322. Your name was down with the rest?—Yes, I think it was.

24,323. By your own consent?—Yes.

24,324. Did you write it yourself?—I really cannot say whether I did or not.

24,325. Did you get the railway clerk to write it?—I could not say; I believe the clerk wrote it himself.

24,326. Then I may take it if you had got the 6*l.* or 6*l.* 10*s.* you would have voted?—I do not think I should then.

24,327. That was only a day or two before the polling?—Yes, only a day or so before the polling.

24,328. You are not certain whether you would?—No, I think I should have done the same as I did, return the money again.

24,329. Why? Because you thought it was not right to receive it?—I thought so.

24,330. You thought it was not right?

24,331. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was not the question asked you. You were asked whether you returned it because you thought it was not right?—That is the reason I did return it.

24,332. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know the "Warwick Arms"?—The "Warwick Arms"? Yes.

24,333. Had you been there that morning?—No.

24,334. The morning you returned the money?—No.

24,335. Were you there the evening before?—No.

24,336. What time of the morning did you return the money?—I should think this was about 10 o'clock.

24,337. Had not you been at the "Warwick Arms" a little before?—No.

24,338. Who keeps the "Warwick Arms"?—I really do not know who it is, not the name. It is a house I seldom go into.

24,339. Then am I to take it that it was because you considered it was doing wrong you returned the money, to enable yourself to vote freely?—If I chose to do so.

24,340. (The Chief Commissioner.) You got something from the Gower party, did you not, Barham?—No.

24,341. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

24,342. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you were here before, you know, you were asked whether you had been canvassed upon the other side?—I believe I was asked that question.

24,343. And you said you were not canvassed?—I said I was not. I think I said so.

24,344. You did?—I know I did, but my meaning was, neither by Mr. Monson nor by Mr. Gower. I did not know at the time exactly what the question meant.

24,345. That was the way in which you fenced with the question?—Well, I did not know but what you meant Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson.

24,346, Oh yes you did?—No, I did not.

24,347. What could you have thought it meant. After you had been asked about one party, you were asked whether you had been canvassed by the other side?—I believe I said "No."

24,348. Yes, you did say so.—I did.

24,349. But you had actually allowed your name to be put down on a list of men who voted for Monson?—I did, but I said so without a thought. I have thought of it since.

24,350. Don't let it be understood that you have volunteered to correct that mistake; because you were sent for and you would have allowed that mistake to remain. I have a note here to ask you the question, and I was looking at the short-hand writer's notes to see whether I did not ask the question, because I knew as a fact that you had received the 4*l.* 10*s.*, and that you had returned it. I do not recollect whether I put that question to you?—No, if you had I should have answered it. If you had asked me the question I should have told you at once.

24,351. But when you were asked the question as to whether you were canvassed on the other side you ought to have told us?—I was not canvassed by more than Shepherd, but I quite forgot it at the time.

24,352. You have honestly confessed that you fenced with the question; because when you were asked whether you were canvassed on the other side, you ought to have said "Yes; and by Shepherd;" and you ought to have told us that you had promised Shepherd you would vote for Monson, and received the 4*l.* 10*s.* from Shepherd. If that is not canvassing, I do not know what is?—That is plain enough, but I misunderstood the question.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have had the trouble of being brought here again, you know; you may thank yourself for it.

24,353. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote in 1863?—No.

24,354. This was your first election?—Yes.

24,355. Let me ask you the general question. Is there anything else that you know of in reference to the election of 1865 which you ought to inform the Commissioners of?—Nothing at all.

24,356. Now I ask you a very wide question to enable you to answer without any fencing?—Nothing at all, sir.

The witness withdrew.

W. Bilcliffe.

William Bilcliffe sworn and examined.

24,357. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A sawyer.

24,358. What do you pay for your house?—5*s.* a week.

24,359. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

24,360. Was that your first election?—Yes.

24,361. Have you been examined before?—No.

24,362. Is there another William Bilcliffe?—No, sir, George Bilcliffe.

24,363. You received 5*l.*, did not you, for giving your vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not receive 5*l.* in the whole, at once, but I received it weekly. I received two 15*s.* when I was put on the work, and the remainder after the poll.

24,364. I believe you were paid that money by Jordan, were not you?—I believe it came from Jordan. Jordan set me on as working, but Mr. Vigar, a neighbour of mine, received the money.

24,365. He received the money to pay you and White?—Yes.

24,366. In the first instance, when was it promised you by Jordan? Can you tell me how long before the election?—Three weeks I was working on behalf of Mr. Monson; 30*s.* a week.

24,367. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 30*s.* a week, or 15*s.*?—30*s.* We received only half each week, and the remainder after the polling.

24,368. (The Chief Commissioner.) The remainder of the 5*l.* was made up on the night of the polling day?—Yes.

24,369. Have you ever voted before?—No.

The witness withdrew.

A. White.

Arraham White sworn and examined.

24,370. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A whitesmith.

24,371. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* a week.

24,372. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson, at the last election.

24,373. You had arranged with Mr. Jordan to do so?—Yes.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

A. White.

7 Sept. 1866.

24,374. What time before the election?—Three weeks before the election.

24,375. Did he speak to you first?—No, I cannot say he did.

24,376. Who brought you to Jordan?—Vigar. He was a shopmate.

24,377. He told you what you were to have, 5*l.*, for voting for Mr. Monson?—Yes, I was to receive two 15*s.*, and 3*l.* 10*s.*, on the night of the polling.

24,378. I take it that was for voting. I do not want to trouble you with unnecessary questions. That was it?—Yes.

24,379. That is the honest way to say it.

24,380. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that your first election?—Yes.

24,381. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you voted at any of the municipal elections?—No.

The witness withdrew.

G. Buck.

George Buck sworn and examined.

24,382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

24,383. What rent do you pay for your house? What is it worth?—I pay about 12*l.*

24,384. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

24,385. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

24,386. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How came you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Because I thought he was an upright and honest man.

24,387. That was the only reason?—Yes.

24,388. What were you paid for it?—Well, I went to Mr. Nichols' for a job. I was short of work rather at the time, and he sent me out.

24,389. What job did you get?—Canvassing, carrying circulars, one thing and another; going about to see if I could get any votes in.

24,390. How long before the election did Mr. Nichols give you the circulars to carry?—I was on about the first of anybody; I had six weeks of it.

24,391. Did they begin sending the circulars six weeks before the election?—Yes, they began with me almost the first.

24,392. Did they send many?—A great many, I believe. I went to Mr. Hart to get the names of voters, and he asked me how far I could go to take my turns, and I went round Earlswood and Meadvale and Woodhatch.

24,393. You went round there as a canvasser?—Yes, I do not think I missed about one or two days in all the time; one day or night or so in all the time.

24,394. Did you succeed in getting many voters to promise?—Well, they got promising, but I had got no money to sport to draw them on.

24,395. Did you feel that if you had got your pocket full of money it would have been useful in your canvass?—I thought it seemed successful.

24,396. What, to those who had money?—Yes.

24,397. Will you be good enough to explain more particularly what you mean by that?—Well, they asked me what I meant to give.

24,398. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did they all ask you?—A great many; I do not say all.

24,399. Most of them?—Yes, most of them, I think.

24,400. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you asked for money more in one district than in another?—No.

24,401. It was the same pretty generally over the borough?—Yes.

24,402. I suppose you canvassed mostly those of your own class of life?—No, I do not mean by canvassing that I brought them to the poll.

24,403. No, I do not mean that; I mean, you asked them to vote?—I asked them.

24,404. You asked mostly those of your own class of life?—I asked them just as they came, where I see them on the register.

24,405. Did you go to a gentleman's front door and send in your card?—No, I had got no card of my own. I went to Mr. Nichols every Saturday night for my money.

24,406. What did you get every Saturday night?—1*l.* a week.

24,407. (The Chief Commissioner.) That continued for about six weeks?—Yes, that was about it. I received 7*l.* 10*s.* for the whole.

24,408. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who paid you that?—Mr. Nichols. I believe Mr. Corderoy paid me 1*l.* when Mr. Nichols was not within.

24,409. Where did Mr. Corderoy pay you at?—At Mr. Nichols. I believe he got it off him that night.

24,410. Do you mean to say you were engaged every day?—Nearly every day the whole of the time.

24,411. The whole six weeks?—The whole six weeks I went out, and I do not think there were but one or two days that I was not out all day.

24,412. If you were so active, did not they tell you you might make some sort of promise to them?—No.

24,413. You got no authority to make a promise?—Not at all.

24,414. That was not treating you fairly, because the others had the best chance?—Most all of them asked me what I were going to stand; whether I could give them a drop of beer. I had no money to give them for beer. I said, "You can make up your "mind to vote for which you like; I have got no "authority to give you anything at all."

24,415. And you found you could get no promises without money?—Unless I had got something to draw them on.

24,416. Did you get a single promise?—No more than if I could give them a trifle perhaps they might.

24,417. So far as you asked for votes did you always get the answer, "I will vote for you if you will pay "me"?—Not all.

24,418. Did you ever get one single vote promised you without offering payment?—No, not one. They said they had not made up their minds, and they should not say how they would vote till near the polling day.

24,419. Did you report to Mr. Nichols or to anybody else the result of your canvass?—Yes, that is what I told them every Saturday night. I said, "I "have not got one that I can bring in."

24,420. They still paid you the 1*l.* a week?—Yes.

24,421. That was paying you for nothing?—I worked all the time.

24,422. But you did not do anything?—If a horse won't eat I can't make him.

24,423. That is quite true. And you had not the power of persuasion with these men?—No; I told Mr. Nichols so every time I went to him.

24,424. You told him that they all wanted to be paid?—I said they would have to be paid if I was to get them.

24,425. If you could pay you thought you could succeed?—I thought I might have done better. You see they are all for money at such times.

24,426. I am very much obliged to you for your evidence, for you have given me your evidence very fairly and properly?—You see at election times they are all looking out for No. 1.

24,427. That you found was the general feeling?—That was the general rule all through the place wherever I went, and I searched them to try it.

24,428. You were out six weeks canvassing every day, and had a good opportunity of knowing?—I had.

24,429. Were you canvassed at all by the Gower party?—No one at all. Mr. Gower came to me at the first onset, down to my shop. He was opposite to my shop talking to Mr. Penfold, the same man I work for now, and he was mentioning names. I saw Mr. Penfold point down to my shop, and then Mr. Gower came down to my door where I was standing;

"Well," he says, "Mr. Buck, have you made up your "mind who you will vote for at this election?" "No," I says, "I haven't, sir." "Let me see" says he "did you vote for me last time." "No," I said, "sir, I don't think I did; I voted for Mr. Wil- "kinson." "Oh, very well," he says, "you had "better make up your mind to vote for me." Just them words. I says, "Well, I shan't as yet, for I have not "made up my mind at all. I have not thought any- "thing about voting yet, the election being so far "forward." "Well," he says, "I hope you will next "time I come round. I hope you will make up your "mind to vote for me." I said perhaps I might. He walked away and had no more to say. Then a few days after that I had orders to go to Mr. Jem Nichols.

24,430. You had orders to go there from whom?—I asked some of the parties at the same time, and they said, "He'll give you a job directly." So I went there. "Oh," he says at once, "you can go on now, "if you like."

24,431. Just tell me who sent you to Nichols?—I I think the man's name was Cook. He was at work for him at the time. He says, "You can get a job "there if you like to go, I know." So I went there, and Mr. Nichols said I could go on.

24,432. What Cook was that? — John Cook, a carpenter.

24,433. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told Nichols what Cook had said?—I believe I did.

24,434. (Mr. Commisioner Smith.) Did Cook tell you he was working under Nichols?—He was working under Nichols at the same time. It was only above a day or two before the first advances.

24,435. Now is that all you know about it?—That is all I know about it.

24,436. Were you much with Nichols?—Well, I went down every Saturday night.

24,437. Only on Saturday nights?—Well, I did attend a meeting now and then, not many.

24,438. Did you attend the beer meetings, where there was refreshment?—There was always beer to be had. I do not know what you call "beer meetings;" but wherever you see a public house in elections there is always beer going forward. I went in and had a glass or two.

24,439. Only a glass or two?—Oh, several.

24,440. That is, whenever you were on your rounds you went into houses that you knew to be for Monson, and got refreshment and did not pay for it?—Yes.

24,441. And was that the same at the meetings?—That was just the same in the evening. I went to several meetings where Mr. Monson and Mr. Nichols where, and there was always something to drink.

24,442. And any singing?—I never heard any singing. I went away before the singing was over, for I never stopped at all.

24,443. Before it began?—Before it begun.

24,444. In your canvassing round about and moving round the town did you see what was going on amongst the Gower party?—I never tried nowhere in the town.

24,445. Round about the borough did you see what was going on amongst the Gower side?—I do not believe I did.

24,446. Did you ever go into their houses?—No, not at all.

24,447. You kept to your own side?—Yes, and I don't believe there was one on their side that asked me to turn over to them at all.

24,448. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You voted for Wilkinson in 1863, were you at work for him at that time in the borough?—No, I was not at work at all for him. He came and asked me, and I promised him.

24,449. You were not at work at all?—And never had a copper.

24,450. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you do any of your own work at the time you were canvassing?—Of course I did. I could not live without.

24,451. Did you pursue your ordinary work as a bricklayer?—Yes, but very slack indeed. Now and then a day I was out, you know.

24,452. Now and then a day out at work as bricklayer?—Yes, and then at night I used to go along with the other party and see if I could pick up one.

24,453. I am afraid we misunderstand each other. What did you do most of, your own work at bricklaying or canvassing?—Oh, canvassing, because I was very short of employment at the time.

24,454. How many days did you work at bricklaying?—How many days a week?

24,455. Yes?—A day and a half some weeks; sometimes two days; some weeks ne'er a day at all.

24,456. Your work was very short at bricklaying?—Very short.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE COMBER sworn and examined.

G. Comber.

24,457. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

24,458. And what rent do you pay for your house?—25*l.* a year.

24,459. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

24,460. Another brother of yours, I believe, voted for Mr. Monson also; what was his name?—William.

24,461. And two other brothers, I believe, voted for Gower?—I believe so.

24,462. Well, we may take it so?—Yes. I ain't in the house now; I have just come out of it. I came out of it a fortnight ago.

24,463. I mean that is the rent you paid at the time of the election?—Yes.

24,464. That is what we are inquiring for. Had you been canvassed for Mr. Gower before you promised Mr. Monson?—No; Mr. Gower never come nigh me.

24,465. Did any one on his behalf; just recollect?—No, they did not come near me, not to ask for my vote.

24,466. They sent to your brother, to ask, did they not?—Not that I know of.

24,467. Did not your brothers ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Not that I know of.

24,468. Who asked you to vote for Monson?—Mr Monson came and asked me himself, when I was at home.

24,469. At that time you had not made up your mind?—I did not satisfy him exactly. I said, "I "dare say you will find me there at the polling day." Those were the words I used to him.

24,470. You had not made up your mind at the time?—No, I said, "You will find me, I dare say."

24,471. What I want to know is, had you made up your mind at that time for whom you would vote?—I had not made up my mind.

24,472. Who came to you afterwards on behalf of Mr. Monson?—No one.

24,473. Did you see nobody from that time?—No; only Mr. Monson called upon me once or twice; and I see Mr. Jordan, he called upon me.

24,474. That is the man I mean; Mr. Thomas Jordan?—Thomas Jordan? No. Oh yes, yes.

24,475. And I suppose he put you on Mr. Monson's committee?—No, he did not put me on no committee. I was not on no committee. My name was not seen there, I know.

24,476. You were working for Monson?—No, I never worked at all.

24,477. Did not Thomas Jordan tell you you would be paid?—I was paid for what I drawed in the house. I was keeping a beer shop at the time. I never went out of the door. I was on no committee, nor nothing of the sort.

24,478. You put me out, because you said you were a bricklayer. You also keep a beer shop?—I did.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

G. Comber.

7 Sept. 1866.

24,479. What was it?—The "White Horse." Mr. Monson gave me one meeting, that was all, and I got paid for my liquor.

24,480. How much did you get paid for your liquor?—2*l.* or 3*l.*, I don't know what it was exactly.

24,481. You were paid more than that for your liquor and one meeting. Don't tell me that?—That is all I received; and likewise I was paid 5*l.* for my room.

24,482. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said Mr. Monson gave you a meeting at your house. Did you ask him for it?—No.

24,483. Why did he give it?—I don't know, I'm sure.

24,484. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were 2*l.* or 3*l.* for beer; only one night's drinking?—That is all.

24,485. More than that, was it not?—What?

24,486. More than 3*l.*?—Not to the best of my knowledge. I have not got it in my head exactly. That is within it, to a few shillings.

24,487. Who kept the account of it?—My wife.

24,488. Who paid you?—Jordan.

24,489. When did he pay you, the night after or the day after?—The day after.

24,490. You made out a bill, did not you?—Yes, I believe so.

24,491. Did you give Jordan a bill?—No. I don't know that I made a list even.

24,492. How could a man draw beer and charge for it if he did not know how much had been drunk?—I knew what I had on the engine.

24,493. You exhausted it?—No; I could tell by gauging the barrel what I had drawed.

24,494. That is how you did tell?—That is all.

24,495. They were not particular as to the measurement of a quart or a pint?—No.

24,496. Besides 2*l.* or 3*l.* for the beer you got 5*l.* for the room that night, I suppose?—Yes.

24,497. Who paid you?—Mr. Jordan.

24,498. Did Mr. Monson agree with you himself to pay you 5*l.* for the use of the house?—No, he never agreed with me at all.

24,499. Who did?—Mr. Jordan.

24,500. He said you would have 5*l.*?—He came round and paid me that. I did not ask him. He did not make no agreement with me.

24,501. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You made no charge?—No; he came round and gave me that.

24,502. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not expect to be paid 5*l.*?—I took what he chucked me down.

24,503. How long before the polling day was that?—I think it was about three weeks.

24,504. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you voted before?—No, it was the first vote as ever I give, and it will be the last I hope.

24,505. What I want to know is this, were you asked to vote for Mr. Gower?—No, I was never asked the question to vote for Mr. Gower.

24,506. Did not anybody come to you?—There was a few come one evening, and they asked me whether I had made up my mind, and I said yes, I had made up my mind to vote for Monson. That was all.

24,507. Did they ask you to go on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

24,508. Nobody?—No.

24,509. Were not you told that if you went on the committee you would not lose anything by it?—No.

24,510. Nothing of the sort?—No.

24,511. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Why, your brother canvassed you for Mr. Gower, you know?—Not as I am aware of. He done it when I was asleep if he did. I ain't aware of it.

24,512. Are you on good terms with your brother?—Yes, I saw him the other day. He said nothing about it. I am on as good terms with him as other people; to pass the time of day. We never had no words, only we don't live handy, so we don't see each other a great deal.

24,513. Did not your brother ask you about the election, which way you were going?—No. I never saw him all the election.

24,514. Your brother Charles?—Charles?

24,515. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which of your brothers voted for Monson?—William.

24,516. What is William?—A carrier.

24,517. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is 5*l.* a usual price for a room in your house for an evening?—I do not know, I am sure. I never asked for anything. They gave me that.

24,518. Supposing I wanted to hire your room for a night for a little meeting, would you charge me 5*l.*?—I should not charge you anything. I did not charge them anything. They gave me what they thought proper.

24,519. Was that paid before you voted?—Yes.

24,520. Did Green canvass you?—No, he never came nigh me, never spoke to me.

24,521. When Jordan paid you this 5*l.* as you say, he came in and chucked it down and you took it up, did not he speak to you about your vote for Monson?—Oh, yes. He says, "I can depend on you George." I said, "Yes, I shall be there on the polling day."

24,522. Was that before he chucked the 5*l.* down or after?—After.

24,523. And then he said, "I can trust you for "your vote"?—Yes.

24,524. Did not you believe the 5*l.* was given to you to secure your vote for Mr. Monson, and not for your room?—I do not know, I am sure.

24,525. You felt yourself a little bound in conscience to vote for Mr. Monson after receiving the 5*l.*—If he had not given me anything I should have voted for him.

24,526. Did not that fix you?—No, I was not drawed up for 5*l.*, not at all, not the least. That did not fix me.

24,527. But you told us that you had not spoken to anybody about your vote?—Only Mr. Monson. He was the gentleman that called upon me, and spoke to me, and asked me for my vote, and I said, "I dare "say I shall be there on the polling day, Mr. Monson."

24,528. How long before the polling day was it that Mr. Jordan gave you the 5*l.*?—The same morning as the polling day.

24,529. Then the meeting at your house was on the nomination day?—No, a fortnight or three weeks before that.

24,530. Then he came and gave you the money on the polling morning?—Yes.

24,531. Had you voted?—No, I had not voted.

24,532. (The Chief Commissioner.) I understood you to say he paid you three weeks before?—That was for the beer.

24,533. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) As I understand, he paid for the beer the morning after the supply?—He did.

24,534. It was very strange that he did not pay for the room at the same time?—I never asked him for the money for the room.

24,535. You never thought of making a charge?—No.

24,536. You would not have made a charge?—No.

24,537. You would have considered yourself very well paid by the profit you had on the sale of the beer?—I was not paid any more for that than I ought to have had, I am sure, for the amount of beer that I drawed.

24,538. You had got 2*l.* or 3*l.*, which was a fair price for the beer you had drawn, and of course you got a profit out of it?—Me, sir? I don't know that I did.

24,539. I mean the trade profit. Would not you have thought that the trade profit on the sale of the beer would have satisfied you for the use of the room?—I never asked them for anything for the use of the room.

24,540. Then you were perfectly satisfied with the 2*l.* or 3*l.* for the sale of the beer?—I should have been satisfied. I should not have asked him or anybody else.

24,541. Then the 5*l.* given on the polling day was quite an afterthought altogether on the part of Jordan ?—I don't know anything about that.

24,542. He never said anything to you about the 5*l.* on the night of the meeting ?—No. I did not know whether I was going to have anything.

24,543. Did he tell you when to poll; to poll early ?—No, he never said a word about the poll.

24,544. How soon after you got the 5*l.* did you go to the poll ?

24,545. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He said, "Now, can I depend upon you" ?—No, he did not say that; he said, "You won't deceive me, George, "will you ?" That was the words, something like that. I said, "I shall go by-and-by."

24,546. Then he relied on your promise and left ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

EDMUND DICKINSON sworn and examined.

E. Dickinson.

24,547. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A shoemaker.

24,548. What rent do you pay for your house ?—13*l.* a year.

24,549. How many elections have you voted at ?—Only this one, sir.

24,550. Who did you vote for this time ?—Mr. Monson.

24,551. To whom did you promise that you would vote for him ?—I promsed Mr. Monson.

24,552. Oh ! did you ? What, when he canvassed you ?—I promised Mr. Monson ; yes.

24,553. Did he send somebody else ? Did some of the agents come to you afterwards ?—Yes, Mr. Read called upon me.

24,554. What did he say to you ? What did he come about ?—Well, he asked me if I was going to vote for Mr. Monson, and I told him "Yes."

24,555. Did he ask you to be on the committee, or something of that sort ?—No, he never asked me to be on the committee.

24,556. What was it he said to you ? He made some arrangement ?—He asked me if I would like to be employed like the rest.

24,557. Yes, go on ?—He was often at my house, and I promised him that I would.

24,558. What did he say to you ? "If you come "you shall be paid for your services" ?—He told me I should be paid for my services, and I received 2*l.* before the election.

24,559. And one after ?—And one after.

24,560. What Read was that ?—The bootmaker, John Read.

24,561. Who paid you that ?—Mr. Read.

24,562. You gave a receipt for it, did not you ?—No, I did not give a receipt.

24,563. I think you did; was not there some paper, and did not you write it down ?—No, I never wrote nothing down.

24,564. Then I made a mistake; I thought you wrote down on a paper, "Received for services during "the election, 3*l.*" ?—I received 2*l.* before the election "and 1*l.* after.

24,565. Did not you afterwards sign a receipt for 3*l.* ?—No, I never signed any receipt.

24,566. Oh, very well, it is my mistake; I thought you had. Did you receive any cheque on the bank?—No.

24,567. How did he pay you, two sovereigns and one sovereign ?—He paid me in cash.

24,568. Tell me, about how long before the election was it that Mr. Read came to you ?—I believe it was three weeks; I do not know.

24,569. And how long after the election was it that he paid you the 1*l.* ?—I cannot say ; I know it was not long after ; what time it was I do not know.

24,570. He came three weeks before the election, and you at once agreed to go with him ?—I did the second time I saw him.

24,571. Oh, the first time he came and asked you you did not agree ?—He was frequently at my house ; I did not give him my word at the time.

24,572. Why did not you give your word ?—My mind was made up to vote for Mr. Monson all through.

24,573. But you won't mind telling me why you did not tell Read so ?—I did not tell him because I thought there was plenty of time, because it was three weeks before the election.

24,574. To be sure ; I quite understand.

24,575. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not know what offers might turn up ?—I was not offered anything at the time.

24,576. You were waiting for it ?—No, I was not.

24,577. Or else you would have told Read at first, if you had made up your mind to vote for Monson ?—He did not ask that at first; when he asked me who I was going to vote for I told him I was going to vote for Monson.

24,578. (The Chief Commissioner.) After Read's first visit were you applied to by Gower's party ?—After Read's first visit ?

24,579. At the first visit of Read you know you did not pledge your word, but you waited a bit ?—No, I did not pledge my word.

24,580. Now, after that first visit did you get some application made to you by one of Gower's people ?—No.

24,581. Did not you ?—Not an agent of Mr. Gower's never canvassed me; Mr. Gower did himself.

24,582. Was that before Read had come ?—Yes, before I knew that Read was for Monson.

24,583. Did Mr. Gower get you to promise your vote ?—No.

24,584. You refused him at first ?—I refused him.

24,585. Were not you asked by somebody else ?—No, not of Gower's party.

24,586. I do not mean that you promised ; only that you were asked for it ?—No.

24,587. Were not you ?—No.

24,588. Don't you recollect being asked for it by somebody for Mr. Gower after you had told Read you would go with him ?—No.

24,589. You were canvassed by Gower's party, I think ?—I was canvassed by Mr. Gower; not by his agents.

24,590. Throw that over; never mind that. I thought you were canvassed by somebody else ?—I was not.

24,591. I mean by "canvassed" asked for your vote ?—I know what you mean; I was not.

24,592. And did not you go on further than that, and make some arrangement with somebody that offered you on behalf of Mr. Gower.?—No.

24,593. Was not there some arrangement ?—No arrangement whatever.

24,594. That is very odd. Then do you mean to say that you saw nothing whatever of the Gower party except Mr. Gower himself ?—No, I knew nothing about them ; I never was asked from the party.

24,595. You were not ?—No.

24,596. Did any money pass through your hands for anybody else ?—No.

24,597. None at all ?—None at all.

24,598. What made you hesitate, then, when Read asked you the first time ?—Well, he did not ask me to promise him then ; he was only merely talking it over, and when he came again I promised him.

24,599. How long was that after ?—About a week, sir ; just a week ; eight days ; it was on the Monday.

24,600. In that interval had you made up your mind, then ?—I had made it up when he spoke to me the first time ; my mind was settled in voting for Mr. Monson at the first onset. He merely asked me in the first conversation he had with me, which way I was going ; he did not tell me he was going to be employed, or anything of the kind.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

T. Burrell.

7 Sept. 1866.

THOMAS BURRELL sworn and examined.

24,601. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A publican.

24,602. What rent do you pay?—45*l.* a year

24,603. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

24,604. Was your house one of Mr. Monson's houses?—No, it was not engaged at all.

24,605. Were no meetings held there?—One meeting.

24,606. Where there were refreshments?—Yes.

24,607. How long before the election was it that meeting was held?—I really cannot tell you; it might be 10 days or a fortnight, but I did not take any notice of it.

24,608. I suppose that was a large crowded meeting?—Not very large; there might be between 30 and 40.

24,609. Who ordered that meeting to be held there?—I cannot say.

24,610. Who told you it would be held there?—I cannot say; I saw three or four who told me a meeting would be held there.

24,611. How much beer was drank?—I cannot tell.

24,612. How much were you paid for?—I do not know, for I did not make any bill; I had the money when it was brought, except some few who paid me when they came out.

24,613. How much did you receive that evening?—I cannot tell.

24,614. Was it 5*l.*?—No, I am certain not that.

24,615. 4*l.*?—No.

22,616. 3*l.*?—I might in the day.

24,617. In the evening might it be 3*l.*?—No, I think not.

24,618. What were you paid for the room?—I was not paid anything at all for the room, but only for the liquors.

24,619. You heard the last witness say he was paid 5*l.* for his room?—Yes, but that did not fall to my bid.

21,620. What did you receive from the Monson party about the election?—All the money I received was one sovereign from Mr. Nichols.

24,621. When did you receive that?—The first time he came to see me; I cannot tell what time it was, but it was some time after the election.

21,622. It was a singular thing that Mr. Nichols should hand a man like you a sovereign?—He came and inquired which way the men were going, and so on.

21,623. "How much do you think so and so"?—No; "Which way do you think they are going"? I said, "I do not know." He said, "Well, you see "about them, and see what you can do." I said, "What is the use; if I call on them they will want "something to drink, and I will have no score." I cannot tell you every word, but the meaning of it I can.

(The Chief Commssioner.) That is enough.

(The Witness.) When he went away he put a sovereign down and asked me to do what I could. First he asked me for my vote, and I said, "I do not think I shall vote at all." He said, "You will not vote against us, if not for "us." I said, "If I do not vote for you I will "not vote at all."

21,624. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He asked what you thought of them, the voters?—Yes.

24,625. And what did you tell him; was it to know what their figure was; how much they would require?—No, not a word about that.

24,626. Did you inquire at all what they would want?—No, I did not inquire what they would want.

24,627. What did you inquire?—Which way they were going.

24,628. That would be of very little consequence, unless you could say something else to them?—Certainly.

24,629. You knew some money was going?—It did not come to me.

24,630. I am not saying anything about you; you knew money was going?—I heard so.

24,631. Mr. Nichols gave you to understand money was going?—He did not give me to understand any such thing.

24,632. Not by his manner?—No, we had very few words.

24,633. When did you vote?—Near 4 o'clock.

24,634. You had not made up your mind?—I did not intend voting at all, but I came down the town polling day.

24,635. Had you been canvassed on the part of Mr. Richardson?—No.

24,636. Were you canvassed on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Canvassed?

24,637. Yes?—I was spoken to several times, but they did not at all expect I should vote for Mr. Gower.

23,638. Who spoke to you about it?—Rose spoke to me several times in a joking way, in a bit of chaff, about it.

24,639. He spoke to you about voting?—No.

24,640. Not in a joking way?—No, he said, "You "will find our side quite as good as the other for "which you are going to give a vote."

24,641. You knew what that meant in election language?—I am quite a young beginner in election matters; I do not know much about it.

24,642. That is very easily translated, "Our side "is as good as another"?—Perhaps so.

24,643. Am I to understand that sovereign was the only money you received?—That was all the money I received, besides any of the liquors I supplied.

24,644. Either before or after the election?—That is right.

24,645. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you for what was ordered?—There were a good many in the room.

24,646. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They did not all pay?—No, perhaps some paid for some part, and another for another; one party might have treated a dozen for what I knew.

24,647. Who paid the biggest score that night?—I really do not know; I did not care but very little about the election, and I took little notice of it.

24,648. But you cared about your beer?—Yes.

24,649. And as you cared about that it is the reason why I ask you?—I cannot tell.

24,650. Did you send in any account for the beer that was not paid for?—It was all paid for, because what was not settled for in the room was paid for when they came out, then and there.

24,651. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You mean the different people in the room paid separately?—Yes.

24,652. Nobody gave you a sort of carte blanche?—There was not much beer drank; there was a drop of brandy and water.

24,653. Did anybody come to you and say, "Bur-"rell, you supply the brandy and water and I will "pay for it"?—No, there was no such order as that given.

24,654. As far as you knew did the people who had the brandy and water pay for it out of their own pockets?—I cannot say that, for there was a kind of a gathering.

24,655. Who took the money?—I did the most part, for that evening.

24,656. Who was in the chair?—Mr. Henry Francis some time.

24,657. Did he pay for the greater lot?—No, he was gone early that evening.

24,658. Whoever was in the chair did they pay a lump sum?—I do not know what Francis did, whether he left any money towards paying for it when he went away, but I noticed they got the money some times two or three from different ones.

24,659. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You saw they referred to one or two particular persons, and then they put down the money you demanded. ?—Yes.

24,660. Then there were some in the room that did not pay at all?—Yes, and some were in the room that sat and drank on their own account.

24,661. When Mr. Nichols gave you the one l. did he say that was to give a sort of free treat?—No, I was to do as well as I could for him.

24,662. To lay it out in beer?—No, I was to do the best I could for it.

24,663. After you got the 1*l.* did you give any one a glass of brandy and water?—If I did they did not know how it came; sometimes I told them that the brewer had made them a present of a glass, and sometimes that it was the spirit merchant.

24,664. Was Mr. Nichols a spirit merchant?—No.

24,665. Did you supply to the voters more than the pound's worth?—I gave them that as near as I could.

24,666. In fact Mr. Nichols gave you the 1*l.* to treat the voters?—I was to do as well as I could for them.

24,667. And you did treat some few of them to brandy and water?—I did not treat them exactly; perhaps if you came in and asked for a glass of brandy and water, and I thought you were going to vote for Mr. Monson, I would sit down and have a wet with you and fill your glass again.

24,668. (The Chief Commissioner.) I ask you who paid for most of the beer; you said it was paid for by different people?—Yes, but it was not many who took beer, but brandy and water.

24669. You do not mean that was paid for differently?—No.

24,670. Do you recollect whether James Apted was there that night?—I do not know whether he was there or not.

24,671. Do you remember his coming there after the meeting?—Afterwards he often came.

24,672. Did not James Apted pay for a good part of what was drank?—No.

24,673. Are you sure?—He did not pass the money to me; he might have paid the money back, but not through this hand; I would not say he did not, for he might have done.

24,674. Do you not remember his coming there at all?—I do not remember seeing him there at all.

24,675. Are you a married man?—Yes.

24,676. Would your wife receive money?—Yes.

24,677. Perhaps he went and paid afterwards for what was not paid that night?—It was all paid for that night.

The witness then withdrew.

GEORGE GRUTCHFIELD sworn and examined. G. Grutchfield.

24,678. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A carpenter.

24,679. What rented house?—I paid 13*l.* a year, and rates and taxes.

24,680. At the time of the election?—Yes.

24,681. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

24,682. Were you engaged on the part of Mr. Monson to work?—I set myself to work in the first place; in fact I was rather anxious for Mr. Monson.

24,683. You say you set yourself to work in the first place, and did anybody set you to work afterwards?—I told Mr. Nichols I would do what I could.

24,684. Did he encourage you to go any further?—I said previously I would vote for Mr. Monson.

24,685. In what way did Mr. Nichols encourage you to press your endeavours?—He gave me some money when I wanted it.

24,686. Did Mr. Nichols give you money when you saw him the first time?—No.

24,687. When did Mr. Nichols first give you money?—One night I asked him if he could give me some money to go on with.

24,688. How much did he give you?—A sovereign.

24,689. From time to time did he supply you with money?—Yes, a pound or two at a time; I think all the time before the election I took 8*l.* or 10*l.*; I only took it in small sums.

24,690. In canvassing did you confine yourself to any particular district?—I did not come beyond the South park, that is what they call the Holmesdale freehold.

24,691. Among whom did you canvass, was it your own fellow workmen?—Yes, I think I asked most of them in the freehold that I knew to be voters.

24,692. Had you been asked by any of your own fellow workmen to vote for Mr. Monson?—Not that I recollect.

24,693. They might have spoken to you by accident?—Yes.

24,694. Saying, "Will you vote for Mr. Monson," not knowing you were acting for Mr. Monson?—Yes, they might have done that.

24,695. How much in all did you receive before the election?—About 8*l.* or 10*l.* as near as I can recollect.

24,696. In what way did you expend the 8*l.* or 10*l.*?—I paid some of it away, and some I spent in public houses.

24,697. First of all, what did you pay away quite independently of public houses?—There were three men I gave something to.

24,698. Will you give us their names?—Henry Mitchell.

24,699. How much did you give Henry Mitchell?—2*l.*

24,700. Another?—Richard Ashdown.

24,701. What did he have?—The same, 2*l.*

24,702. Another?—Alfred Belcher, the same, 2*l.*

24,703. Was that all that you paid?—I paid 1*l.* to a man named Tullett; I believe that is all the money I paid away.

24,704. You have given these answers very properly, and I have no doubt will answer my next question equally well. What were these monies paid for?—It was for their votes.

24,705. What was Tullett's Christian name?—James.

24,706. That very nearly gets rid of the money you got from Nichols, 8*l.* or 10*l.*; are you certain of the amount you got?—No.

24,707. Did you give receipts for the money?—No, not for that.

24,708. Did you take receipts from Mitchell, Ashdown, and Belcher?—No.

24,709. Did they each of them vote for Monson?—No, Belcher laughed at me afterwards, and said he was going to vote for Mr. Gower.

24,710. Did he tell you he got more money from Mr. Gower?—No.

24,711. Or that he would get anything?—No; in the first place he told me he had not promised his vote; he asked me if I could do anything to make him turn our way, and I said, "I dare say I could;" he said his wife was very bad and a little bit would help him.

24,712. Did the others vote for Monson?—I believe Ashdown did.

24,713. And Mitchell, did he keep to his faith?—He voted for Mr. Gower; I saw him in the morning when he asked me if there would be any more; I said it would be of no use for Mr. Monson, I knew he had lost the day; and he said he would go and see whether he could get anything from the Gower party.

24,714. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who said that?—Mitchell.

24,715. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you learn from Mitchell what he received from the Gower side?—No.

24,716. As for Belcher he only told you he would go and see what he could get?—He would have voted for Mr. Monson I dare say but I told him we had lost the day, it was of no use.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

G. Grutchfield.

7 Sept. 1866.

24,717. Now Ashdown, did he vote for Gower?—No, I believe he voted for Monson.

24,718. He got 2*l.* from you, and he told us yesterday or the day before he got 5*l.* from Holdsworth for Mr. Monson?—I was not aware of that.

The Chief Commissioner stated that what Ashdown had said was he voted for Mr. Monson, Holdsworth asked him to his house five or six weeks before the election, and the week after the election he had 5*l.* from Holdsworth; Ashdown also said he got 2*l.* in '63 from Joyes.

24,719. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You laid out the other money in beer and refreshments, you said? Yes; within a few shillings.

24,720. Was this in the ordinary business of canvassing?—I hardly know where to draw the line between what was legal or what was not.

24,721. Was it in this way, that when you met with a voter and thought you could get on better with him with a glass of brandy and water, you did it?—Certainly; they would not listen to me without something to drink.

24,722. Was it in this way directly you asked a man for his vote, "What are you going to stand?"—No; the greater part said the Gower party had been beforehand and made it all right, and when they said they had given a promise to Mr. Gower I did not proceed.

24,723. And when you found they had not given a promise to Mr. Gower?—Then I tried what I could do.

24,724. How was it you tried to work on their good feelings?—I asked if they wanted anything, and so on.

24,725. You did not talk to them about their political principles?—No; some one said they thought Gower was the best man, and I said I considered Monson was the best.

24,726. Nothing further than that?—No,

24,727. And then came brandy and water?—I tried them very fair.

24,728. Was it only when it was just at the house, and in your way?—No; not particularly.

24,729. Did you pay any more than those four men you have mentioned?—No; those are the only men I paid.

24,730. Did Tullett vote?—He voted for Gower; I saw him the morning of the election, and I saw some of Mr. Gower's people talking to him. I was in the "White Hart" looking through the window, and I saw one or two of Mr. Gower's supporters talking to him, and one or two in the place said, "They are "taking our man away."

24,731. Did you go out of the room?—I walked till I came to the town hall, and met him as if by accident He told me he wished to speak to me, I asked him what it was about, he said he had altered his mind, that he had given me a promise but had altered his mind, and that he thought it quite right he should give me the money back again.

24,732. And he gave you the 1*l.*?—Yes; I asked him the reason, and he said, all his other mates were going for Mr. Gower, and he was afraid they would chaff him.

24,733. Did you know any of those people who were talking to Tullett in that suspicious way?—I saw Mr. Austin talking to him, I do not know whether it was suspicious.

24,734. The gentleman who was supposed to supply new hats for old ones?—I don't know.

24,735. I do not say he did, it was only supposed. Did Tullett say he had received any promise from the other side?—I asked him to give a reason, he said all his mates were going for Mr. Gower and he was afraid they would chaff him; I told him I did not consider that was a strong reason.

24,736. (The Chief Commissioner.) And he gave you the 1*l.* back?—Yes.

24,737. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he say he had received anything from the other side?—No; he said he had not received anything.

24,738. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before had you paid him the sovereign?—Two or three weeks.

24,739. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is Tullett a working man?—Yes, he is a gardener.

24,740. This was on the Wednesday?—No, it was on the Saturday before the polling.

24,741. Did you receive the 1*l.* from him?—Yes, sir.

24,742. What time in the day was it?—In the morning, somewhere about 12, I should think.

24,743. Was he a gardener working on job work, or a regular gardener?—A working gardener.

24,744. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tullett said it was 2*l.*?—He must have made a mistake if he said two.

24,745. He said, "It was the same 2*l.* I received, "and I wished to return it;" he said he did not like to tell his wife. How do you explain the difference between the one and two pounds?—I cannot explain that, I can tell positively I gave him 1*l.*, and received 1*l.* back.

24,746. Did you say you promised him another pound?—When I went canvassing he asked me what I could do for him, I said I dare say I could get him another 1*l.*; he said he understood the other side were promising 4*l.* or 5*l.*, and I told him he had better not take a promise; he said if I could give it him he would go with me, and I said if you come over in a day or two I will give you 1*l.*, and the other another time.

24,747. (Mr Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive anything after the election?—I did.

24,748. How much?—I told Mr. Nichols I had expended all my money and I had nothing for myself; he said I ought to have something for myself, as he knew I worked hard; he said I was to leave it to him; and I received 5*l.* a month or two afterwards, and gave him a stamped receipt for it.

24,749. And this is your receipt (showing a paper writing to the witness)?—Yes.

24,750. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that all you received for yourself?—I might have had a shilling or two.

24,751. I do not mean that?—Certainly that was all I received for myself.

24,752. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And that is all you expect?—Yes.

24,753. When you moved about in the election did you see what was going on with the Gower party?—I did not go much about there.

24,754. Did you see much difference so far as you could observe between the Gower and the Monson party as to treating?—Not a great deal.

24,755. Much about alike?—Yes.

24,756. Did you vote in 1863?—I did.

24,757. Who did you vote for in 1863?—I voted with Mr. Wilkinson.

24,758. Did you get anything in 1863?—Yes, I received a couple of pounds.

24,759. (The Chief Commissioner.) From whom? Mr. Frederick Joyes.

24,760. Did you take an active part then?—Rather, but not very; I felt rather interested, and promised Mr. Wilkinson when he first asked me.

24,761. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you voted before?—No, that was the first time I was entitled to vote.

24,762. Have you voted at the municipal elections?—Yes.

24,763. Have you ever received any money for those votes?—No.

24,764. Have you known of money being paid for votes at municipal elections?—No.

24,765. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson, when you got 2*l.*; perhaps you cannot remember whether you gave a receipt to Joyes for that 2*l.*?—I believe I did put it down on a piece of paper, but I am not sure.

24,766. Had you voted at an earlier election?—No.

24,767. That was your first election?—Yes.

24,768. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you think there was as much treating in '63 as '65?—I did not see a great deal of treating in 1863, for I did not attend public houses much.

24,769. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you sat as a sub-chairman or something of that sort?—Yes.

24,770. Did you notice what went on amongst the Gower people as well as your own people?—No, I did not.

24,771. Were you at any of the Gower meetings?—I was for a few minutes, when Mr. Gower held a meeting at the freehold hall.

24,772. There was no great treating there?—Not just there, I saw a great many of them at the "Barley Mow."

24,773. Are you aware, and do not answer me hastily, are you aware of a single vote given at the last election by any person you canvassed or had anything to do with that was given quite honestly without any money or money's worth; can you tell me of any man who you think voted from his conscience?—Several told me they did.

24,774. I ask you as a man of experience?—I am afraid I cannot tell.

24,775. If anything of consequence depended upon it do you think you could put your hand on a single independent voter among the class of men you dealt with?—No, I should be afraid to say I could.

24,776. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not think you could mention a single independent man among the class we have been speaking of?—Not to be sure.

24,777. Do you yourself believe you could put your hand on any man that gave an independent vote at the last election among those persons whom you were daily with?—There are some I have no reason to think different.

24,778. You gave me an answer that you did not think you could, I do not wish to take that answer if you want to qualify it at all; it is the first time I have ventured the question, and I wish you to give me your true and candid answer?—There were one or two who told me they went on principle, and I have no reason to think otherwise.

24,779. Do you believe you could put your hand on one or two men who gave an independent vote?—I think it possible.

24,780. You quite understand me?—Yes.

24,781. I am going on with this the least little bit in the world more. Do you think there were more than one or two or three, as far as you can judge?—Not amongst those I had business with.

24,782. You worked in the Holmesdale district, and got a great deal of experience about the last election?—Yes.

24,783. There were a great many voters came under your notice?—A large part of the constituency.

24,784. Now I do not say a large proportion to the whole, but were not a great number of the constituents within your duty also?—Yes.

24,785. Taking it in that district, amongst the persons, the class of persons, you have mentioned, should you say there may be one, two, or three persons who have given an independent vote? Do you think you could fix on any one in the Holmesdale district? I mention no names, and every one therefore may believe himself to be the one, but in the Holmesdale district do you think you could put your hand on any man who has given an independent vote?—I should think it possible.

24,786. That is of the one, two, or three?—Yes.

24,787. You think one, two, or three may have given an independent vote within the Holmesdale district?—Yes.

24,788. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) About how many voters are there in the freehold of the class of voters you are speaking of, the working classes?—I really forget now, possibly 40 or 50, but I cannot speak from certainty.

24,789. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you get any promise for Mr. Monson and the voter voted for Mr. Monson without payment?—Yes.

24,790. Are those the two or three you spoke of?—I do not know.

The witness withdrew.

PETER WORNHAM sworn and examined.

24,791. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A fly driver.

24,792. Where do you carry on your business?—At Redhill.

24,793. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* 6*d.* a week.

24,794. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

24,795. Who canvassed and spoke to you about the last election?—Mr. Gower spoke to me himself, and I did not promise him or anyone else.

24,796. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

24,797. Who spoke to you after?—Mr Green; I was out of employment at the time, and I had to carry out circulars.

24,798. It was upon Mr. Green's suggestion that you were engaged?—Yes, I carried out some circulars and he paid me 5*s.* to carry them out for a day.

24,799. 5*s.* a day?—I only worked one day for Mr. Gower.

24,800. How long before the election was that?—About a month, or five weeks perhaps.

24,801. Did you not promise any person at all that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—No, I never promised anyone; Mr. Gower came, but I never promised him.

24,802. Were you spoken to at all on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Yes.

24,803. Who spoke to you?—Mr. Shepherd.

28,804. Mr. Shepherd, the railway man?—Yes.

24,805. Do you know where he is now?—No.

24,806. I suppose he told you what they were doing at the railway?—He said that I could have 30*s.* a week if I liked to have my name put on the committee.

23,807. I suppose you agreed to that?—Yes.

24,808. And received the 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

24,809. Did he pay yourself every week?—Yes.

24,810. I suppose you used to ply about the railway, you used to drive amongst the railway people?—Yes.

24,811. Did you attend their meetings amongst themselves?—Never but once, and that was for a very short time.

24,812. Did you attend any of their meetings amongst themselves?—No, not amongst themselves.

24,813. You knew that they were expecting to get more from Mr. Shepherd?—I heard so.

24,814. Did you authorize your name to be put down amongst those who were applying for more?—Yes, I told Mr. Shepherd that he could put down my name on those terms.

24,815. You expected 30*s.* more?—I expected 30*s.* a week for the month, and there was something said about the polling and nomination days.

24,816. You could not get the balance?—I did not put any trust in the polling and nomination days. I wanted the 30*s.* up to the end of the month.

24,817. You thought it was of no use?—I saw that it was all up before that.

24,818. You mean after the polling day?—I did not care for the polling day. I wanted 30*s.* a week to the end of the month.

24,819. You intended to vote for Mr. Monson up to the polling day?—I did intend up to the polling day, when I saw Mr. Shepherd in the morning.

24,820–1. Not from the beginning of everything you did not?—Yes I did, if they had liked to come to the scratch according to their promise.

24,822. You saw Mr. Shepherd on the morning of the polling day and then you told him that you must have a little more money?—I told him that if he did not come up to the scratch my contract was broken.

FIFTEENTH DAY.

P. Wornham.

7 Sep. 1866.

24,823. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the scratch?—I was to have a month's pay.

24,824. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you wanted 30*s.*, and you would put the polling day in for nothing?—I did not say anything about that.

24,825. You told Mr. Shepherd that you would throw that in?—I did.

24,826. I dare say he was vexed at it?—He made no answer.

24,827. And then you in a fit of anger voted for Mr. Gower?—I did.

24,828. Did you not see any of the Gower people in the meantime?—No, I voluntarily voted for Mr. Gower after that.

24,829. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had had 5*s.* from him?—Yes, I had.

24,830. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Never mind about the 5*s.*, you worked for that. I suppose you were angry with the Monson party for not keeping up to the agreement with you?—I was not very well pleased.

24,831. Then you voted the other way out of spite and anger?—Yes.

24,832. You did not get any money from the Gower party?—None at all, excepting the 5*s.* I had from Mr. Green.

24,833. You worked for that, you did not do anything for the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—No.

24,834. You are a man who are not a railway man, can you tell me any more, besides railway men, whom you knew who was in the Shepherd party; you knew David Boscawen?—Yes.

24,835. He was in the Shepherd party and bolted like yourself; do you know anybody else except the railway men?—I do not.

24,836. Did you take any of the Gower men to the poll in your fly?—No.

24,837. Had you not a fly that day, and did you not drive them to the poll?—Yes; I drove several people to the poll.

24,838. The Gower people?—The Gower people.

24,839. You were engaged all day in conveying the Gower people up to the poll?—Yes.

24,840. You drove for Mr. Laker, did you not?—I was out of employment, and I drove them; I was not a servant.

24,841. Were you a servant to Mr. Laker that day?—Yes.

24,842. You drove for Mr. Laker?—Yes.

24,843. You drove the Gowerites, did you not?—Yes.

24,844. You could not look a Monsonite in the face; what did you get for conveying all these Gowerites that day?—We worked hard from morning to night.

24,845. What were you paid?—7*s.* for polling day and 4*s.* for nomination day.

24,846. You were paid more than that?—That was all that I was paid.

29,847. One person we had here was to have had 1*l.*; you got more than 7*s.* for driving?—That is what we were paid, 7*s.* for polling day and 4*s.* for nomination day.

24,848. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not know what Mr. Laker arranged with the Gower party, you are only speaking for yourself?—That is all.

24,849. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When you voted did you drive yourself, or were you driven by somebody? Did you not have a coachman then?—Yes.

24,850. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What coachman were you driven by?—One of our men, of course.

24,851. You were a fare then?—He picked me up in the street and drove me about 20 yards.

24,852. (The Chief Commissioner.) You would not walk the 20 yards?—No.

24,853. What day was it that you made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower?—On the polling day.

24,854. Did you see Boscawen that morning?—No.

24,855. Had you any talk with him?—No.

24,856. Try and recollect?—I am certain of it, Boscawen is a man I scarcely ever spoke to; Boscawen never mentioned the election to me, nor did I.

24,857. When was it you first made up your mind to vote for Mr. Gower?—On the polling morning.

24,858. I want to know when you got up what were you, a Monsonite or a Gowerite, when you got out of bed?—Oh, a Monsonite.

24,859. Where did you breakfast?—I breakfasted at home.

24,860. We have got you now till after breakfast; when did you turn Gowerite?—After I had seen Mr. Shepherd as I was walking down the street.

24,861. You only threatened him and said, "If you "do not do better I shall consider the contract at an "end." I want to know when it was that you turned to Mr. Gower?—After I spoke to Mr. Shepherd.

24,862. How soon after?—Directly; I waited for an hour.

24,863. You saw Mr. Shepherd, and left him because he would not come up to the scratch; what time of the day was that?—About 9 o'clock.

24,864. About what o'clock do you suppose you decided for Mr. Gower?—About 11.

24,865. I wish you would candidly tell me what happened in those two hours?—I cannot recollect; I do not know that there was anything particular happened.

24,866. Did you see any of the Gower people between 9 o'clock and 11?—I do not recollect.

24,867. At that time were you engaged to drive for Mr. Laker?—I had been months before that.

24,868. For that day?—Yes, and months before that.

24,869. Were you in Mr. Laker's employ the day before?—Yes, and all last summer.

24,870. At the time of the polling day had you been in Mr. Laker's employ some little time?—Yes.

24,871. Had you been receiving wages day by day from Mr. Laker?—No, only what I got for driving gentlemen about the country; no wages at all.

24,872. When they wanted a driver they asked you to get on the box. Had you any engagement for the polling day?—Yes, I had an engagement to drive for Mr. Laker.

24,873. Had you that engagement before 9 o'clock?—No.

24,874. About what time in the day did you see Mr. Laker and were engaged by him to drive; was it about 10 o'clock?—Between 11 and 12 o'clock.

24,875. You had only made up your mind at 11 o'clock to go for Mr. Gower?—No, that was all.

24,876. Was it not that job which turned you?—No.

24,877. You had nothing to do that day till 11 o'clock, when you saw Mr. Laker and he told you to get up on the box, or something like that; Mr. Laker was a Gowerite and you drove for him the Gower voters to the poll?—I had driven Mr. Monson's before that.

24,878. On the day you drove Gower voters it was that, was it not, that turned you?—No.

24,879. Why not?—It was not that at all.

24,880. Do tell me what it was?—I told you I considered my contract was broken if I was not paid my month up, and then I turned round and voted directly for Mr. Gower.

24,881. You did not do it out of spite to Mr. Shepherd?—I did not do it for anything else.

24,882. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know a man named Bonny?—He called upon me more than once and asked me.

24,883. Is he at all connected with you?—He married my daughter.

24,884. He was very active for Mr. Gower, he was a leading man on Mr. Gower's side?—I had not been in Bonny's house for many months; he was a leading man for Mr. Gower, I believe, but he did not lead me.

24,885. What I want to know is, at the time he was a very able and active man for Mr. Gower, was he aware of the arrangement between you and Shepherd?—Yes, I think that he was.

24,886. When did you make him aware of the arrangement between you and Shepherd?—I never said anything to Bonny about it.

24,887. You say he was aware of it?—He knew very well.

24,888. How did he know it?—I cannot tell.

24,889. How did you know that he knew it?—He told me of it.

24,890. When did he tell you of it?—In the street, he told me that he was quite surprised.

24,891. That he was quite surprised that you should enter into any arrangement with Shepherd?—Yes.

24,892. How soon before the polling day did he tell you that?—I am sure I cannot recollect; it may have been a week or ten days.

24,893. You saw Bonny on the polling day?—Yes, I did.

29,894. Did you see him the morning before you saw Shepherd?—No.

24,895. The evening before you saw him?—I did not.

24,896. You saw him that morning, then?—I saw him after.

24,897. And told him it was all up with Shepherd?—No, I never mentioned Shepherd's name to him.

24,898. But you told him you were no longer a Monsonite?—No, I never said anything to him about it.

24,899. He was a leading man and your son-in-law, and you knew it would be great glory to him if he got you over; you knew he would pride himself in getting a voter for Mr. Gower?—He did not get me, neither Bonny, or anybody else.

24,900. Tell me what conversation you had with Bonny after you had seen Shepherd?—I told Bonny I should not vote for Mr. Monson; he said, "Well, will "you make up your mind and vote for Mr. Gower:" I said I should not say anything at all about it. Half an hour afterwards I made up my mind to vote for Mr. Gower.

24,901. You had a conversation with Bonny?—No conversation no more than that.

24,902. Does he live near you?—Not far from me.

24,903. He lived at Redhill?—Yes.

24,904. You had been at Bonny's house that morning, had you not?—No.

24,905. Did he come to you?—I met him in the street.

24,906. Where in the street, you were not walking about?—He was coming towards the town hall and I was going up towards the post office.

24,907. Then you told him you were a free man, and half an hour afterwards you told him you should vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

24,908. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You told me some time ago you were put in a carriage and went and voted like a gentleman for Mr. Gower. Was that before you were engaged by Mr. Laker to drive for the day?—I believe it was.

24,909. After you had voted for Mr. Gower you went to Mr. Laker?—Yes.

24,910. You did not drive his carriage the whole day, only for part of the day, and then you got 7*s.*?—Yes.

24,911. (The Chief Commissioner.) All that time, then, Mr. Gower was the person you wanted to vote for, only you had been flirting with Mr. Monson, and voted as you wished at last?—I did.

24,912. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you do any work at all for the 4*l.* 10*s.* you got from Shepherd?—Nothing.

24,913. If you did nothing for the 4*l.* 10*s.* and you were not going to vote for Mr. Monson, would it not have been more honest to have returned the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I expect it would.

24,914. You never dreamt of returning it?—No.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS BARKER sworn and examined. T. Barker.

24,915. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tailor.

24,916. How much rent do you pay for your tenement?—20*l.* a year.

24,917. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

24,918. Did you serve on the committee or anything?—I was a canvasser.

24,919. Were you returned as a canvasser?—Yes, I had a canvassing book.

24,920. Who gave it you?—It was a common register.

24,921. Who gave it you?—I had it from the committee room.

24,922. Who gave it you?—There were several laying on the table.

24,923. You do not remember any one coming up and saying, "Here, Barker, here is a book for you"?—No.

24,924. Who was it put your on the committee?—Mr. Monson asked me to go on.

24,925. Who was it put you on the committee? Some of his agents did, I suppose?—I do not know.

24,926. You had some conversation with somebody besides Mr. Monson himself about voting for him?—I promised Mr. Monson my vote three or four months before the election, after Mr. Wilkinson died.

24,927. When the election came on it was renewed again, and who asked you for your vote then?—Mr. Monson called on me.

24,928. Did one of his agents talk to you?—Mr. Nichols.

24,929. Did Mr. Nichols ask you if you would go on his committee?—Yes.

24,930. On what terms?—There was nothing mentioned about terms.

24,931. What was said?—There was nothing said about terms.

24,932. No, not exactly about terms, but he said will you go on his committee; and what was said?—He said, "Go on and work for me."

24,933. Well, and if you did go on, what then?—I should be paid for it.

24,934. You did go to work and were a canvasser; did you do much for him then, or did your own business keep you at your own work principally?—I did so in the evening after. I could attend to my own business and that as well.

24,935. Did you get many votes for Mr. Monson?—You might as well ask a man for his life as ask him for his vote.

24,936. Why?—If you had not got money to give him.

24,237. You did not ask them?—Oh, yes, I asked many.

24,938. Did you have money passing through your hands?—No, I did not carry any election money.

24,939. When did you come to definite terms about the pay?—I cannot say, but I sent in my canvassing bill when Mr. Hart advertised in the paper.

24,940. I understand, after the election?—Yes; then I sent my bill in for canvassing services.

24,941. For how much?—15*l.*

24,942. You did not get it did you?—I did not.

24,943. You only got 10*l.* I think?—Mr. Hart called on me and gave me 10*l.*, and I accepted it.

24,944. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In full?—Yes, as he could not give any more.

24,945. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you gave him a stamped receipt, I think?—I did, I believe, on my counter.

24,946. That is it, is it not (handing paper to witness)?—That is it.

24,947. I see the 15*l.* was altered into 10*l.* While you were a canvasser did Mr. Gower's party apply to you at all?—They did not.

24,948. Knowing that you were a canvasser and that the Monson party thought well of you, did not the Gower party try to gain your assistance?—Not at all.

24,949. Had you any application from anybody?—Not any.

24,950. You were not offered any money?—I was not offered any money.

24,951. Now in 1863 be kind enough to tell me who you voted for?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

24,952. What were you on that election?—A canvasser.

24,953. Did you do much the same sort of duties?—The same, I took the same district.

24,954. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And with the same success?—With pretty nearly the same success.

24,955. You did not get any one in 1865?—No.

24,956. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was the arrangement made with you then; who engaged you?—Mr. James.

24,957. He engaged your services himself?—Yes, I stood at the crossway on the first Christmas holiday, the day after Christmas day; I never knew Mr. James before.

24,958. But he heard of you?—Very likely he knew me, though he had not seen me; he pulled up his carriage and said, "Is your name Barker"? I said "Yes, it is, how do you know my name is "Barker." He said "Because I got it."

24,959. On what terms did Mr. James engage your services?—He asked me whether I would go round as far as Holden's with him. I jumped into the fly. After he asked me to go to Mr. Laker's hotel with him, and he asked me if I would go and canvass this election as I had done previously. I said yes, I would, on the same terms.

24,960. On the same terms as the previous election?—On the terms of the previous election for Mr. Wilkinson. He then gave me a written agreement for the same money I had at the previous election.

24,961. What were you to have?—15*l.*

24,962. Did you receive it?—I did, directly after the election was over.

24,963. You voted that time?—No, I had no vote in 1863.

24,964. Never before 1865?—Oh, yes, at several elections, but not in 1863.

24,965. You had an opportunity of seeing what was going on in 1863; will you be kind enough to tell us was there much difference between the election of 1863 and 1865?—A good deal.

24,966. There was?—Yes.

24,967. Be kind enough to tell me how?—There was more drinking, considerably more.

24,968. When?—In 1863.

24,969. There was more drinking in 1863?—Yes.

24,970. Now I wish your opinion about money; was money as easy?—Quite as easy as it was before, and rather more plentiful.

24,971. Not before, but between 1863 and 1865, is what I want?—More plentiful in 1863, I think, than in 1865.

24,972. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On both sides, I suppose you will say?—More on Mr. Gower's side I think than on Mr. Wilkinson's, if there was any difference, but there was very little difference.

24,973. (The Chief Commissioner.) Does anything strike you about those two elections that is worth telling me beyond what I ask you, was treating much the same?—Yes, plenty of drinking everywhere; I do not believe there was a place in the parish, a small beer shop or large hotel, but what was engaged as a committee house.

24,974. In 1863 you had no vote; at the general election of 1859 you had a vote, I suppose?—Yes.

24,975. Who did you vote for in 1859?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

24,976. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien) Were you a canvasser?—I was a canvasser then.

24,977. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. James paid you 15*l.* on that occasion?—Mr. Cape in 1859.

24,978. He was the conducting agent, I suppose?—Mr. Cape was the head agent.

24,979. Mr. Cape then asked you to do the same thing as Mr. James did in the election of 1863; that was the same business?—I went on canvassing for them about 12 or 14 days before the election for Mr. Cape.

24,980. How long had you canvassed in 1863?—I went on the day after Christmas day till when the election came off, it was eight or nine weeks.

24,981. In 1859 it was only 12 or 13 days?—Only 12 or 13 days.

24,982. You got 15*l.*?—I had a written agreement for 12*l.*, and then they paid me 15*l.*

24,983. You had a vote that time?—I had a vote.

24,984. You gave it for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

24,985. You had nothing to do that time with paying money?—Not the least whatever.

24,986. You never had?—I never kept the purse.

24,987. Had you a good canvass, did you get voters that time?—Not many.

24,988. About the same sort of difficulty about it?—Yes.

24,989. Just the same as when you told us just now about asking a man for his life?—Yes.

24,990. In 1859, in comparison with the other elections, was that much about the same as to money and treating?—There was not quite so much money going then as in 1863.

24,991. You mean not quite so much?—Not quite so much money.

24,992. Now about the treating and refreshment, or whatever you like to call it, that was much the same?—About the same.

24,993. If anybody wanted anything to drink was it just as easy to get without paying?—Wherever there was a meeting, whether at Earlswood-common or in Reigate-town, there was plenty of drinking going on.

24,994. There was not much difference between 1859 and 1863?—Not a great deal.

24,995. Had you anything to do with the elections of 1858?—I had with Mr. Doulton's.

24,996. Nothing to do with the other election in 1858?—I was over on the nomination day when they proposed Mr. Wilkinson; he was proposed by Mr. Apted and seconded by Mr. Joyes, but I believe it was unbeknown to him, and merely to give Mr. Monson a bit of a run.

24,997. Were you here on Mr. Doulton's election?—Yes, that was the first time I went on as a canvasser.

24,998. You were a canvasser then?—Yes.

24,999. For whom?—For Mr. Doulton.

25,000. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you a vote then?—Yes.

25,001. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who engaged you?—Mr. Trueman and Mr. Murphy were the head agents.

25,002. (The Chief Commissioner.) Whom did you give your vote to?—Mr. Doulton.

25,003. Who was the head agent who put you on then, if it was the head agent?—Mr. Murphy and Mr. Trueman.

25,004. Both together ?—Yes, they were the head agents ; they agreed with me in the market square.

25,005. They agreed with you in the market square ?—Yes. Previous to that Mr. Featherstone had applied to me for Mr. Doulton, and said I should have 12*s.* a day.

25,006. How long was that before the election ?—23 days ; I know that by the amount I received.

25,007. 12*s.* a day ?—No, that was Mr. Featherstone said he would agree with me for 12*s.* a day, but understand I did not take that.

25,008. I quite understand you?—I came over to Reigate and promiscuously ran across Mr. Doulton, and I then went over to the "White Hart" and agreed with Mr. Murphy and Mr. Trueman.

25,009. What was the arrangement there ?—They agreed to give me a guinea a day.

25,010. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did Mr. Doulton say to you ?—Mr. Doulton asked me to tell him where Job Apted lived ; I did so, and went across the square and showed him where Job Apted lived.

25,011. Did Mr. Doulton tell you to see Mr. Murphy and Mr. Trueman ?—No.

25,012. Did he speak to you about coming on his committee ?—No, and he never asked me for my vote.

25,013. (The Chief Commissioner.) How many days were you to have the guineas ?—23.

25,014. Were you paid the 23 guineas ?—Yes.

25,015. Who paid you ?—Mr. Trueman.

25,016. When were you paid ? How soon after the election ?—A very few days ; they paid every week, but I took the whole.

25,017. Was there much canvassing at the time when you were engaged for Mr. Doulton ? Was there much canvassing of you by Mr. Rawlinson and Mr. Monson ?—I believe Mr. Monson called on me.

25,018. Were they teasing you to go over to them ?—No.

25,019. Were they trying to bribe you over ?—No, no one offered to bribe me on any terms.

25,020. I want you to tell me about the election ; in your opinion, in the election of Mr. Doulton, what do you think about that as compared with the other elections ?—That was the first bribed election that ever was had in this place.

25,021. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have seen other elections ?—Yes, I attended on several occasions.

25,022. And took an active part in other elections ?—Yes.

25,023. That was the first election at which you saw any treating ?—The first election at which I knew the men were paid for their time and bribed.

25,024. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said, I think, that that was the first bribed election ?—Yes, the first election that men were ever paid money.

25,025. Was there plenty of treating going on at Mr. Doulton's election ?—Every man paid his own, I believe, in Mr. Doulton's election.

25,026. How was that ?—They paid so much, and then they were paid by others ; some men had votes, and perhaps two or three boys carried boards and had 2*s.* 6*d.* a day ; they were paid every Friday night at 4 o'clock ; every man was paid.

25,027. Could not they go into public houses ?—No ; if there was any meeting of a night, why then it was paid by the committee.

25,028. Then there was plenty given away ?—Yes.

25,029. There were plenty of refreshments of an evening ?—Yes, whenever there was a meeting.

25,030. Were houses open ?—No, only a short time, while the meeting was on.

25,031. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was there a night without a meeting ?—No.

25,032. Was there ever a night without some three or four meetings ?—Sometimes three or four. I have attended three or four in a night myself.

25,033. And the same thing happening ?—Yes, you could have whatever you liked.

25,034. That would be in the various districts ?—Yes, all the different districts ; Reigate-heath more perhaps than anywhere else ; wherever there was a meeting called.

25,035. And that meeting was very frequent ?—Yes.

25,036. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want to get some more out of you. What was your opinion as to the Doulton election, because you say it was the first bribery election you had ever had ; was there plenty of money going then ?—There was plenty of money going to everybody.

25,037. So far as you can recollect, was there money going for the other people as well as Mr. Doulton ?—No doubt of it. I do not know for certain, and therefore perhaps I ought not to say so, but I have no doubt of it.

25,038. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are speaking of your own opinion ?—Quite so.

25,039. You are speaking of what you know of Mr. Doulton ?—Quite so.

25,040. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you tell me, in Mr. Doulton's election, do you know what was the highest figure that you have ever known paid to a man ?—Oh, 10*s.* a day and 12*s.* a day, all manner of prices.

25 041. You know of men more than that ; did you ever know of any lump sum given for a man's vote with nominal services ?—No.

25,042. You do not ?—No.

25,043. Do you know of any lump sum given to any one at all ?—No, it was all paid for what we call labour ; it was like a little factory every Friday night, every man was taking his money.

25,044. All the voters ?—Yes, for election pay, every Friday night, at the "Royal Oak," Redhill.

25,045. That is all I am going to ask you. If you have anything to tell me I should be glad to hear about anything with respect to the elections ?—I have only a little to say about one election, so far as I know ; that was the election of 1863, for which I was concerned.

25,046. What is that ?—About the last day before polling day there were several voters stood out, and Mr. James asked me to go and see them. I went to see them, and they told me they would not vote under a certain price. I took their names on a piece of paper, and brought it to Swan in Reigate and gave it to William Langridge to take it to Mr. James, who was in the committee room, and he sent out the money.

25,047. Will you be kind enough to tell me, so far as you can remember, how many voters there were, how many names you took down ?—I can give you the names.

25,048. Never mind the names at present ; tell me, if you please, how many of the voters were there ?—Five.

25,049. And what was their price ?—Two of them 8*l.* each, one 7*l.*, and the other two 4*l.*

25,050. Have you any objection to tell me their names ?—Not in the least. Edward Langton, 7*l.* ; Richard Bennett, 4*l.* ; Davey, 4*l.*, I do not know his Christian name ; Edward Dale, 8*l.* ; and Thomas Dale, 8*l.*

25,051. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time in the day was that ?—About 5 in the afternoon, I think.

25,052. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are they all living ?—Most of them.

25,053. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is there anything else you can tell me ?—I do not know of anything else. I think that is all I know.

25,054. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is Davey living now ?—Yes, at Redhill. Langton gave his evidence, and said that Westley dealt with him. Westley did deal with him, I think, but he would not take the money unless it came through me.

25,055. Davey of Brighton-road, is it ?—Yes.

25,056. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that

FIFTEENTH DAY.

T. Barker.

7 Sept. 1866.

about the price at the election?—There were all prices, but that was their price.

25,057. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was not on the day of polling?—No, the evening before; I gave the two Dales the money the night before the polling, and the other three I paid in the morning.

25,058. Did they vote true?—Yes, all true.

25,059. They kept to their word?—Yes.

25,060. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you ever hear that after these voters had received money they separated, and voted some one way and some another?—Which men?

25,061. Langton, Bennett, Davey, and the two Dales?—They voted all for Mr. Wilkinson, all together but they had been on Mr. Gower's previous to that.

25,062. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know of any people who voted twice on the same election, and pretended that they had not voted before, and voted twice?—I do not know anything about that.

25,063. I understand you that that is the only money you actually laid out?—That was all.

The Commissioners said that they were very much obliged to the witness for the manner in which he had given his evidence, and the information he had given them.

The witness withdrew.

J. Butler.

JAMES BUTLER sworn and examined.

25,064. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—I kept a beer shop.

25,065. What are you?—I go to work at a saw mill now.

25,066. What rent do you pay?—25*l.* a year.

25,067. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

25,068. Were you on his committee?—No.

25,069. What did you get for it?—Nothing.

25,070. You received no money at all?—No money at all.

25,071. From anybody?—No.

25,072. Who did you promise your vote for Mr. Monson to?—Mr. Monson.

25,073. Did not you promise anybody else?—No, I promised him in the first place. Mr. Gower asked me, attended by Mr. Smith, and Mr. Smith said, "Oh, he is for Mr. Monson."

25,074. May I take it that you did not receive anything?—I did not receive anything.

25,075. In any shape or or form?—No.

25,076. Neither promise or money?—No, I never asked for it.

25,077. Neither promise, or money, or any other consideration?—No.

25,078. Had you voted at the former election of 1863?—Yes.

25,079. For whom?—Mr. Wilkinson.

25,080. Were you on his committee?—No.

25,081. Did you receive anything at the election?—Yes, what I worked for.

25,082. How much?—Six weeks.

25,083. How much did you receive?—5*s.* a day.

25,084. How much did you receive? Was it 9*l.*?—Yes, I took at work 20*s.* a week.

25,085. For whom?—Mr. James.

25,086. Had you voted at a former election?—No, I had no vote before.

25,087. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. James paid you?—Yes.

25,088. When?—Every Saturday night.

25,089. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I must inquire more particularly about the last election in 1863. You were paid 9*l.* that time?—Yes, I was working from 9 o'clock in the morning till sometimes 9 or 10 at night.

25,090. Did not your name appear on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

25,091. You know he had a great number of men got for him?—No.

25,092. Did you canvass at all for him?—No.

25,093. Were you asked to canvass?—No.

25,094. You lost your days polling day and nomination day?—Yes.

25,095. You lost your time?—Yes.

25,096. What were you paid for that?—The same right through.

25,097. I am speaking of the last time, 1865. What were you paid for nomination and polling day?—10*s.* each day.

25,098. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the last election?—The last election but one.

25,099. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am speaking of 1865; you were paid for the nomination day and polling day?—Oh, at the last election I had nothing at all. I thought you were speaking of 1863. I had nothing at all in 1865.

25,100. But you lost your time on polling day and nomination day; how was it you lost your time?—That was my own pleasure. I was not promised anything.

25,101. Did you not get anything afterwards?—No.

25,102. Who asked you to go on the committee?—No one that I know of.

25,103. Were you on the committee?—No.

25,104. Who took you to the poll?—I went by myself.

25,105. Did you not ride there, or were you not driven there?—No, I was in the town all the day.

25,106. You knew some very intimate friend of Mr. Monson, did you?—I know pretty nearly every one.

25,107. How is it you are such a staunch friend to Mr. Monson?—He saw me, as I said; he came to my house.

25,108. Where did you live?—Lesbourne-lane.

25,109. You had not received any money?—No.

25,110. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a freeholder, or do you pay rent?—I pay rent.

25,111. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not charge anything either for the polling day or for nomination?—No, I wanted to vote for Mr. Monson, as he had called on me and I had promised him in the first place.

25,112. Why did you vote for him?—I never had voted for Mr. Gower. I voted for Mr. Wilkinson before that time. Mr. Monson came to me first, and I promised him first.

25,113. Did you see much of what was going on this last election?—No, I was at work every day, and weeks before I was.

The witness withdrew.

The Inquiry was here adjourned till 11 o'clock the following morning.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Saturday, 8th September 1866.

JOHN THOMAS WHITEAR sworn and examined.

25,114. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A ticket collector.

25,115. What rent do you pay for your house?—4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

25,116. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

25,117. Did you talk to Shepherd about it?—No.

25,118. Did he talk to you then?—Yes, he talked to me once respecting it.

25,119. Did you make an arrangement with Shepherd the same as most of the other railway men had made?—No.

25,120. Did Shepherd propose it to you?—No.

25,121. Did you hear of any arrangement being made?—No. I was asked.

25,122. By whom?—Mr. McMillan, the driver, if I would mind being on the committee.

25,123. What did you say?—I said, as I lived in London, if I could be of any use I would do so.

25,124. Were you put on the committee?—Yes.

25,125. Did you work?—No.

25,126. You went on doing your work as ticket collector as regular as usual?—Yes.

25,127. Did you afterwards receive from Shepherd notice of what terms you would be on?—No, from McMillan.

25,128. Did Mr. McMillan tell you what the terms were?—Yes; 30*s.* a week.

25,129. And the remainder afterwards?—Nothing.

25,130. Tell me, if you please, what you received afterwards?—Nothing after.

25,131. I mean after the conversation with McMullan?—4*l.* 10*s.*

25,132. You did not receive it weekly, did you?—No.

25,133. It is a curious thing, but it is exactly the same sum as the other men had, and yet you say you knew nothing of their arrangement?—I am employed in London.

25,134. Did you know anything of their arrangement; you received exactly the same sum as all the other men received who made the arrangement?—I made no arrangement with Mr. Shepherd.

25,135. Did you hear anything about the arrangements that others made? Be particular what you say.—I heard that several others were on the same terms.

25,136. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are your duties altogether in London?—Yes.

25,137. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were your duties in London at the time of the election?—Yes.

25,138. And before the election?—Yes.

25,139. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you asked at all to vote for Mr. Gower in London or down here?—I was asked in London.

25,140. By whom?—Mr. Rees.

25,141. What is his Christian name?—He is the builder at Redhill. I do not know his Christian name.

25,142. Is his name John?—I do not know, I am sure.

25,143. He came to you in London, did he?—He was in London at the station.

25,144. What did he offer you?—He offered me my expenses down to the voting place, and no more.

25,145. What did you say?—I said I was undecided.

25,146. And then did he come again?—No.

25,147. Was that all that was important that passed; tell me, if you please, if there was anything else?—Nothing that I can recollect at all.

25,148. Did nobody ever ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

25,149. Was that your first election?—No.

25,150. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

25,151. Were you on the railway then?—Yes.

25,152. Did you vote in the same way as the other railway men did then?—Yes.

25,153. What arrangement had you, be kind enough to tell me shortly.—None whatever.

25,154. You voted without receiving anything in 1863?—Yes.

25,155. You mean that quite literally; you received nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

25,156. Neither money nor money's worth?—No.

25,157. You quite understand my question. I ask you in the fullest sense of the word whether you received either money or money's worth?—No.

25,158. Did you vote in 1859, at the general election?—No, I had nothing to do with it.

25,159. Nor any previous election?—No.

25,160. 1863 was your first election?—Yes.

25,161. How was it in 1863 some of the railway people voted for Mr. Wilkinson without getting anything for it?—He was reported as being a worthy man for the membership and that he had worked hard, I do not mean in the House of Commons, but out of it.

25,162. I want you to tell me this quite candidly; do you really believe that the votes in 1863 given by the railway men were given by the railway men conscientiously?—So far as myself was concerned.

25,163. Do you believe it of the others?—I cannot say.

25,164. Yours was?—Mine was.

25,165. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You reside at Redhill?—I reside in London now.

25,166. Your duties were in London when you voted?—Yes, I have been up to London eighteen months.

25,167. Then you have left the house?—I left the house, but I was still on the register.

25,168. How long had you left your house?—I was shifted away last March twelvemonth.

25,169. You had given up your house in March had you?—Yes.

25,170. Did you not know that you had no right to vote? Did you vote out of the house and you had given it up the March before? It is very bad, you had no right to vote?—I have been away 18 months now; it was March, 1865.

25,171. (The Chief Commissioner.) The Commissioner asked you whether you did not know at the time that you voted that you had no proper vote?—I had a proper vote, because the revision was not made till August.

25,172. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had not a proper vote, because you had left your house, though your name might be on the register.—I did not know that.

25,173. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you not to have 5*l.*, which was 10*s.* more than the others?—No.

25,174. Was there any arrangement made that you were to have 10*s.* in addition for your expenses in coming down?—None whatever.

25,175. Were not you to be paid for your expenses to come down; you know they got 4*l.* 10*s.* on the spot?—No, that included it.

The witness withdrew.

SIXTEENTH DAY

C. Chandler.

8 Sept. 1866.

CHARLES CHANDLER sworn and examined.

25,176. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification for voting at the last election ?—A house.

25,177. What is the value ?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week I was then paying, but I am now paying 7*s.* 6*d.*

25,178. What are you ?—A gardener.

25,179. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Monson.

25,180. I will ask you shortly how came you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—Well, I had fixed my mind upon him.

25,181. What caused you to fix your mind upon Mr. Monson ?—I had no particular cause for it.

25,182. Who asked you ?—Corderoy.

25,183. What inducement did Corderoy hold out to you to fix your mind upon Mr. Monson ?—He asked me which way I was going, and I told him I was undecided then.

25,184. What was it that fixed your mind ?—He said "Will you come our way ?" and I said "Which way are you ?" He said "Mr. Monson, and I can do a fiver for you;" that was all.

25,185. Did you say it would do ?—No, I did not make up my mind then.

25,186. Why did you not make up your mind, because you wanted a little more, or did you think that Mr. Gower's party would give a little more ?—No, I did not think that they would, for they made an offer before that.

25,187. What was offered to you on the part of Mr. Gower ?—3*l.*

25,188. Who offered you that ?—William Joyes offered me three weeks' work at 1*l.* a week.

25,189. I suppose this work was to go on the committee ?—He asked me if I would go on the committee, and I did not consent to it.

25,190. He did not tell you what the other work was ?—No, I was to try and get votes for him.

25,191. If you could get a vote for him so much the better; but if not you would still have your 3*l.* ?—Yes, but I told him I would not promise my vote.

25,192. How long before the election was that ?—Six or seven weeks.

25,193. Corderoy threw out the bait of 5*l.* afterwards ?—Yes.

25,194. Was that all you were offered by the Gower party, the 3*l.* ?—Yes.

25,195. They did not tease you again, or come to you and press you with the 3*l.* ?—No.

25,196. The next instance was Corderoy coming to you and offering you the 5*l.* ?—Yes, he offered me 5*l.*

25,197. Were you to do anything for the 5*l.*, or only to vote ?—Only to vote.

25,198. Why did you not take the 5*l.* then ?—I had it promised me on the day of the election.

25,199. About three weeks before the election you said Corderoy came to you and said he would stand a fiver, and you had not quite made up your mind ?—I made it up afterwards.

25,200. Did you afterwards see him ?—He asked me which way I was, and I told him I should go their way.

25,201. When you told him that you should go that way, did Corderoy repeat the offer of 5*l.* ? Tell us what took place between you and Corderoy when you did promise to go with him ?—I do not know.

25,202. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you tell him you would go with him ?—I did not tell him at all. I saw another gentleman authorized by Mr. Nichols.

25,203. Who was the other gentleman ?—Mr. Heather.

25,204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When was that ?—About three weeks before the election.

25,205. Did he say he came from Mr. Nichols ?—Yes, that Mr. Nichols had authorized him to offer the 5*l.*

25,206. Did you promise Henry Heather that you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—I told him I should vote.

25,207. Was that because you thought you could trust Mr. Heather better than Corderoy ?—It was getting near the time then.

25,208. Then you wanted to make a little sure of it. Was not that the reason why you would not fix your mind at first, because you wanted to make a little more sure nearer the election? You did not care two straws about political principles; you understand the question ?—Yes.

25,209. Did you care two straws about the political principles of either party ? You were looking at the fiver, were you not ?—Not particularly.

25,210. You were looking at that more than looking at the political principles of either candidate ?—Perhaps I was.

25,211. There are a good many other of your fellow workmen who have said so before in that box. It was so, was it not ? You wanted to get what you could for your vote ?—Perhaps I did.

25,212. Did you see Mr. Nichols, or Mr. Heather, or any of Mr. Monson's supporters before you voted ?—Yes, I saw one or two.

25,213. Did they come to you and ask you whether you were going to vote for them ?—Yes; whether I was going to vote their way.

25,214. What time in the day ?—Eleven o'clock.

25,215. Who was it who came to you at first to press you to vote ?—Mr. Heather.

25,216. Did he bring the 5*l.* with him ?—No.

25,217. You got the 5*l.*, did you not ?—No.

25,218. Never ?—No.

25,219. Or any part of it ?—No.

25,220. Did you go with Mr. Heather to vote ?—I did not go with him, I went by myself.

25,221. But Mr. Heather brought you from where he found you nearer to the poll ?—No, I came down by myself.

25,222. Did you ask Mr. Heather again about this money on the polling day, when you were to have it ?—I did ask him, and he said there was no money at present, and he did not know when there would be.

25,223. Did Mr. Heather tell you that as soon as they got the money you should be paid ?—He did not seem to think there was much chance then.

25,224. Then you voted ?—Yes.

25,225. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What time did you vote ?—About 2.

25,226. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You told Mr. Heather you were going to vote at 11 o'clock ?—I told him I should vote their way, and would not change my mind.

25,227. Did anybody else come to you before you voted ?—No.

25,228. Nobody, either of Mr. Gower's or Mr. Monson's party ?—No.

25,229. And the last person you saw before you voted was Mr. Heather in respect of your voting ?—Yes.

25,230. Then you went to vote at 2 o'clock ?—Yes.

25,231. Did you apply for the payment of this 5*l.* to anybody ?—No, I never troubled about it.

25,232. You expected to get it ?—No, I did not expect it then.

25,233. Did you hear that some of the other men were getting their money ?—I heard that some of them were, but it did not come to my lot.

25,234. But that raised your expectation to get it ?—I did not much expect it after the day of voting.

25,235. Do you know of any of your acquaintances who were offered money, your fellow workmen ?—No, I do not.

25,236. What district did you work in ?—Towards Redhill, beyond the station.

25,237. Do you know the celebrated man, Mr. Shepherd ?—No, I do not know anything of him.

25,238. He never came to you?—I do not know anything of him.

25,239. Is that all you know about this last election?—That is all I know.

25,240. Did you vote in 1863?—No.

25,241. Were you in the town in 1863?—I have been in Reigate 10 or 12 years.

25,242. Have you ever voted at the municipal elections?—No; this was my first vote.

The witness withdrew.

HARRY TAYLOR sworn and examined.

H. Taylor.

25,243. (Mr Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A guard.

25,244. On the railway?—Yes.

25,245. What rent do you pay?—I pay now 5*s.* a week.

25,246. I mean for the house for which you voted?—4*s.* 6*d.* when I voted.

25,247. What were your wages on the railway?—1*l.* 10*s.* a week.

25,248. You know of the arrangement with Mr. Shepherd amongst your fellow workmen?—I formed a body with the men with Shepherd.

25,249. He asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—He asked me to go on the committee with him.

25,250. To vote for Mr. Monson, and receive 30*s.* a week?—Yes, 4*l.* 10*s.*

25,251. You received it weekly, I believe?—Yes.

25,252. Did you form one of the body when they went to Mr. Nichols for more money?—Yes.

25,253. Did you go there yourself?—I did.

25,254. You were one of the men who waited?—I did.

25,255. Was that before the election or after the election?—Before the election.

25,256. How soon before the election? Do you recollect what day it was?—I do not recollect the day; it would be a week perhaps before the election.

25,257. Not so much as that; it could not be a week, because you were paid up to the Saturday before the election?—I think it was on the Monday.

25,258. Just so, when things were pressing. How many of you waited?—Three.

25,259. You and who else?—England and Hayward.

25,260. Was Hayward the spokesman, or were you? I think you were the spokesman?—No.

25,261. Who was?—I do not know which of the other two.

25,262. You three went as commissioners to inquire what was to be had, did you so?—I saw Mr. Nichols himself.

25,263. Where did you see him?—In the back parlour.

25,264. Did you tell him that Shepherd had made an arrangement with you, or how was it introduced to Mr. Nichols, he was a stranger to you?—Mr. Nichols was no stranger.

25,265. He had known you before, had he?—He knew me very well.

25,266. And did he know the arrangement that was made?—I do not know.

25,267. What did he say when you were introduced to him?—He said he could not give any distinct answer about it.

25,268. What did you say to Mr. Nichols?—He was asked if there was any more money allowed, and he said no, he could not give any distinct answer, and walked away.

25,269. You said, "We come on the part of Mr. "Monson, to know whether we can get more money." That is what you or the others said?—Yes.

25,270. Did you tell him how much?—I did not tell him.

25,271. I mean the other two; I take you three to be one?—I believe 8*l.* was what was mentioned.

25,272. I will calculate it for you. Four weeks at 30*s.* a week, 6*l.*, and the nomination day 1*l.*, making 7*l.*, and then 1*l.* for polling day would be 8*l.*?—Yes.

25,273. That did not seem to please Mr. Nichols?—No; he walked out of the room, and I never saw him after.

25,274. He walked out in resentment?—Yes, he did; he walked out of the room.

25,275. What did he say?—He said he could do nothing for us in that way.

25,276. Had you anything to drink? Besides the 30*s.* were you not supplied with beer?—Yes; I attended one or two meetings at the South-eastern hotel, and there I certainly had something I did not pay for.

25,277. All the railway men who liked had beer there?—I believe so.

25,578. Did you vote?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

25,279. Was that the first time you voted?—No, I voted in 1863.

25,280. Who for?—Mr. Monson.

25,281. Now I wish to give you the opportunity that was given the other men. Did you vote upon that occasion upon principle, with no reference to other matters?—Yes.

25,282. And do you believe that most of the railway men voted for Mr. Wilkinson on that account?—I believe they did.

25,283. I suppose the Gower party came to you?—No.

The witness withdrew.

JABEZ TYRRELL sworn and examined.

J. Tyrrell.

25,284. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you the elder or the younger?—The younger.

25,285. Where is your father?—Living at Redhill.

25,286. He is a voter too, is he not?—Yes, my father is ill in bed, he could not come; I saw him this morning.

25,287. What are you?—I was with the coal waggons.

25,288. What shall I call you; shall I call you a waggoner?—Yes.

25,289. What rent do you pay?—I do not live in any house at all; I am in lodgings now.

25,290. What were you doing at the time of the election?—I was living at Redhill, at the "Prince of Wales."

25,291. Who kept the "Prince of Wales"; did you not?—Yes; but I did not get a vote for that house.

25,292. Had you at the time of the election a vote for the "Prince of Wales"?—No, it was in a house in Holliss Row.

25,293. Was that a beer house?—No.

25,294. What did you pay for your rent?—4*s.* 8*d.* a week.

25,295. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

25,296. Do you know Jordan?—Yes.

25,297. Did he come to you about the election before it came on?—Yes, I saw him.

25,298. Did he ask you for your vote?—He asked me who I was going to vote for, and I told him I did not know.

25,299. And then the conversation went on, I suppose?—Yes.

25,300. It was Thomas Jordan, was it not?—Yes.

25,301. What did he say then?—I saw him again a little while after, and he asked me to go on to work.

25,302. On what terms?—To see what I could get on his side.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

J. Tyrrell.

8 Sept. 1866.

25,303. On what terms did Jordan ask you to work?—He did not tell me.

25,304. How did he tell you to work?—He told me that he would pay me, but how much he did not say.

25,305. You went on to work?—Yes.

25,306. Did he say he would pay you like the others?—He said he would pay me and satisfy me.

25,307. Did you go on to work?—Yes.

25,308. About how long before the election?—Three or four weeks, I should think; perhaps it was a little more.

25,309. Did you go on the committee?—Yes.

25,310. And you attended committee meetings?—Yes.

25,311. Did you get a good deal of refreshment at those meetings?—I do not know.

25,312. As much as you wanted?—Yes.

25,313. I suppose you did not know who paid for them?—No.

25,314. Were you paid by the week?—No.

25,315. When were you paid?—Just a little while after the election.

25,316. How much were you paid?—5l.

25,317. Then you were satisfied, as he promised you?—Yes.

25,318. Did you go to the "Plough" to receive it, or where did you get it?—It was left with my father at the "Prince of Wales," Redhill; I did not receive it from Mr. Jordan at all.

25,319. Did they tell you who had left it for you?—I cannot say that.

25,320. Did they tell you?—No.

25,321. You do not know who did leave it for you?—I do not.

25,322. Was Mr. Jordan in the habit of coming to your father's house?—I believe he used to call there.

25,323. Did he know your father sufficiently well to know where he lived, and would he be likely to call at the house?—Yes, he did. The fact is, he had worked at the house, and had done the house up at some time. He is a builder.

25,324. Was this your first election?—Yes.

25,325. Will you tell me before the election came on, and after you had been set to work by Mr. Jordan, did you have any offer from Mr. Gower's side?—I did not.

25,326. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was the money left with your father? You said it was left at your father's; was it left with your father, or was anybody else in the house?—It was left with my father for my work.

25,327. Was the "Prince of Wales" an open house?—No.

25,328. Open on the Monson side?—No, not anything on Mr. Monson's side at all.

25,329. On the other side?—No, not either side.

25,330. Neither engaged the house?—Neither of them engaged the house, not a room, or anything of the kind.

25,331. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you mean to say they never engaged a room in the house?—I was there.

25,332. You know that as a fact?—Yes, they never engaged anything of the sort.

25,333. You were at the "Prince of Wales," and you know as a fact that they never had a room there?—Neither party had.

25,334. If they paid anything for the "Prince of Wales" it was not for a room?—No.

25,335. Do you know of any money ever being paid to your father?—No.

25,336. Do you know whether your father had received any money from Jordan?—No, I do not.

25,337. Do you know of any people having been paid by Jordan there?—No.

25,338. Or of a meeting there?—No.

25,339. Were there any voters supplied at the "Prince of Wales"?—No.

25,340. You were so much in the house that you are enabled to say that as a fact?—I am.

25,341. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You keep the "Prince of Wales," do you not?—Yes.

25,342. What place did your father keep?—The "Queen Victoria."

25,343. Was that an open house?—I am sure I cannot say.

25,344. Yes you can. We are asking about your father's house; you can say whether it was open to either party, whether any party engaged the house and committee rooms were there?—I cannot say whether they used the house or not.

25,345. Had they meetings there; you know it quite well?—I believe there was a meeting there.

25,346. At your father's?—Yes, I think there was a meeting there by both parties. Of course I do not know whether they had engaged the house.

25,347. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did your father then have two houses?—No.

25,348. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The Monson party had to pay your father?—I believe they did.

25,349. Did you attend at his house when you were on the committee?—Yes, I was there when there were some of the parties there.

25,350. How many of you were there?—I do not know, I am sure.

25,351. Was there a room full of people?—There were about 20 or 30 present.

25,352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And refreshments were had there?—Of course we had some refreshments.

25,353. You did not pay for it, of course?—No.

25,354. Do you not know your father had 10*l.* for the room?—I am sure I cannot say.

25,355. Do you not know he had money for it?—I have not the least doubt but what he did, but I do not know anything about it.

25,356. Did you not learn from your father that he had 10*l.* for the use of the room?—No.

25,357. What did he tell you he had for it?—He never told me at all. I received the 5*l.*, I know that.

25,358. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Jordan has told us he paid your father 10*l.* for a room. I thought he might have told you?—No, my father never told me.

25,359. (The Chief Commissioner.) He was able to walk at the time of the election; you say he is ill now?—Yes, but he is not able to get about always.

The witness withdrew.

J. Tyrrell.

JAMES TYRRELL sworn and examined.

25,360. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are brother to the last witness?—I am.

25,361. You voted at the last election?—Yes.

25,362. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

25,363. What are you?—I am taking work of any kind now.

25,364. Are you a labourer?—Yes.

25,365. What rent do you pay? What is your qualification for voting?—4*s.* a week.

25,366. You are not living with your father?—Not at all.

25,367. How came you to vote for Mr. Monson at this last election?—I always go where my opinions lie best.

25,368. Did your opinions lie best with Mr. Monson?—Yes, no one would turn me away from him.

25,369. What were your opinions to lie by Mr. Monson?—A great many asked me, but I did not give any distinct answer.

25,370. Did any of the Gower party ask you?—Yes.

25,371. Tell us all about it?—Well, Mr. Mulley asked me.

25,372. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that to vote for Mr. Gower or for Mr. Monson?—To vote for Mr. Gower.

25,373. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was he the first that asked you?—I do not know that he was, but he was the only one who asked me in particular; there were a good many asked me about it, but is no use taking notice of what everybody says.

25,374. Just give the particularity?—He asked me which way I had made up my mind. I did not give any distinct answer. I do not think everybody should know one's matters.

25,375. I want to know what Mr. Mulley said at that time?—He wished me to go his side.

25,376. He held out some inducement to you to vote for Mr. Gower?—He asked me whether I would.

25,377. He said a little more than that; he offered something?—He did not offer me anything.

25,378. Now, I am sure that he did?—I am sure he did not offer me anything; he asked me what I wanted, and I did not give any answer.

25,379. Did he suggest to you anything that you might possibly get?—He did not.

25,380. Or hope for?—No.

25,381. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you say to him when he said, "Tell me what you "want"?—I never gave him any answer.

25,382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he walk away?—He walked away and came back again.

25,383. What took place when he came back?—He walked up again and asked me whether I would have anything to drink, and I told him "No."

25,384. Did he tell you if you came to work for Mr. Gower you would be likely to get something?—No.

25,385. Did he ask you to be on the committee?—No, he did not; that was only a day or two before the election.

25,386. Who asked you?—Mr. Mulley.

25,387. A day or two before the election did Mr. Mulley make any offer to you?—He did no more than I have told you.

25,388. That was not the way Mr. Mulley canvassed you; we know Mr. Mulley very well?—I know Mr. Mulley very well too.

25,389. We know the way in which he canvassed; that was not the way he canvassed?—That was the way he canvassed me.

25,390. He simply asked you what you wanted?—Yes; and I never gave him any answer.

25,391. Upon your oath did not anything further take place between you and Mr. Mulley with reference to your vote?—Not another word that I know of.

25,392. Did you see anybody else on Mr. Gower's side who made any offer at all?—No, not any to make an offer to me.

25,393. You are fencing with the questions as much as you can. Was anything said to you by anybody on the part of Mr. Gower that you should vote for Mr. Gower?—Not any more than what I tell you. Of course in such times ever so many say one thing or another, but not to give any offer.

25,394. Was anything suggested so as to induce you to give your vote?—No.

25,395. I am guarded in the way in which I put the question. I do not say offer; but was any suggestion made to you by any of the Gower party?—No.

25,396. You are sure of that?—Yes.

25,397. Was any suggestion made to you?—I never had any one ask me except Mr. Mulley.

25,398. Did he suggest that it might be beneficial to you in some possible way?—He spoke as though he thought it would; but that was all the offer he made.

25,399. In what way did he so speak?—He spoke in rather a persuadable manner.

25,400. We have heard of Mr. Mulley's persuadable manner before. What was his persuadable manner to you?—Nothing particular. I suppose he wished to have my vote; that was about it.

25,401. How was it that he expressed that wish?—I cannot tell you that.

25,402. You are upon your oath to tell the truth, and the whole truth?—I am telling you the truth.

25,403. I strongly doubt it?—I do not.

25,404. You will tell me nothing more about Mr. Mulley?—I have got nothing more to tell.

25,405. Who canvassed you on the part of Mr. Monson?—Mr. Jordan.

25,406. What took place between you and Mr. Jordan?—He told me he would see me satisfied if I would canvass for Mr. Monson and give my vote.

25,407. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that Thomas Jordan?—Yes.

25,408. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the election was that?—That was the first commencement of it; but I cannot tell you how long it was before the election.

25,409. Was it before or after you had seen Mr. Mulley?—I should say it was more than three weeks before I saw Mr. Mulley.

25,410. Did Mr. Jordan tell you in what way he would see you satisfied?—He did not.

25,411. You voted for Mr. Monson?—I did.

25,412. Were you satisfied?—I was.

25,413. By Mr. Jordan?—Yes; it was left for me. I believe that Mr. Jordan left it, but I cannot swear it.

25,414. How much was left for you?—5*l.*

25,415. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it left at your father's house?—Yes.

25,416. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you hear from your father that Jordan had left it?—Every few days I was over there.

25,417. Did you hear from your father, or from somebody in the house, that Mr. Jordan had left you 5*l.*?—He did not tell me who had left it; he said it was left for me.

25,418. Did your father tell you he had received something from Mr. Jordan?—My father did not tell me. I know very little more about my father's business than I do of yours.

25,419. He might have told you?—He did not.

25,420. Some of the family might have told you?—No.

25,421. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What day did you receive the 5*l.*?—I believe it was on the Sunday night.

25,422. Before you polled?—No; after.

25,423. How long after you had polled?—It was not many days after. I cannot say to a day or two.

25,424. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your brother Jabez has told us he had 5*l.* in the same way?—Yes.

25,425. Were you in the house when your brother received the money?—No.

25,426. Did you know of your brother receiving the money before you got yours?—I received mine before he did his.

25,427. Did you tell your brother you had got your money?—Yes; we were working together at that time.

25,428. Did you hear at your father's house that 5*l.* was also left for your brother?—Yes.

25,429. Then, you told your brother and he went went up and got it?—Yes.

25,430. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where had you been at work?—I had been living at Norwood for about 11 months then.

25,431. But where were you at work then?—At Mr. Charlwood's, coal merchant, and before that for Mr. Halls.

25,432. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you voted in any other election?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

25,433. Was it in '63?—It was the election between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower.

25,434. Who got your vote then. Who was the Jordan of that day? Was it Mr. Jordan himself?—Mr. Church was the head man of our committee then.

25,435. Who talked to you about the subject of your vote?—I promised Mr. Wilkinson myself down at the asylum.

25,436. Who talked to you about it, and put you on

SIXTEENTH DAY.

J. Tyrrell.

8 Sept. 1866.

the committee?—He was the first man I talked to. Mr. Rose told him my name and he came to me and I promised him my vote, and I told him I would give my vote free if any one else did not give him one.

25,437. Who was the next person who talked to you about voting for him?—I do not know that I can tell you.

25,438. Were you put on the committee?—Yes.

25,439. And set to work?—Yes.

25,440. And did work?—Yes; I used to do the best I could.

25,441. What did you get for the work?—I received a guinea.

25,442. Was that for polling and nomination days, or for what?—It was for nomination and polling days, and for one night's watching, and for working during the time of the election.

25,443. Did you put that account down on paper and send it in?—No.

25,444. Who paid it you?—I received it from Mr. Church; I should say about five or six weeks after the election.

25,445. Mr. Church was the leader of your district at that time?—Of our committee.

25,446. Did Mr. Church arrange with you that you should be paid for the work you did?—No.

25,447. Did anybody?—No; I did not make any agreement or arrangement at all.

25,448. Was that your first election?—That was my first election.

25,449. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said that when Mr, Mulley asked you what you wanted you made no answer?—Yes.

25,450. You said nothing?—When Mr. Mulley asked me I did not give him any answer.

25,451. Did you do anything else? Did you make any sign to him, or anything of that kind?—No.

H. Heather.

HENRY HEATHER sworn and examined.

25,452. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

25,453. What rent do you pay?—I live in my own house now.

25,454. Did you live in your own house at the last election?—Yes.

25,455. What is the yearly value?—12*l.* a year it is worth.

25,456. You took an active part in the last election for Mr. Monson?—Yes, I did.

25,457. You voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

25,458. Before going further let me know what you yourself received for the work you did?—About two months after the election was over I received a cheque for 5*l.* from Mr. Hart for my services.

25,459. That was not the only money you touched, during the election time some money passed through your hands?—No.

25,460. You know Chandler?—Yes.

25,461. Did you canvass him?—I did.

25,462. You offered him a "fiver"?—I was authorized.

25,463. I will ask you that by-and-by; you offered him 5*l.*?—I did.

25,464. What did you say to him, "I can do you a "fiver"?—I told him if he voted he should be well paid.

25,465. You offered him a fiver?—Yes.

25,466. What did he say?—He did not give me any decided answer.

25,467. Tell me this, who else did you offer anything else besides your friend Chandler?—Not anything to my recollection to any one.

25,468. Now be very cautious; you offered him a fiver; did you not offer others fivers; who did you canvass?—I canvassed several in the freehold district.

25,469. Who were those?—Chiefly voters.

25,470. Did you not offer them fivers?—I told them they would be paid for their loss of time.

25,471. And a fiver; who authorized you to offer Chandler a fiver?—Mr. James Nichols.

25,472. You were a canvasser; did you not offer other men fivers?—To men for their work; I did to men for their work.

25,473. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You offered Chandler to work?—Yes.

25,474. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many men did you canvass; I do not want their names?—There might have been half a dozen, and perhaps there might have been more.

25,475. You did not get 5*l.* for canvassing those?—The chief of them in my district had already promised.

25,476. How many did you canvass?—I may have canvassed about a dozen in the district.

25,477. Did you canvass more than a dozen?—I think not.

25,478. Did you not offer work to all the voters you canvassed; did you not tell them, on behalf of Mr. Nichols, if they went on the committee they would be paid for it?—If they wanted work.

25,479. You were authorized to do that?—Yes.

25,480. What was the rate of paying, 30*s.* a week?—1*l.*

25,481. And how long was this before the election—I should think about a month.

25,482. That would be 4*l.*; and were they to be paid for nomination and polling day?—Nothing yet; we did not name anything to them.

25,483. You did not name the pound to them?—No.

25,484. Was the pound named to them?—Yes.

25,485. Who by?—George Grutchfield.

25,486. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was Grutchfield always with you?—Yes, at least mostly.

25,487. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass in couples?—In the evening.

25,488. Did any other monies pass through your hands? Did you not bring any voters to Mr. Nichols?—No, sir.

25,489. You had Chandler?—I believe he voted for Mr. Monson.

25,490. And he voted when he was of no use?—Yes.

25,491. Was that the reason you did not pay the 5*l.* for him?—I was authorized to offer him 5*l.*

25,492. Why did you not get the 5*l.* for him?—I could not; I asked Mr. Nichols, and he could not.

25,493. Why?—He had not got it.

25,494. When did you ask Nichols for it?—After the election was over.

25,495. Was it not because he did not vote in time was not that the reason?—I saw Chandler on the polling morning, and I told him I had not got the money for him.

25,496. That was at 2 o'clock?—No, it was at 11.

25,497. Did he not refuse to vote at 11?—I saw him, but he did not come with me.

25,498. Did you canvass any one at all of that class of working men that you did not offer work to?—No, I do not know that I did.

25,499. Did you get a promise from any man you did not offer work to?—Not any.

25,500. How many did you get a promise from you offered work to?—Only four.

25,501. How many in the other districts?—Not one.

25,502. You had voted before?—Yes.

25,503. For whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

25,504. Who canvassed you then?—I was canvassed by Mr. Norman Wilkinson on the behalf of his brother.

25,505. Were you a canvasser yourself?—No.

25,506. Were you on the committee?—I was on the committee.

25,507. How long had you been on the committee?—Several weeks.

25,508. And worked hard for him, no doubt?—I did.

25,509. And what did you receive for your remuneration?—I received 2*l.* for my services, but I did not receive it until after the election.

25,510. From whom?—From Mr. Frederick Joyes.

25,511. Was that all you received for that?—That was all.

25,512. Had you voted before, in 1858?—Yes.

25,513. For whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

25,514. Were you on his committee then?—Yes.

25,515. And worked hard for him?—Yes.

25,516. What did you receive?—A pound.

25,517. From whom?—From Mr. Joyes.

25,518. (The Chief Commissioner.) The same man, Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

25,519. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote in the October of 1858, when Sir Henry Rawlinson put up?—Yes, I did.

25,520. And who did you vote for, was it for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes.

25,521. Were you on his committee?—No.

25,522. I am afraid you got nothing for that?—Oh yes, I did; I only worked two days, the nomination day and polling day, and I received 1*l.*

25,523. From whom?—I am not quite certain, but I believe it was from Mr. Thomas Holbrook after the election.

25,524. Do you remember giving your vote in the January of 1858, when Doulton came down?—That is the time when I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

25,525. That was in October; there were two elections in 1858?—Yes.

25,526. (The Chief Commissioner.) The other was in February?—I voted for Wilkinson then.

25,527. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you get then?—A pound for two day's work.

25,528. That was another one?—Yes.

25,529. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And in the year 1857 did you vote for Mr. Hackblock?—I did.

25,530. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you the 1*l.* when you voted for Mr. Wilkinson, in 1858?—Frederick Joyes, I think.

25,531. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now the first election of 1857 you voted for Mr. Hachblock, and what did you receive?—I worked the polling day to bring in the voters, and I received 10*s.*

25,532. Who did you work for?—Mr. Hackblock; I received 10*s.* afterwards.

25,533. (The Chief Commissioner.) For working on the polling day?—Yes, sir.

25,534. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that the earliest election, or are these all the elections you voted at?—Yes.

25,535. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have got brothers?—Yes.

25,536. Was Charles one?—Yes.

25,537. James and Ambrose?—Yes.

25,538. Did they vote as you wanted?—No.

25,539. All different ways?—Yes.

25,540. All voted differently from you?—Yes.

25,541-2. You having voted for Mr. Monson, was not some money handed to you to pay other people?—No.

25,543. Did no other money go through your hands?—No.

25,544. Your hands were not those through which money went to pay other people?—No.

25,545. And you wish me to understand the only money you received was 5*l.* for your own services?—Yes.

25,546. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You received no more to distribute?—No.

25,547. But you went in company with Grutchfield?—Yes.

25,548. Did you canvass with him in 1863?—No, sir.

25,549. And did he receive 2*l.* then, the same as you?—I was not acquainted with Grutchfield at that time.

25,550. You were not acquainted with him?—No.

25,551. Did you canvass Mitchell, Ashdown, and Batchelor?—I did not at once, but several times.

25,552. If you did not have the money Grutchfield had?—Yes.

25,553. Grutchfield had the money and you went with him?—Yes, when he paid the money at his house.

The witness withdrew.

JOSHUA PIERCE sworn and examined.

J. Pierce.

25,554. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a gardener?—Yes.

25,555. What rent do you pay?—4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

25,556. Who did you vote for at the last election?—For Mr. Monson.

25,557. Did you go on his committee?—No.

25,558. Who asked you to go and vote for Mr. Monson?—There were several who asked me for my vote, but I do not know who they were in particular.

25,559. Did anybody ask you to go on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

25,560. Did you go on it?—No.

25,561. Did you do any work in the way of canvassing, or carrying circulars, or taking messages?—No.

25,562. What did you receive after the election was over?—I never received any money at all.

25,563. What did you receive before the election?—I never received any on the election account.

25,564. I did not say on the election account?—When my week's work was over I received my wages from my master, I have been working for him two or three years.

25,565. You received your usual pay from him while the election was going on?—Yes.

25,566. Did you not receive any money besides that before the election?—No.

25,567. Or after?—No.

25,568. Did you not get any offer?—No, not from the Monson party or any other, for as soon as they asked me I said I should vote at five minutes to 4. Nobody came after me; I fixed my time and I stuck to it, five minutes to 4.

25,569. Why did you say that?—That was my proposal at starting.

25,570. What was the reason you fixed that? (A pause.) You will not tell me?—I fixed it at first.

25,571. Why did you fix that time; if you do not like to answer me I will not press it?—I had no particular cause; I thought that I would walk up.

25,572. You did not think you would walk up when the election came for some days before; you made up your mind when you walked?—I had to do my work, and I thought when I came out here I might stop to see a little bit of the goings on.

25,573. You say you talked to several as to Mr. Monson; who was the principal Monsonite?—No one in particular.

25,574. Who was the most principal one?—Neither one of them that I know of.

25,575. Do you not remember talking to a man belonging to the Monson party just before the election; I would rather you should mention his name?—I did to many of them.

25,576. If you talked to many I dare say you could mention the name of one, if not of some?—I do not know that I can.

25,577. I would rather you should mention it than I, it is rather more fair?—To no one in particular.

25,578. Mention any one?—So I would if I knew in particular, I told you the first time.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

J. Pierce.

8 Sept. 1866.

25,579. Tell me any one in particular, belonging to any one in particular?—I did speak to Heather about it two or three days before the election.

25,580. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And Grutchfield talked to you?—Yes, they both talked to me.

25,581. Did he not talk rather more than Heather?—They did not go on a great deal, for I did say as soon as they asked me to vote for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower I should not vote till five minutes to 4.

25,582. What did they say?—I told them I should vote at five minutes to 4, and I would make up my mind when I got there.

25,583. You had not made up your mind when you talked to Grutchfield and Heather?—No.

25,584. Do you not remember Grutchfield saying anything?—No.

25,585. Grutchfield was a canvasser, what offer did he make?—None at all.

25,586. Did he not say, "Come and arrange with "us."?—He might, it was not an offer.

25,587. Tell us what he said, I will decide whether it was an offer or not?—He may have said, "If you "will come with us we will make it all right."

25,588. He may have said that?—He may, but I do not recollect it.

25,589. Do you remember his saying, "If you "will come with us we will satisfy you"?—He did not say that.

25,590. Were you not rather watching for the word?—I don't say that I was not.

25,591. You had heard the word had been said?—Yes.

25,592. But you did not catch it?—I walked away.

25,593. Tell us how near they came up to the mark?—To tell the truth he did not say that; he asked me which way I was going, and he said, "You had better come with us."

25,594. "And if you do," what?—He never said nothing of the kind.

25,595. Of what kind?—Not "coming along with us."

25,596. He asked which way you were going, you said that, and he went on to say, "You had better come with us"?—No, he said ——

25,597. What?—I could not tell his mind.

25,598. If he simply said, "You had better come "with us," and then turned round and gave you no reason for it, that was rather singular was it not?—I walked away, I did not mean to be canvassed by none of them.

25,599. What did you mean?—To come up and do as I ought to do; I did not mean to be bothered about it.

25,600. Then you were in the street, and you knew perfectly well when you showed yourself there would be a thousand eyes upon you, and it would be said, "Here is an unpledged voter;" at all events there would be these two men upon you in a moment?—I never took no notice of them.

25,601. Did you say they ought to have come up and canvassed you as they had others?—I said I would come up here and give my vote as I ought to do.

25,602. Let me try a little back a bit; you saw Mr. Gower, he canvassed you?—I saw him in the latter part of May here in the market place.

25,603. Did you not promise him your vote?—No, he said to me, "I hope you will not forget me in "July," and I said, "I don't know, I may not "perhaps."

25,604. Did you tell people when they came up teasing you that you had seen Mr. Gower and were going to vote for him?—No.

25,605. If you wished to avoid being teased the best thing for you to have done would have been to say you were engaged?—I did not intend to say that.

25,606. When you saw Mr. Gower in May, and he talked to you about remembering him in July, you did not intend to vote for him?—I did not say whether I would or not.

25,607. Which way were you inclined when he spoke to you?—It must have been an inward smile, for I did not see it.

25,608. Did you not think what you said might be interpreted by him into a promise?—No.

25,609. Did you not think he would send your name to his agent as a likely man?—He might, perhaps.

25,610. You think he might have done that from what you said, and yet after that you voted for Mr. Monson; can you explain to us how that came about?—I don't know, I am sure.

25,611. What time was it that you voted?—Five minutes to 4.

25,612. Do you think that will give us a clue at all?—It ought to.

25,613. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You think it ought to give us a clue?—Yes.

25,614. Why?—Because I stuck to my word.

25,615. I should consider, though I don't know whether you will, that a man who said he would not vote till five minutes to 4 meant this, "Here I am, "ready to be bought, and as the market price may "rise I intend to get the highest price for my vote"?—I did not intend to have anything to do with it.

25,616. Why did you say we ought to know the clue, is not that what is meant?—No, I never intended to have anything to do with it.

25,617. (The Chief Commissioner.) Never intended to have anything to do with what?—Not with any one coming to offer me money.

25,618. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you mean?—Don't you see when the poll was closed there might be something moving, and I wished to see it well out.

25,619. What would be moving, money?—No, holloing about and shouting.

25,620. What would be moving?—There is a great deal of moving and holloing about when the poll is closed, and I wished to see it.

25,621. You were in the town before 4?—No, not till late, I walked up from the freehold.

25,622. Then you lost all the fun of the day?—There is generally most fun about 4.

25,623. Do you think that was the only motive you had?—Yes.

25,624. Then you gave it out you were a five minutes to 4 voter?—Yes.

25,625. If you did not mean to sell your vote you did yourself a great injustice, for every man from your conduct would suppose you intended to sell it?—They might, but I did not.

25,626. Every man of sense would take it so, and and you are by far too intelligent and clever a man not to know that whatever your intent might be?—Some might, and some might not.

25,627. Don't you think those who did not know you would suppose so?—I dare say a good many who did not know me would.

25,628. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It would give them a clue for your voting?—Yes.

25,629. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why would you lay yourself under that suspicion if it was unjust? Why would a clever intelligent man like yourself give a colour to any such suspicion?—The only reason was I kept my word, and when I got that hour over I went home. I thought I would have an hour to myself.

25,630. Why should you not have said five minutes to 10 or five minutes to 12?—I did not mean to be bought.

25,631. Do you know a man of the name of P ?—I do.

25,632. Do you know of anything that took place between Thomas Thomas and yourself?—I do not know that his name is Thomas.

25,633. What is his Christian name?—William.

25,634. What took place between you?—He asked me for my vote, and I told him I had not regularly made up my mind.

25,635. When?—I saw him just before the election, I think it was a day or two before the election, and he said, "You will vote for Mr. Gower," I said, "One "man may lead a man to the water, but twenty "cannot make him drink," and I walked away from him.

25,636, Did he know you?—Yes, and had done for some years.

25,637. Why did he say that?—I do not know, I cannot say.

25,638. "You will vote for Mr. Gower," did he use any other threat, or any threat?—No, I do not know that he did; he was rather the worse for beer.

25,639. When was the last time that day any application was made to you about voting?—Nobody ever came near me at all.

25,640. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where were you at work?—At the Priory; I went there in the morning, but was knocked up and went home, and then came out as I said.

26,641. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have had regular work, and been employed by your master for years?—Yes.

25,642. Who did you work for?—For Mrs. Soch, as I do now.

25,643. Did you work for anybody else, did you work for Mr. Apted a little time in gardening, a little of your overtime?—I have at times.

25,644. Did you in that summer?—I did a little.

25,645. Now don't be angry with me?—I am not angry.

25,646. For which of the Apted's did you work?—Mr. James Apted.

25,647. Has he a garden?—Yes.

25,648. Have you done so lately for him?—Not this summer, for I have more work than I can well do.

25,649. Did you last summer?—Yes.

25,650. I believe nearly all the canvassers wished you would do their gardens for them that summer?—Not more then than at other times.

25,651. Were you at work for him the day of the election?—I was not; I told you I came to my work on that day, but I was knocked up and went home again.

25,652. Then I misunderstood you; you had not been at work for a week?—I had not been at work for eight or nine days. It was after the election when I was unwell.

25,653. Were you at work before the polling day?—I was at work at the Priory before the polling day.

25,654. Were you at work on the polling day?—I went out in the morning to my work, but I was knocked up, and then I left off and went home.

25,655. Why?—Because I was not well.

25,656. You say you were unwell after the election?—I went to work on the polling day, but I knocked up, and did not work for eight or nine days afterwards.

25,657. I suppose you worked up to that time a little for Mr. Apted?—I had seen him.

25,658. He spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—No, never.

25,659. You knew he took an active part in the election?—He did not speak to me at all about it.

25,660. You knew he was a strong Monson man, did you not?—Certainly, I knew he was a strong Monson man.

25,661. And you yourself made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did when I got into the hall.

25,662. What time was that?—Five minutes to 4.

25,663. Then you knew it was of no use?—I did not want it to be of any use.

25,664. Why did you not want it to be of any use?—I did not intend to have been there that morning.

25,665. I do not understand you; when you polled did you not know your vote would be of no use to Mr. Monson?—No, I did not know how it stood. I did not know who had the most votes.

25,666. Not when you went up?—No, I did after; I was back again 10 minutes after. I said I intended to stop here an hour, and then I shifted my quarters and went home.

JULIUS WELLS called, sworn, and examined.

J. Wells.

25,667. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A draper.

25,668. Where do you live?—In Redhill.

25,669. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

25,670. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

25,671. What rent do you pay for the house for which you vote?—44*l.* a year.

25,672. You are one of the principal drapers of Redhill?—One of them.

25,673. Were you on the committee?—No, I did not take any active part in the election.

25,674. I believe they patronized you by buying a few ribbons?—Yes.

25,675. Who bought them?—Mr. Nichols bought some ribbons.

25,676. Were they bought in a large or in a small way?—Merely a couple of pieces. I am not certain whether it was on the nomination or on the polling day. I think the polling day.

25,677. Let me ask you generally, being about the town did you notice as an independent man how the election was being carried on?—No, I did not take any particular notice; I never attended any of the meetings; in fact I took very little interest in the matter.

25,678. Not on either side?—Not on either side.

25,679. Did you sell ribbons to the other side?—I sold to both parties.

25,680. Were those ribbons sent to the committee rooms?—No, Mr. Nichols called as he was passing, he took them himself; about two pieces, I think.

25,681. That would not be any very great quantity?—No, the bill was about 33*s.* I think.

25,682. Whose bill?—Mr. Nichols.

25,683. How many yards of ribbons would that represent?—Two pieces, 36 yards each.

25,684. Whole pieces?—Yes, and I made up about eight or ten rosettes for the horses.

25,685. For whom?—For Mr. Robinson. Mr. Nichols' account.

25,686. Is that all you are aware of?—Yes.

25,687. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is Alfred Wells your brother?—My father.

25,688. Which way did your father vote?—For Mr. Gower.

25,689. The same as you did?—Yes.

25,690. My friend addressed you as an independent elector. Were you an independent elector when you gave your vote?—Quite so.

25,691. Did you receive any consideration?—Not the slightest whatever.

25,692. Not of any kind?—No, nor any promise.

25,693. You gave quite an independent vote?—Yes.

25,694. That is what you wish me to take?—Yes.

25,695. Did your father attend the committee?—He was not on the committee, and I do not think he ever took any part in the election.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

P. Burtenshaw.

8 Sept. 1866.

PETER BURTENSHAW called, sworn, and examined.

25,696. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer's labourer.

25,697. What rent do you pay for your house?—14*l.*

25,698. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Richardson.

25,699. That was at the last election?—At the last election.

25,700. Who canvassed you?—No one.

25,701. You had promised, I believe, to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

25,702. Had you not?—No.

25,703. Mr. Richardson was not a candidate?—I never promised no one; no one come nigh me.

25,704. Who first spoke to you about voting?—Well, sir, I cannot say; neither candidate.

25,705. Who spoke to you about voting for Monson? Not no one; not one more than another.

25,706. Did anybody call upon you and ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

25,707. Nobody at all?—No.

25,708. Did anybody call upon you and ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

25,709. Where do you live?—In Nutley-lane.

25,710. Did nobody call upon you on behalf of either of the candidates, Mr. Gower or Mr. Monson?—No.

25,711. Were you at the nomination?—No, not before I came home from my work.

25,712. What time did you get home from work?—I leave off at half-past 5, about 20 minutes or a quarter to 6.

25,713. It was all over then?—Yes; I was not there.

25,714. What time did you come up to the polling?—I cannot say; not within an hour.

25,715. Who came up with you?—No one.

25,716. Who spoke to you that morning?—I know no one that did.

25,717. Who spoke to you about coming up?—No one; not one.

25,718. Who did you see when you came up to vote?—I cannot tell, I did not know them; I voted for Richardson.

25,719. Who told you that Mr. Richardson was a candidate?—I had no one to tell me.

25,720. Who told you that he was up?—I shall not answer the question.

25,721. You had better?—No; I am true and 'stantial.

25,722. You had better, because we have power to make you answer?—There was not one.

25,723. You may answer as you will, but you must answer. Who told you that Mr. Richardson was a candidate?—I do not know that any one particular did.

25,724. Who did?—Not particular any one that I know of.

25,725. How did you know that he was a candidate?—No one told me.

25,726. Up to the nomination day did you know who were the candidates?—No; neither of them came to me.

25,727. Did you know that Mr. Monson was a candidate?—Yes. Mr. Monson never came nigh me.

25,728. I did not ask that. Did you know that Mr. Monson was a candidate?—I do not know; I cannot say; they never came nigh me.

25,729. Did you know that he was a candidate?—No.

25,730. Did you know that Mr. Gower was a candidate?—No; he never came nigh to me.

25,731. You did not receive any money at all?—No.

25,732. (The Chief Commissioner.) Not before or after?—Not before or after; I gave my vote free for Mr. Richardson.

J. Nye.

JOHN NYE called, sworn, and examined.

25,733 (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where do you belong?—To Reigate.

25,734. What are you?—A confectioner.

25,735. What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.* a year.

25,736. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

25,737. Did you promise him in the first instance? Yes.

25,738. Who asked you to vote for him?—He asked me himself.

25,739. Did you promise him straight of?—Straight off. I lived on the estate about two and a half years; Lady Warwick's.

25,740. On the Monson estate?—Yes.

25,741. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you put on the committee then?—No.

25,742. Did you not canvass and do what you could for the family?—No; I was in business at the time, and I had no time.

25,743. As a confectioner?—Yes.

25,744. Did anybody else ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No one.

25,745. Did anybody ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Well, I saw Mr. Smith, and Mr. Gower, and Mr. Apted; they came to me one day, all three together.

25,746. What did Mr. Apted say to you?—He did not say anything, Mr. Gower came and spoke to me.

25,747. He asked you for your vote?—Yes.

25,748. What did you say?—I said I could not promise.

25,749. Did you say you were going to vote for Monson?—I did not tell him.

25,750. After that did Mr. Apted come?—No.

25,751. Who was with him?—They were all together.

25,752. Did you see nobody from Mr. Gower's side after that?—I spoke to Mr. Rose, that is all.

25,753. What did Mr. Rose say to you?—He only asked me if I would like to vote the other side, I said I had not made up my mind; which I had made up my mind on the other side.

25,754. Did he offer any inducement?—He offered me work, but I had no time.

25,755. Who offered you work?—Mr. Rose said I could go on.

25,756. What did he offer you?—He said he would pay me so much per week.

25,757. How much?—He did not say.

25,758. Did he mention how much?—He did not mention how much.

25,759. Did you agree to do it?—No, I could not; I had not got time.

25,760. That was your reason, because you had not got time?—I had not time.

25,761. That was your reason?—Yes.

25,762. If you had time I suppose you would have taken his offer?—Yes, I dare say I should.

25,763. You would have gone to work for Rose on those terms if you had not had too much business?—Certainly.

25,764. You told him so, did you?—Yes.

25,765. Was that the end of that?—Yes.

25,766. Do you recollect being asked another time by somebody else?—No, I do not recollect.

25,767. Was that about three weeks before the election?—It might have been a month.

25,768. Did not any of the Monson people come to you again?—There may have been some come.

25,769. Then be so good as to tell me about it?—Mr. Nichols spoke to me, and I said I had promised Mr. Monson.

25,770. He spoke to you afterwards?—Afterwards.

25,771. He asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I said I had promised my vote to Mr. Monson.

25,772. But you had not, had you?—Yes, I had promised.

25,773. You did not tell Apted so?—I did not tell any of them.

25,774. You told Rose the other way, that you had not promised?—I did not satisfy them. When Mr. Monson called upon me I promised him there and then.

25,775. You said you had promised to Mr. Monson; did he say anything more?—No.

25,776. Did he not ask you to go to work?—He came and saw me after that again. He asked me if I would keep to my word, and I said, "Yes." That is all I ever saw of him.

25,777. That was before the election?—Yes.

25,778. What did you tell him?—I told him I would keep to my word.

25,779. Do you recollect his saying to you "Well, "there is no reason why you should not have what "the rest have," or something like that?—No, he did not say anything like that.

25,780. Not at that time?—No.

25,781. Did he come again?—No.

25,782. Who went with you to vote?—Fred Fuller. I said to him over night, "If you will come and fetch "me I shall be ready at 8 o'clock," because I was going out with my bread.

25,783. You went up to vote?—Yes.

25,784. After the election do you remember Nichols coming to you?—No.

25,785. Do you remember somebody coming from Nichols?—No, no one ever came afterwards.

25,786. Not from Nichols?—No, nor from anyone else.

25,787. Did not anyone call upon you after the election?—No.

25,788. Did you not see somebody after the election?—I saw Mr. Nichols after the election.

25,789. Then you recollect what passed, I have no doubt?—I do not know that there was anything.

25,790. You spoke to him, I suppose?—Of course.

25,791. What did he say?—He was pleased to think I had stuck to my word; I do not think there was anything else passed at the time.

25,792, Do you not recollect his saying something about "You might as well have what the others had"?—No, he never said a word about it.

25,793. About what?—About money or anything else; he knew my business took all my time.

25,794. But inasmuch as you had been staunch, and he was pleased at it, did he not say "You may as well "have like the rest"?—No, he did not.

25,795. Did you not receive something about that time?—No.

25,796. Did you not receive it afterwards?—No.

25,797. Did you receive nothing?—Nothing.

25,798. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

25,799. Neither before nor after the electoin?—No.

25,800. You voted at 8 o'clock in the morning?—Yes.

25,801. Have you sent in a little account?—No.

25,802. Have you sent in a claim?—I asked Mr. Nichols for a little recompence, but he has not satisfied me.

25,803. Was that at the time when you had the conversation, and he said he was glad you had stuck to your word?—No, it was after that.

25,804. You asked Nichols for some satisfaction?—Yes.

25,805. But you received nothing?—Nothing.

25,806. What did he say?—He said he should see me another day.

25,807. When did the other day come?—I never thought any more about it.

25,808. Did you tell him what you were expecting?—No, I did not tell him; I thought perhaps I should get a few shillings for my trouble.

25,809. You would not have taken a few shillings; if you were paid anything at all it would have been for your vote, because you had done nothing besides?—I was not paid anything.

25,810. Did you give him to understand what you were looking for; you will not say that you were looking for a few shillings?—I did not tell him anything.

25,811. What were you looking for?—I should have expected a sovereign, that is all.

25,812. You knew what other people were getting?—No, I did not interfere about it.

25,813. You heard?—I heard.

25,814. Then what were you hoping for?—I only heard what others were getting.

25,815. You know what they were getting?—I did not expect to get it.

25,816. But what were you rather hoping for?—I was not hoping for anything.

25,817. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You had heard that others were getting as much as 5*l.*?—Yes, but that did not trouble me. I promised my vote and I kept my word.

25,818. You had plenty of work of your own, and you have done nothing in the election except vote?—That is all.

25,819. Now answer me this question; do you think 1*l.* a fair price for a vote?—Well, I should have been very well satisfied with it.

25,820. I know that, because you could not get more; but I want to know whether you consider 1*l.* a fair price for a vote?—Well, I should think so.

25,821. You would take more if you could get it?—That I do not say.

25,822. I want you to say?—I have never been offered any more.

25,823. If you had been offered 5*l.* would you have been happy to take it?—I dare say I should take it as well as the rest.

25,824. Have you voted before?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

25,825. In 1863?—Yes.

25,826. Tell us what you got that time?—I got nothing at all; I was in business then.

25,827. Did you send in anything?—No, I did not send in any account.

25,828. Were you looking for something then?—Me?

25,829. Yes?—I got half a sovereign on the polling day for my morning's work.

25,830. When did you get it, after you had polled?—Yes, about a week afterwards.

25,831. Who from?—From one of the secretaries of the name of John Knight.

25,832. Then you did get 10*s.*?—Yes.

25,833. Was that all you got?—That was all.

25,834. Did you think 10*s.* in those days a fair price for a vote?—I did not expect to get anything.

25,835. Did you think 10*s.* in those days a fair price for a vote?—I am sure I do not know, I was a young beginner then; I do not know much about it.

25,836. Was that the first time?—Yes.

25,837. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you were so young that you did not know the value of a vote?—No, I did not.

25,838. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did not Mr. Nichols advance some money to you?—Some time before.

25,839. How soon before?—It might be three months.

25,840. How much did he advance to you?—That I am paying back by instalments.

25,841. How much did he advance?—10*l.*

25,842. I think it was not quite so much as three months before the election?—Yes it was.

25,843. Have you any memorandum of it?—I have at home.

25,844. You borrowed the money?—Yes. I did borrow it, I hired it for a time; it is the same as borrowing.

25,845. You have not paid much of it off?—Not much.

25,846. How much have you paid back?—Well, I have not paid any back; we have never come to no statement yet.

25,847. You have paid no interest?—No.

25,848. When did Mr. Nichols apply to you for it?—He has not applied at all.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

J. Nye.

8 Sept. 1866.

25,849. Do you know that Mr. Nichols sent in that 10*l.* as having been paid to you in his account?—I do not know.

25,850. (Mr. Commissioner Smith,) You told us that you had got 10*l.*, and that you were paying it by instalments?—I said I was going to pay it back by instalments.

25,851. Nichols is an officer of the county court, is he not?—I do not know.

25,852. He knows perfectly well how to collect his own debts?—That is very true.

25,853. He has not applied to you?—No.

25,854. When you were with Nichols, and were asking for satisfaction, did you say anything about that 10*l.*?—No, not a word.

25,855. Did he not say that you owed him 10*l.*?—He said there would be a settlement some day.

25,856. About the satisfaction?—Yes.

25,857. He did not say anything about the 10*l.*?—Not a word.

25,858. Did you not think it rather odd?—He never asked for the money, or I might have paid him by instalments.

25,859. You asked him for the money?—That was to do me good.

25,860. I mean the satisfaction, had you asked him for the money?—Of course.

25,861. That was when you owed him 10*l.*?—I only wanted to have an understanding what I was to have, that is all.

T. Elliott.

THOMAS ELLIOTT called, sworn, and examined.

25,862. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labourer; I work in a chalk pit.

25,863. What do you pay a year for your house in which you live?—I live in my own house.

25,864. What would be the rent?—12*l.* a year.

25,865. Rental or rating?—That would be the rent.

25,866. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

25,867. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No one.

25,868. Did nobody call upon you?—No.

25,869. How is it you voted for Mr. Monson?—I thought he was the best man of the two, and I went and offered myself to him.

25,870. To whom did you go to offer yourself?—To Mr. Monson himself.

25,871. How did you go?—I told him I should vote for him.

25,872. Of course you were then put on his committee?—Yes.

25,873. Where did the committee that you were on sit?—Sometimes at the "White Hart," and sometimes at different places.

25,874. You live at Reigate?—In Nutley-lane.

25,875. You saw Mr. Nichols, did you not, on Mr. Monson's behalf?—I saw him at the committee room.

25,876. He was a very active man on Mr. Monson's part?—I do not know about that.

25,877. Who else did you see besides Nichols?—A good many people.

25,878. Mr. Holdsworth?—I saw him when he came down into the town.

25,879. I mean on the committee?—No one in particular.

25,880. Who did you see on the committee besides Nichols?—Sometimes ever so many, and sometimes only a few.

25,881. How many meetings did you attend?—Very likely 30.

25,882. You were a very active man?—Yes.

25,883. Were you canvassing?—No.

25,884. Did you do anything except attend the committee meetings?—I was a messenger too.

25,885. What did you get for what you did?—2*l.*

25,886. 2*l.* a week?—2*l.* in all.

25,887. Were you paid before the election or after?—After.

25,888. Who paid you?—Mr. Nichols 1*l.*, and James Apted 1*l.*

25,889. How came Nichols not to pay you the 2*l.*?—I do not know particularly how that was.

25,890. Who paid you first?—Mr. Nichols.

25,891. Then you went to Apted?—I did, because he employed me as a messenger sometimes.

25,892. You voted, I suppose, in the election of 1863?—Yes.

25,893. For Mr. Monson?—No, for Mr. Wilkinson.

25,894. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—Yes.

25,895. What did you get at that election?—2*l.*

25,896. Who paid you?—Frederick Joyes.

25,897. And you voted also at the election of 1859, did you not?—Yes.

25,898. It was Wilkinson and Monson then?—Yes.

25,899. You voted for Wilkinson against Monson?—Yes.

25,900. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—Yes, I was.

25,901. What did you get for that election?—2*l.*

25,902. It was always 2*l.*—Yes.

25,903. Who gave it to you for Mr. Wilkinson?—Frederick Joyes.

25,904. Did you vote in October 1858, the year before, when Sir Henry Rawlinson was candidate?—Yes.

25,905. For whom did you vote?—Sir Henry.

25,906. Had you 2*l.* then?—No, I was a regular messenger then at 5*s.* a day.

25,907. What did you get then?—30*s.*

25,908. Who paid you the 30*s.*?—I do not know. I was paid in the committee room. Who it was that paid me I do not know.

25,909. Did you vote at the election in the early part of that year, when Doulton, Wilkinson, Monson, and Rawlinson, were candidates?—Yes, for Sir Henry Rawlinson, I think.

25,910. I thought you voted for Doulton?—No.

25,911. What did you get?—I was employed a good while for Mr. Doulton, but I did not vote for him.

25,912. What money did you receive from Mr. Doulton?—I was paid 3*s.* a day.

25,913. How much money did you get?—I do not know. We were carrying boards about with papers on them.

25,914. You were paid a guinea a week were you?—18*s.* a week; it was paid every night.

25,915. You got 30*s.*, did you not, for voting for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I got 30*s.* for being messenger for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

25,916. Then you were employed by Mr. Doulton; can you tell me how long you were employed?—No, I cannot.

25,917. Six or seven weeks?—Very likely; I did not keep an account.

25,918. It was a long time?—I do not know, I did not keep an account.

25,919. Can you tell me how many other voters there were carrying about boards?—No, I am sure I cannot.

25,920. A great many?—Some were voters and some were not.

25,921. Did you receive anything from Sir Henry Rawlinson's committee upon that occasion?—I was employed as a messenger, and had 30*s.*; 5*s.* a day.

25,922. You did not vote for Mr. Doulton, though you were employed for him?—No.

25,923. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Wilkinson that time, when Mr. Doulton went up.

25,924. What did you get from the Wilkinson people?—I told you once; 2*l.*

THOMAS ISTED called, sworn, and examined.

25,925. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A fishmonger.

25,926. You live at Reigate?—Yes.

25,927. What rent do you pay for your house?—16*l.* a year.

25,928. You voted at the last election?—Yes, for Mr. Monson.

25,929. Have you been here during several elections?—This is my first election.

25,930. Did Mr. Monson ask you for your vote?—He did.

25,931. Did you promise him at once?—At once.

25,932. How was that? Did you know him before?—I understood that he was a Reigate person.

25,933. That was your reason?—That was the reason.

25,934. And you told him so?—I do not know that I told him so; my head is very much affected, and I have very little recollection about the election.

25,935. You think you promised Mr. Monson when he first asked you?—Yes.

25,936. I suppose you were canvassed and talked to by some other person belonging to his party?—No other party at all; only Mr. Monson; not that I have any recollection of whatever.

25,937. Do you recollect any one in particular having a talk about the election?—No; no one else has ever mentioned anything to me about the election.

25,938. I suppose you knew several persons who were backers of Mr. Monson?—No, I do not know that I did.

25,939. Who do you recollect was a backer of Mr. Monson?—I do not recollect any one; I do not have anything to do with backers; I am not about amongst the voters.

25,940. I suppose you know that Nichols was a backer of Mr. Monson?—I do not know.

25,941. You know the people in the town very well?—I do not know them; I hear their names sometimes.

25,942. Did you not hear sometimes that Mr. Nichols was a man who was very active about the election?—I have heard it since the election, since you have been here, but I have never heard it before. I have heard the newspapers, if I had not I never should have remembered it so long.

25,943. Do you recollect who were among your friends among the Monson party, your more immediate friends?—I have no friends at all.

25,944. I hope we have all friends?—I do not think so; there are more enemies.

25,945. Who do you know best among the Monson party?—No one best at all.

25,946. You used to meet them, I suppose, occasionally. I suppose of an evening you would go out and get a glass of beer?—Yes, so I should of a morning, for I like beer.

25,947. Then do you not remember, when you went for your beer, talking to people whom you remember as taking an active part in the election?—No.

25,948. Perhaps I can remind you. Do you know James Apted?—No.

25,949. You know him by name?—I believe he is a brother fishmonger; I know him by name.

25,950. He belongs to the same guild as you do?—Yes.

25,951. You knew a man of the name of Henry Francis?—No.

25,952. Do you not remember Francis at the election?—No.

25,953. He took a very active part in the election?—I do not know him.

25,954. Do you remember having a conversation with James Apted?—No.

25,955. Not at all?—No, I could not tell you what year the election was.

25,956. You remember there was an election?—Well, I am told there was an election, but I really cannot remember. I do not know when it was.

25,957. Do you remember being paid some money about that time?—No.

25,958. Do you not recollect a man paying you some money?—No.

25,959. I suppose, being a fishmonger, people owe you money sometimes?—Yes; but very likely they would not pay me.

25,960. You could not go on long in that way?—I do not trust much.

25,961. Do you recollect money being paid you over the counter?—No money is ever paid me over the counter.

25,962. Then you do trust a little?—It is never more than 1*s.* or 1*s.* 6*d.* I trust people.

25,963. Are you married?—I am married.

25,964. Your wife attends the shop?—No.

25,965. Who attends to the business?—A person that I hire.

25,966. A servant of yours?—Yes.

25,967. A man or woman?—A woman.

25,968. What is her name?—Elizabeth Sawyers.

25,969. She is married too, is she not?—She is not; I do not think she is.

25,970. She attends to the business more than your wife?—At home, yes.

25,971. Does she receive money for you?—If she sells the goods.

25,972. If I owed you 5*l.* or 1*l.* for fish might I not very well pay it to Elizabeth Sawyers?—Certainly, if I was not at home.

25,973. Do you recollect Elizabeth Sawyers receiving some money about the time of the election?—What for.

25,974. A man came in and paid her, and told her it was for you?—No, no more than what she has bills to show for; there are ladies and gentlemen that run little bills.

23,975. Do you not recollect Elizabeth Sawyers about the time of the election receiving money and telling you about it?—No.

25,976. You say you do not recollect receiving it yourself?—I do not recollect receiving anything more than what I have got bills to show.

25,977. You have not the bills here?—My books are at home of what people have had. I cannot tell what she has taken.

25,978. I dare say you know a man named Frederick Fuller?—I do.

25,979. When I mention his name, will you remember receiving some money about the time of the election?—I shall never recollect that.

25,980. You would not?—No.

25,981. I thought that might recall it?—No.

25,982. I does not?—Not in the least.

25,983. Was Fuller at your house about that time?—No, not that I know of. He might come in for a penny herring or anything of that sort. I do not know whether he was at my house or whether he was not. I cannot answer such a question as that.

25,984. He might come in and give you a little order?—No.

25,985. Do you not recollect Fuller being there, and your receiving money, not from him, but from somebody else?—No.

25,986. I thought that would remind you. You say I am wrong?—I am sure you are.

25,987. I am wrong in that?—I am sure you are wrong in this; that I do not know nor recollect anything of the kind at all; not the least.

25,988. Just wait one moment. Tell me this, will you. Did you hear much about money being given away at the last election?—I heard nothing about money whatever.

25,989. I do not mean to you?—I never saw anyone.

25,990. Not in talking to anybody?—No, because

SIXTEENTH DAY.

T. Isted.

8 Sept. 1866.

I did not associate with no one; only my own business; therefore I never could hear these things.

25,991. Did Mr. Gower call upon you?—I believe he called.

25,992. Can you tell me at all, was that after you had promised Mr. Monson or before?—I could not tell you for the world.

25,993. You could not?—No, not for the world.

25,994. Do you remember who called with Mr. Gower?—I do not.

25,995. What did you say to him? Did you say you would consider about it?—I do not know; I do not recollect.

25,996. You do not recollect that?—No.

25,997. Do you remember his asking you to go on the committee because he thought you had some influence?—I do not recollect. I do not recollect a word that was said; not one word; more than that, I cannot recollect the election even. My head is so very much affected that I shall not know anything to-morrow of what I am talking about to-day.

The witness withdrew.

C. Kemp.

CHARLES KEMP sworn and examined.

25,998. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted at the last election?—Yes.

25,999. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

26,000. What rent do you pay for your house?—At that time I paid 10*l.* 8*s.*

26,001. Did you pay it by the quarter?—By the month.

26,002. What are you?—A bricklayer.

26,003. You paid so much a month, and it came to 10*l.* 8*s.* a year?—Yes.

26,004. Were you canvassed by the Gower party?—Well, I was, sir.

26,005. Who canvassed you on the part of Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

26,006. Anybody else?—No.

26,007. Nobody?—No, not of the Gower party.

26,008. Did you tell him you would vote for him?—I told him I had promised Mr. Monson.

26,009. Nobody troubled you on the part of Mr. Gower at all?—Not at all.

26,010. For whom did you promise on the part of Mr. Monson?—Corderoy.

26,011. What was the nature of your little interview with Corderoy?—He passed along as I was working on the building.

26,012. On the what?—On the building.

26,013. Where you were working?—Yes, near where I am now living. I told him I had not promised to give my vote; I had no one to ask me anything of it. He then asked me if I would have my name put on Mr. Monson's committee, and I said no, I would not. He asked me if I would promise to vote for Mr. Monson, and I said yes, I would. That is all that he asked.

26,014. It did not quite end there, did it?—Yes, it ended there completely.

26,015. Were you to do any work for Mr. Monson?—No.

26,016. Canvassing for him?—No, I was busy on my own account and had no time.

26,017. Corderoy held out some little inducement, did not he, that it might lead to something satisfactory?—No, not at all. He asked me if I would promise my vote and I said I would.

26,018. Then you voted for him?—Yes.

26,019. What did you get?—Well, sir, about a week or ten days after the election I met Corderoy, and he asked me what I was indebted for the expenses or loss of time I had been put to. I told him I was not aware that he was indebted at all, for I was not promised anything and did not expect anything.

26,020. And so?—"Well," he said, "I don't wish "you to lose your time." "Well," I said, "all the "time I have lost is the polling day and the nomi- "nation day. I did not expect," I said, "to have "anything for that." "Well," he says, "we will "pay you for all your loss of time. If you will tell "me what the amount of the two days you lost is I "will pay you." I said, "If you wish to pay me, I "don't expect it, I shall say 6*s.* a day, that is 12*s.* "for the two days."

26,021. What did he pay you?—He paid me 12*s.* It was what I did not expect. I told him I did not engage to have anything, and did not wish to have anything, but he wished to pay me, and I told him I should expect to earn that if I had been at work for the two days and he paid me.

26,022. Then, in point of fact, the 12*s.* was forced upon you?—No, he wished to pay it. That was the only time I had lost. I did not take part in canvassing, for I was working on my own account. I said, "If "you wish to pay me, I don't expect it, but it would "be 6*s.* a day for two days."

26,023. Were you at the nomination?—Yes.

26,024. And went back to work afterwards?—No, I did not do anything on either day, more than go to the poll and attend the nomination.

26,025. It was a sort of general holiday, I suppose?—Well, I was not at work at my own trade.

26,026. Or anybody else? And the same on the polling day as the nomination?—Well, I suppose I spent the day in the polling, and all through the nomination day.

26,027. The 12*s.* was forced upon you, and you took it?—He said he wished to satisfy me for my loss of time, and as he wished to do so I accepted of it.

26,028. I presume this was your first election—My first election.

The witness withdrew.

W. Stuchberry.

WILLIAM STUCHBERRY sworn and examined.

26,029. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

26,030. And what rent do you pay for your house?—10*l.* 10*s.* a year.

26,031. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

26,032. Were you on his committee?—No, I was not on his committee.

26,033. Who spoke to you about voting?—One of my mates what was for him.

26,034. What was his name?—Fuller.

26,035. Frederick Fuller?—No, sir, Richard.

26,036. He told you what was going, did he not?—He asked me if I would promise to vote and I said "No." He said "I can get you 30*s.* a week."

26,037. How long before the election?—I do not know how long before.

26,038. Three or four weeks?—I had two pays.

26,039. Two 30*s.*?—Yes.

26,040. You were not on the committee at all?—No.

26,041. Who paid you the two 30*s.*?—Richard Fuller.

26,042. From whom did he receive the money?—I do not know.

26,043. Did not he tell you?—No.

26,044. He was one of your fellow workmen?—Yes.

26,045. How many of you were there that had votes?—Only him and me.

26,046. None of the others had votes?—No.

26,047. What was the last time he paid? A week before the election?—Before the election.

26,048. How long before?—The Saturday night before the election.

26,049. The night before the election?—The Saturday night.

26,050. How was it you were not to get 30*s.* during the election week?—I do not know.

26,051. You expected it?—I expected it.

26,052. Just so, and a little more?—No, that is always the sum.

26,053. And did you apply to him afterwards?—He said, "I don't think we can get our money."

26,054. Did not he tell you that, and then you inquired who was to pay it?—I said, "How are we "going on, then?" and he says, "I don't know I am "sure." I never had any more to do with it. I did not interfere more about it.

26,055. You inquired?—No; that was all as canvassed me, and that is all I did.

26,056. Where did he go to get the money, do you know?—I do not know. He brought it to me at my house.

26,057. I suppose he came in to town, to the committee, to get it?—I do not know.

26,058. You do not know that he gave you all he received?—I don't know about that.

26,059. Of course you did nothing but give your vote?—Oh yes, I ran about.

26,060. You said you were not on the committee. Your name was not on the committee?—No.

26,061. What running about was there?—Several places I went to.

26,062. And had some refreshments?—Yes.

26,063. I mean refreshments which you did not pay for?—Some I did pay for.

26,064. But I am speaking of those you did not?—Well, I did not have much but what I did pay for.

26,065. When you went about you did not pay for refreshments?—I did not go about, only to Langridge's.

26,066. Well, just so. I only took your own words. You said you ran about?—Not to public meetings.

26,067. You had some beer at Langridge's?—Ginger beer.

26,068. I mean that you did not pay for?—Yes, I did, sir.

26,069. You had nothing there but what you paid for?—Nothing but what I paid for.

26,070. Had you been in no other public house?—No, no other public house, not on the election.

26,071. Was this the first time you voted?—Yes.

26,072. Who took you to the poll?—No one.

26,073. I mean, with whom did you go?—Nobody; I went by myself.

26,074. You went alone?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

HENRY GRAY sworn and examined.

H. Gray.

26,075. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

26,076. What rent do you pay for your house?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week during the election.

26,077. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

26,078. Was that your first election?—The first election.

26,079. Whom did you promise your vote to?—Nobody.

26,080. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No one.

26,081. Before the election came on, when did you make up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson?—I never made up my mind at all.

26,082. You did vote at last?—I voted for Monson at last.

26,083. Be so good as to tell me why?—Because I thought we ought to vote for him, because he belonged to our place.

26,084. What is your place?—Reigate.

26,085. Does Mr. Monson belong to Reigate?—He belongs to the neighbourhood of Reigate.

26,086. Well, you did make up your mind some time before you gave your vote?—Yes, about the night before.

26,087. Before the election?—Yes. If I had told you the truth I should have told you Monday night. The election was on the Wednesday; it is not far out. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Really the election was the nomination, so that is quite near enough.

26,088. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are quite right. Tell me who talked to you about it about that time?—I will answer you all questions you put to me.

26,089. Well, who talked to you?—I cannot recollect, it is so long ago.

26,090. Where were you when you made up your mind on the Monday night?—At home.

26,091. Are you married?—Yes.

26,092. And live in Reigate?—I live in Reigate.

26,093. Was it all of a sudden that you made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson?—All of a sudden.

26,094. Was it done quite suddenly, or what decided you on that Monday night?—It was pretty near done of a sudden.

26,095. Somebody came and called on you?—No, they did not.

26,096. Had you seen somebody?—Seen somebody? I had seen my wife.

26,097. I mean by "somebody" somebody who came to talk to you about the election?—No.

26,098. Did you and your wife talk it over?—No, me and my wife did not talk over them matters. That's the worst person in the world to talk to about such things. Never let a woman know your mind about electioneering.

26,099. Now you have let that matter out, tell me, previous to that time had you been on one of the committees?—No, I believe not.

26,100. You are not sure?—I am quite sure.

26,101. You were doing work, I see, for Gower's people before that?—Most decidedly I was.

26,102. Who asked you to do work for Mr. Gower?—I believe Job Apted and another man.

26,103. What was it you had done?—Circulars and so on.

26,104. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And work about the election?—Yes.

26,105. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The work was, as my friend said, about the election?—I hope we shall be as good friends another twelvemonth, sir.

26,106. What?—You said "my friend."

26,107. (The Chief Commissioner.) What were the terms upon which you were to get paid?—For carrying circulars, 5*s.* a day.

26,108. And how much was paid?—That is what I received when I did carry them out.

26,109. How much did it come to altogether?—Well, it was at such odd times that I could not count it. The last week was very fairly equalled, that was six days, the other weeks were odd, and I could not tell how much it was altogether.

26,110. Cannot you tell how much you received altogether?—No, that is what I could not tell, because it was such odd times.

26,111. Cannot you put the odd times together?—I could not.

26,112. Did you receive as much as 5*l.*? My notion was, but may be I am wrong, I have not had full information, my notion was that it was 5*l.*?—Well, I believe you know as much about it as I do.

26,113. May I take it about 5*l.*; I won't do it without your permission?—Well, I won't say.

26,114. Well, will you permit me to say it was about 5*l.* that you received? I won't do it without your leave?—Well, it is a wrong thing to say if you don't know.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

H. Gray.

8 Sept. 1866.

26,115. Well, but about 5*l.* You received 30*s.* one week, and my notion was that you got about 5*l.* altogether?—I received 30*s.* for the last week, that was the 8th of July; the election came on the next week. I believe Saturday was July the 8th, and the election came on the next week. I received 30*s.* that night, and then there were two odd weeks. I won't be sure what I received.

26,116. Well, supposing that was 30*s.* it would be 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I did not make four weeks.

26,117. You might have counted other back odd days. I wish you would help me. I don't want to bind you to a particular sum?—I would just as lief help you as you help me.

26,118. Do you suppose you received 5*l.*, more or less?—I think I received less, but I cannot say altogether.

26,119. Wait a moment, and then you will see what I say; I will take it out if you do not like it,—"I "think I received less than 5*l.*" Is not that fair?—Well, as fair as we can get it now.

26,120. "Less than 5*l.*;" will that be it? You don't think you received more?—Well, I don't know whether I did or not.

26,121. Then I think I am on the safe side?—You ought to be; you are in the middle.

26,122. Why ought I to be?—One of us ought to be on the safe side.

26,123. Very well, we are all right. We shall have no difficulty at all about that?—Oh, we shall find out directly.

26,124. If you should find out exactly by-and-by, perhaps you will think it worth while to come and tell me?—I will go and ask them by-and-by.

26,125. Do exactly as you like about it. After that do you remember going into the "Grapes"?—After when, sir?

26,126. After you had been doing the work. After you were paid or before? I won't be quite sure when you were paid the last 30*s.*?—I cannot be sure.

26,127. Do you recollect going into the "Grapes"?—Oh, bless my soul, I goes in there often!

26,128. But about that time do you recollect being taken into the "Grapes"?—Twelve months ago?

26,129. Just before the election?—That is above twelve months ago.

26,130. I am asking you if you do not recollect it?—No, I do not recollect things, not particular things like that.

26,131. Do you recollect going into the "Grapes," and there being some talk about the election?—Well, I could not misunderstand about going into the "Grapes," and talking about the election, because the election was on then.

26,132. When you went into the "Grapes"?—The election was on.

26,133. Was it on then?—I expect it was.

26,134. Do you recollect something being said when you were in the "Grapes," only a day or two before the election?—It was on quick, was not it?

26,135. I think I am telling you quite right, but you do not seem to help me?—I will let you tell me all about it.

26,136. Will you agree to that?—If you don't go too far.

26,137. Don't let either of us go too far. A day or two before the election do you recollect going into the "Grapes"? Do tell me now?—Talk about a day or two! I very frequently go there.

26,138. You told me that before; but do you recollect going into the "Grapes" when the election was on or going on?—It was on a long while.

26,139. Do you recollect going into the "Grapes" and being talked to about your vote?—Talked to about my vote? Who by, sir?

26,140. And being asked to vote for Monson?—Who by?

26,141. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Anybody.—Oh, he is nobody.

26,142. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have not answered my question yet: do you recollect being taken into the "Grapes"?—My being taken there, sir?

26,143. Going into the "Grapes," and being asked to vote for Monson?—I do not recollect it.

26,144. Do you recollect going into the "Grapes" and being asked by Monson's party?—Monson's party used the "Grapes," I believe, generally.

26,145. You don't behave well to me, and do not answer my question.—Then I will, sir.

26,146. I ask you the third time, do you recollect going into the "Grapes" and being offered something for your vote by the Monson party?—Decidedly not.

26,147. How much of it do you recollect?—Nothing at all about asking for my vote, and nothing else about it—not in Nichols' house. You mean the "Grapes"?

26,148. Yes, that is the place. Was nothing said about your vote there?—No.

26,149. Don't you recollect being asked how you were going to vote?—No.

26,150. Don't you recollect telling them you had been taking out circulars for Mr. Gower?—No.

26,151. Then if anybody comes here and says so, it is a mistake?—I believe so.

26,152. If anybody comes here, and says that you came into the "Grapes," and were talked to about your vote, it is not correct?—You are asking me one question, sir. Do we ask one another questions? If so, who told you that?

26,153. No, that is another matter. Tell me whether you agree. Is that correct?—I do not recollect it.

26,154. You don't recollect it. Very well then, I will take your answer.—I do not.

26,155. Do you remember being also told that if you came and voted for Mr. Monson you would do better?—No.

26,156. Something of that sort?—I do not know anything of that sort at all.

26,157. Do you remember, then, that they said you would have a certain sum, naming it?—A sum of money, sir? No, nobody never promised me nothing on Mr. Monson's side. No one. Ne'er a one of Mr. Monson's party never promised me a farthing.

26,158. Oh, they did not?—They did not.

26,159. Why did you vote for Mr. Monson?—I told you before.

26,160. I did not hear it.—Because he belonged to the town.

26,161. But you had been working for Mr. Gower, you know?—I do work for two or three parties.

26,162. But you had promised Mr. Gower to vote?—I told them I would go with them, but I did not promise my vote.

26,163. You promised Mr. Gower?—No, I never see him to speak to.

26,164. What made you vote for Mr. Monson at last?—Because he belonged to the town.

26,165. That answer won't do.—Well, I have got nothing out of here to come out, sir.

26,166. Before the election did you receive any money from the Monson party?—From the Monson party?

26,167. Yes.—No.

26,168. Well, I will take down your answer.—I say no.

26,169. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) From any one?—No, sir, only what I worked for off of the Gowerites.

26,170. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is before the election?—Before the election.

26,171. Aye or no, did you receive any money after the election ?—Off of who ?

26,172. Never mind from whom.—Ask me who.

26,173. No, I won't do that. Did you receive money from either side after the election ?—I did.

26,174. Who from ?—Mr. William Holdsworth.

26,175. You ought to be ashamed of giving us all this trouble. — You never asked me the question first.

26,176. It is a miserable excuse. — I don't come here and spit it all out, without being asked, like some of them do.

26,177. You appear dull, and it seems you are impertinent as well.—I beg your pardon.

26,178. Those who come here appear as honest witnesses and speak the truth.—I tell you the truth when you ask.

26,179. How much did you receive? — 5l. from William Holdsworth.

26,180. Had you ever voted before ?—No.

26,181. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Holdsworth before the election ?—Yes.

26,182. Where ?—Down at the "Grapes."

26,183. Did he speak to you about your vote ?—No, he asked me nothing about my vote. He says, "Have you got anything to do, Harry ?" I says, "I "have not." He says, "Will you go to work for me ?" He never had no agreement with me, but he gave me 5l. after the election was over.

26,184. Then you were spoken to at the "Grapes" about the election ?—No, nothing about the election. Nothing was spoken at all when I went to work about the election by Mr. Holdsworth.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM CHILCOTT sworn and examined. W. Chilcott

26,185. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A carpenter.

26,186. What rent do you pay for your house ?—5s. 6d. a week.

26,187. For whom did you vote at the last election? —For Mr. Gower.

26,188. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

26,189. I need not go through it; who put you on his committee ?—When he canvassed me for my vote I promised him, and he asked me whether I would go on his committee.

26,190. Did you work for him ?—When you say work ——I was to attend meetings, committee meetings.

26,191. That is what I mean. And you interested yourself about his election ?—Well, yes, I did do so.

26,192. What did you receive ?—2l.

26,193. Who paid you ? Mr. Apted ?—No.

26,194. Joyes, Rose, or Buckland ?—Buckland.

26,195. Did he pay you after the election was over, or before ?—After the election.

26,196. He gave you 2l. after the election. You expected more, did not you ?—No.

26,197. Nothing was said as to the terms when you were put on ?—Not at all.

26,198. How did you know you would be paid ?—Well, as regards that, there was something said in the hall, I think, by Mr. Gower, about those who were on the committee.

26,199. What was it Mr. Gower said ?—Something when he was in the hall here down below, that them that worked should be paid. Something to that effect; I cannot say the words, not particular.

26,200. Did that raise an expectation in your mind that you would get something by being on the committee ?—Yes.

26,201. Buckland paid you. You knew that you would be paid before that time, did not you ? You expected to be paid before then ?—Before when ?

26,202. Before you heard Mr. Gower's speech ?—No.

26,203. You did not expect, but you were on his committee before that. Or did you then go on his committee ?—Well, you may say I was on his committee the first of his election, the first part of his canvass.

26,204. But you did nothing ?—I do not know what you call nothing. I spent a good deal of time in coming down here.

26,205. Well, you did not lose a shilling ?—Oh, yes, I did.

26,206. Did you attend any of the meetings in the public houses in the evenings ?—Yes, sometimes.

26,207. And had refreshment ?—Yes.

26,208. Which you did not pay for ?—No.

26,209. That is what I mean. I mean you did not lose a day's work by it ?—Oh, yes, I did; I lost two or three days' work.

26,210. In what way ?—On the polling day I lost work.

26,211. You came to the poll you know; that was your own wish, it was at your option ?—Oh, yes.

26,212. How long after the election did Buckland pay you ?—I cannot say how long it was.

26,213. Did you apply to him ?—I did, I believe.

26,214. Why did you apply to him, when it was Mr. Gower who spoke to you about it ?—Knowing he was one of the agents.

26,215. The agent for the district ? — I do not know.

26,216. Why should not all the committee men be paid ?—Because, perhaps, they did not go and ask for it.

26,217. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure it was Buckland ?—I am quite sure of that.

26,218. He was the man ?—He was the man.

26,219. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) A fortnight after the election ?—No, I should think it would be much longer than that; nearer Christmas, I think.

26,220. Did you go to him, or did he come to you ? —I went to him.

26,221. You went to him before Christmas, I should think ?—No.

26,222. Why did you not ?—I cannot say why.

26,223. Because, you know, the election was in July?—I do not know whether it was so long as that; I cannot say; I kept no account of it.

26,224. You had not voted before ?—No.

26,225. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are sure it was Buckland who paid you ?—Yes.

26,226. It was nobody else ?—No.

26,227. Nobody at all ?—Nobody at all.

26,228. Did you get any notice to attend the meetings ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS LE COURTOIS sworn and examined. T. Le Courtois.

26,229. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you? —A photographer and comic vocalist.

26,230. What rent are you paying ?—I live in my own house.

26,231. Is it a freehold house ?—Yes.

26,232. How long has your family been established in this part of the world ?—I understand about 30 years; my own connexions.

26,233. How long have your ancestors been here ? —I can remember my grandfather living here.

26,234. Before the introduction of photography ?— It was never thought of then.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

T. Le Courtois.

8 Sept. 1866.

26,235. What is your freehold worth?—I think it is assessed on the rate book, or valued at about 11*l.*

26,236. Well, tell me, who did you vote for?—At the last election?

26,237. Yes.—For Mr. Monson.

26,238. Who did you arrange with to vote for Mr. Monson?—Oh, arrange! I made no arrangement. I was asked to sign the requisition.

26,239. Tell me shortly, who was the person you looked to principally for money and that?—I did not look to any person for money.

26,240. Were you on the committee?—No.

26,241. Did you do any services?—No.

26,242. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

26,243. But you were paid afterwards for them?—No. Oh yes, I beg your pardon; I was paid for the day's —— what d'ye call it?

26,244. The nomination day?—No, no, not the nomination day, the polling day. That is the only payment.

26,245. Is that the only payment?—That is the only payment.

26,246. You got for that a guinea?—Yes.

26,247. Who from?—From Mr. Hart.

26,248. You say you had done nothing?—But that.

26,249. Tell me, had you voted at previous elections?—Yes.

26,250. In 1863 who did you vote for?—I did not vote at all.

26,251. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1865 did you do anything on the polling day except voting?—Yes. If you will allow me to make a trifling statement, I won't detain you a minute.

26,252. You received a guinea?—Certainly; I came up in the town in the usual way of an evening, going to smoke a pipe, and there was a little bit of a bustle, and I had a cart or trap, or something of the kind; I rode up into the town, and was asked to walk into the "White Hart." I had never been into a committee room on this occasion, and don't think I had been at any other place of that description, though I had been in the habit some years previous of doing so. I make this statement.

26,253. I want to know what you did on the polling day?—I went to and fro. The only thing I did was to go to and fro with a packet of letters, or something of that kind.

26,254. You went to the place where they were polling and the polling clerks gave you something to take to the committee room?—Something to take every hour.

26,255. The returns?—I think it was so.

26,256. You acted, in fact, as a messenger?—I think they called it messenger; they asked me if I would act in that way.

26,257. Did you have any refreshment?—No, I had no refreshment of any description that day, or no other days or nights.

26,258. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not vote in 1863?—No.

26,259. But you voted in the previous election of 1859?—I believe I voted at four elections during the time I have been at Reigate; if you will give me the dates I can tell you exactly.

26,260. In 1859 there was a general election, when Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson put up?—The general election?

26,261. Do you recollect whom you voted for then?—I can tell you the only important bit of business that I took; and it was for Mr. Wilkinson.

26,262. When was that?—I think it was in the year 1858 or 1859; the only engagement that I have ever had of any description in money matters.

26,263. Who opposed Mr. Wilkinson?—Lord Monson.

26,264. That is right. In 1859, then, who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson; the time I mean I did.

26,265. Very well; then I think I may take it 1858, the first time Monson and Wilkinson met?—Met together.

26,266. That is quite right; it was in October 1858?—There were two of them came very close together.

26,267. You voted for Wilkinson; you say on that occasion you did something for them?—I did, sir; I was engaged.

26,268. On the committee?—No, sir; I beg your pardon.

26,269. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) As a vocalist?—As a vocalist.

26,270. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who was the poet?—Before we left off they were all poets and singers; I thought I should have been knocked up with the services.

26,271. You sang a good deal?—More than I agreed on. I can give you plenty of proofs of it.

26,272. You will forgive me, did you sing on both sides?—No, sir, I did not.

26,273. You sang only Wilkinson's songs?—Only Wilkinson's songs.

26,274. And that was the principal work you did?—That was the principal; I was engaged for that and that alone.

26,275. What were you paid for that?—I made an agreement with Job Apted and, I think, Mr. Langridge, to go out and amuse Job Apted's company.

26,276. It was on paper, all written down?—Oh no.

26,277. It sounds like it?—The way I relate it to you, perhaps it does.

26,278. It sounds now as if you were reading a paper, you have got it all so correct?—I will tell you why. The night before I was wondering where you got the information from, and then I found who was doing it, and of course I knew Apted could give you all the information. I was rather surprised, and I was wondering where you gentlemen got the information from, and Apted told me directly.

26,279. You are quite wrong. Apted at this election was not engaged for Mr. Wilkinson, was he?—If he was not he engaged me for him.

26,280. Was it James or Job?—Job Apted. He remembers all about it.

26,281. You engaged with Job Apted; tell us what it was?—The amount I engaged for was 2*l.* 2*s.* a week, and a very small salary too.

26,282. How much a week?—If I was paid by the song, I should have made a tidy bit of it, I can assure you.

26,283. You ought to have been paid well?—I ought to have been paid well, but it was the reverse.

26,284. How much was it?—Only a couple of guineas for the whole week, and I have had outside that door as much as a guinea a night.

26,285. How much did it come to altogether?—That is a little thing I should like to tell you if I could. I cannot find anything to refresh my memory, but I will tell you as near as I can. I think the election lasted for many weeks—from what I can scrape up—on that occasion, when I was engaged as a singer, and I think I was engaged the second or third week in the election.

26,286. Quite right?—You shall have it all. I think I finished up the election, but I cannot tell you how long it was. But I can tell you pretty near the money, within a pound or two; of course, if you know the weeks, at 2*l.* or so a week, you can soon make it, but I think I was eight or nine weeks engaged then, with an extra or two.

26,287. Was it 20*l.*?—The extra was at a private house. I won't say to a week or a fortnight; it is quite near enough; say 20.

26,288. Was it pounds or guineas. If so it will be 21*l.*?—I cannot say whether it was pounds or guineas.

26,289–90. Whichever you like?

26,291. Was that your first election?—That was the first election when I became popular. Oh, no, the first of my elections when I gained my popularity was Doulton's.

26,292. Let us have it shortly ?—In Doulton's election I received—Oh, about receiving—I think I received about a couple of pounds, but I was not engaged for any purpose of the kind. That was the only engagement I ever had. It was months and months afterwards, and I never expected to receive anything, but we had two or three little meetings, and I think it was all lumped together.

26,293. Who from ?—Mr. James Nichols, I think.

26,294. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Besides singing, did you vote ?—Yes, I did.

26,295. You did not do anything at Doulton's election, except give your vote ?—That is the only thing, if I can make you understand.

26,296. I hope you can ?—That is right.

26,297. You need not take much pains to make us understand ?—That time that I was engaged, it was an ad libitum affair. I went where I thought proper, and if any one invited me to sing I sang, or if I liked to sing I sang. I did so without promise of reward. But I have frequently had presents made to me from unknown gentlemen, but they were not amounts like this; such as a sovereign, or half a sovereign.

26,298. On these occasions I suppose, not only was the song ad libitum, but the refreshment too ?—I am not going to deny it. I believe it has been so ever since.

26,299. I rather think this gentleman here has got hold of a song; he has got a very curious looking paper here ?—I have got some in my pocket if you require them; evidence of my work which I did not agree for.

26,300. Did you compose a song ?—I compose a song ? I do not think I had talent enough for that. I have altered them.

26,301. You compiled them ?—In some way or other I have put them together. We changed them when it suited our purpose, for a bit of fun. The rest was all fun, but that was serious business.

26,302. You are a photographer; did you find your business lively in the morning ?—I found I was not lively in the morning, and it did not pay me. Though it brought popularity in the way of business in the day time, it did not answer the purpose.

26,303. Did you take any of the agents' likenesses ?—No. Some gentleman up in Wray-park.

26,304. What, Mr. Roslyn ?—A stranger to this place, but perfectly well known in London, in Regent-street.

26,305. Mr. Mayo ?—Mr. Mayo. I thought it was very unkind of them.

26,306. You did not vote in 1863, I think ?—No.

26,307. How was that ?—I was off the register, somehow or other, they gave me the cold shoulder.

The witness withdrew.

W. Wye.

William Wye sworn and examined.

26,308. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A carpenter.

26,309. What rent did you pay ?—35*l.*

26,310. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Monson.

26,311. Were you on the committee ?—No.

26,312. Who asked you ?—Mr. Monson.

26,313. Did anybody else canvass you ?—No.

26,314. Did you receive anything ?—No.

26,315. From no one ?—From no one.

26,316. Tell me, with whom did you go to the poll ?—By myself.

26,317. None of the agents ?—None of the agents.

26,318. Have you voted before at the previous elections ?—Yes.

26,319. For whom have you voted ?—I voted for Lord Monson.

26,320. In 1863 there was no Monson up, I think ? For whom did you vote in 1863 ?—For Mr. Gower.

26,321. Were you on Gower's committee in 1863 ?—Not as I am aware of. I don't think my name was on the committee. I was there.

26,322. You attended on the committee ?—Yes.

26,323. And worked for Mr. Gower in 1863 ?—Yes.

26,324. What were you paid for that ?—4*l.*

26,325. Who paid you ?—Job Apted.

26,326. He canvassed you in 1865, I suppose, or somebody did, for Mr. Gower ?—I saw Mr. Gower.

26,327. And you saw him with the others ?—I saw them both.

26,328. You saw Apted ?—I saw them all.

26,329. Did you promise to vote in 1865 for Mr. Gower ?—No; I told him I should vote.

26,330. But why not for him ?—Because I had promised the other one before, Mr. Monson.

26,331. How is that ? You voted for Gower before ?—Because I altered my mind.

26,332. You told him you would vote. You were a Gowerite in 1863, and you received 4*l.* for what you did and for your vote; then why did you change ?—Well, I thought Monson was the best man. He was a local man, and he had got property round the neighbourhood.

26,333. The reason you have given won't do. What other reason had you ?—None at all; none whatever. Of course I had a right to vote for who I liked and who I chose.

26,334. I wish you men would do that. Now don't you know a Mr. Green ?—Certainly I do.

26,335. For whom did Mr. Green vote ?—I don't know.

26,336. You met him at the "Castle" ?—Oh, I have seen him several times in the street, too.

26,337. You spoke to him, and he to you about the election ?—He might have done; I can't say.

26,338. In fact, he did ?—Yes, all the agents in election times do such things.

26,339. Did not Green induce you to vote for Monson ?—Certainly not.

26,340. Did not he canvass you at all ?—Certainly not.

26,341. When did Mr. Monson call upon you ?—Some three weeks or a month before the election.

26,342. He had known that you had voted for Gower before ?—Very probably he knew it.

26,343. He must have known it. Did not you tell him that you had not made up your mind at that time ?—Certainly not.

26,344. What did you tell him ?—I told I should vote for him.

26,345. Who was with him ?—Mr. Richardson, I believe.

26,346. Did you get on his committee ?—No.

26,347. Did he ask you to go on his committee ?—No.

26,348. And you attended no meetings ?—I attended no meetings.

26,349. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you to canvass for him, or try to get votes ?—No.

26,350. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And do I understand that you received nothing before the election ?—Nothing whatever.

26,351. Or after the election ?—No.

26,352. You did not borrow anything; you did not get any money as a loan ?—No, sir; I had no 10*l.*

26,353. You mean that you had no money in that shape ?—No.

26,354. Now, I will ask you about former elections. You voted for Wilkinson in a previous election ?—I believe I did once.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

W. Wye.

8 Sept. 1866.

26,355. In 1859, the general election; the last election before 1863, when Monson and Wilkinson were up?—In Lord Monson's time?

26,356. Yes?—No; I voted for Monson then.

26,357. I thought you told us you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I did once. He put up a great many times.

26,358. Were you on his committee?—I think I were.

26,359. What did you receive for being on the committee that year?—A few shillings; it might have been 12 or 14.

26,360. Is that all?—Yes. In fact I never took it; it was left for me. I had it.

26,361. What do you mean?—It was left at my house, you must know, and I was not there to receive it.

26,362. If I pay money into your banker's is it the same thing?—I found it there when I got home.

26,363. You voted for Lord Monson once?—Yes.

26,364. Were you on his committee?—No, I believe not.

26,365. Did you work for him?—No.

26,366. Lord Monson was a man who had local ties about here, had not he? Did you get anything for that?—No.

26,367. You voted for Monson, Wilkinson, and Gower, and then you went back to Monson?—That is it.

26,368. And you received money from each of the other two, more or less?—Just as I told you.

26,369. You received none from Mr. Monson?—No.

26,370. And you were promised nothing?—Nothing.

26,371. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were speaking of the Doulton election?—Then I voted for Doulton. You must have got the wrong dates.

26,372. Never mind. You got something for that?—A fat lot.

26,373. A bad lot; the same as the others?—Nothing at all. You make a fuss about Doulton, don't you.

26,374. We heard that a great deal of money was going in Doulton's time?—I know nothing of his money.

26,375. Were not you employed for him?—No.

26,376. On his behalf?—No.

26,377. And yet you voted?—I voted.

26,378. You knew that a number of men were employed?—There were a number of men employed.

26,379. And paid by him. He had no local ties that I know of?—Any one has a right to vote for the best man.

26,380. Oh, yes. Then you voted freely for him?—Yes.

26,381. Why did you vote for him?—Because I thought he was the best man.

26,382. That is the reason?—I had a reason.

26,383. Was that the real reason?—Certainly.

26,384. Were you canvassed by the others?—I may have been; I have no recollection.

26,385. It may have escaped your recollection; there may have been some other reason why you voted for Doulton?—It might have been one way or the other.

26,386. Did you do anything?—No.

26,387. Did you attend his committee?—No; I believe I helped to get them up to the poll.

26,388. Well, that was doing a good deal. Did not you expect anything at all?—No.

26,389. Perhaps you did not get anything because you did not ask for it?—Very possibly.

26,390. It is a better conclusion to come to than the one you had come to before; don't you think so? Don't be shy at answering questions, because you had better be going on straightforward?—I am not shy.

26,391. You won't say whether there was anything else?—Not that I am aware of. I have told you the exact amount I received.

26,392. Did any one presume to make you an offer?—None whatever.

26,393. Who were Mr. Doulton's agents?—Strangers here.

26,394. Who was the person paying money for him?—I do not know.

J. Peters.

Joseph Peters sworn and examined.

26,395. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A plasterer.

26,396. Do you live with your father?—No.

26,397. Where does he live?—Gatton-corner.

26,398. Is your father in bad health?—Yes, he has not been able to leave his bed since Christmas.

26,399. Do you think he will be able to come here while we are here?—I think not.

26,400. What rent do you pay?—I am living in my own house.

26,401. What may that be worth?—About 5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

26,402. Who did you vote for at the last election?—For Mr. Monson in 1865.

26,403. Did Mr. Monson ask you for your vote?—No, I never saw him.

26,404. Who succeeded in getting you to promise your vote?—Mr. Holdsworth.

26,405. And did you promise him?—I asked him what he could do, and he said, "If you will come on "our committee I will give you 1*l.* a week to do what "you can for us."

26,406. And did you go on the committee?—Yes.

26,407. Did you do anything for them, or were you too busy?—I do not know that I did anything in particular.

26,408. And how much did you afterwards receive?—I think it was about five weeks.

26,409. And how much did you receive?—About 5*l.*

26,410. You voted?—Yes.

26,411. Did you get refreshments as you were going about?—I got very little.

26,412. When you wanted refreshment it was to be had?—Not at all times.

26,413. You did not want it at all times?—No, but sometimes you could not get it.

26,414. Who was it paid you the 5*l.*?—Mr. Holdsworth.

26,415. Was it before or after the election?—After the election.

26,416. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The whole 5*l.*?—Yes.

26,417. The day of the polling?—No, I think it was the day after; I know it was not before.

26,418. Did the Gower party trouble you much?—They never asked me for it; it would have been of no use.

26,419. They did not remember you. Why would it have been of no use?—Because I am opposed to those great landowners being in the House.

26,420. (The Chief Commissioner.) They are quits about that?—No, Mr. Monson has no land at all.

26,421. He might come into it?—He might or might not.

26,422. In 1863 who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

26,423. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

26,424. I dare say you will tell me what you received in '63?—I received 1*l.*

26,425. No more?—No.

26,426. Who from?—Wesley.

26,427. Did you do anything at this election?—I did not do anything in particular.

26,428. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was Mr. Wilkinson a landowner?—Not a very large one.

26,429. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know whether he was or not?—I do not know.

26,430. You voted at a previous election; which election was that? Do you recollect what election that was?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson twice; I know that.

26,431. Be so good as to tell me what you received at that election?—One election I did not vote at for him.

26,432. The other election, when you did vote for him?—The first one at which I voted for him was in 1858.

26,433. The second election of 1858 would be Hackblock and Monson?—Yes.

26,434. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes, that was the first time. I received 2*l.* then.

26,435. Then we come back, I suppose, to the Doulton election. Who did you vote for then?—I voted for Mr. Doulton.

26,436. Did you do work for him?—I did work for him.

26,437. How much were you paid for your services; tell me shortly?—I was paid pretty well then.

26,438. How much was it?—I think it was about 10*s.* a day being on the committee.

26,439. For how many days?—I cannot say how many days, but I think it amounted to between seven and eight pounds.

26,440. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) More?—No, I think not; it did not amount to more than that; it did not come to 8*l.*

26,441. Still you voted against the landowners? You stood on the principle of voting against the landowners?—I did not consider Mr. Doulton a great landowner.

26,442. But you voted on the principle of voting against these great landowners?—I thought we had got enough of them in the House.

The witness then withdrew.

JOHN NYE recalled and further examined.

J. Nye.

26,443. (The Chief Commissioner.) If you recollect, you voted for Mr. Monson, and you told us you had been living on Mr. Monson's estate for two and a half years?—Yes.

26,444. And I dare say you remember your evidence pretty nearly as well as I do; but in a portion of it you said, when you were canvassed by Nichols, you had promised your vote to Mr. Monson, and Nichols came and asked you whether you were keeping your word, and you said it was all right?—Yes.

26,445. And you would do so?—Yes.

26,446. And after the election he saw you and said he was pleased you had stuck to your word; and after that again you asked Nichols for some satisfaction, but you received nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

26,447. And you said after that, not only from him had you received nothing at all for your vote, but he told you he would see you another day, and I asked you whether that other day had come, and you said it never did come?—I said so.

26,448. You said also, you heard some were receiving 5*l.*, and you thought you might get 1*l.*?—Yes.

26,449. And you said you thought you got one?—I did not.

26,450. Bearing in mind you said you received nothing at all, have you not remembered since you went away you did receive something?—No.

26,451. I have found a piece of paper. Is that your handwriting (handing a paper writing to the witness)? Look at that side of it (pointing out the place)—Yes.

26,452. Is it not an odd thing you should sign that paper, for it states you received from Mr. Monson's committee 5*l.* for two weeks' canvassing with horse and cart. Did you?—No, sir.

26,453. Now, read the whole paper. You said it was your handwriting?—I received nothing.

The Chief Commissioner (to witness). Do not be in a hurry, there is plenty of time; read it.

26,454. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Read it out to us?—I cannot read writing, except my own handwriting.

26,455. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is somebody else's writing?—Yes.

26,456. That is your signature?—Yes.

26,457. Did you receive anything on the 4th of October 1865?—No, sir.

26,458. From Mr. Hart?—No, sir.

26,459. And you are quite certain about it?—Yes, I am.

26,460. (The Chief Commissioner.) Listen to me. "Mr. Monson owes to J. Nye, July 1865, two weeks' "canvassing, and with horse and cart, 5*l.* Received, "4th of October 1865, John Nye"?—No, sir.

26,461. You say that is your own handwriting?—Well, I did not receive it.

26,462. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you sign that receipt?—I never received it.

26,463. Why did you sign that receipt?—I am no scholar. I might have signed a bill, but I did not know what it contained. That is my handwriting.

26,464. Why did you sign the receipt?—I do not believe I signed it. All that I ever signed was the one signed for Mr. Nichols for 10*s.*

26,465. That is your signature?—Then I do not believe I ever signed anything else; then I never signed anything else.

26,466. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We will have it proved by-and-by. You had better be cautious?—I did not sign it, not to take the money; if I did sign that bill, I did not take the money it was signed for.

(Mr Commissioner O'Brien.) That is imputing to other men they have robbed somebody, so take care what you are about.

26,467. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If you are not speaking the truth now it may be a more serious affair for you hereafter?—I am speaking the truth.

26,468. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you owe any money to Mr. Hart?—No, sir.

26,469. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ever give Mr. Nichols a receipt for the 1*l.* he lent you?—I gave him an I. O. U.

26,470. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien, to witness.) It will be stamped, and in this Court for the future, and others may be involved in the matter, therefore recollect yourself; do you adhere to the answer that you did not receive this 5*l.*?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

WILLIAM RANDALL sworn and examined.

W. Randall.

26,471. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you William Randall, of Brighton-road?—Yes.

26,472. And did you vote at the last election?—I did, sir.

26,473. What are you?—A gentleman's servant.

26,474. A butler in a family?—Yes.

26,475. Mr. Taylor's, of Woodside, in this borough?—Yes, in this district.

26,476. You occupy a house, I suppose?—Yes.

26,477. At what rent?—17*l.* 10*s.* a year.

26,478. Who did your master vote for?—I believe he voted for Mr. Monson. I can say in a few words he did not ask me nor I him.

26,479. Did you vote for Mr. Monson?—I did.

26,480. If your master did not ask you, who did?—Mr. Richardson called and Mr. Monson.

26,481. Anybody else?—No, sir.

26,482. Was that the only reason why you voted

SIXTEENTH DAY.

W. Randall.

8 Sept. 1866.

for Mr. Monson, those two gentlemen having called upon you?—I have been a voter a good many years.

26,483. You have voted at several elections?—Yes, I have.

26,484. And you voted for Mr. Monson before?—Not for Edmund Monson.

26,485. For the Monson family?—Yes, I have.

26,486. Were you on their committee?—No.

26,487. Did you receive anything for your vote?—No.

26,488. Or for anything?—No, I never had a farthing for my vote for all the times I have voted for this borough.

26,489. Were you indebted to anybody?—No, sir.

26,490. I ask whether, being indebted to anybody, the score was scratched off in any way?—No.

26,491. Not at all?—No.

26,492. Then, do I understand that in no way or in any possible shape have you received anything on account of voting at the elections?—No, nothing of the kind.

26,493. In any shape or way?—Not at all; not a farthing.

26,494. (The Chief Commissioner.) And not only a farthing, but a farthing's worth?—No. I have been a voter for 20 years, I have never received one farthing, I was never offered one farthing, and never asked for it.

The witness then withdrew.

Adjourned until 12 o'clock on Monday morning.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

T. Dale.

10 Sept. 1866.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

Monday, 10th September 1866.

THOMAS DALE sworn and examined.

26,495. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes, sir.

26,496. Who for?—For Mr. Gower.

26,497. What was the rental of your house?—33*l.* a year.

26,498. What are you?—A dust gatherer, a dust collector.

26,499. You pay 33*l.* a year rent?—Yes.

26,500. Had you voted before 1865?—Yes, sir.

26,501. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes, sir.

26,502. Who for?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

26,503. Who was it canvassed you at the last election, the election of 1865?—No one; they called at our house above once or twice; I cannot say how many times; the two gentlemen themselves; but I was not at home; I was out at work.

26,504. Did not some one ask you personally to vote for Mr. Gower?—Not that I recollect at all; they called at our house, but I made up my mind, if ever Mr. Gower put up again, I would vote for him.

26,505. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not vote for him in 1863?—No, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

26,506. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive anything on account of the election in 1865?—No, sir, not a halfpenny; not any sort of money, and nothing else.

26,507. In 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

26,508. And you received something?—Yes, I did.

26,509. What was it you received?—8*l.*

26,510. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For your vote?—For my vote; I did as others did. I come here to speak the truth.

26,511. When was it you received the 8*l.*, and under what circumstances?—I could not tell you to a day or two; it might be within a fortnight, a day less or a day over. It was brought to my house.

26,512. How much was brought?—I had 4*l.*, to the best of my knowledge, sent to me in a parcel, but I believe it came from Mr. Barker. 4*l.* I received from Thomas Barker himself. I believe it came from him.

26,513. Were you at the "Swan" at the time of the election in 1863?—Yes, I was; I think I voted twice; I know I was here.

26,514. Had you agreed for the sum before he brought you here?—No, he said he would give me 8*l.*, and I said I would go; and he said, "If I should "want you I will send for you."

26,515. That was an agreement?—Yes.

26,516. And it was with Thomas Barker you made the agreement?—Yes.

26,517. Were you with Mr. Barker at the "Swan"?—Yes.

26,518. Did you receive any money at the "Swan"?—No, not a halfpenny.

26,519. Did you see anybody with money at the "Swan"?—No.

26,520. It is some time ago to recollect, but do you recollect Mr. Barker putting some money down at the "Swan"?—No, sir, and he did not do it in my presence.

26,521. You received 8*l.* in all?—I did.

26,522. Did you receive a sum of 3*l.* at the "Swan"?—No, sir, not a halfpenny at the "Swan."

26,523. I only ask you that because I think Mr. Barker on Friday last said he had paid you 3*l.* on the Saturday?—It is false.

26,524. But you had your 8*l.*?—I had.

26,525. In two sums of 4*l.* each?—I did, sir.

26,526. And you did nothing for it?—I only came over here twice. I came here to the poll; in fact, I had more work than I could do myself.

26,527. Had you only voted before in 1863?—No, I think I had not, but I voted then.

26,528. Were you canvassed by the Monson party in 1865, at the last election?—No, I was not canvassed at all; they came to my house once or twice, but I never saw them; I was out at work.

26,529. Though you received no money in 1865, did either party offer you anything?—No, nor promised me anything.

26,530. Were you canvassed by the Gower party in 1863?—Do you mean the last election?

26,531. No, the election before?—They called at my house, but I only was canvassed by Thomas Barker; but I am scarcely ever at home, except on a Sunday.

E. Dale.

EDWARD DALE sworn and examined.

26,532. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—Marine store dealer.

26,533. What rent do you pay?—20*l.* a year.

26,534. For whom did you vote at the last election? I never voted for either party; I told them constantly I would not vote.

26,535. You voted in 1863?—I did.

26,536. Why did you not vote at the last election?—The reason was, I expected to have had something promised me; I was to have had a little something promised me, but I did not.

26,537. Who promised you?—Different persons.

26,538. Who promised you?—I cannot mention any one's name, for I do not know; there were parties paid, as I heard.

26,539. You said you did not vote because people promised you money and did not pay?—I never had any money promised me at the last election; if there had been I should have taken it.

26,540. I thought you said so?—No.

26,541. Did any one speak to you?—Yes, Mr. Gower.

26,542. Anybody else?—Yes, Mr. Monson.

26,543. Who spoke to you?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower.

26,544. Any one else?—Mr. Hart came along with them.

26,545. Any one else?—Not that I know of.

26,546. Did you not see anybody but Mr. Monson, Gower, or Hart?—Several people called, but I was out.

26,547. Did they leave any message for you?—They left a message they had called for my vote, and certainly there were some papers left.

26,548. They made no promises, nor was there any money?—No, I would have taken the money if I could.

26,549. What did you hear was going?—I never heard nothing; I never attended any meeting.

26,550. Did you not hear the amount that was going, 5*l.*?—No; if it had been offered I should have taken it.

26,551. You have fully impressed us with that. In 1863 you voted?—Yes.

26,552. And voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

26,553. What did you receive?—I never received nothing, and that is the reason I did not vote this time.

26,554. What were you promised?—I was not promised anything.

26,555. What did you expect?—I did not expect anything.

26,556. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. Wilkinson himself.

26,557. Any one else?—No, I did not promise it, but I walked in about half-past 8 in the morning, and then I went to London.

26,558. You were not disappointed?—No.

26,559. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is there not an Edmund Dale?—Not that I know of.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Barker, in giving his evidence on Friday, said he gave money to five persons; two received 4*l.*, one 7*l.*, and two 8*l.* each. Richard Bennett received 4*l.*, Davey 4*l.*, Edward Langton 7*l.*, and Thomas and Edward Dale 8*l.* each.

(The Witness.) I never received a farthing from him in my life; I never exchanged half a dozen words in my life with him.

26,560. Do you live in the Brighton-road?—Yes.

26,561. And have a shop?—Yes.

26,562. You heard that your brother received 8*l.*?—No.

26,563. You have heard him now state it?—I heard him confess to it here, but I never heard of it before.

26,564. Do you mean to say you never heard of it?—I did not.

The Commissioner observed Mr. Barker must be sent for.

26,565. Now, I ask you again; did you not receive the sum of 8*l.* at the election of 1863?—No, I never had it offered, not one farthing; if it had been I should have taken it.

26,566. You say you were disappointed in not getting it; do you mean to say you never had the 8*l.*?—I never had so much as a glass of ale. I told Mr. Monson I would not vote for either party, and to Mr. Gower, when he came, I said, "I will give you my "word I will not vote neither for one or other."

26,567. Are you aware Mr. Barker has said you were paid 8*l.* by him in the election for 1863?—I was not aware of it; Mr. Barker is a man I never exchanged half a dozen words with, and if he says it he is a false man.

26,568. Do you know Mr. James, who was the agent of Mr. Wilkinson?—I did not know him.

26,569. Do you know whether any money was left at your house; you know 4*l.* was left at your brother's house?—No; if it had been I should have seen it.

26,570. You are a married man?—Yes.

26,571. And your wife, did she not tell you some money had been left?—No, and if any had been left she would have told me.

26,572. Were you in the town at the last election?—Yes, I was at Redhill at the time of the last election.

26,573. I mean when you did not vote?—I did not vote; I told them candidly I would not vote.

26,574. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you did not receive anything for the election in 1863, and that was the reason why you did not vote in 1865?—I did not receive one farthing.

26,575. Is that your reason? You have said it once; do you mean to adhere to it?—I heard other people had received money, and I did not see why I should not; and I took an oath I would not vote again, and I did not.

26,576. Were you at the "Swan" in 1863?—It is a house I do not go into once in six years.

26,577. That is a good reason for knowing if you were there in 1863?—I had a glass of ale there this morning.

26,578. Do you remember having a few words with Mr. Barker in 1863?—No, never.

26,579. Were you promised anything in 1863?—No, I was not.

26,580. Your only disappointment was, you heard others had been paid and you had not?—I never had anything offered me; I should have been delighted if it had.

26,581. You are of opinion you should not vote without being paid for it?—I think I should go with the others.

The witness withdrew from the box.

THOMAS BARKER recalled and further examined.

T. Barker.

26,582. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In your evidence on Friday last you stated, among others, the sum of 8*l.* was given?—Yes.

26,583. Was there a man named Edward Dale?—Yes.

26,584. Is that the man (pointing to the last witness)?—That is the man.

26,585. Did you give it to him?—No, I gave it to Thomas Dale's wife.

EDWARD DALE recalled.

E. Dale.

26,586. Did you not receive the money from Thomas Dale's wife?—I did not one farthing.

MR. THOMAS BARKER further examined.

T. Barker.

26,587. Now, Mr. Barker, did you pay it to Thomas Dale's wife?—Yes, I did.

26,588. How did you pay it to Thomas Dale's wife?—I gave her 16*l.*; they were 8*l.* each. It appears in the newspapers as 3*l.* each, which is a mistake.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Never mind that; it is a misprint.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

T. Barker.

10 Sept. 1866.

26,589. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did you pay Thomas Dale?—I gave it to his wife in one sum for him, for himself and to give to his brother Edward.

26,590. In two parcels?—No, the full amount.

26,591. I thought you might have put it up in separate parcels for each?—No, sir.

26,592. You told her one part was for Edward Dale and the other for her husband?—Yes.

26,593. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is Mrs. Thomas Dale alive?—Yes. They understood perfectly what it was for; I told them.

(Edward Dale.) I never had nothing; I never voted before.

26,594. Had you ever seen that man before (pointing to Edward Dale)?—His brother engaged for the two.

(Edward Dale.) I never received it.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien to Mr. Barker.) That exonerates you entirely.

(Mr. Barker.) Might I be permitted to say a few words in respect to something I omitted in my last examination?

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Wait a bit; you shall have full opportunity directly.

E. Langton.

EDWARD LANGTON (previously examined on the 24th of August) recalled.

26,595. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have been examined before, have you not?—Yes.

26,596. The oath you then took, remember, is still binding upon you?—Yes.

26,597. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

26,598. For whom did you vote in 1863?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

26,599. Did you receive any money for voting in 1863?—Yes, sir.

26,600. Who paid it you?—Mr. Barker.

26,601. How much did he pay you?—7*l.*

26,602. Before you received the 7*l.* had you promised your vote?—No, only I promised it to Mr. Wilkinson.

26,602*. When you promised your vote were you also promised to be paid?—Yes.

26,603. By Wesley?—No, he would have done; but I wished to be referred, and he said Mr. Barker.

26,604. Then Barker had to give you the money if Wesley gave it to him?—Yes.

26,605. Where were you paid the money; was it at the "Swan"?—No, at Mr. Toplis's.

26,606. By Mr. Barker?—Yes, sir.

The witness withdrew.

T. Dale.

THOMAS DALE recalled and examined.

26,607. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is your wife at home?—Yes, at Redhill.

26,608. What is her name?—Lavinia Anne Dale.

26,609. Did you learn from her that 16*l.* was left at your house with her in 1863?—No, no such thing.

26,610. You did not learn from her that so much was left?—No; 4*l.* was left, I believe, in a parcel for me.

26,611. Did you learn from your wife that 16*l.* was left?—No, sir, I know it was not; I am sure it was not.

26,612. Where do you say Mr. Barker gave you the 4*l.*?—In my house; in my sitting-room one night.

26,613. Who was present?—There was another gentleman, I believe, Mr. Wilkinson; John Wilkinson I think was his name. Yes, it is John Wilkinson; he is a plasterer.

26,614. I wish you to be very cautious; I am expressing no opinion, but I wish you to be very cautious; you say John Wilkinson was present when Mr. Barker paid you 4*l.*?—Yes.

26,615. John Wilkinson, plasterer?—Yes.

26,616. Is that the same man who was partner with Maynard?—Yes; he was along with Barker.

26,617. When he paid you was in 1863?—Yes.

26,618. And 4*l.* more was left?—Yes. I did not see it; I was told some boy had brought it in a parcel.

26,619. You understood it was for yourself?—Yes.

26,620. Did you not tell your brother of it?—No; my brother had the same; he said he had a parcel of 4*l.*, and 4*l.* I gave him; but my brother would know.

26,621. Your brother that is here?—Yes; I have only that brother.

26,622. You gave him 4*l.*?—Yes. Stop a moment; let me have a moment for consideration; do not let me do anything wrong.

(Edward Dale was here ordered to be out of hearing, but to remain within call.)

I know I heard my brother say the next morning he had the same, but whether Mr. Barker said he had the same as myself I do not know, but my missis knows; I do not know that I can hardly say.

26,623. Just be cautious.—I am cautious; what I have said is the truth; I'll stick to that.

26,624. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 8*l.*, and you told me your brother had the same, that he received the same?—Yes, that is quite right.

26,625. You told me 4*l.* passed through your hands; is that so?—Yes, it did; I know it did, and I can swear to it.

26,626. You swear to recollecting it now; do you remember where you paid him the 4*l.*?—It was down at his house; but as for saying who were present, I cannot.

26,627. Do you recollect what time of the day?—It was at night; at least, in the evening.

26,628. From whom had you received the 4*l.*?—From Thomas Barker; and I believe as soon as Thomas Barker went out of the house I went down there to my brother. It never was in my pocket, and that is the reason why I recollect it.

26,629. Was it at the time Thomas Barker paid you the 4*l.*?—Yes; it never was put in my pocket in any place.

26,630. Then Barker came and gave you 4*l.* for yourself, and 4*l.* for your brother?—That is proper.

26,631. And then you went down and saw your brother, and handed him the 4*l.* the same evening?—Yes.

26,632. Is there any doubt about it?—No; no doubt whatever.

26,633. And you received 4*l.* in a parcel; how soon after that? How soon after that?—It was before that; and as nearly as I can tell you it was a fortnight before.

26,634. And then you told me your brother told you he had received 4*l.* in a parcel?—He had some money in a parcel.

26,635. You told him you had got 4*l.*?—He said, "I had mine before you had yours, Tom."

26,636. He said he had his before you had yours?—Yes, sir, that is quite right.

26,637. There is no doubt about that?—There is no doubt about it, for it is the truth.

26,638. Would it not surprise you, or does it not surprise you, to hear your brother state he did not receive one farthing?—The truth is the truth; but he may have had something to drink; what you have asked me to tell is the truth. Excuse me, gentlemen, the man has been hurt in his head, and when he has had a glass it goes to his head, and he does not know what he is saying. There are plenty of people about here, and plenty of doctors, who know that when he has a glass he does not know what he says.

The two Dales and Mrs. Dale were desired to be in attendance at 11 in the morning.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

T. Dale.

10 Sept. 1866.

Mr. Commissioner Smith addressed Mr. Barker, and said, that if he was desirous of making a statement he had better go into the witness-box.

T. Barker.

26,639. You were examined on Friday?—Yes.

26,640. You made a very good statement, but there was something else you say you wished to inform the Commissioners of?—There is one little omission I made.

26,641. Will you be good enough to state what it was?—It was with respect to the election of 1865.

26,642. You wished to add something?—Yes; Mr. Nichols gave me 10*l.* on that election.

26,643. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Gave it you for yourself?—No; independently of myself.

26,644. What was that for?—5*l.* for John Barker, Nutley-lane.

26,645. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is he any relation of yours?—Yes; and 3*l.* I gave to Thomas Mulley, coming from Burwash at this time; he was then living there.

26,646. Do you know where he is now?—Yes; at Station-road, Redhill. That is all I have to add.

26,647. (The Chief Commissioner.) When was that?—In 1865.

26,648. And you gave the money which you received from Mr. Nichols to them?—Yes.

26,649. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is 8*l.*, but what about the other two?—I kept that for myself.

26,650. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Mr. Nichols say you were to keep the other two?—He did not tell me to do it, but I kept that for my own expenses.

26,651. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 10*l.* besides?—Yes, that was some time after from Mr. Hart.

26,652. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is there anything further that you have to state?—No; nothing else.

26,653. Now, in reference to the election of 1863, you said you took the names down at the "Swan"?—Yes.

26,654. Did you go into the room yourself?—I did not.

26,655. Who went in?—Mr. Langridge took the list in, and brought the money out.

26,656. You said that Mr. James was in the room?—Yes.

26,657. Do you know whether he was in the room? Did you see him?—I asked whether Mr. James was in, and they told me he was in the room.

26,658. I suppose there were others in the room?—I did not go in myself.

26,659. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand you sent in the names to Mr. James?—I did, on a piece of paper.

26,660. And the money came out?—The money came out.

26,661. Do you know Mr. Gilbert, the election agent?—Yes.

26,662. Did you have any conversation with him with reference to the 1865 election?—Not that I am aware of.

26,663. Did you make any application to him with reference to the Inquiry?—No.

26,664. Had he asked you with reference to the Inquiry of 1865?—I was with him several evenings.

26,665. You took part in the Inquiry of 1865?—No, I had no part.

26,666. You did not tender your services?—No; I did not have any services to tender.

26,667. Did you offer your services to Gilbert to investigate the result of the election of 1865?—No; he asked me whether I knew anything about it; I told him, and gave him the information.

Mr. Commissioner Smith told the witness that if anything further occurred to his mind with reference to the payment of money to Thomas Dale and Edward Dale they should be glad to be informed of it.

The Witness stated that he had come over on purpose that morning to inform them of the omission he had made in his evidence previously, but that it was bungled up together.

26,668. Are you quite certain from your recollection now that you took the 16*l.* to Thomas Dale?—Quite certain.

26,669. Did you ever leave or ever send a parcel of 4*l.* to Edward Dale?—Never; if the parcel went, it was done by some one else. I left the money at Thomas Dale's house, and we all adjourned to Mr. Wilkinson's committee room at Mr. Toplis's, and Edward Dale took a bottle of soda water.

26,670. Was anybody present?—I believe Mr. Wilkinson was there, Thomas Wilkinson.

26,671. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is Mulley dead?—No, he is living at Station-road.

26,672. He is a voter now?—I do not think he is now, but he was in 1863.

26,673. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You heard what Thomas Dale said this morning, that 4*l.* was left in a parcel and 4*l.* he received from you; was he paid the whole sum at once?—It was all left on the table in one lump, 16*l.*

26,674. Was only Mrs. Dale present when the money was left?—Mrs. Dale and Thomas Dale and John Wilkinson.

26,675. Who is John Wilkinson?—Of Station-road I think.

26,676. Was he a voter?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS SHRUBSALL examined.

T. Shrubsall.

26,677. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a shoemaker?—A bootmaker.

26,678. You were at work at Croydon at the last election?—Yes.

26,679. When Mr. Elliott went over to canvass you?—Mr. Palmer was his name.

26,680. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it Elliott Palmer?—No, Henry Palmer.

26,681. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On behalf of Mr. Gower I think?—Yes.

26,682. The other side, I think, had some talk with you too?—Previous to that.

26,683. Who had?—Mr. Read of Bell-street, the shoemaker.

26,684. What did he offer you?—Nothing directly.

26,685. But what did he say?—He asked me how I was and how I was getting on, and I told him, "Very well."

26,686. You know what he said?—I understood him. He asked me whether any of the opposite party had been to see me; I said no, I had had no one come to see me.

26,687. I am afraid they neglected you up to that time?—I wondered somebody had not been myself. It was not long before the election he said to me. "If "you get an offer from the opposite party let me know "how much it is, and I will either give you or get you "more."

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

T. Shrubsall.

10 Sept. 1866.

26,688. That is, whatever the other side offered you, you should have it on their side or a little more?—Yes, it was "Either I will give you or will get you it"; it was either one or the other.

26,689. No sum was mentioned between you?—No, no sum.

26,690. Who came first, Palmer or Read?—Mr. Read was the first one.

26,691. Then Mr. Palmer came?—Yes.

26,692. How long after?—A day or two; I cannot say; but it was just before the election.

26,693. He came and said, "Mr. Gower is the best man" I suppose?—No he merely asked me how I was getting on, the same as the other; he wanted me to go the same way as he was going, he was going for Mr. Gower, and I hummed and ha'd about with him. I knew his temper; we have many a chaff with him, and he is a man who is rather irritable.

The witness was here sworn, it having been previously overlooked.

26,694. Is what you have told us true?—It is so.

26,695. When Mr. Palmer came and wanted you to be on his side, and after some chaff, did he tell you what was going on their side?—He said to me, "They "are going on queer at Reigate, and the opposite "party say, 'Let go the painter.'" Those are the words he made use of; I think it was either the last night or the night or two before.

26,696. What did you understand by that?—I took it to be that they were paying for votes.

26,697. Paying freely?—Yes.

26,698. Then he said, of course, he would pay you?—He did not say anything to me about money.

26,699. He said you had better go and see Mr. Joyes, I suppose?—He said, "You had better come to Rei-"gate for yourself."

26,700. And see what was going. And you did come?—Yes, I told him I should come. I told Mr. Read also that I should come.

26,701. Did you see Mr. Joyes?—Yes.

26,702. What message had he for you?—He merely asked me how I was.

26,703. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Frederick Joyes?—Yes; he said, "I suppose you are going our "way," and laughed. I said I did not know; he said, "Oh, but you have always been," and laughed again. I think that was all that was said at that time, till he beckoned me and called me out and promised to give me 4*l.* for my expenses, and I said if I could come I would.

26,704. He called you out and told you you could have 4*l.*?—He told me he would give me 4*l.* for my expenses.

26,705. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that the morning of the polling?—No, some time before.

26,706. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election?—On the Sunday previous to the election.

26,707. What did you receive?—4*l.*

26,708. He gave you the 4*l.*?—He did.

26,709. Then and there?—No.

26,710. Before you voted?—No.

26,711. After you voted?—Yes.

26,712. The same night?—The same day, some part of the afternoon, on the polling day.

26,713. You have voted before, I believe?—Never.

26,714. Was this the first time you had a vote?—Yes.

26,715. I did not ask you what rent you paid?—You did not.

26,716. What rent do you pay?—10*l.*

26,717. Had you your house at that time at Redhill?—At the election I had just moved out of Reigate.

26,718. How long had you been away?—The March previous.

26,719. Then you had no vote at all in reality?—Yes, I had a vote.

26,720. I dare say you did not know that, but in reality you had lost your qualification, as you had left?—I did not know it; my name was on the list.

26,721. Do you know at all what the market price was?—No, I was away; I only came in here on the Sunday and the polling day; I was only here for about an hour, I did not go into any house.

26,722. Did you hear from any one what the figures were?—No, I did not.

26,723. You took the 4*l.*?—I did.

26,724. You did not go to Mr. Read?—No, he wanted me to come, but I did not go.

26,725. How was that?—I did not feel inclined.

26,726. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not go to Mr. Read and tell him you were going to receive 4*l.*?—No, I did not.

26,727. Did you canvass anybody?—No.

26,728. You did nothing for your money only voted?—Having a ride about, that was all.

The witness withdrew.

J. Parsons.

JOHN PARSONS sworn and examined.

26,729. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

26,730. Where do you live?—Ladbrooke-place, Redhill.

26,731. What rent do you pay for your house?—5*s.* a week.

26,732. I want to know this; are they paid by the week?—Yes.

26,733. Whose house is it?—I cannot tell whose house it is, it belongs to a cockney.

26,734. Have you any writing along with it?—Yes, I have got a paper to sign.

26,735. You have not got the paper here, I want to see one?—No, I have not.

26,736. Can you tell me what are the terms on which you take it; for how long does the company or whatever the society is let you have the house?—I have to pay rent every week, and it is a week's notice.

26,737. Is any time mentioned beyond a week. Do they say, "We will let to John Parsons week by week"?—That is all.

26,738. As long as he pleases?—Yes.

26,739. No other mention of any other time?—No, only by the week; Mr. Marriott collects our rent.

26,740. Who did you vote for last election?—Mr. Monson.

26,741. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Joseph Kenward.

26,742. Had you been canvassed before by Mr Monson?—No.

26,743. What did Mr. Kenward say to you; did he make any arrangement with you?—He said I was to have 30*s.* a week.

26,744. Did you say yes to that?—I was to have 30*s.* a week.

26,745. For what?—If I voted for Mr. Monson.

26,746. From when?—A fortnight before the election it was.

26,747. Were you paid by Kenward?—Yes.

26,748. Before the election or after?—Before.

26,749. When was it he paid you, the day of the poll?—No, the Saturday before the election.

26,750. That is twice 30*s.*, is that right?—Yes.

26,751. The exact sum was 3*l.*?—Yes.

26,752. Was that all?—Yes.

26,753. After the election did you receive anything else?—Nothing.

26,754. Did you receive anything for polling day?—No; nothing.

26,755. Neither side?—No.

26,756. Or on the nomination day?—There was nothing said about that.

26,757. Have you been canvassed by the other side?—Mr. Gower called one day.

26,758. Did any of his agents come to you and ask you to vote?—Not one.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

J. Parsons.

10 Sept. 1866.

26,759. Were you offered any money by any of Mr. Gower's party?—No, not by any one.

26,760. Was this your first election, or did you vote in 1863?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

26,761. Were you in the same house?—Not in the same house, but in the same place.

26,762. Who canvassed you for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Mr. Ireland, the grocer, who is dead now.

26,763. Did he make the same terms with you that you made with Mr. Monson this time?—I never got anything for that.

26,764. What terms did he make with you?—Not any at all, he only asked me.

26,765. He did not make you any offer?—I was not to have anything; I was not at home at the time he called, I was working away from home. I was at home on the nomination day.

26,766. Was anything said about going on the committee or your receiving anything?—No.

26,767. Did you receive anything at all?—Nothing.

26,768. Did you vote at the election before that?—No.

26,769. That was your first election?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

J. Davey.

JOHN DAVEY sworn and examined.

26,770. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rented house do you occupy?—6*s.* a week.

26,771. Do you pay it by the week?—Yes.

26,772. What are you?—A carpenter.

26,773. What are the terms of your holding?—Just the same as John Parsons.

26,774. Determinable upon a week's notice?—A week's notice either way.

26,775. Is that under a written agreement?—Yes.

26,776. What property is it you have; is your house upon a copyhold property?—Copyhold.

26,777. What company is it, the Freehold Land Society?—No.

26,778. To whom do you pay your money?—Mr. Marriott.

26,779. Is the name of the company the Redhill and Reigate Cottage Improvement Society?—Yes, I think it is.

26,780. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

26,781. What did you get for your vote?—I got two weeks' pay, 30*s.* a week.

26,782. When were you paid?—The Saturday night before the election.

26,783. Who paid it?—Mr. Kenward.

26,784. Were you paid it in one sum of 3*l.*?—No, each Saturday night.

26,785. Each Saturday night 30*s.*, and the last pay was the Saturday before the election?—Yes.

26,786. Was that all you received for the election of 1865?—Yes.

26,787. Was it Mr. Kenward to whom you promised your vote?—Yes.

26,788. When you promised your vote was it arranged that you should have 30*s.* a week, and work?—I was to work on the committee.

26,789. I suppose you did nothing on the committee?—No more than try and get a vote, or anything of that sort.

26,790. But you did not get any I suppose?—No.

26,791. Did you attend many of these committee meetings?—Yes.

26,792. Where were they held?—At Langridge's.

26,793. Was it at Langridge's chiefly that you attended?—Yes, nowhere else.

26,794. What was the chief business done there, pipes and beer?—Yes.

26,795. Nothing else much, I suppose?—Nothing that I know of.

26,796. You got three sovereigns for that. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

26,797. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

26,798. Were you on his committee?—No.

26,799. You did nothing with the exception of attending at Mr. Langridge's in the evening?—No.

26,800. What were you paid for that?—Barker gave me 4*l.*

26,801. Where were you paid the 4*l.*?—At Mr. Toplis's.

26,802. Were you promised the 4*l.* before the election?—The night before.

26,803. Where were you promised the 4*l.*, at the "Swan" or at Toplis's. Were you promised it by Mr. Barker?—Yes, but I cannot remember where.

26,834. Did you see Wesley?—No.

26,805. You had your arrangement with Mr. Barker?—Yes.

26,806. Was it understood between you that the 4*l.* was to be for your vote?—Yes, I believe so.

26,807. Were you canvassed by the Gower party in 1863?—No.

26,808. Were you canvassed by the Gower party in 1865?—Yes.

26,809. Was any promise made to you by the Gower party in 1865?—Yes.

26,810. Who promised you?—Mr. Clark the painter.

26,811. What is Clark's christian name?—William.

26,812. William Clark promised you on the part of Mr. Gower what?—2*l.* a week.

26,813. For how many weeks?—For two weeks I think it was.

26,814. What were you to do for it?—I was to be on the committee.

26,815. And to vote?—And to vote.

26,816. To vote for whom?—Mr. Gower.

26,817. Was that after you had seen Mr. Kenward?—Nearer the election.

26,818. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are speaking of the election of 1863?—Yes.

26,819. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What I was asking you about was the election of 1865. The evidence you have given in respect of Mr. Kenward has reference to 1863 and not to 1865?—Yes.

26,820. Then Mr. Clark canvassed you on the part of Mr. Gower in 1865?—No, the other way.

26,821. In 1863 that was?—Yes.

26,822. Now tell me about 1865, did you receive anything for your vote in 1865?—Yes, from John Kenward.

26,823. There must be some mistake about it, you did not accept the offer of Mr. Clark?—No.

26,824. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you voted before 1863?—No.

26,825. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then it comes to this, in 1865 you received from Mr. Kenward 3*l.*, and in 1863 you received from Mr. Barker 4*l.*, and in 1863 you were offered by William Clark 2*l.* for two weeks for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

26,826. Were you offered anything in 1865 for Mr. Gower?—No.

26,827. And were canvassed by no one in 1863 for Mr. Gower?—No.

26,828. Do you know George Room?—Yes.

26,829. I believe it was he who introduced you to the committee room in 1865?—No, I had nothing to do with George Room.

26,830. I think you must have forgotten it, is there more than one John Davey?—I do not know that there is.

26,831. It was George Room, as we have said, it was he who took you to Mr. Monson's committee room?—No, it was not so.

26,832. He said he took you and two or three other men?—I do not remember it.

26,833. Perhaps you will remember the names, Thomas Peat, a man named Fuller, March, and John Davey?—No, I do not remember it at all.

The witness withdrew.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

R. Bennett.

10 Sept. 1866.

RICHARD BENNETT sworn and examined.

26,834. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you a voter?—Yes.

26,835. What are you?—A carpenter.

26,836. What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.* a year.

26,837. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

26,838. And for whom did you vote in '63?—Mr. Wilkinson.

26,839. Who canvassed you for Mr. Gower at the last election; who asked you to vote for him?—Mr. Gower did.

26,840. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

26,841. Who put you on his committee?—A man of the name of Stoneman.

26,842. What is Stoneman?—A carpenter.

26,843. Is he a voter?—Yes.

26,844. I suppose he told you if you went on the committee you would be paid, or something of that kind?—Yes; he did not tell me any amount.

26,845. I did not ask you about any amount, but he said you would be paid for what work you did?—Yes.

26,846. How many weeks were you on the committee?—I think it was about three.

26,847. How much did you receive?—Nothing.

26,848. Did you work hard on the committee?—I do not know that I worked hard.

26,849. You were disappointed at not receiving anything, were you not?—I was indeed.

26,850. How much did you expect to be paid?—He told me he would give me whatever he got for me, but he never gave it to me, and I do not know whether he had anything for me or not; he always told me he did not receive anything.

26,851. You do not believe it?—I have got to take his word for it.

26,852. I see you have your doubts about it. Who was to pay Stoneman?—I do not know, but I was to receive whatever he got from him.

26,853. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did Stoneman work under?—He is a master man in a small way.

26,854. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien). Do you know who employed Stoneman on the committee?—No, I do not know.

26,855. Did he introduce you to any of the committee?—No.

26,856. Who did you see him with of the committee?—I have seen him with different committee men.

26,857. Important men?—Yes; I have seen him with Featherstone and Mr. Green, and many different men.

26,858. Then you thought it would be all right?—I thought it would be all right, but it was all wrong.

26,859. I believe you were more lucky in '63, when you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I was.

26,860. Before I go to that, did any one canvass you on behalf of Mr. Monson in '65?—Yes.

26,861. Who?—Joseph Kenward.

26,862. What did he offer you?—I very often go out of a Saturday night and have half a pint of beer, and I happened to go into Langridge's that night, and he was sitting there: he said, "Hallo, Dick! I want "to see you;" I said, "All right." He said, "How "are you getting on?" I said, "Not much." "Well," he says, "If you will come on our side I will give "you 30*s.* a week." He paid me the 30*s.* that week, and I went the next week and said, "I will not have "any more to do with your money, I shall go and vote "for Mr. Gower." I relied on Stoneman's promise, and was let in a hole.

26,863. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you give the 30*s.* back to Mr. Kenward?—No, I kept that.

26,864. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had Mr. Stoneman been with you before Mr. Kenward?—Yes.

26,865. Having arranged with Stoneman, Mr. Kenward got hold of you, and you received Mr. Kenward's money, and having got Mr. Kenward's money secure, you thought you would rely on Stoneman, and now you complain of being disappointed. What did you receive in '63?—4*l.*

26,866. From Mr. Barker?—Yes.

26,867. I suppose he had arranged to give you the 4*l.*?—Yes.

26,868. Where did you receive it?—I received that at Mr. Toplis's.

26,869. How long before the polling day?—I received it on the polling day.

26,870. Or on the night before?—On the polling day.

26,871. What time?—About half-past 10 o'clock, I think, in the morning.

26,872. According to arrangement?—Yes.

26,873. Had you a vote before 1863?—No.

26,874. Of course you had not told Mr. Kenward when he gave you the 30*s.* that you had promised on the other side?—No; but from my recollection now I think I saw Mr. Kenward before I saw Mr. Stoneman; I will not be certain about it.

H. Francis.

HENRY FRANCIS recalled and examined.

26,875. (The Chief Commissioner.) Be so good as to answer the questions, and I will try and examine you now. Do you know a man named Isard, a fishmonger?—I do.

26,876. Do you know who he voted for last election?—Mr. Monson.

26,877. Did you talk to him about it before the election?—No.

26,878. Not a word?—Not a word. You ask me if I talked to him; I say I did not, not a great deal.

26,879. What did you say to him?—Nothing at all particular.

26,880. Did you make an offer of money?—Not at all; not a word. I made him no offer, but he received some money from me, at least his wife did.

26,881. When did you leave any money for him with his wife?—Before the election.

26,882. How much?—8*l.*; that was with his wife, not with Isard himself.

26,883. Can you tell me what day that was?—I cannot exactly.

26,884. How long before the election?—I do not know. I know he was hard up, and that was what it was for.

26,885. Then he applied to you?—His wife did.

26,886. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Could you tell me in what money you paid it, in what coin?—In gold; they were hard up for money in business, and I gave it to them.

26,887. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was the wife by herself when you gave it her?—She was not alone, but her husband is a blind man.

26,888. Can you tell me whether he was in the room, do you recollect?—He is such a strange character; I do not know whether he was there or not, he might have been there.

26,889. When you paid it did you hand it over to her in her hand or put it on the table?—I gave it her, after all the time I have spent in order to obtain purity of election. She appealed to me; she wanted to go to London for some fish, and I said, "Look "here, here is some money to get some fish with," and I gave her eight sovereigns; it was to get the fish with. I gave it for the good of the woman. I thought that the woman might as well have eight sovereigns out of the election as anybody else. The fact of it is, that the woman was hard up, and I thought she might as well have eight sovereigns out of the election as anybody else, and I gave her the money. I do not know whether the man was there or not; perhaps I might have been a little bit top heavy at the time.

JOHN LAMBERT sworn and examined.

26,890. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

26,891. And what do you, or did you, pay for your house?—7*s.* a week.

26,892. Who did you vote for the last time?—Mr. Monson.

26,893. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson? Mr. Shepherd.

26,894. Had you anything whatever to do with the railway at that time?—No; only they asked me to come on their side.

26,895. Who did?—Mr. J. Shepherd.

26,896. What arrangement did he make with you?—He was to give me 30*s.* a week.

26,897. Did he pay it you?—He gave me 4*l.* 10*s.*

26,898. You received it on the Saturday night before the elettion?—I was paid weekly for three weeks.

26,899. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are simply a labourer?—I was paid just the same as the railway men were.

26,900. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you aware of what the railway men were receiving?—No, I did not know what anybody else received besides myself; he did not tell me what he was giving other people, and I did not ask him.

26,901. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you asked to vote by Mr. Gower's party?—Featherstone asked me.

26,902. Did he make any terms with you?—No.

26,903. Did he promise any to you?—No; he said Mr. Gower would not pay any one. He asked me to go on the committee, but he said Mr. Gower would not pay any one.

26,904. Was that after you had been asked by Mr. Shepherd?—Yes.

26,905. You declined to vote for Mr. Gower?—I did not intend to vote for him.

26,906. Why did you not intend to vote for him?—He called a meeting at Reigate, and told the electors that he did not intend to contest the borough any more.

26,907. Had you a vote in 1863?—No; I was off the register.

26,908. Had you voted previously?—I voted for Mr. Doulton.

26,809. Had you voted at any other election?—I voted once for Mr. Wilkinson.

26,910. That is just what I am asking you. You did not vote in '63, betwen Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower, Now in 1859 did you vote, when Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson contested the borough?—I voted then.

26,911. Who for?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

26,912. What did you get at that election?—Nothing at all.

26,913. Did you not get anything at all?—No; I never was asked anything by anybody.

26,914. Had you voted before that?—No.

26,915. Was that the first occasion?—That was the first occasion when I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

26,916. How many times have you voted for Mr. Wilkinson in all?—I have only once voted for Mr. Wilkinson and once for Mr. Doulton.

26,917. Never mind anybody else; do you recollect how many times you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Once.

26,918. Did you vote for Mr. Doulton?—Yes, I did.

26,919. What did you get for your vote then?—Mr. Puddey told me he would give me 10*s.* if I voted for Mr. Doulton.

26,920. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long was that before the election?—The night before.

26,921. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say to that, did that secure your vote?—I do not know that it did.

26,922. You did vote?—I went and voted for Mr. Doulton.

26,923. Was that the only offer you received?—It was the only offer I received.

26,924. Who paid it you?—He never paid it to me at all; he paid it to my wife; he got it one day, and gave it to her.

26,925. Is there any other election that you know anything about?—No, that is all.

26,926. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I see there are two John Lamberts on the register, which are you?—The one in Ladbrooke-road.

26,927. 590 on the register?—Yes.

26,928. John Lambert of Ladbrooke-road?—Yes.

26,929. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You would not vote for Mr. Gower because he came forward when he ought not?—No.

26,930. And because you received 4*l.* from Mr. Monson, that was the reason, was it not?—Yes.

HARVEY HARDING called, sworn, and examined.

H. Harding.

26,931. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification at the last election? What rent do you pay?—4*s.* a week.

26,932. Were you upon the terms of a week's rent and a week's notice?—Monthly.

26,933. What are you?—A smith.

26,934. In 1865 for whom did you vote?—For Mr. Monson.

26,935. How came you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Because he was my favourite man.

26,936. I dare say there was some other little reason, was there not?—Oh, yes.

26,937. Please tell us shortly what it was?—I came to an arrangement with Mr. Corderoy.

26,938. What was the arrangement with Corderoy?—I was to have 5*l.* for my vote and a fortnight's work, to do what I could.

26,939. What for the work?—Including the work; I was to do the best I could for him.

26,940. Did you get the 5*l.*?—Yes.

26,941. Who paid you?—Mr. Corderoy.

26,942. When?—Two or three days after the election.

26,943. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had he paid you anything before the election?—No.

26,944. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he pay you the 5*l.* in a lump?—Yes.

26,945. Was it in gold?—No.

26,946. When was the arrangement made?—A fortnight before the election.

26,947. Did Corderoy tell you where he got the money from?—No, he did not.

26,948. Were there any others of your fellow workmen that Corderoy paid, to your knowledge?—No.

26,949. Was Corderoy working with you, or what was your acquaintance with him?—Only knowing him, working in the same town here together.

26,950. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He is a blacksmith, is he not?—No, a painter.

26,951. Did you vote in 1863?—No, I had no vote.

26,952. Was this the first election?—No, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1859.

26,953. Was there anything paid for your vote then?—Not the least whatever.

26,954. That was a mere sham election?—Yes, I believe it was.

26,955. Had you voted before 1859?—No.

26,956. Do you know anything more about this last

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

H. Harding.

10 Sept. 1866.

election of 1865 that you can tell the Commissioners?—No.

26,957. I mean as to the mode in which the election was carried on?—I did not trouble but very little about it.

26,958. You did not do any work?—No, I was to be in readiness in case I was sent for.

26,959. Did you attend any of the meetings?—I attended but one meeting of Mr. Gower's in the freehold hall.

26,960. Did you attend any of Mr. Monson's?—No.

26,961. Did you attend any of the houses of refreshment?—Not Mr. Monson's; Mr. Gower's I did three or four times.

26,962. You went into the enemy's camp?—Yes.

26,963. I suppose that was when you made an arrangement with Mr. Corderoy?—Yes, it was.

26,964. Had you been canvassed by any of the agents for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

26,965. In 1865?—Yes.

26,966. Had you been offered anything?—4*l.*; four weeks' work.

26,967. Who offered you that?—David Durrant.

26,968. How long before you had seen Corderoy?—A fortnight previous to that.

26,969. Did you accept the 4*l.*?—No.

26,970. Did you tell Durrant which way you would vote?—I told him I would put my name down with the rest; that was the answer I made him.

26,971. You did not tell him for whom to put it down?—I told him to put it down with the rest. Those were the words.

26,972. Upon that did Durrant say that you would have your 4*l.*?—Well, he said he would pay me 4*l.*

26,973. And afterwards you got your offer for 5*l.* for your favourite candidate?—That is quite right.

26,974. When you put your name down, or gave Durrant authority to put it down——?—I did not put it down, he put it down.

26,975. You gave him authority to put it down?—Yes.

26,976. Did you then intend to vote for Mr. Gower?—On condition.

26,977. On condition of what?—If he acted according to his promise.

26,978. When was it that you thought he would not act up to his promise?—He did not give me a satisfactory answer about the 4*l.*; I did not think I should get it.

26,979. Then you had a second interview with Durrant about the 4*l.*?—Yes, in a day or two.

26,980. What was the unsatisfactory answer Durrant gave you?—He said if he had not got it he should know where it was; that was the unsatisfactory answer.

26,981. You rather doubted whether you would get 4*l.*?—I did.

26,982. Upon that did you go to Corderoy?—No, I accidentally met him in the street.

26,983. Did you tell him what took place between you and Durrant?—Not at that first time.

26,984. Did Corderoy make an overture at once?—He asked me to vote for Mr. Monson. I asked him on what conditions. "The same as the rest, of course." I was to do the best I could.

26,985. "The same as the rest." You understood that 5*l.* was the sum to be given by Mr. Monson?—I heard that one or two had had that; I did not know.

26,986. Did you tell Corderoy so?—I did not tell him anything.

26,987. Who mentioned the 5*l.*, you or Corderoy?—I cannot be certain whether it was Corderoy or myself.

26,988. Had you voted at any of the municipal elections?—One; I should say two.

26,989. Did you receive any money for those?—No.

26,990. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose you attended three or four of Mr. Gower's meetings?—At the beer shop.

26,991. You had plenty of the Gower beer?—I do not know; I had what I wanted.

W. Comber.

WILLIAM COMBER called, sworn, and examined.

26,992. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a voter for this borough?—Yes, I have been so for many years.

26,993. What are you?—I am a cowkeeper and a jobbing carter.

26,994. What rent do you pay for your house?—I live in my own.

26,995. What is the yearly value of your house?—I really do not know; I do not put a rent on myself. I insure for 400*l.*

26,996. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

26,997. Your house is worth about 15*l.* a year, I suppose?—I am possessed of three cottages; I live in one of the three, and let the two others; they are only little cottages.

26,998. Is not the house you live in worth 10*l.* a year?—Yes.

26,999. You voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

27,000. Were you on his committee?—I had nothing to do with no committee. I said, "Do not put "my name on anything of the sort; I am a free able "member when they call for me."

27,001. Who asked you to go on the committee?—Nobody. At least I was asked the question by a neighbour of mine, and I said, "Don't put my name "on any committee at all."

27,002. Who asked you?—My neighbours close by.

27,003. Who was it?—I was asked by several of my neighbours.

27,004. Tell me one?—Mr. Verrall, he asked me to go on to Mr. Gower's committee; and Mr. Church.

27,005. Who asked you to go on Mr. Monson's committee?—I was asked by gentlemen round there.

27,006. By whom?—By Mr. Richardson for one. I was not asked to go on the committee. I said, "I won't."

27,007. Who else besides Mr. Richardson?—Nobody.

27,008. Mr. Richardson is not "a gentleman round "there;" did any one else ask you to be put on the committee?—No. I told them not to make use of my name on any committee.

27,009. Did you act upon the committee in any way?—I said they were not to make use of my name, I was not going to busy myself in the election in any way.

27,010. What time were you at the poll to vote for Mr. Monson, and who took you?—At 9 o'clock in the morning, by his conveyance; it was just by my resldence.

27,011. Who came with the conveyance?—I cannot tell; yes, I can name one or two.

27,012. Name them?—Mr. Tyrrall was one, at the beer shop close by me.

27,013. Was he the man who asked you to be on the committee?—That was another committee.

27,014. It was Mr. Verrall who asked you to be on Mr. Gower's committee?—I never promised Mr. Gower, therefore I had no business to support him.

27,015. For whom did you vote in 1863, the election before the last?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

27,016. For whom did you vote in 1859, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson were candidates?—I went for Mr. Wilkinson.

27,017. Do you recollect when Mr. Doulton was a candidate here?—I recollect.

27,018. For whom did you vote on that occasion?—I went for Mr. Doulton.

27,019. Were you employed at all?—Not in any way. I had service offered me, but I would not accept it.

27,020. Who offered you service?—Mr. Green and

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

W. Comber.

10 Sept. 1866.

Mr. Boult offered me service. I said, "I will have "nothing at all to do with it."

27,021. What Green is that?—Henry Green.

27,022. And who is the other gentleman?—Mr. Henry Boult of London-road.

27,023. What did they offer you?—They offered me, I think, about 5*s.* 6*d.* a day, or 6*s.* I said, "I "will have nothing to do with electioneering, I have "my own business to look after."

27,024. How many weeks?—They did not tell me.

27,025. How many weeks was it before the election?—I could not tell.

27,026. Five or six?—I dare say; I do not know.

27,027. You refused?—I would not have anything to do with it.

27,028. You refused?—I did.

27,029. I suppose you received nothing?—I never did on any election.

27,030. If I was an elector, and I was offered employment or a bribe, I think I should hardly vote for the man who offered it, but you did. Did you know that it was offered you as a kind of bribe?—I expect it was a jolly; I did not know no other. I did not know what it was. In fact, I would not have any of the services.

27,031. Did you vote for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I did.

27,032. You received nothing for that?—I did not.

27,033. Were you employed on either occasion?—I was never employed under no election, no more than I was fetched for my vote.

27,034. I believe there is one more Comber on the list?—I have three brothers besides me.

27,035. They all voted, I believe?—They did; I believe so, at least.

27,036. Two voted for Mr. Monson, and two voted for Mr. Gower?—I believe they did; I have been told so; I do not know no more.

27,037. I take it that you received nothing at all?—Not one penny for any election, and I have voted for 26 years.

27,038. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Green canvass you at this last election of 1865?—Oh, no; I had nothing at all to do with Green, nor Green with me.

27,039. He might have asked you?—No, it was of no use; I should not go his way.

27,040. He asked you in Mr. Doulton's time?—He did, that is true.

27,041. Then you refused him?—Yes.

27,042. I thought he might have spoken to you again?—No.

27,043. You say that Mr. Church canvassed you and Mr. Verrall?—They wanted to do so, they wanted me to go on Mr. Gower's side. I had my own business to look after, and I did not want to busy myself about the election.

27,044. Did Mr. Church or Mr. Verrall make overtures to you that you would be paid for being on the committee?—They told me that, but I did not feel inclined to go on.

27,045. I want to know whether it was Mr. Church or Mr. Verrall made overtures to you?—They were both neighbours of mine.

27,046. Did they come together?—I cannot say.

27,047. Or did they come separately?—I do not mean to say that they came together. They often used to come, being neighbours, and smoke a pipe. I was busy looking after my cows and horses; I took no interest in it.

27,048. I want to know whether it was Mr. Church or Mr. Verrall who said anything to you about being on the committee, and being paid for it?—No, they never said a word about paying for anything. They asked, "Would you like to go along with us?" Being neighbours, I said, "Don't bother me, I am "looking after my business."

27,049. You said that one of them wanted you to go on the committee?—Yes.

27,050. Which of them?—They did not say they would give me anything.

27,051. Which asked you?—I do not know which.

27,052. One of them did?—I was asked that question, if I would, and I said, "Don't put me on any "committee; I won't busy myself at any election; "I have enough to do with looking after my own "business."

27,053. Did they say, "Come on the committee, "and you will get something for it"?—Yes, but I would not accept their offer.

27,054. I want to know what the offer was that was made to you?—Not any offer particular. I said I would not accept their services; I had my own business to look after.

27,055. I want you to tell me what the offer was?—They did not make me any offer of any sum of money.

27,056. What was said about your going on the committee?—It was certainly hinted to me, "Could "we make use of your name?" I said, "No such "thing."

27,057. What was the hint?—That was the hint—"Could we make use of your name, Mr. Comber, "on the committee? Your name would go a great "way amongst the neighbours round here." I said, "Don't you make any use of my name at all, for I "won't have it."

27,058. Did either of them say to you that if your name was put on the committee you would be paid like the others?—I cannot say that; I do not know that; I never heard it.

27,059. Was anything said about payment?—No, not a bit; I never received a shilling for a vote in my life.

27,060. But was anything said by either of those two gentlemen?—Not that I am aware of.

27,061. That if you went on the committee you might expect something?—Not that I am aware of, I cannot recollect that. I do not know it indeed. I will not tell an untruth if I know it.

G. Pike.

George Pike called, sworn, and examined.

27,062. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A labouring man.

27,063. What rent do you pay for your house?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week at the time of the election.

27,064. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

27,065. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Himself, personally.

27,066. Did you promise him?—Yes.

27,067. Were you asked afterwards by any of his party?—No.

27,068. Were you asked to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

27,069. Not at all?—No.

27,070. Did you not see Mr. Gower himself?—No,

27,071. How long before the election was it that you promised Mr. Monson to vote for him?—Something like five or six months.

27,072. After that, as the election came on, they canvassed you again, did they not? they came to remind you?—I had two or three papers left at my house by Mr. Gower's party, I believe.

27,073. Who left them there?—I cannot tell; I was not at home; I cannot read nor write.

27,074. I mean by Mr. Monson's party; I suppose somebody came to remind you of your promise?—Yes.

27,075. Who was it?—Mr. Joseph Kenward.

27,076. How long before the election?—Three or four weeks.

27,077. What did he say to you when he came?—He asked me if I would vote for Mr. Monson.

27,078. What did you say?—I had already made up my mind to vote for Mr. Monson.

27,079. You told him so?—Yes.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

G. Pike.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,080. What did Kenward say upon that?—He asked me if I would be one upon the committee.

27,081. What did you say?—Yes.

27,082. Did you go on the committee?—Yes.

27,083. Did you do any work?—Very little.

27,084. I suppose you attended a committee or two?—Yes.

27,085. Did Mr. Kenward tell you what you would get if you got on the committee?—He did not tell me what I would have, but he said there would be a something.

27,086. What did you get?—I received 1*l.* 10*s.* before the election, and 1*l.* 10*s.* after the election.

27,087. Who from?—Joseph Kenward.

27,088. Was that all you received?—Yes.

27,089. Was this your first election?—Yes.

27,090. You had not voted before?—No.

G. Parsons.

George Parsons called, sworn, and examined.

27,091. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification at the last election?—A house, 5*s.* a week.

27,092. What are you?—A carpenter.

27,093. On what terms did you hold your house, monthly or weekly?—Weekly.

27,094. As to notice to quit?—A month's notice, I believe.

27,095. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Monson.

27,096. How came you to vote for Mr. Monson? What was the inducement?—I thought proper to do so.

27,097. That is one reason; was there some other reason?—Nothing at all, not any inducement whatever.

27,098. Who was it canvassed you?—Mr. Corderoy.

27,099. For Mr. Monson?—Yes.

27,100. Did he ask you to go on the committee?—No, I had nothing to do with it.

27,101. Did he ask you to work for Mr. Monson?—He asked me to do the best I could for him.

27,102. What did you say to that; that you would?—Yes, I said I would do so.

27,103. I suppose you were not to do that for nothing?—I had a recompense for it.

27,104. Who paid you?—Corderoy.

27,105. What was it?—1*l.*

27,106. When did he pay you?—After the election.

27,107. When he asked you to do what you could for them did he not say something about remuneration?—No, nothing; he promised nothing of the sort.

27,108. Was that the first time you had voted?—That was the first time.

27,109. Were you canvassed by anybody on the part of Mr. Gower?—Nothing particular; I was asked.

27,110. Who was it asked you?—Some of the shopmates; Charles Parsons did for one.

27,111. A brother of yours?—No, he is no relation of mine.

27,112. Were you asked to go on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

27,113. Were you asked to work for Mr. Gower?—No, nothing of the sort.

27,114. Were you not canvassed by any of the principal agents, Apted, Green, Rose, or any of those men?—None of them at all.

27,115. Is that all you know about the election in 1865?—That is all I know.

27,116. That is all you got?—Yes.

27,117. (The Chief Commissioner.) You got it from Corderoy?—Yes.

27,118. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he say why he gave it to you?—The two days that I lost, I expect, on the nomination day and the polling day.

27,119. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you at the nomination?—Yes.

27,120. That did not take long, did it?—I was about amongst them all day somewhere; on the last day, at all events.

27,121. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You expected to be paid, did you not?—I did not expect nothing about it.

27,122. Why should you get 1*l.* if you did not expect it?—I do not know how it was, I am sure; I had it gave to me, and of course I should not refuse it.

27,123. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not take it as a bribe, I suppose?—I did not take it as such.

27,124. What did you take it as?—For the loss of two days.

27,125. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When you lost two days, you did not expect to be paid for that loss of time, you know?—No.

27,126. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much should you have taken if he had offered a higher sum? I am sure I do not know.

27,127. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) All you could have got?—All I could have got, perhaps.

27,128. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is Henry Parsons a brother of yours?—No, no relation.

27,129. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Corderoy tell you where he got the money from?—No, he did not.

27,130. You did not think it came out of his own pocket?—I could not tell where it came from.

27,131. Did anybody ask you to attend the nomination?—Yes.

27,132. Who?—Thomas Corderoy wished us all to attend.

27,133. I suppose you could have gone back to your work after the nomination?—I dare say I could.

27,134. Did you occupy the afternoon by attending refreshment houses?—No, I did not attend them much.

27,135. Did you on that occasion?—I was there a little while.

27,136. Of course you did not pay for what you had?—Yes, I did.

The witness withdrew.

W. Millbank.

William Millbank sworn and examined.

27,137. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A painter.

27,138. What rent do you pay?—17*l.* a year.

27,139. Do you take the house by the year?—By the month.

27,140. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

27,141. Was that the first election you had had?—Yes.

27,142. Before that election who canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Ford.

27,143. What is his Christian name?—I cannot say.

27,144. Do you know how long before, about?—I should say five weeks.

27,145. Where does Mr. Ford live?—In Reigate, in the Lesbourne-road.

27,146. He is a voter, I suppose?—I believe he is.

27,147. What arrangement did he make?—None at all.

27,148. Did he ask you to go on the committee in the first instance?—No.

27,149. Were you put on the committee?—No.

27,150. Who canvassed you besides Mr. Ford, afterwards?—Not any other person.

27,151. Did anybody canvass you for Mr. Gower?—That is Mr. Gower's canvasser.

27,152. You told me you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

W. Millbank.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,153. And you said Ford canvassed you ?—For Mr. Gower.

27,154. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—No person.

27,155. Did he call on you himself? — He had called at my place.

27,156. But had not seen you ?—He had not seen me.

27,157. Why did you vote for him ?—I thought he was the proper person to represent the borough of Reigate ; that is why I chose him.

27,158. Who is your landlord ?—Mr. Shepherd.

27,159. I suppose Mr. Shepherd canvassed you ?—No.

27,160. Did he not ask you to vote ?—No.

27,161. Did he ask you how you were going to vote ?—No.

27,162. Did he know how you were going to vote ?—No.

27,163. Did you know how Mr. Shepherd voted ?—No.

27,164. Do you know now ?—No.

27,165. Is it the same Shepherd that we have eard about ?—I am sure I do not know.

27,166. What Shepherd is it ? — Shepherd the uilder, of Redhill.

27,167. That is not the Shepherd who is gas fitter o the railway ?—I do not know.

27,168. Did you do anything for Mr. Monson ? Were you active in doing any work for him, giving him your assistance ?—No.

27,169. I suppose, though not active, you did assist him ?—No.

27,170. Not at all ?—Not at all.

27,171. Were you here all the time during the election ?—Yes.

27,172. I suppose you took some part in it ?—No.

27,173. You did not mind the election ?—Not at all.

27,174. Then it was after you had agreed to vote for Mr. Monson that Ford canvassed you for Mr. Gower ?—I told him I would have nothing to do with it, that I had made up my mind, and that was sufficient.

27,175. Is Mr. Ford a voter ?—Yes.

27,176. He voted, I suppose, for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

27,177. Did he ask you to go on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

27,178. What did he ask you to do ?—Whether I would vote for Mr. Gower. I said, "No," I had made up my mind, and should not alter.

27,179. Was that all that passed ?—That is all that passed.

27,180. Did anybody else canvass you for Mr. Gower ?—No.

27,181. After that you voted, as you had made up your mind, for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

27,182. Had you been asked to go on Mr. Monson's committee ?—No.

27,183. Not at all ?—No.

27,184. Did they not ask you to get some votes for Mr. Monson ?—No.

27,185. After the election was over did they come and talk to you ?—No.

27,186. Was anything offered to you ?—No.

27,187. I need hardly ask whether you received anything ?—No.

27,188. Did you receive any promises ?—No.

27,189. Did they raise any expectations ?—No.

27,190. This was your first election ?—Yes.

27,191. Where do you live ?—In Glover's-fields.

27,192. Were you present at any meeting of Mr. Monson's committee near where you lived ?—No.

27,193. Not one ?—Not one.

27,194. Where was Mr. Monson's committee, nearest to you ?—I cannot say.

27,195. He had committee rooms in different parts of the town ?—He might have had, but I have not been to one.

27,196. That is no reason why you should not be able to tell me where his committee room was in your district ?—I cannot tell you.

27,197. Do you not know what house it was at ?—No.

27,198. Can you tell me who was the principal man on Mr. Monson's committee in your district ?—No.

27,199. If not the principal, an active man in your district ; that is all I want to know ?—I cannot tell.

27,200. Have you no notion ?—No.

27,201. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time did you vote ?—At half-past 9 in the morning.

The witness withdrew.

H. Sendall.

HENRY SENDALL sworn and examined.

27,202. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rent did you pay for your house ?—10*l.* 8*s.*

27,203. What are you ?—A gardener.

27,204. Did you pay rent by the week ?—By the week.

27,205. Then you paid 4*s.* a week ?—Yes.

27,206. Under what terms of notice to quit were you, monthly or weekly ?—Monthly, I believe.

27,207. For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

27,208. Had you been canvassed by the Monson party ?—No.

27,209. Not at all ?—No.

27,210. Or asked to vote on the part of Mr. Monson ?—No.

27,211. How came you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith canvassed me. I promised my vote in the early part of the canvass.

27,212. Did they make any overtures to you to go on the committee ?—Yes, Mr. Smith asked me if I would be on the committee, and I told him yes.

27,213. Did Mr. Smith tell you that if you went on the committee and worked you would be paid for it ?—No.

27,214. Somebody did, did they not ?—Yes.

27,215. Who was it ?—Not particular for going on the committee, but for working.

27,216. Who was that ?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

27,217. How long after you had seen Mr. Gower, and promised your vote, did you see Mr. Joyes ?—I do not know ; perhaps it might be a week ; I cannot say to a few days.

27,218. What took place between you and Joyes ?—Mr. Joyes asked me to work, if I would assist in returning Mr. Gower.

27,219. Did he tell you what work you were to do?—Not particular ; canvass, and see what was going on in our neighbourhood.

27,220. I suppose you did not do much ?—I think I did.

27,221. What did you do ?—A great deal of running about, and I lost a great deal of rest.

27,222. You sat up at nights ?—A great many nights.

27,223. These nights when you sat up you attended the meetings ?—Yes, sometimes.

27,224. At the different public houses ?—No.

27,225. Where did you attend ?—At the public halls.

27,226. At this hall ?—No, the new hall once or twice.

27,227. Only once or twice ?—Not at that hall ; I did not.

27,228. What did you do on these committees ?—I do not hardly know what to tell you ; I run about, and done what I was asked to do ; canvassed my fellow gardeners, and tried to persuade them.

27,229. All the gardeners canvassed each other ?—I do not know about that.

27,230. Did you get paid ?—Yes.

27,231. What did you have ?—5*l.*

27,232. Who paid you that ?—Mr. Mazden.

27,233. Had Mr. Mazden spoken to you about your vote as well as Joyes ?—No.

27,234. Then how came Mr. Mazden to pay you ?—

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

H. Sendall.

10 Sept. 1866.

I suppose that might be arranged between Mr. Joyes and him; I do not know.

27,235. Did he bring the money without your asking for it?—I do not know; I think I did ask him when the settling time was coming.

27,236. You asked Mazden?—Yes.

27,237. How came you to ask Mazden?—I think Joyes said he would see me paid; he did not say he would pay me himself.

27,238. How came you to apply to Mazden?—I heard I was on Mr. Mazden's list.

27,239. Who told you?—I think he told me himself.

27,240. Were you living in Mazden's district?—Yes.

27,241. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much out of the 5*l.* do you set down for your loss of rest?—I can hardly tell; I am in the habit of getting to bed at 9 or 10 o'clock at the outside.

27,242. I want to know how much is for the loss of rest?—I do not know; pretty nearly every night we were after hours.

27,243. How much out of the 5*l.* ?—I do not know how much; there was a great deal of looking after Mr. Monson's party, who were doing a good deal in our neighbourhood, or trying to do so, but they did not succeed much.

27,244. What did you notice Mr. Monson's party doing in that neighbourhood?—I do not know; it was the general talk that money was going pretty freely, and I think it has told tales in our neighbourhood.

27,245. Mr. Monson's money?—Yes.

27,246. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you offer any money?—No, I had it not in my power to do so.

27,247. Did you hold out any hopes to those whom you canvassed that they might expect something?—No, not coming on our side, I did not.

27,248. How did you manage?—I believe I did tell one of my fellow gardeners that if he worked he would be paid for his work.

27,249. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I think you said that Mr. Monson's money told tales?—Yes, I think you have seen that through the Inquiry.

27,250. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass Oxtoby for one?—Yes.

27,251. You told him that he would have the same as the rest if he worked?—No, that is wrong, I did not make that statement to Oxtoby, I wish the reporters would confine themselves to the statements made here.

27,252. (The Chief Commissioner.) The statement is, "Sendall asked me to do work, and said I should "have the same as the rest"?—I do not know anything at all about "the rest." That is false; I deny it.

27,253. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass anybody besides Oxtoby?—I did several, not particular.

27,254. Any individual?—I just put a feeler on several of them to see how they were.

27,255. How did you put a feeler?—I cannot hardly tell you how it was there.

27,256. Did you receive any instructions from Apted or any of those men in the committee as to how you should canvass?—I received instructions from Mr. Joyes that if Oxtoby worked he should be paid for it; not Mr. Apted, I had no conversation with him.

27,257. Did Joyes tell you to make the same offer to others?—No, he did not.

27,258. Only to Oxtoby?—No, he did not.

27,259. Then Oxtoby was the only person you got?—I think it was individually.

27,260. Tell me one individually that you got?—I do not know.

27,261. You only got him because Joyes told you to make that offer?—I do not know that it was an offer exactly on my part.

27,262. Did you vote at the previous election of 1863?—Yes.

27,263. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

27,264. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you loss of rest then?—Yes, a great deal.

27,265. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you get for voting upon that occasion?—Mr. James gave me 5*l.*

27,266. Did you receive it from Mr. James himself?—I did, and dearly earned it too, more so than on the last occasion.

27,267. Do you know a person of the name of Thomas Hards?—Yes.

27,268. Living in Bridge-street, Leatherhead?—Yes.

27,269. Did you canvass him?—Yes.

27,270. Tell me what took place between you and Hards?—I went over to Leatherhead to see Hards. I rode to Dorking, and walked from Dorking to Leatherhead, which is six miles. I went to see Hards and asked him if he would support Mr. Wilkinson. He said he should like to do so, knowing that he was a good man, but he had had an offer from the other party. I do not know whether it was 3*l.* 10*s.* or 4*l.* 10*s.*, but I believe it was 4*l.* 10*s.*; I cannot recollect which of the two.

27,271. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was the Gower party?—Yes.

27,272. Your party?—No, I was for Wilkinson on that occasion.

27,273. But you voted for Mr. Gower the last time?—Yes.

27,274. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes.

27,275. Now tell us what took place between you and Hards?—He told me that he should like to support Mr. Wilkinson, to vote for him, but he says, "I "have left your neighbourhood now" (he was a neighbour of mine previous to that), "and I have had "an offer from the other party." He said, "I want "to make a little." "Well," I said, "I have no "power to offer you anything." He told me that he had been offered by the other party. I do not know whether it was 3*l.* 10*s.* or 4*l.* 10*s.*, but I believe it was 4*l.* 10*s.*

27,276. What did you say?—I told him I would go home and report it to the committee, and let him know.

27,277. Did you go on the committee?—No, not at the time. Penfold came up while we were all at, I think it is called, the "Swan" at Leatherhead, and Hards told him the same tale, I believe, and Penfold said, "You will get nothing of the kind." He assured Hards that he would get nothing like that. He said his expenses should be paid if he voted for Wilkinson, he could not say anything further.

27,278. Is that all you know about Hards?—No, he promised Penfold there in my presence that on Sunday there were two men coming to see him, and then he would let him know after those two had seen him.

27,279. (The Chief Commissioner.) Hards promised Penfold to let Penfold know on the following Sunday?—Yes.

27,280. What then?—I do not know whether he let Penfold know, but he voted for Mr. Gower at the election; Mr. Penfold will answer that, I dare say.

27,281. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What Penfold is that?—Thomas Penfold of Mead-vale.

27,282. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was on the same side as you?—Yes.

27,283. Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you voted before?—Yes.

27,284. What did you get yourself in 1863 for Mr. Wilkinson?—5*l.* from Mr. James.

27,285. Had money passed through your hands in 1863 to give to voters?—No, not a sixpence, nor nothing of the kind.

27,286. You said you did a great deal of work in 1863?—I did.

27,287. Did you canvass?—Yes.

27,288. Beyond Hards?—Yes.

27,289. Did you get any instructions as to the way in which you should canvass?—No, not particular.

27,290. Anything out of the particular ?—No.

27,291. Did not some of the committee men, Mr. James or some of them, tell you that you might make offers to them ?—No, he was quite the reverse.

27,292. Mr. James was ?—Yes, quite the reverse of that.

27,293. Did any of the other persons acting on the part of Mr. Wilkinson give you any instructions ?—Mr. James had a committee room at the "Junction" hotel Redhill; that is where he was staying all through the election, though he had a committee room here.

27,294. Did you get any instructions as to how to canvass ?—No, I did not, nothing particular that I know of.

27,295. Did you make any overtures to persons when you canvassed them as to whether they might expect anything for their work ?—No, I did not.

27,296. What was the election before that at which you voted ?—I voted for the late Mr. Hackblock.

27,297. In 1859 did you vote, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson were candidates ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson then I believe.

27,298. Did you get anything for that election ?—I did, but I really do not know what it was, not the sum I believe that was in the returns. Whether it was 2*l.* or 30*s.* I do not know; it was a small trifle that Mr. Cape gave me.

27,299. We may say 30*s.* or 2*l.* ?—Yes.

27,300. From Mr. Cape ?—That was the agent.

27,301. Was that for voting for Mr. Wilkinson or for loss of rest ?—I cannot speak to the two.

27,302. Was it for voting for Mr. Wilkinson or for loss of rest ?—For work.

27,303. Then it was not loss of rest ?—I suppose it is one and the same thing.

27,304. What was the work you did ?—There was a great deal of work to be done at that time, I think.

27,305. Who asked you to work ?—Mr. Cape.

27,306. Did he tell you what work you would have to do ?—No, nothing particular, but then being on the spot where the committee room was I had to run about a great deal to take notes and circulars. Never scarcely a day passed but what I did take a circular somewhere from the committee room.

27,307. Did you vote in October 1858, when there was an election between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

27,308. Did you do work on that occasion ?—That is when Sir Henry Rawlinson was returned I think.

27,309. No, October 1858, the last election, between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson, when Mr. Monson was returned ?—I voted then for Wilkinson.

27,310. Did you get anything for voting then ?—No.

27,311. You were not paid anything at all ?—No. There were two contests between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson; it was the last election, when Mr. Monson was returned, that I had money from Mr. Cape.

27,312. Mr. Monson was returned twice ?—Yes, but Mr. Wilkinson did not then come forward; he was nominated here, I believe, but he never came down himself.

27,313. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the time you were paid ?—No.

27,314. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was in 1859, the mock election, when Mr. Wilkinson was put up without his knowledge ?—Yes.

27,315. There were two elections in 1858. Do you recollect the removal of Sir Henry Rawlinson, when he took office and then resigned ?—Yes.

27,316. Then there was an election in October, when Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates, and you voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

27,317. What did you get at that election ?—That was the election.

27,318. In 1859 you got nothing ?—Nothing at all.

27,319. The election in February 1858, when Mr. Doulton was down here ?—That is when I ought to have made a hit.

27,320. You smile with regard to that election ?—I was offered 10*s.* a day on Mr. Doulton's committee.

27,321. Who offered you 10*s.* a day ?—I do not know who his agents were; there were many of the sweeps running about at that time.

27,322. Who do you call sweeps ?—Some of the scum of London, I should think they were.

27,323. Who were they working for ?—Mr. Doulton.

27,324. Were they foreigners to Reigate ?—Yes, I knew no one except one; I did not know him, but they told me that was Freeman; that is the only agent I knew. I was offered 10*s.* a day by one of them if I would go on his committee, and vote for Doulton; and I believe that was the first of corruption in this borough, if there is any.

27,325. For whom did you vote at that election when Mr. Doulton was here, and you were offered 10*s.* a day ?—The Hon. Lord Monson that is now I believe.

27,326. You did not take his offer, the sweep's offer ?—No, if it had been ten times the amount I should not have taken it.

27,327. Did you get anything for voting for Mr. Monson at that time ?—No, not a sixpence nor a glass of anything that I know of, not to my knowledge.

27,328. That was not an impure election so far as you were concerned ?—No, I think not, quite the reverse of that.

27,329. Were you about much at that election ?—Well, after the ballot I lost my choice, and I did not take any interest at all, only giving my vote.

27,330. Who was your candidate ?—Mr. Wilkinson; he was balloted out.

27,331. You voted for Mr. Monson ?—I voted for Mr. Monson to keep Mr. Doulton back; I had no great love for Mr. Monson, but I voted for him.

27,332. You liked him rather better than Mr. Doulton ?—I did.

27,333. Was there anything at all like bribery going on upon that ballot between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Doulton ?—I think there was a great deal.

27,334. What reason have you for saying so ?—I do not know, I wish poor Roupell was here to answer that. I think he is suffering for a little of that.

27,335. Was Mr. Roupell down here before that ballot ?—I believe he was.

27,336. Did you see him ?—I saw him, I think, in this hall.

27,337. Did he speak to you ?—No.

27,338. After that ballot was there much of treating going on, or before the ballot ?—I was not about much after that. I lost my choice, and I cared nothing about the election, only giving my vote.

27,339. When your choice was gone, did you go about the borough, to see how the election was going on ?—Before the ballot I was about a great deal.

27,340. You can perhaps tell me, was there anything of treating going on; were houses open ?—I dare say a little; it is so long ago that I cannot remember much about it.

27,341. You were present ?—I cannot give much information about that.

27,242. Had you voted before that ?—I voted for the late Mr. Hackblock.

27,343. Did you receive anything for that vote ?—No, nor yet a glass of anything.

27,344. So far as you saw, with regard to that election, was it a fair election ?—I believe it was.

27,345. That was between Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—Yes.

27,346. You believe it to have been a fair election ?—I do.

27,347. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect that election pretty well between Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson ?—I do, I think.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

H. Sendall.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,348. It is not very long ago, in 1857 ?—No.

27,349. After that election was over do you recollect whether there was much dissatisfaction among the voters; were they grumbling, rather ?—Not that I am aware of.

27,350. They were not grumbling, but they thought it rather slow ?—I do not know what there was to be grumbling about; there was nothing going on in the way of corruption that I am aware of.

27,351. Were they rather dissatisfied that there was so little doing ?—No.

27,352. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You say that Monson's money told tales in Mead-vale; what tales did it tell ?—I think through this Inquiry you have been able to form an opinion, so far as I have read in the newspapers.

27,353. I thought you knew something yourself ?—No, I do not.

The witness withdrew.

J. Cook.

JOHN COOK sworn and examined.

27,354. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A carpenter.

27,355. What rent do you pay ?—11*l.* a year.

27,356. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Monson.

27,357. I suppose this was the first time you voted ?—Yes.

27,358. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee ?—Yes.

27,359. Who put you on the committee ?—Mr. Nichols I suppose.

27,360. What were you to receive ?—30*s.*; I made an arrangement with Mr. Nichols to have 30*s.* a week.

27,361. How many weeks before the election ?—Five weeks and three days.

27,362. Did you receive the 30*s.* a week regularly ?—1*l.* a week, and 3*l.* after the election.

27,363. Then you received 8*l.* ?—8*l.* 10*s.*

27,364. Did you receive it altogether ?—No, I received 1*l.* a week for five weeks.

27,365. And then you received 3*l.* 10*s.* in a lump ?—Yes.

27,366. After you had voted ?—Yes.

27,367. Did you go to Nichols after you polled ?—Yes, three days after I polled.

27,368. And he paid you the money ?—Yes.

27,369. He paid you all the money ?—Yes.

27,370. Was there any one associated with you ?—No one at all.

27,371. You did not canvass anybody ?—Yes, I canvassed George Buck and John Fuller.

27,372. Anybody else ?—No, I persuaded a good many, tried to.

27,373. Who is Mr. Buck ?—A bricklayer.

27,374. He was a voter ?—Yes.

27,375. I hope you succeeded with Mr. Buck ?—Yes.

27,376. Did Buck vote for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

27,377. What did Buck get ?—I am sure I do not know.

27,378. What did you promise him ?—I directed him to Mr. Nichols for a job.

27,379. That is how you canvassed him ?—That is not particularly how I canvassed him.

27,380. You said, "If you want to vote for Monson "go to Nichols, and he will give you a job" ?—It was to that effect.

27,381. Did you tell him what you were getting ? I did not tell any one what I was getting.

27,382. You knew that Buck went to Mr. Nichols ?—I did the week after he went there.

27,383. Was he on the canvassing line too ?—Yes.

27,384. He did not canvass you in turn, did he ?—No.

27,385. Did you say the same to Mr. Fuller ?—No; I canvassed him, and got him in the mind to vote for Mr. Monson, and some one else took him in hand. I was the means of his going to the poll in the first instance.

27,386. He went to the poll, did he ?—Yes; I believe somebody else paid him for his time.

27,387. He voted for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

27,388. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it Richard Fuller or John Fuller ?—John Fuller.

27,389. You do not know who paid John Fuller ?—No.

27,390. He did not tell you ?—No.

27,391. Did he tell you how much he had got ?—No, he did not tell me at all.

27,392. Did Buck tell you how much he had got ?—No.

27,393. Is there any one else whose name you can recollect ?—I do not recollect any one else that I canvassed.

27,394. Any one that you won over ?—I dare say I persuaded a good many.

27,395. You tried ?—Yes.

27,396. Can you mention any other that you worked upon, that you mentioned Nichols to ?—No one at all.

27,397. Buck got 7*l.* 10*s.*, did you know it ?—No, not until I saw it in the Standard.

27,398. You do not know what Fuller got ?—No.

27,399. What is John Fuller ?—A labourer.

27,400. Of Mead-vale ?—Yes.

27,401. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Fuller says that somebody took him out of your hands, was that Hewett ?—Yes.

27,402. No money passed through your hands, except what you received for yourself ?—No.

27,403. I suppose you attended the public houses ?—Not many, one I think.

27,404. You had refreshment ?—Yes, I did have a little.

27,405. You had no vote before ?—No.

27,406. You have a vote still, I suppose ?—Yes.

27,407. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did you appropriate the 8*l.* 10*s.* ? Did you keep it all yourself ?—Yes.

27,408. How long were you working ?—Five weeks and three days.

27,409. And you sent one voter, and canvassed Buck and Fuller, and then Nichols paid ?—Mr. Nichols paid Buck, not Fuller.

27,410. They both got paid ?—Yes.

27,411. When you canvassed them did you tell them they would be likely to be paid ?—I told Buck to go to Nichols, and he would I dare say get a job.

27,412. You meant by that that he would get paid ?—Yes.

27,413. For his vote ?—Not for his vote.

The witness withdrew.

J. Cook.

JOHN COOK sworn and examined.

27,414. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are another John Cook ?—Yes.

27,415. What is your address ?—South Park.

27,416. Were you a voter ?—No.

27,417. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you been a voter previously to the last election ?—No.

27,418. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take part in the last election ?—A little.

27,419. Who asked you to take part a little in the election ?—Thomas Jordan.

27,420. What did Thomas Jordan tell you to do ?—I was hired as messenger.

27,421. Was that all that you did ?—I canvassed one.

27,422. Who did you canvass ?—James Jordan of South Park.

27,423. How came you to canvass him, were you sent to him ?—Yes.

27,424. Who sent you?—Thomas Jordan.

27,425. Did Thomas Jordan tell you how to canvass him?—He asked me to see him.

27,426. Did he tell you what to say to him when you did see him?—I do not remember.

27,427. He told you to go and see Jordan. What were you to do?—I was to set him to work.

27,428. What were you to tell him to work at?—To do what he could as regards getting some votes.

27,429. What was he to get for it?—15*s.* a week.

27,430. How long before the election was it?—About a fortnight.

27,431. What was he paid?—I paid him 30*s.*

27,432. (The Chief Commissioner.) Paid whom?—James Jordan.

27,433. Was that the old man?—A middle-aged man.

27,434. The father of Thomas?—No.

27,435. Well, what is James Jordan?—A gardener. He has been up, I believe; he was up here last Thursday.

27,436. Where did you get the money you paid him with?—From Thomas Jordan.

27,437. But I suppose James Jordan did no work, in fact?—He done what he could of a night, the same as myself. He went to places.

27,438. You paid him 15*s.* twice over?—Yes.

27,439. Thomas Jordan paid him the other 3*l.* 10*s.*, did not he? He was to have 5*l.* I think altogether?—Yes, he was to have 5*l.*

27,440. It was paid to him by Thomas Jordan?—Yes, on the polling day.

27,441. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is all you know about it, I suppose?—That is all.

27,442. Did you pay anybody else?—I did not pay anybody else.

27,443. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you came down to the election, I believe you thought you were a voter yourself?—Yes, I thought I was at first.

27,444. What made you think so? Did you think your name was on the register?—Yes.

27,445. Were you renting a house, or something?—Yes.

27,446. Why were you not on the register, were not you up high enough in the rent?—The rates were paid in my name at the first onset, and afterwards they were altered, and then I was scratched off the register.

27,447. Did you come or did Jordan send for you?—I met Jordan in the town and he asked me for my vote, and I did not know but what I had got one. I promised to vote for Monson.

27,448. That was your first election?—Yes, the first time I was asked.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN BARKER sworn and examined.

J. Barker.

27,449. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tailor by trade.

27,450. What is your Christian name?—John.

27,451. What rent were you paying at the election?—I paid 4*s.* 6*d.* a week.

27,452. And you still do so?—Yes.

27,453. Do you pay it by the week?—Yes, I do.

27,454. You take it by the week?—Yes, giving a month's notice, you know.

27,455. Who did you vote for?—Monson.

27,456. Who canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—Thomas Barker.

27,457. What relation is Thomas Barker to you?—Only a son.

27,458. And what did Thomas, your son, urge as a reason why you should vote for Monson?—He asked me which way I was going. I told him I should go the same way as he did, and he said he was for Monson. That is all I know about it.

27,459. Did he ask you to be on the committee?—No, he did not.

27,460. Did anybody ask you to go on Monson's committee?—No.

27,461. Did not they?—No.

27,462. Did you go on the committee?—I have been at the houses when I have been drinking.

27,463. Where have you been when you have been drinking?—I cannot tell so many houses.

27,464. Well, tell me two or three, just shortly?—I was at the "Yew Tree" once.

27,465. Go on?—I think that is about all I can remember. I cannot recollect.

27,466. Did you have plenty of election beer?—When they asked me to drink I drank with them.

27,467. Did you go in and find that the houses provided you with beer?—No, what we had was paid for.

27,468. Somebody paid for it?—Yes.

27,469. How long before the election did Thomas, your son, ask you to vote for Mr. Monson?—The first beginning.

27,470. Four or five weeks?—It might be.

27,471. We may take it four weeks; did not you do anything more than go round drinking?—No.

27,472. Did you get money for doing it?—No, I got something at the latter end.

27,473. You got something towards the latter end?—You knows that very well, sir. You knows what I've had, I suppose.

27,474. You have given your evidence all right, Barker; now tell me what you did get, if you please?—Five.

27,475. Did they call it a fiver?—It was a 5*l.* note, a bit of paper. It was pressed upon me, and I accepted it.

27,476. Who gave it to you?—Thomas Barker.

27,477. Your son?—Yes, certainly.

27,478. You seem to have a good recollection of the election; were you talked to by the other side?—I was.

27,479. Who by?—By a man that is not living now.

27,480. Oh, then, I need not trouble about it?—Mr. Briggs.

27,481. You voted, I suppose, at the previous election in 1863?—No, this is the first, and I hope it will be the last. I have had enough of this.

27,482. I have nothing more to ask you, you have given your evidence very well?—Thank you.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN BOLSTER sworn and examined.

J. Bolster.

27,483. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A painter.

27,484. What do you pay for the house you vote for?—6*s.* a week.

27,485. You take it by the week, I suppose?—By the week.

27,486. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

27,487. Were you on his committee?—No, I was not.

27,488. Who canvassed you?—My late employer, Mr. Barnes of Nutfield, a builder.

27,489. You were in his employ?—I was.

27,490. Were not you on Mr. Monson's committee at all?—No, I was working from home, at Guildford.

27,491. What were you to get for coming and voting?—I was to have got 5*l.*, I got 2*l.*

27,492. Who told you you were to get 5*l.*?—Mr. Barnes.

27,493. Upon that, I suppose, you promised your vote for Mr. Monson?—I did.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

J. Bolster.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,494. Had the other side, the Gower side, spoken to you at all?—No.

27,495. They did not come to you?—No, I did not come home often.

27,496. So that they did not know where you were?—They might have known.

27,497. You did not go home till the week of the election?—I was away months before and after.

27,498. Were you paid anything?—I was paid 2*l.* I was allowed 1*l.* for each day, nomination and polling.

27,499. You came from Guildford?—Yes.

27,500. But they promised you 5*l.*?—They promised 5*l.*

27,501. And did not you apply to them afterwards for the balance?—I asked Mr. Barnes several times, when he came down, if he had heard anything respecting it, and he said no, he had not.

27,502. Who paid you the 2*l.*?—Mr. Nichols.

27,503. Mr. Nichols here?—Yes.

27,504. Did not you go to Mr. Nichols and ask him for the balance?—I did not say a word to Mr. Nichols about it. I left it entirely to Mr. Barnes.

27,505. You never spoke to him at all; but you merely took what he gave you?—That is all.

27,506. Had you voted before?—Never before.

27,507. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you mean to say that you came from Guildford on the nomination day?—No.

27,508. Were you working at Guildford at the time?—Working at the county hospital.

27,509. Did you attend the nomination?—No, I did not.

27,510. Then you came over on the polling day, and next morning returned?—The next morning I went back; on the Thursday.

27,511. Then how came you to get paid for two days?—I sent my name to Mr. Hart, seeing the advertisement in the paper, as I was promised two days' pay and did not get it. I wrote to him, and not having received any answer from Mr. Hart I went to Mr. Nichols.

27,512. Did you tell Mr. Nichols that you wanted pay for two days?—He sent word that I should get the 2*l.* for two days.

27,513. But you only came over one day; how was it you got paid for two days?—I thought I had a claim to it.

27,514. Then, in fact, it was not for the two days, but for the voting?—Well, I lost money by it.

27,515. But you claimed for two days, so that at all events the 2*l.* was a positive bribe; it is clear it was not for attending the nomination?—No, I could not come up to the nomination; I could not get away.

The witness withdrew.

E. Feldwick.

EDWARD FELDWICK sworn and examined.

27,516. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification at the last election?—I pay 15*l.* 12*s.* a year.

27,517. What are you?—A carpenter and joiner.

27,518. Is yours a yearly living?—No, I pay the rent weekly. It is a week's notice if anything is wrong.

27,519. 15*l.* 10*s.*?—15*l.* 12*s.*; I think it is 6*s.* a week.

27,520. You pay weekly, and upon what terms are you in reference to notice to quit?—A week's notice.

27,521. 5*s.* 6*d.* a week?—No, 6*s.*

27,522. For whom did you vote?—On behalf of Mr. Monson.

27,523. Who was it asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not recollect being asked for my vote at all, further than being asked to work on behalf of Mr. Monson.

27,524. Who asked you to work on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Joseph Kenward.

27,525. What were you to get?—I was to have 30*s.* a week for the last two weeks.

27,526. Did Kenward pay you? What did you receive?—Nothing, only for the first week.

27,527. When were you paid the 30*s.*?—On the Saturday.

27,528. Did you vote for Monson?—Yes.

27,529. Did you get anything else besides the 30*s.*?—I got 3*l.* in all.

27,530. Were you to get anything for the nomination and polling days?—No.

27,531. When did you get the balance?—I had 30*s.* each week for two weeks; that is the whole I received.

27,532. You got nothing else?—Nothing else.

27,533. Kenward paid you?—Yes.

27,534. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did he pay you the last one; after polling?—No, the end of each week, before polling.

25,735. And you have received nothing else?—Nothing else.

27,536. Was that your first time of voting?—Yes.

27,537. You did not vote in 1863?—No.

27,538. Were you on the register then?—No, not in 1863.

27,539. Were you canvassed on the part of Mr. Gower in 1865?—I do not know whether I was particularly; there was one that asked me several times to go on his committee, but I refused.

27,540. Who was that?—Mr. Stoneman.

27,541. What did he say to you?—He said we were carpenters, and birds of a feather go together. I said, "I think I shall have nothing to do with it, as "regards being put on the committee, at all."

27,542. Did he hold out any expectation if you went working?—Not the least; no, he only asked me to go on the committee.

27,543. Do you know of any of your fellow workmen who received money for working at the election?—I never see any money pass between no persons.

27,544. You heard of some who had received money?—There were rumours going about, what one says and another says; it is only hearsay; I cannot say anything further.

27,545. Did you hear from any of them that they had been paid?—Well, no person at present that I heard that they had received anything. Of course they were talking that they did receive, but whether they did or not I am not able to say.

27,546. A good many of them?—No, one or two.

27,547. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who were the one or two?—One has been examined here this morning, Davey, and Parsons.

27,548. You don't know of anybody else?—No.

27,549. Nobody who received money like Davey and Parsons?—No.

27,550. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You cannot tell us of anybody else?—No, I have taken very little interest.

27,551. Do you know anything else about the election of 1865?—No, not the least.

27,552. What did Stoneman say to you?—He asked me to vote the same way.

27,553. He did not tell you what the covey was; he merely said, "Birds of a feather;" he did not tell you who was going with him?—No.

The witness withdrew.

D. Dewdney.

DANIEL DEWDNEY sworn and examined.

27,554. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A gardener.

27,555. What rent do you pay for the house under which you vote?—10*l.* a year. I pay the rent quarterly.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

D. Dewdney.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,556. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Monson.

27,557. Were you on his committee?—No.

27,558. Did you work for him?—I voted for him.

27,559. You voted I know, but did you work for him?—No.

27,560. Did you receive any money?—No, never in my life.

27,561. You received money for voting, did not you?—No.

27,562. Who asked you to vote?—Mr. Monson himself.

27,563. He canvassed you himself?—He called at my house before the election some time, and Mr. Hanbury was with him, and he asked me for my vote, and I said I always voted for his brother, now Lord Monson, and I thought I should vote for him, and so I did.

27,564. Did any one else speak to you afterwards about voting for Monson?—No.

27,565. Never?—No; he did not call any more.

27,566. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

27,567. For whom?—Mr. Gower, because Mr. Wilkinson's party had gone on so rough that I said I would never vote for them.

27,568. Gone on so what?—So rough; treating and kicking up rows, and I said I would never vote for him.

27,569. Did you receive anything on that occasion?—No.

27,570. At how many elections have you voted altogether?—I voted first for Mr. Hackblock, then for Monson, and then for Gower. At the last election for Mr. Monson.

27,571. I understand you to say you received nothing from any?—Nothing from none of them.

27,572. I can hardly say I am sorry you have been brought here, because you have given us such satisfactory evidence, but I have nothing further to ask of you?—Very well, sir.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM BROWN sworn and examined.

W. Brown.

27,573. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

27,574. What rent do you pay for your house?—I do not pay any at all; it belongs to me.

27,575. Oh, freehold, very well. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

27,576. What is the value of your house?—I cannot tell you.

27,577. What would it be worth to take by the year?—30*l.*

27,578. You voted for Mr. Monson. Who asked you to vote; tell us all about it?—Mr. Emery of the "Prince Albert," Horley.

27,579. How did he put the question?—He asked me to vote for Mr. Monson, and I said "Yes." He said if I would he would give me 5*l.*

27,580. Well, you did vote; did he give you the 5*l.*?—Yes; after I given my vote he gave me the 5*l.*

27,581. Were they after you at all for Mr. Gower? There might be gentlemen spoke to me; that I did not take notice of at all.

27,582. Did they make you an offer?—No; I only stuck to one man.

27,583. Have you anything particular to say about the Gower people?—Not at all.

27,584. You had voted before?—Oh, yes; for years.

27,585. Let me ask you shortly, in 1863 whom did you vote for?—Wilkinson, I believe.

26,586. It was Wilkinson and Monson, you know?—No, Wilkinson and Gower.

27,587. I beg your pardon, it was my mistake. Did you get anything that time?—Yes, I got 2*l.*

27,588. And who paid you that 2*l.*, do you recollect?—Mr. Emery; the same man.

27,589. Is Emery your landlord? Oh, no, you have no landlord?—No; only an old friend of mine who gives me anything when I want it.

27,590. Helps you. The election of 1859 was the sham one between Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson?—I cannot tell you anything about it; it is no use trying to tell lies; I cannot tell you about it.

27,591. Do you recollect voting at the election of 1858, between the Hon. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson; the year before?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson twice; but I cannot tell you anything about it. It is no use telling stories. I have no recollection of it at all.

27,592. Have you no recollection of anything that took place at any of the previous elections?—No.

27,593. Don't you remember Doulton's election?—Yes.

27,594. You voted then?—Yes; I did.

27,595. Who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Doulton himself.

27,596. Very well, that was in 1858 you voted for Doulton. Did you get anything from Emery that time?—From Mr. Doulton?

27,597. Yes.—Yes; I was paid per day; but they made me carry a board which hurt me so, that I dropped it and broke it, and would not carry it any more.

27,598. What did you get for that?—10*s.* a day sometimes at starting, and sometimes 5*s.* They would not have me carry the board because I was a voter. I had got a vote, you see, and they would not allow me to carry it.

27,599. What were you paid altogether; I dare say you remember that?—I think I had about 11*l.* 10*s.* in the course of seven weeks; I believe the election was on for seven weeks that time

27,600. How long were you carrying the board?—About half an hour. I have got the mark on my shoulder now.

27,601. You voted twice for Wilkinson; you cannot tell me whether you received any money more than once?—From which, sir.

27,602. From Wilkinson?—No; I had 2*l.* for my trouble; for my work.

27,603. Then you voted twice for Wilkinson. Can you tell me how much you got the last time?—I forget.

27,604. You did get something?—Very likely I might; I do not know.

27,605. You were here during all the elections we have been talking about; I suppose sometimes before they took place?—No.

27,606. I mean before the elections came on; you were here two or three weeks before?—No; I never asked any question at all. I am in a lonesome place, and never ask any questions as to what is going on.

27,607. How far do you live from the place?—Pretty near two miles.

27,608. Did not you come and see how things were going on?—No.

27,609. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you voted for Doulton?—Yes.

27,610. Did not you ballot for him?—Yes.

27,611. What did you get?—Nothing at all; I had my regular pay, every-day wages.

27,612. When you left off carrying the board, which you only carried for half an hour, what work did you do?—I went canvassing.

27,613. Did you get any votes?—I do not know I am sure; I tried them pretty hard.

27,614. Were you canvassing for Mr. Doulton before you balloted?—Yes; I had been.

27,615. And had been paid for canvassing?—I was paid regularly 3*l.* a week.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

W. Brown.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,616. I do not recollect your saying what you are ?—A labourer. I work sometimes on my own premises and my neighbours.

27,617. What do you labour at, gardening ?—Hay-making, or harvesting, or gardening; it does not matter what it is. I work at home and oblige my neighbours, that is all.

27,618. Do you recollect who engaged you for Doulton ?—No, I do not recollect.

27,619. I suppose you were doing other things at the time as well, besides canvassing ?—Not much; they called me out so early in the morning.

27,620. Who did ?—I do not know.

27,621. The Doulton party ?—Yes.

27,622. Were there any other of you labourers out canvassing ?—I cannot say. Some went one way and some another. I wish there were none at all; it disturbed my rest a great deal.

27,623. You got loss of rest ?—Yes.

27,624. Do you recollect whether there was much money going about at that (Doulton's) election ?—I do not know anything, only what I took myself.

27,625. When you canvassed the voters did you offer them anything ?—Not at all. I said "You can "do what you like, but," I said, "Doulton is my "man;" that is all. I never had no money in my hand to give them. I only had my weekly pay.

27,626. When you went on canvassing, did they tell you you might offer anything ?—They would not trust me with any money.

27,627. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then I am afraid you were not very successful ?—No.

27,628. Did you canvass while you had the board on ?—I had not time.

27,629. I see you rub your shoulder. I suppose it is sore ever since ?—It has been. It was a rotten spring and broke.

27,630. Who succeeded to your board ?—I do not know who put it on me.

27,631. But who took it off you ?—It dropped off.

27,632. Who picked it up ?—I do not know. I run away, and never looked back.

The witness withdrew.

J. Matthews.

JOHN MATTHEWS sworn and examined.

27,633. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where do you live, Mr. Matthews ?—In the London-road.

27,634. What are you ?—A surveyor and builder.

27,635. For whom did you vote ?—At the last election ?

27,636. Yes.—For Mr. Gower.

27,637. Were you on his committee ?—No.

27,638. You were not at all ?—No, I was on no committee.

27,639. You are an auctioneer ?—No, I am not an auctioneer; I am an architect and surveyor and builder.

27,640. Had you voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

27,641. For Mr. Gower ?—I really do not know in 1863.

27,642. Who did you vote for in 1865 ?—Mr. Gower. I have got so much to think about that I can hardly recollect, but I think it was Wilkinson in 1863. I think he was up that time.

27,643. You voted for Wilkinson that time ?—I think so. I voted for Gower on two occasions, and Wilkinson previously, and then for Monson.

27,644. Did you vote for Gower in 1863 ?—I voted for him twice.

27,645. Were you on his committee on either occasion ?—No.

27,646. Did you take any part in the canvassing ?—I chaffed a few of the electors.

27,647. That is it; I put it wrongly. Who did you chaff among the electors ? Which of the electors ?—I really could not tell; I chaffed nearly the whole that I met along the roads, on the roadside.

27,648. Tell me in what way; I take it in the most candid way. What did you say ? How did you chaff them ?—Oh! I chaffed them who they were going for.

27,649. Well ?—It was just merely in passing.

27,650. Will you tell me one of them ? What did they say ?—They returned the chaff; they took it as such, and returned it as such.

27,651. What did they say ? I suppose some said they wanted a fiver and some a tenner ?—Oh, no, nothing of the sort.

27,652. What did they say ?—I really do not recollect what they did say; some of them wanted employment.

27,653. How much did they say ?—They did not say how much.

27,654. They all wanted employment, I suppose ?—I suppose all who were needy did.

27,655. Did any of them canvass you at all; we have had so many canvassers ?—I have not been canvassed, except that Mr. Gower called upon me himself.

27,656. Not in the way of chaff ?—No, not in the way of chaff.

27,657. I do not suppose Mr. Gower chaffed anybody ?—No.

27,658. Did you ask anybody to vote; of course I will take it as chaff ?—No, I never asked any of them to vote for either party. I told them which way I was going to vote, for Mr. Gower.

27,659. That was rather unnecessary ?—No, I thought that was the right way to influence them, the right influence to make use of.

27,660. That was not altogether chaff ?—No, that was not the chaff.

27,661. You told them, "I am going to vote for "Gower" ?—Yes.

27,662. Now give us the chaff ?—I do not recollect the words, but it was merely chaffing about what they were going to ask.

27,663. Let us see whether there was any grain of wheat in the chaff ?—I had no knowledge that anything of this kind was going to come out of it.

27,664. I do not desire to trouble you; can you tell us ?—I cannot.

27,665. I take it candidly on your own answer that you offered no temptation to any one ?—No, none whatever.

27,666. It was some of these persons that mentioned your name which caused you to be brought here ?—I was quite surprised, but as I am here I should wish to mention that I saw Mr. Gower and told him I was quite satisfied he would be returned without——

27,667. Without what ?—Without the least risk or doubt.

27,668. He does not seem to have acted upon that ?—Well, he must have been misled by others.

27,669. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you attend any of the committee meetings ?—No, I attended none of the committee meetings.

27,670. Nor any of the convivial meetings ?—No, none whatever.

27,671. Did you go about at all so as to observe the general character of the elections ?—I did; I attended the nominations.

27,672. Before the nomination were you about the town, and could you tell the general character and way in which the election was being conducted ?—Yes.

27,673. What opinion did you form?—Nothing more than usual at such times. I think it was very much better conducted than when Doulton put up. I do not think we had at all the rough characters which were then introduced.

27,674. Now do you recollect that election of Doulton's?—Yes, very well indeed.

27,675. Did you vote at it?—I did.

27,676. In your own way, perhaps, you can give us a description of that election. What is your opinion of that election; the mode in which it was conducted?—I never saw an election before like it in Reigate, and I was in the place at the time the roughs were down here. We never saw so much bad conduct in the roughs that were introduced to us, not the natives of Reigate, and I certainly did think we were overwhelmed with a great company of bad characters that we never saw before.

27,677. Now at what period of the election did those persons make their appearance?—I think they appeared about a day or two before; I am not quite certain; about a day or two before the nomination. I should think I saw them in the market place the day before, but my memory is not quite sufficient to say.

27,678. Did you notice before whether there was much treating; open houses?—I think there was a good deal of drinking about.

27,679. For whom did you vote at that election?—I voted in opposition to Doulton.

27,680. Perhaps you voted for Rawlinson?—Yes. I do not know that I was on his committee, but I was very anxious to see him returned, and I took great interest in Sir Henry Rawlinson's return at that time.

27,681. Did you know of money being used at that election; I mean improperly used?—To buy votes? I think there must have been a great deal of money used to produce the scenes and the outrage produced, but I had no notion of what was carried on, nor could I believe it; I had a better and far higher opinion of the working classes.

27,682. In that election of Doulton can you tell me whether, by reputation, there was money distributed?—It was generally rumoured.

27,683. I am only taking the value of your evidence as mere rumour; we cannot go further than that?—No, of course not.

27,684. Can you tell me what your impression was at the time, whether money was flying about?—I should say it was.

27,685. What was the rumour, what was currently rumoured and spoken of between man and man?—That it was a matter of impossibility for Doulton to make way without money; he was unknown, and introduced as a stranger amongst us.

27,686. Who was that?—Mr. Doulton.

27,687. You recollect his being balloted for?—I have heard of the circumstance.

27,668. You did not know it as a fact?—No, I have heard it.

27,689. Was Mr. Wilkinson a man very well known at the time?—Yes, and very popular with the working classes.

27,690. Very much respected?—Very much indeed.

27,691. Assuming there had been a fair ballot as between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Doulton, Mr. Wilkinson must have stood a better chance?—I would not have the least doubt that Mr. Wilkinson would have stood the best chance, and I have heard that they bribed the persons in that ballot.

27,692. Of course you could form an opinion upon that, knowing the place and knowing the respect in which Mr. Wilkinson was held?—I have not the least doubt that it was through bribery and corrupt influence at that time that he was out.

27,693. You voted for Gower at this last election? I voted both times for Gower.

27,694. I am speaking of 1865. What I want to know is, which of his agents was it that came to you, and which was it that you dealt with?—None of his agents came to me. He came before the election himself, and asked me his prospects with regard to the election, and the letter that was written, and I told him, knowing the minds of a great many of the working classes, he would have all Mr. Wilkinson's influence on his behalf.

27,695. Did any of the agents come to you?—Not one. They stopped outside the door when Mr. Gower came in.

27,696. I mean afterwards?—No, not afterwards.

27,697. Did any of his agents come to you for advice about the election? Who was the agent you were acquainted with?—Mr. Smith was his agent.

27,698. But the sub-agent?—I had no communication with any sub-agent. I did mention to the agent one man who wanted employment.

27,690. Who was that?—Ing, I think his name was.

27,700. To whom was it you mentioned it?—I mentioned it to Mr. Smith, but there was no more about it. I never saw Ing afterwards and I never did anything in the matter.

27,701. Was Ing a voter?—He was.

27,702. Did Ing come to you?—No, it was chaff going along the road, and I mentioned it to Mr. Smith passing along, that is all.

27,703. Exactly. Did you mention to Mr. Smith that you knew a man named Ing, and say, perhaps he would have something for him to do?—Yes, if he could find him something to do.

27,704. Did Mr. Smith say, "Well, give him "something"?—He said whatever was right do, and I did nothing.

27,705. But you mentioned that you asked Mr. Smith if he could manage to do something?—Mr. Smith was in such a hurry at the time, and he said in an off-hand way, whatever was right do, and I did nothing. I never saw the man afterwards, and I did not know that he voted afterwards till this day.

27,706. How did he vote?—For Gower.

27,707. How did you find that out?—He told me this day; I met him coming up to the Court.

27,708. Is he here now?—I do not think he is.

27,709. Is Ing summoned?—I thought he was, and I thought that was how you had got my name.

27,710. Are you sure there is nothing you can recollect, no one that came to you for advice for anything except Mr. Smith. I don't mean that he did, you know?—No one called on me for advice, I tendered advice.

27,711. To whom?—Well, that was when I heard certain rumours.

27,712. That is exactly what I mean. I want to know who it was to?—I tendered advice to Mr. Morrison. He was not an agent of Mr. Gower.

27,713. Is that George Carter Morrison?—Yes.

27,714. Be so good as to tell me what your advice was?—Well, I heard that Mr. Monson was employing a lot of people at Redhill, and as I understood it was legitimate employment I thought Mr. Gower's people ought to do the same and not be behindhand.

27,715. You mean the voters?—Yes. I thought there was legitimate employment to be given to the voters, and I considered that if Mr. Monson was doing it on one side, Mr. Gower ought to do it on the other side.

27,716. That was at Redhill?—Yes.

27,717. Did you refer to railroad people particularly?—I do not know the railway people. It was only a rumour.

27,718. Was the rumour about the railway people?—I think it must have applied to them.

27,719. And you told him that Mr. Gower's people had better do something of the same sort?—Yes, to prevent their promises being broken.

27,720. To counteract the influence?—To counteract the influence.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

J. Matthews.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,721. Of the employment on the other side?—Yes. He told me that Mr. Gower was very much opposed to doing anything of the kind, and there the matter ended.

27,722. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was Mr. Morrison?—He is an agent to Lord Somers.

27,723. (The Chief Commissioner.) He had been agent at the previous election?—Yes, but he had nothing to do with this.

27,724. But did he take part in the election for Mr. Gower?—No part at all that I know of.

27,725. Then why did you give advice to Mr. Morrison?—It was only a private conversation. It was meeting him casually that I did so. I was anxious that Mr. Gower should be maintained and that all legitimate means should be used.

27,726. Did you know that Mr. Morrison was on Mr. Gower's side?—Oh, yes, very well indeed.

27,727. In opposition to the Monson family?—Yes.

27,728. Does the Somers family generally oppose the Monson family?—I do not know that they did at all.

27,729. Then why did you think he would be for Mr. Gower?—I thought that he would be on Mr. Gower's side; I knew that he would be.

27,730. You knew at that time that Mr. Morrison was steward for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

27,731. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He acts for Lord Somers and for Mr. Gower too?—Yes.

27,732. Did you know at that time that he was agent for Lord Somers?—Yes.

27,733. Why did you go to him about it?—I did not go to him about it; I mentioned it.

27,734. I did not mean "go to him"?—I mentioned casually the reports. I had business with him.

27,735. Why did you mention it to him more than to anybody else?—Merely because he had very great influence with Mr. Gower.

27,736. You had probably seen Mr. Morrison canvassing?—I did not. I never saw him take any part whatever.

27,737. Had you seen him canvass?—Never seen him canvass. I do not believe he canvassed.

27,738. I was going to say, don't you know that he had been canvassing?—I do not recollect at all.

27,739. Do you know whether he canvassed any of Lord Somers' tenants?—I do not know. He never canvassed me.

27,740. Are you one?—I am one of Lord Somers' tenants.

27,741. Don't you know that Mr. Morrison canvassed some of Lord Somers' tenants?—I do not. As far as I knew Mr. Morrison took no part whatever.

27,742. Do not you know that Mr. Morrison canvassed at the last election some of Lord Somers' tenants?—I do not.

27,743. Don't you believe it?—I do not.

27,744. You don't know any instance?—I do not believe that Mr. Morrison interfered in the election in any way.

27,745. I am asking whether you don't know that he canvassed, I mean, solicited their votes?—I don't believe he did, and I don't know that he did.

27,746. Did not it seem rather odd then that Mr. Morrison was the man that you gave this advice to, because if he took no part in the election one would have thought you would rather go to Job Apted, or some of the active sub-agents?—It was merely a passing casual remark. You are laying an impression upon my going; I did not go.

27,747. I did not mean to do it. Does it not seem strange, if he took no part in the election that he was the man to whom you mentioned that?—Mr. Morrison told me from etiquette, between the two solicitors, his brother-in-law being engaged, he took no part in the matter.

27,748. Does not that rather increase surprise than diminish it, that Mr. Morrison should be the peeson you should address upon the subject?—I do not know that, when he was an intimate friend of Mr. Gower, or confidential steward.

27,749. But he took no part in the election?—No.

27,750. Then don't you think it would have been much more natural, and according to what one would expect, that you should go to an election agent, or a man who took an active part in the election, rather than to a man who took no part at all?—It never struck me so; I never argued it; it was a casual thing.

27,751. Why did you go to him?—I did not go to him.

27,752. Why did you make the remark?—Simply from the desire to serve Mr. Gower, and to serve him legitimately.

27,753. Why did you make the remark to him?—Because he was one of Mr. Gower's intimate friends, one of his best friends.

27,754. He was his steward?—Still he may be a friend, as well as agent.

27,755. If you have no other reason to give, I must be satisfied with that, but I ask you once more, why did you make the remark about the Redhill voters to Mr. Morrison rather than to anybody else?—It was dropped casually. There is one thing I have seen which I should wish to refer to. I have seen it reported that the Mayor of Reigate stated that the men and women were debauched at the election.

27,756. No, nothing of the kind.—Is the report wrong then? I am very glad to hear it is.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, no, it was only political.

27,757. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was speaking in a figurative way.—It is well to have it explained.

27,758. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of course it was a figurative expression.—Well, country people do not understand figures. Is not it better that it should be explained. Did he say anything about women.

27,659. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I wish to give you an opportunity of explaining in reference to your own evidence. Did you ever offer any corrupt motive or inducement to any person at any time during the election?—Never, in my life.

27,760. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I think that is fully explained. You accidentally met Mr. Morrison, and then spoke what you thought would be proper advice to Mr. Gower?—Yes, and it never went any further.

27,761. (The Chief Commissioner.) You recollect what you told us about Ing?—Well, that was in chaff too, although I did mention it afterwards.

S. Brown.

STEPHEN BROWN sworn and examined.

27,762. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A publican.

27,763. What is the sign?—The "White Lion," Redhill.

27,764. What rent do you pay?—25*l.* a year.

27,765. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

27,766. Who was it canvassed you?—Mr. Monson.

27,767. Himself?—Himself.

27,768. Did Mr. Gower canvass you?—No.

27,769. Not at all himself?—Not at all.

27,770. When Mr. Monson canvassed you did you promise him your vote?—Yes.

27,771. In the first instance?—Yes, my vote and interest.

27,772. As you had promised him your interest, did somebody afterwards come and ask you to put your name on the committee?—I think Mr. Richardson did.

27,773. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were on his committee?—Yes.

27,774. (The Chief Commissioner.) You assented to it?—Yes.

27,775. Did you interest yourself and did you act for him?—I did when I had any time to spare.

27,776. I suppose you were obliged to attend to your own work?—Yes.

27,777. Had you made any arrangement with Mr. Richardson?—None whatever.

27,778. Did he say if you gave your services or time you should be paid?—No, nothing whatever, I gave mine gratis.

27,779. Before you came to the poll was anything said about going up to the poll?—No, not particularly.

27,780. Who took you up to the poll?—I was one who happened to fetch up the other voters.

27,781. In a carriage?—Yes.

27,782. Was it your own horse?—No.

27,783. You happened to fetch up voters in a carriage you found provided?—Yes; I gave my day to that.

27,784. Who asked you?—I was at Reigate, at the "White Hart," the night before the polling, and they asked me whether I would work that day.

27,785. Who asked you?—I will not be certain whether it was Mr. Richardson or not.

27,786. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was some committee man?—Yes.

27,787. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were asked to give your services on the polling day?—Yes.

27,788. On what terms?—To run where they wanted me and to be able to bring up the voters.

27,789. What were you to receive for it?—There was nothing mentioned.

27,790. Was it said you would be paid for your services?—There was nothing of that; I did not wish for it.

27,791. What were you to receive?—Nothing was mentioned, and I never received anything.

27,792. Did you receive nothing afterwards?—No.

27,793. Did not you expect to be paid for the polling day and your services?—No.

27,794. You had lost your own business then?—Yes, but Mr. Monson's people I have known some years, and of course I gave my support gratis.

27,795. What house is it you live in?—Mr. Neale's; Messrs. Neale and Mellish's.

27,796. Which way did Mr. Neale vote?—I think he voted for Mr. Gower.

27,797. Were the committee meetings at your house?—Not for Mr. Monson; not at all.

27,798. For whom?—For Mr. Gower there were before.

27,799. But I mean this last election?—No; not any meeting.

27,800. Not a single meeting at your house?—Not at all.

27,801. Do I understand you to say that after the polling was over you received nothing at all for the time you lost?—Nothing at all.

27,802. Did you not ask for anything?—No; I spent out of my own pocket.

27,803. Did you, after the polling, apply to somebody for money?—No.

27,804. Did you ever make any application to Mr. Hart?—No.

27,805. Or to any one else?—No.

27,806. In 1863, who did you vote for?—That was Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Gower; I voted for Mr. Gower then.

27,807. Then you did not vote for Mr. Gower this time?—No.

27,808. You voted for Mr. Gower in 1863; were you on his committee?—Yes.

27,809. And was your house used then?—Yes; there was a room taken.

27,810. For the committee?—For the committee to sit there.

27,811. What were you paid for your committee room?—Well, I do not want to tell an untruth.

27,812. I do not want to tie you at all?—I think it was 10*l.* for the room.

27,813. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long was it occupied?—From the beginning of the election.

27,814. (The Chief Commissioner.) For some time then, five or six weeks?—Yes, I should say five weeks.

27,815. Who paid you the 10*l.*?—Mr. Smith; Mr. Gower's agent at that time, I believe.

27,816. What I want to know is whether you gave him your assistance on the polling day on that occasion?—Yes.

27,817. Did you receive anything for your services then?—I put it all together, with regard to that; there was some refreshment allowed for the committee, and I drew it, and put it all down in one sum. They had several meetings.

27,818. Who authorized you to do that, was it Mr. Smith?—No; I believe Mr. Green told me I was to draw it.

27,819. Mr. Henry Green?—Yes; he came one meeting and he asked it himself to be drawn, and I told Mr. Smith at the time, and he said, "Well, of "course, but not too heavy."

27,820. So that you had his authority too?—Yes.

27,821. Can you tell me how much the drink part of the bill amounted to; I want you to separate the two charges, and tell me how much the drink would be?—I think it was somewhere about 10*l.*

27,822. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you only got 10*l.* for the whole?—I was speaking of 10*l.* for the use of the room, and the drink, as near as I could say, would be about 10*l.* more.

27,823. How much for your services?—They were included in it, it was something over 10*l.*; it might be 22*l.* or 23*l.* altogether.

27,824. It might be 10*l.* or 12*l.* for services and drink?—Yes.

27,825. Tell me what you put in the account, did you say "for services and refreshment," or "refresh-"ment and services"?—I think it was put down "for the room 10*l.*, and services and refreshments."

27,826. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 13*l.*, I suppose?—Somewhere like that. It is so long ago that I do not carry it in my head.

27,827. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You sent in your account, and you were paid, and gave a receipt, I suppose?—Yes.

27,828. Did you get the whole of the money that you sent in your account for?—Yes, mine was a very straightforward account with regard to that, and I think I was out of pocket by it.

27,829. No objection was made to it, you got paid what you charged?—Yes.

27,830. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was the election of 1863. Do you remember the previous election to that, the one in 1859, between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Monson.

27,831. That was in 1859?—Yes.

27,832. Did you keep the same house then?—No.

27,833. What did you vote for then, for a house you were living in?—A house I was living in at the time.

27,834. Not a public house?—No, I have been a publican a little over five years.

27,835. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee in 1859?—Yes.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

S. Brown.

10 Sept. 1866.

27,836. And did you work?—Yes. When I say work, I mean the same as I did this last election; I was occupied with my business, of course.

27,837. What was your business then?—I was a carman then.

27,838. What did you get paid in 1859 for your services?—I think a few glasses of ale was all I had for my services.

27,839. I do not care about that?—I had nothing besides, I spent my own money.

27,840. Did you bring up voters?—Yes. I gave them the day the same as I did this last.

27,841. Did you not get anything for that?—I never asked for anything.

27,842. And got nothing?—No.

27,843. I will put down you got nothing for the election, I do not care for the glasses of beer?—Nothing at all.

27,844. Well, there had been the previous election between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson in 1858, who did you vote for then?—Mr. Monson.

27,845. Were you on the committee?—Yes, to the best of my knowledge I was working about the same then as at the other elections.

27,846. What were you paid that time?—Nothing at all.

27,847. I trust to your being very candid about it. I mean if you say you got nothing you got nothing of any kind?—I never asked for anything, and I was not offered anything.

27,848. Or you got no money's worth?—No.

27,849. Then we will go back to what we call the Doulton election, who did you vote for then?—Who were the candidates?

27,850. Mr. Doulton, Mr. Wilkinson, Mr. Monson, and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—I voted for Mr. Monson.

27,851. What did you get for that?—Nothing at all.

27,852. Were there not any offers from the Doulton people?—There were several of them came bothering, and I told them to keep away; I did not want to be annoyed by the party.

27,853. I will take your answer; you got nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

27,854. I treat you candidly, and so I hope you will me?—Yes, I was bothered very much by that party; they came again and again, but I told them it was no use coming to me; I would have nothing to do with it.

W. Best.

WILLIAM BEST sworn and examined.

27,855. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rent do you pay for your house?—10*l.* a year.

27,856. What are you?—A butcher.

27,857. For whom did you vote in 1865?—Mr. Gower.

27,858. Were you on his committee?—No.

27,859. To whom did you give the promise?—I never promised any one before I voted.

27,860. Nobody asked you?—I was asked by both.

27,861. Who asked you on the part of Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

27,862. Did you promise him at once?—No.

27,863. Who did you eventually promise?—I never promised any one until I got to the poll.

27,864. Did any one canvass you besides Mr. Gower?—No, no one in particular.

27,865. Somebody came and asked you which side you would vote besides Mr. Gower?—I do not think there was anybody asked me besides Mr. Gower and Mr. Monson.

27,866. You were uncertain when Mr. Gower saw you which way you would go?—At least, I had not made up my mind.

27,867. You told Mr. Gower?—No.

27,868. Then you did not promise him?—No.

27,869. Of course he looked upon you as a doubtful vote?—Yes.

27,870. And, of course, somebody came from him; you saw some of his agents?—I have no recollection of anybody canvassing me; somebody might come in the shop and ask me.

27,871. Apted?—No.

27,872. Who was the active man for Mr. Gower at Redhill?—Mr. Green and Mr. Rees, I believe.

27,873. Did you see them?—Neither of them ever asked me; they only asked me who I was going to vote for, and I said I had not made up my mind. I was not going to tell them whom I was going to vote for.

27,874. You were one of those who liked secret voting, I suppose?—I do not know about that.

27,875. You kept it a secret?—I did.

27,876. Who came to you on the part of Mr. Monson?—I am sure I do not know; several people came into the shop.

27,877. And asked you which way you were going to vote?—Yes.

27,878. Did they ask you to come on the committee and work for them?—No.

27,879. Canvass for him?—I never was on any committee; I did not care about being on one.

27,880. I do not care whether you do or not, but did any of them ask you to go on committees?—I do not remember any one doing it.

27,881. Do try and recollect?—If they had put my name on I should have taken it off again.

27,882. Then you did not want to join either party actively?—No.

27,883. Who was it asked you on the part of Mr. Monson?—I do not know whether Mr. Nichols did; he might have, but I forget.

27,884. When you came to this part of a night, where did you visit; the "Grapes," or where?—I have no particular house.

27,885. You have been there, I suppose?—Yes.

27,886. And were in the "Grapes" probably, before the election?—Oh, yes, I sometimes was there; I was in this morning.

27,887. When you have been in the "Grapes" has not Mr. Nichols tried to find out which way you were going to vote?—No; perhaps he might ask me.

27,888. Has he thrown out any inducement?—No, it would have been no good if he had; I would not have taken it.

27,889. I only want to know whether any overtures were made to you by either side; overtures might have been made and failed; you know what I mean?—Yes.

27,890. Whether any overtures were made to you?—No offers were, and I have been a voter here now for 14 or 15 years.

27,891. Which was your first election, Mr. Doulton's?—No, I voted for Mr. Parrott.

27,892. Did you vote for the election when Sir Henry Rawlinson was returned against Mr. Doulton and Mr. Monson?—Yes.

27,893. For whom did you vote?—I think I voted for Mr. Monson.

27,894. Did you take any part in the election?—No.

27,895. Have you taken any active part in these elections?—No.

27,896. Excepting voting?—Excepting voting.

27,897. Have you ever received anything for voting?—No, I never received 1*d.* in my life for voting.

27,898. In any shape or way?—No.

27,899. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not know whether there is another Best?—Yes, there is.

27,900. Who is the other?—He lives in Meadvale.

27,901. What is his Christian name?—William Best.

27,902. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Sometimes we unfortunately make a mistake, and summons the wrong man. You say there is another William Best?—Yes, probably it is William Best the father.

27,903. As you have merely given your vote on these occasions, you can probably give me some notion of Mr. Doulton's election in 1858; you were about the town, I suppose, and saw what was going on?—I went to give my vote.

27,904. Were you about in the borough sufficiently to form an opinion as to the character of the election, and the mode in which it was conducted?—I heard there was a great deal of money spent at that time.

27,905. Was that a common report?—Yes, amongst the voters.

27,906. Did you hear of that more particularly with reference to Mr. Doulton than with reference to any of the other candidates?—Yes.

27,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And I suppose you saw evidence of it?—No.

27,908. I mean what you saw in going about?—I saw the people about in the streets.

27,909. That is what I mean?—Yes.

27,910. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You saw the people about in the streets; was there anything in particular passed or attracted your attention with regard to the people?—They were going about with these boards.

27,911. Were the people drunk who were about?—No, not particularly. I suppose I did not notice, because I was out. I used to go out about 10 o'clock in the morning.

27,912. Were you out to see the general character of the town, as to whether it was riotous or the people were tipsy?—There were people in the streets, drinking in the streets.

27,913. Were the elections before conducted fairly and properly, and not riotously?—I dare say they were for what I know of them.

27,914. Did you see any of the scenes with roughs who were brought down, and who have been spoken of at the election?—I cannot say much about that, but there were some rough characters here.

27,915. Were you living at Redhill then?—Yes.

27,916. The chiefs of the establishment were in this part?—We had to come here to vote.

27,917. That was before the borough was divided into divisions for voting?—Yes.

27,918. From that time to this what has been your notion as to the character of the elections as to good conduct?—I do not know. I dare say there has been money passing about, but there has been no rioting here.

27,919. Not so much as in Doulton's time?—Nothing like it.

27,920. Now in 1865 we heard of a lot of men employed called rooks and rabbits, did you see any of them?—I heard talk of them.

27,921. You were not out sufficiently to notice?—No.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned to to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

E. Dale.

11 Sept. 1866.

Tuesday, 11th September, 1866.

EDWARD DALE recalled.

27,922. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What do you say now? Do you remember what occurred yesterday?—No.

Mrs. Dale.

LAVINIA ANN DALE sworn and examined.

27,923. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are the wife of Thomas Dale?—Yes.

27,924. Do you recollect the election of 1863?—I do.

27,925. Do you recollect Mr. Barker coming to your house?—I do.

27,926. Is that Mr. Barker the tailor?—Yes.

27,927. Did he come more than once?—I do not recollect seeing him but once.

27,928. What did he bring?—He came into the sitting-room and asked me to be kind enough to walk out; my twins were there, and I said, "If you will "be kind enough to take care of my twins I will go "to the shop." I recollect the circumstance well; I went into the shop, and he came out and had an orange; my husband followed him out. He and Mr. John Wilkinson were together; they had an orange each, and paid for them. My husband walked out and held some money to me over the counter. I said, "Did he give you that?" He said, "Yes, but half of "it is for my brother; I will give it to him before "I put it in my pocket." He went to his brother direct, and came back to me and gave me 4*l.*, and said, "Put that away, I am going a walk with my "brother; I shall not be long."

27,929. Did you ascertain from your husband that half of the money that was left, whatever it was, was for his brother?—Yes; he had 8*l.*, and gave 4*l.* to his brother, and brought 4*l.* back.

27,930. You did not see him give it?—No.

27,931. Did you know that he had 4*l.* more?—Previous to that I received a parcel; a little boy brought it; I asked him where he had brought it from; he said, "It is for Mr. Thomas Dale; a "gentleman gave it to me at the Station-road."

27,932. It contained 4*l.*?—Yes. I took the parcel till my husband came, and when he came I said, "There's a parcel come for you." He said, "All "right, my brother had one; I know what it is, "it's starch." It was a threepenny packet of starch. I had the starch and my husband had the money.

27,933. It contained four sovereigns?—Inside the starch; he took it down and showed it to his brother.

27,934. He said his brother had had another?—He said he had seen his brother's first, or he would not have known it to be starch.

27,935. Did you see your brother, Edward Dale?—Yes.

27,936. Did you learn from him afterwards whether he had received the 4*l.* and the packet of starch?—He came into the shop one evening with my husband after that, and joking asked me what I had done with the starch, that is all I know. I said, "Your wife and I will make your shirts stiff this "winter, and no mistake." I am sure they both had it.

27,937. Is his memory a little defective?

(Thomas Dale.) It is, especially after he has had a little. He knows nothing; in fact he does not know where he is. He has been so ever since.

(Mrs. Dale.) He recollects this morning.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

E. Dale.

11 Sept. 1866.

EDWARD DALE recalled.

27,938. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Have you heard what your sister-in-law stated, and what your brother stated, and does that bring to your memory the fact that you received some money at the election of 1863 ?—When I got home last night my missis told me that she took the parcel, and it was starch with money in it.

27,939. You received the 4*l.* from your brother, afterwards ?—My missis took the money ; I never took money from no party ; my missis had it.

The witness withdrew.

HENRY WALLIS sworn and examined.

H. Wallis.

27,940. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A carman.

27,941. What rent do you pay ?—I live in my own house.

27,942. You are a freeholder ?—Yes.

27,943. What is your house worth by the year ?—I don't know ; about 30*l.* to 40*l.* I suppose.

27,944. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—Mr. Monson.

27,945. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—Mr. Nichols.

27,946. Where was it he canvassed you ; in your own house ?—No, in his own house.

27,947. Did he send for you ?—I went there.

27,948. Being there, he asked you if you would vote for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

27,949. How long before the election was this ?—I do not know ; it might be a fortnight, perhaps.

27,950. Tell us about it ?—I promised him.

27,951. Did he ask you to go on the committee ?—No.

27,952. Did you go on the committee ?—No.

27,953. Did you do any work ?—No, I did not, nor yet attend any meetings.

27,954. Did Mr. Nichols tell you what you would be paid for ; any loss of time or assistance that you gave ?—No ; he never said anything about that.

27,955. Tell me what you were paid ?—I was paid for the use of my house for the committee.

27,956. What is the name of your house ?—I have no name to it ; it is not a public house.

27,957. I thought you said you were a carman ?—Yes.

27,958. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where do you live ?—In Mead-vale.

27,959. (The Chief Commissioner.) You applied for a license, but did not get one ?—No, I did not. It was my intention to open the house.

27,960. (Mr Commissioner Smith.) Have you not an excise license ?—No ; I had previous to going into that house. I kept a beer house before that.

27,961. (The Chief Commissioner.) What were you paid in money before the election ?—20*l.* 5*l.* before the election.

27,962. By whom ?—By Mr. Nichols.

27,963. How much after ?—15*l.* afterwards.

27,964. From Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

27,965. Was the 5*l.* for yourself ?—For myself, the 5*l.* was.

27,966. What was the 15*l.* for ?—For the use of my house.

27,967. Did you receive anything more ?—No.

27,968. Was there not something allowed you for beer ?—No.

27,969. I mean by "beer" for drinkables ?—No.

27,970. Do you recollect when there was a meeting at your house what beer was drunk ?—No. I did not have a great deal in the house. I had a little left in the old house, which I brought up into the new. I had a little more in on account of opening of the new one as I thought.

27,971. Do you not remember one night in particular by this fact, that all your beer was drunk clean out ?—No.

27,972. Was not that so as a fact ?—No.

27,973. It was not so ?—No.

27,974. I suppose there has been some misunderstanding about it. Did you send in any account for beer or for drinkables ?—No, I did not.

27,975. Who did for you ?—Mr. Newnham sent in for his account, and it was paid to him from me, at least from my orders.

27,976. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He supplied the beer ?—He was going to supply me with beer.

27,977. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was going ?—He did supply me with beer for opening the house.

27,978. And he had sent in the beer ?—The beer had been sent in, I dare say, two months before the election.

27,979. Who did he send the account to ; to you ?—To me ; and I referred him to Mr. Nichols for the bill.

27,980. I presume he went to Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

27,981. Are you able to say whether Mr. Nichols paid him ?—I believe he did ; at least Mr. Newnham told me so.

27,982. How much was the account ?—14*l.* odd, I think ; I will not be certain how much.

27,983. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That bill of 14*l.* was plus the 20*l.* which you got for your house ?—Yes.

27,984. You supplied the beer, in fact, as Newnham's agent ?—Well, I gave the beer away.

27,985. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who ordered you to supply beer to the people coming there ?—No one ordered me.

27,986. Did you do it then thinking it would be all right ?—I gave it to them.

27,987. You could not do it otherwise ; you were not licensed ?—Certainly not.

27,988. Somebody else paid for it ?—Of course they did.

27,989. How many meetings were there in your house ?—I suppose there were six or seven.

27,990. You have told us what the account was. I suppose Mr. Newnham brought you the account on paper ; a written account ?—Yes, a bill of it.

27,991. Made out to you ?—Yes.

27,992. And then you referred him to Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

27,993. I presume you sent the account to Mr. Nichols ?—Mr. Newnham went to see him himself.

27,994. He took the account with him ?—I went over with him at the time.

27,995. Did you see Nichols with him ?—I left Mr. Newnham there. Mr. Nichols was not within ; I could not stay at the time.

27,996. He had the account to present to Mr. Nichols ?—Yes.

27,997. About how many meetings were held at the house ?—Somewhere about six or seven.

27,998. Is Newnham a voter ?—I do not know whether he had a vote at that time.

27,999. At all these meetings this beer was drunk ?—Yes, some of it, when I chose to give it to them.

28,000. They never came to the meetings without there being beer for them ?—Well, they had some.

28,001. And they never paid, I suppose ?—No, there was none paid for.

28,002. I am not speaking as to quantity, but I suppose there was no "dry" meeting ; no meeting without some beer ?—Certainly not.

28,003. What is Mr. Newnham's Christian name ?—John.

28,004. Whereabouts is your house ?—Close against the British school.

28,005. Where ?—In Mead-vale.

28,006. That is where you are living now ?—Yes.

28,007. On those occasions, generally, who took the chair, one person or different persons ?—I do not know. I was scarcely ever in the room myself.

28,008. You would be in the room sometimes ?—I do not think I was ever in the room except one night; the first night.

28,009. Do you remember on one occasion seeing Mr. Hart at the meeting ?—Yes.

28,010. More than once ?—I think he was there twice; at two meetings.

28,011. Do you remember on one or two occasions (I do not know which) seeing Mr. Richardson there ?—Yes; Mr. Richardson was there, I believe; I do not know whether it was the first meeting or the second.

28,012. Can you tell me whether it was more than one time ?—Only once that ever I know of.

28,013. Do you recollect seeing Mr. Monson there ?—Yes; I think Mr. Monson was there the first meeting, but I am not positive. I think so.

28,014. You have no doubt at all that he was there one night ?—I think he were.

28,015. You say you went into the room once or twice; are you able to tell me whether the night when you went into the room Mr. Monson was in the chair ?—I cannot say.

28,016. I do not want to press you if you have any doubt about it ?—I think perhaps he were.

28,017. Did you ever send in your account for beer or refreshments ?—No.

28,018. Did you at any time send in your account for your room before you sent it in to Nichols ? Did you send it to Mr. Hart ?—No.

28,019. Did you not send it in to anybody ?—No.

28,020. Did you make any demand at all on Mr. Richardson ?—No.

28,021. Nor on Mr. Hart ?—No.

28,022. Did you not make a demand on Mr. Hart for anything ?—No.

28,023. Anything connected with the election ?—Not one individual besides Mr. Nichols.

28,024. Was this your first election ?—No.

28,025. In 1863 what part did you take ?—I never took any part in the election whatever.

28,026. You voted ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

28,027. By whose request ?—Mr. James's.

28,028. What arrangement did Mr. James make with you, if any ?—Well, he made an arrangement for 5*l.* for the house. That was when I kept the beer house.

28,029. Was there any name to your house ?—"Earlswood House."

28,030. Five pounds for the beer house. What else ?—2*l.* 10*s.* for expenses.

28,031. Was that for loss of time and services that you gave ?—Yes.

28,032. That was for yourself ?—Yes.

28,033. Did he pay you that money ?—Yes, he did.

28,034. He paid you 7*l.* 10*s.* ?—Yes.

28,035. Was there anything more he paid you ?—No, not anything more.

28,036. Was the 5*l.* for the use of the room, or for the beer you found ?—For the committee purposes; for the room.

28,037. Who paid you for the refreshment ?—No one paid me for refreshment, only Mr. James. That was 2*l.* 10*s.*; my expenses and the liquor they had.

28,038. How much for your services ?—It might be about 10*s.*

28,039. What was the 10*s.* for ?—10*s.* for my own expenses.

28,040. And 2*l.* for the beer ?—Yes.

28,041. Well, but, Wallis, are you sure there is not some mistake about this ?—No; it was only 7*l.* 10*s.*

28,042. How many meetings were there altogether in your house in 1863 ? I suppose it was pretty well open ?—I do not know.

28,043. Well, six or seven times ?—There were not more.

28,044. We will take it five, six, or seven times ?—Something like that.

28,045. Did the 2*l.* cover all your charges for beer and refreshment ?—Yes; what little they had, it was nothing; there were not many attended the meeting; the place was small.

28,046. Who ordered you to give them beer ?—I believe it was Mr. Richardson who ordered me to provide the beer; that was right.

28,047. Well, he ordered you to provide the beer, that is right; that is what you mean ?—Yes.

28,048. You are sure 7*l.* 10*s.* is right ?—I am sure 7*l.* 10*s.* is correct.

38,049. But are you sure that is all that was paid ?—Yes.

28,050. You had voted at some more elections besides that ?—Yes.

28,051. Had you taken any part in the election of 1859 ?—No, sir, I did not; that was the election when Mr. Wilkinson stood.

28,052. Mr. Wilkinson and the Honourable Mr. Monson ?—Yes, sir; I voted for Mr. Wilkinson that time.

28,053. Did you get anything ?—No, sir.

28,054. Nothing at all ?—No, sir.

28,055. That was a sort of sham election; Mr. Wilkinson was put up behind his back ?—Yes.

28,056. And got nothing ?—No.

28,057. In 1858 there were two elections; in the second Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson were against each other ?—Yes, that was right; I voted for Mr. Wilkinson that time.

28,058. What did you get for that ?—Nothing.

28,059. How was that ?—I did not apply for anything.

28,060. Do you mean you got no money nor money's worth ?—No.

28,061. In 1858 there was what is called the "Doulton" election ?—I voted for Mr. Rawlinson.

28,062. What did you get for that; it was in February ?—I had 5*s.* a day.

28,063. For how many days, about ?—I think it was eight or nine weeks altogether.

28,064. How much did you receive altogether ?—I do not know what it amounted to exactly.

28,065. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 12*l.* or 13*l.* ?—It was 5*s.* a day; it was 8*l.* or 9*l.*, I think, I received.

28,066. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were there six or seven days counted in the week ?—Six.

28,067. Do you believe it was about 13*l.* and 14*l.* ?—Well, I think it was something like 9*l.*

28,068. According to the calculation it would be more ?—Yes, it must be so; I thought it was something like 8*l.* or 9*l.*

28,069. We may say 13*l.* or 14*l.* ?—Yes, 30*s.* a week.

28,070. Now I am going to ask you whether you were on his committee or not ?—No, sir.

28,071. What were you engaged in doing ?—Taking out circulars and bills.

28,072. Did you do any real work; if you did, say "yes," and if not say "no" ?—That was all.

28,073. Did it take up any time ?—It used to take my daily time to do that; I was not doing anything at the time.

28,074. Were you keeping the beer house then ?—No.

28,075. What were you doing ?—I was in my trade.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

H. Wallis.

11 Sept. 1866.

28,076. What was your trade?—I was bricklaying.

28,077. You went on with your bricklaying?—No, there was nothing doing at that time; it was very slack.

28,078. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who engaged you?—Mr. Nichols.

28,079. (The Chief Commissioner.) May I say you had nothing to do as a bricklayer, or anything?—Nothing at all for 13 weeks. I had holiday; there was nothing to do; it was in the dead of the winter.

28,080. Did Mr. Nichols pay you?—Yes.

28,081. You are quite right, Nichols paid you then?—Yes.

28,082. Was it Nichols who put you on to the work?—Yes, sir.

28,083. Then you voted in Hackblock's election, Hackblock and Rawlinson, the year before?—Yes, I think I voted for Rawlinson.

28,084. Were you paid anything for that?—No, sir.

28,085. Do you remember all these elections pretty well?—Yes, I do.

28,086. Were all these elections, not including Mr. Hackblock's or the sham one when Mr. Wilkinson first came down here; but with those exceptions, were they all pretty much alike as to treatings?—I did not attend the meetings.

28,087. If you cannot give an opinion, say so?—Well, I cannot.

28,088. You have not much to say about it?—No.

28,089. Did you see any difference between the elections of '63 and '65?—I would certainly say if I knew anything about them.

28,090. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were there many of these people carrying out boards?—Yes, a great many boards.

28,091. I suppose all who wanted occupation had it?—There were a great many out of employ.

28,092. And those who were out of employ and asked had it?—Yes.

28,093. Did it not strike you there were more employed than was necessary for the work?—There were more employed than were voters.

28,094. There were non-voters and voters?—Yes.

28,095. Do you mean employed like yourself for a long period of time or just before the election?—I can hardly say.

28,096. We know a great many non-voters came from London to make a disturbance, what they call the roughs?—Yes.

28,097. I wish to know something about this supply of beer at your house. You say you had some beer at your old house where you were licensed?—Yes.

28,098. How much of that beer did you bring into your new house?—It might be a barrel and a half.

28,099. The beer you had at Mead-vale made the bill come to 4*l.*?—Yes.

28,100. Had you paid up your account with Mr. Newnham when you left the house?—No, but it was in the 14*l.*

28,101. Then, I suppose, the barrel and a half you brought with you was a portion of the 14*l.*?—Yes.

28,102. Would there be anything beyond the barrel and a half in the 14*l.* before you left the other house in Mead-vale?—No; I think there were about two barrels, or something like that.

28,103. What is the price of two barrels?—36*s.* a barrel.

28,104. When you had these voters coming to your house they would drink it out, and you would want more?—No; I had this beer in the house two months with the intention of opening the house.

28,105. How much had you in?—Four or five barrels altogether.

28,106. Would you store so much as that?—Yes; the cellar was large, and Mr. Newnham sent some back. After he was paid for it he took a barrel and a half.

28,107. There was some beer in, so that you would have five barrels, four or five?—I had some in at the time.

28,108. That was a barrel and a half?—But I had some more in when I left the house; altogether it would make 14*l.*

28,109. Do you mean to say you had the 14*l.* worth in two months before the election?—No, not all of it.

28,110. You ordered some during the time of the election?—No, not a drop.

28,111. Had you some in?—This was had in before the election.

28,112. The whole of it?—Yes.

28,113. The whole of the 14*l.* worth?—Yes, with the intention of opening the house.

28,114. Did not Mr. Newnham send in a single barrel during the election?—No; that I can take my oath of.

28,115. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did Mr. Nichols send you a range of the amount you were to take?—I arranged with Mr. Nichols 20*l.* for the use of the house; that was my arrangement.

28,116. (The Chief Commissioner.) I forget whether I asked you this last election of 1865, whether you reeeived a supply of beer?—No, sir.

28,117. He engaged your house?—He engaged my house at 20*l.*, and I gave them the beer.

28,118. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who told you that you might supply the beer?—Nobody. I thought I had a right to do as I thought fit in my own house.

28,119. But you expected to be paid?—No; I should have received it.

28,120. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) A portion of this was in the bill of 14*l.*?—Yes.

28,121. Did you deduct the value of these barrels of beer out of the 14*l.*?—No.

28,122. Then Mr. Nichols has paid for two barrels? He never paid for the beer.

28,123. He paid the 14*l.*?—Yes; it was for me he paid it.

28,124. A portion of this was for beer consumed on your old premises, where you were licensed?—About a barrel and a half I brought into the new house from the old one two months before the election.

28,125. How much was owing by you to Nichols when you left the old house?—I cannot say exactly; the 14*l.* was the old account Mr. Nichols had against me.

28,126. But a portion of the amount was for beer supplied to the old house, where you were properly supplying beer to the public?—Yes, something like two barrels.

28,127. Whoever has paid the bill has paid that portion?—He has paid the whole of it, instead of my paying Mr. Newnham. He did not pay me more than 5*l.* When he took the house he agreed to pay me 20*l.* for the use of the place, and instead of my taking it I referred Mr. Nichols to Mr. Newnham.

28,128. And a portion of the money you owed Mr. Newnham was for beer drank in an unlicensed house?—It was not for beer that Mr. Nichols agreed with me.

28,129. Mr. Newnham had a debt against you?—I referred Mr. Newnham to Mr. Nichols for the whole of the money I owed to Mr. Newnham.

21,130. A portion of the bill was for what you were entitled in the old house?—A portion of it; two barrels.

28,131. That was in your lawful trade?—That was in the old house.

28,132. Why did you not deduct it; it had no reference to the election?—The amount I agreed with Mr. Nichols had nothing to do with the election.

28,133. A portion of the 14*l.* was a debt you incurred in the other house?—Yes.

28,134. It ought to have been separated from the bill incurred in the new house?—What for? I owed Mr. Newnham 14*l.* odd, and Mr. Nichols owed me 15*l.*, and I referred Mr. Newnham to Mr. Nichols instead of that money being paid over to me.

28,135. You got the 15*l.*?—I have only had 20*l.* altogether.

28,136. Including the 14*l.*?—Yes, that includes all; there is only 5*l.* I have received myself, and the bill makes up the 20*l.*

28,137. I have taken it down that you received 15*l.* afterwards?—No, I referred Mr. Newnham to Mr. Nichols.

28,138. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand you to say you had some beer for yourself in the old house, you brought that into the new house, and the beer supplied amounted to 14*l.*?—Yes; altogether.

28,139. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said you received 5*l.* before the election, and that you received 15*l.*?—No, I did not receive 15*l.* I said I referred Mr. Newnham to Mr. Nichols for the amount.

28,140. That is not what you said in the first instance?—That is what I meant.

28,141. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you paid 20*l.* into your own pocket?—No, only 5*l.*, and the other went to Mr. Newnham's account, that is, only 20*l.* altogether, and that is what I meant. I referred him to Mr. Nichols for the amount.

28,142. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You wish the evidence to be corrected, that you did not receive 20*l.* into your own pocket?—I only received 5*l.*

28,143. Tell us truly what it was you received and, if necessary, we will refer to the short-hand writer's notes. You say the last 15*l.* was not paid to you, but was paid through Mr. Nichols to Mr. Newnham?—Yes, for the account that I owed him.

28,144. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much of that was for beer?—I cannot say about that.

28,145. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the 14*l.* all for beer?—Yes, for beer that I had altogether from Newnham.

28,146. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But as between you and Nichols, out of the 14*l.*, as between you and Nichols?—No, it was for the use of the house, that is correct, I agreed with Mr. Nichols and my vote.

28,147. You supplied no beer at all to the voters in your new house?—I did a little, but I was not at home all the time.

28,148. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You supplied no beer but what was in the house?—No.

The witness then withdrew.

SARAH ISTED sworn and examined.

S. Isted.

28,149. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you the wife of Mr. Isted, who was examined here yesterday or the day before?—Yes.

28,150. The blind man?—Yes, I am his wife.

28,151. Before the election do you recollect Mr. Henry Francis coming into your shop?—Not in my shop.

28,152. Where did you see him?—At the "Grapes."

28,153. Was your husband there with you?—My husband was there very tipsy at the time. I cannot say what time before the election, but it was one day before the election.

28,154. Was Mr. Francis with you?—No; there were a great many persons drinking there.

28,155. Which room were you in?—I was in the bar.

28,156. Was your husband at the bar?—He was all over the place.

28,157. You were waiting there?—I was waiting there to take care of him.

28,158. Will you tell us whether Mr. Francis said anything to you about the election?—He never said anything to me about the election, but all he did was to put eight sovereigns into my hand; he told me to give them to my husband the next morning, for he was so tipsy he was unable to take them.

28,159. Did he say anything more?—He never said anything more, but instead of my giving them to my husband I kept them.

28,160. You thought you could apply them more profitably than he could?—Yes; he never knew of it till yesterday. I thought if I gave them to him he would do nothing but drink.

28,161. Mr. Francis did not tell you to keep them but to give them to your husband?—Truly, but I did not give them to him.

28,162. Had Francis ever given you money before?—Never.

28,163. Or sent any?—Or sent; that was the only money I had.

28,164. How long was it before the election?—I should think three or four days before the election; I could not say to a day.

28,165. Did you see Mr. Francis give any other money?—No.

28,166. To no one?—No.

28,167. Did Mr. Nichols ever speak to you about your having had this money?—No, he never spoke to me at all.

28,168. Or to any of the party?—No; my husband told me when he had given his vote for Mr. Monson. He being blind, I am obliged to be out with the fish, and when he came home he told me he should give his vote for Mr. Monson.

28,169. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who took your husband to the poll?—I do not know; I am obliged to be out with the fish, my husband being blind.

28,170. Did anybody else come to canvass you for your husband's vote?—No; I heard him say to Mr. Monson, he promised to vote for him.

The witness then withdrew.

EDWARD BAILEY sworn and examined.

E. Bailey.

28,171. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

28,172. What rent do you pay for your house?—3*s.* 6*d.* a week.

28,173. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you when you voted?—No, only 3*s.*; they are what I call model cottages.

28,174. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

28,175. Who talked to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Kenward.

28,176. Did he put you on the committee?—Yes.

28,177. How long before the election?—About a month.

28,178. What were you to have?—30*s.* a week.

28,179. How much did you have?—3*l.*; which was two weeks out of four.

28,180. You received 3*l.*?—Yes.

28,181. When did you first receive anything?—I did not receive for the first week or the last, but the two intervening weeks 3*l.*

28,182. How was that; when did he pay you the 3*l.*?—He paid me the two middle weeks running.

28,183. Why did he not pay you for the first and the last?—He said he could not get the money to pay me.

28,184. Did you apply to him after the election?—No, sir.

28,185. You did nothing except vote?—Yes; I went with him and tried to do what canvassing I could.

28,186. Who did you go to?—Thomas Denton, a working man; I looked him out for Kenward.

28,187. Where was Denton?—He was at work at East Grinstead. He was not at home only on Saturday nights, and I saw him on Saturday night.

28,188. And canvassed him?—I went and brought him out to Kenward, for nobody else knew him.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

E. Bailey.

11 Sept. 1866.

Kenward went with me to the house, and I went in and called him out.

28,189. Who else did you canvass?—John Wolgar.

28,190. Where did you find him?—He was working at Croydon. I did not see him at all; his wife was at home, and she was all I saw.

28,191. Did he vote?—I do not know whether he voted or not.

28,192. You did not see him at the election?—No.

28,193. Did you tell Kenward about him?—Yes.

28,194. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure his name is John?—Yes.

28,195. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You only saw his wife?—That is all.

28,196. Did you go to anybody else?—I went to see Johnson the sweep. I asked him who he was going to vote for; he said he was not sure that he should vote, and he would not promise any one.

28,197. Any one else?—No.

28,198. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you make an offer to Johnson?—No; I never had authority to do so.

28,199. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your duty was to introduce them to Kenward?—Yes; that was all I had to do. I went round with him to several parties.

28,200. Did you receive any money from Langridge? You know Langridge?—Yes; but I never had any money from Langridge; I never had any money except from Kenward.

28,201. But he promised you something?—No.

28,202. Just recollect?—He never promised me anything.

28,203. Not for your expenses?—No; I never even spoke to him.

28,204. Is this your first election?—Yes, this is my first election.

28,205. Of course you were to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

28,206. You had promised?—Yes; I promised I would vote for Mr. Monson. I did not intend to vote for Mr. Gower.

28,207. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get no money for any person?—Not any.

28,208. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you voted at any previous election?—I had only voted at this last election.

The witness withdrew.

D. Mepham.

DAVID MEPHAM sworn and examined.

28,209. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

28,210. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* a week.

28,211. Did you take your house by the week?—Yes.

28,212. A week's pay or a week's notice?—Yes.

28,213. And who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

28,214. Who was it asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Kenward came to my house and asked me if I would come on his committee. I told him I had no objection, and he said he would give me 30*s.* a week for a fortnight, and accordingly I attended and had my money of him.

28,215. When did he pay you?—Every Saturday night.

28,216. Did he pay you up to the time of the election?—Yes, except the last three days.

28,217. Did he pay you for those extra, or did he leave them out?—He left them out.

28,218. How was that?—I do not know; I never asked him for it.

28,219. He paid you 3*l.*?—Yes.

28,220. Did anybody ask you to vote for Mr. Gower?—No; I do not recollect that any person asked me.

28,221. Or made you any offer?—Or made me any offer; and no one asked me; but Mr. Monson came to my house.

28,222. And canvassed you, of course?—Yes.

28,223. Is this your first election?—No, sir.

28,224. Did you vote in 1863?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson the time before.

28,225. Were you on his committee in 1865?—No.

28,226. And what did you get for the voting?—Nothing.

28,227. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all, not a farthing, not anything.

28,228. Not either before or after the election?—No.

28,229. How was that?—I was at work away at Woodmanston, and he sent a carriage or chaise and asked for me, and asked if I would come to vote; it was Wilkinson the painter. I know it caused me the loss of three days, for he never paid me.

28,230. Who did you apply to?—I applied to nobody except him, for he was the person who said he would pay me.

28,231. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You applied to him afterwards?—Yes.

28,232. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much did you apply to him for?—Nothing, only my two days.

28,233. And how much?—I should expect 5*s.* a day, and that would make 10*s.*

28,234. Was that the sum for which you applied to him?—I do not know exactly, further than this; I used to ask him when I saw him.

28,235. Was 10*s.* the sum you wanted when you asked him?—Yes.

28,236. Did you name that sum to him, or more?—I do not know whether I made any arrangement, except that I was to have 5*s.* a day.

28,237. What were your expenses?—They could not be much, for he brought me back to Woodmanston.

28,238. (The Chief Commissioner.) You lost your work?—I lost my work, and I had to walk back to Woodmanston.

28,239. That was in 1863; did you vote before that?—Yes, I did for Mr. Wilkinson.

28,240. Was that the next previous election to the general election?—Yes.

28,241. What did you receive for that?—Nothing at all.

28,242. How was that?—I never asked for anything, I gave my vote freely.

28,243. And the election before that, 1858, who did you vote for then?—I had no vote then.

28,244. Then the other was your first election?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

E. Briggs.

EDWARD BRIGGS sworn and examined.

28,245. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A carpenter.

28,246. What rent do you pay for your house?—3*s.* 6*d.* now.

28,247. What rent did you pay at the time you were on the register?—3*s.*

28,248. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

28,249. On what terms was your tenancy as to notice to quit?—A week's notice.

28,250. Who canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Kenward.

28,251. Did he offer you anything when he canvassed you?—He asked me who I was going to vote for; I said "Mr. Monson." He asked me if I was going on the committee, and I said yes.

28,252. What were you to get for it?—30*s.* a week.

28,253. For being on the committee?—Yes.

28,254. Did he pay you?—Yes.

28,255. How much?—3*l.* for the two weeks.

28,256. You were on a fortnight?—Yes.

28,257. Were you canvassed by the other side?—Not at all.

28,258. Was Mr. Kenward the only person who canvassed you?—Yes.

28,259. How did he find you out?—He met me as I was coming home one night.

28,260. This was in 1865?—Yes.

28,261. Did you vote in 1863?—No.

28,262. Had you voted in 1865?—No.

28,263. What is Mr. Kenward?—A carpenter.

28,264. Was he working in the same house as you?—No.

28,265. Does he have men under him?—No.

28,266. He is a journeyman carpenter like yourself?—Yes.

28,267. You went on the committee?—Yes.

28,268. Did you do anything on the committee?—No.

28,269. Did you attend any committee?—Yes, at Mr. Langridge's, that is all.

28,270. And got plenty of good refreshment there, I suppose?—A drop of beer, that was all.

28,271. That was all, you say, you did?—Yes; I was ready, but I was not called to do anything.

28,272. Instead of that you called for your beer?—Yes.

28,273. And got well paid for it?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

JAMES WOODMAN sworn and examined.

28,274. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A little farmer.

28,275. You farm land?—Yes.

28,276. A freehold? Is it your own?—No.

28,277. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—Yes, I voted for the freehold.

28,278. What rent do you pay?—20*l.* a year.

28,279. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

28,280. Who canvassed you?—I do not know that any one did.

28,281. Who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—James Apted.

28,282. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

28,283. You worked for him, and did all you could for him?—I was away; I was too far off to do anything.

28,284. Did you not do anything at all?—I was living seven miles away.

28,285. What were you paid for your expenses?—Nothing.

28,286. Then for your loss of time, or anything in that way?—That was on the polling day.

28,287. What were you paid for loss of time?—Nothing.

28,288. Did you come seven miles?—Between six and seven miles.

28,289. Who brought you over?—No one. I came by myself, and drove my own horse.

28,290. Where are you living now?—Charlwood.

28,291. You received no money for yourself?—No.

28,292. You received money for others, did you not?—No.

28,293. Do you recollect being at the "Castle" one day with James Apted? You know the "Castle"?—Yes, I was there.

28,294. With James Apted?—I think he was there.

28,295. You have no doubt he was there?—Very likely he was.

28,296. No; but call your memory back to it. Do you not know he was there?—He might have been there.

28,297. How long before the polling day was that?—That was on the polling day; I never saw him before. I was not up there before all during the election.

28,298. What time of the day was it?—I am sure I cannot say.

28,299. But about the time. I do not want it within two minutes?—I cannot say to hours.

28,300. Tell us the nearest you can?—I cannot say; perhaps 12 or 1 o'clock.

28,301. Who else was there besides James Apted?—I do not know.

28,302. Who did you go into the "Castle" with?—I do not know that I went in with any one except myself.

28,303. Who keeps the "Castle"?—Mr. Green.

28,304. Henry Green?—No, John Green.

28,305. You had some refreshment there, I suppose?—At my own expense.

28,306. You had some refreshment there at the "Castle"?—Yes, but I paid for it.

28,307. You saw Apted there?—I saw him there.

28,308. Can you tell me at all who was there besides Mr. Apted?—I cannot say that any one was there in particular, and it is so long ago that I cannot remember who was there. I was there and my wife. Green and his wife were down at my house a fortnight before, and spent part of the day with me, on a Sunday. Green asked me to come up, and he said most likely he would have a few friends there on polling day. I did not promise him. I had not made up my mind whether I would or not.

28,309. You did not go in there then by accident?—I call in at the house every week.

28,310. You went in by invitation?—Not by invitation, as I said if I came into the town I would call.

28,311. Did Mr. Green canvass you for Mr. Monson?—No.

28,312. He was a Monsonite?—I believe he voted for Mr. Monson, but he never said anything to me.

28,313. You know he voted for Mr. Monson?—I have no doubt that he did; but he did not satisfy any one till after he polled who he was going to vote for.

28,314. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know all about it then?—Not much.

28,315. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What have you heard about it since?—I heard he voted for Mr. Monson.

28,316. Did he not vote for Mr. Monson at the same time that you did?—No.

28,317. Did you vote for Mr. Monson after you had been at Mr. Green's?—Yes.

28,318. You went and voted between 2 and 3 o'clock?—Perhaps it was; but I cannot say.

28,319. You had been speaking to Apted that morning?—No.

28,320. You spoke to him at the "Castle"?—I might have spoken to him, but not on election affairs. Of course I spoke to him; I could not get out of it there. I could not sit in the room without speaking to him.

28,321. And no doubt you spoke to him about the election?—I do not know whether it was about the election in particular.

28,322. Every one was speaking about the election; that is, how it was then going on?—There were lots of things to talk of besides the election; at public houses there generally are.

28,323. I do not think there was much else talked of in Reigate that day. How long did you remain there before you voted?—I cannot say.

28,324. Perhaps it was a couple of hours?—

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

J. Woodman.

11 Sept. 1866.

Perhaps one hour, perhaps two hours, or perhaps three.

28,325. Did you see any one paid at the "Castle" at all?—No, I did not.

28,326. We have information about it; but I do not want to say anything with respect to that. Did you see any money taken from any person at the "Castle" that day?—No, I did not.

28,327. Am I to understand you that you saw no money paid to any one that morning?—I did not.

28,328. No money paid at all?—No, except anyone called for a pint of beer; and I might have seen that.

28,329. You know that is not what I mean. I mean money with reference to the election, for services rendered at the election, for work done?—No, I did not see any money paid.

28,330. Do you know any one who voted for Mr. Monson?—No, being away, I did not take any interest in the election that time.

28,331. But you kept your house in the place?—No, I was working from the place.

28,332. How long had you given up the house?—I had been away nearly over a twelvemonth.

28,333. You ought to know that you had no right to vote?—Yes, I was entitled to vote.

28,334. You must know that having voted out of the house, and given it up nearly upon a twelvemonth, you had no right to vote?—I did not know; I did not understand it.

28,335. You had no qualification?—Yes.

28,336. At that time who came to you?—James Apted came over to the house.

28,337. He came to your house?—Yes.

28,338. When?—Just before the election.

28,339. What time. You must recollect that?—I cannot say whether it was a week before, more or less.

28,340. You saw him?—I saw him.

28,341. You did not know much of Apted before?—I knew the man very well.

28,342. He was not a friend of yours?—He was not a friend at all, but he was a man with whom I had a deal of doing with in trade, and I have sold him a good many things.

28,343. He came over to canvass you for Mr. Monson?—I do not know whether he came purposely for that. He asked me who I was going for when he came.

28,344. Did he come to buy anything that time?—I do not remember it.

28,345. I must ask you as a favour to recollect yourself. Did he buy anything from you on that day?—I do not recollect whether he did. I was not at home at the time when he came.

28,346. But you saw him?—I saw him before he left.

28,347. He waited for you?—I do not know about waiting, but he was there when I came in.

28,348. He was waiting for you?—He was there.

28,349. What else did he speak to you about except voting for Mr. Monson?—I do not know. There were not many words passed; there were only a few.

28,350. Did he come and ask you to go on the committee?—No.

28,351. Did he not tell you that your expenses would be paid?—There was nothing said about expenses. I was very off-hand about the election. There was a little bother the time before, and I had made up my mind that I would not vote at all.

28,352. Did you tell him you would not vote?—I said, "If I voted at all I would come;" and he said, "I will send to you upon polling day." I said, "Do "no such thing."

28,353. Tell us what was the bother at the former election?—Of course there was a little dispute about Mr. Gower being elected. I voted for Mr. Gower at the election before.

28,354. You voted for Mr. Gower in 1863?—Yes.

28,355. Had you left the house then?—No.

28,356. Tell us what the bother was about at that election. It was a bother that affected you?—It did not affect me much, but it affected all, I think, a little.

28,357. Tell us what it was?—They tried to turn him out again after he was in, and I made up my mind I would have nothing more to do with elections.

28,358. A petition was presented against him. You had been on his committee in 1863?—I cannot recollect whether I was or not; but I might have been.

28,359. You were living here then?—I was living here then; but I do not think I was on his committee.

28,360. Had you worked for him in 1863?—Not particularly; I did a little work. I was always ready then to work for two or three of my neighbours.

28,361. You had not worked very hard in 1863; but how long had you been working for him?—From the beginning of the election to the end.

28,362. The election was a very sharp contest I am told between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson; it lasted five or six weeks?—I cannot say how long it was.

28,363. Were you at the "White Hart" after the election was over to celebrate Mr. Gower's triumph?—No.

28,364. You were not there to celebrate his triumph?—No.

28,365. Are you sure?—I cannot recollect it.

28,366. Well, but you would not forget that?—I am rather forgetful.

28,367. Oh no, you are not?—Yes, I am.

28,368. I hope not. What did you receive for your expenses and services in 1863?—I do not consider I received anything for my expenses.

28,369. You kept a beer house at that time?—I let my rooms, and of course there were refreshments had in on polling day.

28,370. What did you receive for your rooms?—I do not know what it was; I cannot say.

28,371. I can remember more than five or six years, and this is only three years ago. You surely can tell me what you received, whether it was 50*l.* or 150*l.*?—Nothing like that.

28,372. You see we shall get it soon?—It was nothing so much as that; nothing so large as that. I never had so much money as that to play with.

28,373. Was it 20*l.* or 30*l.*?—No; I think it was something like 12*l.* or 14*l.*, or something like that.

28,374. For the rooms?—For the rooms and refreshment.

28,375. What for the refreshment?—It was all together.

28,376. Did you send in your bill?—Yes, to Mr. Smith.

28,377. I am very glad of that, because I think we have them. Now, just refresh your memory again, and see whether it was not a little more?—I cannot recollect what it was exactly, but to the best of my memory it was between 12*l.* and 14*l.* I went for my money to Mr. Smith, and he began to dispute my bill. I told him that it was a just bill, and he asked me to take off 2*l.*, but I would not.

28,378. How much was it you claimed?—It was 12*l.* or 14*l.*

28,379. I think it was more?—No, I think not.

28,380. Did you take off the 2*l.*?—I never settled it myself.

28,381. Who settled it?—Mr. Durrant, my landlord, and I believe he lost the 2*l.*

28,382. Mr. Durrant settled it?—Yes, he settled it.

28,383. How much did Mr. Durrant pay you?—I cannot say; he told me at last, so it is my opinion, that he lost the 2*l.*

28,384. Did that include your own services?—That included everything.

28,385. And you voted for Mr. Gower?—Everything of the kind; I voted for Mr. Gower then.

28,386. How is it you did not vote for Mr. Gower this time?—That is the reason.

28,387. Because they cut off 2*l.*?—Yes, because they did not please me.

28,388. That is the bother you referred to?—Yes.

28,389. Then it was not about the petition after all. That was not the first time you voted I think?—Yes, it was.

28,390. You had no beer house in 1865?—No.

28,391. James Apted asked you?—Yes.

28,392. You saw him the day of polling; was it by accident you met him at the "Castle"?—Well, I do not know; it might have been.

28,393. Let us see, we will go by steps. James Apted canvassed you on the part of Mr. Monson, say on the Friday, the week before the election?—It might have been, but I cannot say.

28,394. Had you any communication with him between that time and the time you arrived at Reigate?—No, I never saw him.

28,395. Then you came by arrangement into the "Castle"?—Well, I put my horse up there.

28,396. And then James Apted came in by accident?—I forget whether he was in at the time, or after.

28,397. It was a mere accidental thing so far as you know that he was there?—Yes.

28,398. Then he said to you, did he not, "Why "Woodman, I am very glad to see you here, you are "coming now on our side?"—Yes.

28,399. You see he did say that?—I do not know, I misunderstood you; he might have said good morning.

28,400. You gave him a kind of promise?—No.

28,401. You said, "If I vote at all I will vote on your side?"—I said that at my own place.

28,402. That is what I call a kind of promise?—Yes, a half promise.

28,403. Had he not spoken to you then at the "Castle?" You told me he did not speak to you about the election; did not he speak to you immediately you came in, and say, "You are the very man I wanted"?—I do not recollect it.

28,404. He did want you though?—He might have wanted me.

28,405. Apted is not a man who would not make his wants known?—I do not know; but he has always paid me 20*s.* in the pound.

28,406. He spoke to you about the election?—There was very little said about it.

28,407. You did not vote till after you had spoken to Apted about the election?—Of course not.

28,408. Why of course not?—I mean——

28,409. Answer the question; why of course not?

28,410. Why of course?—I mean I misunderstood you; I mean when he was at our place; that was just before——

28,411. Why of course?—Oh, I misunderstood you.

48,412. Why should it be of course?—Of course I saw Apted before I voted.

48,413. But why should it be of course that you saw him and spoke to him before you voted?—Because I did not see him after.

48,414. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do answer the question. You have remembered every single thing when my friend has pressed you about it, but you take such a long time before you answer it; you have forgotten no single thing?—I cannot remember everything.

28,415. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you not a conversation with James Apted about the vote you meant to give some time before you voted?—I might have had.

28,416. Then you did?—I do not recollect.

28,417. Did you not have a conversation in reference to your vote?—I do not remember.

28,418. I ask you, did he not ask you to vote, and did you not say you did not like to vote in consequence of the bother you had had at the last election?—Yes; I did not like to vote for Mr. Gower.

28,419. I am speaking now of what occurred at the "Castle" on the polling day?—There was nothing said at the "Castle" about my voting for Mr. Gower.

28,420. Now, then, I will take you to your own place, when you said there was a bother about the 2*l.*; you told him they would not pay you 14*l.* for the amount of beer you had supplied, and that did of course make you not like them?—I said I had a reason why I would not vote for Mr. Gower's side, but I did not say what it was at the time; I think I told him upon a subsequent occasion.

28,421. When did you tell him?—I think I told him I would tell him some day.

28,422. Did you not tell him in fact just before you voted?—No, I did not.

28,423. It would be the most natural thing in the world; the Gower party had done what in the law would be called taxing your bill. They taxed your bill, and it is a very unpleasant thing to have your bill taxed, and to have 14*l.* reduced to 12*l.*; did he not say, "I will do nothing of the kind on our side, we "are gentlemen"?—Not to my recollection.

28,424. I am satisfied you will recollect if you turn your attention to it; did he not say, "Now there will "be nothing of that on our side, we are gentlemen, we "keep to our word"?—Nothing of the sort so far as I can recollect.

28,425. What did he say to it?—I do not remember it; there might have been something said, but I could not keep such things in my head all this time.

28,426. (The Chief Commissioner.) Let me take this down. Apted may have said, "We do no such "thing on our side"?—He may, or he may not, I could not say.

28,427. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How were you sure that you would not have the same bother on the Monson side?—I was not sure whether I should or not.

28,428. How soon after the election did you see Apted?—I do not know, I cannot say; I might not have seen him for a fortnight or a month. I very often come to Reigate, and very often see him when I come.

28,429. I believe a great many of you went up together to vote at that time?—I went by myself.

28,430. From the "Crown"?—From the "Castle."

28,431. How many voters were there?—I cannot say.

28,432. Who went out with you?—No one that I recollect; I came up to be ready myself. I do not know that any one knowed exactly who I was going to vote for.

28,433. I should think James Apted knew?—He might give a large guess.

28,434. He knew very well?—No one ain't to be trusted, they say, when they are gone out of sight.

28,435. He knew before you left the "Castle" that you were going to vote for Mr. Monson?—Well, he expected it.

28,436. He could only expect it?—That is all.

28,437. What made him expect it?—I suppose I told him I should vote for him.

28,438. You told him, in fact, that you would vote for Monson before you left the "Castle"?—I might have done so.

28,439. He asked you?—Well, I do not recollect as he did; he might have done so; I cannot say. I did not think of course that I should hear anything more about it; it never came into my head.

28,440. When did you see James Apted last?—Not for some time now; perhaps a fortnight or three weeks, perhaps more; I cannot say. I know I have not seen him for a fortnight.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

J. Woodman.

11 Sept. 1866.

28,441. When were you at the "Castle" last?—To-day; I put my horse up there; that is where I always stop.

28,442. I will ask you again, be very cautious, did nothing occur with James Apted that morning as to your voting; anything with regard to money?—No, it did not; nothing at all.

28,443. Did he not tell you that those who voted for Mr. Monson would be satisfied; that they would have no reason afterwards to complain?—No.

28,444. Nor words to that effect?—No.

28,445. Just now you said he might have said so?—Not to my knowledge; I cannot recollect anything of the sort.

28,446. No money passed at all?—No.

28,447. And no expectations?—Nothing was said about money.

28,448. And nothing done?—Nothing done.

28,449. You and James Apted were in the parlour at the "Castle," you told me?—I forget whether it was in the parlour or in the bar.

28,450. You said the parlour?—No, I never said I was in the parlour.

28,451. Were you in the parlour?—I cannot say.

28,452. You cannot say whether you were in the parlour or in the bar?—No; in fact I think there is no parlour there; I do not think there is; there is a little back room.

28,453. Then were you in the back room?—No, I think not.

28,454. Just recollect?—I might have been in both places; I often am.

28,455. Your wife was with you?—My wife was with me; she came the bigger part of the way, and afterwards I met her there.

28,456. Where?—At the "Castle," when I was coming home; she came as far as Cockshot-hill with me, and then got out.

28,457. Did Apted go from the "Castle" with you?—No.

28,458. Did you see any one?—I do not recollect any one going.

28,459. Did you see anybody?—I met Mr. Job Apted and Mr. Buckland in the road as I was going along, and asked them how they were, and they the same to me; that is nearly all that was said. I do not know that I spoke to any one else all the way.

28,460. They did not canvass you then?—No.

28,461. Have you any knowledge of any money being paid?—No.

28,462. Or any consideration given on your account?—No.

28,463. No knowledge?—No knowledge of it.

28,464. No belief on the subject?—No, I cannot recollect nothing of the sort being named, money nor nothing of the sort.

28,465. Do you believe that any money was paid?—No.

28,466. Do you believe that no money was paid?—I do not believe that any money was paid.

28,467. Do you believe that no money was paid?—I never saw any money paid.

28,468. I am not asking that; do you not believe that money was received on your account?—No.

28,469. Upon your oath, do you not believe that money was received on your account; be cautious?—I am cautious; I have got no recollection.

28,470. Upon your oath, do you not believe that; I am not asking about your recollection; do you not believe that money was received on your account at that election?—No.

28,471. From some of the Monson party?—No, I think not.

28,472. On your oath, you do not believe that there was money received?—No; there was nothing said about money.

28,473. Nothing said. Do you not believe that money was received? Be very cautious?—I am; it was never named about money.

28,474. I implore you to be cautious?—I am.

28,475. It is a question of the largest kind. Do you not believe that money was received on your account from the Monson party at that election?—No.

28,476. You do not believe it?—No.

28,477. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do not believe what?—That there was any money pased at that election. I never saw anything of money.

28,478. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you any outstanding accounts with James Apted?—No; I do not recollect that I had.

28,479. Do you recollect whether you had or had not?—No, I have not.

28,480. Had you at that time?—No, I think not.

28,481. Recollect yourself?—I do not recollect if I had at all. I have had a good many dealings with the man; he has always paid me.

28,482. Had you any outstanding accounts with any body else?—No, I do not recollect. I might owe money about.

28,483. Had you any outstanding accounts that were settled by reason of that election?—No.

28,484. Just recollect?—No, nothing of the sort.

28,485. Nothing of the sort?—Nothing of the sort. I have no recollection of it in the slightest.

28,486. If such accounts were outstanding, you could not fail to recollect?—I should think of it most likely.

28,487. Certainly you would; if any account was settled without your paying for it you would recollect?—Of course I should.

28,488. Was there any?—There was nothing of the sort; I have no recollection of it.

28,489. Was there anything of the sort?—No, I think not.

28,490. Was there anything of the sort?—No.

28,491. Will you pledge your oath that there was nothing of the sort; any account outstanding that was settled in consequence of your vote?—There was not at all.

28,492. Not at all?—No, there was not; I should recollect it if there was, most likely.

28,493. No beer account with your brewer?—No.

28,494. Who was your brewer?—Durrant was my brewer then, but I have no brewer now.

28,495. Durrant was your brewer then?—Yes; at the election before.

28,496. You do not believe that there was any money, or any consideration whatever?—No; I never saw any money pass.

28,497. I do not say that you did, but do you believe that any money was given, or any consideration, for your vote?

28,498. (The Chief Commissioner.) I have not yet taken your answer to the question, because you seem not to attend to it?—Perhaps I misunderstand it.

28,499. You have now another chance; pray be cautious.—I do not want to speak more than what is right.

28,500. Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you believe that no consideration was given, or no money paid, or no account settled on your account, for your vote at that election?—There was nothing settled nor nothing of the sort.

28,501. And no money paid?—And no money paid.

28,502. No consideration?—No consideration; I have not the least recollection of it if there was.

28,503. (The Chief Commissioner.) No money paid to whom?—To me, or no one to receive money for me, as I recollect.

28,504. Nor your wife?—No; I do not recollect the slightest of it, and I should, of course, if there had.

28,505. Your wife would tell you, of course?—Of course, I should think so.

28,506. Your memory does not seem very clear?—It is not very clear, worse luck, but, of course, I might have recollected if I had knowed anything had been coming to this point, of course.

28507. Have you any books, or anything of the sort?—Nothing of the sort; nothing was said.

28,508. Why should you drive in at your own expense seven miles to vote for Mr. Monson?—Because I could ride back when I liked; I was not tied to time. I have done the same to-day, driving my own horse.

The witness withdrew.

William Spence sworn and examined.

28,509. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A tailor.

28,510. A journeyman tailor?—Yes.

28,511. What rent do you pay for your house?—I am not living in Reigate parish at the present time; I come from Brighton.

28,512. You are not a voter now?—No.

28,513. What rent did you pay in the year 1865?—14*l.* a year.

28,514. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

28,515. Have you got a vote anywhere now?—I have not.

28,516. Were you put on Mr. Monson's committee at the last election?—Not that I am aware of.

28,517. Did Mr. Monson canvass you?—He did not.

28,518. Who asked you to vote in the first instance?—Mr. Nichols wrote to me.

28,519. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where were you living then?—At Brighton.

28,520. Had you left the borough?—I had left the borough.

28,521. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he ask you to come up about the election?—He did.

28,522. Had you given up your house in this town?—I had left my house; still my name was on the register.

28,523. How long had you left the borough before the election?—I cannot say exactly the time I left.

28,524. Did you leave at Lady Day?—It might be four or five months before the election when I left.

28,525. Nichols asked you to come up and help them about the election?—Yes.

28,526. Did you come?—I did.

28,527. How long was that before?—A few days before the election came off; only a few days.

28,528. Before the polling?—Before the polling.

28,529. How many shall I take it, as far as you recollect, three or four days?—Yes, more than that; it might be perhaps 8 or 10 days; I cannot exactly say.

28,530. What did he hold out to you as to how you were to be paid for the loss of your time?—Nothing at all; he held out nothing; no inducement.

28,531. How were you to be paid?—I was not to be paid at all.

28,532. You came up?—To oblige Mr. Nichols.

28,533. When you did come up you saw him, I suppose?—Yes, I saw him.

28,534. Did you call on him at the "Grapes"?—No, I did not.

28,535. Where did you see him?—At the committee room at the "White Hart."

28,536. What was then arranged?—There was no further arrangement made whatever, no more than I had promised him if at any time he wanted me to send for me.

28,537. That was no promise at all?—There was no arrangement made after I arrived at the committee room at Reigate.

28,538. What arrangement was made before?—None.

28,539. If there was no arrangement made after you arrived you need not specify that unless there had been some arrangement before?—No more than I stated, that if ever he wrote to me to come up and poll for a canditate I should do so.

28,540. To poll for a candidate; but you assisted them?—Certainly I went round.

28,541. When did you first become aware that you would be paid for your loss of time and your services, or whatever you choose to describe it?—I never became aware that I was to receive anything on this occasion; I never was to be paid; I never was promised anything.

28,542. When did you receive anything?—I did not receive anything.

28,543. Not at all?—Not at all; not for this present election that you are now speaking of, the last election.

28,544. I am only speaking of the last election?—I received nothing.

28,545. Was there any outstanding account from the previous election of 1863?—Any outstanding account?

28,546. Any unsettled account which you had from the election of 1863?—No.

28,547. There was not?—No. There is one thing I admit; of course I owed money in Reigate to different parties, not to one individual alone, but perhaps to several; but I did not come up to vote under any consideration of any debts that I owed.

28,548. Those debts have not been paid since, I suppose?—They have not.

28,549. They are not now owing, are they?—Yes, they are owing. All the debts that I owed previous to my leaving this parish are owing at the present time, because I have not been in a position to pay them.

28,550. Now, whether you have paid them or not, tell me, are they still owing?—They are.

28,551. I do not say from you?—They are still owing from me; that is, as far as I know. I know of no consideration of any debt being paid at all.

28,552. Do you ever expect any of those debts to be brought up against you?—I do; I believe they are all liable at the present time.

28,553. Do you believe (do not answer hastily) that any of those debts will ever come up against you?—Any of the debts that I owed?

28,554. That you did owe. Do you believe that any of those debts will ever come up against you?—Yes. I received a threatening letter and county court summons last week from one party.

28,555. Who was that?—From Mr. Hewett, for 3*l.* 10*s.*, for rent.

28,556. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you receive that notice?—On Saturday morning last.

28,557. Is it George Hewett?—He is a servant of Mr. Clutton.

28,558. Whom did Mr. Clutton vote for?—I cannot say.

28,559. Was it for Mr. Gower?—I think so; I am not certain.

28,560. When do you say you left this place; five months before the election?—Yes.

28,561. You say you received a paper last Saturday for the rent owing to Mr. Clutton?—No, it was due to Hewett; he is a servant of Mr. Clutton; it is his property that I am living in.

28,562. You left last March?—I think it was the beginning of May.

28,563. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not know whether Hewett is a voter?—I think not.

28,564. Was there no demand made till last Saturday for the rent, 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I received a letter previous, but I wrote saying that I was not in a position to pay it.

28,565. When was the previous application made?—The previous one? I should think perhaps nine months ago.

28,566. You say there were other accounts; I do not want to know how many. Have you received

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

W. Spence.

11 Sept. 1866.

any other demands for those accounts, any application for payment?—No, I have not.

28,567. That is odd, is it not?—Well, I imagine the parties know that I am not in a position to pay them at the present time.

28,568. Under these particular circumstances it was not likely that Nichols, who knew exactly all these things about you, would suppose that you would come up from Brighton at your own expense at the election; that is, nine or ten days previous to the election?—Well, I do not know, I am sure, whether he knew that I should come up.

28,569. From some accident or other things were not very flourishing with you, and Nichols would of course know that pretty nearly as well as you would yourself, though he would not know all the particulars; then it would be rather unfair, would it not, that he should expect you to come at your own expense from Brighton to work the election for him?—Decidedly so.

28,570. And we know very well that Nichols had plenty of money?—Mr. Nichols some few years previously had been a friend to me, and therefore I came up when he wrote the letter to me to say that he should like if I would come up.

28,571. I do not want to intrude in the least in any private matter; but if Nichols had been a friend to you, was that to be taken into account?—Nothing was mentioned.

28,572. You understand me perfectly, though I do not want to go into it?—There was nothing of the sort mentioned nor no consideration.

28,573. There was nothing of the sort mentioned; but you understand me perfectly, I am sure?—I merely came up as a friend.

28,574. I have given you what I thought was an answer to that, by telling you that it is not likely that Nichols, who had plenty of money, and, as far as I know, was a humane and considerate man, should write down to you and say, "Come up for nine or ten "days at the election."—I did not come up; he only wrote to me.

28,575. You say he had been a friend to you. I wish you to take a hint from me and give me an answer. Is not it really a clue to the whole thing?—What I have stated is true.

28,576. I have no doubt it is.—There was no communication, and no promise whatever on either part.

28,577. But since then has not your coming here been remembered in your favour?—Not that I am aware of; I do not know in what respect.

28,578. I am very fair to you?—And I will be as fair to you as I possibly can, and answer every question if I understand it.

28,579. Has not your coming up at Nichols's request been remembered in your favour?—I cannot say that it has; not that I am aware of, which I can speak positive.

28,580. Suppose this case. Suppose there was some little arrangement by which, if one man is under an obligation to another, he makes him from time to time some acknowledgment of it in the way of half-yearly or yearly payments, or promises, or something of that kind, if those payments are not insisted on, that, remembering something in the man's favour who has to pay?—Yes.

28,581. Now, need I say more?—Nothing of the sort has ever occurred between Mr. Nichols and myself nor any one connected with that election.

28,582. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the kindness which Nichols had shown you? Did he lend you money?—Yes, and that money was repaid.

28,583. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then, if that money was repaid we come at once to the same difficulty. How was it that Nichols sent down to Brighton to ask you to come up nine or ten days before the election? He would not have written so to me, even if he had known I had been a good canvasser; he would have said, "If you will come up of course your ser-"vices will be remembered; if you will come we "shall be very much obliged, and you will get your "fee, or get something or other"?—Yes.

28,584. You must not tell us things that are contrary to the usual course?—Well, I can assure you, which I have stated before, that there was nothing stated by letter nor by word that there was to be any recompense whatever. I have known Mr. Nichols many years.

28,585. I dare say it was not stated?—I never received it, which I can state upon oath.

28,586. Is it due still?—Yes.

28,587. Now, tell me what is still due for the services rendered in 1865?—I do not know. I have had no promise of anything.

28,588. What do you consider?—I do not expect to receive anything.

28,589. What do you consider you ought to receive?—I expect I ought to receive nothing.

28,590. If there was an election coming off to-morrow, should you expect to be sent for anywhere to work without being paid for it?—I should not.

28,591. Then do explain how it is you were sent for on this occasion?—Well, I cannot explain to you any more.

28,592. Who paid your fare up?—I paid my own.

28,593. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You took that from your creditors?—I paid my own fare.

28,594. Who paid your fare down?—I paid my own fare down.

28,595. Who paid you back the money?—I have never received any money.

28,596. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you pay any money out of pocket during the election? Did you pay anything to any person you canvassed, either by giving them beer or money; did you pay anything out of pocket?—I paid nothing out of pocket by giving beer or money.

28,597. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay any money?—No money. I paid the railway fare of one party; I took a ticket for him.

28,598. Who was that?—A man of the name of West.

28,599. Who gave you that money?—I paid it out of my own pocket.

28,600. Did you get it returned to you?—No.

28,601. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much was that railway money?—It was 2*s.* 6*d.*, the fare from Brighton; a third-class ticket.

28,602. And you paid your own too?—And my own.

28,603. That would be 5*s.* altogether?—Yes.

28,604. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) From Brighton?—Yes.

28,605. What West is that?—He is a bricklayer.

28,606. Here?—I do not know whether he is living in the neighbourhood now or not.

28,607. Is he a voter?—He was at that time.

28,608. What is his Christian name?—William.

28,609. Are you able to tell whether he lives here now or not?—I am not.

28,610. Did you pay any other money out of pocket?—No.

28,611. Who paid for your eating, drinking, lodging, and so on?—Well, I lived with a friend of mine, and likewise had accommodation, with eating and drinking.

28,612. I do not want to go into private affairs further than is necessary, but where did you eat and drink; at your private friend's house?—At Redhill.

28,613. With the same person?—No.

28,614. Where did you eat and drink?—I had a part at a friend of mine at Reigate, and a part at Redhill during the day.

28,615. At Redhill had you to pay for it?—I had not; they were friends of mine.

28,616. How soon did you go away after the election?—I went away the next day.

28,617. Then you were here perhaps something less than a fortnight?—I was here only two days. I received the letter about the election coming off, but I did not come up then. I came upon one day and went back the next. It was on the day of the election that I came up, on the morning of the election, and I went back on the next day.

28,618. Your services were used by Mr. Nichols and by the party for doing what you could; you did what you could while you were here?—Yes.

28,619. You were active in taking men to the poll, were you not?—Yes; I was not particularly active. I certainly did go to the poll with one or two.

28,620. Can you tell me their names?—I cannot.

28,621. Cannot you tell me the name of anybody you went up to the poll with?—No, I cannot. When I voted I went to the poll by myself. I think I went on one occasion, that was all; who the party was I do not know.

28,622. I thought you had received money to hand over to some person or persons?—No; never a farthing.

28,623. You say you paid 2*s.* 6*d.* for West's fare; was that 2*s.* 6*d.* for the fare from Brighton here?—Yes.

28,624. Did you bring him up with you?—He came up with me; yes.

28,625. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You brought him?—Yes; at least, we appointed to meet to come up together.

28,626. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had Nichols told you of West being down there?—Nichols had not told me, but I had heard that he was down there from some one else.

28,627. Upon which you went to him, I suppose, and canvassed him?—Yes.

28,628. Did West get repaid the 2*s.* 6*d.* fare?—I am sure I cannot say.

28,629. Did West repay you?—He did not.

28,630. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were that 2*s.* 6*d.* out of pocket?—I was that 2*s.* 6*d.* out of pocket.

28,631. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have made some claim for it, have you not?—No.

28,632. Or for your loss of time?—For neither.

28,633. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you in your condition expended 2*s.* 6*d.* on Mr. Monson's voter because you were a friend of Nichols, and Nichols was scattering money about. You really think we can believe that?—Well, ——

28,634. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What kindness did Mr. Nichols do to you in 1865 for coming up to Brighton? He must have done something?—Nothing at all; he has done no kindness to me, neither at the time nor since.

28,635. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you anything to do at Brighton at the time of the election? Were you in any employ?—I was working at the time.

28,636. Did you lose your employment by your absence?—No, I did not.

28,637. You lost the two days?—I lost the time.

28,638. You did not lose your employment when you got back again?—No.

28,639. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much did you earn; 6*s.* a day?—It depends a great deal upon the time of the year; the trade is so fluctuating.

28,640. About 12*s.* for the two days?—The Brighton rate is about 5*s.* a day.

28,641. That would be 10*s.*?—Yes, provided I was in full work.

28,642. And your fare up and down would be 5*s.*?—Yes.

28,643. That would be 15*s.* altogether?—Yes.

28,644. And then 2*s.* 6*d.*, making 17*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

28,645. And you expended it out of your own money?—Yes.

28,646. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which you have not been repaid?—Yes.

28,647. May I add, "in any way or in any manner"?—Yes.

28,648. I may?—Yes.

28,649. You were here in 1863?—Yes.

28,650. Who did you vote for in 1863?—For Mr. Gower, I believe.

28,651. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were with Nichols at that time?—Yes.

28,652. Mr. Nichols was on Mr. Gower's side at that time?—Yes.

28,653. Were you employed on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

28,654. Did you work for some time for him?—Yes.

28,655. Who put you on the committee?—I do not know who put me on the committee; Mr. Nichols engaged me.

28,656. Do you recollect how long before the election, about?—No, I cannot say.

28,657. Perhaps from the beginning, four or five weeks?—It was somewhere about the commencement.

28,658. Perhaps four or five weeks?—Yes, it was quite that; a little more perhaps.

28,659. What was the arrangement made on that occasion? You said specially that what you were telling me referred to 1865; to the last election?—Yes.

28,660. Now, in 1863 what was the arrangement made with Mr. Nichols?—I was to receive 10*l.* for my services as canvasser.

28,661. Did you receive it?—I did.

28,662. From Mr. Nichols?—No.

28,663. From whom?—From Mr. Smith.

28,664. In 1863 you say you received 10*l.* for your services as canvasser from Mr. Smith. Did you do much as canvasser?—I done a great deal of work; I was continually away from my business.

28,665. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were living here then?—I was living in the parish of Reigate.

28,666. (The Chief Commissioner.) On that occasion money was paid to you to pay out, was not it?—Exactly so.

28,667. Besides the money which you had for yourself, do you recollect paying some money to a man named Ards?—I never paid Ards any money. I know the name; I know the man.

28,668. You and Corderoy called upon him?—Exactly so, we did.

28,669. He was not paid any money while you were there?—Not in my presence.

28,670. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you turn your head away, then?—No, I cannot say whether I did or not.

28,671. You knew it was paid?—No, I did not see it paid, and did not know it was paid; it was not stated to me. I know the party very well.

28,672. (The Chief Commissioner.) "I am not able "to tell you the amount;" that is what you say. Do you know that he received anything?—I do not.

28,673. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He was paid by Corderoy?—I cannot say whether Corderoy paid him or not.

28,674. Then how do you know he was paid?—I do not know that he was; I say I did not see him paid, and I did not know that he was paid. It must have been done when I was not present.

28,675. That is the reason; I will put it in that way. You say it was not in your presence?—Of course I could not answer for Corderoy.

28,676. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you remember a man named Creame?—Yes.

28,677. Can you tell who paid him?—No.

28,678. Do you know whether Corderoy paid him?—No, I do not.

28,679. Do you recollect whether you were present when Corderoy called upon him?—I recollect Corderoy's going to find out Creame; where he was living I do not know; somewhere in the suburbs of London, I believe.

28,680. At that time you were living in Mead-vale?—I was living at Mead-vale at the time.

28,681. After you did find him out, do you recollect Corderoy going to pay him something?—I do not; I have no knowledge of it myself.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

W. Spence.

11 Sept. 1866.

28,682. Ards and you went up to the polling booth together, did not you?—No, I went with Creame. I think you said Ards?

28,683. I beg your pardon. Don't you remember after he was taken up to the poll Corderoy calling upon him with you?—I have no recollection of that.

28,684. I think you did. Perhaps you will remember when you did call upon him Ards was there also?—No, I have not the slightest recollection of seeing those two together.

28,685. You don't recollect that?—No, not in the slightest.

28,686. You had a good deal of difficulty with Ards, had not you?—Difficulty?

28,687. Yes, you made him an offer?—I never did.

28,688. I think you did?—No.

28,689. Did Corderoy in your presence make him an offer?—Not in my presence.

28,690. What do you mean by your presence?—It might——

28,691. Did you and Corderoy call on him together?—Yes.

28,692. Now you believe that when you turned round, or were out of the room, not out of the room I won't say, but when you turned round, you believe that Corderoy paid him?—I think it is probable that he might have paid him.

28,693. (Mr. Commissioner Smith). You might say it out at once?—I give it to you just as plain as I can state it. I only imagine it; I don't know for certain.

28,694. Do you know that after that Ards was paid 3*l.*?—I do not.

28,695. Tell me, if you please, at that election in 1863 did you send in an account?—Yes, I believe I did.

28,696. To whom?—To Mr. Smith.

28,697. For services and canvassing?—Yes.

28,698. Was it for the same amount that you were paid, or for a larger amount?—The amount that I sent in at least, the bill that I sent in, was for my engagement as a canvasser, for myself.

28,699. Quite right; was it for a larger amount than what you received?—No.

28,700. Then you sent in your account for 10*l.* I suppose, according to that?—What I received from Mr. Smith?

28,701. Quite right, yes?—10*l.* was my engagement.

28,702. Well, I am asking now about your account. You sent in your account for Mr. Smith in writing?—Yes.

28,703. Was your account for a larger sum than the 10*l.* engagement?—Yes, for 13*l.*

28,704. How was that?—That was for extra services after the election.

28,705. What was it, the extra service?—To the best of my recollection, why, for going about to see parties.

28,706. After the election?—When the petition was on.

28,707. Was that allowed?—I was paid 13*l.*

28,708. When?—After the election.

28,709. I thought you told me you were paid 10*l.*?—10*l.*; that was my engagement, and 3*l.* for expenses.

28,710. I will tell you what you said before, "I "was to receive 10*l.* for my services as canvasser, "and I did receive it from Mr. Smith"?—Yes.

28,711. Now, then, you say you received 13*l.* from Mr. Smith?—I did not know that I said I did not receive any more; that was my engagement.

28,712. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did not you say then you received 1*l.* That would have been just as good an answer?—I am not aware that the question was asked what I was paid.

28,713. (The Chief Commissioner.) It shows how very particular one must be with you?—I thought the question was only just asked what my engagement was for the service.

28,714. You say it was 13*l.*?—Yes.

28,715. Now I will ask this question. You received no more?—I received no more.

28,716. You received no more from Mr. Smith? It makes me so very cautious and anxious to hedge myself round. Did you receive no more from Mr. Smith?—Not for myself.

28,717. Did you receive any more from Mr. Smith? You cannot get out of that question?—I received (I forget the amount) a small amount for a person of the name of Jordan; Thomas Jordan.

28,718. What was it?—I think it was something like 4*l.* I won't be positive as to the amount.

28,719. Did you receive anything more?—No, nothing more, that I am aware of.

28,720. I want to know aye or no?—I received nothing more as to charges.

28,721. But I did not say a word about charges. Did you receive anything more?—Do you mean during the election?

28,722. No, I have not said a word about during the election?—In regard to the bills I sent in?

28,723. Did you receive anything more in regard to anything in the world from Mr. Smith?—Yes.

28,724. Will you please to tell me what?—I cannot tell you the exact amount. It might be something like 9*l.* or 10*l.*

28,725. You received 9*l.* or 10*l.* you say for other people?—For monies to be expended in meetings.

28,726. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was during the election?—That was during the election.

28,727. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any more money from Smith?—No.

28,728. Now did you receive any money from anybody else?—No, none.

28,729. Did you receive any money from Mr. Hart?—I did not.

28,730. Will you be so good as to tell me who you paid the money to that you received; the 9*l.* or 10*l.* to be expended in meetings?—Well, I cannot exactly tell you.

28,731. Never mind about exactly?—Well, a portion of it was spent at public houses. I will tell you the names presently. "The Oak" at Redhill, and "The Plough" at Redhill; at "The Marquis of Granby"; likewise at "The Wheatsheaf" at Redhill.

28,732. You did not pay it all away, I suppose?—I paid it all away.

28,733. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you keep an account?—No.

28,734. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who was Mr. Nichols working for in that election of 1863?—Mr. Gower.

28,735. But who was he voting and working for?—Mr. Gower.

28,736. Had you anything to do Mr. Nichols on that occasion?—What I had to do with him he referred me to Mr. Smith.

28,737. What you had to do with him is what I want to know?—If I asked him a question, he referred me to Mr. Smith.

28,738. Before you went to Mr. Smith with your account, did you take it into Mr. Nichols?—No, I did not.

28,739. None of those accounts which you have mentioned?—None of those accounts that I have mentioned.

28,740. Neither the 13*l.* nor the 4*l.*; nor the 9*l.* or 10*l.*; as far as you can recollect?—Not as far as I can recollect.

28,741. Now, did Mr. Nichols when he engaged you tell you what you would receive?—Yes.

28,742. What did he tell you you would receive?—10*l.*

28,743. You did not send it in to Mr. Nichols first? Did you get his signature to it?—No.

28,744. I mean by way of recommending it, to show that it had been examined?—No.

28,745. You did not vouch Mr. Nichols' name to Mr. Smith, you understand me, by getting his initials on the account?—No initials whatever.

28,746. I mean, you had Mr. Nichols' initials?—No, I had not.

28,747. Did you receive any more money from Mr. Nichols than what you have mentioned as having been received from Mr. Smith?—None.

28,748. That you feel sure of?—I am certain of that.

28,749. Now in previous elections had you been at work?—Yes, I had.

28,750. In 1859 had you done anything, I want to know?—In 1859?

28,751. Yes?—Yes.

28,752. Who had you been engaged for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

28,753. He did not appear that time himself?—Oh, in 1859!

28,754. He did not appear in person?—Then I beg your pardon. No, I was not.

28,755. You did not do much then?—No.

28,756. Well then, in 1858, when Monson and Wilkinson were opposed to each other who did you work for then?—Mr. Wilkinson.

28,757. And voted?—And voted.

28,758. Were you on his committee?—I do not know whether my name was put on the committee or not.

28,759. You worked for him?—I worked for him.

28,760. Did Mr. Nichols set you on to work then?—No.

28,761. Which side was Mr. Nichols?—On the opposite.

28,762. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For Mr. Monson that time?—Yes.

28,763. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me, what did you receive then?—I received 13*l.*

28,764. Who from, do you recollect?—Well, I really forget the name of the party who paid me the money now.

28,765. Perhaps you will remember it if you recollect who set you on?—I think it was Mr. Cape. Mr. Cape was one of the parties who was engaged in this affair; but I could not call to mind exactly.

28,766. I suppose it was not Mr. Cape who set you to work. Do you remember?—I believe he was one of the party who waited on me to ask me to canvass that district. There were two together.

28,767. You sent that account in? Was that a written account?—It was a written account.

28,768. And he paid it?—I received the 13*l.*

28,769. I mean, did you receive it from him?—I could not say for certain; I believe it was the case.

28,770. What was that account for?—For my services in canvassing.

28,771. Can you recollect (perhaps you cannot exactly) how you sent it in; in what way you stated it?—I was engaged as a canvasser, and that election lasted 13 weeks, and I was continually being called by a brother of that candidate at that time, William Arthur Wilkinson, and I was taken very much away from my business, and I sent in a bill, owing to the affair lasting so long; some of the parties requested me to send it in as moderate as I could.

28,772. What did you put down?—13*l.*

28,773. Did they pay you the same amount?—I received the 13*l.* at once.

28,774. I suppose then you had not paid money out of pocket?—Yes, I had paid money out of pocket. My account for that was 7*l.*

28,775. Who paid that?—I had it from the same source.

28,776. You received 20*l.*?—Yes, I received 20*l.* altogether for that.

28,777. Did that 7*l.* go into the same account as the 13*l.*?—No; a separate account. That 7*l.* was for expenses.

28,778. Now, was that 7*l.* for your own expenses or for money which you had paid out of pocket?—It was money I had paid out of pocket for the meetings at the public houses.

28,779. That was your own expenditure?—My own expenditure.

28,780. Was that all that you received from anybody?—That was all I received from anybody.

28,781. Now then we get back to the Doulton election. Were you at work then?—I was.

28,782. Be kind enough to tell me, who did you vote for at that election?—Mr. Doulton.

28,783. Were you at work for him, you know I mean by that canvassing?—Yes, I was.

28,784. For some time?—No, for a very short time.

28,785. Were you paid so much a week, or paid in a lump then?—I was paid 3*l.* for something like a fortnight's services as a canvasser.

28,786. And was that all you were paid?—That is all I were paid.

28,787. All you were paid at all, either out of pocket or for services?—That was all the money I received.

28,788. Who paid it?—Mr. Truman, I believe.

28,789. I don't want to go farther back than that. So that you see you were paid in the first election 3*l.*, you were paid in that other election, the next election in 1858, 13*l.*, you received in 1863 20*l.*, (not all for yourself, you know), but then when we come to 1865, when you appear to have been quite as active as at any other election, you say you received nothing. Do you still say you received nothing?—Yes, I do.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And that you paid another man half-a-crown out of your own pocket.

28,790. (The Chief Commissioner.) That you were in fact 17*s.* 6*d.* out of pocket?—I do say so, on my oath.

28,791. What do you say?—That I paid that amount.

28,792. And that you were that out of pocket?—And that I was that out of pocket, and received no remuneration for it or promise for it.

28,793. Or value; value received?—Nor value received; not one single item.

28,794. Do you reckon anything struck off against your value received?—I have had nothing struck off.

28,795. But do not you call it so?—I should call it so, certainly.

28,796. I only want us to understand each other?—I should understand that perfectly well, sir.

28,797. And in that sense you have had no value received?—I have had no value. I received a letter from Mr. Nichols some few days previous, to say that I might be expected up here to be called.

28,798. Have you got it in your pocket?—Yes.

28,799. Have you seen Mr. Nichols since you have been in the town?—I saw him in his yard driving in his pony cart as I came up. (The letter was handed to the Commissioners.)

28,800. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that written before the election?—No, this is just a few days ago, telling me that I might be called up on this occasion. It is only just the letter that he sent down to me that I might be called on.

28,801. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) So far as that is concerned it is a very proper letter. He advises you to tell all you know and you have nothing to fear if you speak the truth. That is what we want you to do; to speak the truth. I do not want to know the amounts, but how many creditors have you in Reigate; some half a dozen? I do not want to know particularly?—That is just about it. About half a dozen.

28,802. Have you had any request from either of them for payment, excepting that from the landlord?—No more than I have been in contact with parties in Reigate since I have been away, that is to say, since I have been living in Brighton, they have asked me as soon as convenient if I would send a portion of the amount. That is all. I have received no communication by letter, only this.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

W. Spence.

11 Sept. 1866.

28,803. Have you your summons in your pocket?—I have.

20,804. Please let me see it. (The summons was handed in). Have you got that letter again that you had from Mr. Nichols? (The letter was produced.)

28,805. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you work at all with Corderoy in 1865? Did you go with him?—I was with him, but not working, the latter part, towards the evening.

28,806. Not working. You did not go to any voter with him?—I did not go to any voter.

28,807. Were you sent to any voter by Mr. Nichols?—I was not.

28,808. In 1865?—No.

28,809. Then, in fact, you did nothing in 1865?—I did nothing when I came up here. I merely went to see the party living at Brighton and asked him to come up with me. That is the party I saw.

28,810. Did you take your friend to Mr. Nichols?—I took him to the committee room.

28,811. To the "Grapes"?—To the "White Hart."

28,812. Did you see Mr. Nichols and report to him that you had brought this man up?—Yes.

28,813. Do not you know what took place between Mr. Nichols and him?—I do not.

28,814. Did you ever hear from your friend what took place?—I heard he voted for Gower.

28,815. That was very ungracious, that you should pay this gentleman's railway fare and then he should vote against you?—Rather so.

28,816. Who was it got hold of him?—I heard that he did receive something; he did not tell me who it was paid him, or what.

28,817. That was Mr. West?—Yes.

28,818. You heard that he got something?—Yes, that is all; he did not tell me who it was or what it was that was paid him.

28,819. Did not you ask him for the half-crown?—I did not.

28,820. Did you pay his fare back again?—No; I did not see him from that time until about two or three months afterwards.

28,821. Did you never hear from West who it was that got him over to the Gower side?—I never did.

28,822. What time of the evening or day did you arrive here?—On the polling morning about half-past 7. We came by the first train.

28,823. Did you take your friend West down to the committee room yourself?—I did so.

28,824. From the railway?—Yes.

28,825. Where did you lose sight of him?—Just near the "Crown."

28,826. Whose house is that?—Mr. Bonny's.

28,827. Was that after 8 o'clock?—Oh yes, I suppose between 9 and 10.

28,828. Why did you not see him safe to the poll?—Well, there is a difficulty sometimes in getting some people to the poll, when there is so much confusion.

28,829. You lost him at Bonny's?—Yes.

28,830. Where is West now?—I cannot tell you, I believe he is somewhere in the parish.

28,831. In this parish?—Yes, in this parish; but as I am living at Brighton I cannot tell.

28,832. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you receive your summons?—I received the summons yesterday.

28,833. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) After Mr. Nichols' letter?—Yes, after Mr. Nichols' letter.

28,834. You received your summons yesterday, and you had that letter from Mr. Nichols on the 5th?—Yes.

28,835. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Well, you know, according to your account, nothing at all occurred between you and Mr. Nichols that would justify us in bringing you before us?—With the exception of this that I received.

28,836. Don't you think it queer for Mr. Nichols to write to you? Let us see what you did; you not only brought West up and expended 15*s.*, but advanced on Mr. Monson's account a half-crown?—Yes, I did so.

28,837. Don't you think it was singular for Mr. Nichols to write such a letter to you, a man who was advancing money for Mr. Monson; to think you would be brought before the Commissioner? How do you account for it?—Well, I account for it in this way; his knowing very well that I had been, of course, mixed up in elections, not only from the time of Mr. Doulton, but previous to that, from the time that Cox contested against ———.

28,838. Oh! we are not going to inquire into that?—I cannot account for it in any other way than that I had been mixed up in electioneering matters.

28,839. You had been mixed up in elections and received money for all except the last?—Yes.

28,840. You always voted against the Monson party till the last time?—I did so.

28,841. Will you tell me, because I want to know. I can hardly believe you as a credible man. Can you tell me why you advanced the half crown on Mr. Monson's behalf? It is the same as if you had met him in the street, and said "Sir, I understand you are in "want of money; will you be kind enough to accept "half-a-crown from me." That is what it is, you know?—I can tell you no more than I have.

28,842. Can you give me any reason?—No, I cannot. I have told you in plain terms. I answered the question. I tell you Mr. Nichols was a friend of mine. I have answered you in that way. I tell you I received no money, and therefore——

28,843. Mr. Nichols was a friend of yours in 1863, and you received money then for your services?—He is a friend now.

28,844. The friendship did not prevent your receiving the money?—I have not received any.

28,845. Attend. You were a friend in 1863; Mr. Nichols was a friend of yours then, and yet you received money?—Exactly so.

28,846. Then there is nothing in your friendship to prevent you receiving the money. You were a frend of Mr. Nichols', I suppose, in 1858, when you voted against his party?—Yes.

28,847. I want to know the value of his friendship. Will you tell me what acts of friendship Mr. Nichols did to you between 1863 and 1866?—I can tell you no more than I have stated before.

28,848. What acts of friendship did he do for you?—I can tell you no more. The question has been asked what I done in that election.

28,849. I will have it?—So you may.

28,850. How long before the election of 1865 did you see Mr. Nichols before you had the letter from him?—Oh! I came to Reigate on two or three occasions.

28,851. How late before the election?—Well, it might be some six or seven months, perhaps; I cannot say exactly.

28,852. How long had you seen Nichols before then?—That is the very thing I was speaking upon.

28,853. Some months?—Yes.

28,854. You had only left in May; your recollection fails you?—I may make a little mistake.

28,855. You told me you left in May?—Last May twelvemonth.

28,856. That would be only two months before the election was. Come, how long was it before the election that you saw Mr. Nichols?—If it was only two months I never saw Mr. Nichols from the time I left Brighton till the time I came up to the poll.

29,857. That is not an answer to my question. It was known at that time, you know, in May?—Well, I might have seen Mr. Nichols and been in his house on several occasions.

28,858. It was known at that time that there was an election pending?—Exactly.

28,859. Before you left?—Yes, before I left.

28,860. How did Mr. Nichols obtain your address in Brighton?—I sent him my address.

28,861. When?—Or, at least, I won't be certain whether I sent it to Mr. Nichols, or whether I sent it to a friend of mine. It might be to Mr. Jordan; it might be to Mr. Corderoy.

28,862. To whom did you send your address?—I won't be certain to whom I directed, but it was either to Mr. Nichols, Mr. Corderoy, or Mr. Jordan.

28,863. We know something about them all?—Yes.

28,864. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are they all friends of yours?—Yes.

28,865. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you send your address to them? Did you write to them?—Yes.

28,866. What did you say? At that time I suppose you had not canvassed for anybody?—In a friendly manner.

28,867. Of course, but you had not canvassed for anybody then?—I had not.

28,868. And you had received at a former election 13*l.* from the Gower party?—Yes.

28,869. Now I ask you, did you write to Mr. Nichols or not?—I do not recollect, I tell you, which, whether it was to Corderoy, or Jordan, or Mr. Nichols; it was to one of the three I should write.

28,870. Did you receive any answer from Corderoy?—I did not.

28,871. Did you receive any answer from Jordan?—Yes, I did.

28,872. I suppose you have not got it here?—I have not.

28,873. Did he canvass you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—He did not.

28,874. Jordan was a Monsonite?—Yes.

28,875. We know these men. He wrote to you; did not he ask you to go for Monson?—No.

28,876. Did not he write about the election?—He did not write to me about the election; he wrote to me as a friend, and I replied to it.

28,877. How long before the election?—I cannot tell you exactly the time I received the letter from him.

28,878. I will test it presently. Have you written to him since the election of 1865 as a friend?—I might.

28,879. But have you?—I will tell you in this way, that I might have written to him, because I have written several letters, but I have written nothing concerning the election.

28,880. Have you written to him as a friend since 1865?—Since 1865? I have.

28,881. When?—I cannot tell you exactly, but I have written.

28,882. On either occasion was it the subject of the election?—No, not on either occasion.

28,883. And have you written to Corderoy on the subject of the election?—It is very probable I might have written to him since the election, but not on that subject.

28,884. And have you written to Mr. Nichols since the election?—I have written to Mr. Nichols; let me see, since the election.

28,885. You were less than two months away?—No, I have not written to Mr. Nichols since the election.

28,886. Now I ask you again, had not any money been advanced to you as a loan by Mr. Nichols before you left?—No.

28,887. Was any money advanced to you by Mr. Nichols between 1863 and 1865?—Between 1863 and 1865? None whatever.

28,888. Now, be cautious; no money advanced by Mr. Nichols to you or on your behalf?—Between 1863 and 1865, none that I am aware of.

28,889. Eh?—None that I am aware of.

28,890. Was there anything before 1863 advanced by Mr. Nichols on your behalf?—Between 1863 and 1865?

28,891. Before 1863?—I cannot say. Mr. Nichols has been a friend of mine.

28,892. Now, come, come. Any monies advanced by Mr. Nichols on your behalf? I don't want to go into particulars unless you compel me to go into them?—I cannot help that. I tell you as well as I know.

28,893. Is Mr. Nichols an officer of the county court?—Yes.

28,894. Upon your oath, don't you know that there was a judgment out against you in Mr. Nichols' hands?—No, I do not know that a judgment was in Mr. Nichols' hands.

28,895. Did not you hear that there was a judgment out against you?—I won't be certain; it might have been spoken.

28,896. Spoken?—I say that I don't know.

28,897. Did not you hear there was a judgment of the county court out against you?—I heard there was to be one; I did not hear there was one.

28,898. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you ever been summoned to the county court for any debt (you must recollect that), and you did not appear, and judgment went against you?—(After considering) Well, I cannot recollect. If you will refer to the circumstance, I will——

28,899. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No, no, upon your oath, did not you hear there was a judgment out against you from the county court?—(After again considering) Well, I tell you candidly, gentlemen, that I do not recollect having a county court summons.

28,900. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) A summons would be the first document that you would get; you would first be served with a summons?—Yes.

28,901. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did not you hear there was a judgment out against you in the county court?—No, I never heard it.

28,902. What did you mean by saying there was a report?—I say, if there was a report I did not hear it.

28,903. Oh, it never came to your ears?—I had been threatened.

28,904. By whom?—With a county court summons by a party of the name of Clement, a butcher.

28,905. For how much?—I do not know.

28,906. About?—Somewhere about 16*l.*

28,907. Have you paid that?—I have not.

28,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) Previous to 1865?—Yes, before that.

28,909. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Have you ever satisfied Mr. Clement, the butcher?—I have not. I have never been in a position to do it.

28,910. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did he take out a county court summons?—I do not know.

28,911. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are in a most enviable position; paying money away for Mr. Monson. You never satisfied Mr. Clement. When did you hear last from him about the debt?—I do not know; but I heard some time previous to that.

28,912. You never heard from him since the election of 1865. I venture to say he never applied to you for the debt?—No, he has not.

28,913. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the election of 1865 did Mr. Clement threaten you with a county court summons?—I do not exactly know the time. It might be some few months previous to the election.

28,914. Not very long?—No.

28,915. Before the election?—Yes, some few months before the election. I cannot say for certain.

28,916. Is Mr. Nichols the summoning officer of the county court?—I believe he is.

28,917. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where does Mr. Clement live?—I cannot say.

28,918. You know where your butcher lived?—I have been away 18 months.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

W. Spence.

11 Sept. 1866.

28,919. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where did he live then?—At Mead-vale, if that is the question you ask me.

28,920. Is he there now?—I do not know.

28,921. Don't you know where he lives?—I do not.

28,922. Do you know that he lives at Nutfield?—I do not.

28,923. Where was he when he threatened you with a county court summons; was he living at Reigate?—At Mead-vale.

28,924. Do you know when he left Mead-vale?—I do not.

28,925. Was it before the election?—I cannot call to mind the time when he left.

28,926. Did he write to you to threaten a county court summons?—He sent one of his men to me.

28,927. What, all the way to Brighton?—No, previous to my leaving. I have heard nothing of him since.

28,928. Had he left his place before?—He had left his business.

28,929. Before he sent the county court summons?—Yes, I believe it was about the time.

28,930. And since that threatening of the county court summons you have heard no more about it?—I have not.

28,931. Don't you think that very strange? Can you account for it?—I can only account for it in this way, that a great many people knew my position, that I had not the means of paying the money, and therefore they could not take the money if I had not got it.

28,932. You had the means of laying out 17*s.* 6*d.* in 1865, paying your friend's fare who voted against you?—17*s.* 6*d.* would not pay 16*l.*

28,933. But if you could not afford to pay debts you could not afford to pay money out of your own pocket, out of your own earnings.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No, he only paid 7*s.* 6*d.*

28,934. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You lost your two days' work, and you paid 7*s.* 6*d.*?—The fact was, I considered, as Mr. Nichols was a friend of mine, I was indebted to him in a sense of the word.

28,935. Did not Mr. Nichols continue his friendship and arrange with Mr. Clement with regard to that county court summons?—Oh, I cannot answer; not to my knowledge.

28,936. Has it been hinted to you?—No.

28,937. Suggested to you in any way?—Never.

28,938. What answer did you give to Mr. Clement when he said he would send you a county court summons?—I told him I was not in a position to pay the money. That was the word I sent back.

28,939. That was the whole 16*l.* or 17*l.* at once?—I was not in a position to pay the money.

28,940. But a man who has a county court judgment is much safer than merely relying upon your word?—I said I would pay when I was in a position to do so; but, unfortunately, I have not been in a position. I have hardly been able to get my own living.

28,941. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that your explanation, that you thought Mr. Clement was satisfied with your promise to pay rather than take out the summons?—I tell you I had no knowledge of any settlement with any of the parties, not with Clement. I received no information, and I had no reason to presume that anything of the sort had occurred.

28,942. Did you mention to Mr. Nichols when you came up that you had been threatened with a county court summons?—No.

28,943. Were you never summoned? Did not Mr. Clement actually take out a summons?—I do not know.

28,944. Don't you know that it was promised to be paid by instalments?—No; on my oath I never did. You asked me to speak the truth, and you have it to the best of my ability. If I make a mistake it is not wilfully.

28,945. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay Mr. Nichols his loan, when he was kind to you actually in money?—It was a bond for me from the loan society.

28,946. He paid the bond?—He was answerable for the amount.

28,947. You failed in payment, and he paid for you?—He paid for me.

28,948. Have you repaid to him the whole of that bond?—No, I have not.

28,949. You have not? What was the amount of that bond?—I think there was a deficiency of something like 2*l.* or 3*l.* that was to be made up.

28,950. Then what did Mr. Nichols pay for you?—Well, I do not know exactly what the amount was, because I had been at work afterwards for Mr. Nichols.

28,951. What was the amount of the loan in the first instance?—Something like 10*l.* or 12*l.*

21,952. Had you paid anything off that 10*l.* or 12*l.*?—Yes, I had.

28,953. How much did you pay?—I paid it up nearly to about 3*l.* I paid by instalments.

28,954. What did Mr. Nichols pay for you off that bond; how much?—Well, what I say was left. I think about 3*l.* I won't be certain exactly what the amount was.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And costs, I suppose. 3*l.* and costs.

28,955. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I understood you to say, in a previous part of your examination, that you had paid Mr. Nichols all that you owed him?—That was previous; money that was lent to me.

28,956. Then is this upon a second transaction?—That was another transaction—a second transaction. I did not consider that money lent by Mr. Nichols.

28,957. Perhaps you did not consider that a kindness?—I did so.

28,958. Now then, with the greater kindness, what money did Mr. Nichols lend you?—I think it was something like 20*l.*

28,959. Did you pay him off the whole of that?—Yes, I think I did.

28,960. At intervals?—Yes.

28,961. Without any county court summons?—Without any county court summons.

28,962. Was there any election pending whilst that money was owing?—No.

28,963. You paid it before any election?—I paid it before any election.

28,964. When was it that Mr. Nichols consented to be surety for you for 10*l.*? What was the date of that bond?—I cannot tell you.

28,965. What year was it, 1862?—I won't be positive whether it was 1862 or 1863. Mr. Buckland would be able to give you the information you require.

28,966. Mr. Buckland was the secretary, I suppose?—Yes. He will tell you.

28,967. I would rather take it from you?—I cannot tell you; that is why I refer you to him.

28,968. Was it before the election of 1863?—I cannot say.

28,969. Was it after?—I cannot say; I cannot recollect. If you will refer to Mr. Buckland——

28,970. He is not before us?—Then I cannot tell you, or I would do so with pleasure.

28,971. Then that 3*l.* is still owing to Mr. Nichols?—Still owing to Mr. Nichols.

28,972. Upon that bond?—Upon that bond.

28,973. How long has it been owing?—Well, it has now been owing something, perhaps, over two years; I cannot say exactly.

28,974. Has he ever asked you for it?—Well, he has just told me that I could pay it when I was in a position to do so. He knew my situation; he knew that I was not in a situation to pay it, and therefore it would be useless for him to ask me to pay him the money.

28,975. Do you think he ever expects it after your voting at the last election?—Yes; if he does not expect to be paid it, I expect to pay him.

28,976. Was anything said about that?—Not a word.

28,977. Eh?—Nothing.

28,978. Has he ever said one single word to you about that 2*l.* or 3*l.*?—When I left Reigate he told me the amount that he was bond for. I went to him and told him I was not in a position to pay it, and asked him to be kind enough to settle it for me.

28,979. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Recollect, you told me you did not see him afterwards?—That was before I left Reigate.

28,980. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you were at the shop?—About the time of my leaving.

28,981. You say you expect to pay it. You have not been asked for it for two years?—No, I have not been asked for it. It is no use a man's asking if he knew, at least he could very soon ascertain, that he could not receive it, not in money. He could take my body, and that is all that he could do.

28,982. I suppose that kindness had a little effect on you in coming up from Brighton?—Well, it did in a certain sense.

28,983. Perhaps you thought that one good turn deserved another?—Exactly; I did think so.

28,984. And that good turn might be construed into meaning that Mr. Nichols probably would not ask you for the 2*l.*?—I never understood anything.

28,985. But that would be a very probable result?—I had no idea of it myself.

28,986. And I suppose as soon as Mr. Nichols was to ask you for the 2*l.* you would bring up that 17*s.* 6*d.* against him?—It is very probable I might.

28,987. So you mutually kept the thing silent between you?—The fact is, it is very true as you say, "silent," but I have never had any communication on the subject of electioneering matters.

28,988. Silence very often gives consent. Don't you think it is very much like consent between you that that 2*l.* is not to be asked for by Mr. Nichols from you?—No, nothing of the sort; because I am still indebted to him, and he can sue me for the amount.

28,989. I very much suspect it is so?—You asked me to tell the truth.

28,990. And we have been a very long while getting it out?—Well, I tell you to the best of my knowledge.

28,991. It has taken us very nearly two hours to get it out?—As you have asked me the questions I have been ready to answer them as well as my abilities would allow me.

28,992. (The Chief Commissioner.) I only want to ask you one single question. Do you recollect the story which you have just told my friend here about Mr. Clement the butcher?—Yes.

28,993. Do you recollect when I asked you whether you had received money's worth you said "No;" and you told me that in "money's worth" you included any demand against a man struck off. You know you said that was money's worth?—I was not aware that anything was struck off, I assure you.

28,994. Do you recollect telling me when you explained what you meant by money's worth, do you recollect declaring, "I have not received money's "worth"?—No more I have not; nothing to do with the election. It was a private affair my being indebted to Mr. Clement.

28,995. Of course it was; it was long before the election?—Exactly so. Then I say I have no knowledge of any settlement of that question.

FREDERICK FULLBROOK sworn and examined. F. Fullbrook

28,996. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

28,997. For whom?—Mr. Monson.

28,998. What are you?—A hawker.

28,999. A travelling hawker?—Yes.

29,000. What rent do you pay for your house?—I did not pay any at all at the time of the election.

29,001. What house do you occupy?—I was living at the toll-house over the other side of Earlswood common.

29,002. How came you on the register?—Because I lived at a house at Castlefield before I went there.

29,003. You had removed?—I had left my residence.

29,004. What residence were you on the register for?—For part of a house; not a whole one.

29,005. What rent do you pay?—2*s.* 6*d.* a week.

29,006. You paid 2*s.* 6*d.* a week. Did any one live in the house?—No, there are four cottages all together.

29,007. You are in a separate part of the house?—No, the two front rooms.

29,008. Were there others living in the same house?—Yes, the house was occupied.

29,009. All of them had the use of the front door?—Yes.

29,010. Then you had not even that qualification when you voted?—No.

29,011. How long had you left before the election?—February. I cannot say exactly what day of the month it was that I did leave, but I know it was in the month of February.

29,012. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Whatever you had was left in February?—Yes.

29,013. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How came you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I did not particularly trouble myself for whom I did vote.

29,014. Who canvassed you?—I had ever so many come to me.

29,015. Before we go to the Monson party we will inquire about the Gower party. Did anyone canvass you on the Gower side?—Mr. Gower himself.

29,016. I assume he did not offer you anything?—No.

29,017. Did anybody offer you anything on the Gower side?—They offered me my wages for what I worked for.

29,018. Who was it offered you your wages, and what were you to do for your wages?—I was to run messages when I was wanted.

29,019. Who asked you to do that?—Job Apted.

29,020. Were you to go on the committee?—My name was put on the committee; because Mr. Smith and Mr. Gower asked me whether I would like to be on, and I told them I should not mind being put on.

29,021. Were you offered anything else by the Gower party?—No.

29,022. Were you offered anything by Mr. Monson's party?—Only for work.

29,023. Do you remember William Henry Goss calling upon you?—I do, on the polling morning.

29,024. Did he offer you something for your vote?—No.

29,025. He told you something?—No.

29,026. You got paid?—Not by him.

29,027. Who paid you?—One of the party.

29,028. Who paid you?—I was not paid anything at all only for my labour by both parties.

29,029. What were you paid for your labour?—5*s.* a day. It came to 5*l.* on the Monson side.

29,030. What on Mr. Gower's side?—10*s.* for three day's work, that was agreed; but he did not pay me one 10*s.*, and that was the reason that I turned the lot up, because I thought it was no good working for nothing. I received 10*s.*, 1*l.*, and 3*l.* 10*s.* from James Apted according as I wanted to draw it.

29,031. What did James Apted give you?—5*l.* in all for my work.

29,032. Did you do anything for this 5*l.*?—Yes, I neglected my own business and ran about.

29,033. Anything more?—Oh, yes, a great deal; I was running about, and I drank a little.

29,034. You did not get drink for running about?—I had to take a drop at times.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

F. Fullbrook.

11 Sept. 1866.

29,035. You canvassed on the committee ?—No, I never went near them.

29,036. Were did you get your customary drink ?—At different houses ; at different places. Some at Woodhatch, and at several other places.

29,037. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did you divide yourself between the two, did you work in the morning for one and in the evening for the other ?—No, I beg your pardon, I went as I tell you, only for three days for the Gower party and got paid for the two days. I drew the 10*s.* after I worked the two days, for the two days work, which I spent that very night along with some friends, then I went the third night after some more money and he could not pay me, and then I went and worked for the other party.

29,038. You discharged the party ?—Yes, I did, I could not work unless I had my money.

29,039. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of course the money you received was to go with your vote ?—I never made any agreement about my vote. I made an agreement that I was to work for them, but I never made an agreement about my vote.

29,040. When Mr. Goss came and canvassed you you told him you had had 5*l.* ?—No, I did not, because I had only had 30*s.* then.

29,041. Were you living on what is called the Common ?—On Earlswood-common, Southall-street is the proper name of it.

29,042. You had some neighbours there ?—There were a few little houses, that is all.

29,043. Do you know a person named Nash ?—Yes.

29,044. And a person named Steel, now dead ?—Yes.

29,045. And Mr. Benjamin Brown ?—Yes.

29,046. You were all a little lot together, getting 5*l.* a piece, were you not ?—Not that I am aware of.

29,047. Did you not mention that to Goss ?—Not that I am aware of. There were some of them got 5*l.*, but I had nothing to do with them. I was here at Reigate at work for my money and they were at home.

29,048. You heard they got 5*l.* ?—I heard they got 5*l.* ; but Benjamin Brown I believe, told me that he did not get anything.

29,049. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where is Nash now ?—I cannot say, but he did live down there close to where Benjamin Brown lived.

29,050. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you canvassed at that place by Jim Apted ?—Down at Brand's the beer shop, and Jim Apted came after me with a horse and cart on the polling morning and I went as far as the town with them.

29,051. You got the promise of 5*l.* before the poll morning ?—I never had a promise of 5*l.*

29,052. You got it ?—I got it by working for it, but I did not have the 5*l.* altogether. I had it as I wanted it, 10*s.*, 1*l.*, then 3*l.* 10*s.* I left to the polling day when I started, and would not come away till I could have it before I voted. I would not have come away before I received my wages, I would have stopped there altogether if they had not brought it me.

29,053. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is it William Nash ?—I cannot say whether it is William or George.

29,054. Earlswood ?—Yes, close to where Benjamin Brown lives, it is only 50 yards apart from where he lives.

29,055. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When Mr. Gower canvassed you and asked you for the favor of having your name on the committee, I suppose you promised to vote for Mr. Gower ?—I never said anything about voting ; I told him I did not know.

29,056. But you promised to vote ; you would not allow your name to be put on the committee without that ?—I did not promise my vote at all. I told them they might put my name on the committee if they thought proper.

29,057. That is a kind of promise ?—Putting my name on the committee was not telling them I should vote for them.

29,058. They would take that as a kind of promise ?—So they might, but I did not mean it.

29,059. You are a very deep man, but we should all understand that you would mean by that you would vote that way ?—No, I would have voted for him as well as for Mr. Monson, it did not make any difference to me so long as they paid me for the work. They are both Liberals, so they call themselves, so I do not consider it made any difference.

29,060. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You intended to vote for the most money ?—For the man by whom I could get best paid for my labour.

29,061. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien,) How long had you been at work for Mr. Monson ?—I cannot say exactly, it might be three weeks or a month or not not quite three weeks, but it was somewhere about three weeks ; between three and four weeks.

The witness withdrew.

E. Manning.

EDWARD MANNING sworn and examined.

29,062. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A carpenter.

29,063. What rent do you pay for the house you are in ?—At the time of the election, in fact, I did not rent any house, I had left, I cannot remember how many months. 13*l.* 10*s.* was the rent of the house I got my vote from.

29,064. For the house for which you had had the vote ?—Yes.

29,065. Had you left a year or so ?—I daresay I had, perhaps not quite so much, it was about January and the election took place in June, I think.

29,066. You voted for Mr. Monson ?—No, for Mr. Gower.

29,067. Who canvassed you ?—I saw Mr. Gower once, he met me in the street once.

29,068. I do not mean Mr. Gower ; you were on Mr. Gower's committee were you not ?—No, I was not.

29,069. You worked for him ?—No.

29,070. You said you voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, Stoneman was the man.

29,071. How long before the polling day were you put on his committee ?—I am not aware I was on the committee at all ; it was about two or three days.

29,072. What did Stoneman give you ?—He gave me nothing.

29,073. What did he promise you ?—He promised me no amount.

29,074. He said you should be paid ?—He said we shall be all right, are you satisfied.

29,075. Which of course you took to be that you would be paid for your trouble ?—Certainly.

29,076. Did you receive anything at all ?—Yes, I did.

29,077. How much ?—Not from the Gower side ; from the Monson side 1*l.* 10*s.*

29,078. Who paid you on the part of the Monson party ?—Joseph Kenward.

29,079. How was that ?—How came he to pay me.

29,080. Yes ?—I do not know how he came to pay me.

29,081. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you paid before or after the voting ?—Some time before voting.

29,082. How long before the polling day did he pay you ?—I should think three weeks.

29,083. He was to pay you 10*s.* a week, was he not ?—There was no arrangement come to at all.

29,084. That is what you understood ?—That is what several were receiving. I received one of them.

29,085. Was it for one week ?—For one week.

29,086. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you apply to him for more than one week?—No, I did not.

29,087. How was it you neglected your application?—I was not here; I was in Sussex at the time the next Saturday.

29,088. How was it you changed your mind and voted for Mr. Gower instead of Mr. Monson?—I do not know how it was I changed my mind.

29,089. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had better tell us?— I cannot exactly tell you. I did not intend to vote for Mr. Monson, that was the meaning of it. Kenward neither asked me if I would give my vote or anything of the kind. He said, "Are you "going?" and gave me the money at night. I perfectly well understood it.

29,090. What did you understand?—He meant me to vote for him.

29,091. You received the 30*s.* and left him under that impression?—Yes, he thought I intended to vote for him.

29,092. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) You never intended, from the beginning, to vote for Mr. Monson?—I promised Mr. Gower that I would not vote against him.

29,093. Before you made the arrangement with Kenward?—I never made any arrangement with Kenward.

29,094. How soon before the polling day did Stoneman speak to you?—About three or four days.

29,095. And he told you it would be all right?—Yes, all right.

29,096. You had heard that money was going on the Gower side?—I heard that promises were made.

29,097. And that money was going, and you expected to be paid?—Yes.

29,098. How much did you expect, 5*l.*?—I was not promised anything, but I thought it might run to 3*l.* or 4*l.*

29,099. You did not get anything?—I did not.

29,100. To whom did you apply?—To no one, of course. I was left on Stoneman's hands.

29,101. Did you not apply to Stoneman?—I asked him several times in the street.

29,102. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did he say?—He said he had heard nothing about it at all; that he had applied to parties and had heard nothing about it.

29,103. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) To whom did he say he had applied?—I think he said he had applied to Mr. Smith.

29,104. And that he could not get any money for you?—He said he had got no money for me.

29,105. Was this the first time you had voted?—Yes.

29,106. Had you not voted in 1863?—No.

RICHARD PEAT sworn and examined.

29,107. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

29,108. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you voted at the election?—I did not pay any rent.

29,109. How was it then? Was yours a freehold?—Yes.

29,110. Are you still a voter?—Yes.

29,111. Is the value of your house 10*l.*?—Yes, or more.

29,112. You took rather an active part in the election?—Unfortunately I did.

29,113. Towards the latter part of it, not so much in the early part of it?—I took part in it all the way through, but a more prominent part towards the latter end.

29,114. You were on Mr. Monson's committee?—I was.

29,115. You attended at some particular committee meeting?—I attended at the "White Hart" several times, and once at Langridge's, and I think I attended a meeting once at the "Plough," Redhill, and once behind the park.

29,116. You received money for the purpose of paying some of the voters?—I did.

29,117. Will you be so good as to tell me in the first instance, if you can, how much money for the purpose of paying out you received altogether?—40*l.* or upwards.

29,118. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is not including yourself?—No, not a farthing.

29,119. (The Chief Commissioner.) I mean for paying out, 40*l.* or upwards; do you think 40*l.* is about as near as you can tell?—It was over 40*l.* I believe.

29,120. 40*l.* is as near as you can tell?—I should think it was between 40*l.* and 45*l.*

29,121. How did you receive it?—I received it in several payments from Mr. Jordan; the time sheet was made out to pay so many men with so much money; the men signed the sheet and I handed it back.

29,122. All the money you received did you receive from him?—I did.

29,123. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You say you had a sheet with the names of the men on it?—I had.

29,124. Which they signed?—Yes.

29,125. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did he give you the names of the men, or did you have them?—He gave me the names and I wrote them from dictation, I believe, generally, or I copied them from those he had.

29,126. The men gave you a receipt on the paper?—The name was simply written on the paper.

29,127. Have you got a copy of it?—I have not, nor the original. I am sorry to say when the money was paid to me by Mr. Hart, through Mr. Nichols, I went home and burnt everything connected with it.

29,128. Did you burn this?—I did. The list is burnt, and so unfortunately I stand in an awkward predicament.

29,129. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you say the men who had these monies signed the paper in the shape of receipt?—Yes.

29,130. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The name was put down, with the amount?—Yes; like a commercial transaction.

29,131. (The Chief Commissioner.) I am sorry the paper is burnt, because it would be a short way of getting through the names?—So it would.

29,132. I do not know whether you can tell me all the names?—I have put down a list from recollection.

29,133. Do not be in a hurry, but tell me them?—I have here the name of Amos Sarjeant.

29,134. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How much?—Some of the men I did not pay the whole to, they were to receive 5*l.* each.

29,135. (The Chief Commissioner.) You mean to say, all the men you were to take the names of received 5*l.* each, either from you or from Mr. Jordan?—Yes.

29,136. Where were your payments made? Was it on the night of the polling at the "Plough?"—Yes, that was the clearing up.

29,137. Had you paid men money before you paid it at the "Plough?"—I had paid 15*s.* a week for two weeks before the election.

29,138. You had paid them for two weeks before the election?—Yes; what had been paid before that I do not know; it was represented to me that whatever was coming to these men, it was placed in my hands, and they were to be satisfied. I said, "If that "is the case, and as it is only part, whatever there is "coming to them to be paid by me, they should have "it."

29,139. You were deputed to give the money over

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

R. Peat.

11 Sept. 1866.

to these men after they voted?—That was the way it was put to me. The names are Amos Sarjeant, John Lane.

29,140. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were all paid 5*l.*?—Either by one or the other.

29,141. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were each of these men paid the 3*l.* 10*s.* on the night of the polling?—To the best of my recollection the whole of them were on the night of the polling.

29,142. (The Chief Commissioner.) We can put them in one class as men who received 3*l.* 10*s.* from you on the night of the polling; now for the names?—Amos Sarjeant; you have John Lane, James Peat, Henry Child, George Brewer, Joseph Hewett, James Marchant, John Fuller, and William Wood. Altogether there are nine names, I think.

29,143. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Each of those had 3*l.* 10*s.* on the night of the polling?—Yes.

29,144. At the "Plough"?—Yes.

29,145. Had you paid to either of those men that you can recollect, the two weeks wages before?—I had.

29,146. Can you tick off any of those names now? Amos Serjeant; do you think you had paid him the 30*s.* before?—The two 15*s.* would make the 30*s.* I do not know whether I paid him or not, or whether Jordan paid him; I could not say that.

29,147. You cannot speak for certain with respect to these men except with regard to the 3*l.* 10*s.*?—I could not.

29,148. Are there any names you can remember?—James Peat, I paid 15*s.* twice to, and the same to Henry Child.

29,149. Those two you paid the 15*s.* to?—Yes. Joseph Hewett, if not two weeks, I paid him something; and I believe I paid Marchant and Fuller, but I would not be certain. William Wood I paid another 15*s.* to.

29,150. Do you not know from Jordan or from these men that when you had paid them the 3*l.* 10*s.*, they had each received 5*l.*?—I cannot say, but I had every reason to believe they had.

29,151. You know that was the arrangement with Jordan that the money should come up to 5*l.*, and that the 3*l.* 10*s.* was the balance of the 5*l.*?—That is what I understood, though it was not clearly stated.

29,152. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me, if you please, the money you received from Jordan?—Yes.

29,153. Did you ascertain from Jordan who it was had handed over the money to him?—I did not, and I did not see the money paid.

29,154. Besides the money which you paid over to other people, what money did you receive for your own services?—During the election, or at the winding up?

29,155. The whole, if you please?—I think I had nothing for my services while it was going on, or there might be half-a-sovereign or something like that which I received from Mr. Jordan to pay my current expenses.

29,156. After the election was over, did you make any application to Mr. Hart?—I did.

29,157. Did you send any written account to him?—I did. I saw an advertisement in the paper that all claims should be sent, and I merely sent in a note. He sent word back that I was to send in a bill.

29,158. Which you did?—Yes.

29,159. What was the amount of it?—12*l.* 10*s.* was what I put down.

29,160. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For yourself?—That was for myself, and a little I had been out of pocket was included.

29,161. I suppose you promised Mr. Monson?—I promised Mr. Monson; he had called on me in the first instance, during the time of the election.

29,162. (The Chief Commissioner.) You first of all sent in a claim for 12*l.* 10*s.*; that was altered?—It was cut down to 10*l.*, which I received.

29,163. Was an alteration literally made on the note; the 12*l.* 10*s.* was altered into 10*l.*, or else did you send in a fresh account?—It was altered into 10*l.* I think.

29,164. I only asked, as it looks as if it was altered into 10*l.*?—Yes; that is the bill I sent to the best of of my recollection.

29,165. You are quite welcome to see it?—(it was handed to witness). Yes, that is it; it has been altered.

29,166. It looks as if it had been scratched. Now, will you tell me if you received any other money, either for yourself or for the purpose of paying out?—No, I did not.

29,167. Did you receive any other money from any other person besides Mr. Hart?—I did not receive the 10*l.* from Mr. Hart, I received it from Mr. Nichols.

29,168. You sent it in a note, I suppose?—Yes.

29,169. Did Mr. Hart see it first and, put his initials to it?—Most likely he did.

29,170. After you sent it in to him, was it sent to you to take to Mr. Nichols, or did it find its way to Mr. Nichols?—It found its way to Mr. Nichols without my help.

29,171. Did Mr. Hart tell you that Mr. Nichols was to be paymaster?—I do not think he did.

29,172. Please to tell us how you knew you were to receive it from him?—One day I went to see Mr. Hart, and he was not within. I walked across to Mr. Nichols, he told me I was to come over to him. I called more than once at Mr. Hart's.

29,173. Did you find the bill at Nichols's?—Yes.

29,174. I want to see whether the bill did find its way to Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

29,175. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You put the stamp on at Mr. Nichols's?—Yes; and then I received the money.

29,176. (The Chief Commissioner.) You received no more money at that election?—No.

29,177. I suppose you cannot well have forgotten it if you did receive it?—I feel pretty well sure that I did not.

29,178. I am not aware that you have done so. I am not in the least endeavouring to entrap you?—No, no; no more do I wish to withhold anything.

29,179. Tell me about the election of 1863?—There is one matter you have not asked me yet with respect to this election, which I wish to mention, and that is, in the course of canvassing. I spoke to a man about his vote; I held out no promise to him, nor led him to believe that he was going to receive 6*d.* On the afternoon of the polling day, I saw him again and asked him had he voted. He said he had not. I said, "Will you go with me?" and he said he would do so. He never asked me for anything, nor did I promise him, and he went of his own free will.

29,180. Who was that?—Richard Burge. Afterwards when I found there was plenty of money being paid, I thought it was rather a hard thing that he should go off without anything, and I gave him 2*l.* I made no acquaintance with him, and paid him out of my own pocket, and as that may come out in the evidence, I wish to state it now as it may save further trouble.

29,181. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose that really made your bill up to 12*l.*?—Yes, I suppose so, but as I had had a great deal from Mr. Hart, sometimes I got somewhat careless about it.

29,182. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you took in your bill for 12*l.*, did you inform him that was 10*l.* for your services and 2*l.* out of your own pocket?—No; I put it down in one lump.

29,183. Then when they objected to the 12*l.*, you struck it off?—Yes; I did not make any bother about it.

29,184. Where did Burge live?—In Bridge-road, Redhill.

29,185. (The Chief Commissioner.) I daresay in 1863, you took some part in the election?—Not much.

29,186. You were on the committee?—I was on Mr. Gower's committee.

29,187. Did you vote for him?—I did. I was canvassed by Mr. Gower and Mr. Nichols, and I was asked by Mr. Nichols if I would go on the committee.

29,188. Did you canvass for him after you had been canvassed?—Yes; of course I was not a professional canvasser, I did it as I had time.

29,189. Did any money pass through your hands in 1863?—No.

29,190. Did you give your services to him for many weeks, and attended several meetings?—For many weeks I attended several meetings at the "White Hart," and I went through the list in the usual way of business.

29,191. What did you receive on that occasion?—3*l.* from Mr. James Nichols two or three weeks after the election was over.

29,192. No more?—No, and I gave him no account.

29,193. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You sent in no account?—No, none whatever.

29,194. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now, we will go back a bit further yet to the previous election, the general election between Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson?—I was not on the register.

29,195. Had you not been on the register at all?—I had not.

29,196. Was 1863 the first time?—Yes, of my election experience, and I hope this will be my last.

29,197. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you at the "White Hart" after the triumphal return of Mr. Gower in 1863?—I was.

29,198. You celebrated the return?—Well, I celebrated it with a plate of cold beef, or something of that sort.

29,199. Were you not there the night after when there was a great deal of shouting, and drinking, and speechifying?—No.

29,200. You were not there on the night of the triumph?—I was there in the course of the evening, but not when there was any speechifying.

The witness withdrew.

JAMES WOODMAN recalled and examined.

J. Woodman.

29,201. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were examined here this morning?—Yes.

29,202. You have been thinking about the case since, that I daresay something has occurred to your mind; has anything occurred to your recollection which did not when you were questioned before?—No, not that I know of.

29,203. I am asking you about your recollection; we have had another gentleman up here, and I pray you to call upon your recollection?—I have got no recollection of anything more than I told you this morning.

29,204. Tell me whether you were canvassed at all on the Gower side?—No, I was not.

29,205. Do you know a man named Pelling?—Yes, Peter Pelling.

29,206. I ask you, did he not canvass you on the part of Mr. Gower?—No, he came and tried me, but he never canvassed me.

29,207. That is what I asked you?—He asked me.

29,208. But that is canvassing?—He did not canvass me.

28,209. Do not play with words, you will get the worst of it if you do. He came to you and asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

29,210. That is canvassing?—He came to me of course.

29,211. Did he come to your house?—He came to my house, where I live now.

29,212. I asked you if any one had called. Did he tell you from whom he came?—Yes.

29,213. From whom did he say he came?—By Mr. Durrant's orders.

29,214. You knew Mr. Durrant before that?—Yes.

29,215. You used to have your beer from him?—I used to rent under him.

29,216. And you had your beer from him?—Yes.

29,217. Now, I will ask you this; did you not ask Peter Pelling how much he could give you?—No.

29,218. Now, mind; did you not add, "You know "Pelling this is the last vote I shall have for Reigate, "and I shall vote for the biggest handfull"?—No, I did not.

29,219. Remember, these are men who are now living. Did you not say words to him to that effect, that it was the last time you would have to vote for Reigate, and that you would vote for the biggest handful?—No, I did not; I deny that.

29,220. Who was present?—No one who was near to us that I know of; I was very busy hay-making, and he came and helped me.

29,221. He came and helped you?—He did help me while he was there.

29,222. You had voted for Mr. Gower before, had you not?—Yes.

29,223. At the previous election?—Yes.

29,224. What did you say to Pelling?—I did not give him any answer at all.

29,225. You must have said something, he came from your landlord and brewer, Mr. Durrant?—I did not give him any satisfaction.

29,226. I did not say you did; you must tell us what he said to you; he will be called, and you will be re-called again, if necessary. What did you say to him; you say that he wanted to help you make the hay, how long was he helping you making the hay?—He might be there an hour or two.

29,227. What did you say to him?—I cannot recollect everything I said to him.

29,228. He said that he was sent by Mr. Durrant to you to canvass you on behalf of Mr. Gower; what did you say to him?—I do not recollect exactly what I said.

29,229. Did you not say to him that you knew it would be the last time you would have a vote for Reigate?—Not to my recollection.

29,230. You knew it was the last time you would have a vote?—I was there, because I understand since that I had no business to vote then.

29,231. Did you not say it to him?—I do not know, I cannot recollect.

29,232. You cannot tell me what he said to you, can you recollect what you said to him?—I know I gave him no satisfactory answer.

29,233. Can you tell me what you recollect you said to him?—I cannot give you the words.

29,234. Tell me the substance?—I cannot.

29,235. Have you no recollection?—Very little.

29,236. Give us that little?—He asked me simply about my coming on their side; I said, "Well, I do not know, I have not made up my mind now."

29,237. What did he say?—I do not know; I forget.

29,238. Why should you say to him you had not made up your mind?—I do not know; I had not exactly made up my mind.

29,239. Did you see Mr. Durrant during the polling day?—Not till after the polling was over.

29,240. That is, during the day?—Yes, but not till after polling was over.

29,241. You polled about 2 o'clock? where did you see him?—I know I saw him in the town somewhere; I do not know exactly where.

29,242. Had you any conversation with him?—Most likely I had, something was said, I do not exactly recollect what.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

J. Woodman.

11 Sept. 1866.

29,243. Do you recollect what passed between you and Mr. Durrant?—No.

29,244. Do you remember anything you said to him about your vote?—No, I do not recollect it.

29,245. You voted against his party?—Of course I know I did.

29,246. Did you not say to him I have done better Mr. Durrant?—No.

29,247. Come, come, did you not say, "I have "done better than with your side?"—No.

29,248. What did you say?—I did not say that, I know.

29,249. You tell me what you did not say. I want to know what you did say?—I said but very little.

29,250. What was that little?—I do not know, there was nothing said about the election.

29,251. What was that little?—I do not recollect.

29,252. Have you any recollection about it?—There might be a talk to say what a majority there was, what a difference or something like that.

29,253. Did you not say to him, "I have done better than with you?"—I do not recollect that I said any such thing.

29,254. Might you have said it?—I have no recollection at all.

29,255. Might you have said such a thing?—I think not.

29,256. Why?—Because I think I had no reason to say such a thing.

29,257. If you should hear Mr. Durrant depose to it in this box, upon his oath, what would you say?—I would take the man's word.

29,258. Do you not believe that you said something of that kind?—I cannot recollect it.

29,259. Do you not believe that you said something of the kind?—If I did I do not recollect it. I do not and cannot believe it. I do not think the words ever passed out of my mouth.

29,260. You might have said it in joke?—I do not recollect it.

29,261. Your memory is very defective?—It is so, worse luck. I do not want to speak an untruth if I know it.

29,262. Did you see James Apted the evening after you voted?—What evening?

29,263. The evening of the polling?—I do not recollect that I did.

29,264. After you polled?—I think not, I have no recollection of it.

29,265. What time did you leave the town?—I cannot say exactly.

29,266. What time?—I cannot say, I got home before dark, I think. I know after I polled I had two or three drinks with one and the other, and I did not get back to Green's very soon, and of course I did not get away very soon.

29,267. You do not know what time you left Green's?—I do not know, I cannot say. I know that when I got home I had had quite enough to drink.

29,268. Then you might have forgotten what had occurred?—I might have forgotten. I know I was a little the worse for it when I had had a drink at different places.

29,269. Were you the worse for drink before you polled?—I was very well before I polled. I went after and had a drink with one and another, and I recollect seeing Mr. Durrant, but I do not think there was anything of that passed, but I will not say.

29,270. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You knew as a fact that Pelling came by Mr. Durrant's orders?—I understood that he came by Mr. Durrant's orders.

29,271. You recollect enough of the conversation between you and Pelling as to remember that?—I recollect that, of course, for he told me Mr. Durrant sent him.

29,272. Having recollected that, was it not a very likely thing that when you saw Mr. Durrant you should have spoken to him about it?—This was a long time after that, it was polling day.

29,273. Was it not a very natural course for your speaking to Mr. Durrant about Pelling?—I never spoke to Mr. Durrant about Pelling. I do not know that I mentioned the election.

29,274. Was it before or after you polled that you saw Mr. Durrant?—After.

29,275. Was it before or after that you had taken too much?—After polling.

29,276. How soon did you get drunk after polling?—I was not drunk, I had a drink.

29,277. How soon after you had polled did you have a drink?—I had some directly.

29,278. What time in the evening was it that you saw Mr. Durrant?—It was after the polling was over, I believe, but I cannot say.

29,279. Some time after the polling was over?—It might have been 6 o'clock or it might have been 5 o'clock. I cannot say.

29,280. A man, if he makes his mind up to it may take a good deal in an hour?—Of course he can.

29,281. Do you know that your intellect was not so clear that you could recollect what took place between you and Mr. Durrant?—I do not remember. I remember seeing him.

29,282. All this might have taken place without your remembering it?—It might have done so.

29,283. You began drinking directly after you had voted?—I had a drop of drink directly after I came out.

29,284. What time did you poll?—About 2 o'clock, or between 2 and 3 o'clock.

29,285. Then in fact you might have been drinking for two or three hours?—I cannot say.

29,286. You were on the losing side?—Yes.

29,287. Then if you had said to Mr. Durrant that you had done better by going on that side to being on Mr. Gower's side, it could not have been with reference to the success of your candidate?—In what way?

29,288. It could not be with reference to the success of the election of your candidate?—I know I voted on the losing side, and I told you the reason.

29,289. If you did say to Mr. Durrant I have done better by going on the other side, it must have had reference to something else?—I do not recollect it.

29,290. Would it not naturally have reference to money matters?—It might have done so, but I have got no recollection of it.

29,291. Now you say it might have done; why should it have had reference to money matters?—In the way you put it, of course it would, but I do not say it is so.

The witness was ordered to leave the box until Peter Pelling had been examined.

P. Pelling.

PETER PELLING sworn and examined.

29,292. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—I am a baker.

29,293. Here in this town?—On the freehold.

29,294. What is the rent that you pay?—35*l.* a year where I am living now.

29,295. What in '65 at the time of the election?—10*l.* 8*s.*

29,296. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay by the week?—By the week; 4*s.* a week.

29,297. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did you vote for?—For Mr. Gower.

29,298. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) On what terms were you for quitting the tenancy? was it a weekly tenancy or for the month?—For the month, I believe. I never had any written agreement.

29,299. What was the understanding between you and your landlord as to your notice to quit?—A month's notice.

29,300. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you take an active part for Mr. Gower?—Well, I do not know.

29,301. You canvassed and all that sort of thing?—Yes.

29,302. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

29,303. Then I will say that you took an active part in the election. You made use of your horse and cart to go about with I believe?—I had no horse and cart.

29,304. You did canvass some people, did you not?—I did canvass two or three people. I asked them.

29,305. That is what I meant by canvassing. Did you ask them to go your side?—Yes.

29,306. Among others, did you know James Woodman?—Yes, I knew James Woodman.

29,307. At the time of the election he was living away from Reigate at a distance of four or five miles, was he not?—Yes.

29,308. Do you recollect calling upon him previous to the election?—Yes.

29,309. There was haymaking going on, was there not?—Yes, there was.

29,310. Did you go out there?—Yes.

29,311. Where was he when you got to the place?—He was out in the meadow.

29,312. I believe you asked him about the election?—Yes, I did. I was sent to do so.

29,313. Was Mr. Durrant the person who sent you?—Yes.

29,314. Tell me as nearly as you can what you said to him. Did you say to him, You will go with us, or anything of the kind?—I went to ask him. I told him I was sent by Mr. Durrant, and if he chose to come and vote for Mr. Gower he should be paid for his time and his expenses.

29,315. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was some distance away was he not?—I do not know exactly, but it is five or six miles.

29,316. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did he say to you in effect?—I do not know the words.

29,317. I do not want the exact words. What sort of things did he say; tell us the substance of it?—He said it would be the last time he should have a vote. He said he would not promise it would be the last time he should have a vote, and he would do what he could.

29,318. Did he say, "as it was" or "this was" the last time he should have a vote?—I do not remember which.

29,319. Do you recollect his saying anything more to that effect, or about that?—No, I do not recollect anything more.

29,320. Do you recollect an expression being used, perhaps you do not, but do you remember his saying that he would try to get the biggest handful?—Well, I suppose that was the meaning.

29,321. So it was, but do you think he used that expression; do you recollect that expression?—I have no recollection that he said the "biggest "handful."

29,322. But that he would do the best he could?—Yes.

29,323. What did you say to that?—I told him it had nothing to do with me; I was sent down with a message, and I delivered the message I was sent with.

29,324. Do you remember telling him, when he said he should do the best he could, that at any rate his expenses would be paid?—Yes, I told him that.

29,325. Do you recollect whether Woodman said anything more than that?—I do not recollect.

29,326. Do you recollect any sum being mentioned by Woodman? Did he ask you at all anything about a sum?—No, I do not remember that he asked me about any sum.

29,327. Do you know whether a sum of 5*l.* was mentioned?—He said, "I suppose it will be about "5*l.*" I said, "I do not know, but I do not suppose "that will be far off the mark."

29,328. Did you then leave him, and was that all so far as you recollect that passed about the election?—I do not recollect anything else.

29,329. Did you stay there a little time?—Yes, about an hour or an hour and a half.

29,330. Then you came away. Was there anything more definite than that?—No more than that when I came away he told me he should see David Durrant himself.

29,331. I want to get it from you rather than to put it in your mouth?—Then you have got it now.

29,332. Did you go to many people to get other votes?—Not a great many.

29,333. Did you succeed in getting any votes?—No, not many; I think I took two names to Mr. Durrant.

29,334. Which two?—One was a person named William Pooley.

29,335. Who else did you get?—William Razzell.

29,336. Where does William Razzell live?—On the freehold.

29,337. Did you offer them 5*l.*?—I told them that they should have from 3*l.* to 4*l.* if they worked for it.

29,338. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you understand from Woodman that he was asking for money?—I thought that was it. I did not know.

29,339. That was what you understood by it?—Yes.

29,340. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any money at all to pay any people?—No, not to voters; I did not.

29,341. I mean voters, I do not care about other people?—I do not recollect that I did.

29,342. Were you authorized to pay any money out of your own pocket to anybody on the understanding that you were to have it repaid you?—No, I do not remember it.

29,343. Did you pay money out of your own pocket to voters?—No, I do not think that I ever paid a shilling.

29,344. I dare say it is quite correct; but I want you to give me information about what went on. You went to Pooley, and you told him what Durrant had authorized you to tell him?—Yes, I was working with him.

29,345. When you went to Razzell's did you tell him what Durrant had authorized you to tell him?—He never authorized me to tell him anything; he told me to go that way.

29,346. You said you secured these voters?—Yes.

29,347. What did you promise; you made an arrangement with them?—No, I did not, I took them up to Mr. Durrant.

29,348. You introduced them to Mr. Durrant, and he arranged with them?—Yes.

29,349. You were at work with Razzell?—No, with Pooley.

29,350. Did Razzell tell you what the arrangement was with Mr. Durrant?—No.

29,351. Did Mr. Durrant tell you?—No.

29,352. And you did not in fact pay any money out of your own pocket?—Not to my knowledge. I do not remember that I did.

29,353. Mr. Durrant employed you entirely. You had nothing to do with any other committee man?—No, I had not.

29,354. How long before the election did he come to you to secure your help?—Six or seven weeks before, or five or six weeks. I cannot say exactly.

29,355. Before you set to work did he make any arrangement with you?—No.

29,356. Then you did not know what you were to receive?—No.

29,357. When were you paid anything?—I was paid some before the election and some after.

29,358. By Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

29,359. Or did he send any one to you?—No, he gave it me.

29,360. How much before the election?—I do not know how much before the election; but what I had before and after amounted to 3*l.*

29,361. Did that satisfy you; that is to say, had

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

P. Pelling.

11 Sept. 1866.

you sent in for any more than 3*l.*?—I had not sent in for anything.

29,362. You had not stated that you wanted something more than that?—No.

29,363. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You made no claim then?—No.

29,364. Who paid you?—Mr. Durrant.

29,365. (The Chief Commissioner.) In '63 had you voted?—I had no vote.

29,366. Was this your first election?—This was my first.

JAMES WOODMAN further examined.

J. Woodman.

29,367. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time in the day did you come into the town to-day?—A little before 11 or about 11 o'clock.

29,368. Where did you go first?—I went and put my horse up at the "Castle."

29,369. Where did you go next?—I came here.

29,370. Straight from the "Castle"?—Straight from the "Castle," I think.

29,371. Did you speak to anybody in the town before you gave your evidence here to-day?—No, I think not.

29,372. You are quite certain?—I cannot recollect anyone.

29,373. Do not tell me about not recollecting. I am speaking now of what happened to-day?—I do not recollect speaking to anyone.

29,374. If you tell me you do not recollect, I shall say at once that I believe you did speak to somebody. Did you speak to anybody in this hall about your evidence?—Before I came up?

29,375. Yes, we will take it first before you came up. Did you speak to anybody to-day about the evidence you could give before you went into the witness box?—No, I think not.

29,376. Will you swear you did not?—I will not swear.

29,377. Or that anybody spoke to you?—Perhaps you will be so good as to tell me the party.

29,378. I am putting you upon your oath. Who spoke to you?—I do not recollect any one.

29,379. Why did you answer so cautiously, you do not recollect?—Well, I could not answer.

29,380. Will you not swear as to a circumstance which happened this morning. Come now, remember you are speaking before all this Court?—If you will let me consider a few moments.

29,381. You do not want consideration about that?—I do. I do not think I spoke to anyone.

29,382. Do not hold yourself out as such a dull-pated man as that, that you do not recollect what took place this morning?—I do not recollect.

29,383. Will you swear that nobody spoke to you about the evidence you were to give this morning?—No one ever spoke to me about my evidence, I think. I cannot recollect anything about it. When I came from the "Castle," I think I came over straight to these rooms.

29,384. Are you certain?—I cannot recollect speaking to anyone.

29,385. After you had given your evidence did anyone speak to you about it?—Yes.

29,386. Who?—I saw Apted after.

29,387. Which Apted?—James.

29,388. Did you see anybody else?—I saw Green.

29,389. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where did you see Apted?—In the town.

29,390. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it Green of the public house?—Yes. I went there and had some dinner.

29,391. Who did you go with?—By myself.

29,392. Are you certain?—Yes.

29,393. Will you swear you did?—Yes.

29,394. From this Court?—I stood at the door outside and then walked down.

29,395. Who did you talk to at the door?—They were strangers to me. There were two I was talking to outside.

29,396. Did you go out of the Court with those strangers?—I went out by myself, I think.

29,397. How soon did these strangers speak to you?—While I was standing outside.

29,398. Did the strangers speak about your evidence?—They came and talked, and said "Some-"body had a long hearing." I said, "Would you "know the man if you saw him;" and they said, "It was you, I think."

29,399. Did you not have a conversation with them about your evidence?—I do not think so.

29,400. Was it only with James Apted that you had any conversation about your evidence?—I saw him after I left the Court.

29,401. Did you see him before?—No.

29,402. Have you seen him within this last week?—Not till to-day.

29,403. Are you able to swear to that effect?—Yes. I have not seen him, I think, for three weeks. I have not been up to Reigate till to-day.

29,404. Why did you hesitate, and could not recollect whether you had seen anybody before you came into Court?—I could not recollect. I think I came right away from Green's up to the rooms.

29,405. What took place between you and James Apted?—He said, "Why are you up here? I am sur-"prised to see you here; have you been up to have a "hearing?" I said, "Yes, and I have got to go again."

29,406. Anything else?—No, I do not think there was anything else in particular.

29,407. Where did you see Apted?—Close here, against the "Swan" yard.

29,408. You met him by accident?—Yes.

29,409. Do you see anybody in Court now with whom you have had conversation with regard to your evidence?—No.

29,410. Nobody?—No.

29,411. Do you recollect at all now why you voted for Mr. Monson at the last election; you heard what Mr. Pelling said?—Yes.

29,412. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you understand what Peter Pelling said?—I understood some of it, and I deny some of it.

29,413. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What part do you deny?—I can deny some of it.

29,414. Which part?—About what he said I said on several different points.

29,415. Tell me the points?—Several things were said that I never said, not to my recollection.

29,416. Tell me what the points are that you did not say?—I never said anything about 5*l.*

29,417. Will you swear that?—I never said anything about 5*l.*

29,418. Will you swear to that now?—Yes.

29,419. So you recollect now so well that you can positively say that?—I recollect that nothing was said about 5*l.*

29,420. But you will not swear that that did not take place about the 5*l.*?—I never said anything about the 5*l.*

29,421. Will you swear that you did not?—Yes.

29,422. You will?—Yes.

29,423. You swear it?—Yes; I would not give him any answer either way.

29,424. That was not giving him an answer?—I think he is right when he said that I said I would see Mr. Durrant first; I did say I should see Mr. Durrant, but I did not see him until after the polling.

29,425. Who did you see who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I told you that James Apted was the man I saw.

29,426. Now, can you recollect what he was to give you?—Nothing.

29,427. Is that the only part of the conversation between you and Mr. Pelling which you are prepared to contradict, that part with regard to the 5*l.*?—I think so. I do not, in fact, understand everything that was said. What he said was right enough, that when he came to ask me which way I was going, I told him I should see Mr. Durrant, and I did not satisfy him.

29,428. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did see Mr. Durrant after the polling?—I met him somewhere in the town.

29,429. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you prepared to swear that you did not say this, that it would be the last time that you would have a vote, and that you should do your best?—I never recollect saying those words.

29,430. Will you swear you did not?—I do not recollect saying the words.

29,431. Will you undertake to swear you did not say those words?—I could not swear it, but I have got no recollection that I did say it.

29,432. Have you got such a recollection that you are prepared to swear and contradict him upon that point?—I would not swear it.

29,433. He may be right?—He may be right or wrong. I do not remember it. I recollect his saying, what should he tell Mr. Durrant, and I said I would see him.

29,434. Did you never see the strangers before who talked to you outside the Court after you went from here?—No, I went and spoke to one man I know of the name of Batchelor, but there was nothing said about election affairs to him.

29,435. I mean those who spoke to you; were they perfect strangers?—Perfectly. He did not know he was speaking about me, and I said, "Will you know "the man again if you see him?" There might be another party, but I cannot say.

The witness withdrew.

JOSEPH FINCH sworn and examined. J. Finch.

29,436. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A gardener.

29,437. What rent do you pay for your house?—I paid 16*s.* a month,

29,438. You paid by the month?—Yes.

29,439. With notice to quit, I suppose, by the month?—Yes.

29,440. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Monson.

29,441. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not know that anybody asked me to vote for Mr. Monson at all.

29,442. Did you work for Mr. Monson?—I did from the commencement.

29,443. Who was it asked you to work for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Nichols.

29,444. Where were you when he asked you to work for Mr. Monson?—I almost forget.

29,445. Was it at your own house or at the "Grapes"?—I think it was at the public hall in Reigate.

29,446. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He asked you to work for Mr. Monson, but not for your vote?—He did not ask anything about my vote, but whether I would go canvassing for Mr. Monson.

29,447. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What were you to work at?—He chiefly asked me to go canvassing.

29,448. Canvassing among the gardeners?—Anyone in Mead-vale.

29,449. Did you canvass?—I did.

29,450. And did you find that most of your friends about Mead-vale were canvassing for Mr. Monson?—I did so. I soon found that out.

29,451. When you went to one of your friends and said, "I have come to canvass you on the part of "Mr. Monson," I suppose he said, "Well, but I have "come to canvass you"?—He did not exactly say that, but there was some little chaff.

29,452. A little amusing chaff, I suppose, that you were all corporals and no privates?—I don't know.

29,453. I suppose you attended some of the committee meetings?—I did some.

22,454. What sort of committee meetings were they; were they meetings at which any real work was to be done?—Yes, there was at some of them; sometimes when I came to the "White Hart" I had to go to Warwick-town about three times, I attended at Mead-vale at Mr. Wallace's.

29,455. That was a private house?—It was a public meeting.

29,456. Was there plenty of good beer going?—Mr. Monson was there, there was some beer when the meeting was over, but Mr. Monson was gone when the beer came in.

29,457. The beer came in afterwards?—Yes; I used to come to the "White Hart" where I attended several meetings.

29,458. What were you to have?—I agreed to have 10*l.*, there.

29,459. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was for your work?—That was for my work for canvassing.

29,460. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you understand that was also for your vote?—I never promised my vote to anyone in my life.

29,461. Well, but did not you consider your vote engaged as a matter of honour?—No.

29,462. Who was to pay you?—Mr. Nichols.

29,463. Did he pay you?—Yes.

29,464. When did he pay you?—About a fortnight or three weeks after the election as nigh as I can tell.

29,465. Where did he pay you?—At his house; I called for it.

29,466. Were you canvassed at all by the Gower party?—Mr. Gower did himself canvass me.

29,467. Was that after you had made the agreement with Nichols?—It was.

29,468. What answer did you give to Mr. Gower?—I told him I could not promise him.

29,469. Did you tell him why?—No, I did not.

29,470. Was it only Mr. Gower who canvassed you?—Mr. Smith was with him at the time.

29,471. Did you tell Mr. Smith?—I never told either of them further, only that I could not promise.

29,472. What was your reason?—I never intended to vote for him.

29,473. You intended to vote for Mr. Monson?—Well, if I had not voted for Mr. Monson I should not have voted for Mr. Gower.

29,474. Was anybody else canvassing you on the part of Mr. Gower?—No, I believe they all knew I was in for Mr. Monson.

29,475. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

29,476. Was your name advertised as one of the committee?—I do not know, I never looked to see.

29,477. I suppose there was a long list?—Yes.

29,478. Each party had a long list of committee men?—Yes, I know there was; for I believe I saw them hanging up at the station.

29,479. You attended at the committee?—Yes.

29,480. And I suppose would not be surprised to see your name on the committee list?—No, I should not, everybody knew which way I was, I know I knew myself.

29,481. Was this the first time you voted?—No.

29,482. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

29,483. Who did you vote for then?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson, and canvassed for him No. 1 canvassing book, which I had, I think, from Mr. James.

29,484. What did you get for that?—I agreed to have 10*l.*, if we won the election, and I received 5*l.* of it.

29,485. Mr. Wilkinson was not successful?—He was not successful.

29,485. And you got half your pay?—I did.

29,487. I suppose you considered your vote was to go for that?—I never promised, and I never do; I would not promise my vote if I had it for 20 years.

EIGHTEENTH DAY.

J. Finch.

11 Sept. 1866.

29,488. You were to have 10*l.* if you won in 1863?—Yes.

29,489. You would not have been very ready to have voted for the opposite side?—I would not have worked for the opposite side.

29,490. To have voted for the opposite side would have made you run the risk of losing 10*l.* ; you might have run so close?—We did run close.

29,491. The 10*l.* did influence you a little, I suppose?—Not at all.

29,492. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not a bit?—No.

29,493. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The betting would have been very strong one way you see, it would be 10*l.* to nothing?—That would not signify.

29,494. You put that construction on it do you, well, we must put ours?—Very well.

29,495. Did you vote before?—Yes.

29,496. What election was that at?—I think I voted for Mr. Wilkinson three times to the best of my knowledge.

29,497. Did you work for him on each occasion?—The first time I did not, and the second he never came out.

29,498. Who did you work for then?—McCullock, but he chucked up.

29,499. And I am afraid you chucked up too ; what election are you speaking of?—I do not know what it was, perhaps 1859.

29,500. That was Monson and Wilkinson, on Mr. Monson becoming Lord Monson ; Mr. Wilkinson only came out at the last?—That was the election.

29,501. You did not work then?—No.

29,502. For either party?—No.

29,503. The time before that was in 1858, Mr. Wilkinson and the Honourable Edward Monson, did you work for Mr. Wilkinson then?—No.

29,504. Or the Monson party?—No.

29,505. Did you vote then?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

29,506. Did you get anything for it?—Nothing whatever.

29,507. Did you vote in February 1858 at the great Doulton election?—No, I had no vote.

29,508. Did you work then?—No.

29,509. Were you living here?—Yes.

29,510. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose you lived in the same house then?—No, but not far from the same spot ; I had no interest in the election then.

29,511. (The Chief Commissioner.) You got nothing except in the years 1863 and 1865?—That is all.

29,512. Who paid you in 1863?—Mr. James ; I made the arrangement with Mr. James ; it lasted eight or nine weeks.

29,513. In 1865 did you receive money from other people?—No, sir, none whatever.

29,514. Nor in the other elections?—No, sir, not one.

29,515. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you canvass any man successfully at the last election ; did you get his vote?—I asked some who had votes and found they had promised themselves before ; I do not consider I got anybody but myself. I called on a good many, and found some had promised and some had not.

29,516. And I suppose a good many called upon you?—I do not think any single individual called on me, and I do not remember being asked once except it was by Mr. Gower himself as I was going up to the post office.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Fielder.

JOHN FIELDER (examined on the 12th of August) recalled.

29,517. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are a baker?—Yes.

29,518. What rent do you pay?—12*l.* a year.

29,519. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

29,520. Were you on his committee?—I do not think I was.

29,521. Who canvassed you?—Mr. Mazden.

29,522. You have been examined before?—Yes.

29,523. We have been given to understand you have something to add to what you formerly said?—Nothing at all.

29,524. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were paid for your services after the election, 5*l.* by Mr. Smith?—Yes.

29,525. And 30*s.* by Mr. Mazden?—Yes, that is quite right.

29,526. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you want to add anything to your former evidence?—Nothing at all.

29,527. We were under the impression you had something further to say, is that so ; have you got anything further to say?—Nothing at all.

The witness then withdrew.

Adjourned until 11 o'clock the following morning.

NINETEENTH DAY.

NINE-TEENTH DAY.

Wednesday, 12th September 1866.

D. Durrant.

DAVID DURRANT sworn and examined.

12 Sept. 1866.

29,528. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A brewer.

29,529. Are you a freeholder, or did you pay rent?—I am a freeholder, it is an occupation.

29,530. It is the occupation for a freehold you had?—Yes.

29,531. And you voted last time for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

29,532. What is the value of the freehold?—I am rated at 22*l.*

29,533. What I want you to tell me is whether you know a man named Woodman?—Yes.

29,534. Do you remember sending Peter Pelling to him before the election?—Yes.

29,535. That was a short time before the election?—I cannot say, it might be a month.

29,536. I did not think it was so much?—Three weeks or a month, but I cannot say exactly.

29,537. We have been told that Pelling went over and came back, and I suppose he told you that he had been and seen him?—He was at my house to work there.

29,538. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Woodman said that he would see you himself?—Yes.

29,539. That was his message?—Yes.

29,540. (The Chief Commissioner.) What I want to know is whether he did see you himself?—No, he never saw me from that time till polling day ; in the evening after polling day I passed him on Cockshot-hill.

29,541. That was after the polling?—After the polling in the evening, I suppose it might be 5 o'clock.

29,542. Had you had any communication with him before?—No, I never saw him.

29,543. You might have had communication with him by letter?—No.

29,544. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien) He did not see you according to him?—No, he did not.

29,545. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you know till you saw him which way he had voted?—No; I asked him which way he had voted when I saw him.

29,546. Had you at any time previous to the election any communication with him about his vote?—No, I never spoke to him during the election.

29,547. But did you have any other kind of communication with him?—No.

29,548. He got his beer from you?—At the time he kept the "Barley Mow."

29,549. He did at this time too. Did you not supply him at this time with beer for his own consumption?—For his own consumption I did, but I think he has not had more than four four-and-a-halfs.

29,550. What I want to know is when he wanted beer you were the person who supplied him with it?—No, I believe he has his from Mr. Brown, he had not had beer from me for some time.

29,551. About the time of the election he was having his beer from you?—He was about the time, but not during the election, I do not think.

29,552. I do not mean during the election or the time he kept a public house, the name of which was the "Barley Mow," did you supply him with beer then?—Yes; it was my house.

29,553. How long had he given it up before the election?—He left it two years ago this Michaelmas.

29,554. Had he left two or three months before the election?—He left on the 2nd of October before the election.

29,555. It had been your house as well as your supplying him with beer?—Yes, it was.

29,556. (The Chief Commissioner.) What I want to know is at the time he left the "Barley Mow," had you got an account against him.—No.

29,557. Are you sure?—Yes.

29,558. Quite certain?—Yes, we squared everything up before he left the "Barley Mow." I have no recollection of any account on either side; I do not think there was, and I do not know what it could have been, because the man who came after he paid the valuation.

29,559. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Paid for the fixtures?—Yes, for the valuation of the place.

29,560. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then the account which you had for beer which you supplied him was taken by his successor?—He settled with George Nichols who keeps the house now; a valuation was made, and I believe Nichols paid Woodman.

29,561. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Woodman paid you?—He paid me.

29,562. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did Woodman pay you the beer score; are you quite sure of that?—He paid me what he agreed for the beer score.

29,563. At the time he gave up the house there was something due to you for beer which you supplied to him?—Not that I am aware of.

29,564. When were you paid for it?—Everything was paid at the time when he left the house, I believe.

29,565. Did he then pay you for some beer; his then running account?—Yes; everything was paid.

29,566. I want you to tell me of the beer in particular; had he paid you when he left, do you mean?—Yes, when he got out of the beer.

29,567. When he went out of the beer house if he was your tenant, I suppose he owed you something?—No, no, at a beer house of course there is always something to pay once a month.

29,568. How did he settle with you when he went out. He washed his hands clear when he went out, I suppose?—Yes.

29,569. How was that done, did he pay you over so much money to square all accounts?—I think the money was not paid, I think George Nichols was to go in at a valuation, and a valuation was taken and he paid the difference, or whether I had to pay money I do not know.

29,570. Why should you pay him money?—I do not know whether the valuation was more than what beer he used.

29,571. The valuation of the premises?—And fixtures.

29,572. I thought you said George Nichols took that of you?—Yes.

29,573. You would not have anything to do with that; that could not interest you if George Nichols said I will take the house as it stands and the fixtures, that would be an arrangement between him and Woodman, and you would have nothing to do with that?—I believe we went down and the thing was settled; all three were present.

29,574. You allowed the fixtures, if that is the case, to be handed over to Nichols, and Nichols paid I suppose for them?—Yes.

29,575. You say he paid that to Woodman?—He paid it to Woodman. I am not certain whether the money was paid or how that was, but the account was struck between us three; whether there was any money paid either way I do not know.

29,576. There may not have been money paid, it may have been left?—There was nothing left.

29,577. I dare say you can tell me by looking at the account what the fact is?—I dare say I can find out.

29,578. I should like it very much indeed. Now since the change of occupation of the "Barley Mow," have you had any settlement since, can you tell me, with Woodman?—Between me and Woodman.

29,579. Yes?—Only what has been had since.

29,580. No, I mean with regard to the "Barley Mow?"—No, because everything was settled for at the time.

29,581. Has there been no payment made by him for beer which you have provided him with since he went out?—No I have had money to pay him; he has had a cask of beer and I have had pigs of him and paid him the difference.

29,582. Then you do not understand that he said anything of the sort when he was seen by Peter Pelling. "You know this is the last vote I have got "for Reigate, and I shall take care to do the best I "can about it?"—That was the message Pelling brought to me.

29,583. That was the message Pelling brought to you?—It was.

29,584. Also that he would see Mr. Durrant about it?—It was.

29,585. Now from what has passed between you and Woodman you hardly understood that?—The reply I made to Pelling was, "Well, I will not trouble "any more after him, for he will be sure to go for "Mr. Monson."

29,586. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You thought at once it was no use troubling further about him?—From what he told me of the last election, that he would never vote for Mr. Gower again, I thought so; there was a little difference about paying his account with Mr. Smith, 2*l.* I think. Mr. Smith would not pay, and so he said he would never vote for Mr. Gower again.

29,587. You took his message then as a put off?—Yes.

29,588. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say that after the polling you met him on the hill?—Yes, he was going home, and I was going home.

29,589. Tell me what passed?—I spoke to him and I said, "I have not seen you the whole day," he said, "No, I have not been up for a great while," I said, "Who did you vote for?" and he answered me, "I "voted for Mr. Monson, you do not blame me, do you?"

29,590. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were on good terms with him; was he tipsy at all then?—Not that I am aware of.

NINETEENTH DAY.

D. Durrant.

12 Sept. 1866.

29,591. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you make any reply to that?—I said every man has a right to go where he thinks proper, if he has a good reason, and I went over the park and that was all that passed.

29,592. I will ask you this, are you aware of anyone on your behalf having made Woodman any offer for his vote at the last election?—No.

29,593. You are not?—No.

29,594. Not on your behalf?—No.

29,595. Did you in any way encourage anybody to do so?—I did not.

29,596. Did you make him any offer yourself?—I did not.

29,597. Or pay him any money?—All I said to Pelling was, that he should be paid for loss of time, and his expenses if he came to poll.

29,598. And you are not aware more than that of any offer at all being made either by you or anyone on your behalf?—No.

29,599. I think it is a promise you would recollect, I do not put it merely to you as a matter of recollection, but was there or was there not to your knowledge anything of the kind?—No, there was not; I do not know what was said.

29,600. You mean it may have been said without your knowledge, but was any such offer made to your knowledge?—Not to my knowledge.

29,601. You had not authorized anything at all beyond what you said to Pelling?—No, nothing more.

29,602. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I think if I recollect right that Pelling said that Woodman should refer to you?—Yes.

29,603. You did not see him between that time and polling day?—No.

29,604. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You do not know whether the opposite party had seen him?—No.

29,605. I mean you did not hear of it in the course of the election?—No, I did not; I never attended any meeting, and I never saw any of them

(The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Durrant, we have only called you for that particular purpose; perhaps we shall want to see you again, and you will consider this summons as still binding.

The Witness. Yes.

The witness withdrew.

T. Gilbert.

THOMAS GILBERT sworn and examined.

29,606. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rented house did you occupy when you were on the register?—18*l.* a year.

29,607. What are you?—A carpenter.

29,608. Where did you live when you were on the register?—On the freehold.

29,609. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

29,610. Did you occupy the whole house or let off part of it?—I let off two rooms.

29,611. What rent did you get for the lodgers?—3*s.* a week.

29,612. From each?—Yes, 3*s.* a week for the two rooms.

29,613. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee?—Yes.

29,614. Who was it that canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson himself.

29,615. Anybody else afterwards?—James Apted spoke to me.

29,616. You voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

29,617. When was it James Apted spoke to you?—I cannot tell when it was; it was about a week before the election Mr Monson came to me, and it was a day or two after that James Apted spoke to me; it was some time between Mr. Monson seeing me and the election.

29,618. You are Thomas Gilbert of Reigate park?—Yes.

29,619. Both Mr. Monson and James Apted went to you before the election?—Apted did not come to me with Mr. Monson, I met him in the street.

29,620. After you saw James Apted you voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

29,621. What were you to get for voting for Mr. Monson?—I was never promised anything.

29,622. There was no promise made, but what did you get?—Apted gave me a sovereign.

69,623. When James Apted canvassed you, did he say anything to you to induce you to come to his side, for Mr. Monson?—No; he did not canvass me in particular, he asked me if I would go his way, and I told him I thought I should.

29,624. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Before you polled then you got the sovereign?—Yes, on the morning of the polling day.

29,625. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Tell me what took place between you and Apted when you met him in the street?—Well, nothing particular was said.

26,626. Did he tell you anything of this sort, that if you voted for Mr. Monson you should be paid like the others?—He said I should be well paid my expenses most likely.

29,627. Was that all that was said by Mr. Apted with reference to future prospects?—I cannot say that he said even those words.

29,628. It was something like it?—Yes, something like it.

29,629. Did you have any further communication with Apted before you voted?—No.

29,630. Before you polled Apted came to you?—Yes.

29,631. He came in a carriage and took you to the poll?—No, we walked down.

29,632. What time did you poll?—Between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning.

29,633. When did Apted pay you the sovereign?—Before I polled.

29,634. Then what did you receive after?—Three months after I had 5*l.*

29,635. Then you had 6*l.* in all?—Yes.

29,636. Who paid you the 5*l.*?—James Nichols, and I gave him a receipt for that.

29,637. What did he say the 5*l.* was for?—I was ill at the time and I heard that he was paying people money, so I went to him and he gave me the 5*l.*

29,638. Did you tell him what you wanted it for?—I told him I had voted for Mr. Monson.

29,639. And it was with reference to that vote that he paid you the 5*l.*?—I consider it was.

29,640. What is your opinion about it?—If I had not voted for Mr. Monson I do not suppose I should have had it.

29,641. You never got 5*l.* from Mr. Nichols before?—No.

29,642. And you never expect to get any more, unless there is another election?—No.

29,643. Did you get anything from the Gower party?—No.

29,644. Were you not canvassed by the Gower party?—Only by Mr. Gower.

29,645. Who else came to you on the part of Mr. Gower?—I do not know.

29,646. Somebody saw you after Mr. Gower?—No, I merely saw Mr. Buckland, and he said he hoped I would go his way.

29,647. What did you say?—I told him I should.

29,648. Did not anyone speak to you on the part of Mr. Gower, about your going on his committee?—There was nothing said about it.

29,649. How long before the election did Mr. Buckland see you?—About a month before the election.

29,650. Before you had been seen by Mr. Monson?—Yes.

29,651. You did go on the committee of Mr. Gower?—No.

29,652. Was Mr. Buckland the only person for Mr. Gower whom you had seen with reference to the election?—I might have met persons in the street, they might have asked me about my vote.

29,653. Did you meet people in the streets?—I dare say I did many who would ask me which way I was going, but nothing particular was said only by Mr. Buckland.

29,654. Did not Mr. Buckland tell you that if you would go on Mr. Gower's committee, you should get paid for your services?—No, he did not say anything of the kind.

29,655. Did you expect that you would get paid for your services?—No.

29,656. Did you take any interest in the public papers?—Yes.

29,657. And the local papers?—Yes.

29,658. I suppose at the time of the election you took an interest in the local papers?—Yes.

29,659. And read them?—Yes.

29,660. Did you not see your name advertised as being on the committee for Mr. Gower?—I was not on the committee.

29,661. Did you not see your name in the paper?—It might have been.

29,662. Did you take steps to have it taken off?—No.

29,663. Why not?—I did not trouble myself about it, I did not attend the meetings.

29,664. Very likely not, but were you promised by Mr. Buckland, that if you went on the committee you should be remunerated?—No, I believe the reason my name was put on the committee was, that Mr. Smith and Mr. Joyes came to me and they said they should like to have my name on the committee, and I said there might be men on the freehold before the election.

29,665. How long after you had seen Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith did you see Mr. Buckland?—It might have been a fortnight afterwards.

29,666. Did you work in his neighbourhood?—Yes.

29,667. Have you any recollection whatever of the conversation further than what you have told us that took place between you and Mr. Buckland?—No.

29,668. Did you see Alexander Rose or any other man?—I have seen them.

29,669. Did they speak to you?—Nothing particular.

29,670. Or Job Apted?—No.

29,671. Or Joyes?—Joyes was with Mr. Gower when he came to me.

29,672. Did Joyes speak to you about going on the committee?—Nothing more than what I said to you.

29,673. Did you think it likely that if you went on the committee and worked you would be paid for your loss of time?—No.

29,674. Was anything said about loss of time?—Not that I know of, no more than rumours that if we did anything we should be paid.

29,675. Had you heard that rumour before you had seen Mr. Buckland?—I do not know when I heard that rumour.

29,676. It was before you had seen Mr. Monson or James Apted?—Yes.

29,677. Did you treat the report that you had heard merely as an idle rumour without substance?—No, not without substance.

29,678. You thought there might be some substance in it?—Yes.

29,679. Suppose you had left your name on the committee to vote for Mr. Gower, would you have expected to have come in for that substance?—I might have been paid for my trouble.

29,680. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know Mr. Tyrrell?—He is my employer.

29,681. He spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—I think he asked me once.

29,682. Did he tell you you should be paid for your time and trouble?—No.

29,683. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Tyrrell speak to you before?—I told him I was going for Mr. Monson, and he said I hope you will.

29,684. That is after you saw Apted?—I do not know.

29,685. Had you made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson before you saw James Apted?—I think I had.

29,686. When was it you made up your mind to vote for Mr. Monson; when you saw Mr. Monson?—I told Mr. Monson I should vote for him.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE BOWRING sworn and examined.

G. Bowring.

29,687. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

29,688. What rent did you pay for the house out of which you voted?—12*l.* a year.

29,689. Do you live in Reigate?—Yes.

29,690. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Richardson.

29,691. You voted among the 10 or 12?—Yes.

29,692. For whom were you to have voted if Mr. Richardson had not been put up?—For Mr. Monson.

29,693. Who advised you to vote for Mr. Richardson?—No one.

29,694. Did you know why Mr. Richardson was put up?—No.

29,695. We have heard he was put up because there might be a petition against both the other candidates, and he would be the pure candidate?—Yes.

29,696. You were on Mr. Monson's committee, I suppose?—Yes.

29,697. And worked hard on it, I understand?—I do not know that I did.

29,698. You canvassed a good many?—No, I did not.

29,699. You spoke to a good many?—No.

29,700. Did you not go about speaking to them and asking them to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

29,701. Not to any?—Yes, to some.

29,702. Tell us who?—I canvassed one man named George Beale.

29,703. Give me another?—I do not know of anyone else that I canvassed in particular. I might have spoken to one or two.

29,704. That is what we call canvassing. Tell me the names?—I recollect speaking to a man of the name of Smith, who canvassed a man of the name of Fuller.

29,705. Did you not canvass him?—No.

29,706. I want to know the names?—These were the only two I had anything to do with.

29,707. Did you attend several meetings?—I went to several meetings.

29,708. Were you the chairman of the meetings?—No.

29,709. What money did you receive?—I received 10*s.*

29,710. For all that work?—Yes.

29,711. Who paid you?—Mr. Nichols, and I did not ask him for that. I did not expect anything; in fact, I had never done anything to receive it.

29,712. When did you receive the 10*s.*?—I cannot say; it might have been a month or six weeks before the election, and Nichols gave it to me, and he did not say what it was, nor did I ask him.

29,713. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. Nichols gave it you, and you voted for Mr. Richardson?—Yes.

29,714. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He gave you 10*s.* before you were on the committee?—I do not know whether I was on the committee.

29,715. Why should Mr. Nichols give you 10*s.*?—I do not know.

29,716. You are too respectable a man to suppose that Mr. Nichols would give you 10*s.* as a gift or in charity?—I did not ask him for it.

29,717. There was no occasion to ask him?—No.

29,718. Was that all you received before the election?—Yes.

NINETEENTH DAY.

G. Bowring.

12 Sept. 1866.

29,719. What did you receive after?—Nothing at all.

29,720. How many committee meetings did you attend?—Three or four.

29,721. Were there refreshments?—There were refreshments.

29,722. Of course you partook of them?—I did, and I paid for them.

29,723. Surely not out of the 10*s.*?—I do not know that it had anything to do with the 10*s.*

29,724. When you canvassed Beales what did you say to him?—I asked him which way he was going. He was ill at the time, and I told him in the first instance when I called upon him, that he was not to be in a hurry, and that if there was anything going or anything to be got he had better have it.

29,725. If anything was going that he had better have his share?—Yes.

29,726. For whom did he vote?—Mr. Gower.

29,727. Did he ask you how much it was?—He did not ask me anything. He wanted to know what he could get in effect, and I told him that he should have 5*l.*, but he wanted more than that.

29,728. I knew that you told him he should have 5*l.*?—Yes, I did.

29,729. That was not enough for him?—No, he wanted more.

29,730. What did he say?—I offered him 2*l.* 10*s.*, and I told him he should have the other 2*l.* 10*s.* before he polled.

29,731. When you say you offered 2*l.* 10*s.* to him, you had it in your hand?—Yes.

29,732. Where did you get the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—It was my own money; but I should have got it back from Mr. Nichols if the man had taken it.

29,733. You were authorized by Mr. Nichols to take 2*l.* 10*s.*?—I was authorized by Mr Holdsworth.

29,734. You were not authorized to offer your own money; it was only generous men like Mr. Spence who did that?—Mr. Holdsworth authorized me to offer it.

29,735. Beales refused it, and would not have it?—Yes.

29,736. How much did he want?—He did not ask for any particular amount; he thought about 7*l.*

29,737. You knew very well that bribery was going on?—I knew money was parted with, but he was the only one I had anything to do with, with respect to offering money.

29,738. He was the only man you canvassed?—Yes, he was.

29,739. Did you tell Mr. Nichols you had offered him 5*l.*?—I told him I had seen him, and what offer I had made him, and he said "Let him wait."

29,740. Did you tell that in committee?—No, I told it to Mr. Nichols himself.

29,741. And to Mr. Holdsworth, I presume?—Yes, and to Mr. Holdsworth as well.

29,742. You have not voted at any former election?—No.

29,743. I forget what rent you pay?—12*l.*

29,744. Have you not since had any present of any kind made to you?—No, not a halfpenny.

29,745. No consideration of any kind?—No, nothing whatever.

29,746. You know what I mean, any consideration of any kind?—No, nothing at all.

29,747. Were you not to have something if you got any votes?—No.

29,748. It may be my stupidity, but I can hardly understand a respectable man like yourself going with your own money in your pocket to others for the benefit of somebody of whom you knew nothing; were you not to get some money, or was it for the love of canvassing and spending your own money and bribing people? Were you not to get anything?—No.

29,749. Did you not expect anything?—No, I did not.

29,750. Do I understand you rightly that you went about canvassing these men and ready to advance your own money?—That was the only money I advanced.

29,751. You were ready to advance to others if you had known them, were you not?—No.

29,752. You were ready to advance money to this man; why did you canvass him?—He was a man who worked in the same place as I did, and he was laid up at that time.

29,753. Why should you advance your own money if you did not expect anything?—I should have it again from Mr. Holdsworth.

29,754. That would be no advantage to you, why should you do it for Mr. Holdsworth or Mr. Nichols?—I do not know I had any reason to do it.

29,755. It was a loss of time?—No, it was in the evening.

29,756. You say you expected nothing?—No, I did not expect anything.

29,757. That was after you received the 10*s.*?—Yes.

29,758. Was not the 10*s.* merely an earnest of what you were to have, a first instalment?—It was all I received.

29,759. Were you not to have received 5*l.*?—No.

29,760. Or as much as the others?—No.

29,761. Why should not you get it as well as Beale?—Perhaps I might have if I had asked for it, but I did not ask for it.

29,762. You had seen Mr. Nichols afterwards?—Yes, I have seen him on many occasions.

29,763. You did not get Beale, Beale disappointed you?—Yes, I never went to him after.

29,764. He voted on the other side, for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

29,765. Did you know that Mr. Nichols was paying money to other people?—I had heard say so.

29,766. You knew that?—Yes.

29,767. For whom did you work?—Mr. Thornton.

29,768. Are you in constant work?—Yes.

29,769. You received no consideration of any kind whatever?—None whatever.

29,770. I suppose you were in no way indebted to Mr. Nichols?—No.

29,771. Was it Mr. Nichols who came to you first?—No.

29,772. Who came to you first?—Mr. Monson came himself.

29,773. I do not mean Mr. Monson; did anybody else come to you?—No.

29,774. (The Chief Commissioner.) You voted for Mr. Richardson. Was it Mr. Nichols who was paying Mr. Richardson's bills?—I do not know anything about that. I never heard anything about any money being paid about Mr. Richardson's election.

29,775. You got 10*s.*?—Yes. I did not know what it was for. When Mr. Nichols gave it to me he never said anything to me about what it was for, and I never asked him.

29,776. You did not ask him what it was for?—No.

29,777. If you had not voted for Mr. Richardson you would have voted for Mr. Monson; what made you go to Mr. Nichols?—I did not go to Mr. Nichols.

29,778. When did you see him?—I had the 10*s.* some time previously to the election.

29,779. At the time you were paid that 10*s.* was Mr. Richardson in the field?—No, not then; it was not thought of.

The witness withdrew.

J. Bell.

JOHN BELL sworn and examined.

29,780. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Bell?—A carpenter now.

29,781. What were you at the election?—The same thing.

29,782. What rent did you pay?—That is included in my wages. I live under Mr. Linnell, and have done so for many years; the cottage is the entrance to Mr. Linnell's premises.

29,783. What is the cottage worth?—It would be worth more than it is rented to me; it is rented at 10*l.*

29,784. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

29,785. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower called upon me with his card, and then Mr. Webb, who is a neighbour of mine, told me that Mr. Gower wanted to see me, and I laid wait to see him. I was told he was coming to a meeting, and when he came by he asked me how I did. I said, "Quite well, and I hoped he was well," and then he asked me if I would vote for him, and I said, "Most "likely I should."

29,786. That was a good while before the election?—Yes, it was pretty near to the first start.

29,787. When you got a little nearer to the election who came and asked you again on behalf of Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower had to call on and see Oxtoby; he is a gardener. I went to tell him Mr. Gower would be seeing him, when he told me he had seen Mr. Gower; so we agreed to go ahead for him for his support.

29,788. Oxtoby and you?—Yes.

29,789. You agreed to go ahead for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

29,790. And your names were put on the committee?—No, we never heard anything more about that, we were rather more in the background, more private.

29,791. After that did you present yourself to any of Mr. Gower's friends, saying you wished to go ahead for him?—Some time after that I saw Mr. Frederick Joyes, and as he and I had been friends before on other elections I said I was on again, and he said, "All right."

29,792. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which Joyes do you mean?—Frederick, and we went ahead.

29,793. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did Joyes say to you then?—"All right," nothing more.

29,794. And you went on ahead?—Yes.

29,795. Was Frederick Joyes the only person who engaged you on that account at this time? Who did you see again of Mr. Gower's people?—No one in particular that solicited my vote.

29,796. Did not any of Mr. Gower's party encourage you a little to "go on," and talk to you about what you were doing?—No, we talked to one another. We used to talk a little as to any great success.

29,797. Who did you give an account to?—I did not say much about it, only to Oxtoby.

29,798. He was not above you at all?—No, but he was the only one I used to have any account in talking with; we had it over with ourselves how we were going on, what we were going to see, and so on; that is how we went at it.

29,799. Did you canvass much?—Well, I did a little; I tried all I could.

29,800. Did you attend any meetings?—I did, two or three.

29,801. Did you have plenty to eat and drink?—No we did not, for the meetings where we met were at the town hall.

29,802. But when you went to the meetings at the town hall did you get plenty to eat and drink after the meetings were over?—Not unless we paid for it.

29,803. I do not mean too much, but as much as you liked?—As much as we liked; not always, but while the election was going on.

29,804. Where did you get plenty to eat and drink?—We did not have any at first start, but on the morning of the election there was a breakfast.

29,805. I believe it began as early as half-past six, and went on until two?—I do not know that it went on so long as that, but it was very good while it lasted.

29,806. Never mind the breakfast, but did you get plenty of refreshment?—No.

29,807. Any drinking?—Very little; one night Oxtoby and me went into the town hall, and after that we went into "Thimble."

29,808. And "Nutmeg Grater"?—Yes, and had a glass.

29,809. Who paid for it?—I think Joyes paid for it, because we had him in; he was coming up to Reigate and we asked him in; there was but little, two or three pints, very little; I do not like public house beer at all, I generally get good home-brewed at home.

29,810. You think Joyes paid for it?—Yes.

29,811. Did you receive any money before the election?—No.

29,812. You did not?—No.

29,813. Before the election I am speaking of now; did you not expect some money before the election?—No; one night I was at the town hall, there were a lot of men outside who wished to have a drink of beer or something; I said to Mr. Joyes, "Give me "2*s.*" I went into the "Wheat Sheaf" and it was gone in two minutes.

29,814. Were you not looking for something before the election?—No, I was not looking for something; not before the election.

29,815. Not a little something, if it was only to keep you going?—No, I was not, for it was distinctly stated there would be nothing at all. Mr. Gower said he would have no public houses, but that those who worked and did all they could should be paid for it.

29,816. Where did he say so?—I did not hear it, but it was so said; I was told he had so said.

29,817. You did work hard, why was it then you did not get anything before the election?—I do not know, I am sure, why it should be; there was a great deal said about it, but all I know is that I did not get any more than the two shillings, there was a great narrative about it.

29,818. Can you tell me this, did Oxtoby get anything before the election?—No, sir.

29,819. He did some time after?—But he would have been much better paid if he had stuck down to his own work at home than had this paltry 2*l.* from Mr. Gower.

29,820. You know what Oxtoby got?—Yes, because I had mine at the same time.

29,821. Did you get it from the same person?—I did, the same night; I did not know I was to get anything, but Oxtoby told me he had got it from Frederick Joyes.

29,822. You were paid by Frederick Joyes?—Yes.

29,823. And you gave a stamped receipt?—Yes, I think it was a regular receipt.

29,824. It was a good while after the election you got the 2*l.*?—Yes.

29,825. Perhaps you do not know how long?—No.

29,826. About three or four months, or more?—I dare say; if you have got the receipt it would have the date.

29,827. Your evidence is so clear I would not stop you at all.

(The Witness.) Do you want anything more?

29,828. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you anything more to say?—I tell you what I got, I am sorry to say. On the day of the polling I was at the town hall and one of the wains went over my foot and I was laid up a cripple for six weeks; I was told to send in my bill to my member and he would pay me, but I did not, so I well remember the election.

29,829. You got nothing by that?—No.

29,830. I thought you said there was something you did get?—That was my punishment.

29,831. Now tell me, in 1863 you voted, did not you?—Yes.

29,832. I dare say you forget whom you voted for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

29,833. Were you on his committee, and doing your best at going ahead for him?—I did go ahead for him, but I was not on his committee at all.

29,834. Were you associated with Joyes then?—Yes, I was.

NINETEENTH DAY.

J. Bell.

12 Sept. 1866.

29,835. What did you receive that time ?—I do not think we had nothing at all.

29,836. You have got a very good memory and have told me everything so nicely so far, just tell me what you got, because it will save me trouble ?—I do not think we got anything, excepting it was public-house beer, which I did not like.

29,837. I am not saying that you drank too much of it; I don't mean that. Tell me, what did you get then, because Joyes knew exactly the kind of man you were, and the next time he handed you over money ?—I do not think I had anything that time.

29,838. Oh, yes; I think there was something ?—Had I known this inquiry was coming off I would have made a note of it.

29,839. There may be a mistake in the amount, but you can tell me whether you received anything ?—Not that time, I think.

29,840. Which is the most likely thing ?—What ?

29,841. That you did or did not, because in 1865 Joyes knew you very well, and knew what you had been doing, and he paid you in 1865. He would not treat you differently from what you had been treated before ?—I do not think I received anything at that time.

29,842. I wish you would try and recollect a little better about that. I rather suspect there is a mistake about it; only a mistake; nothing more ?—I know I was on. I voted for Wilkinson once or twice.

29,843. I am speaking of 1863 ?—I do not think I had anything then. I would tell you in a moment if I did.

29,844. I have no reason for thinking you would not. How many times have you voted for Wilkinson ?—I think I voted twice for him, and there was a sort of a ballot, a sort of a sham ballot affair.

29,845. At Doulton's election ?—Ah, there was at Doulton's election too.

29,846. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are asked about another election first; we can go back to that presently ?—Very good.

29,847. (The Chief Commissioner.) When there was a ballot for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

29,848. Was money pretty well going ?—I never had any, nor seed any pass.

29,849. You say you never had any of it ?—I heard there was money about, but I never see no money pass. I never see no money at all.

29,850. You did not get anything then ?—No.

29,851. That was the ballot time; did you vote for Wilkinson before that ?—Yes, I did.

29,852. And did you work for him then ?—I did.

29,853. On his committee ?—No, I was not on the committee at all.

29,854. But you went ahead pretty well ?—I did; I had reasons for it.

29,855. You did everything for it ?—I did the best I possibly could.

29,856. And who was it that set you on then ? Which of his agents ?—What, at that time ?

29,857. Yes ?—Well, Mr. Wilkinson came to me himself.

29,858. He canvassed you, no doubt, but after that you spoke to one of his agents ? His agents patted you on the back ?—I did not want any patting up. He knew I was honest.

29,859. Who was the agent that you referred to ?—Mr. Joyes.

29,860. Frederick Joyes ?—Yes; I got in on his side.

29,861. You worked together ?—I was acquainted with Frederick Joyes.

29,862. And you and he worked together ?—Yes.

29,863. Did you receive anything that time, before the election, for the polling ?—No, I did not.

29,864. Joyes did not say anything before the polling ?—I do not think I expected anything at all; there was never a word mentioned.

29,865. Now, after the polling was over and your work was done, what did you get ?—It was a long time afterwards, and I done all I possibly could for Mr. Wilkinson; I got a good many votes for him, and there was one man, William Church ——

29,866. I should like to know which had the first turn, Church or you ?—I had the first turn of him.

29,867. He is rather an eloquent man ?—I did not think much of him when I had the first go at him. How it was I came to fall in with him was this: Thomas Featherstone had been at him, and he said he might as well have 10*l.* from us as from anybody else. So I telled Church of Mr. Wilkinson's good principles, and winned him over, and I believe through that he got 18 or 20 votes. I thought when I got at him first, that if he did not do better at canvassing he would not do much.

29,868. He got 20 votes, and therefore if you got him you got 21 ?—I did.

29,869. Now what did you get that time ?—Well, a long time after that I was given to understand that Frederick Joyes had something for me, and it was 2*l.*

29,870. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was 2*s.* a head ?—Well, it was I think. The man that stood where I was yesterday, I never seed he with a wet hair on his head during the elections, and he got more money. I never seed he do much; I never seed he sweat a hair.

29,871. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How many days did you see Spence there in 1865 ?—I cannot say; but when I see him he was lopping about, never doing much.

29,872. Did you see him oftener than on the polling day ?—I did not see him on the polling day; but as I was about I seed him pretty well, because I understood he was well paid, and I thought he ought to have been more useful than he was.

29,873. Then it would not be true for him to say that he came up on the polling day ?—Oh, that was before he went to Brighton. Oh, 1865 ! I must call that back, then; I am speaking of 1863, Wilkinson's election.

29,874. (The Chief Commissioner.) You canvassed Church, and in consequence of coming over to you he got 18 or 20 votes ?—He did.

29,875. Tell me, as far as you know, did Church do that with anything besides his talk ? Did not he give them something ?—No, I cannot tell anything about that. I do not think that ever he had any money; I don't think he did. I never heard him tell anything of it.

29,876. No; but when he got the voters, who paid them ?—I won't say. I don't know.

29,877. At that election you got several voters; were you authorized to make them any promise ?—I did not, because I had no authority at all. I never offered anybody a penny.

29,878. Did not you tell them if they would vote where they would be paid for loss of time ?—No; I will tell you what I had done. Mr. Wilkinson is a well-known friend in Redhill, for let there be an accident of any kind, cripples, or anything of that sort, there was hand, and heart, and purse; and he would give where some would not give anything. He was a well-known friend, and all the people knew it, and they told me, if the fountain was pure there was no occasion to drink in the stream.

29,879. That was what Church did ?—They said his brother, Robert Wilkinson, was a better man than his brother, if that could be; and I thought that Mr. Norman Wilkinson were like a father to him.

29,880. You are quite sure you did not borrow that stream from Church ?—No.

29,881. There was the year before, what they called Doulton's election; which side were you ?—Oh, I was for Wilkinson; there were boats on pictures, and Mr. Monson was upset, and there come Mr. Wilkinson in a jolly boat over all the rest. There were good larks over that job.

29,882. You were for Wilkinson ?—I was for Wilkinson.

29,883. Was there a great deal of beer going that time ?—I believe there was, but I never got much.

Featherstone, if brought up to this Court, will give you a better account, because he was a good bit amongst them.

29,884. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was he a Doultonite ?—He was head and chief.

29,885. (The Chief Commissioner.) Thomas Featherstone can tell all about it ?—He can tell pretty well ; more than I can.

29,886. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) At that election of 1858 were you asked to sell your ballot ticket ?—To sell my ballot ticket ?

29,887. Yes ?—No, I was not asked ; I believe some of them did. I think some of them said they would if they could.

29,888. Sell their tickets ?—Yes, but I would not sell mine ; I kept it.

29,889. It is very likely you would not. I only ask you whether you were asked ?—Not to my knowledge.

29,890. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say at Doulton's election there was plenty of beer going on. Was there plenty of money going ?—Well, I believe any rough might have 10*s.* if he liked to go and carry a board for an hour ; but it was hearsay, though I believe it was correct. I never got any money at all ; I kept out of that.

29,891. You did not see much of that ?—No, I did not. I heard enough ; that sickened me what I heard.

29,892. It rather hurt you, what you heard ?—I like good company when I get out of an evening.

29,893. Tell me. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson, and you were not a rough or anything of that sort, what did you get for that election ? Do you recollect ?—Which one ?

29,894. Why, that Doulton's election ?—Nothing ; I never had anything at all.

29,895. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were balloted out, and as soon as you were balloted out you knew it was all up ?—Yes ; that time.

29,896. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote at all ?—I give my ballot.

29,897. Did you vote at the polling-booth for any of the candidates ?—I do not think I did at that time.

29,898. You balloted ?—Yes.

29,899. That was for Rawlinson that time ?—I do not think I voted.

29,900. (The Chief Commissioner.) You recollect you and Oxtoby agreed to stick to each other at this last election of 1865. Did you look to see what was going on on the Monson side ?—Well, I did look about a little, but not much. I did not interfere with that at all.

29,901. Did they interfere with you a little bit ?—Well, after I made up my mind I did not get about interfering in other people's matters.

29,902. Did they interfere with you ?—I went to see Joseph Kenward, and tried to get him. I believe he had agreed on the first onset to go for Gower, but I believe he had been to see me.

29,903. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not know who Kenward was when you asked him to vote for your side ?—What, in 1865 ?

29,904. Yes ?—Oh yes, I had followed him up pretty tight ; I believe he was in view of something ; that is why he went over to Gower.

29,905. (The Chief Commissioner.) It was pretty well understood that Kenward began for Gower ?—Yes, and he told me when I went to see him ; I asked him whether he was going on for Gower this time, as he did not vote at the last ; he said no, he had been to see Mr. Green, and he had abused him, and said he had got no 20*l.* to give, and then Kenward took offence at that, and then he went on for Mr. Monson, and he wished me to come too.

29,906. That was Henry Green ?—Yes. Kenward told me that Mr. Green told him he had no 20*l.* to give him.

29,907. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For himself, Kenward, I suppose ?—He wanted money, I suppose, to handle for voters. That is how I looked on it.

29,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) So he said he would try the other side ?—Yes.

29,909. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He turned upon you, then ?—He was on ; and he wanted me to come on, because he thought if he could make sure of me he would make sure of a few more.

29,910. Two more, would he ? Oxtoby and who else ?—He thought if he could have got me I should have got a few more.

29,911. How did he try to get you ?—He asked me to come on their side, and told me if I would come we should do better there than we should for Gower.

29,912. How much better ?—He told me that if we went on and worked hard (whoever did go was to work hard, not have the money for nothing, and they were to work the full time ; it was not to be halves, and bits, and pieces they were to work) we should have 30*s.* a week.

29,913. Did that make you hesitate a little bit ?—No.

29,914. Then it was your turn ; how did you try Kenward ?—I had nothing more to do with him.

29,915. He tried you first, and then you thought, "Now it is my turn, I will try him" ?—No ; that was all at one time, and there the matter ended.

29,916. That was in 1865 ?—That was in 1865.

29,917. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You worked with Oxtoby ?—Yes, he is the gardener.

29,918. Were you at the town hall when Joyes was there ?—I was.

29,919. At that meeting at the town hall did you have any conversation with Frederick Joyes ?—As I said before, when I saw Frederick Joyes, about the first onset of the election, I told him I was going on their side.

29,920. I only ask you this question because it was said, but I don't know whether it was said to you, that it was said at the town hall, "You shall be paid for "what you do the same as the others" ?—Oxtoby told me that he had it from Joyes, and I believe Henry Sendall was there and said so too, and that Sendall was on Joyes' side, but that Mazden had got him down on his book.

29,921. Do you know a man of the name of Joseph Singleton ?—No, I do not. Oxtoby told me about him.

29,922. He did not try you ?—No ; I am not sure whether I know the man.

29,923. As you worked with Oxtoby, I thought you might have fallen in with Singleton ?—I do not know the man ; I could not call him to mind.

29,924. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How often have you voted altogether ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson twice, and balloted for him once.

29,925. And for whom else ?—And Mr. Gower once ; I believe that is correct. I am sure when Mr. Wilkinson were defeated, when Mr. Gower was up, I never see anything like it. There was just as though some heavy calamity befell Redhill. There was a gloom cast all over the place. There was one chap, a gardener at Redhill, and he worked for Mr. Frowd, of Wray-park, and they tried him stiff to get him for Gower. He would not do it, but went for Wilkinson. I told him, "Suppose you are laid up on a bed of "sickness, Mr. Gower is a gentleman we know "nothing of till he came out as a local candidate ; "but Mr. Wilkinson we do know." So he went for Wilkinson, and Mr. Frowd turned him out of his employ.

The witness withdrew.

William Razzell sworn and examined.

W. Razzell.

29,926. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—A shoemaker.

29,927. What rent do you pay ?—10*l.* 8*s.*

29,928. Then you pay it by the week ?—Yes.

29,929. 4*s.* a week ?—Yes.

29,930. Was your term determinable by a month's notice or a week's ?—A month's notice.

29,931. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

NINETEENTH DAY.

W. Razzell.

12 Sept. 1866.

29,932. Were you on the committee? — Well, I believe I was. Mr. Durrant told me I was on.

29,933. Then did Mr. Durrant canvass you? Did you promise to Mr. Durrant?—Peter Pelling canvassed me in the first place.

29,934. In what way did Peter Pelling canvass you?—He never said anything at all, he took me to Durrant.

29,935. What took place between you and Durrant?—He told me I was to be paid for loss of time.

29,936. Who told you?—Durrant.

29,937. Did he tell you what you were to do?—I canvassed two, but did not succeed in getting no one.

29,938. You had not the play of the money, I suppose?—No.

29,939. No authority to offer them money?—No.

29,940. Who was it you canvassed?—Dickinson and Eve, up in Lesbourne-lane.

29,941. What is Dickinson's Christian name?—Edmund.

29,942. E V E, is that how you spell the other's name?—I don't know how it is spelt.

29,943. Was he a voter?—Yes, they are old neighbours of mine.

29,944. (The Chief Commissioner.) You canvassed them?—Yes.

29,945. Did they come and vote for you?—One voted for Mr. Gower, but not on my account.

29,946. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take those persons to Durrant? How did you canvass them?—I referred them to Durrant, but they never come to see him.

29,947. Did Durrant tell you that you might hold out any promises to them?—No, only that they should be paid for loss of time.

29,948. Did you tell them that they should be paid for loss of time if they came and voted?—Yes.

29,949. If they came and voted on your side?—Yes.

29,950. Were you paid for your loss of time?—I had 2*l.*

29,951. And you only canvassed those two men?—That is all.

29,952. Who paid you?—Mr. Durrant. I had 10*s.* soon after the polling day, and 30*s.* the latter part of October or the beginning of November.

29,953. Did you apply to Durrant for the money, or did he pay you without applying?—He paid me without applying. I did not take any account in.

29,954. Were you paid at your own house?—10*s.* I received at his house, but I did not go for it. The other I received at my own house.

29,955. He brought the money to you?—Yes.

29,956. Was there nobody else but those two men that you canvassed?—No, that is all.

29,957. Well, they voted, I suppose, on the other side?—One did.

29,958. Which? — Edmund Dickinson voted for Monson, and Eve, he voted for Gower, but not from my canvassing.

29,959. You do not know then who got hold of him?—No, I do not.

29,960. Now, is that all you know about the election of 1865?—Yes.

29,961. Did you vote in the election of 1863?—No, I had no vote.

29,962. Or at any previous election?—No.

29,963. Now, had anybody been at you for Mr. Monson in 1865?—No, I cannot recollect any one.

29,964. You were not canvassed by anybody for Mr. Monson?—No, I cannot recollect any.

29,965. Were you engaged in any way in Mr. Durrant's business?—Oh, no.

29,966. Or in his employ?—No. I told him that I knew two voters, and that I thought I could get them.

29,967. Were those the two you mentioned?—Yes.

29,968. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When you spoke to Dickinson and Eve, and told them that they would be paid their expenses, did not they inquire how much it would be, or about what it would be?—Well, they did, but I told them I had no authority.

29,969. Did they say, "Will it be 5*l.*?" or "How "much will it be?"—They asked me how much it would be, and I told them I did not know; I had no authority to give them anything.

29,970. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you had heard the rumour that 5*l.* was about the price that would be paid?—I do not know.

29,971. You had heard something about the 5*l.*?—Yes, but I did not know that Mr. Gower was giving 5*l.*

29,972. You heard of 5*l.* in reference to each man's vote?—No doubt 5*l.* given on Monson's side, but I never heard for Mr. Gower.

The witness withdrew.

A. Sargant.

Amos Sargant sworn and examined.

29,973. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Sargant?—A labourer.

29,974. What description of labourer? — I do ground work.

29,975. What rent do you pay for your house?—I pay 6*s.* a week.

29,976. And did you at the time of the election?—Yes, this last election I did.

29,977. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes.

29,978. For whom?—Mr. Monson.

29,979. Was that the first time you had a vote?—No. I had a vote and voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

29,980. I believe you were canvassed by Mr. Peat? Who canvassed you? Who spoke to you about voting?—Joseph Hewett.

29,981. Did Hewett tell you what you would get for voting?—Yes.

29,982. What did he say?—He said I should have 15*s.* a week for two weeks, and the remainder to make up 5*l.* to finish with.

29,983. Were you at your work at the Asylum when he spoke to you?—No, I was at work on the hill then.

29,984. Did you receive your two 15*s.* before the election?—Yes.

29,985. Who took you to the poll?—I do not know; I came from the "Plough" that morning.

29,986. Then you received 3*l.* 10*s.*; from whom?—Richard Peat.

29,987. Who paid you the two weeks?—Hewett paid me.

29,988. Did you go to his house?—No, I went to the "Plough."

29,989. On the polli ng evening?—Yes.

29,990. That was 5*l.*? That was a good job?—Yes, a very good job.

29,991. Was it better than 1863?—Yes, better than that.

29,992. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Yes.

29,993. Who spoke to you about it?—Sendall was the first person.

29,994. Who afterwards spoke to you about voting for Mr. Wilkinson?—I went on for Mr. Wilkinson that time; I was on five weeks.

29,995. You were employed?—Yes.

29,996. What did you receive for that?—5*s.* a day.

29,997. 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

29,998. Then you received 7*l.* 10*s.*?—7*l.* 15*s.*; seven weeks and one day.

29,999. Then that was not so bad, Sargant? — No.

30,000. Who paid you for that?—An old gentleman was on for them down at Mr. Laker's. I don't recollect who it was.

30,001. Was it Mr. James?—No, it was an older man. Rose paid me the last time; he paid me for the last four days 1*l.*

30,002. Ephraim Rose?—Yes. He paid me for the last four days, and the old gentleman paid me the other.

30,003. Had you voted before?—No.

30,004. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you paid the actual odd day?—Yes.

30,005. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did nothing the last time?—Yes, I spoke to the agents, and got some beer.

30,006. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you would have done that without being paid for it?—No, not always.

30,007. You did not vote before 1863?—No, I voted for Wilkinson the last time I voted.

30,008. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am curious to know how they employed you in 1863; what was your work? What work had you to do in 1863?—Oh, carrying. We used to get paid for carrying out papers; anything that there was to do.

30,009. I want to know what it was, because to give you a paper to carry out seems to be a little absurd, you know. Used they to load you with a couple of circulars? That was it, I suppose?—Yes.

30,010. Which of course you laughed at, and took the money?—Yes.

30,011. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is William Thomas Sargant, a relation of yours, on the register? There is a John Sargant and a Joseph Sargant. Are those any relations to you?—No.

The witness withdrew.

ROBERT BIDDINGTON sworn and examined.

R. Biddington.

30,012. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Biddington?—I am the bill poster, or, in vulgar language, the common bill sticker, sir.

30,013. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of Reigate?—Yes.

30,014. (The Chief Commissioner.) What rent do you pay?—The rent I pay for my house is thirteen guineas.

30,015. Who did you vote for at the last election?—I did not vote at all.

30,016. You had a vote?—Yes, I had. I have had a vote about 12 or 14 years.

30,017. Had you voted at any previous elections?—Yes.

30,018. Though you did not vote, you took an active part, did not you, in the election of 1865?—Yes.

30,019. Were you an agent, or whatever you call it; a sub-agent?—I tried all I could to stick up the two candidates; that was all.

30,020. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was on the walls?—On the walls.

30,021. (The Chief Commissioner.) But were you employed by either party as an agent?—No, certainly not.

30,022. Who canvassed you?—Well, I think I was canvassed by Mr. Monson himself, and I think, if I remember rightly, that Mr. Gower did not call upon me.

30,023. Did anybody particular press you for your vote before the election?—No more than they would other people. They simply asked for it.

30,024. Then they did not press you; they simply asked for it?—Yes, on both sides.

30,025. Were you asked to go on the committee on either side?—Oh, no.

30,026. You say, "Oh, no." I should have thought you would have been a likely man?—Well, I don't think I should like to post my own name up on another gentleman's committee.

30,027. Did you post bills for both parties?—Yes, I did. I have done so before. There is nothing very unusual in that.

30,028–9. Did both sides pay you for doing it?—Yes, at the last election.

30,030. I am speaking only of 1865. Did you attend any committee meetings on either side?—Yes, I did.

30,031. Which side?—I attended the first meeting that Mr. Gower held in Reigate.

30,032. Was that a public meeting?—Yes. I was so disgusted then with the treatment Mr. Gower received, that I did not attend any other on either side.

30,033. I mean, did you attend any of the committee meetings?—No.

30,034. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) As an elector you had a right to attend the others?—I purposely avoided attending any of the meetings after the first meeting of Mr. Gower in Reigate.

30,035. That was a public meeting?—Yes. I have just given you my reason for not attending any other meetings.

30,036. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you were paid to whom did you send in your account; we will take first your account for Mr. Gower?—I sent it in to Mr. Smith.

30,037. Then how many accounts did you send in?—To Mr. Smith?

30,038. Yes?—One.

30,039. Are you sure you only sent one account?—Well, I am upon my oath.

30,040. I am talking about your recollection now, you know?—I only sent in one account.

30,041. At one time?—At one time.

30,042. I do not mean that you sent in an account pressing for payment more than once, but you only sent in one account?—I only sent in one account.

30,043. And how many accounts did you send in to Mr. Monson?—One.

30,044. Only one to each?—Only one.

30,045. I shall get it right directly?—I may perhaps have asked for payment by two accounts, but I only sent in one.

30,046. Who paid you your account for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Smith, I believe.

30,047. But you have no doubt, have you?—I have no doubt whatever.

30,048. Did he pay you the whole account at once, or did he pay you at different times?—I believe I received the amount in twice; I believe I did.

30,049. Did you give a receipt for it?—I believe I did.

30,050. Are you sure that you were paid the whole account in twice?—I do not believe it was any more.

30,051. But you are pretty sure?—Yes, I am pretty sure about it.

30,052. And what was the whole amount?—That I really cannot tell you. My bill was sent in. I keep no books, and when it is paid of course I know nothing further about it.

30,053. I dare say I shall be able to tell you?—I have no doubt whatever you have my bill here.

30,054. I have not got your bills here. I do not want to pretend to more knowledge than I possess?—I don't know more about it. I have not seen it since.

30,055. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were employed by both parties?—Yes.

30,056. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me about what your bill was?—I really cannot tell you.

30,057. Was it over 12*l.*?—I really cannot. Oh, yes, I should hope it was.

NINETEENTH DAY.

R. Biddington.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,058. Was it under 20*l.* ?—I should hope that is nearer the mark.

30,059. Answer the questions ?—I have no manner of means of knowing. If you shew me the bill, I will tell you if it is correct.

30,060. I do not want that. If you have no recollection about it, say so ?—I have said so. I have none.

30,061. Not as to the amount ?—Not as to the exact amount. I am not going to distort the truth, or wilfully tell a lie, if I know it.

30,062. I find one account here 13*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.* ?—I believe that is it. I would not swear.

30,063. Is that likely to be your whole account ?—It might be. If I had anything to refresh my memory.

30,064. It does not want refreshing. It is not long ago. Do you believe your bill was 13*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.* ?—I think I can safely swear that.

30,065. The very amount ?—I should judge it was ; but of course I must say that I have no manner of means of knowing.

30,066. You were paid that, you said, in two payments, you know ?—Yes.

30,067. They did not tax any of it off ?—Oh, I believe I received a portion of the account from Mr. Smith first, for the simple reason that I was a man in a small way of business, and I had to employ my own men, and having the bill posting on both sides I did want a something, but my bill I believe did pass the auditor. I have no authority for knowing anything to the contrary.

30,068. You sent in a bill and were eventually paid ?—Yes ; not till after the election.

30,069. When you were paid was the whole of your bill paid ?—I have no doubt about that.

30,070. I asked you if any was taxed off ; that is all I meant ?—No ; I think very likely I should have complained if the whole of it had not been paid, and I have no cause to complain at present.

30,071. You say you sent your bill in ? Who paid it ?—Mr. Smith paid it.

30,072. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you any of the bills remaining in stock of the lists of the committees ?—Yes.

30,073. Have you got one of both sides ?—No, I have this one (handing a bill to the learned Commissioner).

30,074. Which is this ?—That is a portion of Mr. Gower's first committee list. There is another sheet wanting that I have not got.

30,075. Have you got Mr. Monson's ?—No, I have not. It is simply explained, because I had orders frequently given by Mr. Gower's committee not to post bills on any public house, because he had not taken any. On the contrary, as applied to Mr. Monson, I had orders to post on every public house where he had committee rooms, consequently I have some of Mr. Gower's committee bills left, but not one of Mr. Monson's.

30,076. You used all of Mr. Monson's ? — Every one.

30,077. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did you send in your account against Mr. Monson to ?—To Mr. Hart.

30,078. And what was the amount of your bill sent in to Mr. Hart ?—That I have no means of knowing.

30,079. But about ? I was in hopes you would save time by telling us ?—If I can save time in any way I will do so with pleasure.

30,080. Well, what was it ?—I really do not know.

30,081. You do not know anything like it ?—I really cannot say.

30,082. Was your account to Mr. Hart 11*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* ?—It is very likely to have been so.

30,083. Well, I find that account is signed by you ?—There is no doubt that is quite correct, or else my name would not be to it. There is no doubt it is quite correct.

30,084. Was that paid to you ?—Yes.

30,085. By whom ?—By Mr. Hart himself.

30,086. I suppose by cheque ?—I could not exactly tell you whether it was or not, but I should almost think it was.

30,087. He did not send you to Mr. Nichols to be paid ?—Oh, no.

30,088. Are you able to tell me whether he paid you that at once or in twice ?—I believe he paid me that at once.

30,089. It would appear so from the bill itself ?—I believe he did pay me at once, sir.

30,090. The date of the payment is not here. Well, now, did you stick any bills for Mr. Richardson ?—No.

30,091. You had nothing to do for them ?—No.

30,092. Did you bring in any bill-posting account to Mr. Nichols ?—What for ?

30,093. Bill posting ?—Connected with the election ?

30,094. Yes ?—Oh, no.

30,095. Did you send in any account at the time of the election to Mr. Nichols ?—No.

30,096. Did you receive any money from Mr. Nichols at all ?—No ; to the best of my recollection, certainly not.

30,097. About the time of the election, that is what I mean ?—No, I very rarely went in there.

30,098. Will you be so good as to tell me distinctly whether you did receive anything from Mr. Nichols ?—I believe not, sir. I have no recollection of it at this present moment.

30,099. I want you to tell me, you know ?—Connected with the election, I certainly believe I have not received a farthing from him.

30,100. I want to know why you say " connected " with the election " ?—If Mr. Nichols has employed me to post bills not connected with the election, which he has done, and I hope will do——

30,101. You mean about the sale of estates ?—Yes, anything of that kind. I shall be happy to do it for him ; but I never received anything from him on account of the election, either directly or indirectly.

30,102. You are quite sure of that ?—Not for the last election. I am quite sure of that.

30,103. That is right, is it ? That is what I have taken down ?—Yes, that is right.

30,104. Did you receive any money from Mr. Nichols about the election or after the election at all ?—No, sir, not connected with the election, not in any shape or way, to my knowledge.

30,105. Did you receive any money from Mr. Nichols about the time of the election ?—That I cannot say ; but I think I can safely say that I received no money from him whatever as connected with my posting bills during that election. I only wish to be careful. What other payments Mr. Nichols might make me would not apply to the election.

30,106. Have you had any payment made you by Mr. Nichols at any time since 1865 ?—Oh, yes.

30,107. Well, how soon after the election ?—Oh, but nothing at all to do with the election.

30,108. Well, I did not say so ?—I certainly shall stand upon my right not to answer any inquiries made of me in regard to my private business unless it refers to the election.

30,109. I will concede your right ?—If Mr. Nichols employs me to post a few bills and pays me, I am not going to tell all the town, it is not likely.

30,110. I don't understand you. The town would see you post them ?—Just so ; but then they would not know who paid me.

30,111. I should have thought a bill poster would be the last man in England to have a secret.

30,112. But did Mr. Nichols after the election have occasion to make payments to you ? — Not directly or indirectly connected with the election.

30,113. I ask you, did he make payments, whether they had anything to do with the election or not ?—None whatever ; not, as true as I stand here.

30,114. I believe it, if you tell me so; but had Mr. Nichols, on any account whatever, either for the price of a horse or for the sale of the smallest article, has Mr. Nichols had occasion to pay you any money since the election?—I think he knows me a little too well to do such a thing, to offer me such a thing.

30,115. Oh, no, I do not mean for your vote; you do not understand me. I mean for services or for any article has any money passed between you and Mr. Nichols?—I have already said, certainly not. I try to speak plain, but you really make me nervous. I had so little to do with the last election that it made me rather surprised that I should be summoned.

30,116. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say on Gower's side you had instructions not to put bills on any of the public houses?—I had instructions to put bills on no public houses.

30,117. Precisely?—I did put a bill upon one public house.

30,118. Which was that?—It was a bargain between me and the landlord that I should come and take it down very carefully.

30,119. Who was that?—Mr. Wells. His was the only house in the parish upon which one was posted.

30,120. Who was it gave you instructions not to post Mr. Gower's bills upon any public houses?—I really could not tell you. My instructions were, if I remember correctly, the bills were sent down to my house, and my instructions were that Mr. Gower was not going to take any public houses as committee rooms, and I was to post no bills whatever on any public houses. If I did so, I done it on my own responsibility, that was, I was to take them down, and that was the only public house, I believe, in the parish where I did it.

30,121. You received that order from the committee rooms?—Yes.

30,122. It came down with the posters?—No doubt of it.

30,123. And would that be by letter?—No; either written on the outside sheet or a waste sheet they usually put in, or else a bit of paper.

30,124. Did you receive from any of the committee whom you saw during the time or before the election any such instruction, any individual member of the committee?—No. I should most likely run up against every individual member of the committee on both sides, and as for what they tell me, I take no more notice of them than that (snapping his fingers).

30,125. I wanted you to tell me from whom you received the instructions?—I could not do so, because, being engaged by both parties, I did not interfere but very little about it, and I am very glad I did not.

30,126. I should like to have known that?—If I knew it, it should have been told.

30,127. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not vote, because you did not want to offend anybody, being employed on both sides?—If you ask me that reason, I should say no.

30,128. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He has expressed his reason more particularly in the early part of his examination, that he attended that meeting of Mr. Gower's, and was disgusted with what took place there, and would not have anything more to do with the election?—I did not attend any other meeting after that. The reason I did not vote was a matter in my own mind; it was certainly nothing to do with the election, if anybody asked me about it, as they will do, us common people get about, and they ask us; it was, as far as I knew, my own interest.

30,129. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you voted at a previous election?—I voted in 1863.

30,130. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

30,131. Were you engaged then in posting bills?—Yes.

30,132. Were you also on Mr. Gower's committee?—No; I never hope to be on a committee while I am a poster of bills. They want better metal, I think, on the committee.

30,133. Did you post bills for both sides on that occasion?—Let me see, Wilkinson and Gower; no.

30,134. You posted bills only for Gower?—Only for Gower.

30,135. Can you tell me what you received for posting bills that year?—I really cannot.

30,136. Who was the opposition bill poster?—Well, I really do not know.

30,137. Anybody in the town?—No one in this town. I believe there was a man at Redhill, and he used to ask me very often to put bills up for him, and I used to do it, but nothing to do with the other party. Just the same as anybody else might be.

30,138. You cannot tell what you were paid for Mr. Gower?—No.

30,139. Did you do any other service besides bill posting for Mr. Gower in 1863?—No.

30,140. You were on his committee?—I was not, sir.

30,141. Did you receive anything besides for posting bills?—I believe not. Let me see. I cannot tell you; it is a good while ago, 1863. I believe not.

30,142. But I should like to know?—If I received anything at all it would be in connexion with my work. I have no doubt it was for the work which I had done.

30,143. You sent in an account for bill posting. Were you paid it?—Oh yes.

30,144. Do you remember who by?—I have no doubt whatever it was by Mr. Smith.

30,145. Now what I want to know is, whether you were paid over and above that anything more by Mr. Smith or any other person for your services?—Well, I done nothing else.

30,146. I did not say you did. I asked you a very simple question?—I should say certainly not.

30,147. Will you say, "Certainly not." Say it if you like?—I am willing to say this, that I received no money for any other services except bill posting.

30,148. I am sorry I cannot get you to answer me a little more direct. You sent your bill in to Mr. Smith for posting, and were paid it by him?—That is all I received.

30,149. Did you receive anything else from him?—Well, I cannot exactly give it to you; certainly I sent in my bill to Mr. Smith, and after the election the auditor was here; the bill no doubt was passed, and I have no doubt I went to Mr. Smith's office and received the money.

30,150. The money mentioned in your bill?—The money mentioned in the bill. I had nothing to do with anything else.

30,151. Did you receive any other money from Mr. Smith?—Than that named in my bill?

30,152. Than that named in your bill?—I think not.

30,153. I did not catch what you said?—Certainly not. I did not receive any money but what was in the bill.

30,154. Give me "aye" or "no," which you like, only let us have it distinct, and don't let us get into conversation?—I have already said I received no money from Mr. Smith except in connexion with my bill posting, and that he paid me.

30,155. That won't satisfy me. You sent in your bill, according to your own account, to Mr. Smith, and it was probably passed, and Mr. Smith paid you the amount of your bill so stated?—Yes, he did.

30,156. Aye or no, did he pay you any other money?—Well, I certainly believe not.

30,157. You "certainly believe not." Now, must I take that to be your answer, that you believe not?—I believe not. I have no recollection of it whatever.

30,158. That is a very different answer from the last, "I believe I was paid no other money." I should think you would remember it if you were?—I believe I should; but I have no recollection of it at present.

NINETEENTH DAY.

R. Biddington.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,159. You cannot say positively you were not?—If you put me up in a corner I should say, certainly I was not.

30,160. Are you prepared to say that you were not paid any other money by Mr. Smith?—I can only give the same answer as I did before.

30,161. Will you undertake to say you were not paid any more money by Mr. Smith? It is a very simple question?—It is a very simple question, and it is a very simple answer to me; but I am not here to tell you a wilful lie, if I know it, and if I say I cannot test my memory exactly, but I believe the whole amount I received was charged in the bill to Mr. Smith for bill posting, and he paid it, I think there ought to be an end to it.

30,162. I am quite aware of that. Will you undertake to say you did not receive any more money from Mr. Smith?—I have already said so.

30,163. Said what?—That I have not received any more money than what was charged in my bill.

30,164. I heard you say "I believe." I have taken your words down?—Mr. Smith would not pay. I do not know what he would do to other people; he would not to me.

30,165. I do not care about your comments on Mr. Smith, or your opinions of him. Were you paid any other money by Mr. Smith?—If it is not sufficient for you that I give a plain straightforward answer, there is an end of it. I have already told you distinctly and plainly that Mr. Smith has not paid me any money for anything else but connected with posting, and that he paid me in the bill I gave him. You have the bill there; that is the only bill he has ever paid me, if you have the bill of 1863.

30,166. I never said anything about the bill. I want a plain answer to a plain qusestion. Will you swear?—I am swearing.

30,167. Don't be in a hurry. Will you swear that you have not received any more money from Mr. Smith than that which was charged in your bill, which was paid by him?—I have already said so, and you say that what I have said is not correct. I have already said I have not been paid any more money by Mr. Charles Smith than the amount of my bill for bill posting.

30,168. You will say that?—I have already said so.

30,169. Never once; nothing of the kind; you are quite mistaken?—I am sorry that persons brought here to be examined are almost treated as criminals. I have no wish to distort the truth, but to give a straightforward answer to a plain question.

30,170. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You greatly mistake the feelings of the Commissioners?—When a gentleman says that what I say is not correct, when I am upon my oath, I think I have a right to complain. Many of my own sphere would not doubt my word, if people above me do.

30,171. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were your services required previous to 1863?—I have been engaged in every election since 1852.

30,172. Have you always been engaged as a bill poster?—Yes.

30,173. Have you voted always?—I do not think I have voted before or since 1863.

30,174. Not before 1863?—I never voted before, though I have been on the register. I have had particular reasons, the same as prevented my voting the last time.

30,175. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the earliest election that you saw here?—I have been engaged professionally in every election since 1852, by two or three candidates at each election.

30,176. You were not voting in 1858 at Mr. Doulton's election?—No.

30,177. You were about a good deal, and of course had an opportunity of seeing the general tone of the borough and conduct of the election?—Yes.

30,178. Will you give us your independent notion of that election?—My independent notion is this, that that was certainly the introduction of a great deal of the drunkenness. I won't say debauchery, I am not going to libel the wives of my fellow townsmen; but drunkenness and bribery, and all that, I believe had its origin at that Doulton election.

30,179. Was that election then conducted in a very improper way?—Most decidedly.

30,180. May I use so strong a term as that?—Yes; the fact is, I doubt whether you can use too strong a term. Drunkenness, no doubt, was carried on to a great extent.

30,181. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It is a pity that it should have got abroad that the Mayor used the word "debauchery" in any other than a political sense. A voter is "debauched" when he does not vote according to his principles; that is what the Mayor meant?—I heard that gentleman say so himself, speaking of men and women too.

30,182. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) At all events, what you have said very much confirms what the Mayor has said?—Yes, but I would not go so far as he did, not so far as women were concerned.

30,183. But, taking that out, you would go as far as the Mayor?—There is no honest man in Reigate but what would come forward and say deliberately that the origin of the drunkenness and bribery to the extent that it has been carried on was brought here by Mr. Frederick Doulton.

30,184. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you not consider that political debauchery?—As I understand the word "debauchery" as connected with men and with women it is a very different thing altogether.

30,185. You did not vote at the last election, but you attended political meetings?—Only one.

30,186. If you have any private reasons I do not want them; but upon public grounds how was it you did not vote?—I will tell you fairly and candidly why I did not vote if you will allow me. They were both Liberal candidates. When Mr. Gower came here in 1863 many of the principal leaders of the Monson party at the last election made an idol of Mr. Gower; everybody was not the same way inclined, and did not want a new love so quick. I was one of that party; my friends chose to support, friends for whom I have a great respect and that kind of thing; therefore I held aloof, and, like a few more, did not vote at all.

The witness withdrew.

W. Best.

William Best sworn and examined.

30,187. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

30,188. What rent do you pay for your house?—16*l.* a year; I pay monthly.

30,189. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

30,190. Was this the first time you voted?—No, I voted once before.

30,191. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee?—No, I believe not; never.

30,192. Who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson came to the building where I was working, and asked me himself.

30,193. Any one else?—Mr. James Nichols was with him, but he did not ask me.

30,194. Mr. Nichols spoke to you about it afterwards, did he?—Yes; I was working at the time.

30,195. Where?—At Warwick-town, for Mr. Stears, who is dead.

30,196. Did you do much for them?—I did what

I could; I promised my vote, I think, about five weeks before the election.

30,197. You did what you could?—Yes.

30,198. Did you understand that you were to be paid?—Not at that time.

30,199. Afterwards?—Yes.

30,200. When?—Two days afterwards.

30,201. Who told you you were to be paid for what you did?—Mr. James Nichols, and Mr. William Moody likewise. Mr. Nichols never told me so then.

30,202. But he did afterwards?—Yes.

30,203. And Mr. Moody?—Yes.

30,204. What money did you receive before polling?—3l.

30,205. And what money did you receive after polling?—2l. a fortnight and three days after.

30,206. 5l. in all?—Altogether.

30,207. Who paid you the 3l. before polling?—Mr. Moody; he paid me 30*s.* at a time.

30,208. 30*s.* at one time, and 30*s.* at another?—Yes.

30,209. What is he?—He keeps a public house, "The Plough;" he is a wheelwright by trade.

30,210. The landlord of the "Plough"?—Yes; he has been so I do not know whether it is two or three years.

30,211. Who paid you the 2l. afterwards?—Mr. Moody's wife; he told her to pay me the first time I called for the money; he left the money for me.

30,212. On account of the election?—Yes, of course; he did not owe it to me for anything else.

30,213. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that William or John Moody?—William Moody.

30,214. William Moody, near Redhill church?—Yes, that is the man.

30,215. Do you recollect, when he paid you, were there many others there?—There was no one when I was paid either time but him and me, barring his wife.

30,216. Did you see any one else waiting to be paid?—I saw no one else paid a farthing during the election but my own self.

30,217. Were there many of you working together who had votes?—Mead-vale was my home; I was generally with the rest of the men about Mead-vale; we voted for Mr. Monson.

30,218. Carpenters?—Carpenters and labourers; I do not know what they were all of them.

30,219. How did you know what you were to get?—I came over to Mr. Nichols' house afterwards, and I saw him. We talked the subject over. I says to Mr. Nichols, "Can you give me anything to do? I "can earn a little money." "Yes," he says, "I can." I says, "I have promised my vote to Mr. Monson; it "appears to me that they are all earning money, and "I should like to do the same thing." "Very well," he says, "you can; what do you want?" "Well," I said, "I don't know what I want." He said, "I "will give you 15*s.* a week if you like before the "election," (it was to be 5*s.* a day,) "and the rest "after." I did not make any answer. However he says, "Go on and do your best." That is all we said. About two days after, when I was going home from work, from Warwick-town to Redhill, I met Mr. Moody just above the Union. He says, "Halloa, "neighbour, what are you going to do?" I says, "I am already done, I believe." He says, "Who are "you going to vote for?" I said, "Mr. Monson." He said, "You may as well come on with us, they "are giving them all a little money, and a little will "do you good as well as the rest."

30,220. Giving them all a little money?—No, he did not say giving them all money. He says, "We "have an opportunity of setting them to work."

30,221. You said, "Giving them money"?—Excuse me if I happen to make a mistake.

30,222. What did he say?—He said, "You may as "well come on with me." I never said any more to Mr. Nichols about the matter; I did not want two paymasters, Mr. Moody being a neighbour of mine, as I called him, and knowing him so well, I did the same thing.

30,223. He said, "You may as well have a little "money as the rest"?—Yes; and instead of my receiving 15*s.* a week, he gave me 30*s.* a week; he knew he could depend upon me; he was not afraid of my running away; at least I was not, if he was.

30,224. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you say that Nichols had to give you 15*s.* a week and Moody 30*s.*?—No; I never said any more to Mr. Nichols about the money; I went with Moody, and Moody paid me the money.

30,225. You say that Mr. Nichols offered you 15*s.* a week?—He said he would offer me that, but I met Mr. Moody coming home from work a day or two afterwards, and he and I made an arrangement that instead of my going to Mr. Nichols he took the subject.

30,226. Nichols' arrangement was 30*s.* a week; 15*s.* before the election, and the balance after you voted?—Yes, the same as they paid a good many others.

30,227. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said that you had voted before?—For Mr. Wilkinson at the previous election.

30,228. In 1863?—Yes.

30,229. Were you on the committee?—Yes, I think about six or seven weeks; I cannot say how long.

30,230. And worked for him?—I worked for him; I think it was 21 days; I am not quite certain.

30,231. What had you a day for the five or six weeks?—That is not five or six weeks; 21 days.

30,232. You said five or six weeks?—I said I was on the committee five or six weeks.

30,233. You were actually at work 21 days?—I think somewhere thereabouts; I should not have been to work for him, only I had nothing to do.

30,234. What had you a week?—30*s.* a week.

30,235. How much did you receive?—5l.

30,236. Who paid it to you?—Mr. Rose, of Mead-vale, paid me the last 30*s.*; the other money I received here in the committee room.

30,237. From whom?—Not from Mr. James. I signed a book for all the money; it was an oldish man that paid that; I do not know his name, he was rather lame. I think the first money he paid me was 15*s.*

30,238. You received 5l. in all?—Yes, I did.

30,239. Were you paid all before you voted?—The polling day was on Thursday, and I had my last 30*s.* on the next Friday.

30,240. The day after?—Yes; my week was not up by one day; but he said he would pay the 30*s.*

30,241. I suppose you attended the committees in 1863?—Yes; when I was at work I was ordered there every morning at 9 o'clock.

30,242. You had refreshment?—A little, the same as the rest.

30,243. You did not pay for it out of your own pocket?—No; I am not a drunken man. I do not drink much; a little suits me.

30,244. Had you refreshment at the last election also, 1865?—Yes.

30,245. In the same way?—Yes; two or three meetings I went to.

30,246. You canvassed somebody, did you not? Who did you speak to of your own class of men to vote for Mr. Monson?—I do not remember speaking to any one in particular.

30,247. Did you not?—No.

30,248. I thought you did the best you could; you may have spoken to somebody. Did you ask anybody to vote for Mr. Monson?—I asked a man when I was at one meeting at Redhill.

30,249. What was his name?—He was a tailor in Mead-vale; he has left there now.

30,250. Was it Spence?—No, another man.

30,251. You cannot recollect his name?—No, I should recollect it if I saw it.

30,252. Did he vote for Mr. Monson?—No, he voted for Mr. Gower.

NINETEENTH DAY.

W. Best.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,253. You did not succeed in getting any vote, did you?—Not one. This was a tall thin man; I do not think I have set eyes on him from that time to this. He is a man I do not associate with or know anything about.

30,254. Did you speak to any one else?—Not any one that I know of, barring my master that I worked for; we used to talk it over sometimes. He voted for Mr. Monson.

30,255. Who was your master?—Mr. Stears, who is dead; only him and me had a vote.

30,256. Did you vote before 1863?—Never.

30,257. You received 5*l.* each time?—5*l.* both times.

The witness withdrew.

R. Ellis.

RICHARD ELLIS sworn and examined.

30,258. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

30,259. What rent do you pay for your house?—It is freehold.

30,260. What is the yearly value of it, do you think?—About 12*l.*

30,261. Do you live in it?—Yes.

30,262. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

30,263. Who asked you to vote for him?—He came to me himself.

30,264. Did you promise him?—I did.

30,265. At once?—Yes, my mind was made up.

30,266. Did he ask you to go on the committee?—No. I was asked, but I did not go.

30,267. Did you interest yourself for him, and try to get votes?—No; I had nothing to do of the sort.

30,268. Did anybody else come to you before the election came on, and talk to you about it?—No.

30,269. But you went up to vote when the election day came?—Yes, I went and gave my vote.

30,270. And nobody talked to you?—No, not at all.

30,271. Did you not do anything at all for the man you were going to vote for?—No, nothing. I had got plenty of things to fill my time up without anything of that sort.

30,272. Did you talk to any of the carpenters about it?—No; they used to ask me sometimes how I was going to vote, and I said I was going to vote for Monson.

30,273. Did you ever talk to Kenward about it?—No.

30,274. Perhaps you do not know him?—No, I do not.

30,275. What time in the day did you vote?—About 9 o'clock, as near as I can remember.

30,276. Before you voted had anybody been canvassing you for Mr. Gower?—No.

30,277. Nobody asked you for your vote?—They had been to me, certainly; but I gave them an answer.

30,278. Who had been to you?—I do not know.

30,279. You gave them an answer, and said you were engaged?—I said I should vote for Monson; that my mind was made up.

30,280. They did not tease you any more?—No.

30,281. Did you receive anything at all before the election?—No, not anything; no promise. They never offered me anything, and I never asked for anything.

30,282. After the election was over did you?—Well, I understood that most of the voters got two days' work; and about two months after the election I called upon Mr. Nichols, and said I understood the voters were paid for the two days. He asked me what I had before at the previous election, and I told him 2*l.* He said he would give me 2*l.*; but nothing was said about that before the election. I did not know what I was going to receive.

30,283. Did he say he would give you 2*l.*?—Yes.

30,284. And did he?—Yes, he did; not then, a week or two afterwards.

30,285. At the previous election who had you voted for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

30,286. On that occasion did you do anything for them?—No.

30,287. Who paid you that time the 2*l.*?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

30,288. Was that your first election, in 1863?—That was not the first time I voted.

30,289. Had you voted at all the elections?—Pretty near, I think, commencing with Mr. Hackblock; at least I did not vote for him, but that was the first time.

30,290. You voted for Rawlinson?—Yes.

30,291. What did you get at that election?—Nothing at all.

30,292. Did you vote in 1858, at the Doulton election?—Yes.

30,293. Who did you vote for?—I balloted for Doulton.

30,294. And voted for him afterwards?—Yes.

30,295. Were you then paid so much a week, or so much at the end?—I never was paid at all.

30,296. You say that?—I never was paid anything. I went over to Redhill at the Infant School, and balloted there.

30,297. Did you not receive anything, not for your vote, but for your loss of time?—Nothing at all.

30,298. At the election after that Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson were candidates?—Yes.

30,299. The same year?—Yes.

30,300. Who did you vote for then?—Mr. Wilkinson.

30,301. Did you work for him?—Was that in 1859?

30,302. That was in October 1858, the same year as the Doulton election?—That is when I met with an accident, and cut my thumb.

30,303. You voted then?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson, and I went and distributed circulars about. I was laid up five months during the time.

30,304. What did you receive?—I cannot tell you exactly; but, as near as I can say, about 2*l.* 10*s.* altogether.

30,305. Who paid you?—Mr. Frederick Joyes.

30,306. That was all you got then?—That was all I got.

30,307. At the general election in 1859, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson stood, how did you vote then?—I do not recollect about that.

30,308. Mr. Wilkinson was put up against the Hon. Mr. Monson, behind his back, and did not come down.—I know that that is all I ever received. I do not know whether I voted for Mr. Wilkinson that time or not, perhaps I might.

30,309. You got nothing if you did vote?—No, that I did not.

30,310. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In 1858 were you a Doulton man from the first?—Yes, from the first, as soon as I heard of his character. I felt that ways inclined from the first.

30,311. You say you had no money at that election?—No, not a farthing.

The witness withdrew.

G. A. Albuary.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS ALBUARY sworn and examined.

30,312. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was your qualification at the last election?—12*l.*

30,313. What are you?—A bill poster.

30,314. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

30,315. Were you on his committee?—I think I was.

30,316. You were published on his committee?—Yes.

30,317. Did you know of your name being on the committee?—I knew my name was there.

30,318. Had you authorized your name to be there?—No; I did not give anybody leave to put it there.

30,319. I suppose some one had asked you about going on the committee?—No.

30,320. Can you suggest how it got there?—It was put there, I suppose.

30,321. Were there any reasons that passed between you and somebody else?—No reason.

30,322. Did anybody canvass you for your vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

30,323. Did you see anybody else but Mr. Gower?—No.

30,324. Did Mr. Gower ask you to go on his committee?—No.

30,325. Was anybody with Mr. Gower when you were canvassed?—Yes.

30,326. Who was?—I saw Mr. Joyes with him.

30,327. Did Joyes either then or afterwards speak to you about being on the committee?—No.

30,328. Had you promised nobody your vote?—I promised Mr. Gower.

30,329. Mr. Gower himself?—Yes.

30,330. Did you subsequent to seeing Mr. Gower have a conversation with any of his agents?—No.

30,331. You know whom I mean—Mr. Joyes, or Apted, or any of the persons who interested themselves?—Not any of them.

30,332. Did you do any other work for Mr. Gower except in the regular business of bill posting?—Nothing else.

30,333. Did you do any work for him in the shape of canvassing other voters?—No.

30,334. Not at all?—Not at all.

30,335. After the election I suppose you sent in your account for bill posting?—I sent in my account several times; two or three times before the election.

30,336. I suppose it was not paid till afterwards?—Yes, I was paid when I took it in; I took it in myself, I did not send it in.

30,337. Were those bills which you sent in for Mr. Gower fair and proper bills for the work which you had done?—Certainly they were.

30,338. You sent in four separate accounts?—I do not know how many there were.

30,339. 4*l*., 6*l*., 6*l*., and 3*l*. 15*s*.?—I dare say that is right.

30,340. 19*l*. 15*s*. in all?—I could not tell, exactly.

30,341. Did you receive any other monies from Mr. Gower's party except that 19*l*. 15*s*.?—None but those bills I sent in.

30,342. Do you keep books?—No.

30,343. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand that might be the amount, though you do not recollect it?—Yes, about it; I do not recollect the amount; I cannot tell; I never kept any account of it.

30,344. You do your work, and send in your bill at once?—Yes, perhaps a week, or it may be 8 or 9 days; then I take in the bill and get paid. I was paid by the day.

30,345. And by the number of bills posted?—No, we did not count the bills; we were paid by the day.

30,346. You posted as many as you could?—We were supposed to post as many as we could; of course what was necessary.

30,347. Were you engaged in any previous elections?—In 1863.

30,348. Only 1863?—That is all.

30,349. Who did you vote for then?—For Mr. Gower.

30,350. Did you receive anything at that election?—The same as I did this.

30,351. Only for bill posting?—Only for bill posting.

30,352. Going about as you must have done posting bills all over the borough, you can probably give me some general account of the two elections and the mode in which they were conducted?—Of course I was about a great deal.

30,353. And you must have seen a great deal?—I had my business to attend to; therefore I did not take much notice of other people; but from what I did see I do not consider that there was anything extraordinary, no more than what there ought to be at these two elections; nothing out of the way.

30,354. Then I presume that the examinations of the last few days have not opened your mind any more than what you noticed?—I have heard a few things that I was not aware of at the time.

30,355. A few things?—Yes, decidedly.

30,356. Has that in the least degree changed your notions?—It is bound to; still I did not see anything myself.

30,357. You had not an an opportunity of seeing?—No, I had not.

30,358. Did you attend any of the meetings in the evening?—I believe I did, one or two.

30,359. Where did you attend the one or two?—I do not think that I was much in the public house meetings but one, and that was at the "Black Horse," Reigate-hill.

30,360. That was just before the writ came down; when was it?—In 1865.

30,361. Was it before or after the writ came down?—It was the night before, I think; I think I heard it mentioned there.

30,362. Did you hear it mentioned, in connexion with that being the night before the writ, that they must not do the thing so openly?—No, I do not recollect that.

30,363. That the treating must be a little more on the quiet after the writ came down?—I do not recollect that; I do not recollect anything said about it; I heard it said here that such was the case. I might not have been in the room at the time. It might have been said and I might not hear it.

30,364. Were those the only elections you had seen here?—The only two; I might have seen others, but I had not the opportunity of voting.

30,365. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you post bills only for Mr. Gower?—Only for Mr. Gower.

30,366. Not for Mr. Monson?—No.

30,367. How long were you engaged in posting bills for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say how long it was; I know it was longer in the previous election; I do not know how much longer.

30,368. How many weeks should you suppose?—Four or five weeks; it might be five probably; I cannot give any account of it.

30,369. Who agreed with you to do it?—Mr. Smith.

30,370. He set you to work?—He did.

30,371. Did he tell you what you would be paid?—Yes; 10*s*. a day.

30,372. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that your usual charge for posting bills?—At elections.

30,373. Suppose I asked you to post bills for me?—I would do it for a crown for you.

30,374. (The Chief Commissioner.) He said you would have 10*s*. a day?—Yes.

30,375. Eventually was it Mr. Smith who paid your bill?—Yes.

30,376. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you ask 10*s*. a day, or did Mr. Smith offer it?—I took him in the first bill charging 10*s*. a day without asking him.

30,377. Without any agreement?—Without any agreement whatever.

30,378. (The Chief Commissioner.) He acquiesced in that?—He paid me the money anyhow; therefore I should judge he did.

30,379. Before the election of 1865 it was Smith who set you on the work?—Yes.

30,380. At that time did you stipulate what you should be paid?—No more than I did this time.

30,381. I am speaking of the last time, in 1865?—

NINETEENTH DAY.

G. A. Albuary.

12 Sept. 1866.

I took him in the bill after I had been working about a week for 10*s.* a day, and he paid me without grumbling.

30,382. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If you are engaged by a committee to post bills, I presume you have a great many more to post during the day than if a private person like myself was to ask you to post bills for the sale of an estate?—It all depends. Sometimes we had more than what was necessary; sometimes we had not enough.

30,383. You mean you could have covered more of the boardings and hoardings?—There are very few of them about here; they are generally brick walls.

30,384. I suppose you would post over your neighbours' bills too?—We did not make a practice of that. I think it was an understood thing between us that we should not do that sort of thing, interfering with one another's work.

30,385. The election war of paste and paper, you did not go into that?—No, we have never anything of that sort about here.

30,386. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say that at ordinary times 5*s.* a day would be the charge for posting?—That would be the charge. Yes, decidedly, I could do it for that.

30,387. Not higher than that in ordinary times?—I have earned at posting bills as much as 15*s.* or 16*s.* a day.

30,388. At ordinary times you say the charge is 5*s.* a day?—If you were to give me one little set of bills to post I should charge a crown for the one set. If there was more than one bill I should charge in proportion to the work.

30,389. Were there any bill posters that you know of who posted bills for both sides; Gower and Monson?—I know one man that did.

30,390. Who?—Beddington did.

30,391. Were you and he the only bill posters here?—I do not think there were any more at Reigate.

30,392. Was there one at Redhill?—I think there was.

30,393. Do you know how he did? Was he engaged on both sides?—I do not know, because I never had any conversation with the man.

30,394. Tell me how it was that you did not post bills for both sides if he did?—I do not think it a very good principle at all to go and take one man's money, and then go and work for the other man and take his money too, because they would naturally expect you to vote for them if you stick bills for them. It would not be anything like principle to go and take money both sides.

30,395. Unless you did not vote at all?—Then it is as bad, I consider.

30,396. When you were paid in 1863 you received the same amount as you had in 1865, exactly 19*l.* 15*s.*?—I do not know that.

30,397. You were paid at the same rate?—Yes.

30,398. Can you tell me who you agreed with then?—I believe it was Mr. Smith then; I would not be certain, it is so long ago.

The witness withdrew.

J. Ing.

JOHN ING sworn and examined.

30,399. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—Carman.

30,400. What rent do you pay for your house for which you vote?—20*l.*

30,401. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

30,402. Were you on his committee?—No.

30,403. Did you work for him?—No.

30,404. Did you do all you could for him in the way of the election?—I cannot say what I did. I asked a few friends that I knew.

30,405. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Himself.

30,406. Who was with him when he asked you?—I believe I saw Mr. Smith with him, and I think Mr. Joyes was somewhere not far off.

30,407. You saw Mr. Joyes afterwards, I suppose?—No, I did not.

30,408. Were you told that whoever worked for Mr. Gower should be paid?—No.

30,409. You did not hear that?—No, I was never told that.

30,410. You heard it?—No, I did not.

30,411. You heard it stated?—No, I did not.

30,412. Did you receive any money before the polling?—I did not; I was never promised anything.

30,413. Did you receive any after the polling?—Yes, I received 2*l.* some time afterwards.

30,414. From whom?—Mr. Apted.

30,415. Mr. Joseph Apted?—Yes.

30,416. When did you receive it?—I cannot say when; several weeks afterwards.

30,417. How came you to go to Mr. Apted?—I did not go to him at all. I go there pretty nearly every day, being a carman.

30,418. I am speaking about this election?—Yes.

30,419. He paid you 2*l.*?—He gave me 2*l.*

30,420. When, can you recollect?—I think about four or five weeks after the election; it might be six weeks.

30,421. Did he tell you what he had paid it to you for?—Not this last election.

30,422. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was this the last election that you had the 2*l.*?—No, never at all, nor yet promised anything. I misunderstood you.

30,423. You had nothing at this last election?—No, nothing was promised.

30,424. Nothing was promised; did you receive nothing from anybody at the last election?—Nothing.

30,425. Did you apply to anybody?—No, I did not.

30,426. Then you are speaking of 1863. For whom did you vote in 1863?—Mr. Gower.

30,427. Then it was Mr. Apted paid you?—Yes.

30,428. Had you voted before 1863?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Monson.

30,429. That would be in 1859?—Yes.

30,430. You were paid nothing for that?—I was paid nothing for voting, nor promised anything.

30,431. But you were paid something for your services?—I had 2*l.* given me then.

30,432. In 1859?—Yes.

30,433. By whom?—By Mr. Holdsworth.

30,434. After the election?—Yes, a long time.

30,435. What was it given to you for?—Well, I did not ask any questions. They said "John, that is "for you." I did not ask any question at all.

30,436. For whom had you voted when you had been paid the 2*l.*?—For Mr. Monson.

30,437. Did you not vote in October 1858?—No, only three times; I was not entitled at that time.

30,438. How was it you got nothing last time?—I tell you I voted three times and never expected anything.

30,439. And your expectations were exceeded on the two first occasions?—Then I did not expect it.

30,440. At the last were you not surprised?—No, I never expect anything unless I get it.

30,441. You did not get it from anybody?—No, I never had anything. Had anything been offered no doubt I should not have asked what it was for; I should have taken it.

30,442. Although not expecting it, I think you were a little disappointed at not getting something at the last election?—No, not at all disappointed.

30,443. You did not apply to Mr. Joyes at all about anything?—No, nor Mr. Joyes to me.

30,444. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know Mr. Matthews?—I do.

30,445. At this last election do you recollect his telling you that he had spoken to Mr. Smith about giving you a job?—No.

NINETEENTH DAY.

J. Ing.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,446. Do you recollect that?—He never did, not that I can recollect.

30,447. Do you remember going to Mr. Smith yourself?—No, I never did.

30,448. Did you have any talk with Mr. Smith at all?—I did not.

30,449. Have you anything to do with Mr. Matthews?—Not at all, further than going and collecting a little money of him,—railway bills and so on.

30,450. Did you not tell him that the election was going on, and that you should like a bit of a job?—No; I did not expect a job, I did not want one.

30,451. Did you not tell him that you were ready to do a bit of work, and that you should like a job?—I did not.

30,452. You did not ask him to mention you to Mr. Smith?—No, nor any one else.

30,453. Did you ask Mr. Matthews to mention your name to Mr. Smith?—I did not.

30,454. Did you ask him to mention your name to them?—No.

30,455. None of them?—Not one, nor no one else.

30,456. Who asked you for your vote this last time?—Mr. Gower himself.

30,457. Who else?—No one else. Mr. Smith was with him, and I think I saw Mr. Joyes somewhere in the road.

30,458. Did you tell Joyes that you were ready to do a job or work?—No, I did not; he never asked me.

30,459. You are sure you did not tell Mr. John Falkner Matthews?—I know him; I could swear it before his face, or any one else's.

30,460. Nothing of the sort?—Nothing of the sort.

30,461. It is very odd; there must be some mistake.—It may be odd, but it is true.

30,462. Did you know that he mentioned your name to Mr. Smith?—No, I do not know that he did; I never heard any one say so, nor Mr. Smith himself; I never had one word of conversation with Mr. Smith about the election. I promised Mr. Gower, and I said, "You can depend upon me." That is all the words that I said before or afterwards.

30,463. But having promised him it was the more likely you should be inclined to do something for him?—I had not got time; I was engaged in the railway.

30,464. A good many people had not much time, but they made a little extra time?—Yes.

30,465. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You know Mr. Matthews I suppose?—Yes.

30,466. And he knows you?—Yes.

30,467. He is friendly towards you I suppose?—Yes.

30,468. And perfectly willing to give you a good turn if he could?—I do not know about that.

The witness withdrew.

James Dewdney sworn and examined.

J. Dewdney.

30,469. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification to be on the register, Mr. Dewdney? I suppose you are on the register?—I suppose so.

30,470. I simply ask you what is your qualification?—House, land and premises.

30,471. What rent?—28*l.*

30,472. What are you, Mr. Dewdney?—A baker.

30,473. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes, and I never voted before in my life.

30,474. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

30,475. Were you on his committee?—No, I never was on any committee in my life.

30,476. Did you assist him at all in his election besides voting?—No.

30,477. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—I never was asked in my life.

30,478. Did Mr. Gower call upon you?—He called upon me one morning when I was loading my cart.

30,479. Did you take no part in the election of 1863?—No, I never voted before in my life.

30,480. Had you known Mr. Gower before the election of 1865?—Known him?

30,481. Yes.—I know him when I see him.

30,482. Do you know him when you see him?—Yes, and that is all.

30,483. He is a gentleman living in the neighbourhood?—I don't know about the neighbourhood. He lives at Titsey.

30,484. I suppose he comes into the town at times?—He comes into the town sometimes when there are concerts or public meetings.

30,485. Did you attend any of those meetings?—No, I never did, not in all my life.

30,486. Did you not in 1863?—No, never in my life.

30,487. Did you interest yourself at all in the election of 1863?—I never interested myself at all before 1865.

30,488. May I take it then you did not?—I never had anything to do with any election in my life, more than that I voted for Mr. Gower in 1865.

30,489. Then I take your answer in the negative, that you did not vote in 1863?—I never in my life voted for anybody till 1865.

30,490. Were any of your relations on the register in 1865?—I do not know that I have any relations, barring a brother.

30,491. I suppose you would call your brother a relation?—Yes.

30,492. Your brother was on the register, I suppose, in 1863?—I do not know.

30,493. Do you know who he voted for?—I do not know whether he voted, or, if he did vote, who he voted for, in 1863. I have no recollection of the 1863 election.

30,494. Did your brother vote in 1865?—Yes, sir.

30,495. Did you go to the poll together?—No, sir.

30,496. Where does your brother live?—In Meadvale.

30,497. Where do you live?—In the town here, 200 yards from this place.

30,498. Where does your brother live?—At Meadvale, a mile and a half from this place.

30,499. Who did your brother vote for in 1865?—I do not know whether he did vote.

30,500. Your brother and you, I suppose, were very good friends?—Not at that time.

30,501. In 1863?—No.

30,502. You were not in 1863?—No, sir.

30,503. And you were not interested in the election of 1863?—No.

30,504. Though you did not take an active part in the election of '63 you took some interest?—I told you I never took any part before that of '65.

30,505. No part whatever?—No part at all; none whatever.

30,506. Had you anything to do with canvassing one single voter, or inducing a single voter in 1863?—Not at all. I never asked a man to vote for any candidate in my life.

30,507. Not in connexion with your brother in 1863?—No.

30,508. And you had no connexion with your brother in 1863?—No.

30,509. You say you were not on the best of terms with your brother in 1863?—No, I was not.

30,510. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you canvassed by anybody in 1863 to vote?—I have no recollection of that.

30,511. Your memory is not so bad as all that since 1863?—I know nothing at all about the 1863 election.

NINETEENTH DAY.

J. Dewdney.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,512. We begin to think, and naturally, if your memory is so bad?—No, I did not.

30,513. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We will take it as a fact you did not take an active part in the election of 1863 or of this till circumstances took place?—What circumstances?

30,514. You are perfectly well aware there were some circumstances?—What circumstances?

30,515. I say you are well aware there were some circumstances, or else you would not jump so quickly to answer?—I wish to know what circumstances. I don't know what circumstances you allude to?

30,516. Then, why did you jump so at the question?—I did not jump at it.

30,517. You seem a little too eager?—Not at all.

30,518. Now I will put a plain question to you. Just before 4 o'clock, or late in the afternoon of the polling of 1863, did you not offer your own vote if anybody would give you 40*l.*?—No.

30,519. Was not this the little circumstance you jumped at?—No.

30,520. I suppose you have heard it before?—No.

30,521. Or hinted at?—No.

30,522. Then, what was your anxiety just now on the question being put?—I was under no anxiety.

30,523. Then it is your general fancy?—No, it is not at all my fancy; it is no inclination of mine I can assure you.

30,524. Was not something said; they would take you up at 4 o'clock?—I know nothing of 4 o'clock.

30,525. That is no answer to the question. Was not something said they would take you up at 4 o'clock?—No.

30,526. Not so?—No.

30,527. Did anybody come to you a few minutes after 4 on the polling day?—I have no recollection of the sort.

30,528. Did they?—Not that I know of.

30,529. You surely can say either yes or no; it is rather a vague answer, "Not that I know of;" you can either say yes or no?—Put the question again that I may understand it?

30,530. Did anybody come to you after 4 o'clock, when the poll had closed, and then you said it was too late?—No, nobody came to me.

30,531. Did you offer your vote to anybody in 1863?—No. I fully made up my mind not to vote in 1863.

30,532. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who canvassed you?—I was not canvassed at all.

30,533. Who asked you to vote?—I believe Mr. Burt asked me to vote for Mr. Wilkinson.

30,534. What is he?—A lawyer; as good as any other lawyer, I suppose.

30,535. Did you tell Mr. Burt that you would not vote?—I do not recollect what I did say.

30,536. Have you not a clear recollection of what you did say?—No, I have not a recollection. I was merely asked for Mr. Wilkinson when I came home with my horse and cart. I scarcely took any notice of him. I went down to take my horse, when he asked me if I would vote for Mr. Wilkinson. I said, "No," and he said, "You will promise not to vote "against him," and I said, "No, I will not."

30,537. That was a very doubtful answer?—No, I think not.

30,538. It left him to imagine you would or might be gained. Is that your only recollection of being asked?—I do not recollect being asked by any one else.

30,539. Then, in the afternoon of the polling day nothing took place a little before 4 o'clock or after?—No.

30,540. Or saying anything about it?—No.

30,541. I do not mean seriously, but in bravado. Did you not say, "If anybody will give me 40*l.* I will vote"?—No; I did not want their money.

30,542. But did not you say it as matter of joke?—No. I had fully made up my mind not to vote, and I did not.

30,543. But as a matter of joke you might have said, "If anybody would give me 40*l.* they shall have "my vote." You know there was money flying about, and you might, as a little joke, bring it out in that way?—No.

30,544. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you present at the polling in 1863?—No, sir.

30,545. Where were you on the polling day?—About my own business.

30,546. But you remember it, I suppose; were you at home at the time?—I was carrying out my bread and taking my money for it; that is what I was doing.

30,547. Did you get any knowledge at 4 o'clock, or after 4 o'clock, about the state of the poll?—No.

30,548. Was any message sent to you?—No, no message at all.

30,549. Was no message sent to you a little before or a little after the poll?—No, no messages, and so I have told you already.

30,550. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or talked to?—No.

30,551. I do not mean a letter or message, but somebody seeing you and speaking to you about it?—No.

30,552. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was a very close contest?—I believe it was.

30,553. You remember so much as that?—I confuse them. There have been so many elections that I really confuse them. I never voted at that election, and I know nothing about it.

30,554. I suppose there was a great deal of excitement in the town when it was getting to half-past 3 o'clock, and the two candidates were getting so close?—I suppose there might be.

30,555. It was very natural it should be so?—I had thoroughly made up my mind not to vote, and when I once make up my mind nobody can turn me.

30,556. I think you are a man not very likely to be turned; but for all that you might have had a person come and say to you, "Now, Mr. Dewdney, we are "running very close indeed, so close that we do not "know which will win, will you give us your vote?" Did anybody come and say that?—No party ever came a-near me.

30,557. (The Chief Commissioner.) By the way, I was going to ask you whether Daniel Dewdney was your brother?—I have got but one brother, and he is William Dewdney.

30,558. Will you tell me this? In 1865 you did vote for Mr. Gower, that was your first election. Mr. Gower was the person, you told us, who called upon you; who was the person to whom you promised your vote?—I never promised my vote to a man-jack of them. Mr. Gower, as I told you before, asked me for my vote while I was loading my cart at the door.

30,559. What I want to know is ——?—Do you mean those flabbergasting agents? Do you mean them, because there was not an agent who asked me for my vote—there!

30,560. No agent asked you?—Not one.

30,561. Did any one ask you for your vote besides Mr. Gower?—Not a man.

30,562. How long before the election was it that you saw Mr. Gower?—I do not recollect that; it might be a week or a month.

30,563. I mean in '65?—Yes, I was loading my horse and cart with my bread.

30,564. I know that; I only want to find out about how long before the election that was?—I should not like to swear to such a thing.

30,565. Do you think it was perhaps a month? Anything you like I will take. I do not want to tie you to a day or two?—I do not think it was hardly a month.

30,566. During the election time, after that, did not some one come to you from Mr. Gower, and say, "You promised Mr. Gower; I hope it is all right"?—Not a soul.

30,567. Tell me what time in the day you did vote?—I do not know. I never looked at the clock.

30,568. I did not say you did; please to tell me about what time in the day you voted?—I never looked at the clock.

30,569. Never mind the clock; please to tell me what time in the day you did vote?—It was after dinner.

30,570. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What time did you dine?—I dined at various times.

30,571. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now tell me about what time it was?—I go away with my horse and cart; I am sometimes three hours away, sometimes two, sometimes one, and so when I came back with my horse and cart I had my dinner.

30,572. Do you think it would be about 3 o'clock?—It was between 2 and 4 o'clock, if that is near enough.

30,573. Who was there whom you knew when you went to poll?—Who was there?

30,574. Yes?—There were a good many people there.

30,575. Any one you knew?—There were a lot of these here helpers, that hallo'd the people in and out, and a lot of roughs.

30,576. We do not care about them; did you notice anybody whom you knew?—Yes, Mr. Gower was there himself.

30,577. Did you notice any friends besides Mr. Gower?—Not particularly.

30,578. Did you notice any respectable persons living about here whom you knew?—I do not know; I do not recollect who was there now.

30,579. You do not remember any one?—Mr. Dennis, a butcher, went and polled the same time I did. I do not wish to bring his name in. I do not know that I should have polled if it had not have been for him. There was another gentleman.

30,580. Did Mr. Dennis ask you to come up?—I had just had my dinner, and I was in the shop; he came along, and he said to me, "Have you voted?" and I said, "No, what is the use of voting with the "majority so large?" that Mr. Gower had got. He said, "I am going to vote, and you must go with me." We went and voted togother, me and my friend.

30,581. What was the name of the other gentleman?—A farmer near here.

30,582. You do not know his name now?—No.

30,583. Then you went with Dennis?—Yes.

30,584. After that did you see Smith?—What Smith?

30,585. Mr. Smith, the agent?—No.

30,586. Did Mr. Smith call on you?—Mr. Smith never called upon me for my vote in his life.

30,587. And you had no conversation with him after the election?—I never saw him, no more than that I might have seen him the next day, because I went to his house with the bread.

30,588. There was no conversation with him about it?—I never saw him.

30,589. Do you recollect when you were on the register first of all?—I do not know when I was put on the register.

30,590. You cannot tell how long you have been on the register?—No, I cannot. I succeeded from my father, I believe; the names are both alike. I never asked any one to put my name on the register.

30,591. Did Mr. Dennis vote, in '63?—I did not know anything about Mr. Dennis; he was not in the same shop he is in now.

30,592. Who canvassed you in 1863?—Canvassed who?

30,593. It was Mr. Burt who asked you to vote for Mr. Wilkinson. I beg your pardon for asking you the same thing twice; you knew Mr. Burt very well in '63?—I knew him as a business man in the town.

30,594. He was a professional man here?—Yes, but he never did anything for me.

30,595. Was it on the day of the polling that he spoke to you?—No.

30,596. What day was it?—I do not know long before the polling, he asked me one day.

30,597. You do not recollect whether it was on the polling day?—It was not on the polling day.

30,598. Some time before?—I dare say it was weeks before.

30,599. Did you make him any promise?—No promise at all.

30,600. Can you tell me at all what you said to him? Did you say to him, "I shall not make up my mind"?—He wanted me to promise not to vote against Mr. Wilkinson, and I told him I would do nothing of the kind.

30,601. Were you in doubt at that time whether you would vote for Mr. Wilkinson or not?—No.

30,602. Which way did you think of going?—I made up my mind not to vote at all.

30,603. Did you tell Mr. Burt so?—No, I did not tell him so.

30,604. Perhaps Mr. Burt supposed you would vote?—I do not know what he might suppose; he might suppose a good many things.

30,605. Did you see him on the day of the polling?—No, I never saw him from that day forward to speak to; he never spoke to me; I did not look at him.

30,606. Did he not speak to you in 1863 before the election was over?—Yes.

30,607. After that did he speak to you again?—No, only that once.

30,608. Were you about watching the poll on that day?—What day?

30,609. On the election day of '63?—No.

30,610. I suppose you took an interest in how the election was going?—No, I had plenty of work without bothering after elections. I had a great deal to do to attend to my business.

30,611. So has everybody who has business to attend to; but you did take notice, did you not?—No, I kept out of the way. I did not want to vote, and I did not want any of their talk.

30,612. It was rather a close contest?—I believe it was.

30,613. Were they not looking up all the persons they could find?—I think they were.

30,614. They came to you and tried to induce you to vote?—No.

30,615. Did they not come and call upon you?—They might have called.

30,616. Who was it you had come to call upon you?—I do not know.

30,617. But who did you hear was anxious to find you, that you might help them?—I did not see them myself. My sisters told me that Mr. Goldsmith called with a carriage, and Relf, but I did not see them.

30,618. I am afraid, for Mr. Wilkinson's sake, they did not find you?—No.

30,619. Where were you when you did not want to be teased?—I was in the bakehouse, sifting flour.

30,620. You did not want to be teased by them, perhaps?—No, I did not want them in the flour sifting.

30,621. Mr. Goldsmith and Relf came, and after they had gone away did you know that they had been there?—My sisters told me they had been.

30,622. Did you go up to look for them afterwards?—No, not I; I never went out of the house.

30,623. Not where the polling was going on?—I never went out of the house.

30,624. Was it very late when they came?—I do not know what time it was; I did not look at the clock.

30,625. What time was it?—It was between 1 and 4 o'clock.

30,626. It was late, was it not?—It might have been 2 o'clock.

30,627. Do you not know that it was very late?—I do not know.

NINETEENTH DAY.

J. Dewdney.

12 Sept. 1865.

30,628. Did Goldsmith and Relf tell you?—I did not see them.

30,629. Had they not told you before that they would come and look for you?—They never asked me for my vote in my life.

30,630. Did they not tell you before?—I never spoke to them during the election.

30,631. Did they not leave a message to tell you?—No message at all.

30,632. Did they not leave a message?—I had no message.

30,633. From your sister or somebody in the house?—They told them I was not going to vote, and off they went.

30,634. Did they not say, "Oh, very well, tell him "to come up directly"?—I do not know what they said to them.

30,635. It would not be in your hearing?—I do not know what they said.

30,636. Did they not, before they came there, make you aware that they were coming for you?—How could they make me aware if I never saw them?

30,637. In two or three ways; in the first place they might have sent you a note?—I had no notes.

30,638. Did they not send you a message?—Do you really think that a man would send me an election note?

30,639. I am inclined to agree with you?—I think that is a very vague question; I really do consider it so; you must excuse me, you are a better educated man than me, I know.

30,640. Did they send you a message?—No message whatever.

30,641. Did they not send you a message something of this sort, that they were anxious to get hold of you?—No.

30,642. Did you not know, though, that they were anxious to get hold of you?—I did not see the men.

30,643. Did you not know it yourself from hearing of it?—I heard nothing. I came home with my cart and put my horse up, and then I had my dinner, and afterwards I went to work; I did not go out of the house.

30,644. Did you not know that they were very anxious to get you?—How should I know it?

30,645. First of all, did you know who they were?—No; I was in the bakehouse at work, and I did not see them.

30,646. You told your sisters the morning of the election, previous to their coming?—Which morning?

30,647. The morning when Mr. Goldsmith and Mr. Relf called on you?—I had not seen a man-jack of them.

30,648. Did you tell your sisters that if Mr. Relf —— ?—I did not know that Relf was coming.

30,649. Did you tell your sister, or any person in your house, that if Relf or Goldsmith, either or both of them came for you, you did not want to see them?—I told my sisters I did not intend to vote, and that they might tell them all so.

30,650. You told them to tell them all so?—Yes.

30,651. What is your sister's Christian name?—There are two of them.

30,652. But I mean the one who you spoke to; you told one sister that if anybody came —— ?—I do not know now which it might be.

30,653. Give me, if you please, both their Christian names?—Emily and Maria.

30,654. Did you mention Goldsmith's and Relf's names particularly to your sister?—I did not mention their names; I did not know what men were coming.

30,655. Did you not mention their names?—I did no more than tell them that I did not intend to vote.

30,656. I wish you would answer me one or two questions?—I will answer as fast as you give them.

30,657. Did you mention any names?—I mentioned no names at all; I was fully determined not to vote, and I did not vote.

30,658. Then I understand you to say that you told one of your sisters, that if any of them called she was to say that you did not want to see them?—It is no matter what I said.

30,659. Did you tell your sister, if any of them called she was to say that you did not want to have anything to say to them, as you did not intend to vote?—Yes; I did not want to see them.

30,660. "I do not want to see them," was that the purport of the message?—Yes.

30,661. What made you think they were going to call?—I never thought anything of the sort.

30,662. You left the message; what made you think any of them were going to call?—I did not know they were going to call.

30,663. I know you did not, but what made you leave a message; you would not have left a message with your sisters unless you had thought they would call?—I did not leave any message.

30,664. You would not have left this order with your sisters if you had not expected somebody?—I do not know that I left any order.

30,665. What made you leave those directions with your sisters?—I left no directions.

30,666. You said so just now, only you did not use the word directions?—I say I did not leave any directions.

30,667. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Your sisters would not have said you were out unless you had?—My sisters never said I was out.

30,668. (The Chief Commissioner.) They said that you would not vote; what made you tell your sisters so?—What made me?

30,669. Why did you do that?—I did not intend to vote, and I told them to tell everybody so who came.

30,670. Why did you leave that message with your sisters if you were not expecting some of them?—I did not expect them.

30,671. Had you any reason to expect them?—No reason whatever; they never asked me to vote.

30,672. You knew the election had been on; was running very close?—I do not know how the success was running, I had not been in the town.

30,673. You told me that you knew it was a close contest, and your own party would be very anxious for votes; answer the question then?—I cannot answer it more than I have done, I have given a fair answer to you.

30,674. Why was it that you left those directions with your sisters?—If I did not intend to vote I did not want them.

30,675. Want who; Relf and Goldsmith?—I did not want them, I had not seen the men, and they had not asked me to vote.

30,676. What made you think that they or any of them would come?—I did not think they would come.

30,677. So you left a message only for fun?—That is all.

30,678. It was all from fun?—I suppose it was; I did not know any one was coming after me; they never asked me to vote.

30,679. Had you seen any of them, that is, of the party, previously?—No, not at all.

30,680. Now I will ask you in this way; you thought there would be very likely some of them call to get you to vote, did you not?—I never thought anything about it.

30,681. Did you not think it likely some of them would leave a message?—No.

30,682. Have you had nothing to do with them?—I had nothing to do with the election.

30,683. Had not you just before they came after your vote?—No.

30,684. Are you sure?—Yes.

30,685. Or been offered anything by any person?—No.

30,686. Are you quite sure you had not offered your vote that very day to somebody ?—No, I was not asked for it.

30,687. Pray be cautious about this, I want to have an answer to this if you please, only do not answer it in a hurry ; are you quite sure that you had not offered that very day your vote to somebody ?—No, I never offered it at all.

30,688. I wish to be certain ?—No, not on that day.

30,689. I am serious about this ; had you not on that day made an offer of your vote ?—Made an offer of it ?

30,690. Yes ?—No.

30,691. Had you not ?—How could I offer it if I did not see anybody to offer it to ?

30,692. Perhaps I shall be able to remind you of that by-and-by, I only want to have now a distinct answer ; had you not made an offer of your vote that very day ; we have got you leaving a message with your sisters that if they called they could not see you, and I think it must be now pretty clear to you there was some reason to expect they would call ?—No, I had no reason to expect that.

30,693. Bearing that in mind, I want to ask you this question seriously ; had you not on that day made an offer of your vote ?—Not at all.

30,694. Neither in earnest or in jest ?—Not at all.

30,695. Yet you thought it possible they might ask you ?—I did not think so, they had no reason to ask me for it.

30,696. Mr. Burt had ?—But you are speaking of the polling day.

30,697. If it was not on the polling day, had they not called on you for your vote recently before, perhaps it was the day before ?—No.

30,698. A few days before ?—No.

30,699. Long after your message to Mr. Burt ?—No, not at all about Mr. Burt.

30,700. And you had not offered your vote either on the polling day or any previous day ?—No.

30,701. I will ask you another question, had they told you ?—What ?

30,702. You shall hear what they told you ; previously to this they told you that if they could come up to your terms that they would call upon you ?—No.

30,703. Had they told you ; you used the expression, " any of them " ?—I do not know what you mean exactly.

30,704. Had any of them ?—No.

30,705. I am asking you a serious question ; now had any of them, to use your own phrase, told you that if they found they could come up to your terms they would call upon you ?—I had no terms, I never saw anybody.

30,706. Did they tell you that if they could come up to your terms ?—I had no terms with anybody, I had got no terms.

30,707. Did they tell you this ?—What ?

30,708. Any of them ?—Nobody.

30,709. Any of them ?—No, and I had seen none of them.

30,710. Did they tell you that if they could come up to your terms they would call on you about five minutes before 4 o'clock ?—Nothing at all ; I never saw anybody.

30,711. Aye or no ; be so good as to tell me whether they did not tell you that if they could come up to your terms they would call upon you at five minutes before 4 o'clock ?—No.

30,712. Nothing of the sort ?—I will swear nobody said anything of the sort to me.

30,713. Did they not give you to understand that by any means at all ?—I will swear I had no pledge of that kind from any one if you require it.

30,714. I want you to tell me candidly and properly, and to answer my question, did they send you any message of that kind ?—I never had any message.

30,715. Was it on a paper ?—I never saw any paper, nor any agents.

30,716. Had any terms been made ?—No terms whatever.

30,717. Had any terms been offered ?—No.

30,718. Do you mean that ?—Yes.

30,719. Do you really mean that no terms had been offered ?—Yes.

30,720. I mean by offered, any terms offered by you ?—No ; no terms whatever.

30,721. Nor to you ?—No.

30,722. Are you sure about that ?—Yes, I am quite sure.

30,723. Not to any of the party ?—No.

30,724. Not the day before ?—No.

30,725. Or the polling day ?—No.

30,726. Or the Monday ?—No.

30,727. I forgot, this is the election of 1863, I do not know the day ; I will ask you either on the polling day, or on the nomination day, or the day before ?—No.

30,728. Then you had not any terms ?—What should I make terms with them for if I had made up my mind not to vote ? I do not understand what terms you mean.

30,729. Did you receive any message about five minutes before 4 ?—I have told you over and over again, I had no message.

30,730. You have not told me so, I beg your pardon ?—I had no message whatever.

30,731. When did your sisters tell you they had been there ?—I do not know when.

30,732. I should like to know ?—When who had been ?

30,733. I do not know, but I suppose Relf and Goldsmith ; we will take it if you like ?—They were there in the course of the afternoon, that is all I can tell you, but I did not see them.

30,734. I should like to know whether they told you that they came five minutes before 4 ?—I do not know.

30,735. Did they tell you that they had come there five minutes before 4 ?—No, I do not know they were there five minutes before 4, it might have been 3 o'clock, or half-past 2, or half-past 3 ; I do not know what time it was.

30,736. They did not tell you ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS MILLER sworn and examined.

T. Miller.

30,737. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rented house do you occupy ?—12*l.* a year.

30,738. What are you ?—A gardener.

30,739. In what district ?—Near Redhill church, on Earlswood-common.

30,740. Who did you vote for last election ?—Mr. Monson.

30,741. Who asked you for your vote first of all ?—I was canvassed by letter from Thomas Barker. I was at Berwarsh in Sussex.

30,742. You were at Berwarsh ?—Yes, I was residing there, though I had a vote.

30,743. When did you come up ?—The night before the election.

30,744. Did you go to Mr. Nichols' ?—No, I had nothing to do with him.

30,745. Where did you go when you came here ?—I sauntered my time about ; I called on Mr. Barker ; I had been acquainted with him eight years, and between 10 and 11 I had lived by myself.

NINETEENTH DAY.

T. Miller.

12 Sept. 1866.

30,746. It was Barker's the tailor?—Yes; I never interested myself in the election, though I certainly wished my man to win, but at 5 o'clock, as I was going away by the down train, he gave me 3*l.*, the same as he related here.

30,747. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was after you voted?—After I voted; I voted in the morning between 10 and 11.

30,748. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that all that you did with regard to the election?—That was all.

30,749. Tell me, did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

30,750. Who did you vote for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

30,751. Mr. Nichols was engaged for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—To the best of my belief I never spoke to Mr. Nichols.

30,752. And did Mr. Nichols work for Mr. Gower in 1863?—I think he did.

30,753. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee in 1863?—No.

30,754. What part did you take in the election of 1863?—Nothing whatever, only wishing my man would win.

30,755. And you voted?—Yes, between 10 and 11.

30,756. Were you paid for that?—No.

30,757. Did you get anything at all after the election?—I never received a fraction of anything, and I never expected anything, neither did I ask on account of my being in a very good service in a county family. I never expected such a thing.

30,758. What were you?—A gentleman's gardener. In 1863 I lived in their parish.

30,759. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where did you say you were residing at that time, in 1865?—In the parish of Berwash; I had left my house then.

30,760. How long had you left?—In November and the election came on in July; there was not a registration held since.

30,761. You were not on the register, though I am satisfied you did not know it?—I left in November and the election came off in July; had it come on after the registration I should not have been on.

30,762. You were not entitled to your vote?—There was no new registration made at the time I voted.

30,763. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was a mistake, you might not have known it at that time. You got nothing then in 1863?—No.

30,764. Had you voted before 1863?—No.

30,765. Then you only got the 3*l.* paid you by Mr. Barker?—Yes; the words that were used were, "That will pay your expenses."

30,766. It more than paid your expenses, did it not?—Certainly it did; I did not spend 3*l.* to come up and go back 45 miles.

30,767. Are you the Miller at Redhill?—I did live at Redhill, but there were more Millers than myself; one Miller I personally knew.

30,768. I was going to ask you whether you know James Apted?—I know James Apted the poulterer, but I am not acquainted with him. I never had any dealings with him.

30,769. You were not the Miller frequently at Mr. Nichols'?—No, I never took any part in it at all.

30,770. Is there any other Miller at Redhill that you know of?—No, because old Thomas Miller is dead. He was no relation to me, and there was another Thomas Miller, his son, at Redhill, but he is dead now.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS COOK sworn and examined.

T. Cook.

30,771. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A labourer.

30,772. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you voted?—5*s.*

30,773. You voted for Mr. Monson at the last election?—Yes.

30,774. Had you voted at the previous election in 1863?—Yes.

30,775. For whom did you vote at that election?—Mr. Wilkinson.

30,776. Who talked to you about voting for Mr. Monson?—Richard Fuller.

30,777. What were you to have?—30*s.* a week.

30,778. For how many weeks before the election?—Three weeks.

30,779. Did he give you the three weeks' pay?—No, he only gave me 3*l.*

30,780. (The Chief Commissioner.) Fuller paid you?—Yes.

30,781. How long before the polling did he pay you the last 30*s.*?—A week.

30,782. And then did you apply to him after you voted for the other 30*s.*?—Yes.

30,783. What did he say?—He said he had not got it.

30,784. Did he tell you he would get it for you, or something to that effect?—He said he would try it.

30,785. And he has not got it for you?—He has not.

30,786. Who did he say it was who gave him the money?—He did not say who to me.

30,787. He said, of course, he was to get it from some other?—Yes, from the Monson party.

30,788. What is Fuller?—A bricklayer.

30,789. You do not know whether he got any money or not?—No; he told me he had not got it on Sunday night.

30,790. Last Sunday night you asked him?—Yes.

30,791. For 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson; who spoke to you about voting for Mr. Wilkinson first?—Thomas Dann, of Reigate.

30,792. What were you to get?—He did not say anything.

30,793. Did you get anything?—Not a halfpenny.

30,794. Had you voted before?—No.

30,795. That was your first time of voting?—Yes.

30,796. You were not employed in any way at the election?—No, no more than waiting to get some more if I could of my own neighbours; I spoke to them, and Norman Wilkinson asked me to do that.

30,797. Did you?—Yes, I spoke to several, and they voted; three of my neighbours did.

30,798. Then you got three votes?—Yes, in the street in which I live.

30,799. They made you some compliment for that?—Bonny ought to have done.

30,800. Did they not?—No, not a halfpenny; Mr. Norman Wilkinson told me to look to Mr. Bonny for it, and so did Mr. Thompson of London.

30,801. Who is Mr. Thompson?—He used to come down every night during the election.

30,802. To assist Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

30,803. You went to Bonny for it?—Yes.

30,804. What did you ask him?—I asked him for my money; I was out five nights.

30,805. You did not say how much?—No; I was not promised anything.

30,806. You were not promised any sum, but you expected to be paid?—Certainly, when Mr. Wilkinson told me, and I asked for it.

30,807. What did Bonny say to that?—He said he would kick my —— if I did not go off, and I said if he would come out in the road two could play at that; those were the very words he used, and I told him to walk out into the road and do it.

30,808. He had no right to say that, and when you had been out five nights and had worked for Mr. Wilkinson?—I had been at work altogether nine weeks.

30,809. And that was the remark you got for it?—That was all I got, and a little ginger beer; I had that.

30,810. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me was there much treating going on at that election?—Not with me.

30,811. But you had been nine weeks with them?—I had seen some, but I did not take any, I was a teetotaler at that time.

30,812. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I hope you are a teetotaler now?—I am turned again to-day, I turned too quick the other day, for I met an old friend who I had not seen for 20 years.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned to to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

TWENTIETH DAY.

Thursday, 13th September 1866.

Mr. John Furley sworn and examined.

30,813. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—I do not know that I can call myself anything; I am a certificated solicitor, but do not practise.

30,814. But have you been in practise?—No, I have past my examination, but do not practise; in fact, I believe at this moment I am not certificated.

30,815. Are you a voter of the borough of Reigate?—No, sir.

30,816. Were you in 1865?—No, I have never been a voter; it is not my home, I do not reside here.

30,817. Were you here during the election in 1865?—Yes.

30,818. Were you engaged about it at that time?—Yes.

30,819. In what way?—I was working for Mr. Monson, as I had been on previous occasions.

30,820. Were you associated with no person at the time?—No, sir.

30,821. Who engaged you?—I never had been engaged. In every one of the Monson elections I have been here, more or less, working for him; I began in order to assist my friend Mr. Hart, and as a friend.

30,822. You came to assist Mr. Hart in 1865?—Yes.

30,823. You came to assist Mr. Hart?—Yes.

30,824. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was the conducting agent?—Yes.

30,825. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you were here from the beginning to the end of it?—Not from the beginning; I forget the day I arrived; it was three or four weeks before the election.

30,826. What were your duties? What part did you take?—I had no duties at all.

30,827. Only volunteer duties?—I attended meetings, and sometimes I took notes for Mr. Hart.

30,828. Did you attend any of the Gower meetings?—I think I attended one held under a tent on Earlswood-common; that was the only one.

30,829. Did you make any payments for Mr. Hart?—No, I never made a payment.

30,830. You made no payments at all?—No.

30,831. Did you canvass a good many voters?—Not at the last election, I do not think I canvassed any.

30,832. Then I need hardly ask you whether you secured many votes?—No, I certainly did not; I think I may have asked two men, in fact I know I did.

30,833. Who were they?—The gardener at the "White Hart," and Mr. Hart's gardener; I asked them which way they were going to vote. Mr. Hart's gardener said he had promised Mr. Gower, the other said he was not sure; he was undecided.

30,834. What did you do then at the election, for at present we have only got a negative?—It is difficult to define what I did do; I assisted Mr. Hart at one or two places, I took down minutes.

30,835. Do you happen to have a list of the Monson committee for 1865?—I think I have got a list somewhere, which I cut out of a newspaper.

30,836. Where is it?—It is difficult to say, I think it is at Ashford.

30,837. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you think you could send it to us?—I might lay my hand upon it; I know I put one away somewhere.

30,838. When shall you be there?—I shall not be there for six weeks.

30,839. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you look over any bills for Mr. Hart?—No.

30,840. Did you some time after the election?—Directly after the election I went abroad.

30,841. I think I asked you whether you had looked over any bills sent in to Mr. Hart?—No, I was absent during the whole time the bills were being sent in.

30,842. Did you receive any money to pay out from Mr. Hart?—If you will allow me, I will sum up very shortly all I know about money.

30,843. If you please, you can do so?—Since the first election, when the present Lord Monson came forward, from that time up to the present, I have never been engaged as an agent, and I have paid my own money.

30,844. I did not mean money paid with regard to yourself?—I understand that, but the only money I ever received during the whole of the election is about 12*l.*, towards carriages, or one or two other expenses of that kind; nothing else has passed between Mr. Hart and myself as to money.

30,845. I do not mean as between yourself and Mr. Hart, Mr. Hart may have received considerable sums to pay out; did you receive any sums of money?—Never.

30,846. I do not mean that for yourself, but to distribute or keep on account?—Never.

30,847. Can you give me any information at all; I ask this with the fullest confidence that you will give a candid answer; can you give me any information at all with regard to money matters at the election of 1865?—Not the slightest.

30,848. Then I am afraid you cannot give us any more information?—I am afraid not, it would only be supposition.

30,849. What you saw or did yourself?—I had nothing to do with the canvass or disbursement of money.

30,850. Nothing to do with the receipt of money?—No.

30,851. What was the first election you had come down to aid and support Mr. Monson?—It was in October 1858, Monson and Wilkinson.

30,852. Did you come and support the Honourable Mr. Monson?—Yes.

30,853. You were not a voter?—No.

30,854. Did you receive any money on that occasion?—No.

30,855. None at all?—No.

30,856. Nor on any subsequent occasion?—No.

TWENTIETH DAY.

Mr. J. Furley.

13 Sept. 1866.

30,857. Has Mr. Hart or Mr. Monson paid you money on account of the election?—No.

30,858. For other people?—No, never for other people or myself.

30,859. And on no subsequent elections did you receive money from Mr. Monson or Mr. Hart on account of the election?—Never.

The witness then withdrew.

W. Carruthers.

William Carruthers sworn and examined.

30,860. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A builder.

30,861. Your premises are extensive, I believe?—Yes.

30,862. You employ several men under you?—From 1 to 200.

30,863. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You mean from 100 to 200?—Yes.

30,864. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Monson.

30,865. Are the premises you occupy your own?—They are taken on lease from Earl Somers, on a lease, I think, of 41 years. The rent is about 40*l.*, more or less. I have made considerable improvements since I took it.

30,866. I suppose you are one of the principal builders in Reigate?—I should think so.

30,867. Did you take an active part in this last election?—Not very; I never have taken an active part in elections, but perhaps more so in the last than in any other.

30,868. Did you take part in canvassing?—No.

30,869. Are these men that you employ employed in your own yard or upon various buildings?—The joiners are employed in the yard, and the builders and others upon different buildings; at Hackney, I am now upon the church, and upon various buildings in different parts of the country.

30,870. Many of the men under you, I believe, are voters?—Yes, a great many.

30,871. Can you tell exactly what proportion of voters were amongst your workmen?—I cannot tell you exactly, but I should say about 20.

30,872. Not more?—20 or 25; I should not think more than that.

30,873. You understand probably by my term canvassing going about in the neighbourhood?—I never went about the neighbourhood to any one.

30,874. Did you canvass at all your own workmen?—Never; I never have asked them. After they had promised their votes I may have asked them which side they were going to vote for.

30,875. How did you know they had promised their votes?—I knew from my foreman Carden.

30,876. Was he a voter?—Yes.

30,877. For whom did he vote?—Mr. Monson.

30,878. What is his Christian name?—John.

30,879. Where does he live?—In one of my houses in Nutley-lane.

30,880. How came you to inquire of your foreman?—I was told that the voters who had promised Mr. Monson were afterwards induced by Mr. Gower's party to go over and vote for him; one or two in particular were mentioned to me.

30,881. (Mr. Commissioner. O'Brien.) Who were they?—A person of the name of Gibbs was one in particular, and another of the name of Gilbert was thought to be shaky, as they call it.

30,882. Gibbs was one, and Gilbert was shaky?—Gibbs was considered very much so.

30,883. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you hear that your men had promised in this way before you inquired?—Yes, by Carden. He told me that most of the men he believed, if they were let alone, would vote for Mr. Monson. When I say let alone, I mean without any undue influence.

30,884. Did you give your foreman Carden any instructions when you heard that these voters were shaky?—Not in the least. He asked me if I would speak to them, and I told him I did not wish to interfere with the men's votes, I would rather not; but if I could be of any service to Mr. Monson, in a fair way, I would rather be so.

30,885. Did you speak to a man of the name of William Banks?—Banks, of Woodhatch, a plasterer. A person of the name of Brown, in my employ at that time, told me that he thought they were getting Banks on their side, and that if I spoke to him I might be of some service.

30,886. Who told you Banks had promised Mr. Monson?—I believe it was Mr. Brown, the plasterer.

30,887. Did you see Banks?—I saw him daily; I was daily at the yard.

30,888. When you saw him what did you say to him about his vote?—I asked him if he was leaving Mr. Monson, and he said he was promised to be well paid by the other party, and he thought he had a right to be paid and to look after his own interests, and that as the other party had offered him something handsome he thought he would go to them; but after that I believe he went to Mr. Monson.

30,889. Did you offer him anything?—Never.

30,890. Did you make any suggestion to him with regard to his working with you?—Not the least.

30,891. Did you not use your influence?—Not the least, or to any other man.

30,892. Was there a person of the name of William Gibbs in your service?—Yes.

30,893. And a voter?—Yes.

30,894. Had you heard which way he was going to vote?—I believe he was in favour of Mr. Monson. I heard from Carden and other men in the workshop that he went and offered himself to Mr. Monson before he ever asked him for his vote.

30,895. You saw him?—I saw him afterwards, when Carden told me he was likely to go over to Mr. Gower's party.

30,896. Tell us what took place between you and Gibbs?—I said to Gibbs, "Gibbs, I am sorry to hear "that you are likely to leave Mr. Monson after having promised him, as you have done;" and he said, "Yes, I am. Why," he said, "Mr. Nichols, the "agent, will not allow me any money to spend at "nights;" and I said, "What do you want with "money to spend at nights?" He said, "I think I "could be of a great deal of service to Mr. Monson, "because if I had a little money to spend in public "houses at nights along with other voters I have no "doubt I could be of service." I said, "Is that the "only reason you have for leaving Mr. Monson?" He said, "Mr. Gower's party have been and offered "me 4*l.*" I tried very much to find out the person who had offered it, but could not get the name. I was so disgusted with the man that I said to him, "Gibbs, my opinion of you is this: if a third party "or another party were to come and offer you 1*l.* "more they would have you." I never said a word more to the man afterwards.

30,897. Then I presume that is what William Gilbert told us the other day. He said that you had said to him that you supposed money would influence him?—I do not think I said so.

30,898. Well, what you have now said just amounts in fact to saying that?—Yes, but I do not remember saying so.

30,899. Did you not at the same time say that you should be in a short time short of hands, and that he would be one of the first to go?—I did not; I had no intention of shortening hands.

30,900. Did you, either then or at any other time, say that you should be shortening hands before long, and that he would be one to go?—I never said shortening hands. The man was nine months in my employ after.

30,901. It clearly points to something of the kind in your mind. Give us your version of what passed at the conversation?—My version is this: At an election of the town council a long time before——

30,902. No, no, never mind that?—Then I have nothing more to say. I never repeated anything more to Gibbs at a borough election.

30,903. You mean at an election for a member of Parliament?—Yes.

30,904. You were going to say something about an election for town council; how long before was that?—It was after.

30,905. Next November?—No, not a general election.

30,906. It might perhaps be before November?—No, I believe it was after November; in the spring of the year.

30,907. Was it in reference to one of the elections for the town council that you said to Gibbs you might be shortening hands, and that he would be one to go?—If you will allow me I will tell you what took place at the election for town council. Gibbs had given out to Carden that he was going to vote for one party, and went down with the intention of doing so, and did not return till half-past 2. On his return into the yard I said to the clerk, "It seems "strange in this man returning at this time of the "day." Your time is 2 o'clock, and you come in at "any time." He said, "I have been down to vote at "the town council;" and I said, "Did you vote?" and he said, "Yes." I said, "The other men can all "vote within the hour, why do you not do so?"

30,908. Did you ask him who he voted for?—I did afterwards.

30,909. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had better cut this short. Did you say anything to Gibbs with reference to the general election of 1865?—Never.

30,910. When did you discharge him?—I discharged him nine months after, with 14 others, for being an inferior workman.

30,911. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long had he been in your service?—Upwards of nine years.

30,912. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do not make use of us for the purpose of casting a slur upon this man?—I think you ought to allow me to state that when I discharge a man I think I discharge those who do not pay.

30,913. (The Chief Commissioner.) You discharged him with 14 others nine months after the election?—Yes.

30,914. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We will not go into the question of what took place between you and him with reference to the town council, but how long after the election for the town council did you discharge him?—Perhaps four or five months.

30,915. (The Chief Commissioner.) His service with you for nine years is a pretty good character?—I do not find fault with him on that account.

30,916. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It ought to be a good character. I do not think it right to make use of strong language?—I have not made use of such strong language as he has made use of with respect to me.

30,917. Were there any other of the workmen who were reported to you in the same manner as Gibbs and Banks were reported?—No one, except Gilbert; he was considered shaky.

30,918. What took place with regard to Gilbert?—I merely asked him who he had made up his mind to vote for; he always said for Mr. Monson. And then Brown came to me and told me he did not think he was safe; but I had no reason to think he was not safe.

30,919. Did you see Gilbert?—Several times.

30,920. Did you see him or speak to him with reference to the election?—I never went to him on purpose to speak to him about the election.

30,921. I did not say you went on purpose, but did you speak to him about the election?—Only what I have told you. I asked him who he had made up his mind to vote for, and he always informed me "for Mr. Monson."

30,922. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he not vote the other way?—No.

30,923. He voted for Mr. Monson and was paid for it?—I do not know anything about pay.

30,924. Do not be so indignant about the other man?—I think you are taking that up rather too strong; I believe I have a right to speak my feelings about a man.

30,925. It is not requisite for you to speak about the man, we are not sitting here to hear you give an opinion upon the men you discharge?—I have a right to give my opinion upon the men.

30,926. Do not avail yourself of the opportunity of your being here in libelling the men?—I am not libelling the men.

30,927. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I think your reason was not a very good one; I want to ask you more particularly with reference to this workman in your service of the name of Brown?—He is not in my service.

30,928. He was?—Yes.

30,929. He was not a voter?—No.

30,930. When did he leave your service?—He was discharged about the same time the carpenters were discharged, when I was shortening hands.

30,931. You were more in communication with Mr. Brown?—Mr. Brown came to me when he had anything to say.

30,932. Did you know of his taking a very active part in the election?—I had every reason to believe he was.

30,933. Do you know where he is now?—I do not.

30,934. Did he leave the town?—He has been here since and applied to me for work.

30,935. How recently?—Not within these two months.

30,936. Where was he at that time?—He was working in the neighbourhood of Sydenham; he wrote to me.

30,937. From Sydenham?—From the neighbourhood of Sydenham, I forget the name of the person he was with.

30,938. Have you got his letter?—I do not think I have got it.

30,939. For whom was he working then at Sydenham?—For a builder in London, but I really forget his name.

30,940. Was the name mentioned in the letter?—It was, but he was only going to be with his master for a fortnight; he wanted to work anywhere out of Reigate if I could get it for him.

30,941. Out of Reigate?—Yes, he did not wish to come to Reigate.

30,942. That was two months ago he did not wish to come to Reigate?—No.

30,943. Very likely not; did you supply Brown with money?—What for.

30,944. For the election?—Certainly not.

30,945. Did you know of his having money?—No, nothing at all.

30,946. You did not know of his having money?—No, nor of any other voters having money.

30,947. Did he tell you that he had paid William Banks 2*l.* 10*s.*?—He told me he had promised to pay Banks for his time, but he did not mention any sum.

30,948. He did not tell you how much?—No.

30,949. How long before the election did Brown tell you that he was going to pay Banks for his time?—It might be a week before, I cannot say to a day or two, I did not make any memorandum.

30,950. Did it not strike your mind that that was very much like bribery?—It did.

30,951. Did you speak to Brown and tell him so?—No, I did not, because I thought there were so many more likely to be paid for their time that I did not take any notice.

30,952. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Banks was in your service?—He was.

30,953. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And Brown was in your service, then?—Yes.

30,954. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you at all deduct from the men's wages the honest time they would give to poll, supposing a man went to poll and then went back to his work again; did you deduct that from their wages?—Decidedly.

30,955. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you?—I did.

30,956. Your men were working time work?—No, working day work.

30,957. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Supposing your men came down and polled, it would take a quarter of an hour or half an hour, and did you deduct that from their wages?—Decidedly; they were away, and I paid them no more or less than the time-keeper put down.

30,958. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) They might vote in dinner time?—Yes.

30,959. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you do that to every man who voted, whether they voted for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower?—Yes.

30,960. What is the name of your time-keeper?—The name of my time-keeper at that time was Gilbert.

30,961. I am sure you will recollect yourself. Are you sure whether or not Gilbert had orders to deduct from the men's wages the hour, or half-hour, or quarter of an hour that was consumed in voting?—I never gave any orders to such effect, I am sure.

30,962. You never gave orders to have the time deducted?—I never gave orders for him to keep the time in any other way than he usually kept it.

30,963. I am asking you if any particular orders were given?—Not any.

30,964. Then it was not deducted?—It was deducted, decidedly; if a man did not work his time you must deduct it.

30,965. (The Chief Commissioner.) You never gave orders?—Never.

30,966. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have told me that when Brown replied to you he was going to pay Banks for his time you knew that was bribery?—It appeared to me very much like it. He was to be paid for his time, but he did not tell me what sum. I think a man ought to vote for nothing without being paid.

30,967. You knew of Brown going to pay Banks for his time; Banks was likely to vote for your own candidate?—That is questionable.

30,968. It was to induce him to vote for your candidate that Brown saw him; he was working in the election?—He was employed by Mr. Nichols, I think.

30,969. If you thought it was bribery, why did you not stop Brown from going any more amongst your men; you are a master man?—Yes.

30,970. Why did you not stop your plasterer from going about the town and bribing?—You are putting it in a different light. I know nothing about his going about the town; he told me Banks was expecting to be paid for his time; I had nothing to do with it.

30,971. I want to ask you this question; you were the person Brown reported it to, and you thought that was bribing?—I thought it was very much like it.

30,972. I ask you why you did not, as you are a master man over Brown, who was not a voter, put a stop at once to his interfering with Banks?—To send him off to the other side to take more money?

30,973. That would not interfere with your virtue?—No.

30,974. Were you not virtuous?—I had nothing to do with the statement made by Brown; the statement made by Brown did not inculpate me.

30,975. It brings it to this then, as a non-voter bribing another, the non-voter being in the same service?—He was employed by me, I had nothing to do with this.

30,976. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why should he tell you of this? Brown came to you and said, "I am going to bribe Banks"?—He did not say that; he told me he was going to pay him for his time.

30,977. You said it was bribery?—I said it was very much like it.

30,978. Why should Brown the plasterer come to you and tell you that?—He knew I took an interest in the election; he knew I was in favour of Mr. Monson, and he volunteered this statement.

30,979. That looks very much like having your sanction?—You may put any interpretation you think proper upon it, but I never gave my sanction to anything of the kind.

30,980. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There is a very old adage, "Silence gives consent;" you did not remonstrate with Brown?—No.

30,981. Did you ask Brown whether he paid any more of your men for loss of time during the election?—No.

30,982. Did it not strike you as very extraordinary that one of your men, a plasterer, should be offering time money to voters?—It did; but I heard that he was engaged as a canvasser by Mr. Nichols for Mr. Monson.

30,983. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who was he getting the money from?—I do not know any more than you do. I never saw money pass.

30,984. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you had every reason to believe it came from Mr. Nichols?—I heard he was employed by Mr. Nichols, and I suppose he was supplied with money by Mr. Nichols.

30,985. How long after the election did James Brown leave your service?—It was about the time I discharged many carpenters, when the work was done at Woodhatch.

30,986. Was he a good workman?—A very good workman; but he neglected his duty rather in going about election matters.

30,987. He did not leave till after this Commission was moved for?—Oh, yes, he did.

30,988. It was after the Committee met?—In the House of Commons?

30,989. Yes?—I think he left before; it had nothing to do with the election.

30,990. He could not have left before; he left when the other men did. He did not leave till the spring of the year?—I think it was April. I do not know when the Commission was moved for.

30,991. Did you learn after the election that Brown had been paying more monies than what he said he had paid to Banks?—Not for certain. I heard from the other men by report that he had paid others, but not for certain; it was merely a rumour, and I did not ask them about it.

30,992. How many of those men who voted at the election are now in your service?—I should say above half of them; there is one here now, he voted for Mr. Gower, and was in the same shop as Gilbert was in; when I heard he was going to vote for Mr. Gower I never asked the man which way he was going. It is a man of the name of Parsons.

30,993. I suppose he is a first-class workman?—He is.

30,994. Have you any other first-class workman who voted for Mr. Gower now in your service?—Yes, I generally retain the first-class workmen when I am discharging men. Gilbert is a very good workman.

30,995. Is he still with you?—Yes, and Waters, another workman, is still with me.

30,996. (The Chief Commissioner.) They voted the other way?—Yes.

30,997. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I ask you the question whether you had voters in your service who voted for Mr. Gower? Have you any other voters except Parsons who voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes, Chilcott the carpenter voted for Mr. Gower, and several other men I cannot recollect, but I dare say Parsons will be able to tell you.

30,998. Did you see Chilcott before he voted?—I asked him which way he was going, and he said he had not made up his mind. After that I was told he was going to vote for Mr. Gower, and therefore I said no more to him.

30,999. Were there any more of them who voted for

Mr. Gower in your service?—Yes, I think there were several there. I think a carpenter of the name of Smith, who has been here, voted for Mr. Gower; he is now in my service.

31,000. But the majority of them voted for Mr. Monson?—They would have if they had been let alone. I do not think the majority voted for Mr. Monson.

31,001. If they had been let alone? Brown did not let them alone; he was at all of them? — But he did not interfere with the carpenters.

31,002. Who did he interfere with?—The men like him, the plasterers and labourers like Banks.

31,003. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said there were 20 or 25 voters in your employ in the election of 1865?—I think there were.

31,004. Be kind enough to give me their names?—I do not think I can recollect the whole of them.

31,005. Could you make it out for me?—I will have it made out by my clerk and send down the list to you.

31,006. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And if you can find the letter which was sent to you by Brown, and recollect the person with whom he worked, I should thank you if you will let me know? — I think I can recollect the man's name now; I have remembered it since I have been in the box; it was Simpson.

31,007. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was your foreman Carden an active man for Mr. Monson?—He was.

31,008. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where does Mr. Simpson carry on his business?—In some part of London, I really do not know where.

31,009. Is it a company?—No, Simpson & Sons.

31,010. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understood you to say that Carden reported to you from time to time how the men were going to vote?—He gave me his opinion of how he fancied they were going.

31,011. That is what I mean. Carden was on the committee I suppose?—Yes.

31,012. And attended the different meetings?—Yes, I believe so.

31,013. And I suppose that you were aware that Carden canvassed all the men? — No, I do not think he did. I should scarcely think that he canvassed Parsons, the man who is sitting there; he did not by my orders.

31,014. But if he reported to you from time to time how the men were going to vote it would look as if he was speaking to them?—He would get the knowledge some way or other. I do not know that I heard him speaking to them.

31,015. Did you tell Carden and say to him, "I will "not allow you, Carden, to interfere with the liberty "of my men; you are in a place of authority among "them, and exercise influence over them, and I will "not allow you to ask them and to influence them"? —I do not know that he did so.

31,016. Did you say that?—I did not; I had no reason to suppose he did so.

31,017. I call your attention to the two or three little circumstances you have mentioned; he reported to you from time to time how the men were going to vote?—Yes.

31,018. You knew that he was on Mr. Monson's committee, and you knew that he was exerting himself for Mr. Monson? You must have known that he exercised considerable influence over your men; a foreman does, as we all know?—Lately, sir, labour has been in the ascendant, and the foreman has no particular authority over them.

31,019. You did not interfere?—No.

31,020. I suppose all the men knew you were a strong Monsonite?—Yes.

31,021. Were you on the committee yourself?—Decidedly.

31,022. Did you attend any committee meetings?—Very few.

31,023. Where? — Only those at the "White Hart."

31,024. Where there were refreshments going?—I never saw any.

31,025. There were refreshments?—I do not know; you know more about it than I do.

31,026. You did not know that there was another room besides the committee room? — I did. I saw Mr. Nichols in another room beside it.

31,027. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. Nichols's sanctum sanctorum? — I do not know; it is better known to the profession than to me.

31,028. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you put Carden's name on the committee?—I do not know.

31,029. He was on the committee?—Yes.

31,030. Who put you on? — I suggested it. Mr. Hart called on me. I signed the requisition for Mr. Monson to come forward.

31,031. You did not attend any of the committee meetings but one?—I think I attended two.

31,032. Where was the other?—I only attended at the "White Hart."

31,033. Then you saw no refreshments at all?—No.

31,034. You had some? — I had no wish for any, I had plenty at home.

31,035. You learnt of course from Mr. Brown that money was going?—Only with regard to Banks.

31,036. That was quite enough; if you know that a man holds money as against one, you know that he holds it as against all?—I do not think it is my business to interfere with such matters. I might find too much to do if I did.

31,037. You knew from Mr. Brown?—I only heard from Brown that he was going to pay money for a man's time.

31,038. Did you not hear from Carden that money was going on both sides? — I heard from different individuals that money was going on both sides, but nothing to be certain about.

31,039. Did you hear the price?—It was not like Yarmouth or Totnes. I never heard more than 5*l.*

31,040. (The Chief Commissioner.) May I take it that 5*l.* was about the price?—Yes. Gibbs told me once of 6*l.*

31,041. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We may take 5*l.* as a general rule?—Yes.

31,042. I want to ask you this question: when you knew that your workman Brown was doing the same you did not try to stop him?—No, I did not think it my place. To tell you candidly, I never try to stop it.

31,043. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you attend any committee meetings? — Two at the "White Hart."

31,044. You were asked to attend the meetings?—I was invited one night.

31,045. Were you requested to do what you could for Mr. Monson, to attend his committee meetings and do what you could to get him votes?—I do not think I was requested, as it was well known I should do so without being requested.

31,046. Did you make it known?—I suppose by my behaviour I did.

31,047. You say that you were aware that a man in your employ, James Brown, received money from Mr. Nichols for the purpose of paying it away among the men?—I did not say anything of the kind.

31,048. What you told us exactly was this, "James "Brown, I suppose, was employed by Mr. Nichols, and "supplied by him with money;" you heard from the other men that Brown had been expending money?—With regard to the one solitary case of Banks I did, and I believe it was likely that the money came from Mr. Nichols; it was nothing more.

31,049. I have taken your words down; I do not object to your explaining that that was what you meant by what you said. You said just now that 5*l.* was about the price, and you did not remonstrate when 5*l.* appeared to be offered and distributed among your men; let me ask you, did you offer any man 5*l.*?—Never.

31,050. Did you never tell any person that if he gave his services his time should be paid for?—Not in any way that he would be paid for his time.

31,051. Did you never tell any single person that if he gave his services to Mr. Monson his time would be paid for?—Not to my recollection; I never used those terms.

31,052. Will you allow me to say "to that effect"?—I do not think I did; I do not believe that I did say so.

31,053. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then if you only do not believe you might have done so?—I do not believe I did, but in the hurry and bustle of an election I may have.

31,054. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you never mention the sum of 5*l.* yourself?—Not to any voters.

31,055. You did not mention to them 5*l.* with a kind of intimation that men's services would not be forgotten?—I never did.

31,056. If not to any voter, did you to the wife of any voter?—No, I never had any conversation with the wife of any voter.

31,057. Or any relation, so that it might come to their hearing in some way?—No, I am very careful.

31,058. We know that those things are always done very carefully?—I did not do so.

31,059. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you always been a voter since '58?—Yes.

31,060. Had you always been on Mr. Monson's side?—No.

31,061. How had you voted before?—I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson against the Honourable Mr. Monson, now Lord Monson; Sir Henry Rawlinson took the place of Major Parrott; I had promised to him if he stood.

31,062. After that came another election for Mr. Monson; did you vote for him then?—The second time I voted for Mr. Monson, Sir Henry Rawlinson was out of the field.

31,063. Were you on Mr. Monson's side in the general election of '59 against Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

31,064. Have you known of much bribery going on in the previous elections?—Nothing but hearsay.

31,065. I mean by bribery what we have been talking about, that money was to be given, not for their votes, but for their time?—I have heard it commonly represented that it was so, but nothing more.

31,066. And believed it?—I believe of course from the Inquiry you are making that it was so.

31,067. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) But before?—I had every reason to believe that there was something wrong.

31,068. (The Chief Commissioner.) You knew in '65 that it was going on to a considerable extent in your own establishment?—I do not think that you are quite right.

31,069. Bearing what you have told us in mind, do you mean to say that previous to '65 there was not a good deal of payment going on?—I never knew it to be so, but it was reported to be so, and I believe that it was; but I could not give you any proof that it was so.

31,070. How often have you been on committees yourself?—For Sir Henry Rawlinson, the Honourable Mr. Monson, and the present Mr. Monson.

31,071. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you in the town in '58, at the time of Mr. Doulton's election?—Yes.

31,072. You have no qualms of conscience about that, you can tell me about that?—I could not; I then voted for Mr. Monson if I recollect properly.

31,073. You did not see what was going on at that election?—Not at all.

31,074. (The Chief Commissioner.) I shall be obliged to you if you will let me have a list of the 20 or 25 voters who were in your employ at that time?—My clerk shall make out a list.

The witness withdrew.

G. Bilcliffe.

GEORGE BILCLIFFE sworn and examined.

31,075. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you—A lime burner.

31,076. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—It is my own.

31,077. Of what value is it?—About 13*l.* or 14*l.*

31,079. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

31,080. Who put you on his committee?—I believe Buckland or Apted, I do not know which.

31,081. Did you interest yourself and work for Mr. Gower as a committee man?—Very little.

31,082. What did you receive?—I received 30*s.*

31,083. Was that before or after the election?—After the election.

31,084. Who paid you?—Mr. Durrant.

31,085. You received 30*s.* from Mr. Durrant?—Yes.

31,086. Did you receive anything else?—No.

31,087. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before or after the election?—No, not in any way. If you will allow me I will tell you what I did with it; it was to pay the expenses of a voter from Chelmsford.

31,088. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am glad you have mentioned that; who was the voter?—Ebenezer Hooper.

31,089. And did you pay it?—Yes.

31,090. You paid him the 30*s.*?—No, 22*s.*; not the whole of the 30*s.*; the other 8*s.* was for my own expenses.

31,091. What expenses were you at?—I told Mr. Durrant the actual amount I had paid him, the 22*s.*, and he told me it was but right that I should have the balance; he said it was not right for me to have the trouble of writing several letters and losing the day without receiving something, and so he gave me 8*s.*, which I was perfectly satisfied with.

31,092. Had you written to Hooper?—Several times.

31,093. Had you voted in any previous elections?—Yes, several.

31,094. For whom did you vote in '63?—For Mr. Gower.

31,095. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

31,096. And had you been working for him in the way you state?—Yes, I took a very active part in that election.

31,097. What did you receive at that election?—1*l.*

31,098. Before or after?—After.

31,099. From Mr. Durrant?—And Mr. Buckland; they called on me.

31,100. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which paid you?—I could not say which.

31,101. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Durrant and Buckland both called?—Yes.

31,102. Did you vote in '59?—I believe so, for the present Lord Monson; I voted once for him.

31,103. You think it was in '59; there was no substantial contest then?—No, it was not like the other elections.

31,104. Do you recollect whether you voted at either of the elections in '58?—Yes.

31,105. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You voted in the election in October, before we go back to Mr. Doulton's election?—I only voted once for Lord Monson, and once I did not vote at all.

31,106. That would be in October?—Yes.

31,107. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you vote at the Doulton election?—For Mr. Doulton.

31,108. I suppose you were on his committee?—No.

31,109. Did you work for him?—No, I only voted for him; I believed him to be the best man.

31,110. And therefore you received nothing?—I received nothing.

31,111. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee the second time you voted for him?—No.

31,112. And therefore you received nothing the second time you voted for him?—No.

31,113. What I understand is that you received 1*l.* in '63 and 8*s.* before?—Yes; I voted for Sir H. Rawlinson.

31,114. Were you on his committee?—No.

The witness withdrew.

JOSEPH CHARLWOOD sworn and examined. J. Charlwood.

31,115. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

31,116. Do you pay rent for your house?—I have a lease for the house.

31,117. Is it a freehold house?—Leasehold.

31,118. What rent do you pay?—7*l.*, under the lease.

31,119. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose it is worth more now?—I should like to give 10*l.* for it now.

31,120. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

31,121. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,122. Who asked you to vote for him?—Mr. Gower called on me himself.

31,123. Well, that was some time before the election. Did some one speak to you after that?—No, I promised him there and then.

31,124. And when the election came on did not somebody come from him, some of his party, to remind you?—I do not remember anybody. I was employed as a canvasser.

31,125. Who asked you to be a canvasser?—One of his agents.

31,126. Who was the agent? Was it Green?—Mr. Green.

31,127. I thought so. Henry Green?—Yes.

31,128. Did you canvass?—Yes; I was about.

31,129. Did you get many votes?—No; the most of the work was carrying out circulars.

31,130. Were you paid anything before the election?—Yes, I received what I had before the election.

31,131. All you had?—2*l.* 15*s.*

31,132. All before the election?—I received nothing after.

31,133. Did Mr. Green pay you?—Yes.

31,134. Was 2*l.* 15*s.* all you received?—Yes.

31,135. He did not pay you all at once, did he?—No.

31,136. He paid you 30*s.* at one time, I believe?—Yes.

31,137. And then?—And then 1*l.* 5*s.*

31,138. That was on the day of polling?—No, before that.

31,139. Was that your first election?—No, I voted for Gower in 1863.

31,140. What did you receive that election?—I was on the committee, and employed as a canvasser.

31,141. Tell me, shortly, what you received?—I believe it was 7*l.* 10*s.* for the whole of the time.

31,142. I may take it it was 7*l.* 10*s.*?—I think it was as far as I can recollect.

31,143. Who paid you?—I was paid by the agents at the committee room.

31,144. Who was it paid you?—I believe Mr. Rees and Mr. Green were the gentlemen that paid.

31,145. How did they pay you; in money?—Yes.

31,146. The 7*l.* 10*s.* was for your services, for the trouble that you had taken?—Yes.

31,147. Now, then, in 1859, did you work at that time, it was Mr. Wilkinson against Monson?—I voted for Monson.

31,148. Were you on his committee?—Not at all.

31,149. Did you receive anything?—Nothing at all.

31,150. Now tell me, there were two elections in 1858; one between Monson and Wilkinson; were you on the committee then?—No; I voted for Monson.

31,151. Were you paid anything for your time?—No, sir; nothing.

31,152. Were you paid anything in the Doulton election?—No.

31,153. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS UPTON sworn and examined. T. Upton.

31,154. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A labourer.

31,155. At what work do you labour? In the field?—Bricklayer's labourer.

31,156. What house did you occupy to put you on the register?—Freehold.

31,157. What is the value of the house you live in?—I have got four cottages. They go at 13*l.* each.

31,158. Did you vote at the last election of 1865?—I voted at this last election for Mr. Monson.

31,159. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,160. Did you canvass for him?—No, I took no part at all.

31,161. He canvassed you?—I promised Mr. Monson himself.

31,162. Did any of his party—his agents—come to you?—Yes.

31,163. I suppose a great many of your fellow workmen were canvassing for Monson?—At that time they were.

31,164. I suppose they were all canvassing, either for Monson or Gower?—They were all canvassing.

31,165. Either one way or another?—I suppose they were. I took no part in it. I did not know who was a canvasser and who was not; sometimes they were, and sometimes they were not.

31,166. Did anybody speak to you about the advantage it would be to vote for Mr. Gower?—Lots of people talked to me, and I said I had promised my vote for Mr. Monson, and would not change for any one.

31,167. What did they say?—I do not recollect. I did not take much notice of it, as I had promised my word; I said I would not break it.

31,168. Was it something like this, "If you go on "our side you can come on the committee, and be "paid for your time"?—I was never promised anything of the kind, for I always turned it off with a laugh. If they said anything to me I said, "I have "promised Mr. Monson, and don't mean to turn."

31,169. Perhaps they held out some inducement; you were a staunch, honest man?—Well, they might have laughed at me, and I laughed at them.

31,170. Were not you offered by either of them to be paid for your loss of time?—No, I was never offered at all; not at any time.

31,171. Did you receive anything after the election?—Yes, I received 1*l.* from Mr. Nichols, of the "Grapes," after the election.

31,172. How long after?—About a fortnight after, as near as I can tell.

31,173. You had not worked for him; you only voted?—No I did not work for him. I lost the nomination and the polling day, and I expected it to be the recompense.

31,174. You did not ask him for it?—No, he gave it to me.

31,175. Where did he give it to you?—In his house, the "Grapes." I was in there one night with some more.

31,176. With some more?—With some more people that were there; what their business was I did not know. I just went in to get a glass of beer as I went home, and he gave me a sovereign.

31,177. You were rather pleased to get a sovereign for your glass of ale?—Yes; I should like to have another to-night.

31,178. Would you like to have another on the same terms?

31,179. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No, I am sure you would not?—I am afraid I shan't get the chance.

31,180. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you went to Mr. Nichols had you heard that the men were receiving money from Mr. Nichols?—No one had spoken to me particular. I had heard it laughed about by one and the other.

31,181. It was not in consequence of that report that you went and got a glass of ale at Mr. Nichols'?—No, I have done that before and after, as I have been going home from work. It is in my road home.

31,182. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We are glad to hear you are the owner of four freehold cottages of 13*l.* rent each?—I shall be, when I have paid for them.

31,183. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are the cottages let?—Yes.

31,184. And you receive the rents? I suppose there is a small charge upon them?—I belong to the Freehold Society, and pay off by instalments as fast as I can.

31,185. And eventually that property will come entirely into your possession?—Yes.

31,186. Who is the secretary to that society?—Mr. Buckland, of Church-street.

31,187. Did Mr. Buckland ask you about the election?—No, I do not remember as he ever said a word to me about it.

The witness withdrew.

J. Longhurst.

JOHN LONGHURST sworn and examined.

31,188. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

31,189. And what rent do you pay for your house?—11*l.* a year.

31,190. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

31,191. Who asked you to vote for him?—He asked me himself. Mr. Brown I promised. Mr. Gower asked me twice. I promised Mr. Brown.

31,192. Which Brown is that; James Brown?—Edward Brown.

31,193. He put you on the committee?—Yes.

31,194. What did you receive?—I did not receive anything, but then I was paid for all my time.

31,195. I mean what did you receive; anything beyond your time?—I never received anything.

31,196. Did not you receive anything at all?—No more than that he never stopped my time on the nomination and polling day.

31,197. Oh, you were at work for Mr. Brown?—Yes.

31,198. He told you you might go, and should not lose the time?—Yes, he told me I should not lose my time. That was all I received from him.

31,199. Did you receive any money?—Not separate from my wages; only my wages for the full time.

31,200. What wages were you receiving?—Wages? How much a day do you mean, sir?

31,201. Oh no, by the week. I suppose you were paid by the week?—Yes, I had 5*s.* a day generally.

31,202. Did you receive any more than your wages would come to?—No, I did not receive any more than what the wages would come to for the time.

31,203. Did Mr. Green pay you anything?—No, no one else never paid me a farthing.

31,204. Did Mr. Green put you on the committee?—No, I told him Mr. Brown could put me on the committee.

31,205. It is but right you should know you are on the list as having been paid 1*l.*

31,206. You were only paid your wages. Had you voted before?—For Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

31,207. Did you receive anything for that election?—Yes, I was a messenger.

31,208. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you were on the committee?—Messenger. I do not think I was on the committee.

31,209. What did you receive?—I was paid 5*s.* a day for my time. I forget how long I was on.

31,210. You were a voter?—Yes. I think I was on two or three days over a fortnight, I won't be sure. I cannot tell to a few days.

31,211. I dare say you can tell the sum it did come to?—No, I cannot.

31,212. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) A fortnight and two or three days over would be about 3*l.* 10*s.*, or something like that. Did you give up all your other work for that?—No, I had no other work to do.

31,213. You were out of employ?—Yes.

31,214. Who paid you?—I do not know the gentleman's name.

31,215. Who was in the room when he paid you?—I think his name was Deare.

31,216. Where was it?—At the "Swan."

31,217. That was Mr. Wilkinson's house?—Yes.

31,218. I want to know, for my own satisfaction, were you employed during that fortnight?—Yes, every day about something or another; one day at one thing, taking out newspapers, and sometimes circulars.

31,219. At any other elections had you voted?—No.

The witness withdrew.

J. Rees.

JAMES REES sworn and examined.

31,220. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Mr. Rees?—An estate agent and builder.

31,221. Are you a freeholder, or do you vote for occupying a house?—I am a freeholder and leaseholder.

31,222. Which were you down as in 1865?—Leasehold, occupying my own leasehold.

31,223. What was the value of it by the year?—About 60*l.* by the year.

31,224. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

31,225. You took an active part, did not you?—Yes; I was requested to do so by Mr. Smith, his agent.

31,226. You were a a sub-agent yourself in some way, to some extent?—Under Mr. Smith.

31,227. When did you set to work; how long before the election?—About three or four months.

31,228. You employed yourself in attending meetings?—General business at the committee rooms.

31,229. What committee room did you attend?—The town hall at Redhill. We engaged it; at least, I engaged it for Mr. Smith.

31,230. I understand that in the course of carrying on your canvass you received monies to pay away?—Yes.

31,231. Were those paid you by Mr. Smith, or by whom?—By Mr. Green out of monies that he received.

31,232. Wait a moment. That was Henry Green?—Yes.

31,233. You were going to say where he got the money from?—Yes, a portion of the money, which he told me he had received from Mr. Smith.

31,234. Did he say that he had received a portion of it anywhere else?—No.

31,235. Now will you be so good as to tell me how much money you received from Mr. Green?—10*l.*, sir.

31,236. What was done with that 10*l.*?—I gave Mr. Smith an account of the application of it. I dare say you have that account.

31,237. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Let us have your recollection of it first, please?—My recollection, sir?

31,238. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long was it before the the election?—A couple of months, it may be not so much, before the election.

31,239. Before the polling?—Before the polling that I received 10*l.* from Mr. Green.

31,240. (The Chief Commissioner.) That 10*l.* I understood you to say was received from Mr. Green. Was that what was paid two months before the election?—I understood it was paid to Mr. Green from Mr. Smith.

31,241. But about two months?—About two months, it might not be quite so much.

31,242. You wanted more money than that to disburse?—We generally among the agents required more.

31,243. I mean as agent, for the purpose of paying to other people. How much of that money did you receive altogether?—Me, sir? 10*l.*, not more.

31,244. Will you tell me how much money altogether during the election did you pay away?—10*l.*

31,245. But how much more did you pay away?—No more.

31,246. How did you pay that away?—Well, that account was supplied to Mr. Smith. I think it was principally in purchasing post office orders to send to voters at a distance for their expenses to come up.

31,247. I want to know who; can you tell me who?—One was Mr. James Davis.

31,248. That was a long time before the election?—I did not supply him till that time.

31,249. Do you recollect what you paid to Davis?—I think it was 30*s.*

31,250. Where was he?—He was at Greenwich.

31,251. Was he living there?—Yes.

31,252. Had he moved from Reigate then?—Yes.

31,253. Who was another?—Mr. Henry Turner.

31,254. How much was his?—I think his was 30*s.*

31,255. And how much more did you pay?—I sent an order also to Mr. Hooper, who was mentioned here this morning; it was said somebody else sent him one, so that he had two.

31,256. You sent an order for 30*s.*?—That's the amount, I think.

31,257. And who else? How much else?—I think there were some other little expenses I paid, for messengers.

31,258. I want to know the amount. I shall be very glad if you will tell me?—I think I paid Atkinson, the tailor, 10*s.*

31,259. That is just 5*l.* Who else was paid?—I think I went twice to London and twice to Brighton after voters.

31,260. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) After Spence?—No, sir, I did not go after Spence.

31,261. Did not you know he was there?—No, sir, I do not know him. I never saw him that I know of.

31,262. (The Chief Commissioner.) You went twice to London and twice to Brighton. Was there anything else?—I do not recollect anything else.

31,263. I do not know whether it will trouble you much, but can you tell me what would be the expense of going once to London? You say you went twice to London?—It costs 4*s.* 6*d.*

31,264. It costs rather more than that; there was twice?—That is all I paid for a return ticket.

31,265. Then twice to London at 4*s.* 6*d.* each, say 9*s.* or 10*s.*, and twice to Brighton, how much to Brighton each time?—5*s.*

31,266. Then twice to Brighton would be double that, say a pound altogether?—Yes, say 1*l.*

31,267. What else was there?—I do not recollect anything else.

31,268. I do not in the least want to hurry you?—I understood from Mr. Smith that he had given you the particulars of the money I had expended.

31,269. Will you tell me whether you do recollect anything else?—No, I do not recollect anything else.

31,270. Then was there an understanding that your expenses out of pocket, like what you have been telling us, should be sent in and allowed you?—Yes.

31,271. Was there also anything to be allowed for the trouble you had?—It was understood, but not mentioned.

31,272. What was the understanding?—No definite sum was named.

31,273. Perhaps you will tell me what your impression was?—Yes, the sum I had at the previous election. It was 30*l.* That was for my services during the election.

31,274. The entire election?—Yes. It was paid about four months after the election, sent me in a letter from Mr. Smith, paid by cheque.

31,275. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You sent in no account for that?—No, I sent in no other account than the application of the 10*l.*

31,276. Your expenses?—Yes.

31,277. (The Chief Commissioner.) The hand from which you received the 10*l.* was Green's hand, you know?—Yes.

31,278. Mr. Smith had paid you in the former election?—Yes.

31,279. The same amount?—The same amount.

31,280. Are you able to tell me then, on any occasion do you recollect, during the election, when, through not having received money enough for the purpose yourself, you sent a voter to be paid by some other agent?—Not one.

31,281. You think it did not happen?—No, it did not.

31,282. You would remember it?—Yes. If I had any applications I referred them to Mr. Green.

31,283. Do you recollect any one person whom you referred?—No, I do not.

31,284. I will tell you why I ask you. Because I think, but I am not sure, that one man said you had referred him to Mr. Green. That is my reason, but I am not sure without referring to the evidence.

31,285. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Might it have been James Smith your tenant?—Yes, I think I referred him.

31,286. Did you offer James Smith yourself anything?—No.

31,287. Do you recollect what took place between you and James Smith when you referred him to Mr. Green?—He came to the committee room and said he had promised Mr. Gower, and should like to be put on the committee if he could do anything, and he should like to be paid the same as the others; but I did not enter into any arrangement with him to pay him, and I did not pay him anything.

31,288. Do you know Mulley?—Yes.

31,289. Is he a person in your neighbourhood?—Yes.

31,290. Did you apply to him or did he apply to you?—No.

TWENTIETH DAY.

J. Rees.

13 Sept. 1866.

31,291. Did you canvass him?—No, not at all. I would sometimes see him in the committee room, but I never canvassed him. Mr. Gower canvassed him.

31,292. Did you keep your eye during that election on the other party; on the Monson side?—Yes, we saw them.

31,293. Did you keep your eyes upon them so as to see what was going on?—Yes, but I did not go far from my own neighbourhood.

31,294. Where is your neighbourhood?—Redhill.

31,295. Cannot you tell me something that you saw?—I think it is better not for me to volunteer any statement.

31,296. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It is not volunteering?—I can tell you nothing, only from report; but you have heard sufficient of that I think already.

31,297. (The Chief Commissioner.) There was nothing you saw yourself?—Nothing unusual in an election.

31,298. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What we have heard does not surprise you?—No, I knew a good deal of it before.

31,299. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you had been acting for which side? For Mr. Gower?—Yes.

31,300. Acting on his committee?—Yes.

31,301. Can you tell me how much money passed through your hands on that occasion; not your own?—Perhaps 300*l.*

31,302. In 1863?—Yes.

31,303. That was in addition to your own fee that your received?—Yes.

31,304. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You received 30*l.*?—Yes.

31,305. (The Chief Commissioner.) That you received from Mr. Smith?—Yes.

31,306. Now what was that 300*l.* for? For the purpose of disbursing?—Paying for labour every Saturday night, these men.

31,307. That is, you mean messengers and canvassers?—Yes.

31,308. Was that over a long period of time?—Yes, we were paying, I think, for five or six weeks.

31,309. Have you got any account of your payments for that year, in 1863?—No, I sent them all to Mr. Smith. I paid those monies, you ought to understand, in conjunction with Mr. Green.

31,310. Do you mean that some of the 300*l.* was paid in conjunction with Mr. Green?—We were both present; the accounts were kept mutually between us. Sometimes he paid the money over, and sometimes I did.

31,311. Had Green no separate account at all?—No; in fact I kept the account.

31,312. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was a partnership account between you and Green; your joint work?—Yes.

31,313. Who paid you the 300*l.*; who handed it over to you?—Mr. Smith.

31,314. From time to time?—Yes, in cheques.

31,315. Did you give Mr. Smith any account of it? When you wanted a cheque did you say, "I want "more money," or did you each time render him an account?—I each time rendered him an account.

31,316. And there was the money which he gave you to cover past payments, or to meet future ones?—Some for both.

31,317. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much of that money found its way among the voters for services?—All. But those men were under different denominations; some were watchers, some messengers, and some canvassers; different kinds.

31,318. (The Chief Commissioner.) At the previous election, in 1859, had you taken also an active part?—Yes.

31,319. Then it was Wilkinson and Monson, the general election?—Yes.

31,320. Just tell me, who did you receive monies from on that occasion?—Well, I was attending to the committee room at Redhill, and I was with Mr. Hart; then we had a committee room at the "Warwick Arms."

31,321. Then Mr. Hart was the person who paid you; the person from whom you received money?—Yes, but I paid no monies away on account. I received 20*l.* for my services from Mr. Hart.

31,322. That was on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Monson.

31,323. You paid no money away that time? none at all?—None at all.

31,324. You seem very candid, Mr. Rees; is it worth while my asking you any more questions about 1859.?—Well, the business conducted was much similar, only perhaps not to so great an extent. It has been increasing at every election since 1852.

31,325. I wish to know then, in 1859 was there money going and refreshments much in the same way?—Yes, but not to so great an extent.

31,326. But there was money going and refreshments?—Yes.

31,327. On both sides?—Yes.

31,328. Now Mr. Rees, in 1858 there was a second election, you know, between Monson and Wilkinson. Do you recollect the Hon. Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson contesting? It was the election after the Doulton election?—In 1858?

31,329. Do you recollect that election?—The second time that Monson was returned?

31,330. It would be the first time?—We had two previous elections that Monson tried at.

31,331. He was a candidate in the Doulton election?—Yes.

31,332. I do not mean the Doulton election, but the one at the end of that year; the second election that year, when Monson and Wilkinson opposed each other; who did you vote for?—Monson. I think there were three elections that I did all I could to support Monson.

31,333. You voted for him?—Yes, at every one of the elections.

31,334. You had a vote I believe always?—Yes, since 1852.

31,335. Now about that election of Monson's in 1858; did you pay out monies then?—No.

31,336. Will you be so good as to tell me what your remuneration was?—I did not have any; I had a brace of birds at Christmas.

31,337. Well, then, we will go back to Doulton's election. At that election whom did you back up?—Monson.

31,338. Did you receive monies to pay out?—No.

31,339. Did you receive remuneration for your assistance then?—No.

31,340. Nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

31,341. Was there a great deal of treating and a great deal of money going that time, as far as you recollect?—Yes.

31,342. A great deal?—Yes.

31,343. Did you ever recollect it before?—No.

31,344. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Almost all the voters were employed at that election?—A certain class of them.

31,345. That is what I mean; a class of men; nearly all of them?—Most of the men that polled for Doulton.

31,346. Working men; labouring men who had been employed?—Yes.

31,347. Some of the men had been carrying boards?—Yes.

31,348. (The Chief Commissioner.) But they were voters?—Yes.

31,349. We have heard something about the roughs coming here at the Doulton election: about 40 roughs, more or less. Do you recollect that?—Yes.

31,350. Now tell me, I am rather applying to you for information, among those what were called "roughs" did you notice many voters?—No, they were strangers.

31,351. I suppose you did notice some?—Those that I saw principally came from Croydon or London, men who had been paid on purpose to come.

31,352. That was the first impression; but did you not notice among the roughs some voters too?—You may apply the term "rough" to some of the voters.

31,353. But you did not, among those who appeared to go about as men ready for a row, you did not observe voters? Is that so?—Not the men that were imported here for the nomination or the polling day. I did not observe that they were voters.

31,354. But some few men having been imported here, did you notice that some of the voters took an opportunity of joining with them, and having some of their fun?—Yes, I think there were some.

31,355. I was anxious to get that. You cannot tell me any name, I expect, can you?—That you would have called a rough and a voter?

31,356. I have looked through the list myself and I have a suspicion about it, I tell you candidly?—Well, I think there was a good many roughs about from London, but I cannot name them.

31,357. In 1865, the last election of all, I understand you to say that all the money you received that was spent was 10*l.*?—Yes.

31,358. Why did you not receive more?—Well, I did not feel comfortable in going into the position I had formerly taken, and therefore I left the management of that business to others, and referred all those men who wished for work or anything of that kind to somebody else.

31,359. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then in fact you took no active part in the payment of the money in 1865?—Not in the payment of the money. I was going to ask you what you wished to convey by your last question.

31,360. (The Chief Commissioner.) You know in 1863 you received a very much larger sum of money to disburse to other people?—Yes.

31,361. Then in 1865 you received a very much smaller sum, namely 10*l.*?—Yes.

31,362. Then I ask you, knowing that you were a good man in 1863, why did not Mr. Smith give you more money to disburse in 1865?—Well, sir, I did not feel disposed to go into it again in the same way, and those that had spoken to me I referred to Mr. Green as having taken the management of that part. You asked me for a reason for it.

31,363. Is there anything you think it right to tell me about the election of 1865?—I do not think I can add any statement.

31,364. We should be happy to hear at any time if anything should come to your mind which you think ought to be told?—Very well.

31,365. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you aware before this morning that Hooper, to whom you had sent 30*s.* had also received 1*l.* 2*s.* through Bilcliffe?—No.

31,366. Now, in 1863 there was a large sum of money passed through your hands in conjunction with Mr. Green; 300*l.* was paid during the period of five and six weeks for labour. In what way was that money paid; weekly?—Weekly, every Saturday night.

31,367. Where was it paid?—At the committee room.

31,368. Then did the men come there regularly for their pay?—Yes.

31,369. When did you begin to pay them; some weeks before the election?—Oh, yes, some weeks before the election.

31,370. Then what class of men did you begin to pay?—Principally mechanics; labouring men.

31,371. In the first week how many men did you pay?—I do not know. It might be perhaps a dozen or fifteen. They kept on increasing.

31,372. Still working men, labourers?—Yes.

31,373. Then as they increased and went on towards the election were they still in the class of working men?—Yes.

31,374. What were they receiving a week?—30*s.* a week.

31,375. Each 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

31,376. Then messengers, and that sort of persons were not so much employed until just close at the election?—No, not so many; there were always some two or three.

31,377. Was the same course adopted in 1863, to employ everybody pretty well as canvassers?—Yes.

31,378. I see upon an average you would be paying 50*l.* or 60*l.* a week, but I suppose you were paying more than that afterwards?—It increased nearer the election.

31,379. What was the largest sum you paid in a week?—70*l.* or 80*l.* a week.

31,380. That was only in your district?—Yes.

31,381. Were there other men paid in your district besides yourself?—No, there were only two others; there was one at Reigate and another at Mead-vale. We had entirely the Redhill district.

31,382. Then there were three districts. Who paid in Mead-vale?—I am sure I forget; I think Mazden.

31,383. Mazden?—I think so.

31,384. Who paid in Reigate?—Mr. Nichols. You are speaking of 1863?

31,385. Yes?—Mr. Nichols.

31,386. Are you sure about Mazden; because Mazden I understand was for Wilkinson in 1863?—I am not certain. I think they went from here there, but who was there paying I do not know.

31,387. You do not know who it was paid in Mead-vale?—No, I do not.

31,388. And you think that Mr. Nichols paid in Reigate-town?—Yes.

31,389. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I don't wish to trouble you at all, but I will just read the answer you gave just now, because I wish to be accurate. "In "1865 I was not disposed to take that part of the "business, and those who applied to me on the sub-"ject I referred to Mr. Green"?—Yes.

31,390. Could you tell us the names of any persons you referred?—I do not recollect any names, but any one that spoke about being set to work. I did not set any one on.

31,391. I understand you told them they had better apply to him?—Yes.

31,392. Knowing what the work was, you referred those who wanted to be paid for the work to him?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

E. Thorpe.

EDWARD THORPE sworn and examined.

31,393. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—I am a bricklayer when I works.

31,394. What rent do you pay for the house under which you vote?—5*s.* a week.

31,395. Did you vote at the last election?—I did.

31,396. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

31,397. Had you been employed in canvassing for him? Were you on his committee?—I was on his committee.

TWENTIETH DAY.

31,398. And then, I suppose, you exerted yourself on his behalf as much as you could; you did all you could for him?—I give my services. I give all my services. I was like the parson and the lawyer,—I give all my services.

31,399. Your phrase is better than mine. You gave all your services?—I did.

31,400. What did you receive?—I received 30*s.* for two weeks or three weeks. I received 5*l.* altogether. I cannot tell you how I got it.

31,401. From whom?—Mr. Green, sir; that's it, sir.

31,402. Can you tell me how much of it you received before you voted?—Two 30*s.* I won't be sure. I won't be positive what I did receive before I polled.

31,403. And how soon after polling did you receive the balance, whatever it was?—I do not know.

31,404. You received it some time after?—I had some money after.

31,405. Did you go to Green for it?—No, he come to me, sir; that's it, he came to me, sir.

31,406. I suppose you voted at a former election?—I had no vote in 1863.

31,407. You never voted before?—Before that? Oh yes.

31,408. You had not a vote in 1863?—No.

31,409. But had you a vote in 1859?—Yes, sir.

31,410. You had?—I had, sir.

31,411. For whom did you vote?—Monson, the present Lord Monson.

31,412. And what did you receive for your services that time?—Nothing at all, sir; that's it.

31,413. Had you a vote in 1858?—I had, sir. I voted for Lord Monson, and never received nothing. That's it, sir.

31,414. And do you recollect the Doulton election?—I do.

31,415. For whom did you vote on that occasion?—I voted for Doulton.

31,416. Now, Mr. Thorpe?—Now's the time, sir.

31,417. You won't sell me, will you?—No, I will tell you the truth.

31,418. I am as sure of that as that I am speaking to you?—I am sure what I am going to tell you is the truth.

31,419. Did you receive anything?—All I could get there.

31,420. How much did you receive?—I cannot tell you; you must go back to the books. I can't tell you.

31,421. But about how much?—I can't tell you.

31,422. We will see. Were you employed?—I was employed.

31,423. I am sure you are giving your evidence as truthfully as you can?—I worked hard.

31,424. How many weeks were you employed?—About seven.

31,425. We understand it was about 30*s.* a week?—I had more than that, sir; I was worth more.

31,426. How much? About 2*l.* a week?—Something like that. I can't say to a pound or so what I received.

31,427. Who paid you at that time, do you recollect?—Heaven knows, sir! there was so many paying. I can't tell you. I think his name was—I will tell you in a minute. Hold hard! Don't be in a hurry! Oh, we ain't in no hurry to-day, sir. Let's see, what was his name? Truman—that was the man; that there big man; a big stout fellow; bigger than me, ever so much.

31,428. You have a very good memory, because we recollect Truman very well. Did he pay you all?—He always paid me, sir.

31,429. By the week, I suppose?—Oh, yes.

31,430. Every Friday night?—Something like that. I don't know; every Friday night or Saturday night I had it, and the snow was on the ground, sir. I had got no work to do, and that was very acceptable to my family, and no mistake.

31,431. You were about seven weeks employed?—That's it. I can't tell you the amount.

31,432. I suppose there was a good deal of beer going?—God bless your soul! Talk about beer. I don't know nothing about beer at all.

31,433. Something better?—God bless your soul, sir! You talk about beer. I am a lover of beer. You don't know anything about it.

31,434. Oh, yes, I do; I know what beer is?—So do I, sir. I know that.

31,435. Was there much beer going at that election, do you know? Election beer?—Ah, but you see now I happened to be a teetotaler at that election. I am a lover of beer, but I never had none at that election; not at Doulton's election.

31,436. I did not ask you that?—If you ask me such questions, I tell you I am a lover of beer, but I did not have it at that election. I was a teetotaler, and never had a drop at that election.

31,437. Did you see others having it?—Oh, that be blowed, sir! Oh, I see'd everybody drink.

31,438. That is what I mean. Were the public houses open free?—Not in my presence.

31,439. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said you gave all your services to Mr. Gower at the last election?—I did.

31,440. What were your services?—Mine, sir? Like the parson and the lawyer, sir.

31,441. What did you do?—What did I do? Services. When they asked me to do anything I did it, night and morning. I give the whole of my services up to them.

31,442. Just a moment. Were you at work as a bricklayer at the time?—No, my whole time was for services for Mr. Gower, sir.

31,443. Very well, that was what I wanted to know, whether you were at work or not?—No.

The witness withdrew.

C. Elcock.

CHARLES ELCOCK sworn and examined.

31,444. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter and joiner.

31,445. What rent do you pay for your house?—19*l.* a year.

31,446. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower; I promised him my vote the first time he called at my house.

31,447. Were you spoken to afterwards about it; before the election? Were you put on the committee?—Yes.

31,448. Who put you on the committee?—I do not know who wrote my name; it was in the committee room.

31,449. Who did you ask to put you on the committee?—I went there and put myself on.

31,450. Did anybody ask you to go to work and do what you could?—Yes.

31,451. Who was that?—Mr. Green.

31,452. And did you go to work and do what you could?—Yes.

31,453. What was your principal employment?—Anything that was to do.

31,454. Did you do anything in particular; one thing more than another?—No. I attended the committee rooms every night, went with messages, and so on.

31,455. Before the election did you receive any money from anybody?—Yes; I received 1*l.* one Saturday night, and 30*s.* the next.

31,456. Is that all you received altogether?—That is all I received—50*s.*

31,457. From Mr. Green?—From Mr. Green.

31,458. Was this your first election, or had you voted in 1863?—I voted in 1863 for Mr. Gower.

31,459. Were you working then under Mr. Green, or under somebody else?—I do not know who; I was working under the committee.

31,460. What did you receive in 1863?—I devoted the whole of my time in 1863, and I had 7*s.* 6*d.* a day.

31,461. How much did it amount to altogether?—I had 15*s.* on the nomination day and 15*s.* on the polling day.

31,462. How much altogether?—I cannot say exactly. I received 30*s.* every Saturday night, and the remainder when the election was over.

31,463. About 15*l.* altogether?—I cannot say exactly; I never kept any account.

31,464. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 7*s.* 6*d.* a day would be 2*l.* 5*s.* a week, and that at six weeks would be 13*l.* 10*s.*?—I think it would only be five weeks.

31,465. Then that would be 11*l.* 5*s.*, and 30*s.* for the nomination and polling days would make 12*l.* 15*s.*—That was near about it.

31,466. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you that?—Mr. Green and Mr. Rees were in the room at the time.

31,467. Was that your first election?—That was the first election.

31,468. The first time you voted?—Yes.

31,469. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the 30*s.* paid for the polling and nomination days?—Yes, that was the agreement; 15*s.* for the nomination day and 15*s.* for the polling day.

31,470. In fact, you were paid double on the polling and nomination days?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS WAGHORN sworn and examined. T. Waghorn.

31,471. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A paperhanger.

31,472. What rent did you pay for your house?—18*l.* 4*s.*

31,473. Did you pay that by the quarter?—No; I always paid it weekly, because I won't have my rent go behind.

31,474. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

31,475. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,476. Did you work for him?—I was not asked by no one for my vote.

31,477. You were only asked to work, I suppose?—No; a man asked me which way I went. I said, "I shall go for Mr. Gower," and next time I met him he said, "How are you going on?" Says he, "Shall "I put your name down?" I says, "No committee." A week or two after he came to me one morning, and he says, says he, "Will you come down to the town "hall, we want you to do a little something for us." I says "Yes;" and I went down. Well, he give me some things, and I run out all I could. He never said what he was to give me, or whether he was to give me anything then; but the next day I was going home to my dinner, and he sees me, and he says, "If "you lose your time I shall pay for it." I said, "Very well." He never named no sum, whether sixpence, or a shilling, or a half-crown, or eighteenpence. I was there, perhaps, for a fortnight. Some months after the election—I never asked him, and should not if he had not come to me—he gave me 3*l.* I said, "Very well." I took no further notice of it. If he had not come to me I should not have gone to he. I never asked him for it, and did not care whether I had it or not. That is all I can tell you about that election.

31,478. That is all we want to know, I think. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

31,479. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

31,480. Did you work for Mr. Wilkinson?—Very little indeed.

31,481. Did you get anything for it?—Yes.

31,482. What did you get?—I had better tell you at the first onset, I never was canvassed and never asked by nobody for my vote.

31,483. What did you receive?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson sent me letters, and when I went home to my dinner I read them, and I said to my missus, "I shall vote for Mr. Wilkinson; it is no use their "troubling about it;" and I sat down and wrote a letter, as they wished me to send back, and I told him that if it run on my way on the polling day, I should not be biassed by nobody; and it went on five weeks, and they never give me a shilling, neither party, and never gave me a glass of beer, and I did not care about it. About three weeks before the polling day—I don't know as I ought to bring his name up now he's dead and gone—a man named Ireland came to me and said, "Will you come down this "morning?" I went down, and they asked me to stop on a day or two, and I stopped three days. On the Saturday a man said, "If you will come to "Laker's you will be paid for your time." I went up and had 5*s.* a day.

31,484. Where did he take you to?—To the "Warwick Arms," to be there if they wanted me.

31,485. You got 15*s.* for stopping at the "Warwick "Arms"?—Yes. Then the next week I was there Monday and Tuesday, I think—three days. I went down and told them I should have no more stopping there, for I was tired of it." They gave me 5*s.* for it. Then I was at work at Wray-park for Mr. Carruthers. He never said a word to me about the election, and I lost the nomination and the polling day, and a man said, "Your name is called out at the 'Swan;' they "want to see you." I went in, and there was the same man that paid me the other—a white-headed gentleman. He says, "What time did you lose?" I says "Two days." He says, "I shall give you 14*s.*" I said, "I shall be very well satisfied with that." So I took it; but then I did not get any wages, for I never had a glass of beer from any one, neither on the nomination nor polling day.

31,486. Who paid you the 14*s.*?—I don't know what his name is. His hair was about as white as my whiskers. It was at the "Swan;" the same gentleman as paid me the other two days.

31,487. You do not know who it was paid you?—I don't know whether it was Mr. James's brother or clerk, or who it was. It was a gentleman about your height that I mean.

31,488. In 1865 are you quite certain you received no more money than the 3*l.*?—Yes, I am; and I defy any man to contradict me.

31,489. Just so. Did you receive any money at all before you voted?—No.

31,490. Not a sum of 10*s.*?—Not to my knowledge.

31,491. Is there any other Waghorn on the list besides yourself?—No. I had a son working for them, but he was not a voter.

31,492. Did you know whether he received anything?—I cannot tell you that. I should think he was paid for his time. He was not a voter.

31,493. What was his Christian name?—Thomas, the same as mine. He was on some time for them, because when I gave up my work he went to work for them; but what he got paid I don't know.

31,494. Had you voted before 1863?—No, only those times. I tell you candidly, I did not hear anything about the 3*l.* till a long time after the election. I did not care whether he had given it to me or not, and I never waited for any offer; but, as soon as the names come out, I decided directly, and went to the poll the first thing.

TWENTIETH DAY.

T. Waghorn.

13 Sept. 1866.

31,495. You did not refuse it?—No; but I should not have asked for it.

31,496. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Perhaps you would like to return the 3*l.* now?—Well, there is one thing about returning the 3*l.*, that I should not mind doing that—not a bit of it.

The witness withdrew.

Charles Parsons sworn and examined.

C. Parsons.

31,497. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

31,498. Working for Mr. Carruthers, I believe?—Yes.

31,499. What rent do you pay for your house?—About 17*l.* a year.

31,500. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

31,501. You were on his committee?—Yes.

31,502. Who put you on his committee?—I think Mr. Buckland put me on the committee.

31,503. Did you canvass and do all you could?—Mr. Buckland asked me at the first meeting that Mr. Gower had if I would go on the committee. I told him I was going to support Mr. Gower; that was the reason for being asked. That was previous to my seeing Mr. Gower at all.

31,504. Did he tell you you were to be paid for your services?—He told me if I was to do all I could I should be paid for my trouble; he never mentioned any sum.

31,505. What did you receive?—I received 3*l.* 10*s.* altogether.

31,506. From whom?—I had 1*l.* during the election and 50*s.* afterwards.

31,507. From whom?—From Mr. Buckland both times.

31,508. Did you call on Mr. Buckland after the election was over?—After the election was over I believe I saw Mr. Buckland in the town. He said he wished to see me, and I went into his office. That was three months afterwards. I thought it was pretty near time that there was something paid for the time I lost.

31,509. You expected 5*l.*, did you not?—No; there was no sum mentioned, not a farthing.

31,510. Did you not hear that 5*l.* was being paid?—During the time I was about there was some mention made that so-and-so would have two or three weeks; that is how it was arranged.

31,511. You were in Mr. Carruthers' employ during the whole of that time?—Yes.

31,512. You were paid by the day?—Yes.

31,513. How much were you paid?—5*s.* a day I was receiving at that time for the time that I worked.

31,514. Was anything stopped for the polling and nomination days?—I believe I lost four days that week. I was making seven days, and I only took three days' pay that week, that is all the time I made.

31,515. You were making seven days with overtime?—Yes, and I lost four days.

31,516. You did not work at all on the nomination day?—No, nor the day before I think.

31,517. You gave yourself Monday?—Whatever it was, I am sure I do not know exactly; and the time before I lost.

31,518. Had you a vote at the former election?—Yes.

31,519. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Wilkinson.

31,520. Did you receive anything at that election?—I received 2*l.* the day after polling. I was told there would be something for me, and I sent and had 2*l.*; I did not know anything about it before.

31,521. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. Joyes.

31,522. You did not do anything at that election?—Nothing at all.

31,523. Had you voted before 1863?—Not before that; only at Mr. Wilkinson's election.

The witness withdrew.

W. Eve.

William Eve sworn and examined.

31,524. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

31,525. What rent do you pay?—I am rated at 14*l.* do not pay it as rent; the property is mine.

31,526. Freehold?—Yes.

31,527. On the freehold estate?—Yes.

31,528. What is the value of your house by the year?—About 20*l.*, nearly; from 18*l.* to 20*l.*, somewhere about that.

31,529. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

31,530. Did Mr. Gower come and canvass you?—Yes.

31,531. That was some time before the election of course?—I think seven or eight weeks.

31,532. Were you afterwards on the committee?—I was not on the committee.

31,533. Were you asked to be?—I was.

31,534. By whom?—Mr. Buckland; and I refused.

31,535. In spite of your refusal did you assist them?—Yes.

31,536. By canvassing?—I persuaded those men that I came in contact with.

31,537. And you went on during the election assisting them as well as you could?—Yes, all I could.

31,538. Were you paid anything before the election came on?—Yes.

31,539. How much?—10*s.*, in two instalments.

31,540. Two 5*s.* before the election?—Yes.

31,541. And how much afterwards?—50*s.*

31,542. 3*l.* altogether?—Yes.

31,543. From whom?—From Mr. Buckland.

31,544. Was this your first election?—Yes.

31,545. You did not go on the committee; so perhaps the Monson party did not come and canvass you?—Yes, they did.

31,546. Who came and canvassed you for the Monson party?—Mr. Corderoy saw me.

31,547. After Mr. Buckland did?—Yes. It was Mr. Gower that canvassed me.

31,548. After Buckland had been with you?—Yes. As far as Buckland and I are concerned we are often together.

31,549. After you and Buckland had talked about your assistance did Corderoy come to you?—Yes.

31,550. What did he come about?—He asked me for my vote; I told him I did not think I could give it.

31,551. Did he hold out any inducement; tell me what passed?—He asked me whether I would vote for Mr. Monson, and said he could do as much for me as the other party. I told him that that was no consideration to me.

31,552. Did he say what he could do?—He said if I liked to come on his committee I could have some money in my pocket if I liked to spend it, for my use.

31,553. Did he put any down?—No, I never saw any.

31,554. Did you ever see any of the Monson money?—No.

31,555. Then I need not ask whether you received any?—I did not on that side at all.

The witness withdrew.

TWENTIETH DAY.

F. Peters.

13 Sept 1866.

FRANCIS PETERS sworn and examined.

31,556. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rent do you pay ?—6*s.* a week.

31,557. Is it a weekly tenancy or monthly ?—Weekly.

31,558. What are you ?—A bricklayer.

31,559. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

31,560. For whom were you working ?—Who was your master ?—I was at piece-work.

31,561. Who gave it you ?—A builder named Francis.

31,562. Henry Francis ?—No, Francis of Merstham.

31,563. Was he a voter ?—No.

31,564. Did you work on this last election ?—Yes, I did.

31,565. What did you do ?—I was about a good many hours with them ; I was at the committee meetings every night.

31,566. Did you do anything else besides attend the committee meetings ?—No, I did not.

31,567. Those were all in the evening ?—I had about eight days to myself, that is, I lost eight days' labour at the time of the election.

31,568. In what way did you lose those days ?—I was about the town ?—I was not at work.

31,569. When you were about the town what did you do ?—I do not know that I did anything in particular.

31,570. Of course you got paid for it ?—Yes, I did.

31,571. What did you get paid for the nothing in particular ?—I got paid 4*l.*

31,572. Did you get your 4*l.* altogether ?—No, in three instalments.

31,573. Who paid you ?—Mr. Henry Green.

31,574. Had you had any conversation with Mr. Henry Green before about your work, and so on, being on the committee ?—Well, I had a conversation with him. He asked me who I intended to vote for, and I told him I intended voting for Mr. Gower. He said "Would you like to go on the committee" ? I said if he chose to put me on he could. He said if I went down of an evening, and there was anything to do, he would put me on the committee to carry out circulars, and so on ; but I never did carry out any.

31,575. Did he tell you at that time what you were to expect ?—No, I did not expect anything. There was no arrangement made.

31,576. No particular sum mentioned ?—Not a farthing.

31,577. Did he hold out any hopes that you would be remunerated for loss of time ?—If I was there he said he would satisfy me for what I did.

31,578. Some of the money was paid before the election, and some after ?—I received 1*l.* the first instalment, and 30*s.* afterwards. It was before the election that I received 1*l.*

31,579. When did you get the second 30*s.* ?—The following week.

31,580. After the polling ?—After the 1*l.*, and I received 30*s.* after the polling.

31,581. How long after the polling ?—It might be a month or six weeks ; I could not say for a week.

31,582. That made up your 4*l.* ?—Yes.

31,583. Did you vote in 1863 ?—No, I had not a vote then.

The witness withdrew.

W. Dewdney.

WILLIAM DEWDNEY sworn and examined.

31,584. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you a voter ?—Yes.

31,585. You are a baker ?—Yes.

31,586. What rent do you pay ?—30*l.* a year.

31,587. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

31,588. Were you on his committee ?—No.

31,589. Did you take any interest in working or doing anything for him ?—Nothing.

31,590. You did not canvass for him ?—No.

31,591. You did nothing ?—I did not canvass any one.

31,592. And you did not do anything for him ?—Not anything.

31,593. Did you vote at the former election ?—I did not.

31,594. How was that ?—Because I did not think proper to do so.

31,595. May I inquire why ?—I cannot exactly say why ; it did not suit me ; I did not think I would vote.

31,596. It did not suit ?—I thought I would rather not vote. I had no particular reason for not voting.

31,597. It was a very close contest between Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes, that might be one reason perhaps why I did not vote.

31,598. But the vote would be all the more valuable ?—It was not for the value of the vote at all.

31,599. I do not mean anything offensive ; but if there was a sharp contest a vote would be of great value to Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson ?—I understand your meaning.

31,600. You were canvassed very much I suppose ?—Not very much.

31,601. You were canvassed a good deal, I think ?—I do not think so ; not to my recollection.

31,602. On the polling day, when it was coming close, do you not recollect that they sent for you ?—Yes ; I did not go ; I did not intend to vote.

31,603. They would not know that, therefore they would be anxious to get every chance. Do you recollect who came to your house for you ?—No, I do not. I was not at home till late in the day ; I was out about my business. I did not interest myself about the election. I did not care whether I was at home or abroad.

31,604. How did you know that people had called ?—I was told by those in charge of the premises at home that they had been.

31,605. Who told you ?—I do not know. It may have been my wife.

31,606. You are a married man ?—Yes.

31,607. And you were in 1863 ?—Yes.

31,608. Do you recollect what time they called ? It was near 4, was it not ?—I do not recollect.

31,609. Your wife would remember ?—I do not remember what she said about it.

31,610. I think you were at home about a quarter past 4 ?—I think I was at home before that.

31,611. Half-past 3 ?—I cannot say.

31,612. Had they called before that time, do you recollect ?—Yes, I understood that several people had been there for me.

31,613. And waited there a good while ?—Yes.

31,614. I believe you expected they would call again ?—No, I did not know whether they would or would not ; I did not expect they would.

31,615. You thought it very likely they would call again ?—I distinctly told all I saw that I did not intend to vote, every one that came to me and asked me.

31,616. Or, if you voted at all, it would be very close upon the polling ?—No, I did not say that to my knowledge.

31,617. Do you not recollect that you said that if you voted at all it would be very close upon the hour ?—I do not recollect that.

31,618. Do you recollect their saying that if they called upon you again they would only call just a little before 4 o'clock ?—No I do not recollect.

31,619. Do you not recollect a message being sent to that effect ?—No.

31,620. That if they called again it would be only a few minutes before 4 if they wanted you ?—I have no recollection of it ; not the least.

31,621. I believe a carriage came ?—I do not know

TWENTIETH DAY.

W. Dewdney.

13 Sept. 1866.

about that. There were several carriages about there; I do not know who they were after. I had my own carriage to take care off; my own trap.

31,622. You had seen several waiting?—I did not know whether they were waiting for me; I had made up my mind not to vote, therefore it was immaterial who was there.

31,623. Did you receive any message a little after 4 o'clock?—No, I do not remember receiving any.

31,624. About five minutes past 4?—No.

31,625. Saying that it was all up—that the election was over?—I have no recollection of that at all, I assure you.

31,626. Saying that it was too late or something of the kind?—No, nothing of the sort; I do not recollect it.

31,627. You received nothing this time, I suppose?—Nothing whatever.

31,628. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1865 you received nothing for your vote; is that what you say?—Yes.

31,629. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you see your brother that day a little before 4 o'clock? the polling day in 1863?—I might have seen him, perhaps.

31,630. Do you recollect going over a little before 4 o'clock?—Yes, I think I did.

31,631. Was that in reference to the election?—No; I was having a glass of wine at his own house.

31,632. Waiting there?—Yes, taking a glass of wine.

31,633. Was that the first time? We understand you had not been on good terms?—I had not been there much. We had not been on very good terms; nothing particular.

31,634. But you had a glass of wine that day?—Yes.

31,635. You recollect that?—Yes.

31,636. How long did you remain there?—I cannot say; I did not stop long, I think.

31,637. You remained there till you had heard that the election was over?—Yes, and then I went home, as near as I can recollect.

31,638. You had heard that, I think, a little after 4 o'clock?—I suppose it was over at 4.

31,639. Can you tell me what time you went to your brother's that day?—No, I cannot; I was not there long.

31,640. You were there about half-past 3 I think?—No, I could not have been there by that time; I am judging by the time I got home.

31,641. When you got home a message was left for you to go to your brother?—No such thing.

31,642. Why did you go to your brother?—Where should I go to?

31,643. I should have thought you would remain at home? Why should you go to your brother's at that time? He says you were not on good terms?—I was not on particular terms.

31,644. Why should you have gone to your brother's at that time?—Well, I might have been there a few times before.

31,645. The same day?—Not on the same day.

31,646. Was it not in consequence of a message left by your brother that you went to your brother's?—Not that I recollect; I have no recollection of that.

31,647. You remember that you went to your brother's at half-past 3, had a glass of wine with him, and remained till after the poll was announced?—Yes, I did that to get out of the way; I did not want to be annoyed by people soliciting votes.

31,648. You know that your brother had also announced that he did not intend to vote?—Yes, he said so.

31,649. Was it not arranged (I do not wish to mention names) that you and your brother should be together, and that if your terms were agreed to notice would be given about five minutes before 4 o'clock?—No such thing.

31,650. There was no arrangement of that kind?—On my oath, to the best of my recollection, there was no such thing; no arrangement at all.

31,651. You can go further than that; if there was such an arrangement you would not have forgotten it. Was there any arrangement of that kind?—There was no such arrangement.

31,652. Was there any arrangement of that kind?—No, I say not.

31,653. Not to the best of your recollection?—Not to the best of my recollection.

31,654. Was not any money mentioned?—No; I wished to keep out of the election altogether in every shape and way.

31,655. Were not the terms mentioned that you and your brother would vote for the same candidate provided you got 20*l.* a piece?—No, no such thing; nothing of the sort, to my recollection.

31,656. You will not go beyond that?—I do not understand what you mean.

31,657. Your recollection?—Well, I am satisfied I can swear positively that I never heard any such terms. I think if there was any such thing said in my hearing I should very likely hear it. Then I say I do not remember it, and I do not believe for one moment that there was.

31,658. Was anything said about your not voting?—Not that I am aware of. I said myself that I would not vote. I distinctly told those I saw at my house that I would not vote.

31,659. Was anything said about money being given if you did not vote?—Not to my recollection; certainly not.

31,660. I ask you point-blank; be cautious; was there not a sum of 5*l.* offered to you and your brother provided you did not vote at all?—Not to my recollection; certainly not; nothing of the sort.

31,661. No offer of the kind?—Not to the best of my recollection. If that was done I am positive I should recollect it.

31,662. Will you pledge your oath that no offer of the kind was made, that if you and your brother did not vote you were to have 5*l.* each?—I have no recollection of that; I can positively declare it.

31,663. You have no recollection?—No.

31,664. You recollect everything about the election?—On my oath I do not recollect anything about 5*l.* being mentioned.

31,665. You will not pledge your oath positively that such a thing did not take place?—I am satisfied in my own mind that nothing was said in my hearing about 5*l.* or any other sum of money.

31,666. Did your brother tell you?—No; I swear my brother did not tell me anything about it.

31,667. Who did?—I know no one that did; I believe no one did.

31,668. Was there not some arrangement made, some understanding with you and your brother that if you did not vote you were to have 5*l.* each, and that if you did vote you were to have 20*l.*?—Not any; I heard nothing of the sort.

31,669. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know a man named Relf?—Yes.

31,670. And Mr Goldsmith?—Yes.

31,671. You say these people had been talking to you that day?—I have said no such thing. I never saw Relf or Goldsmith to my knowledge that day. I do not remember seeing them that day.

The witness withdrew.

G. Stanford.

GEORGE STANFORD sworn and examined.

31,672. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A gardener.

31,673. What rent do you pay for your house?—10*l.*

31,674. Was that what you were paying at the time of the election in 1865?—Yes.

31,675. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

31,676. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

31,677. Who put you on the committee?—Job Apted.

31,678. Were you to give your assistance in the best way you could?—Yes.

31,679. Did he tell you on what terms you were to go on the committee?—No, not particular.

31,680. What were you to get?—He was to give me 5*l.*

31,681. He said so?—Yes.

31,682. Did you do any work for him?—No.

31,683. You only gave your vote?—That is all.

31,684. Were you paid any money before the election came on?—No; I had done three days' work, I think, for Mr. Durrant, why lives on the freehold.

31,685. At what?—Gardening.

31,686. During the election?—Yes, for Mr. Durrant.

31,687. In Mr. Durrant's garden?—Yes.

31,688. What money did you receive before the election?—That was about 17*s.*, or 17*s.* 6*d.*, that I got for 3½ days.

31,689. From Durrant?—Yes.

31,690. Apted promised you; what did he pay you altogether?—Not anything.

31,691. What was the full amount that you received?—I had 17*s.*, and 7*s.* besides, that is all.

31,692. The 17*s.* was for gardening?—Yes.

31,693. Not all of it. I find in his account 15*s.* for working?—I think it was 17*s.*

31,694. How much did you receive altogether?—I think it was 17*s.* 6*d.* I received altogether from Durrant.

31,695. Did you receive anything from Apted?—7*s.*; that is all.

31,696. What did Apted pay you the 7*s.* for?—I had a pair of shoes.

31,697. Why did he not give you the 5*l.*?—Well, I did not ask him for it.

31,698. What did he say about the shoes?—The 7*s.* was for the shoes.

31,699. You got a pair of shoes?—Yes; it was for my daughter.

31,700. That is the 7*s.*?—Yes.

31,701. You are sure?—I received no more money than 17*s.*, or 17*s.* 6*d.* from Durrant, and 7*s.* from Apted; that is all; nothing more.

31,702. You are put down in Durrant's account as having received 15*s.* for work?—It might be so, but I thought it was 17*s.* 6*d.*

31,703. That was working in the garden?—Yes.

31,704. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose the work was really required in the garden?—Yes.

31,705. True and honest work?—Yes, it was.

31,706. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did you not get the 5*l.*?—I do not know, I am sure; I did not trouble about it.

31,707. You would not like to be supposed to give your vote for 7*s.* surely. We shall be compelled to put Mr. George Stamford down as a person bribed for a pair of shoes?—Well, Mr. Apted told me I did not want to pay for them then; that is what he said.

31,708. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Has he asked you for the money since?—No.

31,709. And you do not expect him to ask you?—I am sure I do not know whether he will or will not.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN MOODY sworn and examined.

J. Moody.

31,710. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A wheelwright.

31,711. A master wheelwright?—Yes; I employ men; wheelwrights and smiths too.

31,712. What rent did you pay for your house to give you a qualification at the last election?—I did not pay any rent. I lived in a house of my own. I think it was rated at 32*l.* 10*s.*

31,713. Part of the freehold company?—I bought it of them.

31,714. It is pure freehold?—It is pure freehold.

31,715. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

31,716. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,717. Did you receive any money on account of the election?—No.

31,718. Who canvassed you?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

31,719. No one else?—No one else.

31,720. You did not promise anybody else, with reference to the election, to vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

31,721. And you received nothing?—No.

31,722. Were you asked by the Monson party to vote?—I was asked some time previous to the election if I would vote for Mr. Monson, and I said no.

31,723. Were any overtures made to you by the Monson party?—No.

31,724. Is there another person of your name upon the register?—Yes.

31,725. Where does he live?—He lives about a quarter of a mile from me.

31,726. What is he?—He is a publican; he keeps the "Plough."

31,727. What is his Christian name?—William.

31,728. Did you take any part in the last election?—No; I only went and voted. I promised Mr. Gower when I came that I would vote for him.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE CROUCHER sworn and examined.

G. Croucher.

31,729. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A gardener.

31,730. What was your qualification at the last election?—My house is 8*l.*

31,731. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

31,732. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,733. Did you canvass for him?—No.

31,734. Were you to canvass for him?—No. I do not know Mr. Gower myself. He never spoke to me. I never attended any meeting.

31,735. Who did you tell that you were going to vote for Mr. Gower?—Durrant, when he called at the place where I was working.

31,736. I suppose Durrant called upon you, and asked you if you would vote for Mr. Gower?—He did. The first time I voted for Mr. Gower he called at my house.

31,737. That was in 1863, I suppose?—Yes.

31,738. As to the last election?—He brought his milk where I was at work, and he asked me how I was going, and I said, the same as I had done before.

31,739. Did he tell you that you would get paid for voting?—No.

31,740. Did you get paid?—Yes; I had 2*s.* 6*d.* before the election.

31,741. Who gave you the 2*s.* 6*d.*?—Durrant.

31,742. What was that for?—He said, "Get yourself a drop of beer."

31,743. Did you get any money after the election?—I had 10*s.* after the election.

31,744. Who paid you that?—Durrant.

31,745. Did he tell you what it was for?—No.

31,746. How long after the election did he give you the 10*s.*?—The same day.

31,747. After you had voted?—Yes.

31,748. Was that all you had in 1865?—Yes.

31,749. From anybody?—Yes.

31,750. In 1863 what did you get?—I do not recollect. I think it was 2*s.* 6*d.* I do not recollect any more in 1863.

31,751. Who paid it to you?—Mr. Durrant; he came where I worked.

31,752. He gave you 2*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes; he came there with his milk.

31,753. I suppose you had done nothing for the

TWENTIETH DAY.

G. Croucher.

13 Sept. 1866.

2*s.* 6*d.*?—I had done nothing; I did not want to have anything to do with it.

31,754. Did you receive anything more than the 2*s.* 6*d.* in 1863, after you voted?—No; I do not remember anything. In fact, I do not remember anything after I have gone 100 yards, and I am obliged to go twice over the ground.

31,755. You cannot recollect?—I am obliged to go back again.

31,756. You recollect with regard to 1865 that you received 2*s.* 6*d.* and 10*s.*?—Yes; I voted for Mr. Monson between the two.

31,757. When did you vote for Mr. Monson, the election before?—Yes.

31,758. In 1859?—No, I think it was between the two. I was not asked a question at all about it.

31,759. Have you got anything to say about it?—No.

The witness withdrew.

C. Champion.

CHARLES CHAMPION sworn and examined.

31,760. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A smith.

31,761. A blacksmith?—Yes.

31,762. What rent do you pay for your house?—16*l.* a year.

31,763. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

31,764. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

31,765. How many weeks had you been on his committee?—Mr. Gower canvassed me just before he held the public meeting.

31,766. Four or five weeks?—Something like that.

31,767. Did you take an active part?—A little.

31,768. Did you canvass many men?—No.

31,769. Did you canvass some men?—I spoke to one man.

31,770. Who was it?—A man of the name of Thompson.

31,771. What is he?—A gardener, living at Sidlow bridge; that is the only man I asked.

31,772. You attended meetings?—One meeting; that is all.

31,773. I thought you attended the committee meetings?—I attended a meeting or two at Woodhatch.

31,774. What did you receive?—For my vote?

31,775. For what you did?—Nothing at all.

31,776. You gave your services gratuitously?—Yes.

31,777. You received nothing?—I received nothing.

31,778. Nothing at all?—Not for my services.

31,779. Did you receive any money at all?—I paid some money for refreshments; I was paid that again.

31,780. How much money did you receive?—I received 3*l.* from David Durrant.

31,781. That was for working, was it not?—No, for refreshment.

31,782. I thought you said you attended only one meeting?—Only one committee meeting here.

31,783. What other meetings did you attend?—There were meetings at Woodhatch.

31,784. How many did you attend at Woodhatch?—Two meetings.

31,785. Do you mean to say that you got 3*l.* for attending those two meetings?—No, I spent the money on the voters that were there. I was asked to take charge of them and give them some refreshment, and I did so.

31,786. Just recollect yourself, there must be some mistake?—No mistake on my part.

31,787. To whom did you pay the 3*l.*?—I paid over 3*l.* the first night.

31,788. To whom?—To Mr. Hodge at the "Angel."

31,789. How much over 3*l.* did you pay?—I think it was over 3*l.* 15*s.*; something like that.

31,790. You only received 3*l.* 15*s.* from Durrant?—I paid more, and I received the rest from Mr. Smith.

31,791. How much did you receive from Mr. Smith besides the 3*l.* from Mr. Durrant?—3*l.* Mr. Smith asked me if I would take charge of a little money.

31,792. How soon before the election was this?—Perhaps a fortnight.

31,793. And then you said you would?—Yes.

31,794. You had no objection to that?—Not a bit of it.

31,795. Then he gave you what; a cheque?—After the election he paid me.

31,796. I thought he asked you, "Would you have "any objection to take charge of some money"?—He told me he would send me down some.

31,797. That is not what you said?—I might make a mistake as to the words.

31,798. Did he not send the money down?—No; I took his word, and paid the money when they sent the men to have something to drink.

31,799. You paid 3*l.* 15*s.* to one man; to whom did you pay the other?—I cannot say to a few shillings; I was about on the nomination and polling days, and I spent some then.

31,800. Abont how much did you give to Hodge?—Perhaps I might have paid him another pound.

31,801. Was Hodge the person who had the pig?—I have read that in the papers.

31,802. He lives up the hill?—Yes, I live next door to him.

31,803. That accounts for 4*l.* 15*s.*; you cannot give any account of the remainder?—On the nomination and polling days I was fetching voters and spending money. I was to be reimbursed for all I spent.

31,804. That was borrowing money from you; Mr. Smith (that is Mr. Gower) borrowing money from you for the purposes of the election?—I did not take it as such; I took Mr. Smith's word that he would pay me.

31,805. Let me call your attention to what Mr. Durrant has put down: "C. Champion, Woodhatch, for work, 3*l.*"?—That is a mistake. I have heard that he put it down the same as he put Williams down; it is a mistake.

31,806. Who told you?—Thomas Williams, jun.; he put his name down for work in the same way.

31,807. They put you down as having received 3*l.* for work?—That is wrong; I never charged a halfpenny for any work whatever. What service I have done, as far as regards Mr. Gower, he was quite welcome to; I should only be pleased to do it again if he was to come forward as a candidate.

31,808. You were paid 3*l.* by Mr. Smith after the election?—Yes.

31,809. When were you paid the other 3*l.*?—Before the election I received that from Durrant. Durrant told me there was a party coming out of the "Angel," and he asked me if I would take the money and pay for him. It has been mentioned that they had something to take at the "Angel," and they did not know who paid for it; I believe I was the person who paid for it.

31,810. Had you voted at the previous election?—Yes.

31,811. In 1863?—Yes.

31,812. For whom?—Mr. Gower.

31,813. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

31,814. Did you work for him then?—No; I might canvass for him.

31,815. But you did not go about?—No; I lost no time.

31,816. You did not expend your own money?—Not a halfpenny then, and I never received a halfpenny.

31,817. When was the first time you voted?—For Sir Henry Rawlinson.

31,818. In 1858?—Yes, I suppose it was in 1858.

31,819. Was that the Doulton election?—Yes.

31,820. You received nothing then?—Nothing whatever.

31,821. You are put down as having received 3*l.*, not for money expended, but for work done; did you tell Mr. Durrant that the 3*l.* he gave you you had spent in treating voters at the "Angel"?—Yes; Durrant knows it as well as I do myself.

31,822. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He knew it when he paid you the money?—Yes, he gave it to me for that very purpose; he said he should not be able to come out himself, and would I look after them.

31,823. Was the money paid before you went to the "Angel"?—He gave me 2*l.* before, and then 1*l.*, because I told him I had spent more. I told him I had spent 1*l.* 15*s.* more.

31,824. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You say he knew that, and had no right to put you down so?—He had no right to put me down, and he knew that.

31,825. The 3*l.* you received from Mr. Smith, did you give him any account how you expended it?—No.

31,826. I do not think you say you expended all that 3*l.*?—Yes, I did. I was about the whole of the polling day; I brought up the voters, and treated some.

31,827. You expended every shilling of that?—Every shilling of it.

31,828. You gave no account to Mr. Smith?—No.

31,829. He said he would send you a little money when you spoke to him before the election?—He called me and asked me if I would take——

31,830. A little money to use in treating voters?—Yes, it was on that condition and no other; I would not take it on any other condition.

31,831. Not a farthing of that remained in your pocket?—No, it was all spent.

31,832. If that be so, you have been very much wronged?—It is wrong. Mr. Durrant can explain it.

31,833. I do not think he explains this?—He can explain that he has put that wrong.

31,834. You had no arrangement made with him?—None.

31,835. That it was to be put down for work?—No, no arrangement whatever.

31,836. You did not know it was for work until you were told?—Not till I was told. Williams told me that mine was down the same as his, for work, and I said, "That is wrong."

31,837. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know of more meetings being held at Hodge's than the one which you had and the one which Apted had? Were you at Apted's meeting?—Yes.

31,838. Did you know of any other meeting being held at Hodge's besides those two?—No, I do not believe there was. There were only two; one with Apted. Apted was in the chair; I was asked to take the chair, but I declined.

31,839. Who paid at Apted's meeting?—Apted brought the money down I believe, and I went in with him when he paid.

31,840. How much did he pay, about 5*l.*?—I think it was 3*l.* 10*s.*; he had a bill of that, I think, from Mr. Hodge.

31,841. Did Mr. Smith take no receipt from you?—No; I went to Mr. Smith to pay him some money, I said I had paid 3*l.* for the election, and he paid me the money, and said he was much obliged for the part I took.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE LUCAS sworn and examined.

31,842. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A baker.

31,843. Are you a master baker?—Yes, in a small way.

31,844. What rent do you pay for your house?—I do not pay rent; it is my own freehold.

31,845. Is it on the freehold land estate?—Yes, building with the assistance of the Building Freehold Land Society.

31,846. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

31,847. What is the value of your house?—It is rated at 14*l.* 10*s.*

31,848. And you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

31,849. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

31,850. Who asked you to go on the committee?—It was owing to a conversation that took place between me and Mr. Buckland some weeks previous to the election.

31,851. What was that conversation?—It happened during the time that there was much controversy as to whether Mr. Gower could come forward after the arrangement made with the late Mr. Wilkinson. About six weeks before the election I met Mr. Buckland and asked him if it was his opinion Mr. Gower would come forward, and he said "Undoubtedly," and I said I would vote for him if he did. He said he was very glad to hear it, and he said, as he intended to have a very efficient working committee, he should be very glad to have me on it. I said that of course my business occupied a great portion of my time, but what I could do I would.

31,252. Was there anything said about your being remunerated? What was done?—I received 3*l.* for my services, 10*s.* before the election and 2*l.* 10*s.* about five weeks after.

31,853. Who paid you?—Mr. Buckland. The first 10*s.* I received was in this way. I belonged to the band, and every Saturday evening we have the room below. I walked up the place, and saw Mr. Buckland and Mr. Apted in the room below, and I said, "What is going on?" He said, "We have not "taken any public houses, but have adopted the plan "of allowing a little money for working. Do you "want any?" I said I had no objection, money was always acceptable, and I took 10*s.*

31,854. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know where this plan was originated?—No.

31,855. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is the way you got your expenses?—Yes.

31,856. You got the 2*l.* 10*s.* some months after the election?—Yes.

31,857. That was not for refreshments?—No, it was for my services.

31,858. Had you done any?—Very little. I had attended all the meetings, and done what was required of me.

31,859–60. You attended meetings, and gave your services in that way?

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was accorded for your services, he said?—Yes.

31,861. Not for your vote?—No.

31,862. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it paid five months after the election?—Thereabouts.

31,863. Had you made an application at all to Mr. Buckland for this money?—None whatever.

31,864. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he come to you, or did you go to him?—I met him in the street, as I very often do.

31,865. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had he the money in his pocket?—No, he told me if I would call upon him at his office I might receive something for my services; which I did.

31,866. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is Mr. Buckland?—He is secretary to a building society for one thing.

31,867. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The building society in which you have your freehold?—Yes, and he is a collector of rents.

31,868. I suppose a good many of your neighbours received money from Buckland in the same way?—Yes.

31,869. Do you know many of the voters belonging to this society?—No, I do not know a great many. I look pretty close to business.

31,870. Can you tell me whether most of them voted for Gower or Monson?—That I really cannot.

TWENTIETH DAY.

G. Lucas.

13 Sept. 1866.

I never had any conversation with Buckland of any consequence. I told him I should like to vote for Mr. Gower, and I told him so the very first time.

31,871. Had you voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

31,872. For Mr. Gower ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

31,873. Against Mr. Gower ?—Yes, but Mr. Wilkinson was now dead.

31,874. In 1863 what did you get altogether for your services ?—2*l.* 5*s.*

31,875. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

31,876. Who paid you ?—A stranger; I think it it was Mr. James; it was nine days.

31,877. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Nine days at 5*s.* a day ?—Yes.

31,878. (The Chief Commissioner.) And you voted for Mr. Wilkinson ?—Yes.

31,879. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you a master baker then ?—Yes, but I had not long commenced business.

31,880. Had you many people working under you ?—No.

31,881. Then your time was a good deal taken up ?—Yes; I had a boy.

31,882. But you would not allow the boy to make the bread and spoil the batch ?—No.

31,883. I believe you had not much time for electioneering ?—No.

31,884. Had anybody told you before you got this 2*l.* 5*s.* you would be paid ?—No, I made application for employment on hearing rumours people would be paid.

31,885. What employment did you ask for ?—As messenger.

31,886. Did you really do anything ?—Yes, I really did. I called in at the committee room and took circulars as I went round

31,887. You delivered your circulars with your loaves ?

31,888. Those were your services ?—Yes.

31,889. That was a great addition to the price of your bread ?—Yes.

31,890. And I dare say you thought it was on account of your voting ?—I did not think much about it. I was only in a small way of business, and I thought I had a right to increase it.

31,891. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you deliver circulars last time ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

J. Sawyer.

JOSEPH SAWYER sworn and examined.

31,892. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A shoemaker.

31,893. What rent do you pay for your house ?—Mine is a weekly rent, but I am rated at 8*l.*

31,894. How much do you pay ?—6*s.* a week.

31,895. For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

31,896. Were you on his committee ?—I was on his committee, his outdoor committee.

31,897. And you did all you could for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

31,898. What did you receive ?—1*l.*

31,899. Who from ?—From Mr. Green.

31,900. Was that before you polled or after ?—Three months after.

31,901. Had you received nothing before you polled ?—No, only he told me he would pay me if I worked well.

31,902. But you received nothing before you polled ?—Not anything.

31,903. Had you voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

31,904. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

31,905. And were you on his committee then ?—Yes.

31,906. What did you receive at that election ?—7*s.* 6*d.* a day.

31,907. For how many days ?—For 18 days.

31,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is that what you received ?—Mr. Rees and Mr. Green laid it down on the table.

31,909. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You voted before ?—I voted twice before in 1859.

31,910. And no money was going then ?—I did not see it.

31,911. You had not voted before ?—No, that was my first voting.

The witness then withdrew.

C. Murrell.

CHARLES MURRELL sworn and examined.

31,912. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A labourer.

31,913. What rent do you pay ?—12*l.* a year.

31,914. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

31,915. Were you on the committee ?—Yes.

31,916. Who put you on ?—Mr. Apted.

31,917. Did he pay you anything for going on ?—No, sir.

31,918. Nothing at all ?—No, sir.

31,919. Did he pay you anything for the work you did after you were on ?—Yes.

31,920. What did he pay you ?—30*s.*; he did not pay me the 30*s.*

31,921. I thought you said he did ?—Mr. Rose paid me the 30*s.*

31,922. Mr. Apted put you on the committee ?—Yes.

31,923. And Mr. Rose paid you ?—Yes.

31,924. Was this your first election ?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

G. Parfitt.

GEORGE PARFITT sworn and examined.

31,925. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—A gardener.

31,926. What rent do you pay for your house ?—I do not pay any rent.

31,927. Are you one of the freehold land society ?—No, I live rent free.

31,928. Then you are in service ?—No; I take under the reading-room in Nutley-lane.

31,929. Do you live in the house ?—Yes, it is rated at 10*l.* a year.

31,930. Have you got the exclusive occupation of that ?—I have the occupation of four rooms.

31,931. Are your four rooms rated at 10*l.* a year ?—That is what they are rated at.

31,932. Not the four ?—Yes, that is what they are rated at.

31,933. Are your four rooms rated separately ?—The reading-room is not rated at all.

31,934. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

31,935. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

31,936. Who put you on the committee ?—I had it done myself; I spoke to somebody; there was a meeting in the room in the hall.

31,937. Below here ?—Yes.

31,938. To make the matter short, did you receive any money either before or after the election ?—After.

31,939. Did you receive any money before the election, and before you voted ?—No.

31,940. From whom did you receive the money ?—Alexander Rose.

31,941. What did he pay you ?—2*l.*

31,942. What did he pay you for ?—I was set to work.

31,943. To work ?—Yes.

31,944. What did you do ?—I canvassed a little.

31,945. A very little?—Well, what I could.

31,946. And that was not much?—No, it was not much.

31,947. I suppose you did not succeed in getting many voters?—Not many.

31,948. Did you succeed in getting any?—I do not know that I did.

31,949. Did you make any overtures to any voters you canvassed? Did you promise them anything?—No.

31,950. Did Apted give you any authority to offer anything?—No.

31,951. Or to tell them if they came on the committee they would be paid for their time?—No.

31,952. And I suppose that was the reason you were not successful?—Very likely.

31,953. Did you vote in 1863?—No.

31,954. Who did you canvass?—I cannot think of anybody's name now.

31,955. If you did ask anybody, did they tell you they were canvassers also?—No, they did not.

31,956. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you the man on the register as William Parfitt?—Yes.

31,957. How is that?—They made a mistake in my Christian name.

31,958. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How soon after the election did you get your money?—Two or three months.

The witness then withdrew.

CHARLES CHARLES sworn and examined.

C. Charles.

31,959. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Charles?—A gardener.

31,960. What rent do you pay?—5*s.* 6*d.* per week.

31,961. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

31,962. Were you on his committee?—No.

31,963. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

31,964. Anybody else?—Mr. Smith was with him, and I promised to vote for him.

31,965. Did anybody else besides ask you?—No. Mr. Penfold once said, "I suppose you are on our "side;" he lives near me; and I said, "Of course "I am."

31,966. Did Mr. Penfold say you would be remunerated for your trouble?—No.

31,967. Nothing of that sort?—No.

31,968. Did you canvass for him at all?—Not at all, I did nothing for him at all.

31,969. I suppose you received something?—Yes, I did; about six months after the election Mr. Penfold presented me with 2*l.*

31,970. He paid you down this 2*l.* six months after the election?—Yes.

31,971. Had you voted before?—No, sir.

31,972. Was this your first time?—Yes.

31,973. How came you to go to Mr. Penfold?—I did not go to Mr. Penfold at all.

31,974. How came he to come to you?—He lives close to me.

31,975. He is a neighbour?—Yes.

31,976. I suppose he told you before the six months elapsed he should have a little money for you?—No; he never told me, and when it was presented to me it was a very agreeable surprise.

31,977. How did he present it to you?—"Charles, "here is a trifle for you," or "a little present," or something of that sort, and I thanked him for it.

31,978. For the election?—He did not say a word about the election.

31,979. Not a word about it?—No.

31,980. Of course you knew what it was for?—I guessed at that, but I took it as a present.

31,981. You knew it was about the election?—I did nothing at all.

31,982. You knew it was about the election?—I suppose it was so.

31,983. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose Mr. Penfold had never given you 2*l.* before?—No.

31,984. Nor since?—No, I wish he would; it would be acceptable.

31,985. You do not mean you would take it for your vote?—No, I only say if any one were to give me 2*l.* it would be very acceptable.

31,986. Then if another election was to come, and you were offered 2*l.* for your vote, I suppose you would take it?—No, I would not take 2*l.* for my vote or anything.

31,987. I suppose this 2*l.*, as a present, was very unexpected?—It was an agreeable surprise.

31,988. Did you vote in 1863?—No.

31,989. Or '59?—No.

31,990. This was your first time of voting?—Yes; I had been then about four years.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS TITCHENER sworn and examined.

T. Titchener.

31,991. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

31,992. What rent do you pay for the house you occupy?—12*l.*

31,993. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

31,994. I believe you were on his committee?—Yes.

31,995. Who asked you to go?—Mr. Smith.

31,996. And he put you on?—Yes, sir; at least, I suppose he did.

31,997. You were employed a good deal in the election?—Yes.

31,998. You were an agent?—Nothing in particular but a canvasser.

31,999. Money passed through your hands for other people?—Yes.

32,000. And you accounted to some person for money you received; who was that?—Mr. Penfold I received money from.

32,001. Did you account to Penfold for the monies you paid?—I gave an account of them.

32,002. You did?—I gave him an account whatever I paid.

32,003. How much money did you receive altogether from Mr. Penfold?—I am sure I do not know, for I never took an account, but wherever I paid any money I took a little receipt and handed it to him.

32,004. You handed to him a bill of what you paid?—Yes.

32,005. But you have no account of what you received from him altogether?—No, for I never reckoned it up.

32,006. Now tell me this; did you receive as much as 15*l.* from him?—I might have done, but I never did reckon it up; I cannot tell the total amount I paid, but I know I paid some several times.

32,007. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It might be about that?—It might be, but I really cannot say, for I never kept any account.

32,008. (The Chief Commissioner.) You gave in an account for your own services?—Yes, to Mr. Smith.

32,009. And was the whole account you sent in paid?—I received it.

32,010. I mean was the whole amount you claimed for your services paid?—Yes.

32,011. How much was it?—11*l.*

32,012. Mr. Smith paid it?—Yes.

TWENTIETH DAY.

T. Titchener.

13 Sept. 1866.

32,013. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was for your own work?—Not exactly all my own work.

32,014. (The Chief Commissioner.) What was it then, tell me?—I paid a man 2*l.* for the nomination day and polling day.

32,015. Did not that go into Penfold's account of monies that you had paid out of pocket, that you got from Mr. Penfold?—Yes.

32,016. You told me you sent in a separate account to Mr. Smith for your own services?—Yes.

32,017. Then you say you paid somebody 2*l.*?—I beg your pardon, I made a mistake, it was 9*l.*; that is what it was.

32,018. Did Mr. Smith pay that in a cheque or in money?—I think it was by cheque; I went to the bank, but it is so long ago I have almost forgetten.

32,019. Can you tell me to whom you paid the 2*l.*; do you recollect his name?—James Trussler.

32,020. You paid him 2*l.*?—Yes.

32,021. And who else?—Nobody else, unless it was for beer scores, refreshments.

32,022. Did you pay for refreshments?—Yes.

32,023. What did you pay for?—I paid a bill; there was an open air booth erected, and I paid the bill to Master Tyrrell's daughter, but I do not know what her name is.

32,024. How much did you pay to Tyrrell's daughter?—That I cannot recollect, for I did not keep any account of it.

32,025. Was it 5*l.*?—5*l.* or 6*l.*; something like that.

32,026. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For one night's bill?—Yes.

32,027. (The Chief Commissioner.) One night's refreshments?—Yes, and the expense of the booth; there was the putting up of the booth and things connected with it.

32,028. And who else did you pay?—I paid another biggish score down at the "Bridge" hotel, but I forget his name.

32,029. That is quite enough for me; what did you pay at the "Bridge" hotel?—2*l.* or 3*l.*, I think.

32,030. Shall I take it 2*l.* or 3*l.*?—Yes; it was somewhere thereabouts.

32,031. Who else did you pay?—I do not know that I went anywhere else; I do not recollect any other house.

32,032. Shall I say, "I do not remember going to "any other house"?—I do not remember.

32,033. Do you remember making any payments at any other house?—No, I do not remember e'er a one.

32,034. Then you do not recollect any payments beyond those you have mentioned?—No.

32,035. And these accounts you have told me of went in to Penfold?—I gave them to him, and he handed me the money.

32,036. Was this all before the election, or after?—It was all before the election.

32,037. Did you not receive any other money in respect of this election?—Mr. Penfold gave me a 1*l.* one day, soon after I came on the committee; he said, "You cannot run about without some money, when "you are canvassing some money is required."

32,038. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was for your own expenses?—Yes.

32,039. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was soon after you had been on the committee?—Yes, about a week after.

32,040. We have got from you the two scores you have mentioned; was that all the money you received from Penfold to pay out?—Yes.

32,041. Do you think you did not receive any more money besides that?—No.

32,042. Either before or after the election?—No, I do not remember receiving any money after the election, except what I received from Mr. Smith.

32,043. You are sure you did not?—Yes.

32,044. That you did not receive any money after the election, except from Mr. Smith?—No, sir.

32,045. Are you sure you did not receive any money for yourself besides what you have stated?—I am quite sure of it.

32,046. When was it after the election Mr. Smith gave you the cheque?—It was four or five months, or five or six months after that.

32,047. I should like to know the exact time?—I know it was a long time afterwards.

32,048. You say five or six months after; there might be snow on the ground, or something by which you could fix it?—I do not recollect the weather, but I am sure it was in winter time, though I do not know whether it was before or after Christmas; I know it was a long time after the election.

32,049. Have you any reason to think it was about Christmas time?—I do not know whether it was before or after.

32,050. Will Christmas remind you of it; had it something to do with Christmas?—No, not the least.

32,051. I suppose you are a master gardener?—No, I am an illiterate man, a labourer.

32,052. Do you recollect whether you were in employment at the time when the money came in?—When I received it from Mr. Smith?

32,053. Yes?—I am in work when I can get work, I job about.

32,054. You are not able to fix the time nearer than that?—No, I ain't.

32,055. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you make application to Mr. Smith for the 9*l.* cheque?—Yes, I called on him; Mr. Smith arranged with me and no one else; he asked me if I would go to work for him, and no one else.

32,056. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are on the wrong tack; when you had done the work did you ask Mr. Smith for the 9*l.* cheque?—I asked him according to the statement he made to me, that I was to be upon this canvassing; and then about a fortnight after I spoke to him he paid me.

32,057. What did he say, was it something like this, "Give me an account and I will pay you"?—I think he said, "Give me a bit of an account of it and I will "settle it." I am no scollard in particular.

32,058. Then he paid you about a fortnight after?—After I asked him about it.

32,059. This was not your first election, was it?—No.

32,060. In 1863 you had been "allowed" about the election?—Yes, I was "allowed" for it.

32,061. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

32,062. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

32,063. Who put you on the committee?—That I cannot tell.

32,064. Did you do what you could for him?—Yes, I worked hard.

32,065. Did money pass through your hands then?—No.

32,066. You did not receive money from other people to pay away?—No, not a penny.

32,067. Who paid you for your services on that occasion?—Mr. James.

32,068. Can you tell me how much?—No, I cannot.

32,069. Will the paper you have in your hand tell you?—No, that is only my summons.

32,070. Tell me exactly what it was Mr. James paid you?—I had about 5*s.* a day, and I was canvasing three weeks or a month.

32,071. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You would have 4*l.* 10*s.* or 5*l.*?—Somewhere thereabouts.

32,072. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that your first election?—No, sir.

32,073. At the great election of 1859, between Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson, had you voted then?—Yes, sir.

32,074. What did you receive for that election?—I had 5*s.* a day then.

32,075. And did that come to more than the 1863 election?—That I do not know.

32,076. You were for Mr. Wilkinson then?—Yes, sir.

32,077. You received 5s. a day for how long?—It would be three weeks or a month.

32,078. May I say about 5l.; I am putting it about?—I am sure I cannot say.

32,079. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Three weeks would be 4l. 10s.?—It might be something like that, but I kept no account.

32,080. (The Chief Commissioner.) There were two other elections in 1858, one between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson, and the first known as Doulton's?—Yes, Mr. Doulton's, I was on that.

32,081. What did you get paid for on Doulton's?—I think 5s. a day; no, it was 7s. 6d. a day.

32,082. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought the price was higher?—7s. 6d. a day; it was higher.

32,083. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Doulton.

32,084. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you get, can you tell me?—No.

32,085. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were 8 or 9 weeks?—I was on some little time.

32,086. (The Chief Commissioner.) It would be something like 11l.; it would be over that?—Well, I don't know.

32,087. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Seven or eight weeks would be 16l. or 17l.?—I never got it, though it would seem to be that from your statement.

32,088. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you get?—5l. or 5l. 10s. Mr. Truman paid me, I think.

32,089. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How was it he did not pay you more?—He said he could not afford to pay me more, and I never got all the money.

32,090. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was after the election?—Yes.

32,091. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you get in 1859, the October election, between Mr. Wilkinson and the Hon. Mr. Monson?—I suppose I had something like 5s. a day then.

32,092. You were not very likely to miss?—No.

32,093. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

32,394. Did you say you got about 5s. then?—It might be something thereabouts, I cannot say exactly, I cannot say for certainty.

32,095. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said you gave 2l. to some man for nomination and polling days?—Yes.

32,096. Who was it?—James Trussler.

32,097. Did you pay him before the election or after?—No, after; it was three or four months after.

32,098. Did you make out your account to Mr Smith, including 2l. for Trussler?—I do not know whether I made it out in that way or not.

32,099. How came you to pay Trussler?—Because he would not be content with less than two days.

32,100. You promised him before polling?—The night before the election, or day or so before.

32,101. You paid Trussler the 2nd of January?—It was within a day or two of the time I received the money from Mr. Smith that I paid Trussler.

32,102. He has said you paid him on the 2nd of January?—I do not know whether it was in this year or the last.

32,103. Did you tell Mr. Smith you had 2l. to pay to Trussler out of the cheque?—Yes, I believe I said something about it.

32,104. Be as exact as you can, we shall have to ask Mr. Smith about this; I wish to know whether you told Mr. Smith you wanted to pay Trussler for voting, and whether you told him so before receiving the 9l. cheque?—I said at first 11l., and then I remembered myself, and said 9l.

32,105. What was it in fact you did receive from Mr. Smith; was it not 11l.? or did you receive two separate sums, 9l. and 2l., from Mr. Smith?—All I received from Mr. Smith I had in one sum.

32,106. Was it not in the month of November you received the money from Mr. Smith, and was it not the 4th of November?—I do not remember the day of the month, nor yet what month it was in.

32,107. What was your account, 9l.?—Yes.

32,108. Do you distinctly recollect it was 9l.?—Yes, sir.

32,109. How can you recollect what it was Mr. Smith paid you; you say the cheque was 9l.; did you get the cheque cashed and then pay Trussler the 2l. out of the 9l.?—No, I did not; I was right in the first instance of the sum I gave. I was thinking myself about it.

32,110. On the 4th of November Mr. Smith says he paid to you, Titchener, your account, 11l.; does that bring it to your recollection?—Yes, that is right.

32,111. Then Trussler says on the 2nd of January you paid him 2l.?—If I received the money on the 4th of November, I went and paid him a day or two after I received it.

32,112. Trussler may be wrong as to the day?—Yes.

32,113. Did you pay anybody else excepting Trussler?—No, not a penny.

32,114. Did you promise any money to anybody else except Trussler for nomination and polling day?—No, sir.

32,115. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How came you not to apply to Mr. Smith sooner; you are a labouring man and a poor man?—I heard several persons say there would be something some day or other, but I did not know when, and I left it trusting to his honesty as to when I should get it.

32,116. Had you a vote before 1858, Doulton's?—There have been so many elections, I forget; there is always a bother at electioneering.

32,117. (The Chief Commissioner.) You yourself at the time of the election in 1865 kept a beer shop?—Yes.

32,118. Where was it?—At Earlswood-common.

32,119. Were there many meetings at your house?—There was one, attended by about half a dozen.

32,120. Who paid for the refreshments?—I do not know.

32,121. But I want to know?—I did not receive the money myself, they paid my wife. I do not know whether Penfold was there and paid himself.

32,122. Was he there, and did he pay himself?—He was there that evening; whether he settled with my missis I can't tell.

32,123. That is over and above anything you have been talking to us about?—Yes.

32,124. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long was this before the election, was it a week or ten days?—It was a week or more before the election; it was some little time before.

The witness then withdrew.

WILLIAM GROOM sworn and examined.

W. Groom.

32,125. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A wheelwright.

32,126. How much rent do you pay?—I occupy a freehold.

32,127. What is the value of your freehold by the year?—11l.

32,128. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

32,129. Are you anything besides a wheelwright?—No, I am not.

32,130. You do not keep a beer house?—No.

32,131. You did not keep a beer house at the election?—No.

32,132. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

TWENTIETH DAY.

W. Groom.

13 Sept. 1866.

32,133. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Mr. Apted asked me if I would have my name on the committee, and I said that I would.

32,134. And did you go on the committee?—Yes, I saw it on the list.

32,135. Did you do what you could for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

32,136. And could you do anything?—I was engaged.

32,137. What about?—I delivered circulars and attended the meetings.

32,138. Then you were a kind of messenger?—Yes, or whatever you like to call it.

32,139. I will call it messenger, if you agree to it? Who agreed with you to be messenger?—Mr. Durrant.

32,140. Did he tell you what you were to receive?—No, he gave me 2*l.* 10*s.* after the election.

32,141. Was that all you got?—Yes.

32,142. Was that your first election?—No.

32,143. In 1863 who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

32,144. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

32,145. Who put you on?—Mr. James.

32,146. And did you do about the same quantity of work for them that you did for Mr. Gower on this last election?—I lost eight days right off on the election.

32,147. What did you get for it?—3*l.*

32,148. Who from?—Mr. James.

32,149. Had you been on any election before?—Yes.

32,150. Had you been on the election of 1859; Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson were the candidates, and Mr. Wilkinson did not come down here himself?—I voted for Mr. Monson that time.

32,151. Were you on his committee?—No, I took no interest in the election.

32,152. Did you receive anything for polling or nomination day?—No.

32,153. Did you receive anything?—No, not for Mr. Monson? not at that election.

32,154. Then we come to 1858, when there was an election between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson; they were the same people, only Mr. Wilkinson came down then?—I was on Mr. Wilkinson's committee that time, and I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

32,155. You did not go on Mr. Monson's committee?—No, I took no interest in it.

32,156. What did you get for that election?—5*s.*

32,157. Who from?—I do not know the gentleman's name, but it was Mr. Wilkinson's agent.

32,158. Where was that?—At the "Swan."

32,159. He was a stranger?—Yes, I do not know the name.

32,160. Now there is one other election that you will recollect, Mr. Doulton's election?—Yes.

32,161. Who did you vote for then?—Sir Henry Rawlinson.

32,162. You voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson on Mr. Doulton's election?—Yes.

32,163. I suppose you had some offer from Mr. Doulton, had you not?—No, Mr. Doulton's people never canvassed me at all.

32,164. What did you get for that election?—Nothing at all. I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson, and I promised him I would do what I could. I voted and went to my work again.

32,165. And that was all that happened?—I voted for Mr. Hackblock at the previous election before that.

The witness withdrew.

W. Wood.

WILLIAM WOOD sworn and examined.

32,166. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A painter.

32,167. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

32,168. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* a week.

32,169. Were you on his committee?—No, I was away from work at that time.

32,170. Who brought you to vote?—They came after me.

32,171. Who came after you?—Peat and Jordan.

32,172. Where did they find you?—At Brockholme.

32,173. And you came over and voted for Mr. Monson?—They fetched me over night.

32,174. What did you receive?—I received 5*l.*

32,175. (The Chief Commissioner.) From whom?—Mr. Peat.

32,176. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was all you received?—Yes.

32,177. Were you paid before you voted?—Two 15*s.* before I voted and the rest afterwards.

32,178. The rest on the evening after?—Yes.

32,179. That was not your first time of voting here?—No.

32,180. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

32,181. For whom?—Mr. Wilkinson.

32,182. Were you on his committee?—No, there was nothing mentioned about going on his committee.

32,183. But you did all you could for him?—Yes.

32,184. What did you receive for that?—5*l.*

32,185. From whom?—At the committee room of the "Swan."

32,186. From whom?—Mr. What's-his-name.

32,187. Well what was his name?—Truelove, I think, or Truman; I forget his name. I rather think it was his agent Dear.

32,188. You voted in 1859 also, did you not?—Yes.

32,189. For whom?—For Mr. Monson then.

32,190. I think no money was going at that election?—No, I never had anything.

32,191. Mr. Wilkinson was not down?—No.

32,192. Do you recollect the last election in 1858, in the October of 1858, when Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson contested?—Yes.

32,193. You voted for Mr. Monson, I believe?—I believe I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

32,194. What did you receive for that?—It was not much; I think it was about 30*s.*

32,195. From whom?—From some of his party; but I forget now who it was.

32,196. Now we will come to the first election in 1858, when there were a good many candidates, and among them Mr. Doulton and Sir Henry Rawlinson; for whom did you vote?—For Sir Henry Rawlinson on that occasion.

32,197. Did you receive anything on that occasion?—Yes, 30*s.* or something like that.

32,198. Do you recollect when the balloting was about, who were to be candidates on the Liberal side on that occasion?—Yes.

32,199. The electors were to ballot for the candidates, and I am afraid you got into trouble about it?—It was like it, but I do not know anything about it.

32,200. Who employed you?—Mr. Walters.

32,201. Was he the candidate?—He was the one that we put up.

32,202. What agent canvassed you and employed you, do you recollect?—I forget the man's name, I think it was Brown.

32,203. You were along with Brown, but was it not a man named Cross who employed you?—I think James, but I forget the man now.

32,204. You were joined with a man named Brown; tell me what you were doing with the committees?—He was a stranger, and I went where the voters lived with him; but I did not know what he was going to do.

32,205. Afterwards you found out?—I did not know it then.

32,206. What was he going to do?—He wanted to buy the ballot tickets.

32,207. That was Brown?—Yes.

32,208. In favour of Mr. Walters?—Yes.

32,209. Do you know at all what was the price put upon the tickets?—No, I did not go inside; Mr. Brown went inside the house.

32,210. Did you hear how they were going?—No.

32,211. Had he got many of them?—No, not many I think.

32,212. They were to be kept and put in the ballot box?—Yes.

32,213. Did you see any one give them?—I know one place where he got two afterwards, the Claxtons that was over at Redhill; he took Mr. Wilkinson and the other member away and left Mr. Walters there.

32,214. Can you tell me what he paid for them?—I do not know anything about it.

32,215. (The Chief Commissioner.) He might have said it to you; you might have heard what was paid?—He never said auything about it to me; not a word.

32,216. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How many days were you going about with him?—Only one day, in the evening, the night before the balloting.

32,217. (The Chief Commissioner.) But you see you know how he worked it?—Yes, I saw afterwards; but I did not know how much he gave for them.

32,218. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you keep it up late that night?—No, we went back to the town, and it was quite early, when a policeman came and took us off to the Reigate.

32,219. That is an unpleasant reminiscence?—He heard we were buying the tickets up, and Younger and Mr. Truman, I believe, gave us in charge.

32,220. Do you know upon the search how many ballot tickets were found on your friend Brown?—I believe he pulled them out, but I do not know how many.

32,221. (The Chief Commissioner.) He pulled a lot out; how many?—Not a great many; I do not suppose there were more than five or six.

32,222. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) They were from about 2*s.* 6*d.* to 5*s.* a piece?—I do not know what he gave for them; I was outside.

32,223. Who came in on the ballot?—I believe Doulton did.

The witness withdrew.

William Groom recalled and examined.

W. Groom.

32,224. (The Chief Commissioner.) You remember some men being brought over to you before the election, on the night before the election, in 1865?—No, they came of their own accord.

32,225. There were five, were there not?—Three were more than that altogether; we had a jovial party.

32,226. Just tell me how many; I can give you the names of four or five, but I cannot give you the names of the others; there was Warren, Balchin, Goddard, and Steer?—I do not know anybody of the name of Steer.

32,227. He is dead, poor fellow, so we will not say anything about him?—There was no such man of the name of Steer there.

32,228. Then it is my mistake; well, Jordan, Warren, and Balchin?—Yes, and Chitty and Harridan were in a few minutes.

32,229. He did not stay there long?—He stopped along with the rest.

32,230. He did not stay all night?—No, there were three stopped there all night.

32,231. Who brought them there?—Chitty brought Balchin, and the other two came of their own accord.

32,232. They came into the room where there were refreshments to drink?—We had some drink.

32,233. This was your own election?—Yes; I do not know that Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower had anything to do with it.

32,234. I suppose you have heard before this that Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower had something to do with it?—I have heard they had talked about it.

32,235. After they had had refreshment in the room; there is a passage, and then there is a room on the other side, is there not?—Yes.

32,236. They must enter the other room across the passage, and they went into it?—They got sleepy on the stool in the room where we were.

32,237. In the refreshment room?—Yes, and I told them they could go and lie down if they liked for an hour or two on the carpet.

32,238. That was in another room?—Yes.

32,239. Across the passage?—They had to go across the passage.

32,240. One room was, as you call it, right on the left hand, and the room where you put them into was on the other side?—Yes.

32,241. Who took off their boots?—They took them off themselves.

32,242. Who cleaned them that night?—They were not taken out at all.

32,243. They were taken off from the room to be cleaned?—They were not removed from the place where they took them off.

32,244. Where did they take them off?—On the stool where they sat.

32,245. Do you know who it was that proposed they should take them off before they went into the room to go to sleep?—I told them before they went on the carpet, I told them if they wanted to lie down they must take off their shoes.

32,246. It was because of the nice clean carpet that you did not want the dirty shoes left in?—Yes, I told them they should not go in with their dirty shoes.

32,247. That was a very good reason?—Then they took their boots off, and left their boots there, and went into the room with the carpet?—Yes.

32,248. There is a lock to the door?—Yes, but it was not locked.

32,249. How do you know?—I am sure it was not.

32,250. How do you know?—There were two or three of us about.

32,251. Oh, you did not go to bed then?—No.

32,252. That was better then a lock a great deal?—I was not going to bed when the men were all about.

32,253. Who came in in the morning?—Who came in?

32,254. Yes, the next morning was polling morning?—Yes.

32,255. Who came in that morning before they were up; before they got up and before they went out somebody came in?—There was a man of the name of Wilkins came in.

32,256. Are you able to tell me what time they polled in the morning?—Pretty soon after 8.

32,257. Who went with them to the poll?—I was in the same carriage as they were.

32,258. Did the carriage come up there for them? It came to the "Barley Mow" for them.

32,259. Your house is close by?—It is not a great distance off.

32,260. The carriage came down to the "Barley Mow," and then they were put into the carriage?—They got in there of their own accord.

32,261. I do not mean that they were in chains at all, they were their own masters as far as they could be; they got into the carriage, and who was in the carriage?—I came up with the carriage.

32,262. Who brought the carriage down, who was with it?—I do not know the coachman's name. I do not know who brought it down.

32,263. These men went up in the carriage to poll, and you went with them, and who else went?—I think Williams was with them.

TWENTIETH DAY.

W. Groom.

13 Sept. 1866.

32,264. What, Thomas Williams?—Yes.

32,265. Thomas Williams the younger?—Yes.

32,266. Who else?—I do not know that there were any more than me, Williams, and the coachman.

32,267. That was three to three then, you were all right, you were pretty safe?—They did not want any minding.

32,268. Did they breakfast after the polling or before, I know they breakfasted at the "Barley Mow"?—Before they polled they had some breakfast.

32,269. You went to the "Barley Mow," and they had some breakfast?—Yes.

32,270. I did not think you brought them back with the carriage?—Yes, they were taken to the freehold.

32,271. Goddard and Balchin and Warren were not brought back to the "Barley Mow"?—They rode to the freehold, just by.

32,272. You did not go with them?—Yes.

32,273. Then they got out to go wherever they pleased?—So they did before.

32,274. Before they got to the freehold they got down, and were allowed to go where they liked?—They went out from my house at 5 o'clock in the morning, and went to their own homes, I never saw them from 5 till half-past 6; I never saw them till I saw them at the "Barley Mow."

32,275. Who went across with them to the "Barley Mow"?—No one; I was not up.

32,276. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was all arranged, was it not, that you should meet at the "Barley Mow"?—Yes.

32,277. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Balchin lives near you?—Yes.

32,278. He was not at all the worse for beer that night?—Yes, he was when Chitty brought him in.

32,279. According to your account he took off his boots in order not to soil the carpet?—I say nothing about soiling the carpet, no more than that he took off his boots because he would not go in there with his boots on.

32,280. Why did not they go home?—They were all afraid.

32,281. What of?—They said they did not want to see Jim Brown.

32,282. Jim Brown was the ghost, and you were the protecting angel?—Yes.

32,283. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did they tell you that night they were afraid of Jim Brown?—I heard them tell me.

32,284. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you ever hear of John Brown of Carruther's?—That is the one they said they were afraid of; they said they had promised Gower, and they meant to vote for him.

The witness withdrew.

F. Bonny.

FREDERICK BONNY sworn and examined.

32,285. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A tailor and draper at Station-road, Redhill.

32,286. What rent did you pay for your house?—It is my own house.

32,287. A freehold; what is the value if you were to let it?—50*l.* a year.

32,288. I believe you exerted yourself a good deal on the last election?—I took a little interest in it.

32,289. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

32,290. And of course you were upon his committee?—No, I was never upon a committee at any election.

32,291. But you worked for Mr. Gower?—I did work for my own pleasure.

32,292. You canvassed a good many?—No, not many; only just round my own district.

32,293. Can you tell me at all any person you canvassed?—I canvassed just in my own district; Mr. Best; Clifton, the brewer, Stephen Clifton is his name, one of the most honest voters who ever voted; and Mr. Dulatre, my next-door neighbour; that is all; it was in my own street, and I never went out of it at the last election.

32,294. Did you not canvass anybody else at all?—No. There was a man of the name of Atkinson, who has given his evidence, whom I never canvassed at all, though he worked for me, because I would not do such a thing. I was not employed by any one individual at all, no more than I did my best for Mr. Gower.

32,295. You spoke to them upon your own responsibility?—I never saw any of the agents or any one connected with them.

32,296. How much did your workman receive?—From the Monson party they told me he had received 8*l.*

32,297. He showed you the 8*l.*, did he not?—No, he told me he had got it.

32,298. For whom did he vote?—He voted for Mr. Gower.

32,299. He received 8*l.* from the Monson party?—Yes.

32,300. You were aware that he had received 8*l.* before he voted?—Only by his statement.

32,301. Is there anybody else you remember?—No, nobody in particular.

32,302. Do you not remember any one else?—There was Peter Wornham, he polled for Mr. Gower; I never canvassed him myself to know which way he was going to vote.

32,303. He said you canvassed him?—I spoke to him about his vote.

32,304. That is what I mean; he was employed if you recollect?—He was employed by the Monson party, but I do not think he was employed by Mr. Gower.

32,305. He voted for Mr. Gower, did he not?—Yes.

32,306. Did he tell you what he got from the Monson party?—I think he said something like 4*l.* 10*s.*; I do not know; or that he had 30*s.* a week, or something of that sort.

32,307. You have not told me anybody, only Mr. Best the brewer, whom you got yourself to vote for Mr. Gower?—No one else; only those parties I met in the evening and advocated Mr. Gower's cause.

32,308. Who are the parties you met in the evening?—I do not know any of them.

32,309. Do you know a person named Miller?—No, I do not know him.

32,310. I made a mistake in the name; do you a person named Cook?—Yes, several Cooks.

32,311. I mean a person named Thomas Cook?—Yes, I know him very well.

32,312. You spoke to him about it, I think?—I never had anything at all to do with him.

32,313. He applied to you?—So he says in his statement, but he never applied to me for anything, and I never had anything to do with the fellow in my life.

32,314. Do not be in a hurry, you may have forgotten it?—No, I have not forgotten it.

32,315. Cook stated yesterday that he went to you, and that you had promised him money, in fact, and canvassed him?—I never did any such thing.

32,316. You know him?—I know him from being about the place; I have known him for years; he is a man that I would not deal with at all.

32,317. No such dealing?—No, I would not have such a communication with him.

32,318. You asked him to vote, did you not?—All his statement is false, every word of it.

32,319. Do not say that?—I am not going to tell you any story at all.

32,320. He referred to the election of 1863, I think, what he stated?—I have no recollection of offering him money; I saw him the same as I might see any one else.

32,321. I made a mistake, it was in 1863; I will not come to that yet. Can you tell me the name of anybody who you canvassed in 1865 for Mr. Gower?—No, I took very little interest in it; I was never out of my own street.

32,322. You have only given me the name of Mr. Best?—I asked just a few round me.

32,323. Had you attended any meeting?—No, I had nothing whatever to do with them.

32,324. You had known that money was going on both sides?—Yes, I knew that, but I knew nothing about it.

32,325. You knew that money was going on both sides?—I had an idea that there was.

32,326. Do I understand you to say that you took no part at all in the election of 1865, beyond voting?—Nothing more.

32,327. No money passed through your hands?—Not a penny.

32,328. In 1865?—In 1865 Mr. Gower called upon me, and I told him not to call again, for I would vote for him. I told him that at the commencement of the election.

32,329. Did you recommend anybody for work or for employment, in 1865, who came to you?—No.

32,330. Who was the leading man in your district for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Green and Mr. Rees.

32,331. Was Mr. Green this time a leading man?—Yes.

32,332. Did you not recommend anybody to apply to Mr. Green for employment?—No, I never recommended any one, I had nothing to do with Mr. Green.

32,333. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Or to anybody else?—Nor to anybody else.

32,334. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For whom did you vote in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

32,335. Now I will call your recollection to the fact that Cook in 1863 made a serious complaint. Did you not canvass him for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863?—Not that I am aware of.

32,336. Just recollect?—I have no recollection at all, but I remember seeing him about the place, and hallooing and talking. As to that fellow—

32,337. Stop. We do not wish to hear anything said against men at all in their business. I am asking you, will you undertake to say you did not canvass him in 1863?—Yes, I will; I do not think I ever did canvass him.

32,338. Do you mean to undertake to say that you did not canvass him in 1863?—I have not the slightest recollection, nor any recollection of money or any offer or anything of the sort.

32,339. On whose committee were you in 1863?—On no committee at all.

32,340. Were you not on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—I do not believe you will find my name on his list at all.

32,341. You were very active for him?—I was.

32,342. And worked very actively?—Yes.

32,343. Among others did you not canvass this man Cook?—No, very little; I had very little canvassing in 1863. I was with Mr. James, and worked from day to day the whole of the time with him.

32,344. How long did it occupy you, do you think?—Each day?

32,345. No, during the whole time you were with Mr. James?—Six or seven or eight weeks.

32,346. It was a very sharp contest in 1863?—Yes.

32,347. What remuneration or present did you receive for your services on that election?—I never made any agreement with Mr. James, and losing the election by so small a number I was very much put out. Mr. James came to me a fortnight after and wanted to know the reason I had not come to see him. I told him the election was lost, and I did not think it was worth seeing him. He said that was all nonsense, the money did not come out of Mr. Wilkinson's pocket; and he gave me a cheque for 25*l.*

32,348. If he had not been very ill he would have given you 50*l.*?—He would have given it me then if I had wanted it.

32,349. He said that it did not come out of Mr. Wilkinson's pocket?—Yes.

32,350. Where did it come from?—I should think from where most of it comes, the Reform club.

32,351. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) They were both reformers?—Yes; but that was not my business.

32,352. You did not suppose that the Reform club would send them money to fight one against the other?—You cannot tell how or what they would do.

32,353. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Wherever it came from it was no matter to you; you exerted yourself very much. I will call your attention to this: did you not canvass a man of the name of Cook?—No; I have not the slightest recollection of Cook more than of seeing him casually; I knew he had a vote. No money passed through my hands to get a vote.

32,354. The man said that he went to you and asked you for money. Do you recollect his coming to you and asking you for money after he had been out five nights?—He might have done. Sometimes the man is made drunk, and it is very likely I did kick him out. I have so many applications from that class of men for charity.

32,355. We are dealing here with all classes of people; we respect that man quite as much as we respect you?—It is quite right to. I know nothing whatever about the man, about asking him for his vote.

32,356. You say that you may have threatened him?—I might have done so, because he has got in my shop sometimes and has been annoying me to give him letters to take to persons for charity.

32,357. Have you been busy in any other election?—I have taken a little part; I have always gone for Mr. Wilkinson.

32,358. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have always gone for Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

32,359. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you remember a person named James Burt?—I do not know that I do.

32,360. Now be very cautious with the answer you give me. I wish to deal fairly by you?—I know a William Burt and Thomas Burt.

32,361. Do you know James Bennet?—Yes.

32,362. There was a man named Richard Burt, was there not, upon the list of voters?—Yes, I believe there was William Burt and Richard Burt too.

32,363. Do you recollect speaking to him in '63 about voting?—Which Burt do you mean, William or Richard?

32,364. I mean Bennet now. Do you recollect speaking to him; he was not a voter?—I believe he was a voter. The register was made out so badly; there were four Burts on, and he lived in that district at the time the voting took place.

32,365. Do you recollect speaking to him about voting?—I spoke to him, and I said I believed he had got a vote; he said he believed not.

32,366. And he told you that he believed he had not? Now be very cautious in the answers you give us?—I will tell you the plain facts.

32,367. You offered him 30*s.* to go to vote?—I never offered any money at all, or ever paid it.

32,368. Did you not offer him money to go and vote? Did you not ask him to vote?—I never offered him any money.

32,369. Did you not ask him to vote after he told you that he had no vote?—I asked him to vote, and I believed he had got a vote.

32,370. Was that after he told you he had got no vote?—He only believed he had not.

32,371. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where was he?—He lives at Redhill.

32,372. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is he there now?—I believe so. I have not seen him lately.

32,373. Was that on the polling day?—I believe it was.

32,374. I ask you whether you did not tell him he might poll as Burt?—No, never; if you look at the register you will find the name.

32,375. Answer the question?—No, I never asked him to poll.

TWENTIETH DAY.

F. Bonny.

13 Sept. 1866.

32,376. Did you not offer him 30*s.* if he would do so?—I never offered him anything; I never gave a voter a single shilling, I believe, in all the elections.

32,377. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are not asked whether you gave; you are asked whether you offered anything?—No, I never offered.

32,378. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now let there be no mistake about this. You recollect speaking to him?—I recollect speaking to him, because he was working for me at the same time.

32,379. And pressing him to vote?—I told him that he had got a vote, as I thought and believed, on the register; as I read it, it must have been him, as he lived in the street there a twelvemonth previous. There were four Burts put on.

32,380. Did you ever know him to vote?—I do not know that he did.

32,381. And he did not vote at any other election?—I do not know that he did; he might not have been at the polling place. I never troubled myself this time.

32,382. Did you know a Mr. Monk on the register of voters?—I know a Mr. Monk.

32,383. Do you recollect whether he voted in '63?—I believe there was a Monk or two on the list that did vote, but I had nothing at all to do with them.

32,384. Had you to complain of any man for detaining some clothes of yours at the station office?—No; I can give you a statement of that. There was a man working in the station office at Redhill, and he was very busy about the election, and as the register was so badly got up he wanted to go and do this or that or anything else.

32,385. To do what?—He wanted to go and poll for anybody else.

32,386. There was a man at the station office who was so busy about the election that he wanted to go in the name of somebody else; that is so?—Yes; he said if they could not find a certain party that he would go and do this or that if they would pay him for it.

32,387. Is he there still?—He got discharged.

32,388. He came to you?—No, he was about the public house where the committee was held, at the "Warwick Arms."

32,389. He was about there saying that he would poll for any one whose name was on the register; that was what he said?—Something to that effect.

32,390. You being an active man, he spoke to you upon the subject?—No, because I was not active the day of the polling.

32,391. Was this the day of the poll?—It was.

32,392. Somebody gave him clothes?—I never gave him clothes.

32,393. I did not say you did?—I did not give him anything on that day. I gave him an old coat two or three days after, when he was in distress, and I believe there was a subscription got up for him.

32,394. Do you recollect his name?—I do not.

32,395. He came to you for charity; do you mean to say that, knowing this man was ready to personate another man at a poll, you a few days after that gave him a coat?—It was a week or two, or perhaps a month, after.

32,396. Do you mean that in a week or two you gave that man a coat?—Yes.

32,397. Anything else?—No, nothing else; it was an old one I had thrown off.

32,398. You say a subscription was raised for him?—Yes, I believe there was; I never subscribed to that, it was by the railway men; he could not get the furniture from where he lodged without paying the rent.

32,399. Did you not offer him, or was there not 3*l.* offered him, to go and personate a man named Monk?—Never.

32,400. In your presence?—No, because no one would trust the fellow.

32,401. In your presence and to your knowledge was not 3*l.* offered to him to go and personate a man named Monk?—Not to my knowledge.

32,402. Is this the first time you have heard of that?—The first time?

32,403. Yes?—I do not know that it is the first time.

32,404. When did you first hear that such a thing was abroad?—It was rumoured there and then.

32,405. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you gave him the coat there was this subscription?—No, it was rumoured afterwards, it might be then, I really do not know; I should not know him again if I saw him; he is a perfect stranger to me; it was got up by the station master; I mean the other men, not the station master, but the other men; on the line there are 100 or 200; the subscription was to get up a few shillings or something of that sort; he wanted to get his furniture away from his lodgings.

32,406. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was rumoured there and then you had offered him the 3*l.* and gave him the clothes?—No, it was not.

32,407. What was rumoured?—A few days afterwards that this man had gone and polled; I do not know whether he did poll or not; I had nothing to do with it.

32,408. Did he poll?—I do not know.

32,409. Can you tell me his name?—No.

32,410. Can you tell me the name of the man for whom he polled?—I believe Henry Monk; there were two men on the list, and he said he was the Monk; he said his name was Henry Monk, and he should poll for Henry Monk, because his name was on the list.

32,411. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you recollect who he was going to poll for?—Yes, Mr. Wilkinson, I think.

32,412. You heard of that on the day of the polling, and you supported Mr. Wilkinson?—No, no more than that this man was busy about. I supported Mr. Wilkinson.

32,413. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was there?—He was there talking about polling.

32,414. And he came on the day of polling to you?—I saw him at the "Warwick Arms." I was there nearly all the day.

32,415. That was where you saw him?—Yes.

32,416. He came up to the committee and said, "I am Henry Monk, I am ready to poll for any one "who will give me 3*l.*"?—No, he did not say anything about 3*l.*

32,417. But he said for whoever would give him money?—I do not know he wanted money; there is no doubt he did.

32,418. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) No, nor anybody else. Did he ask for money of anybody else?—No, nobody else; and none of them gave him any, they were so disgusted with him.

32,419. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was the reason you gave him the coat, because you were disgusted with him?—No, it was only an old jacket I had thrown off; he came begging for one.

32,420. Are you at all related to the gentleman of the name of Bonny who keeps the public house here?—Yes, he is my brother.

32,421. Had you taken a part in the Doulton election of '58?—Yes, in the Doulton election I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

32,422. And later in the year for whom did you vote?—Mr. Wilkinson; I always supported Mr. Wilkinson, and I never voted for Mr. Monson in any election.

32,423. Were you on Sir Henry Rawlinson's committee?—No, I do not think I was.

32,424. Did you canvass for him?—I did not on that election.

32,425. What did you receive on that election?—10*l.*

32,426. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not think you did do anything?—I worked for him the whole of the time; I went across on one occasion, I think, on that election to Major Parrott to see him about withdrawing or coming forward; I went with Mr. Nichols and Mr. Apted.

TWENTIETH DAY.

F. Bonny.

13 Sept. 1866.

32,427. Who paid you the 10*l.*?—I can hardly tell you who it was at that election.

32,428. Who was the agent?—I really forget; on Sir Henry Rawlinson's election I had a cheque for 10*l.*

32,429. It was a cheque, was it?—I think so.

32,430. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) There was another election later in the year, in October '58, at which you supported Mr. Wilkinson; you were on his committee, I suppose?—I was not on any committee.

32,431. Then you worked for him?—Yes, just the same as usual.

32,432. What did you receive on that occasion?—15*l.*

32,433. In '63 you received 20*l.*, did you not?—25*l.* in '63; that was for my own services; I never promised or gave any one a shilling that I am aware of.

32,434. You received nothing this last election?—Not a penny.

32,435. How was that?—I had nothing at all to do with it further than that I supported Mr. Gower; I was not particularly fond of Mr. Gower, but I knew that Mr. Monson was brought out to oppose Mr. Wilkinson if he had lived; I had opposed Mr. Gower to the greatest extent at the previous elections.

32,436. You received nothing at Mr. Gower's election?—No.

32,437. And no money passed through your hands at all?—Not a penny.

32,438. Is your brother's house a Gower house or a Monson house?—I do not think that he let it to either of them at the last election.

32,439. (The Chief Commissioner.) You mentioned three persons whom you canvassed; one was a person named Best?—Yes.

32,440. Was that William Best, ?—Yes.

32,441. He was called and examined yesterday?—Yes.

32,442. You canvassed also Stephen Clifton?—Yes.

32,443. Who did he vote for in '65?—Mr. Gower.

32,444. You canvassed also Mr. Dulatre; did he vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

32,445. Are they labourers?—No.

32,446. What are they?—One is a butcher and the other a brewer.

32,447. Stephen Clifton is a butcher?—No, a brewer.

32,448. What is Dulatre's Christian name?—Alfred.

32,449. What is his address?—Next door to me, Station-road, Redhill; Stephen Clifton has left there now, he is living at Leigh; he never had a penny piece for this or any other election.

32,450. He had not?—Not in any election.

32,451. We had Best here, and he is a most respectable man?—Yes, he never had a penny in any election; they never would do it on any account, neither Dulatre or Clifton; they are free and independent.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned till to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY,

W. Stevenson.

14 Sept. 1866.

Friday, 14th September 1866.

WILLIAM STEVENSON sworn and examined.

32,452. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Stevenson?—A builder.

32,453. Where do you live?—Freehold.

32,454. What rent are you paying for your house?—7*s.* a week.

32,455. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

32,456. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

32,457. Who put you on the committee?—Joseph Apted.

32,458. When you say Joseph you mean Job?—Yes.

32,459. Did you do what you could; did you do any work?—But a little.

32,460. You mean by that you did nothing?—Yes.

32,461. Then I may take it shortly you did nothing?—Yes.

32,462. Before the election did Apted pay you for what you did?—No, sir.

32,463. After the election did he pay you for what you did?—I got 50*s.*

32,464. Who from?—Job Apted.

32,465. Is this your first election?—Yes, sir.

The witness then withdrew.

JOHN MULLEY sworn and examined.

J. Mulley.

32,466. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.*

32,467. What are you?—A cowkeeper.

32,468. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

32,469. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

32,470. Do you recollect who put you on?—I put myself on.

32,471. Were you asked by any one to go on?—No, sir.

32,472. But volunteered your services?—Just so.

32,473. Did you take an active part in the election?—Yes.

32,474. In canvassing and asking for votes?—Yes, sir.

32,475. What course did you adopt in asking a man for a vote, so as to persuade him to come and vote for your interest?—My system was to speak of the character of the candidate, to consider his character, and discuss it with the voters. I thought Mr. Gower was the most fit and proper person. I had in fact to inquire into the private character of Mr. Gower, and I thought he was the most fit and proper person to represent us.

32,476. Did you find those arguments sufficiently persuasive?—In some cases, not in all.

32,477. Could you give me an instance?—One a ta time, if you please.

32,478. I suppose there are not many you could persuade to vote for Mr. Gower on those principles?—If I had the list of voters I think I could tell you.

32,479. I suppose there were some who heard those arguments upon whom it had no effect?—There were some who wished to be set on to work and to be paid for loss of time; it was only the more dependent men.

32,480. I am afraid that class was rather numerous?—It is a large proportion.

32,481. Can you give us the names of any persons

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Mulley.

14 Sept. 1866.

who wanted to be set to work?—Oh, I could give you several names.

32,482. I dare say you have got a little list?—What I have got here is entirely from memory, and therefore I will not be responsible for it; but I have handed to Mr. Smith a detailed account of all that I did, and expecting I was dealing with gentlemen I did not even keep a copy, and therefore what I have now is only from memory.

32,483. When did you hand the list to Mr. Smith?—Some time after the election, it might be three weeks or a month.

32,484. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you mention the names?—I gave Mr. Smith a detailed account of all my expenses, and he had in fact an account of all that I did.

32,485. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you put down the names of those who wished to be paid for their work?—Yes.

32,486. Did you put down what you actually paid?—I have put down monies I had paid to certain individuals.

32,487. My question was rather a broader one; can you give the names of those who required to be paid for their loss of time?—I can only give you those whom I gave money to.

32,488. But there were several beyond those you paid?—There were several, but I cannot give you an account of them; I gave my account to Mr. Smith.

34,489. Persons to whom you made promises?—Not actually promises, but if anything could be done for them it should be done.

32,490. Persons with whom there was a certain understanding?—A partial understanding.

32,491. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is a partial understanding?—I will tell you; mine is simply this. I would say to you for example: "If "anything can be done for you I will do it, you can "rely upon me." "Yes," you would say, you would depend upon me.

32,492. What is the meaning of depending; did it mean paying and receiving money?—If we could get it.

32,493. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is the plain English of it, is it not?—Yes, and you will get nothing else from me.

32,494. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It was the palm?—Not much balm.

32,495. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But a good deal communicating to the palm?—I beg your pardon, I understood the gentleman to say balm.

32,496. You sent a list to Mr. Smith?—I gave a list.

32,497. Of persons who were to be paid?—Yes.

32,498. Did you tell Mr. Smith what those persons were to be paid for?—I think not.

32,499. Not?—I think not.

32,500. Will you now give us the list as you have recently recollected it?—Yes.

32,501. You can refer to the paper in your hand?—Yes, I will.

32,502. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is that a list of?—It is a list of sums of money which I paid to certain individuals who did work for Mr. Gower. The first I have got in my list is Atkinson, John; I paid him 2*l.* The next is Butcher; I paid him 2*l.*

32,503. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is his Christian name?—I do not know.

32,504. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where does he live?—In Reeves'-cottages.

32,505. What is his Christian name?—I do not know.

(A voice in Court.) "Henry."

32,506. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The next?—Dealing.

32,507. Do you know his Christian name?—Robert, I think.

32,508. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where does he live?—Tower-street, West-street.

32,509. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much?—2*l.*

32,510. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Give me the next?—Hanscombe (I have seen it Anscombe, but I have got it Hanscombe) 1*l.* The next I have got on my list is Scarlett; his Christian name, I think, is John, but I am not sure; 3*l.*, West-street, Redhill.

32,511. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you in the Redhill district?—Yes.

32,512. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Where is Scarlett?—West-street, Redhill. Then Westlake; his Christian name I do not know.

32,513. (The Chief Commissioner.) Is he a butcher?—No, a tinman. 1*l.* High-street, Redhill.

32,514. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) These are all persons you have paid?—Yes. H. Bicknell, West-street, Redhill, 1*l.*

32,515. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know his Christian name?—No, sir. Then Johnson, Reeves'-cottages, 3*l.*; Smith, Reeves'-cottages, 2*l.* It is James Smith, who has been examined. Then I paid to Mrs. King, of the "Sussex Arms," for a dinner, which was given to the policemen; she is landlady of the "Sussex Arms."

32,516. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Policemen have no votes?—No, but I have given an account, for I paid it.

32,517. That is right; you paid it?—Yes; it is a just claim.

32,518. You used the word just?—I suppose you admit it.

32,519. Has Mrs. King a husband?—No, she has had one, but he is deceased.

32,520. Have you any more names?—No; you must remember I am talking from memory. If I had the account I gave Mr. Smith I should be able to explain every item.

32,521. Just so. I see there are various and different sums paid to these men; how do you account for that?—I account for it in this way; most of them had some influence and interest, and they are respectable men, men who worked hard for Mr. Gower's cause, and I do not think there is one of them that would not have voted cheerfully; still there was the loss of time on the nomination day, polling day, and so on, and they spent a good deal of time in the evening.

32,522. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Smith asked why they were different in amount, one man being 1*l.*, another 2*l.*, and another 3*l.* Why were they not paid the same sums?—There might be two or three reasons as to the money I gave; it would depend on the assistance they gave, what their duties were, and what the deserved.

32,523. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the arrangement when you canvassed these men that they should have any specific sum?—I think not; I understood there had been an arrangement made with some three or four of them by a party on Mr. Gower's committee, but that had nothing to do with me. I do not think I named any specific sum at all.

32,524. You say there was no specific sum named?—Not with me; I think not.

32,525. Did you hear it rumoured about that 5*l.* was about the sum they would expect?—I think I heard that Mr. Rees had promised 4*l.* 10*s.*; I remember that, but that was not my promise.

32,526. Now we will take Hanscombe, that is, John R. Hanscombe. Did you promise to him the sum of 5*l.*?—No.

32,527. Or 3*l.*?—No.

32,528. Not the specific sum of 3*l.*, and 5*l.* if others had as much?—I might say that; I might say, if others had as much, that I guaranteed to get him as much as other people.

32,529. Will you undertake to say that with regard to Hanscombe it was not arranged between you and Hanscombe, before voting, that he should have 3*l.*, and 5*l.* if the others had as much?—I do not believe it was.

32,530. I have a reason for asking that.—I do not believe it was; I believe I told him whoever was put on the committee to work should be paid the same as others were paid, but I do not know that I promised any sum at all.

32,531. You give your evidence most properly. Hanscombe said this, "I received only 1*l.* from "Mr. Mulley, and I was promised 3*l.*, and I was to "have 5*l.* if the others got 5*l.*; but I never received "any more than 1*l.*"?—That is quite right.

32,532. That is Hanscombe's account of your canvassing him?—I might have told him that if it ran 2*l.* or 3*l.*, or 5*l.*, I should pay him what the others had, but I do not remember I promised him any specific sum; I do not know that I promised him, but I might have.

32,533. You did say it might be 2*l.* or 3*l.*, or 5*l.*?—Yes, according to what I got for him. I believe it was my general arrangement with parties.

32,534. After drawing your attention to the specific evidence of Hanscombe, I am going to ask you this; remember the evidence has been given before us?—Yes.

32,535. Then I suppose that this was likely to be your usual way of canvassing. I will say, with regard to Westlake, that a fortnight before the election you spoke to him, and said you would do what you could for him?—Most likely.

32,536. I mean that was the style in which you would do it?—Yes, most likely. I was well aware that they could not neglect their duties and be using their influence on electioneering matters for nothing, so I thought it right to encourage them.

32,537. The neglect of work, so far as you understood it and showed to us, was very small?—Yes.

32,538. There was in truth no neglect of work?—No. Do I understand, Mr. Smith, Mr. Commissioner O'Brien to tell me that he wished I would confine myself to facts?

32,539. I did not hear the observation.—I beg to state I do so, for that is the case.

32,540. Quite so. Tell us this: do you recollect canvassing a man of the name of James Tyrrell?—It is such a difficult job to me to tell the names of the people I canvassed; I believe I canvassed everybody in the eastern ward.

32,541. You would not have recommended him to Mr. Smith, because he voted for Mr. Monson, but you did canvass him?—I believe I canvassed every one, not only the middle class, but also gentlemen; being known as I am, I never met with a man who voted but I used my influence for Mr. Gower; it is Tyrrell, a carman working for Joseph Hall.

32,542. He is brother of Jabez Tyrrell, who was with a coal man?—I canvassed both of them, and their father too.

32,543. Your father canvassed both of them?—No, not my father; it was their father I canvassed.

32,544. Did you canvass them in the same way; you say they voted for Mr. Monson?—I believe James Tyrrell I canvassed.

32,545. I think you canvassed James Tyrrell twice?—Yes, very likely; I saw a great many of them five or six times. I used means to persuade them to vote for Mr. Gower; what I mean is legal means. Mr. Gower's politics and mine agreed, and I had inquired into his private character. I had an opportunity of knowing his servants, and they gave an excellent character of him.

32,546. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We are not here to hear his private character?—I am talking to this gentleman.

32,547. (The Chief Commissioner.) Everything you say with respect to Mr. Gower I have no doubt is well deserved by him?—I think so.

32,548. Yes, but as you were a canvasser, it is supposed to diminish just a little the character of Mr. Monson. It is not fair to Mr. Monson.—I cannot say a word against Mr. Monson.

32,549. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) If we get to speculating we shall never get on.—I will answer you everything you have to say.

32,550. Now, do you recollect speaking to Mr. Westlake?—I do not know, I am sure; I know the man, and I canvassed him.

32,551. Did you work at all with Denton?—I knew him, and that is all.

32,552. Mr. Denton is a neighbour of yours?—Well, not clearly allied; he lives somewhere apart.

32,553. Did you tell Denton he should have the same as the rest?—No.

32,554. You did not tell him that?—No.

32,555. Did you tell him he would have the same as the rest?—I may have; I will not say I did not.

32,556. There was a person of the name of Scarlett at the same time present; that is a name you mentioned?—I do not believe that if ever I spoke to Mr. Denton, Scarlett was with him; I believe he was by himself alone.

32,557. Then I will take it as a general question. With all the classes of men constituting men of the labouring classes, in canvassing, had you to offer to pay them for their working; and some of them, I believe, you did pay afterwards?—My general impression, and what I tried to impress upon them, was to get them to work for Mr. Gower's cause.

32,558. We have heard their statement of their work. Do you know whether the other people, of Mr. Monson's side, were also offering money to the voters for work?—Oh yes, it was a general impression about it. It was often told to me that they were offering such large sums that there was no chance for us. On one occasion I went up to Mr. Laker and saw him, and told him what I had heard. I told him that I wanted to see Mr. Gower. Mr. Gower came, and I told him we should lose the election; that Mr. Monson's party were using such heavy sums in bribery, and paying such large sums, that if we did not advance a little we should lose the election.

32,559. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you tell Mr. Gower that?—A few days before the election.

32,560. Before the polling?—Before the polling Mr. Gower came to me.

32,561. To whom did you tell that first?—I told Mr. Laker.

32,562. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it he who told Mr. Gower?—I went to Mr. Laker, because I thought it most likely he would see Mr. Gower.

32,563. Did you see Mr. Gower yourself afterwards?—Yes.

32,564. I think what you said was, that if they did not advance a little?—Yes; or I might say, exert themselves a little.

32,565. Did you use the term exert or advance?—I cannot say; but it has the same application. I would not undertake to say which.

32,566. They may have different meanings?—Yes.

32,567. You said, I wish to draw your attention to it, you used the term advance in the first instance, and then said exert. You might have used both terms probably?—I might have used them both; but I should apply merely the same meaning to them myself.

32,568. Give me your definition of what you meant in this interview by advance or exert?—I simply meant that I understood Mr. Monson's party were offering sums from 5*l.* to 7*l.* or 10*l.*, and that we were doing nothing of the sort.

32,569. What did Mr. Gower say?—Mr. Gower said he was very much obliged for the good feeling I had in his cause, that he met them in every way that was fair, but that with regard to bribery he could not meet them in every way, and he would rather give up the contest than sell himself to bribery; that was in the street, the High-street.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY

J. Mulley.

14 Sept. 1866.

32,570. Then you brought to Mr. Gower's knowledge that the other party, the Monson party, were in fact bribing?—I told him that they were bribing our voters.

32,571. But, at the same time that you told Mr. Gower that the Monson party were bribing your voters, did you also tell him that you had been promising the men that they should be paid?—No.

32,572. If you did not tell him that you were paying, did you tell him that any of his canvassers were paying the men?—No; he repudiated that altogether.

32,573. I am only asking you what you said to Mr. Gower?—No, I did not tell him. I have told you all I said to him; and he shook hands with me, and bid me good-bye.

32,574. If you did not tell him that you were offering or going to pay, or that others were offering or going to pay, why did you use the term "advance?" Advance what, it must have been money?—Yes. I told him the others were offering certain sums, which I had been told, and unless we did the same we should lose the election.

32,575. Others, of the Monson party?—Yes; and I told him if we did not do the same we should lose the election.

32,576. Unless you advanced on the Monson party?—Unless we advanced or competed. He said he was willing to give up the contest rather than sell himself to bribery.

32,577. Was that the only conversation you had with Mr. Gower with reference to further exertions?—Yes; he never would encourage it, and he never did encourage it, not with me. I had several interviews with him.

32,578. Were you present in the room in the hall below here at a committee meeting, when Mr. Gower made a speech?—No, never in this hall, but at the hall at Redhill I was.

32,579. You did not attend here?—No, no where; but at Redhill.

32,580. Did you hear of Mr. Gower making a speech, in which he said that all those who worked for him should be paid and paid well?—I heard Mr. Gower say, referring to bribery, that it was not his intention to bribe any one.

32,581. That you have told us?—But that all those who worked for him and had legal claims should be paid.

32,582. And paid well. We have had it from so many witnesses?—Then I must give in.

32,583. You were not here?—I am referring to Redhill, not here.

32,584. You were not here?—No.

32,585. I only want to know whether you heard him making the speech before the election?—I only heard what he stated at Redhill. He only thought that those who worked for him should be paid; that all who worked should be paid, and paid well for their legal claims.

32,586. There would be no occasion to make that kind of speech, because, of course, he would pay all legal claims?—I do not recollect anything more than that.

32,587. I want to know whether that was not specially mentioned?—I know he mentioned, on one or two occasions at committee meetings, that he would not bribe any one; he led every person to understand that.

32,588. That is a term which we all understand, bribe. I only want to know whether you did not hear it mentioned by anybody before the election?—I heard so, but I did not believe it.

32,589. That he made that speech here?—Yes.

32,590. You heard of it before the election?—Yes.

32,591. Was it before or after you heard that that you had the conversation with Mr. Gower which you have mentioned?—I think I had heard of it before I had the conversation with Mr. Gower, because the conversation I had with Mr. Gower was only a very few days before the election, some four or five days, because I know I was anxious about it.

32,592. Is there anything else in the election of 1865 which, in your judgment, you ought to inform us of, as to the conduct or management of it, or the paying of monies?—There is no more paying of monies that I had to do, with only the detailed account I have given to Mr. Smith; as I said before, if I had it here I should be able to explain every item in it.

32,593. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We have not got what Mr. Mulley himself had?—I had nothing. You do not allow me to make a statement, and therefore I must hold back.

32,594. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I am now asking you for the purpose of disburdening your mind with reference to the election, whether you have anything of importance to tell us that you think the Commissioners ought to be informed of?—I have something of importance with reference to myself, that is, some canvassers have received 30*l.* and another 10*l.*, and so on; and it has been mentioned that I did a great deal more work than other gentlemen did for Mr. Gower's cause. I wish to state that I never received or asked for anything like the money I expected; I am money out of pocket.

32,595. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) In what way did you expect money; did you expect any other money?—A great deal.

32,596. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Tell us, if you please, in what way?—I went several journeys; I went to Norwood, and to London, and to Guildford. Perhaps you will not allow me to tell you of the election of 1863.

32,597. By-and-by we will?—Well, in the election of 1865 I wished to show a good bold front to the enemy, and I took parties about with me; when I took a man a mile or two of course I had something to drink. Gentlemen who ride in their broughams may have a glass of wine at home, but other men who walk about expect something to eat and drink. I paid for all those things. I could not expect that men would come with me to protect me, and that I should not have to pay for the glasses of ale.

32,598. What do you mean by protection in your canvassing; did you ever meet with violence?—That would rather refer to 1863.

32,599. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I will take it, Mr. Mulley, that you paid for refreshment in 1865?—For refreshment and journeying expenses in 1865.

32,600. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay for any refreshment of an evening at any of the houses where there were meetings?—No, not at meetings. The committee room was at the town hall, Redhill.

32,601. I know that Mr. Gower repudiated all public houses, and would not have his committee advertised at a public house, but did you attend any of the public houses or beer houses when there were refreshments supplied to the voters?—Only amongst my own immediate friends.

32,602. Will you be good enough to tell me any of the houses you attended in that way amongst your immediate friends?—Only as they fell in my course. The "Wheatsheaf," the "Royal Oak," and Toplis's, all of them were attended by me, and I gave them a glass of ale and paid for it myself.

32,603. Did you ever preside at the meetings, or take the chair?—Well, there was never what I should call a meeting at a public house.

32,604. I will not call it a meeting, but an assemblage of persons?—Yes, I have been there once in the way, and have considered myself as chairman; there have been only two or three, or three or four, or a dozen present.

32,605. That would vary in numbers?—That would vary in numbers.

32,606. Upon those occasions would you pay for what you had in the room?—Yes.

32,607. Would that be the class of refreshments that you speak of when you say you paid for refreshment ?—Yes, it was mixed up with it.

32,608. What do you think you expended in that way ?—I cannot tell; Mr. Smith has got a detailed account of it, but I cannot tell myself.

32,609. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Can you give us any idea of the amount ?—No.

32,610. About ?—A very few pence for myself; I am a very moderate man, and I wish all my friends were so.

32,611. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you send in your account in to Mr. Smith; did you ever hear from the landlord of the house that they were paid ?—I paid them myself.

32,612. Did you not get the money from Mr. Smith to pay them ?—No, I paid them out of my own pocket.

32,613. At the time ?—At the time.

32,614. And you have not been paid by Mr. Smith ?—I have not been paid by Mr. Smith; there is some money you understand that I am still minus of.

32,615. I am coming to that; I want to see what you expended, I do not want the exact number of the houses, but for how many houses do you think you have sent in an account to Mr. Smith for monies expended in those houses ?—Oh, I dare say about five.

32,616. Then I suppose they were not all for one day in each house, there might be other meetings ?—No meeting that I know of, but of parties whom I met, with whom I conversed.

32,617. I am afraid I used a wrong term, I mean an assemblage of voters ?—No, I think not, not on Mr. Gower's side.

32,618. On your part ?—On my part; no, I think not, I think not. Do you mean with reference to one night.

32,619. We will take the "Wheatsheaf," were you there more than once ?—Yes.

32,620. Several times ?—Yes.

32,621. That is what I mean ?—I was there five or six times, perhaps.

32,622. How close up to the day of polling, do you recollect, was the last meeting, or the last assemblage of persons treated by you ?—I think it was about the night before the nomination.

32,623. Now on the night preceding the election did you have several of those entertainments ?—Well, it amounted to this; when we had a committee meeting, afterward I might want to go and see a party that I could only see in the night to ask him for his vote, and to press him and give him a reminder, and so on, to keep him up to his word, and perhaps we might go to the "Wheatsheaf," and amongst four or five we might have a bottle of beer or ale; we would drink it and go away, and I paid for it.

32,624. You said sometimes there were a dozen there ?—Sometimes.

32,625. Then you acted as chairman, and took the responsibility of paying ?—That would occur perhaps after I attended meetings at the town hall: they would refer to me and say they wanted a glass of ale, and they would say they had got no money to pay for it, would you stand a glass ?

32,626. The meetings down below, in the town hall, were all dry meetings ?—I am referring to Redhill, I do not mean here.

32,627. That was the way in which it was done ?—Yes.

32,628. Do you recollect the meetings in the chapel ?—What chapel ?

32,629. The chapel here ?—No.

32,630. It may be a hall, but I mean what we call the chapel to the freehold ?—No, I know nothing about it.

32,631. It is used for chapel meetings ?—Is it the Primitive Wesleyan chapel ? I do not know anything about it.

32,632. We have been told there was a meeting there, I thought you might have been present ?—No, I do not know anything about it.

32,633. Were you present at the meeting at Redhill when Mr. Apted was in the chair, the night before the writ came down ?—No.

32,634. I can draw your attention probably to it in this way—Apted spoke of the writ coming down; it was expected the following day ?—No, I do not remember.

32,635. Did you know of any of your fellow canvassers going to the houses of refreshment and treating their friends in the same way that you did these voters ?—No.

32,636. You were not aware of that ?—No.

32,637. It is a circumstance, I suppose, very likely to have happened ?—It might have done.

32,638. You were all canvassing pretty well on the same principle, on the same scale ?—Yes.

32,639. Have you anything further to say in reference to the election of 1865 ?—No, I think not.

32,640. Be good enough to tell me the amount which you eventually received from Mr. Smith for any purpose or purposes in reference to the election of 1865 ?—I think 42*l.*; I won't be positive.

32,641. We will take it, as nearly as you can recollect ?

32,642. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) About 40 guineas ?—I think it was 42*l.*

32,643. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive that 42*l.* from Mr. Smith in one lump sum, or at various times ?—Various times.

32,644. But you received monies from him prior to the election ?—No, I think not.

32,645. All subsequent ?—All after the election, I think.

32,646. When was the first sum of money paid after the election ?—I could not tell, I think some few days after the election. They were aware that I did expend a great deal of my own money, I made a representation to that effect.

32,647. You voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

32,648. For whom did you vote in 1863 ?—For Mr. Gower.

32,649. I presume you took an active part in the election of 1863 ?—Yes, I did.

32,650. You placed yourself on the committee in some way, did you not, and canvass ?—Yes, I won the election for him. If it had not been for me he would not have got in; I carried 11 men with me, and that won his election.

32,651. How did you get those 11 men ?—They were friends of mine, generally speaking, and what is termed ocular demonstration, by persuading them. Mr. Wilkinson was no doubt a very good man, but his political principles did not agree with mine, and therefore I advocated Mr. Gower's cause.

32,652. Did those 11 men come up simply by those persuasions ?—I think so. I believe they did.

32,653. At what time of the election, do you remember, did you bring them up; what time did they poll ?—At various times. Some here and some at Redhill. I did not bring them up. They polled just as it happened. This time I brought them up, and went and fetched them.

32,654. Did you find they came up friendly to the whip ?—I did not go to them; they went voluntarily.

32,655. I thought you went to them ?—I considered them as friends of mine. A good many of them came up willingly.

32,656. I misunderstood you. I thought you went for them ?—I did this time, but not the last time. I brought them to the town hall.

32,657. That is why I referred back to 1865. I wanted to know whether you found that those you went after came up kindly ?—Oh, yes, they did not want any of my attendance.

32,658. They did not want more persuasions ?—No, I think not.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Mulley.

14 Sept. 1866.

32,659. Well now, in reference to that election of 1863, just give me, first of all, your general statement?—I have no particular general statement to make. I used no monies in 1863. I canvassed for Mr. Gower, and I used all the means in my power to get him in. As I said before, his political principles and mine accorded, and that is why I did all I could to assist him and get him elected. I thought he was the proper party. That is all.

32,660. You used no money in 1863. Did you use any promises?—No. I think I might be excused one moment. I had through my hands 10*l.* in 1863, but it was simply handed from Apted through me to another party; but I had nothing to do with it more than you might say, "Just give that 10*l.* to so-and-"so."

32,661. Who was the other party?—Job Apted gave it to me to give to a man named Clark.

32,662. Do you recollect Clark's Christian name?—Yes, it was William.

32,663. Was there only one William Clark on the register?—I think that was all.

32,664. What is his address? Is he still on the register?—Yes, I think so.

32,665. Is it the Brighton-road?—Yes, at the present time; not then.

32,666. Did you give the whole of that 10*l.* which you received from Job Apted to Clark?—I did.

32,667. Did you know what the 10*l.* was for?—No; I only knew it was supposed to be used in electioneering matters; for no specific reason.

32,668. How came Apted to give the 10*l.* to you for you to give to Clark?—Well, I cannot tell exactly. Apted and me had always been on friendly terms; and I think Clark wanted this for some electioneering purpose or another, and he handed it over to me to give it to him.

32,669. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did William Clark vote this time?—Yes, he voted for Monson this time, but he voted for Mr. Gower last time at the election of 1863.

32,670. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that the only transaction which you had had in the year 1863 with reference to money?—With reference to money matters? Yes, sir.

32,671. Did you attend any of the refreshment meetings or assemblages in 1863?—Committee meetings you mean, I suppose.

32,672. Well, I will call them committee meetings, if you like, first. Did you attend them?—I attended them all.

32,673. We a little misunderstood one another just now as to the meaning of meetings. I call them assemblages not meetings?—I attended a good many.

32,674. What class of meetings were they? what style?—I think I might say they were generally very respectable.

32,675. But was there much refreshment going on, that is what I want to know?—I think there were refreshments going on; what was fair and reasonable. I do not think there was any excess; I did not see any at all events.

32,676. Do you know who paid for those refreshments?—I do not.

32,677. Did you have any refreshments on those occasions yourself?—I could not say that I had not any. On one or two occasions I think I did; but, generally speaking, I paid for my own refreshments.

32,678. But sometimes not?—On one or two occasions, but very rarely though.

32,679. You knew a great deal about elections. I suppose what you did not pay for would go down in the general bills?—The general account.

32,680. It would go down in the election account? Certainly it would.

32,681. Did you notice whether that was very generally adopted by the company?—I think it was.

32,682. They did not pay for the refreshments, and it went down to the general account?—I think it was so in the committee rooms.

32,683. I suppose you were at some of the larger meetings in 1865 where refreshments were going on, when Apted was in the chair, or Joyes?—No.

32,684. Then I suppose you principal men generally arranged to divide yourselves over the borough, in order to take charge of different companies?—No, Apted was never chairman where I was.

32,685. Just so; and I suppose you were never chairman where Apted was?—Perhaps not.

32,686. You generally divided yourselves over the borough?—Yes, we may have done so.

32,687. Of course it would be a waste of strength for you great guns to go into one room. I believe we call them cannons here?—Well, I am a peaceable man, I am.

32,688. Did you notice whether there was any difference with regard to treating in 1865 and 1863?—Oh dear, yes.

32,689. There was a great difference?—Oh, yes.

32,690. In which election, according to your notion, was there the greater amount of treating?—It was tenfold in 1863 on both parties; not our party alone, but both parties.

32,691. There was a great deal more drinking in 1863?—Oh dear, yes; there is no comparison between the two.

32,692. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say it was on both sides?—Yes, on both sides.

32,693. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your opinion as to the general tone of bribery at each election? I call it now in plain, honest English bribery. I mean paying a man when he does no work?—I know what you mean. I don't hold it to be bribery, because I think a man ought to be paid for his work; but still I know what you mean. I do not think there was any comparison between this election and that of 1863. I should think the other doubled it quite in the expenditure—the general expenditure.

32,694. (The Chief Commissioner.) May I take it, "What you call bribery," may I say it in that way?—No, what you call bribing.

32,695. I mean what I call bribing. I won't take it down without your assent?—Thank you, sir.

32,696. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Twice as much (I will call it) paying for loss of time?—I quite believe that. I think I can make that statement.

32,697. If it was not considered bribery before, I think they will consider it bribery now?—Perhaps they will, sir.

32,698. You were on the winning side that time, were not you?—Yes, sir, I was then, and I hope to be on the winning side next time.

32,699. Quite so. Then if there was twice as much of payment in 1863, you know, the biggest amount would be paid by the Gower side?—I do not know that.

32,700. The winning side would have paid most?—That did not always follow, because we got a few men of better principles that did not care about it. Take myself, for example; I had nothing in 1863.

32,701. (The Chief Commissioner.) You had nothing in 1865?—Nor yet in 1863.

32,702. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The only transaction, as I understand, that you had in 1863 was that you passed 10*l.* to William Clark?—Yes.

32,703. You don't think now, after that statement, that those 11 pure men that you brought up won the election?—Well, Mr. Gower only won by 7; if the 11 had gone on the other side he would have lost it.

32,704. Don't you think paying twice as much in 1863 had a little to do with it?—I won't say they never received money; but I never paid them.

32,705. Could you give me the names of those 11 men?—Well, that is a difficult job for me.

32,706. Did you influence more than 11?—Oh dear me, I cannot tell.

32,707. Then why did you specify those 11?—I consider that they being acquainted with me, and so on; they said on account of my voting for Gower they should go the way I did.

32,708. But then, you see, in canvassing you had got a great many more promises beyond those particular 11?—Very likely I got promises, but they did not fulfil, for Mr. Gower. They went for Wilkinson. When the time came they were on the other side.

32,709. Did the numbers who promised you fall off to 11?—Oh, I could not tell; I should think not. The reason I simply said 11 was that I have on various occasions counted up 8 or 10 or 11.

32,710. If you can inform us who they are, we shall be very much obliged to you?—If I was at home and had a list of the names I could tell you. Amongst them I think I might say there were several perhaps that might be claimed by other canvassers, you know.

32,711. You say you could probably get those 11?—Most likely I could.

32,712. Perhaps you will be kind enough to let us have the list by-and-by?—I think I have got the list at home. I thought perhaps it was not worth noticing, as I don't want to bring up old grievances. I can supply from memory part of them.

32,713. Perhaps you may be able to furnish the names; we will postpone that subject at present. Now, were you concerned at any previous election to 1863?—Well, I canvassed and worked a little for Mr. ——

32,714. I beg your pardon; let me first ask you whether there is anything else with regard to the election of 1863 that you can inform the Commissioners of, anything material in the conduct of the election?—I think not. I only wish you to understand that I worked as hard as I could, and never had remuneration in any form whatever, either directly or indirectly.

32,715. I do not suggest that. You have given your evidence very properly. Now, with regard to the previous election, the one before 1863, the one in 1859. Mr. Wilkinson was put up at the last moment?—I think in 1859 I was very unwell. What little influence I used was at home in my room.

32,716. There were two elections in 1858; there was one in October, upon the resignation of Sir Henry Rawlinson; did you take part in that election?—I think not.

32,717. Between Monson and Wilkinson?—I did a little. That was the present Lord Monson. I think I did a little canvassing, but did not vote. I did a little canvassing for Lord Monson and also for Mr. Doulton when he came.

32,718. I will go to that presently, but I will ask you a general question with regard to that October election of 1858. Did you notice, did it come to your knowledge in any way, that there was any bribery or treating or paying for services?—Oh, yes, I believe. I know nothing positively, but I believe it was generally understood that such was the case, as was described by me at other elections. I had nothing. I had no treating or anything of the sort.

32,719. I may take it from your answer, that there were general statements made on both sides in October 1858 as in 1865 and 1863?—I think so.

32,720. Now, there was another election in 1858, a general election. Did you vote on that occasion for Mr. Doulton?—I did not vote; I canvassed for him.

32,721. Is there anything you have to say in reference to that election?—I have not anything to say, I think, that would interest you at all. I simply canvassed.

32,722. We have heard a great deal about that election; I want to know what is your view of it?—Well, my view is not a very flowery one. I really think there was bribery used then to a great amount, but I had nothing to do with it.

32,723. I am not saying that you had anything to do with it; I am merely asking your general knowledge of that election?—I can only speak from what I heard and saw.

32,724. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Not from your own knowledge?—No, only what I heard and saw.

32,725. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you about much in that election of 1858?—Yes, I was generally about the town a good deal.

32,726. In the evenings and by day?—Yes.

32,727. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Shall I say that it was extensive, because we know there was bribery?—Well, I think it was far more extensive than anything that has been since.

32,728. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Doulton, you know, came down as a perfect stranger?—Yes.

32,729. Did he canvass you?—No.

32,730. Who was it canvassed you?—I will tell you the reason I exerted myself for him. I was a gentleman's bailiff.

32,731. Who was the gentleman?—Mr. Alexander. And Mr. Doulton came to this gentleman.

32,732. Did Mr. Alexander support Mr. Doulton?—Yes.

32,733. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that Mr. Alexander of the Priory?—No; Mr. George Alexander of 40, Lombard-street, bill broker.

32,734. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you see Mr. Roupell at the time?—No, I think not.

32,735. I only wanted to know whether he canvassed you or not?—No.

32,736. (The Chief Commissioner.) I did not understand you to say that the account which you sent in to Mr. Smith after the election of 1865 specified the particular persons to whom you had paid money? — Everything, sir; a proper detailed account.

32,737. Oh, I have no doubt it was a very proper account, but did it specify the names?—Generally speaking, I think I might have lumped two or three together.

32,738. Should I see them stated if I found his account?—Yes, to Thompson, and Johnson, and Phillips, so much. Oh, yes, I think all the names.

32,739. I see, exactly. Now then, were there any other persons to whom you had paid monies than those that occurred to your memory when you told us their names?—I cannot remember any more.

32,740. I suppose you would be fully correct if you say there were one or two more?—I think not.

32,741. I dare say you are quite correct?—I won't be positive.

32,742. At any rate, I may take it there would not be much difference?—No.

32,743. Besides that you paid certain sums of money out of pocket, you have explained to us how in a very natural way, going about. Did you put that in your account?—I did.

32,744. Are you able to tell what that amounted to? Unfortunately we have not the account here?—I can give it pretty accurate. In 1865 I think I expended 49*l.* 15*s.*

32,745. Well, I will come to that. But you mention these names of people, and then you say there were certain sums which you paid, which would be smaller sums, such as for giving a man his beer when he went with you?—I have added a few things together; a glass of beer, a bit of bread and cheese, and so on. I have added them all together, perhaps a few shillings.

32,746. That would be in one item, "Sums expended"?—It would be in one item.

32,747. Can you tell me what it amounted to?—No, I have not the accounts at all. I gave the particulars and account to Mr. Smith of what had been done with it.

32,748. I suppose 5*l.* would cover that?—I do not know.

32,749. Say 6*l.* then?—I could not give you any definite sum.

32,750. May I say, "Probably about 5*l.* or 6*l.*"?—Yes; you may say that for example.

32,751. I won't say it if you don't think it is sufficient?—I won't substantiate it, because I am not certain.

32,752-3. "The sums which I expended in 1865 "may have amounted to about 5*l.*, more or less." Will that do?—That will not include my travelling expenses at all, you understand.

I quite understand that.

33,754. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 49*l.* 15*s.* you said altogether?—That was the expenditure, I think.

32,755. That included the expenditure and the monies you paid the men? That included all?—Just so.

32,756. Now, tell me about how much your own travelling expenses would be?—I really cannot tell you. I have got no more items of it. I handed over to Mr. Smith an account, which I thought he would have handed over to you.

32,757. Shall I put them down at another 5*l.*?—I cannot tell.

32,758. Very well, I shall put it down as "6*l.* "perhaps." Then that, I think, is nearly all you know?—If you see the account, you will find there are some small sums advanced by me to one or two individuals who said they had influence with certain other individuals. Perhaps they would say, "It is no "use for me to go and see them; I have got no "means of walking there, and I have got no means "of going there in any other way. I can't go with-"out having a glass of ale on the road, and when I "get there I must treat the man to another glass." You will see cases of handing over small sums, a few shillings to one or two individuals. My own expenditure was very moderate.

32,759. I will allow for that. I want to know whether you did not get anything for your own services?—No, I did not.

32,760. One would have expected it, you know; something for services or time lost, or whatever it might be headed—services performed for Mr. Gower. Was there no item, or anything included for that?—No.

32,761. Not in the account specified?—No.

32,762. Now, I want to give you an opportunity of explaining that; I do not quite understand it. You see the exact sums—but I won't take them as exact sums—are something like this; there is 19*l.* paid to people out of pocket; then there is 6*l.* which is paid for travelling expenses—about 6*l.*; and then there is about 5*l.* paid in small sums. These amount altogether to 30*l.* Now that is your account, as well as I can make it out, if I had to send it in for you?—Yes.

32,763. Then you say you received 49*l.* 15*s.*?—No, sir, no.

32,764-5. I beg your pardon. Then I am wrong?—It was 42*l.*

I have got that in the first instance.

32,766. You afterwards gave us 49*l.* 15*s.*?—No, sir, 42*l.* I think.

32,767. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then you see that leaves 12*l.* over on the account?—If I had known that you had not got Mr. Smith's account I would have gone to him and asked him for it; and then I should be able to explain it all to you—every farthing. Mr. Smith has got the detailed account of every farthing I expended.

32,768. You say, "I cannot account, at present, "for the difference between 30*l.* expended and 42*l.* "paid me." Are you quite sure you cannot tell that?—Have you got the 2*l.* to King?

32,769. Yes, I have.—The detailed account which Mr. Smith has got I am prepared to substantiate and prove.

32,770. That is what I am giving you an opportunity of doing now?—I cannot do it without the account.

32,771. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Will you kindly let me have the list of names you spoke of, presently?—I will do so.

32,772. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When you told Mr. Gower that the other side were employing voters, did you ascertain that from the voters you canvassed?—I ascertained it partly from men on our own side.

32,773. From men you canvassed?—From men who had already participated in our cause. We stuck to our own party, and one would say, "Well, the other "party is going on, and so-and-so had so-much offered "to him."

32,774. That is what I mean. They came to you and told you they were offered so much. That is what you meant?—That is what I meant.

32,775. I see no reason at all why the 10*l.* or 12*l.* which was unaccounted for should not have been given to you for your own services?—Ah, but independently of that, I am 13*l.* out of pocket for the two elections.

32,776. But you did work, besides?—Yes, and I employed a man two or three days a week.

32,777. What is the reason you have not been paid?—I have never been even paid the money I expended. I never asked for anything for my services.

32,778. According to your principles there would be no reason at all why you should not be paid. You ought to be paid?—I ought to be paid the money I expended, and I do not see why, if other parties had money for their services, I should not, but I have never asked for it.

The witness withdrew.

W. Moody.

WILLIAM MOODY sworn and examined.

32,779. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Moody?—I am a publican.

32,780. And you keep the—what?—The "Plough" inn, at Earlswood.

32,781. Which party used that house at the election?—The Monson party.

32,782. I suppose you voted for Mr. Monson?—I did, sir.

32,783. Were there many meetings held at your house?—Two or three meetings. I would not say for certain how many.

32,784. And I suppose you supplied the beer and refreshment at them?—I supplied it.

32,785. Were you paid for your room? What had you for the use of it?—I had 25*l.* for my rooms and expenses.

32,786. You were a canvasser?—No.

32,787. Did not you canvass at all?—No.

32,788. What were the expenses?—For refreshment they had.

32,789. You were paid that separately?—No.

32,790. Look here! I believe that is your handwriting (handing a statement of account to witness)? I do not wish to take you in?—That is my handwriting.

32,791. Look at it?—I know it is mine.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY

W. Moody.

14 Sept. 1866.

32,792. Well, it is put down here, you know?—Five and twenty pounds I think.

32,793. For committee room and "canvassing." Here it is?—Well, perhaps it might be.

32,794. Do attend. I call your attention to it?—Well, if it is for "canvassing," it is a mistake. I never canvassed at all.

32,795. Do be cautious. Look at it again?—(After looking) Well, it was under a mistake. I never canvassed.

32,796. Just attend now. If people are making out an account, if they are writing out an account a short time after the event has occurred, they do not make mistakes of that sort?—It is quite right; it was a mistake what I said just now.

32,797–8. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did the mistake arise, that you should call it canvassing instead of refreshments?

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No; he says now that it was a mistake, and that it is canvassing?—I suppose it was for canvassing.

32,799. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you canvass any voters?—Only one man, that is all.

32,800. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are returned in the list of canvassers, and received 20*l.* as a canvasser. How much did you receive for the refreshments?—Nothing at all. The account was sent in, and that is the money I received.

32,801. (The Chief Commissioner.) You are returned in the return of canvassers 20*l.*, and you sent in your own bill for committee room and canvassing 25*l.* I want to know what the refreshments were that you supplied?—I do not know.

32,802. Who would know; your wife?—Well, if a gentleman comes to my place and has a glass of ale and pays for it, I am not supposed to know all about it and to keep an account. That is the amount which I received altogether.

32,803. You received something as publican for the refreshments which you supplied during the meeting? Who paid that?—I do not know.

32,804. Did one man pay for the whole?—No; it was paid as it was served in.

32,805. Who served it in?—My wife.

32,806. We understand it was supplied freely; very well, let there be no mistake. These items here contain no item of the kind. Who paid the 25*l.*?—Mr. Nichols.

32,807. Who did you canvass? You were put down on the list of canvassers?—I told you I only canvassed one voter.

32,808. Who?—A man named Best.

32,809. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Thomas Best?—No; William Best.

32,810. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I do not complain of it?—You asked me to give it.

32,811. What did you pay him? What did you promise him?—I did not promise him anything at all. Mr. Nichols engaged with him. He was to have 30*s.* a week, and 2*l.* at the finish of the election.

32,812. Did you send him to Mr. Nichols?—No, I did not. He was engaged by Mr. Nichols, and to be paid by me.

32,813. Then besides the 20*l.* that you received for yourself you received some money for Best?—5*l.* I told you.

(The Chief Commissioner.) I did not hear it.

32,814. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did you pay him, from Mr. Nichols?—I paid him in two 30*s.*, and my wife paid him the 2*l.* after the election was over.

32,815. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. Nichols gave you 5*l.* to give to Best; is that all the money that passed through your hands?—Yes; all after the election.

32,816. Were you engaged in the election of 1863? Did you vote?—No.

32,817. You had no vote?—No.

32,818. Nor in any previous election?—No.

The witness withdrew.

ISAAC CHARLWOOD sworn and examined.

I. Charlwood.

32,819. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that a brother of yours whom we had here yesterday?—No; there is a person of the name of Charlwood, a carpenter, but he is no relation to me.

32,820. Where do you live?—In the Brighton-road, Redhill.

32,821. What is the value of the house for which you vote?—I am rated at 22*l.*

32,822. What are you, Mr. Charlwood?—I am a coal merchant.

32,823. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

32,824. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

32,825. You were not?—No.

32,826. Did you ask any one to put you on the committee?—No; I had nothing to do with it further than voting.

32,827. Tell me who canvassed you?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

32,828. You say that you live in a house which is rated at 22*l.*?—Yes.

32,829. Were you asked to go on the committee?—No.

32,830. Did not you take part in the election?—No.

32,831. Not at all?—Not at all.

32,832. Who do you say canvassed you?—Mr. Gower, and Mr. Smith was with him. I promised him five or six weeks before the election.

33,833. Were you at all canvassed by Mr. Monson?—No. Mr. Monson called at my house, but I said I was not at home, and did not see him.

32,834. Well, but there is some mistake about it, because I do find you on the committee list?—Not that I am aware of.

32,835. Oh, there is no mistake about the name; here it is, "Isaac Charlwood, Brighton-road"?—I was not aware that I was on.

32,836. Did you take any part in the election at all?—Not at all.

32,837. Then you cannot give me much information about it?—I cannot give you any information.

32,838. Then I do not think I need examine you. You were called as being on the committee, and we thought perhaps you had taken an active part?—No, I did not take an active part.

32,839. It is owing to that circumstance that you have been called. How could your name have got on?—I cannot tell. I was not aware that I was on the committee. It might have been put on by somebody.

32,840. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) No doubt they were very glad to have your name?—Perhaps so.

32,841. (The Chief Commissioner.) One imagined, you know, seeing your name on the committee that you took an active part, having sanctioned it with your name, but as you say you did not take an active part we will not trouble you any more?—Thank you.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN CHEAL affirmed and examined.

J. Cheal

32,842. (The Chief Commissioner.) I believe you are an estate agent?—I am a general agent.

32,843. And what are you rated at?—24*l.* 10*s.*

32,844. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

32,845. Were you on the committee?—I canvassed

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Cheal.

14 Sept. 1866.

for Mr. Gower, but I do not know whether my name was down or not.

32,846. Who asked you to canvass for Mr. Gower?—I do not recollect that any one did. I think, if I remember right, that Thomas Buckland, Job Apted, and myself met in the market-square accidentally. We heard that Mr. Gower was coming in, and we waited for him to arrive, and when he arrived they went into the "White Hart" with him to discuss the matter about canvassing.

32,847. Did not you go into the "White Hart" too?—No, I did not.

32,848. You stayed outside? You assented, at any rate, I suppose, to your name being put on the committee?—I do not remember that.

32,849. No doubt they did it. Did you do much canvassing?—I did what I could.

32,850. Did you succeed in getting many votes?—I cannot say.

32,851. Did you get any?—That I could not say.

32,852. Did you take much trouble about it at the time?—Not very much.

32,853. Before the election came on did you pay any money out of pocket, either when going about travelling or when you were talking to voters, and so on?—I do not recollect paying for anything on Mr. Gower's account. When I have been out with Mr. Buckland and Mr. Apted we have had refreshment, and one or the other of us has paid for it, but nothing on account of Mr. Gower.

32,854. I am not speaking of that. Did you pay any money out of your own pocket for travelling, or anything of that sort?—No I do not recollect paying anything of that kind.

32,855. Did you send in any claims for travelling expenses?—Not for the last election.

32,856. I am speaking of the election of 1865 only?—Yes.

32,857. Did you send in after the election any claim to anybody?—I do not recollect anything of the kind.

32,858. But if you did would you not recollect it?—I believe I did not.

32,859. Did you receive anything before the election at all?—No.

32,860. After the election did you receive any money?—No.

32,861. I am to understand you then to say that you received nothing at all for the election of 1865?—Nothing on Mr. Gower's account.

32,862. What do you mean by "Mr. Gower's "account"? On whose account did you receive it?—I received nothing at all for the borough election. Most of my time during the general election was taken up with the county election.

32,863. Never mind that. Did you receive nothing at all on account of this election, the borough election of 1865?—No, nothing at all.

32,864. Now, in 1863 did you take an active part in the election?—Yes, most of my time was spent during that, I think, in canvassing for Mr. Gower.

32,865. You say, "I worked hard for Mr. Gower"?—With the exception of two days.

32,866. Were you on the committee on that occasion?—I do not remember whether I was on the committee or not.

32,867. Who did you vote for at that election?—Mr. Gower.

32,868. Did you send in any claim, whatever you choose to call it, showing that you expected to be paid?—Yes; I forget the exact amount; I think it was 10*l.* odd; it was 10*l.*, and I think there were some odd shillings.

32,869. That was in 1863. What did you receive?—I think it was 5*l.* odd that I received. Mr. Smith sent me a cheque, and I believe there were some odd shillings. I had a note (I have searched, but I cannot put my hand upon it at present) stating that that was all he could afford for my services.

32,870. 5*l.* odd?—Yes, I think there were some odd shillings.

32,871. I dare say you recollect the election of 1859 very well. Who did you vote for in 1859; that was between Mr. Wilkinson and the Honourable Mr. Monson?—I think in 1859, if I recollect——

32,872. That was the general election?—I think I was unwell, and they fetched me up in a fly, and the horse broke down, and they left me there till after 4 o'clock; when the other fly came up it was too late, because it was after 4 o'clock.

32,873. Then you charged, I suppose, travelling expenses in two flys?—That was all I got.

32,874. In 1859 then you did not vote?—No. That was the cause of it, or else I should have voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

32,875. Now, going back to 1858, the last election in October was between Monson and Wilkinson, who did you vote for then?—I voted for Monson at one election; I do not recollect the date of it.

32,876. Who opposed him? Only one person, Mr. Wilkinson?—I forget now who his opponent was.

32,877. But there was only one? At the previous election there were several people, at Doulton's election, the one before that; but I am now speaking of the one next after Doulton's election, between Monson and Wilkinson?—I think it must have been that election, but I cannot say for certain. I know I voted for Monson. I remember meeting him in the hall.

32,878. Did you work for him?—No. I was in business at the time as a grocer, in Mead-vale.

32,879. Now tell me what you received for that election, if anything?—I received nothing at all.

32,880. What did you do in the former election, the one before that?—I think I was living in the parish, but had no vote.

The witness withdrew.

J. Miller.

JOHN MILLER sworn and examined.

32,881. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What is your qualification?—From 20*l.* to 30*l.*

32,882. You say from 20*l.* to 30*l.*?—Yes, I think it would amount to that; it would cost me about that.

32,883. Then is your house freehold?—No, leasehold.

32,884. What rent do you pay?—Well, it is my own, as far as the lease goes, till the expiration of the lease.

32,885. If it is upon a lease it is upon a rent probably?—A very small rent.

32,886. What is the rent?—1*s.* a year; it would cost me about 25*l.* to rent.

32,887. What are you?—A teadealer and tobacconist.

32,888. You were on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes, my name was on the committee.

32,889. Did you vote for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes.

32,890. Did you take an active part in that election?—Yes, I think I did.

32,891. And you canvassed voters?—No, I did not canvass.

32,892. In what way did you take an active part?—Only in argument.

32,893. Were your arguments sufficiently persuasive to gain votes?—I do not know; I cannot say that. I cannot say how powerful they might have been.

32,894. Where did you make use of your arguments?—In my own house and in my travelling about amongst different parts of the constituency and other places; not only in Reigate. I travel about a good deal.

32,895. (The Chief Commissioner.) You travel round in your business?—Yes, I travel with my own goods.

32,896. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you used your arguments I suppose you asked parties which way they would vote?—Well, I do not know; but occasionally I might say, "Which way are you "going?"

32,897. Did you never say anything more than that?—Well, I don't know, I am sure; I might.

32,898. Supposing your arguments did not succeed in persuading them to vote for Mr. Gower?—I do not remember that I persuaded any persons to vote for Mr. Gower.

32,899. You did not actually persuade them?—I am certain that I never persuaded any one.

32,900. Then your canvass was not successful?—I do not know, I am sure. I told you just now that I did not canvass further than in argument.

32,901. By asking them to vote for Mr. Gower?—No, by arguments in favour of Mr. Gower; political arguments.

32,902. And do you mean to say when you used political arguments you never asked them which way they were going to vote?—I might have asked them which way they were going to vote; but I never asked them to vote.

32,903. Supposing they said it was doubtful, what then?—It had nothing to do with me particularly.

32,904. The real object of your argument, you know, would be to try and persuade parties to vote for Mr. Gower?—Well, you can take it in that way if you choose. My arguments were not to persuade, but in favour of.

32,905. Then I understand you never asked anybody directly to vote for Mr. Gower?—I believe I did not. I do not remember asking anybody directly to vote for Mr. Gower.

32,906. Did you ever try to persuade any of them to vote indirectly?—No, I never tried to persuade anybody to vote indirectly.

32,907. By holding out any promises of what they might get supposing they canvassed or worked for Mr. Gower?—No, I was not empowered to do so.

32,908. You did not put any on to work?—I was not empowered to do so.

32,909. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But a good many did put them on who were not empowered to do so?—I do not know anything about that. I went in for purity of election. That is my principle.

32,910. So did Mr. Henry Francis, on the other side?—I know him.

32,911. Well, I will take you at your word. Then I think I may understand from that that no money ever passed through your hands?—Not a copper; nothing connected with the election. Money has passed through my hands, of course, every day.

32,912. No, no, I mean with reference to the election; no promises were ever made by you?—No promises whatever.

32,913. We like to get sometimes a gentleman of your tone in the box to ask him a general question. I suppose you saw a good deal of what was going on in the town with regard to the election?—I do not know about that; I did not go purposely. I never lost any time; I was generally about my business, excepting the nomination and polling days; that is the only time I was away from my business.

32,914. It is merely for the purpose of putting a general question to you; whether you noticed anything with regard to the election of 1865 that induced you to think that money was flying about and refreshments being given?—Well, I do not know anything about money flying about at elections further than there is at any other time.

32,915. I mean in an improper way; either by bribery direct or by colourable payment?—I never saw any money for bribery.

32,916. I do not put it to you in that way, because I do not suppose that you did receive money in that way; but did you notice the general tone of the election?—Yes, I noticed the general tone.

32,917. Well, what was your opinion of the general tone of the election?—Well, my opinion, sir, if I have any opinion at all, my own opinion is that we had to work against money.

32,918. Your opinion is that you had to work against money?—Yes, that is my opinion.

32,919. Were not you aware that they were also working with money on your side?—No, sir, I was not.

32,920. Or promises?—No, I did not know it.

32,921. Were you in the election of 1863?—In the election of 1863? yes.

32,922. Did you take part in that?—No, I gave my vote.

32,923. Have you anything to say with regard to the general conduct of the election of 1863?—No, I did not take an active part in that election, except in argument I did occasionally in favour of the candidate I supported.

32,924. That was Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

32,925. How long have you been a voter in this borough?—12 or 13 years, I think. I remember all the elections.

32,926. You remember the election of 1858, the February election. Did you take any part in that when Mr. Doulton was put up?—Yes, I took more part at that election than in any other.

32,927. Who were you interested in at that election?—Sir Henry Rawlinson.

32,928. If you took more part in that than in any other, perhaps you will give us your notion of the general conduct of that election?—There was curious conduct that time, and particularly the polling day.

32,929. Give me your general notion of the conduct of that election?—I was smothered in mud on the polling day.

32,930. Was that the only dirt you knew about?—That was plenty too.

32,931. It was quite enough for you?—Yes.

32,932. Perhaps that was the only dirt that stuck to you?—Yes; it washed off, afterwards.

32,933. In the election of 1858 did you notice that there was money flying about?—I did not see any.

32,934. You heard of it?—Yes; there was general talk.

32,935. Had it a good reputation, that election?—Oh I don't know, I am sure.

32,936. I can see by your smiling about it that you really have some idea?—We had an opponent.

32,937. Who did you call your opponent, the real opponent?—Well, I think Doulton was the principal one, though there were several candidates I believe on that election.

32,938. He was the real opponent?—I believe he was the principal one.

32,939. What were the principal weapons he used against you?—I cannot say positively, you know, I believe it was beer.

32,940. Beer or money?—Well, money buys beer; that is all I know.

32,941. Was it by ordinary report that you knew money was being offered and paid for votes?—That is all we can get at an election, ordinary reports.

32,942. Well, what was the general notion in the borough as to money being paid away pretty plentifully?—It was generally understood that he paid his men well for carrying boards and such like. He employed nearly all his voters. The principal part of his voters were carrying boards.

32,943. You mean all those men who were labouring men and voters were carrying boards?—I do not know whether they were labouring men; I think the porters were generally labouring men.

32,944. And then these boards, I suppose, had simply got a bill on, "Vote for Doulton!" or something like that?—Well, I dare say it was something like that.

TWENTY-IRST DAY.

J. Miller.

14 Sept. 1866.

32,945. Did it not appear to you that all that labour was merely colourable labour?—I was not experienced in electioneering at that time.

32,946. You have been more experienced since. Don't you think now that it was mere colourable employment?—Oh, yes.

32,947. You have not much doubt about it?—I only heard, I never knew, what they were paid.

The witness withdrew.

J. Brooker.

JOHN BROOKER sworn and examined.

32,948. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A gardener.

32,949. What rent do you pay for your house?—12*l.* a year.

32,950. Who did you vote for at the last election?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

32,951. Were you on the committee?—Yes.

32,952. Who put you on the committee?—I think Mr. Buckland put me on.

32,953. On any terms?—No.

32,954. Did you do any work?—No, I attended the committee every night; the meetings that were held down below.

32,955. Evening meetings?—Yes.

32,956. Were you paid anything before the election was over?—No.

32,957. Were you paid anything afterwards?—Yes, I was paid for the nomination and polling days. I was paid 30*s.*; that is all I received.

32,958. Who paid you?—James Ede.

32,959. When did he pay you?—A good bit after the election.

32,960. Do you know why Ede came to pay you, it was not he who put you down on the committee?—No, I cannot tell why it was. I am a young beginner in electioneering.

32,961. Had you voted at any election before?—No, I had not.

The witness withdrew.

W. Finch.

WILLIAM FINCH sworn and examined.

32,962. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A carpenter.

32,963. What do you pay for rent?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

32,964. For whom did you vote?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

32,965. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

32,966. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Buckland.

32,967. Did Mr. Buckland ask you to go on the committee, or did you offer you services?—Mr. Buckland asked me.

32,968. When he asked you did he tell you whether you would receive anything or might expect anything for your services?—No, nothing of the sort.

32,969. Did you do more than attend the committee? Did you attend the committee?—I did attend the committee down below.

32,970. In the hall?—Yes.

32,971. Often?—Yes, and once at Redhill.

32,972. The committee meetings were in the evening I suppose?—Yes, after Mr. Gower had addressed the voters.

32,973. The voters or the committee?—It was the committee. There were voters as well.

32,974. Were you present when Mr. Gower made the speech in which he said that those who worked for him should be well paid?—No.

32,975. But you had heard of that speech?—Not before it was mentioned this morning.

32,976. What were you paid?—30*s.*

32,977. And no more?—No more.

32,978. What did you receive the 30*s.* for?—The nomination and polling days. I lost two days.

32,979. That was 15*s.* a day?—That is what Mr. Buckland gave me.

32,980. Mr. Buckland gave it to you?—Yes, somewhere in the latter part of November.

32,981. Your usual earnings being 5*s.* 6*d.* a day?—No, 5*s.*

32,982. Were those all the monies that you received?—No, I had 5*s.* for being out one night.

32,983. Who paid you that?—Robert Lake.

32,984. Were you out that night?—That was the nomination night.

32,985. The day before the polling?—Yes.

32,986. What part of the town were you guarding?—Walking up and down the town and up the lane as far as Reigate-heath.

32,987. Did anything happen to disturb your quiet walk?—No, nothing.

32,988. Were there many of you out watching that night?—There were four or five that I was with; I can't say exactly.

32,989. They were out, I suppose, in different parties, dispersed over the borough?—Yes.

32,990. Were those all the monies you received?—Yes, those were all the monies I received.

32,991. Had you voted before?—No.

32,992. Not at any previous election?—No.

32,993. I understand you never canvassed anybody?—No, I never troubled myself.

32,994. Except in attendance at the committee?—No.

The witness withdrew.

Stoneman.

JOHN STONEMAN sworn and examined.

32,995. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A builder.

32,996. Upon your own account?—I am a carpenter and joiner and builder.

32,997. What rent do you pay for your house?—12*l.* a year.

32,998. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

32,999. Were you on his committee?—I was canvassing for him. That (handing a document) is a copy of the bill I sent in.

33,000. Who engaged you as a canvasser?—Mr. Featherstone put me on the canvassing.

33,001. It says, "John Stoneman, canvassing for "Mr. Gower, for the borough of Reigate, five weeks "at 2*l.* 10*s.* a week," that is 12*l.* 10*s.*?—That is right.

33,002. Then you put down "Bennett, 3*l.*; Man-"ning, 4*l.* 10*s.*; Hind, 4*l.* 10*s.*, and Laker, 15*s.*" What is Richard Bennett? we had him, I think?—Yes, he is a carpenter.

33,003. You paid him 3*l.*?—No, no; I gave in that list to Mr. Smith.

33,004. You had arranged with Bennett that he was to have 3*l.*?—What I could get; I did not arrange anything at all.

33,005. How did you come to put down 3*l.*?—If I could get that I should pay him.

33,006. Do you know he was paid afterwards?—I do not think he was paid by Mr. Gower. I believe he received something from Mr. Monson.

33,007. He received something from the Monson party?—And that he gave back again, I think.

33,008. You promised him when you canvassed him, I suppose, that he should get the same as the others?—He came to me and said that the Monson party had promised him, but he would rather vote for Mr. Gower; if I would get the same as the others he would rather vote for Mr. Gower, and I said I would do what I could.

33,009. Did he tell you what he was offered?—No, I believe he received 2*l.* 10*s.*, and that he gave back again.

33,010. Now about Manning; what Manning was it?—He is a carpenter.

33,011. Why should you put down 4*l.* 10*s.* for him?—Because he come to me about three weeks or so.

33,012. Then did you arrange that he was to have 30*s.* a week for three weeks, and then he promised to vote?—Yes.

33,013. And the same with Hind, and then he promised to vote?—Yes.

33,014. Did Manning vote for Gower?—I believe he did.

33,015. Do you know what money he had?—He had no money at all, I think. I did not pay him. I believe he had 30*s.* on the Monson side.

33,016. Do you know whether Hind had any money?—I do not know. I never gave him any at all.

33,017. Then Laker; did you pay him 15*s.* out of your own pocket?—No, I never paid none of them.

33,018. And Mr. Smith paid you 3*l.* for yourself. Do you know the Christian names of Laker and Hind?—Richard Laker.

33,019. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is that Laker of the public house?—No, he is a shoemaker. I do not know the Christian name of Hind.

33,020. Is it William?—I think it is.

33,021. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is he?—A guard, a railway guard. He lives on the railway.

33,022. You received none of the money for these men?—No.

33,023. These were the sums you had agreed on, and which you thought yourself bound to give? What monies did you receive?—I received 9*l.* 10*s.* for myself, and you will see by the account the way I received it.

33,024. 3*l.* from Mr. Smith, 1*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Green, and then 3*l.* more from Mr. Smith after the election?—5*l.* after the election.

33,025. Had you entered into any agreement with any one to pay you 2*l.* 10*s.* a week?—No, I had no agreement. I went to Mr. Featherstone and asked what he thought I ought to charge, and he said he considered for the work I had done; I had lost the whole of my time at the election.

33,026. This was before the election?—Yes; I lost the whole of my time.

33,027. At that time you had not lost it, but you were about losing it?—Mr. Featherstone said he thought I ought to have 15*l.* for the trouble I had taken.

33,028. Now, besides these men who you say did not vote—— ?—Yes, Bennett did vote. They all voted for Gower.

33,029. Did you canvass any others?—Yes, I canvassed several others. I canvassed Feldwick.

33,030. You did not succeed in getting a promise from him?—Not Feldwick.

33,031. What did he say?—He said he did not like either one of them.

33,032. You knew what that meant?—I knew what he meant by it.

33,033. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you think he meant by it?—I thought he wanted some canaries.

33,034. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Yellow boys?—Something of the sort.

33,035. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Golden guineas?—Yes.

33,036. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he vote?—Yes, for Monson.

33,037. Did you canvass anybody else?—I canvassed Mr. Prince, I believe. He would not take anything, not any amount, for his vote; and a man of the name of Bailey.

33,038. Do you know his Christian name?—Edward Bailey; and Burge a stonemason, I canvassed him.

33,039. I suppose it was the same story with Bailey?—No; he was going to vote for Monson.

33,040. Who was the next?—Burge.

33,041. What is his Christian name?—Richard, I think. I never promised him anything.

33,042. Was he working for Mr. Monson?—No; he was working for Mr. Carruthers.

33,043. But I mean working in the election?—I do not know which way. I wanted him to come to Gower's side. He did vote for Monson, I believe.

33,044. He would not give you any promise?—No.

33,045. Did he give you to understand anything?—No, not at all.

33,046. Do you know where Burge is now?—No, I do not.

33,047. He was working for Mr. Carruthers then, was he?—Yes, I believe he is now.

33,048. Did you canvass anybody else, anybody that you met?—No.

33,049. I only refer to men that you think would be liable to be influenced?—No, not at all.

33,050. Had you been a canvasser at former elections?—This is the first time I have been a voter, but I took some little part in the other elections since Doulton's election.

33,051. Had you been canvassing for Doulton?—I took the balloting at that time. I came here and brought the ballot box in and screwed it down, so that they should see there was nothing in it.

33,052. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you say about Feldwick? Did you say you canvassed him?—Yes.

33,053. What is his name?—Edward.

33,054. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He is the man who said he had not made up his mind?—Yes, neither party did not suit him.

33,055. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did he vote for?—I think he voted for Monson.

33,056. Neither of these men, Bennett, Hind, Manning, or Laker, were paid by you?—No.

33,057. But you sent their names in?—I sent them in to Mr. Smith.

33,058. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When Featherstone put you on as canvasser, did he give you instructions how to canvass?—No.

33,059. Did you ever receive any instructions how to canvass?—No; I was to do what I could for Mr. Gower.

33,060. Then was it a suggestion of your own mind that you should offer these men money?—I asked Mr. Featherstone what I should do with these men. He said that I was to do what I could, and return it to Mr. Smith.

33,061. I mean before the voting?—This was before the voting.

33,062. Your instructions from Mr. Featherstone were, that you were to do what you could with the men, to offer them money, and return it to Mr. Smith? Did he tell you in what shape to return it to Mr. Smith?—No, he did not say what shape. I put it down as for work done.

33,063. That was merely colourable, fictitious, work?—They did do a little work, the same as the others had done.

33,064. I am sure you will give me a plain, straightforward answer; was it for purely fictitious work?—Well, I suppose that is what it was.

33,065. It was merely colourable?—They attended the committee rooms and carried circulars, or anything of that kind.

33,066. Well, but all that matter of carrying out circulars was merely colourable work?—It was done just the same as the others.

33,067. These circulars not being required?—When there was a committee meeting they were required to be taken out.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Stoneman.

14 Sept. 1866.

33,068. Simply to the members of the committee?—Yes.

33,069. Who were composed of the labourers of the town of Reigate?—Of Redhill.

The witness withdrew.

CHARLES ORAM sworn and examined.

C. Oram.

33,070. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A grocer's assistant.

33,071. Were you a voter at the last election?—Yes.

33,072. What rent do you pay for your house?—12*l.*

33,073. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

33,074. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

33,075. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Joyes, Mr. William Joyes.

33,076. What relation is William Joyes to Frederick?—Brother, I think.

33,077. Did you at all canvass for him or do any work for him?—I canvassed casually in the time which I had to spare.

33,078. Did you receive any remuneration for it?—No.

33,079. Neither before or after?—No, not for anything.

33,080. Did you receive any money at all with reference to the election?—Yes.

33,081. How much?—1*l.* 10*s.*

33,082. For what?—I received 1*l.* 10*s.* for being a check clerk, and the balance of 9*s.* was paid to me for services rendered at the "White Hart" hotel.

33,083. You were paid for being a check clerk; that is quite legitimate; what services did you render at the "White Hart"?—I prepared some polling cards and circulars, and many things else.

33,084. You had been engaged at that?—I had been engaged at that.

33,085. You had to attend to your business as clerk in the day; you prepared his polling cards and addressed his letters?—Yes.

33,086. What work did you do; any work at all?—No.

33,087. Did you receive anything before the election?—No.

33,088. What did you receive after the election?—30*s.*

33,089. Who from?—Joyes.

33,090. William Joyes?—Yes.

33,091. Was this your first election, in 1865?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

G. Blaver.

GEORGE BLAVER sworn and examined.

33,092. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What rent do you pay?—I am the owner of my own house.

33,093. What is about the yearly value?—18*l.* or 20*l.* I am rated at 14*l.* 10*s.* and assessed at 17*l.*

33,094. What business do you carry on?—I am an attorney's clerk.

33,095. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

33,096. You were on his committee?—I was, and I never received anything.

B. Boorne.

BENJAMIN BOORNE sworn and examined.

33,097. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A stationer.

33,098. What rent do you pay for your house?—26*l.* a year.

33,099. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower at the last election and before.

33,100. Then you voted for Mr. Gower in '65 and in '63?—Yes.

33,101. You were on his committee in '65?—I was not at all, neither with or without my consent.

33,102. You are Benjamin Boorne of Brighton-road?—Yes.

33,103. Then you personally were not aware that your name was placed on the committee?—I never saw it on myself, I am certain.

33,104. In July '65 you see it's (showing witness)?—It was put on without my knowledge and without my being asked for it.

33,105. Is it for the first time you now see your name on the committee?—The very first; I state it on my solemn oath. I never saw the list before; that is the perfect truth, as I am a living man here. Mr. Gower called on me as canvasser, and urged on me to work for him, but he never asked me to go on the committee. I am surprised that my name is on.

33,106. Then I need hardly ask you whether you took any active part in that election?—I each time gave my vote free.

33,107. And received nothing before or after?—No. I supplied them with stationery, to tell you the truth, and it has been stated that I charged more for my stationery because I gave my vote, but it was not so; I am always glad of business, as every man is, but I charged reasonably, and did not put on a shilling.

33,108. You have now had an opportunity of saying that it is not true. In '63 I suppose you gave a free and honest vote?—I did, without any consideration at all.

The witness withdrew.

S. Burberry.

STEPHEN BURBERRY sworn and examined.

33,109. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A gardener.

33,110. What rent do you pay?—20*l.*

33,111. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

33,112. You were on his committee, I see?—I did not know I was. I suppose I was, but I did not give any authority about it.

33,113. Who put you on the committee?—I do not know.

33,114. Who asked you to be on the committee?—I do not know anything about it.

33,115. Will you tell me who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes; Mr. Gower came to me himself.

33,116. That was a good long while before the election; after that, did not somebody come and talk to you, and hope you would vote for him?—No; I told Mr. Gower I should vote for him; I promised him.

33,117. Did not any of his agents come and remind you about it?—They did come, I believe, and bothered me.

33,118. Who was it?—I do not know who it was.

33,119. I wish you would remember?—There were several came and bothered me. I know I promised my vote.

33,120. I suppose it was one of them put you on the committee?—I never ordered them.

33,121. Did you attend any meetings at all?—No, never.

33,122. You only gave your vote?—I gave my vote freely.

33,123. Who did you go to the poll with?—I went up myself; they came in a carriage and fetched me up.

33,124. Who fetched you?—I cannot tell you now.

33,125. I do not mean the man who drove the carriage, but who was the owner, who was inside?—I believe it was Champion, Charles Champion.

33,126. Was any offer ever made you at any time?—Never. I promised Mr. Gower.

33,127. No offer was made to you at all?—None.

33,128. Was no offer of money after made to you?—Never.

33,129. It was not suggested by anybody?—No; they came and canvassed me, and I told them that I had promised my vote.

33,130. After the election did anybody come to you and say that they were much obliged?—Never.

33,131. I may very safely ask you then whether you received anything at all for your vote?—I never in my life did.

The witness withdrew.

G. Barrett.

George Barrett sworn and examined.

33,132. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

33,133. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you voted?—20*l.*

33,134. You employ men, I suppose?—No; I have left off my trade.

33,135. You have retired now?—Yes; at least, not exactly.

33,136. Did you vote at the last election?—Yes, for Mr. Gower.

33,137. Did you take much interest in the election?—No, not a great deal, because I did not know any one much.

33,138. You were on the committee?—Yes; they said they would put me on, and I said they might put me on where they liked.

33,139. Who put you on; to whom did you say that?—I think it was to Mr. Buckland and Mr. Dann.

33,140. Did you canvass anybody at all?—No; I was too late in the field.

33,141. When were you put on?—I do not know.

33,142. A short time before the election?—Two or three weeks before. I cannot say exactly when.

33,143. Did you attend many meetings?—Only two, or three, or four.

33,144. Did Mr. Buckland promise you anything for your exertions?—No.

33,145. Did he say you would receive anything?—No.

33,146. And you did not receive anything?—Yes, I received 1*l.*

33,147. Who from?—Mr. Buckland.

33,148. When did you receive it?—Between four and five months after the election.

33,149. How did it come to you?—I met him in the town one day, and he said, "Oh, I have to pay "you for your little trouble." I went out eight weeks, after the election I was out for eight weeks.

33,150. Therefore he did not find you before. Tell me, had you voted at a previous election?—No.

33,151. This was your first time?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

J. Child.

James Child sworn and examined.

33,152. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter.

33,153. What do you pay for your house?—12*l.*

33,154. Did you vote for Mr. Gower last time?—Yes.

33,155. Had you voted in any election before?—Yes, in '63.

33,156. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee?—Mr. Gower himself asked me if he might put my name on his committee.

33,157. You went?—I went.

33,158. That was a short time before the election?—I think it was five or six weeks before.

33,159. Did you attend any meetings?—I attended four or five committee meetings.

33,160. Were you acting under any of the agents, or were you an agent yourself?—Oh no, I had nothing to do at all.

33,161. Did you act under any one of the agents?—Not more than attending the committees, and to bring them information if I could about the voters.

33,162. On whose committee?—Mr. Penfold's.

33,163. Then I will call it attending Mr. Penfold's committee. Where was that at?—Mead Vale.

33,164. Were you a canvasser?—No.

33,165. Was there any arrangement made that you were to receive anything for what you did?—None at all.

33,166. Did you receive anything before the election?—Nothing.

33,167. After the election did you go to Mr. Penfold?—No.

33,168. Did he come to you?—Yes.

33,169. And did he give you something?—He gave me 50*s.*

33,170. Mr. Penfold gave it you?—Yes.

33,171. That was all that you got from anybody?—Yes, that was all.

33,172. In 1863 had you been on the committee?—I do not know whether my name was on the committee or not, I was away from Reigate at that time.

33,173. You could not do any good for anybody?—None at all.

33,174. You voted?—I come to vote.

33,175. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

33,176. Did anybody pay your expenses of coming?—Corderoy did.

33,177. Where did you come from?—West Wickham.

33,178. Over here?—About four miles from Croydon.

33,179. Was it after the election he paid you?—Yes, some three or four months.

33,180. How much altogether did he pay you?—50*s.*

33,181. That was the same as this year; was that your only other election?—That is all.

33,182. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What were your actual expenses in '63; you say you came from four miles away?—Four miles from Croydon; it is about 15 miles from here.

33,183. Did you come by rail?—No, in a carriage and pair.

33,184. You could have come down by railway?—We could have done so; there were three of us.

33,185. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not pay for the carriage hire?—No.

33,186. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did they send for you?—Yes.

33,187. Who were the other two?—Stephen Jordan and George Knight.

33,188. You got 50*s.*; did the other men get paid?—I cannot tell you.

33,189. You were brought free by carriage and were given 50*s.*?—I was paid 50*s.* for my loss of time and expenses.

The witness withdrew

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

14 Sept. 1866.

T. Cook.

THOMAS COOK sworn and examined.

33,190. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—I am servant to the British Land Company. I am employed in making roads.

33,191. The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a surveyor?—No, I am clerk of the works.

33,192. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Of the British,—what?—The British Land Company.

33,193. That is what is called the freehold?—Yes, it is freehold; there are two companies: the National Freehold Land Society, and the British Land Company.

33,194. What rent do you pay for your house?—I live in my own house.

33,195. One of the freehold houses?—Yes.

33,196. What is it worth a year?—It is rated at 17*l.* a year.

33,197. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

33,198. And you were on his committee?—No, I was never on his committtee; if my name is on, it is more than I know of.

33,199. You never authorized any one to put it on?—No.

33,200. I can only tell you that they did put it on?—It was not on that I know of. I never attended any of their meetings.

33,201. Did you take any active part at all?—Not at all.

33,202. Then I think I need hardly ask you, you never received anything?—Not at all. I think I have voted for these 30 years.

Mr. Commissioner Smith remarked that a strange liberty had been taken with the witness' name, and that if his name had not appeared on the committee he would not have been called.

The witness withdrew.

A. Cottingham.

AMBROSE COTTINGHAM sworn and examined.

33,204. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you follow any business?—No.

33,205. What rent do you pay for the house you occupy?—15 guineas.

33,206. Fifteen guineas a year?—Yes, it is a freehold.

33,207. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

33,208. Did you know you were on his committee?—I did.

33,209. Did you exert yourself for him?—I did nothing for him.

33,210. You merely voted?—It was agreed betwixt Mr. Smith and me. I did not want to have my name on, and I told him I did not know anybody here, and I had no influence. He said he wanted to get as many independent men as he could as voters to go on the committee, and I assented.

33,211. You did not take any other part?—None whatever.

33,212. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were quite independent?—Yes, I received nothing.

The witness withdrew.

R. Crawley.

RICHARD CRAWLEY sworn and examined.

33,213. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A baker.

33,214. Here or at Redhill?—Reigate-heath.

33,215. What is the rent you pay for your house?—I live in a freehold.

33,216. Do you know what it is worth by the year?—I am rated at 12*l.*

33,217. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,218. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee?—I did not know that I was on.

33,219. You were on the committee; you did not know it?—I did not.

33,220. Not when you were put on; you found it out afterwards?—Somebody told me my name was on.

33,221. Did you interest yourself about the election and do what you could?—No.

33,222. Not at all?—No.

33,223. You did nothing but vote?—No.

33,224. Did you not know who it was who put you on the committee?—Apted asked me for my vote; whether he put my name on the committee or not I do not know.

33,225. Did he say anything to you in particular when he asked you for your vote?—He said, should he put my name on, and I told him I did not care which way it was.

33,226. Did you give quite an independent vote?—Yes.

33,227. Perfectly?—Perfectly.

33,228. I may state it in the widest sense?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

W. Best.

WILLIAM BEST.

33,229. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were examined yesterday?—Yes, but I met Mr. Cheals, and he told me.

33,230. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Something was said on this question. Were you canvassed by Mr. Moody?—No.

33,231. Or ever asked by any body to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

The Chief Commissioner stated that it was another Mr. Best who was wanted.

W. Dodd.

WILLIAM DODD sworn and examined.

33,332. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were on the committee?—Yes.

33,233. What are you?—A labourer.

33,234. What rent do you pay?—The house is rated at 18*l.*

33,235. Is it a freehold?—Yes.

33,236. And you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,237. Did you exert yourself or do any work for Mr. Gower's cause?—No, I had not time to do it.

33,238. Did you get anything for your services?—Yes, I had 30*s.*

33,239. Who paid you?—Mr. Penfold.

33,240. Do you know what the money was for?—No.

33,241. Did you not vote for him; I dare say you thought it was for that?—I dare say it was.

33,242. You have not much doubt?—No doubt.

33,243. Had you voted before?—Yes.

33,244. Where did you attend any meetings or committees, if you did attend any in '65?—Attending meetings at the last election?

33,245. Yes; were you in Mr. Penfold's neighbourhood?—Yes.

33,246. Did you attend any house with Mr. Penfold where there were refreshments?—I used to attend the British school-room at meetings.

33,247. Did you attend there?—Yes.

33,248. You did not do very much there I suppose?—No; we did what we could for Mr. Gower.

33,249. That was not very much, was it?—I cannot say, I know nothing about it.

33,250. For whom did you vote in '63?—Mr. Gower.

33,251. Were you on his committee then?—Yes.

33,252. And you voted for him?—Yes.

33,253. What did you get then?—2l.

33,254. Who paid you?—Corderoy.

33,255. Had he previously promised you the 2l.?—Yes.

33,256. When he promised you the 2l. what did he say, that it would be for you if you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,257. Had you voted before?—Yes.

33,258. When was your next time of voting previous to that, was it in '59?—I cannot say, for Sir Henry Rawlinson I voted once, and twice for Mr. Monson.

33,259. In '59 there was Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson?—I voted twice for Mr. Monson and once for Sir Henry Rawlinson.

33,260. That would be in '58; at which of the two elections?—I cannot tell you.

33,261. You can tell me whether it was the great election when Mr. Doulton was down?—Yes, I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson then.

33,262. Did you have anything for voting then?—Not a farthing.

33,263. Had you at any other election received money in reference to voting?—Not a farthing.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN GOWER sworn and examined. J. Gower.

33,264. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A gardener.

33,265. A working gardener I suppose?—Yes.

33,266. What rent do you pay for your house?—It is a freehold.

33,267. What is the value of it?—It is rated at 9l.

33,268. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,269. You were on his committee?—I believe I was.

33,270. Did you work for him much; I mean exert yourself?—Yes, I did in the evening, and so on; I did not lose much time.

33,271. Were you out watching at all?—Yes, one night.

33,272. You were out watching and canvassing?—I lost some time.

33,273. Who paid you?—No one; at least, I had 5s. for my night, when I was out one night, it was the night before the election.

33,274. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was from Legg?—Yes.

33,275. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who canvassed you to vote for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Gower himself.

33,276. Anybody else?—No.

33,277. Did you canvass any one?—No, I do not know that I canvassed any one; I talked it over to a few gardeners about the election.

33,278. Did you not know that a great many of them were getting money?—I heard talk about it, but I never saw any myself. I only got 5s.; of course I heard they were getting money.

33,279. Did you not apply for some?—No.

33,280. Why did you not apply?—I was never promised any, and I heard that they were not getting of it free, so I did not apply for any; some did apply.

33,281. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And were refused?—Yes.

33,282. And you thought that might be your fate?—Yes.

33,283. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who put you on the committee?—I do not know.

33,284. Who applied to you besides Mr. Gower himself?—No one else.

33,285. Then you had no one to apply to in particular?—No.

33,286. Was this the first time you voted?—No, I voted for Mr. Gower at one election before.

33,287. And were on his committee then?—I do not recollect whether I was on his committee.

33,288. Was it in '63?—Yes.

33,289. Did you receive anything at that election?—I was employed then as messenger at the "White Hart."

33,290. How much did you receive?—I was two weeks, at 5s. a day.

33,291. 3l.?—Yes.

33,292. Who paid you?—Mr. Smith.

33,293. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it 3l. you received?—I think it was; I was not on all the time.

33,294. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that the first time you voted?—That was the first time.

33,295. You did not apply to Mr. Smith at all at the last election?—No.

33,296. You had heard the report that money was tight, and you did not want to be refused?—I did not expect any in particular.

33,297. I take it that you were out that night for the 5s.?—Yes, I was.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE HEWETT sworn and examined. G. Hewett.

33,298. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A shopman.

33,299. Do you live in a freehold house, or what?—No.

33,300. What rent do you pay for your house?—5l. rent; I have to do all repairs, and am rated at 13*l.* 10*s.*

33,301. You voted for Mr. Gower, did you not?—Yes.

33,302. Did you get put on the committee?—I understand I was.

33,303. Who put you on?—I do not know who did.

33,304. Who told you about it?—I saw my name on the committee list.

33,305. I dare say the person who told you you were on had put you on?—I saw it myself posted up.

33,306. Did you not ask who had put you on?—No.

33,307. Who asked you for your vote?—Mr. Gower.

33,308. Which of the agents talked to you about it?—None at all.

33,309. Did you take an active part about the election; did you do what you could?—Not in the least.

33,310. Were you promised anything if you did anything for the party?—Not at all.

33,311. Did you receive anything?—Nothing at all.

33,312. Neither before or after the election?—Not at any election I have been at.

33,313. How many elections have you been at here?—Three.

33,314. Have you given quite independent votes?—Entirely independent.

33,315. You have given all independent votes?—Yes.

33,316. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you a shopman in Reigate?—Yes, at Mr. Larmer's the corn merchant, just by here.

The witness withdrew.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Heather.

14 Sept. 1866.

JAMES HEATHER sworn and examined.

33,317. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A tailor.

33,318. Anything else besides a tailor?—No.

33,319. Nothing besides a tailor; not a hatter?—No.

33,320. It is the other Heather then who is a hatter?—I do not know.

33,321. What rent do you pay for your house?—10 guineas.

33,322. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

33,323. And you were on his committee?—I was.

33,324. I suppose you know as a fact that you were on his committee?—Yes.

33,325. Some gentlemen were put on without their knowledge; do you know who put you on his committee?—I cannot say.

33,326. Who canvassed you then?—Mr. Gower.

33,327. I will simply ask you, did you give your vote as an independent and free vote?—Mr. Smith asked me to attend committees, and also to work on the day of polling.

33,328. Did Mr. Smith send you anything for it?—Yes.

33,329. What did Mr. Smith send you?—2l.

33,330. Did you have a shop of your own?—I do not have a shop, but I work for myself.

33,331. Have you persons working under you?—No.

33,332. How long after the election did Mr. Smith send you the 2l.?—It might be six weeks, or more.

33,333. Had you asked him for it, or did he send it to you?—I applied for it for the time I lost.

33,334. I suppose in attending upon these committees you did no more than the others did?—I advanced the cause as far as laid in my power.

33,335. You told me that Mr. Smith asked you to attend the committees, and then you asked for the money after?—I could not give my time to it.

33,336. What time was occupied by your attendance on the committees?—I could not say now.

33,337. Only the evenings, I suppose?—That was the time I ought to have been at work. I ought to have been at work at the time I attended committees.

33,338. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you voted before?—Yes.

33,339. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you vote in '63?—Yes, I did.

33,340. Did you receive anything in '63 for your services?—No.

33,341. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

33,342. Had you voted in any election before '63? Yes.

33,343. When?—Previous to that I think I voted in '59.

33,344. I suppose you received nothing then?—Yes.

33,345. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that the first time you received any money?—No, I received money at one election when I took charge of a carriage on polling day.

33,346. (The Chief Commissioner.) Here?—Yes.

33,347. Do you recollect who were the candidates?—Mr. Wilkinson was one, and I think the present Lord Monson was one.

33,348. Then it would be in October '58 that you had charge of a carriage?—Yes.

33,349. What did you have for that?—I cannot remember exactly what it was, but I think it was a sovereign.

33,350. You had a vote though?—Yes, I had a vote at that time.

33,351. Who paid you?—I do not know, I cannot recollect; I have tried to remember since this set out has been on, but I cannot recollect.

33,352. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was on the polling day I suppose?—Yes.

33,353. You went with the carriage to bring up the voters?—Yes.

33,354. To look out the voters and bring them up to poll?—Yes.

33,355. You were not driven, or anything of the kind?—No.

The witness withdrew.

R. Humphrey.

RICHARD HUMPHREY sworn and examined.

33,356. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

33,357. What rent do you pay for the house which you occupy?—It is freehold.

33,358. What is the value of it?—5s. 6d. a week.

33,359. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,360. And you were on his committee?—Yes.

33,361. Did you do work for him besides voting?—No; all I did do was, if I knew anybody who had not promised their votes, to go and ask their votes.

33,362. You did nothing beyond that?—No.

33,363. Who put you on the committee?—Mr. Smith.

33,364. Mr. Smith the solicitor?—Yes.

33,365. Had you voted for Mr. Gower before?—Yes.

33,366. Did you receive anything after the election?—Yes.

33,367. What did you receive?—2l. 10s.

33,368. You had not voted before?—No.

33,369. You received it from Mr. Smith?—No, it might be three months after the election Mr. Penfold brought it to me.

33,370. You voted for Mr. Gower at a previous election?—Yes.

33,371. Out of the same house?—Yes.

33,372. What did you receive at the previous election?—5l.

33,373. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who from?—Mr. Smith.

33,374. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Smith himself paid you the 5l.?—Yes.

33,375. How soon after you had voted, about?—Some time after the election.

33,376. Three or four weeks?—It might be more than that; six weeks or two months.

33,377. When Mr. Penfold paid you, how came he to pay you?—I do not know.

33,378. Did he send for you?—No, he brought it to me.

33,479. Did he say he came from Mr. Smith?—No, he did not say from whom he came.

33,380. How did he know Mr. Smith had canvassed you?—Mr. Gower canvassed me with Mr. Smith.

33,381. Had you and Penfold any communication?—No.

33,382. Did he speak to you or you to him before he paid you the money?—No.

33,383. He merely spoke to you as one of the men employed?—Yes.

33,384. Had you voted before 1863?—Yes, I had, for Mr. Monson twice; Lord Monson as it is now. It was '58 or '59.

33,385. Did you receive anything for that?—I received 5l. of Mr. Monson for the election in 1859.

33,386. Who paid it on Mr. Monson's behalf?—Mr. Hart.

33,387. Had you done anything?—No more than I told you when I promised the vote. I was on the committee.

33,388. In 1858 what had you?—I do not remember whether I had anything then.

33,389. (The Chief Commissioner.) You voted for Mr. Monson?—Yes, twice.

33,390. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And, voting in '59, most likely you did in '58 ; most likely you worked then ?—I do not remember.

33,391. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you think you had something then ?—I believe I had something, but I cannot say what.

33,392. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you remember the Doulton election ?—Yes ; that was the first time Mr. Monson put up.

33,393. And Rawlinson ?—I voted for Rawlinson when he put up.

33,394. And you had nothing for that ?—No, nothing for that.

The witness then withdrew.

WILLIAM EDWARD LOVELAND sworn and examined. W.E.Loveland.

33,395. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A gardener.

33,396. What is the rent you pay for your house ?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week and rates ; I am rated at 10*l.*

33,397. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

33,398. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee ?—I believe Mr. Job Apted did.

33,399. Did he tell you what would be the good of going on the committee ?—I told him it would be no good at all, but he asked me to go on.

33,400. Did you do what good you could for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

33,401. Did you do much ?—I never did any great things at all.

33,402. Did you try ?—Yes.

33,403. How did you try ?—By asking people to vote for Mr. Gower.

33,404. Was anything said to you about money ?—There never was a word told me about any.

33,405. Did you receive any money before the election ?—No.

33,406. Did you receive it after ?—Yes, 30*s.*, pretty near up to Christmas.

33,407. From whom ?—From Mr. Buckland.

33,408. About Christmas ?—It was a little before Christmas.

33,409. Did you apply for it ?—No, sir, I did not apply for it in particular, but I heard there was some gathering, and Mr. Buckland said he thought I might as well have a little as any of the rest, and so I had 30*s.*

The witness withdrew.

JOSIAH MATTHEWS sworn and examined. J. Matthews.

33,410. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—Jobbing gardener.

33,411. What rent do you pay ?—13*l.* a year.

33,412. For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

33,413. And you were on his committee ?—Yes, I believe so. I gave my name at the British school.

33,414. Who did you give your name to ?—Several. There were several present, as there might be here.

33,415. Who was acting as chief man ?—Mr. Hewett was there, and Apted and Buckland.

33,416. All the chiefs were there ?—Yes.

33,417. Did you render much service to those gentlemen ?—I took a few circulars out, and stuck up some bills.

33,418. You stuck up some bills ?—On the end of my own house.

33,419. Only on the end of your own house ?—No, sir.

33,420. For all these services, of course, you got very well rewarded ?—Not so very well.

33,421. There was the hire of your walls for your bills ?—Yes.

33,422. What did you get ?—I spent a good deal of time one way or other.

33,423. What did you get ?—I did not get anything till I promised my vote to Mr. Gower.

33,424. After that you got something ?—I got what I charged.

33,425. What did you charge ?—I charged 2*l.*

33,426. Did you get it ?—Yes.

33,427. Who paid it ?—Mr. Mazden.

33,428. Who did you send in your bill to ?—Mr. Mazden got it, I expect.

33,429. Did you send it to Mr. Mazden ?—I receipted a paper. I did not send any bill.

33,430. I thought you wrote out an account ?—No, I did not write out any account, but I signed a bit of paper.

33,431. Did he write out a bill ?—No, I gave him a receipt.

33,432. Did you vote in 1863 ?—Yes.

33,433. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Wilkinson.

33,434. You voted for Mr. Wilkinson that time ?—Yes, I thought he was a staunch Liberal, and I thought Mr. Gower was the same.

33,435. Of course he paid you handsomely ?—No, he did not pay me more than I charged.

33,436. What did you charge ?—The two days that I spent, the polling and nomination day.

33,437. What did you charge ?—10*s.*

33,438. 10*s.* a day ?—No, 5*s.*

33,439. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you ?—Ephraim ; I think he was a stout man.

33,440. Was it the man working at the Asylum ?—Yes.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Well, that is Ephraim.

(The Witness.) I wish it to be understood I did not engage to accept a job until after I had promised my vote for Mr. Gower.

33,441. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you speaking of the last time ?—Yes.

33,442. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How came you to send in your bill if you did not expect to get anything ?—I rendered my services. You would not expect to walk about and convey messages for nothing ; you would not like to work for nothing I dare say.

33,443. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote before 1863 ?—No.

The witness then withdrew.

WILLIAM MORLEY sworn and examined. W. Morley.

33,444. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A gardener.

33,445. A working gardener ?—Yes.

33,446. What rent do you pay for the house for which you voted ?—14*l.* 14*s.*

33,447. Is it your own house ?—No.

33,448. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes, sir.

33,449. You were on his committee ?—I saw my name was on.

33,450. Do you know who put it on ?—No.

33,451. Did you do much for him besides voting ?—No.

33,452. Nothing at all ?—No.

33,453. I suppose you lost the polling day and nomination day ?—Lost it ?

33,454. I mean you did not work during those days ?—I worked in the morning at my own work.

33,455. Did you receive anything ?—Nothing.

33,456. (The Chief Commissioner.) Not anything ?—No.

33,457. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not before or after the election ?—No, I voted quite independently.

33,458. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that your first time ?—Yes.

33,459. (The Chief Commissioner.) Does that apply to all the elections ?—I only voted once.

The witness then withdrew.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

H. Mitchell.

14 Sept. 1866.

HENRY MITCHELL sworn and examined.

33,460. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A hay-binder and thatcher, a jack of all trades, and master of none.

33,461. What rent do you pay for your house?—I do not pay any rent at all.

33,462. Is it freehold?—Yes.

33,463. What is the value of it by the year?—About 15*l.*

33,464. Did you vote for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes.

33,465. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

33,466. Who put you on his committee?—Mr. Durrant.

33,467. Did you do what you could?—Yes, I did.

33,468. Were you able to do any good to the cause?—Yes, of course; several people gave their votes to him, which I do not think they would if I had not said anything to them.

33,469. Then you did do what you could?—Yes.

33,470. Did Durrant ask you to do work?—Yes, he asked me to work for him, and of course I did.

33,471. Did any money pass through your hands to pay any of the people?—No.

33,472. None at all?—Not a farthing.

33,473. Durrant did not give you at any time any money to pay away?—No, sir.

33,474. Were you paid anything before the election?—No, sir.

33,475. After the election did you apply for what your services had been worth?—I asked him if there was anything allowed for what was done, and he said if he got anything for us I should be paid the same as the rest were; that was the agreement in the first place, that if there was anything allowed for our time I should share the same as the rest.

33,476. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said that was the agreement in the first place?—Yes.

33,477. (The Chief Commissioner.) In the first place?—Yes.

33,478. After the election was over did he hand you any money?—No; he said he could not give me any money.

33,479. Had you asked him before whether he had got any money?—No.

33,480. After?—No.

33,481. Not after?—No; he said he could not get any money.

33,482. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) We could not get any money?—No.

33,483. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you get it from anybody else?—I did not get it from him.

33,484. Did you apply to Mr. Smith?—No, I never applied to anybody.

33,485. Did you receive any money from Mr. Smith?—No, I never asked Mr. Smith.

33,486. Did you receive money from some one after the election?—No.

33,487. Nothing?—No.

33,488. Nor before the election?—Yes, before the election.

33,489. Before the election you received what?—I received 2*l.* from George Grutchfield.

33,490. What was that for?—Because he wanted to draw me from the Gower party; he said they could give me more money.

33,491. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) To the Monson side?—Yes, he did.

33,492. Then did he give you 2*l.*?—Yes; and I could have had plenty of money; I could have had 20*l.* if I liked.

33,493. Who from, from Grutchfield?—Yes.

33,494. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that your first election?—No.

33,495. In 1863 who did you vote for?—That was the election before?

33,496. Yes, who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

33,497. What did you receive on that election?—I was on the committee, and canvassing, and I received 2*l.* for it.

33,498. 2*l.* 5*s.*?—No, 2*l.*

33,499. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you not receive any more?—No, I did not receive any more, but Mr. Langridge paid me 1*l.*, and he said Mr. Wilkinson would make me a present of 3*l.*, because my wife had just died, and I understood by one of the agents afterwards he had had it, though he never gave it to me; that is Mr. William Langridge.

33,500. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who did you receive the 2*l.* from?—From Mr. Langridge I understood.

33,501. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How much did you understand Langridge had?—I understood from one of the agents Mr. Wilkinson gave him 3*l.* for me.

33,502. And he kept it himself?—Yes, but I only heard that.

33,503. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not quite understand whether 2*l.* was all you received in 1863 from the other side?—Yes.

33,504. We will go back again; you voted before that?—Yes.

33,505. Do you remember how you voted in 1859?—I voted for Mr. Monson once, but I forget when it was; and I voted for Mr. Rawlinson.

33,506. Do you remember the election before, when Mr. Wilkinson was put up and did not come down here himself?—I did not vote for him then.

33,507. Who did you vote for?—I think it was Mr. Monson.

33,508. Tell me shortly what you got for that?—3*s.*

33,509. I will not trouble you about that. The previous election in 1858; there were two elections in that year. First, there was the Doulton election in that year, and some time after came the contest between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson, and Mr. Monson got in?—I voted then for Mr. Monson.

33,510. What did you get for that?—I do not think I got anything at all. Oh! I think that was when I got the 3*s.* I never got anything before; at least, that was the time.

33,511. Had you received at any election anything before that?—No.

33,512. Nothing out of the Doulton election?—No, sir.

33,513. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you received 2*l.* from Grutchfield?—Yes.

33,514. To vote for Mr. Monson?—No, not to vote for Mr. Monson.

33,515. What was it then?—It was to draw me off from the other side, not to vote for the other side.

33,516. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It is much the same thing?—No, not at all. I told him I had promised to vote for Mr. Gower; he said, "You had "better go our way, we can give you a deal more "money than the other side. You may have as much "money as you please to ask for."

33,517. He gave you 2*l.* to draw you on?—Yes.

33,518. That was not sufficient to draw you on?—I thought it would do for a bit of wet.

33,519. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You knew you would get more?—No, I did not. I did not care if I did not. I knew I could have had anything I liked, as I said before.

33,520. You still voted for Mr. Gower?—Mr. Grutchfield came over and saw me on the polling day. He told me there was no chance for his side for getting more money, and then he said, "I "would try and get what I could get from the "Gower side."

33,521. That day you went and saw one of the Gower people?—He said Monson had got no money.

33,522. Grutchfield was on Monson's side?—Yes, but he said all the money was gone, and he said, "I "should not like to hinder you, and if you can get a "1*l.* from the Gower party you may go and do so."

33,523. My question is, did you see any one of the Gower people that morning?—No; I was at work till between 1 and 2 o'clock.

33,524. When did you see Grutchfield?—He came to my house, and he had been once before. I was out, but my missis told me of it.

33,525. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have told us about Grutchfield wishing you to apply for more money from the Gower party?—Yes.

33,526. You wish to contradict Grutchfield?—I do contradict him.

33,527. Let me see how Grutchfield puts it; it is not in the way you put it. "On the morning of the "election Mitchell asked me if there was a chance of "any more, and I said no."—That is a story; he cannot come before my face and say that.

33,528. You have told us you could have had plenty more money from Grutchfield?—Yes, I could have had.

33,529. Just before the election; the morning of the polling?—Yes.

33,530. Bearing that in mind, that you now say you could have had plenty more money if you wanted it, did you not say on the morning of the election, or had you not more money on the Gower side?—No, I will take my oath I did not.

33,531. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not intend to vote for Mr. Monson?—No, I did not, and he knew I did not.

33,532. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then Grutchfield said he knew they had lost the day, and I said I would go and get what I could the other side?—Yes, I saw that in the paper.

33,533. Did you see Grutchfield the morning of the polling?—Yes, because he came to my house and told my wife that he did not wish to confine me to them; he came to let me know how things stood, and if anything could be got from the other party he would be sorry to be in my way.

33,534. Did you see Mr. Grutchfield when he saw your wife?—No; he came to my house after I got home.

33,535. Before you went to the poll?—Yes; he saw me come home or heard I was at home, and then came to advise me himself. I then came here. I said, "I do not see it."

33,536. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did Grutchfield give you the 2*l.*?—Before the polling.

33,537. How long before the polling?—I cannot say.

33,538. A week or a fortnight?—I think it was a fortnight or three weeks.

33,539. A fortnight or three weeks before the polling he gave you 2*l.*?—Yes.

33,540. And at the time you received the 2*l.* did you intend to vote for Mr. Monson?—No.

JOHN SNELLING sworn and examined. J. Snelling.

33,541. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A carpenter.

33,542. What rent do you pay for your house?—6*s.* 6*d.* a week.

33,543. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

33,544. You were on his committee?—Yes.

33,545. Did you do work for him?—No; nothing at all.

33,546. Did you attend any of the meetings, any of the committee meetings?—No, not at all; not any.

33,547. Who put you on the committee?—Mr. Smith himself.

33,548. Did you receive anything?—No; nothing whatever.

33,549. Before or after the election?—No; nothing at all.

33,550. You gave a thoroughly honest and independent vote?—Yes; I promised Mr. Gower when he came.

33,551. Were you offered anything at all on the other side?—Yes, on the other side I was.

33,552. Who came to you on the other side?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Nichols came to my house and asked me for my vote. I told them I had promised my vote to Mr. Gower, and I should not break my word.

33,553. Did anybody else come to you?—Nobody.

33,554. I thought somebody promised you?—Yes, but not at my house; it was Mr. Green, at the "Castle."

33,555. What did he promise you?—On the polling morning I was in his house for a pint of beer; he had some 5*l.* notes in his hand, and he said, "If "you will go and give your vote for Mr. Monson, and "will come back here, I will give you one of these "or I will have my —— head blown off."

33,556. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That is John Green?—Yes.

33,557. Was that on the morning of the polling?—Yes.

33,558. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that in the little back room?—Yes.

33,559. Were there a good many people there at the time?—There were only four present at that time; John Green, James Apted, George Charles Beale, and myself.

33,560. Were they present when he said that?—They were; and that is all that were there.

33,561. And like an honest man you went and voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes; and I said if he had offered me 20*l.* it would make no difference.

33,562. I hope you voted at former elections?—No; it was my first election.

33,563. (The Chief Commissioner.) This was your first election?—Yes.

33,564. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It was John Green made use of that expression?—Yes.

33,565. Did you see James Apted have a roll of notes in his hand?—No.

33,566. Did Green appear to have many?—He had three or four. He said if I would go and vote for Mr. Monson, and then come back, he would give me one of those or he would have his —— head blown off.

EDWARD WELLS sworn and examined. E. Wells.

33,567. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A publican of the "Rose and Crown," Reigate.

33,568. What is the rent?—25*l.*; and the rateage 24*l.*

33,569. Did you vote for Mr. Gower?—I did.

33,570. You were on his committee?—I believe my name was on his committee.

33,571. Who put it on?—I cannot tell.

33,572. Who do you suppose put it on?—I have no idea, not the slightest.

33,573. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you attend the committee meetings?—There was a committee room at my house.

33,574. How many committee meetings were held there?—I can hardly tell you.

33,575. Was there one every night?—Perhaps three nights a week; the rooms were engaged from the 8th of May.

33,576. Was anything stated at the time the rooms were engaged, as to what you were to be paid for them?—Not at all.

33,577. At the meetings at your house did the committee people constantly attend?—They were the committee meetings.

33,578. But did certain people come in who were not committee people?—Not into that room.

33,579. But into the house?—Very likely.

33,580. Did you attend the committee meetings yourself and take the chair?—No.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

E. Wells.

14 Sept. 1866.

33,581. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose it was exclusively for the committee ?—It was. The committee room was engaged by Mr. Smith.

33,582. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you receive from Mr. Smith for it ?—10 guineas; that was only for the committee room.

33,583. Do you know when you received the 10 guineas ?—I do not.

33,584. After the election did you send in an account ?—I did to Mr. Smith, 39*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.*

33,585. How much did he pay of it ?—He paid the whole of it. I received 42*l.* 14*s.* 3*d.*, for there was 3*l.* 12*s.* 7*d.* due for refreshments supplied to Mr. Smith's clerk while he stopped at my house.

33,586. I would not trouble you with that. Then 39*l.* 1*s.* 8*d.* was your account ?—Yes.

33,587. Tell me how it was made up ?—28*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.* for refreshments, and 10 guineas for the room.

33,588. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The committee occupied the room ?—Yes.

33,589. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was the whole of it paid ?—Yes; I received it from Mr. Smith.

33,590. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose the account went in to Mr. Smith as for refreshments ?—Yes, I sent my bill in in the usual way; it was from the 8th of May up to the 28th of August.

33,591. With the usual class of items, brandy and water, gin and water, and so on ?—Yes, separate items in the usual way.

33,592. I do not know whether you have got it before you ?—No.

33,593. Do not suppose we intend to catch you. I thought you might have had it before you. You treated it as a regular mercantile transaction ?—Yes.

33,594. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you let your rooms on a previous occasion ?—I had.

33,595. Had you a vote in 1863 ?—I had.

33,596. What did you receive in 1863 ?—I really cannot tell you. I do not know now.

33,597. Cannot you tell me about ?—I really cannot tell.

33,598. What was it for ?—For refreshments.

33,599. Were you not paid for your own services ? No; I never took any part myself at any time.

33,600. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Would it be about the same amount as the last time ?—It might have been, but I really could not tell.

33,601. Looking at your book, would that tell you ?—I have no account but of the last.

33,602. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you any account of any previous election ?—No, I have not.

33,603. Did you get a payment in 1859 ?—I think they had a committee room at my house.

33,604. Do you know what you received ?—No.

33,605. Could you find it for us ?—I have no account.

33,606. Perhaps your wife keeps it ?—I have not one, unfortunately.

33,607. I thought you could refer to your book ?—No; I have no account.

33,608. You cannot tell what you received on any previous election ?—No.

33,609. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you charge in the same way ?—Just in the ordinary way of business.

33,610. Was it Mr. Gower's committee that was at your house in 1863 ?—Yes.

33,611. And you sent in your account in the same way as you did in '65 ?—Yes, with the items as before. Refreshments so much day by day.

33,612. I ask you these questions because we have had instances of bills being sent in as for canvassing ?—I did not.

The witness then withdrew.

J. Wesley.

James Wesley sworn and examined.

33,613. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you of the freehold ?—Yes.

33,614. What are you ?—A labourer.

33,615. What rent do you pay for your house ?—I live in my own house, about 14*l.* or 15*l.* a year value.

33,616. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

33,617. You were on his committee ?—Yes.

33,618. Who asked you to go on the committee ?—Mr. Buckland.

33,619. When he asked you to go on the committee did he ask you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—He said, "Of course you are with us," knowing that I was, I dare say, with Mr. Gower's party. He said, "We shall "want you, you being a useful man, to assist us."

33,620. Did he tell you what you were to expect if you did assist ?—No, nothing at all.

33,621. Did you give your services ?—I attended committee meetings, and also canvassed the voters.

33,622. What did you get for it ?—50*s.*

33,623. Who paid you ?—Mr. Buckland.

33,624. For whom did you vote in '63 ? was it for Mr. Gower ?—No; for Mr. Wilkinson.

33,625. Each time ?—Yes.

33,626. That was on the same side as Buckland ?—I do not know.

33,627. He appreciated your services ?—I do not know. I suppose he did.

33,628. In 1863 did you get anything for your services ?—In 1863 Mr. James, of London, was the agent. I did all I could for Mr. Wilkinson, but never made any engagement before the election, and after the election was over Mr. James sent me three guineas, but I never asked for any at all.

33,629. Had you voted before ?—Yes; Mr. Hackblock was the first. I voted for Mr. Wilkinson each time, I think.

33,630. Did you vote for Sir Henry Rawlinson at that election ?—I did not vote at all the time when Mr. Wilkinson came out at this town.

33,631. In 1858 did you take any part in the election, when Sir Henry Rawlinson and Mr. Doulton were here ?—I was for Mr. Wilkinson.

33,632. He was balloted out, and did not go to the poll ?—Yes.

33,633. After the balloting out did you go to the poll ?—No; I was asked to go on Doulton's committee.

33,634. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you told you would be paid for it ?—Yes; I was offered 10*s.* a day.

33,635. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) To be on Doulton's committee ?—Yes.

33,636. And you did not take it ?—No.

S. Webb.

Samuel Webb sworn and examined.

33,637. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Webb ?—A pork butcher.

34,638. What rent do you pay for your house ?—10 guineas a year, rated at 15.

33,639. Where do you live ?—In Park-street, just below where you lodge.

33,640. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

33,641. The time before for whom did you vote ?—I voted for Mr. Monson the time before.

33,642. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee ?—Not Mr. Gower's; I was on Mr. Monson's.

33,643. I think you were also on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No, I was not. If they put me on it was unknown to me.

33,644. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are of Park-lane ?—Yes.

33,645. Then you were on Mr. Gower's committee ?—I never had any knowledge of it.

33,646. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you canvass for him ?—No.

33,647. Did you receive anything ?—I never received a farthing.

33,648. I am very glad of it, and to see you are a neighbour of mine; and you never received anything at any time ?—Never.

33,649. And always gave an independent vote ?—I gave my honest and independent vote, and if everybody had done as I did there would not have been all this bother.

The witness then withdrew.

MATTHIAS WEBB sworn and examined. M. Webb.

33,650. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A pork butcher.

33,651. Are you any relation to the last witness ?—A son.

33,652. Do you live with your father, or separate ?—With my father.

33,653. How is it you have got a vote ?—We are partners; I do not know how it was.

33,654. The house is only worth 10 guineas a year ?—I was on, and so I voted.

33,655. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

33,656. You were on his committee ?—Not that I am aware of.

33,657. You were ?—I believe my name was there.

33,658. Did you not attend any committee meetings ?—No, only one at the hall.

33,659. That was a public meeting ?—Yes.

33,660. Who asked you to be on ?—Nobody as I know of; Mr. Gower asked me to vote.

33,661. After that did not any person ask you to go on the committee ?—Not that I am aware of.

33,662. You do not remember ?—No.

33,663. Did you receive something before the election ?—No, sir, not a farthing.

33,664. Did you receive something after ?—Two months, or something like four months, after I received 2*l.* from Mr. Buckland.

33,665. Was that all ?—That was all.

33,666. About four months after the election ?—It might be three or four.

33,667. Was that your first election ?—Yes, that was the first.

33,668. You did not vote at any previous election ?—No.

33,669. Did you tell your father what you did ?—No, some time after that I heard other men were getting money, and I asked Mr. Buckland if there was any chance for me; he said he would see, and about a fortnight after that he gave me 2*l.*

33,670. Did you tell your father of it ?—I did.

33,671. Did he make any remark about it ?—No.

33,672. Did he know you were going to apply to Mr. Buckland ?—I might have mentioned it to him.

33,673. What did he say ?—I do not recollect that he said anything.

33,674. I dare say you did not carry it to the partnership accounts ?—No, I put another sovereign to it and bought myself a coat.

33,675. Another time don't you think it would be better to follow your father's example ?—Well, perhaps it would.

The witness withdrew.

JAMES EDWARDS sworn and examined. J. Edwards.

33,676. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—Wheelwright and carpenter.

33,677. What rent do you pay for your house ?—15*l.* a year, and I have to repair. I am rated at 32*l.* a year.

33,678. You were on Mr. Gower's committee ?—No.

33,679. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not know it, you mean ?—I did not know that I was, I never attended.

33,680. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you authorize your name to be put on the committee ?—No.

33,681. Perhaps you will be surprised to find your name in this long list ?—I gave no authority.

33,682. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—I did.

33,683. Was yours a free and independent vote ?—Quite so.

33,684. And without receiving anything before or since ?—I have never received a halfpenny in my life; I have been 50 years on the list, and I always gave a free and independent vote, and I never received a halfpenny in my life.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN CARDEN sworn and examined. J. Carden.

33,685. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ? Foreman in a builder's shop.

33,686. You pay rent ?—Yes, 25*l.* a year.

33,687. And you voted for Mr. Gower ?—No, Monson.

33,688. Were you foreman to Mr. Carruthers ?—Yes.

33,689. At the time of the election ?—Yes.

33,690. Which way did Mr. Carruthers vote ?—For Mr. Monson.

33,691. Did Mr. Carruthers canvass you ?—No, he did not.

33,692. I believe he had a good many men in his employ ?—Yes.

33,693. Did you go on Mr. Monson's committee ?—Yes, I did.

33,394. Who asked you to do so ?—No one, I asked to be put on.

33,695. Did you think you could carry a good many men of Mr. Carruthers ?—No, I did not think that. I did what I could.

33,696. When you asked to be put on did you think you had influence, as foreman, to carry a good many men with you ?—I do not know that. I meant to do what I could in the cause.

33,697. Amongst the men at home ?—Yes.

33,698. Did you have much success with the men ?—There were some four or five.

33,699. You got four or five to vote for Mr. Monson ?—Yes.

33,700. Did you tell Mr. Carruthers so ?—No, I did not.

33,701. Did you not ?—No.

33,702. Before you voted did you not make any report to him at all ?—I might have done that, I do not know that I did. We had a shaky one with us.

33,703. Who was the shaky one ? was it Gibbs, mentioned by Mr. Carruthers ?—Yes.

33,704. What did you say about it ?—I told him I thought Gibbs was likely to leave us, and if he chose he might speak to him.

33,705. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) "To leave us" ?—To go to the other side.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

J. Carden.

14 Sept. 1866.

33,706. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did Mr. Carruthers do about it?—I believe Mr. Carruthers spoke to him. I do not know what he said.

33,707. What did Gibbs do?—He went on the other side.

33,708. I suppose you had two or three conversations with Gibbs?—No, I never canvassed Gibbs at all, I never asked him.

33,709. Why not?—I did not think there was any principle in the man at all; I would not have tried if it had been the last man.

33,710. All the the time of the election you did what you could?—Yes.

33,711. Who were the four or five men you succeeded with?—Elias Redman; he is still now in Reigate, Nutley-lane.

33,712. Who did he vote for?—Mr. Monson; you would find him in the list sent down yesterday.

33,713. Did you receive money to pay to the people?—I never paid a farthing to any one.

33,714. And were you asked to do so?—They never offered me; I did not do it in that way.

33,715. I suppose you spent a good deal of time about the election?—Not particularly about that, except the nomination and polling day.

33,716. Did you spend any of your own money?—Yes, I did.

33,317. How much?—About 30*s.* before I had any. I might have spent more than that.

33,718. When did you receive any money?—I received 2*l.* and 1*l.* about three weeks before the election. I received 2*l.* first from Mr. Nichols, and 1*l.* from some person from Nichols.

33,719. And after the election?—I received 2*l.* from Mr. Nichols some time after.

33,720. Was that all the money you received?—From anybody; I had none from any one else.

33,721. Did you send in any account to Nichols?—No, I did not have any account.

33,722. Did you write out an account on a bit of paper?—No, I merely said I must have some money to go about and keep the men together.

33,723. That was 3*l.*?—Yes, but there was the polling day and so on.

33,724. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Explain what you mean by "keeping the men together"?—We used to walk about at night and give them refreshment.

33,725. The men in your yard?—Yes, and several men about the yard.

33,726. You do not do that but at elections?—I do not take them out to treat them, so as to keep them together.

33,727. In 1863 how had you gone?—This was my first vote.

33,728. You are still with Mr. Carruthers?—Yes.

33,729. Are you aware of any of Mr. Carruthers' men not being summoned?—Waters, perhaps; but if you went through their names I might tell; I do not know though.

33,730. I wish you would tell me the name of one?—I did not know they had got a summons, nor they me.

33,731. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say Gibbs was a shaky voter; was Gilbert?—I did not know anything about Gilbert, he was a carpenter.

33,732. There was a person of the name of James Brown in Mr. Carruthers' service?—Yes.

33,733. But not a voter?—I think not a voter.

33,734. Were you aware of Brown's canvassing the men for Mr. Monson?—No, I was not aware of it.

33,735. And offering them money?—No, I never spoke to James Brown in my life. I have seen the man.

33,736. Did you know the fact from Mr. Carruthers?—No. I had a little talk about it, but not to take any notice of it; he was working away from me, at a job two miles off.

33,737. Had you nothing to do with supervising Brown at all?—No, I take the whole of the yard and nothing else; I do not know.

33,738. Was Banks working in the yard?—He was a plasterer's labourer, and worked in the same manner; he would be beyond my control, mine are all joiners and carpenters.

33,739. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you paid by the week or yearly salary?—By the week.

33,740. You received as much the week of the election as any other week?—No; I lost two days, and had a deduction of 12*s.*

33,741. Were all the men's wages stopped?—Yes. I think on the polling day, the nomination day they went back.

33,742. Do you remember a certain number of men being discharged?—Yes, I do.

33,743. What time of the year do you think it was?—I can hardly tell you; I can tell you what for.

The witness withdrew.

T. Penfold.

THOMAS PENFOLD sworn and examined.

33,744. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A builder.

33,745. I believe you have taken an active part in the election for this borough last time?—This last time, but not before, have I taken an active part.

33,746. What rent do you pay?—I have my own tenement.

33,747. What is the value of your tenement?—Rated at 19*l.* a year.

33,748. You took, I believe, a very active part in the last election for Mr. Gower?—I cannot say so.

33,749. I will put it to you?—I cannot say, I do not know how to define an active part. I was chairman of one of his committees.

33,750. That is what I call taking an active part; you were chairman of one of his committees, did you canvass upon his committee?—With Mr. Gower.

33,751. You went about with Mr. Gower?—Yes.

33,752. You never canvassed separately?—I never went out with that intention.

33,753. I am asking you whether you canvassed separately. Did you ask men to vote in Mr. Gower's interest in Mr. Gower's company?—I might have done; what I mean is, I did not go out with the express intention.

33,754. Did you canvass men otherwise than when you canvassed in Mr. Gower's presence?—Yes.

33,755. Did you canvass many men?—I never did canvass except with Mr. Gower, then I introduced Mr. Gower to them or the voters to Mr. Gower.

33,756. I am speaking of when you were alone; did you not speak to men when you were not in Mr. Gower's company?—Very few indeed.

33,757. Can you tell me any you canvassed when you were not with Mr. Gower?—No, I could not.

33,758. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Could you tell us any?—No; I might have spoken to them, but as to the matter of canvassing, I did not canvass them.

33,759. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You asked them for their votes?—That is a thing I do not believe I ever did during the election.

33,760. Did you pay money for their votes?—Yes; if you come to paying for the votes, I have a list of payments.

33,761. Never mind the list at present; where did you get the money?—From Mr. Smith.

33,762. How soon before the election did you receive any money from Mr. Smith?—I cannot be accurate as to the time, but I should think about a month.

33,763. You were not in Mr. Gower's company then I apprehend ?—No.

33,764. How came you to receive money from Mr. Smith a month before the election, if you were not a canvasser ?—To pay certain amounts, certain bills that were brought in and accounts brought in.

33,765. I beg you to be cautious ; do you mean to represent that before polling day accounts were brought in ?—There might be.

33,766. Mr. Penfold, do not imagine we are dealing with "mights" at all, when we have a man like you in the box ?—I should think it was a month or it might be three weeks, I cannot say to a day.

33,567. When did you receive the first money from Mr. Smith ?—I cannot say.

33,768. How long before the election ?—I say, to the best of my recollection, it was three weeks or a month.

33,769. For what ?—For expenses of committees, something like that, or for paying the men.

33,770. How much did you receive at first ?—I believe it was 5*l.* at first.

33,771. Was that by cheque ?—Yes, all by cheque.

33,772. What was that for ?—I do not remember now for what the first payment was made.

33,773. Did Mr. Smith say anything to you when he paid you the 5*l.* ?—He said he would pay me 5*l.*, as I should want it for the committee.

33,774. Who asked you to be chairman, was it Mr. Gower ?—No.

33,775. Who made you chairman ?—I forget now.

33,776. Then Mr. Smith handed you over 5*l.* At what meeting were you chairman ?—The district was Mead-vale, or you may take the whole district in ; there were three districts.

33,777. Were you chairman of the three districts ?—No.

33,778. Of which were you chairman ?—At Mead-vale, you may say.

33,779. He gave you 5*l.* ; for what purpose ?—In delivering out circulars or spending money for voters.

33,780. Do not tell me about delivering out circulars, tell me what you received the 5*l.* for ?—I paid it out ; payments were made to men for refreshments and for work.

33,781. Did you say to Mr. Smith, "I want 5*l.*" ?—No. I believe there was some money wanted for some purpose, I cannot say what now, and I asked Mr. Smith, and he said, "Well, I will pay you."

33,782. That was the 5*l.* ?—Yes.

33,783. That is very indefinite ; we will take it that the money went for some purpose, but you do not know what. What was the next money ?—I do not know.

33,784. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you mean to say that you gave Mr. Smith no purpose in particular ?—He had it all.

33,785. At the time you got 5*l.* ?—No.

33,786. I cannot believe that Mr. Smith would give you 5*l.* in so reckless a way for nothing ?—For nothing ? I have got accounts here which I paid.

33,787. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When was that made (referring to a paper witness had in his hand) ?—I do not know, it is an account I got from Mr. Smith ; it is not my own.

33,788. When did Mr. Smith send his account ?—I should say about the third or fourth day after the Commission was opened.

33,789. Did you go to Mr. Smith's office ?—I went to Mr. Smith's office, I believe, two or three days before this Commission sat, to ask Mr. Smith.

33,790. Two or three days ?—It was in the evening, I will not say exactly when.

33,791. Before we began sitting ?—Yes.

33,792. You had received the summons then, I suppose ?—No.

33,793. You went to Mr. Smith's office ; for what purpose ?—To get a copy of these accounts.

33,794. A copy of what accounts ?—Of the sums that had passed through my hands and the money paid to me.

33,795. Then you got a copy of the accounts as between you and Mr. Smith ?—No, I had one.

33,796. This is not at all a copy of the accounts between you and Mr. Smith ; you do not know who made it out ?—No, I do not.

33,797. When did you get the first 5*l.* ?—I will not be certain that it was 5*l.* ; but I believe to the best of my recollection that it was 5*l.*

33,798. I want now, first of all, the account as between you and Mr. Smith. Did Mr. Smith give you an account of the monies that you got for him ?—I gave Mr. Smith an account ; at least, when I say an account, it was ticked on a slip of paper the items I had paid.

33,799. I am asking you about the account ; how much did you receive altogether ?—100*l.* 10*s.* passed through my hands.

33,800. Is there any account between you and Mr. Smith of the 100*l.* 10*s.* that passed through your hands ?—No.

33,801. What I want to know is, if you kept no account of it, how do you know that it was not 120*l.* or 130*l.* ?—The amount of money I can recollect.

33,802. I do not understand this. How could you understand the accounts between you and Mr. Smith if there are no written documents of any kind ; surely, when Mr. Smith gave you money you gave him an acknowledgment for it ?—No.

33,803. You tell me you had 100*l.* 10*s.* altogether ; in what way did you receive it. You have some mode of making out the account ; how did you receive those sums ?—I believe it was 20*l.* and two 25*l.*s. I do not know whether it was three 25*l.* s.

33,804. You are a man of business, have you no books about this ?—No, I have not.

33,805. But why not of the monies you received for which you were made answerable ?—I had no reason, I did not expect to be called upon for anything of the sort.

33,806. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not expect to be called upon for an account of the money you received ?—Not at that time, to give Mr. Smith an account.

33,807. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now take it at 100*l.* 10*s.*, as the money you were to account for ; did all the money pass through your hands ?—Yes.

33,808. Of course you will be able to give me an account of the 100*l.* 10*s.* that passed through your hands ; is that all that you received altogether ?—That is all the money I believe that would come into my account.

33,809. Did you receive anything for yourself ?—No, not anything.

33,810. I do not understand ; what do you mean ? Were you not paid anything at all ?—No.

33,811. I beg you to be cautious ; were you not to receive 25*l.* ?—No.

33,812. You never received a farthing ?—I never received anything ; I never agreed for anything.

33,813. I do not say you did agree for anything. You say you never received a farthing for all that work ?—No.

33,814. Is that your handwriting (handing paper to witness), or was it made out by your knowledge ?—No, it is not.

33,815. Whose handwriting is that ?—I do not know ; it looks like a lawyer's clerk, it is not mine.

33,816. Did you ever see that before ?—No, not to my recollection.

33,817. But did you ?—No, I never saw that before.

33,818. You see you are put down there for 25*l.* for canvassing ?—I never had it.

33,819. Now we will see ; that is a paper you handed me to-day ?—Yes.

33,820. Did you ever give Mr. Smith a detailed account of how you expended the money ?—Yes, at the time.

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

T. Penfold.

14 Sept. 1866.

33,821. In your own handwriting?—No, not a written account like that.

33,822. In whose handwriting?—It was in little items I gave it to him.

33,823. Item by item?—Yes, when I wanted money I went to him.

33,824. Did you give any written account?—No.

33,825. Did you give any separate slips of paper to Mr. Smith, of the monies you expended?—Yes.

33,826. Of all the monies you expended?—Yes, of all the monies I expended; I do not think I set down every man's name.

33,827. Did you give him an account of all the monies you expended?—Yes.

33,828. How much did you expend?—I expended all of it.

33,829. That will not do?—I never had anything for myself.

33,830. How much did you expend?—There is a mistake in the account you have got. I do not know what the account is, but there is a mistake of 5*l.*; and there is another man or two I paid money to.

33,831. How much money did you expend?—The whole of it; when I say I expended it, I mean it passed through my hands.

33,832. To whom did you pay it? I will take you through every item; now the first item?—Will you allow me the list?

33,833. Certainly not. To whom did you pay it?—When people brought their accounts, I paid them.

33,834. Tell me the first one you paid?—I cannot go into items like that; that is, I believe, a true account.

33,835. You received from Mr. Smith 100*l.* 10*s.*; give me any one item expended?—Bills were brought into me, and I paid them.

33,836. Bills were brought in; you have them?—No.

33,837. Where are they?—I have not got them.

33,838. Where are they?—I do not know whether Mr. Smith has got them.

33,839. Did you hand over every bill that was brought in to you that you paid to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

33,840. Did you pay any sum of money except two bills that you handed over to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

33,841. Whom did you pay? Give me one name?—There were several beershop scores.

33,842. Give me an item?—There was 9*l.* was paid for booth making in the open air.

33,843. You see you recollect that?—Yes, it is there; the paper will refresh my memory.

33,844. Go on?—And a bill I paid to Mr Legg, the beershop keeper.

33,845. How much was paid for it?—Without my list I cannot tell.

33,846. That is nothing at all, that is not to refresh your memory, that is not your own?—No.

33,847. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not make out the account?—No.

33,848. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How can you tell us? How can you refresh your memory?—I have nothing else but that to refresh my memory with; when people brought me these bills I paid them, and I handed over to Mr. Smith exactly the payments I made.

33,849. What men did you pay? Give me the names of the men?—Before the election, or do you mean during the election?

33,850. I do not confine myself to before or after or during the election; give me the men you paid?—A man of the name of Risbridger, before the election.

33,851. How much did you pay him?—2*l.*

33,852. Go on?—James Childs, 2*l.* 10*s.*; Richard Humphrey, 2*l.* 10*s.*; Frederick Cook, 30*s.*; Robson, 2*l.*; Dodd, 2*l.*

33,853. Dodd is not in your accounts?—No more is Robson.

33,854. Where does Robson live?—In Mead-vale.

33,855. Why did you not put them down?—I do not know; I put them down at the back, a few names.

33,856. Show me any?—At the back I put them.

33,857. (The Chief Commissioner.) Frederick Cook is a voter, I suppose?—Yes.

33,858. Who else was there?—George Elsett, and George Mewett, and a man named Parsons.

33,859. Henry Parsons?—Yes, and Charles Charles.

33,860. Do you remember how much you paid them?—2*l.*, I think, and I think I paid Edward Comber 2*l.*; I do not remember any more.

33,861. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That will make about 24*l.*; it will make 24*l.* or 25*l.*; go on, that is very far from 100*l.*?—You must bear in mind that I have my business, and that in electioneering matters——

33,862. I know no business that you were acquainted with, only receiving money from Mr. Smith, and paying it away, at present; go on?—We paid away to men for nomination and polling day, to a quantity of men; at least, when I say "we" I should say the money came from my hands.

33,863. How much money came from your hands on polling and nomination day?—25*l.*

33,864. Were there any voters among them?—I do not think there were any voters.

33,865. Can you give me any other voters at all?—Mazden engaged 20 or 30 of them, and sent them to me, and I paid them the money; and there were some of Jackson and Shaw's men, I believe, from London.

33,866. Do you know of Mr. Toplin?—That is a mistake; it is written Toplin instead of Taplin.

33,867. What is Mr. Taplin's Christian name?—I do not know.

33,868. Where does he reside?—The "Bridge" hotel; he keeps a public house.

33,869. Is he there now?—I think he has left the neighbourhood now. I do not know whether he is there or not.

33,870. What did you pay for him?—I do not know what it was; I paid his bill I believe. Titchener paid most of his accounts.

33,871. Who gave the money to Titchener?—I did.

33,872. Can you tell me what money you gave to Titchener?—He brought me the accounts, and I paid him those accounts.

33,873. Can you tell me how much money?—No, I cannot. There were four I had of those houses, and four or five meetings at each house.

33,874. How much did you pay Titchener for the purpose of paying these accounts?—2*l.* for his own purposes.

33,875. For the purpose of being paid away?—He gave me the bill, and I gave him the money, and he brought a receipt back to me.

33,876. He gave back the bills to you paid?—Yes.

33,877. Did you make any memorandum of those bills?—No.

33,878. What became of them?—I do not know.

33,879. You know what became of them?—No, I do not.

33,880. What did you do with them?—I left them with Mr. Smith I believe.

33,881. Will you pledge yourself to that, that you took every one of those bills?—I did; I took them to Mr. Smith.

33,882. You took all of those bills mentioned to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

33,883. As you received them?—I did; and I handed them to Mr. Smith and showed them him, and got more money.

33,884. Then you handed them over to Mr. Smith and kept no further account?—No.

33,885. Did you pay a man named Church anything?—Yes; I paid him 14*s.* and something, and I remember Apted saying he had got the same size from him. He brought his bill here for Apted to pay him; it was 14*s.* 7*d.*

33,886. You mean he presented the bill twice over?—Yes.

33,887. Is that William Church?—Yes; at least, I do not say he did, but at the time it was said so.

33,888. For what?—I should think most likely for bread and cheese, when the open-air meeting was out upon the common.

33,889. What did you pay Robson?—2*l.* I believe.

33,890. And Elsett?—Elsett? 30*s.* I believe it was, but I will not bind myself to the accuracy of the accounts.

33,891. What else?—Frederick Cook, 1*l.* 10*s.*

33,892. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you pay Edward Comber?—2*l.*

33,893. What did you pay Taplin? I should like to know; do you recollect?—I do not. It was something like 4*l.* or 5*l.*

33,894. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now, I call your attention to the bill; it was 25*l.* You were put down as a canvasser from——; perhaps you would like to see it yourself?—I know that.

33,895. Now, I see you are put down as a man who was canvassing, and who received a portion of three-eighths of 30*5l.* The agents who received it were Charles Thomas Smith, principal canvasser, Job Apted, Joyes, Mazden, Durrant, Buckland, and others, 30*5l.*; they put you down as having paid you 25*l.*?—I never had it.

33,896. Did you ever apply at all to Mr. Smith? I see the first item was the 10th of June, and you were engaged from June up to July. Do you mean to say that you never applied to Mr. Smith for any settlement of your account as a canvasser and as an agent?—No, I never applied for any money whatever.

33,897. You never applied for any money whatever?—Not for my own purposes.

33,898. And never received any?—No. At the time of the petition, when Mr. Smith wrote to me, some time after the election——

33,899. Have you that letter?—No.

33,900. Have you it at home?—Very likely I may have.

33,901. I should be very glad to see that letter. Now, tell me what you were going to say with reference to the petition?—It was that about Mr. Smith. I had heard so much about it the last time, I could not put up with it any longer. He said, "You "will help us out, and you will be paid for your "labour." That is the only promise that was made with reference to the petition.

33,902. The petition for what?—With respect to Mr. Gower.

33,903. You were engaged from the 10th of June up to the end of July at work paying men, seeing payments made, and receiving money. Do you mean to say you did all that gratuitously?—I did.

33,904. Then you mean to say that if Mr. Smith charged it in the account as 25*l.* paid to and received by you he was telling what was untrue?—Yes; he was if he charges that 25*l.*

33,905. And if he was charging his principal with 25*l.*, and he was paid the money, that is then a simple matter of fraud?—Yes.

33,906. You see the difficulty you place Mr. Smith in?—So has he me by putting accounts against me I know nothing about.

33,907. Can you give me any other names of the men you paid. I like to see a man who is giving his services gratuitously. Now can you give me the name of any other man?—That I paid?

33,908. Yes; do you know any of the men at all at work?—No.

33,909. How came they to select you as paymaster if you did not know any of the men?—Mr. Smith asked me to do it, and I did it.

33,910. What did he say when he asked you to do it; remember, we shall have Mr. Smith in the box?—I do not remember the exact words, but the meaning was, "I will pay any payment you make in "respect of the work." "You can try," he said, and I said I would, and I did. I do not know that anything further was said.

33,911. Mr. Smith asked you to pay for monies that were expended?—Yes.

33,912. Had you expended monies before that?—I had paid it out of my own pocket.

33,913. Could you give me a notion of how much you had paid out of your own pocket?—Not more than a 1*l.* or 2*l.* at a time.

33,914. 1*l.* or 2*l.* is very considerable to my mind. Then you can give us no explanation, from your being at work from the 10th of June till the 11th of July, paying these monies and receiving money and going about from one to another?—I did not go about.

33,915. You can give us no other account?—No.

33,916. Had you ever been employed before?—Only on the election of 1863.

33,917. For whom?—For Mr. James.

33,918. Were you paid anything at that election?—Yes, 5*l.*

33,919. What was that for?—That was for canvassing.

33,920. How long had you been a canvasser?—I should think a fortnight or three weeks.

33,921. Who paid you?—Mr. James.

33,922. Himself?—Yes.

33,923. And did you canvass then?—Yes.

33,924. Did you pay any monies then?—Yes.

33,925. How much?—4*l.* passed through my hands.

33,926. From whom did you receive it?—From Mr. James on the polling day, I think it was.

33,927. Who did you pay it?—To Finch, or Groves or Groom; he came from Farnborough.

33,928. You paid 2*l.* to each?—Yes.

33,929. Anything more; any other money?—No.

33,930. Had you been engaged on any other election?—No.

33,931. Then you received 5*l.* from Mr. James?—Yes.

339,32. And you received no money at all from Mr. Smith?—No, not of my own.

33,933. Now, again I will give you an opportunity of explaining. Did you ever apply to Mr. Smith for any kind of settlement of accounts?—Never.

33,934. You were quite content to let matters rest?—I was.

33,935. Did you ever apply to Mr. Gower?—No.

33,936. Or to any one in his behalf?—No.

33,937. Do I understand that you were quite content to let matters rest as they were?—Yes.

33,938. Quite content?—Yes.

33,939. I want to know how you can satisfy me that you received 100*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Smith; how could you satisfy anybody?—From memory.

33,940. From memory?—Yes, it was all paid in cheques. I recollect the amount of money.

33,941. (The Chief Commissioner.) It was all paid in cheques, was it?—Yes; therefore I think it could be proved from the bank.

33,942. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How can you satisfy me of the money you paid away, or how can you satisfy anybody; I do not say myself?—By the account Mr. Smith sent me as being correct.

33,943. Account of what?—The account that I handed you.

33,944. We have it proved that it is not accurate. Mr. Smith could not send it as correct. You have proved here to-day it is not correct?—The whole was taken from memory. There are more men I have not given you the names of.

33,945. I should be very much obliged to you if you would give me another name of a man who you paid?—Whom I paid?

TWENTY-FIRST DAY.

T. Penfold.

14 Sept. 1866.

33,946. Yes; that is just what I want?—Have you got all those that were in the list?

33,947. Yes; now another name?—Be kind enough to read over the list.

33,948. Cannot you give me some name. It only amounts to 24*l.* or 25*l.* amongst those you have men-mentioned?—I cannot give another.

33,949. You have no means of refreshing your memory with the names of the men?—No. I thought I had paid two men; one of the name of Bristowe, another of the name of Ely, but they have given evidence that I did not, which I am bound to believe.

33,950. How much did you think you had paid them?—2*l.*

33,951. That has been denied?—Yes.

33,952. Who has denied it?—I think Mr. Mulley paid them. A man named Heather, I think I paid him, but he did not mention anything about it in his evidence. I saw Heather one night, and I asked him if I had paid him any money; he said, "No:" but there are two or three other men, but I cannot say when a twelvemonth has passed over who they were.

33,953. You have no means of helping us at all?—I wish I had. I had no fee or reward, and I have no feeling but of telling the truth. I wish you to know that I had no account more than the account I got from Mr. Smith.

33,954. You have nothing but this?—No.

33,955. Did you ever see the account before; that is a copy of the one you produce?—No, not all in one; it was in different items when I saw it.

33,956. In what way?—Two or three different papers when I saw it, at the time when we settled the accounts.

33,957. When was that; was it after the election you went to settle the accounts with Mr. Smith?—I should think a fortnight.

33,958. I asked you that several times over; when was it?—I will not say within a week.

33,959. I will not ask you to tie yourself, but it was about a week after you went to settle an account with Mr. Smith?—Yes.

33,960. Was there an account of monies received and expended taken then?—Yes.

33,961. How much was found coming to you of the monies received and monies expended at that time, a fortnight or a week after the election; that was what I was inquiring of you all the time?—He had not paid me all the money then. When I went to him about a fortnight after the election I received between 70*l.* and 80*l.*, I will not say exactly, and I asked Mr. Smith, as there was a report that the men were going to be paid, I asked him if he was going to pay the men whom I had seen down on his committee; he said yes, all those who worked of course should be paid. I gave him a list of the names of the men who ought to be paid; I did not receive the money then, but he sent me the money a month or six weeks after that.

33,962. That was not settling accounts between you and Mr. Smith?—That was the whole that ever we had. The last cheque I took I had to see that these men were paid. I had no list, and that is how I account for this; but when he sent me a cheque for the amount I believe he told me there was something like 4*l.* or 5*l.* due to me, or 2*l.*, at this time, a fortnight after the election.

33,963. A fortnight after the election you settled accounts?—Yes.

33,964. Was that the time you got the cheque?—No.

33,965. Some time after?—Some time after.

33,966. You settled the account with Mr. Smith about a fortnight after the election, and about a month after you received a cheque?—I believe it was nigh September when I received a cheque.

33,967. You say there was something about 4*l.*?—There was.

33,968. Do you mean now that you and Mr. Smith settled accounts, and then he said, I suppose, "You "may keep the 4*l.*" ?—No, there was 4*l.* due to me.

33,969. I beg your pardon, 4*l.* in your favour?—Yes.

33,970. Have you been paid that?—Yes; in this cheque which came afterwards it was included with his men. I stated to you about that settlement. I say we settled up the accounts afterwards, at the time I submitted this account to him with these men's names.

33,971. There was 4*l.* due to you of the money?—Yes. I should say I received something like 70*l.* or 75*l.*

33,972. There was 4*l.* due to you; what cheque did you receive after that; what was the amount?—I cannot tell you; I believe 30*l.* 10*s.*

33,973. Will you tell me any of the men whom you paid out of the 30*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes; all those men I have given you the names of, and Bristowe.

33,974. Can you give me the date of the cheque; you did not pay the men till October?—No; when I asked Parsons he said it was in March.

33,975. Who did you ask?—I was asking Parsons, to refresh my memory; some tell me it was in September, some in October, and some in March.

33,976. And you mean to say you had been owed 4*l.*?—I did not say 4*l.*

33,977. Well, betwixt 4*l.* and 5*l.*?—We will say so.

33,978. He sent it you in October?—Yes.

33,979. Then in October you received 26*l.* 10*s.*, deducting your 4*l.*?—I will not say for certain 4*l.*, but I believe it was; I had a cheque.

33,980. That was the mode in which you and Mr. Smith settled accounts?—That was it.

33,981. That was 4*l.* of the money you had expended on Mr. Gower's behalf?—Yes.

33,982. That was due to you, and then you received a cheque for 30*l.* 10*s.*, and that 30*l.* 10*s.* you paid away?—Yes.

33,983. There was no statement after that?—No.

33,984. You cannot give me any fresh names; if you think you can give me fresh names to-morrow, do?—I shall be unable to come to-morrow, but I will endeavour to see whether there is any one in the neighbourhood that I have not got on the list.

33,985. You knew that the money was all for bribery, did you not?—That list is a list of the money that was expended; I do not know all of it.

33,986. Take the list; what do you think of it?—Well, I asked Mr. Smith if those men should be paid. I thought that if there was money to be had they might have it, they had been at work, those were the men I knew of.

33,887. I will test your credit by what I am now asking you; do you mean to tell me that you did not think that money was for their votes?—No doubt the object was to get their votes; of course that was it.

33,988. That was the object?—I had never promised them for the election. I think with regard to some of those men that they never expected anything, I must say that in justice to them.

33,989. Did you send in the names to Mr. Smith on speculation?—Yes.

33,990. You sent the list in on speculation?—I did.

33,991. How were you connected with sending in the names?—By being on the committee there.

33,992. You told me you did not speak to one single man about his vote?—No.

33,993. How came you to send in the names to Mr. Smith in October, if you did not canvass them or agree with them?—I heard there was money being paid away.

33,994. How came you to send in those particular names?—Because I thought they were men entitled to payment, and by seeing them on the committee.

33,995. You saw a great many other committee men?—Yes; those men in particular I saw.

33,996. Am I to understand you now that you took those names capriciously, because you saw them?—Yes; and they brought information.

33,997. What information?—Of the voters.

33,998. Tell me any one of them who brought information?—I cannot.

33,999. You took their names capriciously, because you thought they were entitled to some money?—Yes.

34,000. That is the explanation you give?—Yes.

34,001. Had you paid any man before you received the cheque for 30*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I believe I paid Risbridge 2*l.*

34,002. Any one else?—Yes, I paid a voter of the name of Mewett; he was paid 3*l.* or 4*l.*

34,003. Before this cheque for 30*l.* 10*s.* came to you had you paid any of the men besides the list you gave. You say now you paid 2*l.*?—Yes.

34,004. Any one else?—This was before the election.

34,005. Was there any one else you paid before the election?—I believe I gave Titchener 4*l.*

34,006. That is about 8*l.*; go on, any one else?—We sent some one down to Cranley to see Mewett; we paid him his expenses.

34,007. Taking that at 4*l.* makes the 8*l.* Is there any one else you paid?—No. There were many shillings I spent at that sort of thing, but I do not remember what.

34,008. I do not know whether you are aware that you make out the whole amount you paid the men at a little over 20*l.*?—After the election?

34,009. Yes?—It was more than that, it was two or three and twenty.

34,010. It was about 20*l.*?—Have you got Allen?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Yes, John Allen.

(The Witness.) Have you got Thomas Best?

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Yes. I will tell you the names, "John Allen, (reads names) Thomas "Titchener."

(The Witness.) Have you got Dodd? I thought I saw 20*l.* as against Dodd.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You saw 20*l.* here, no doubt you did. Now, look here, there must be some mistake if that is made out at all.

(James Childs.) I beg to state that it is not true, and that Childs was paid after.

34,011. Have you been examined?—Yes.

34,012. How soon after was it paid?—Some time after, I do not recollect when.

(The Witness.) I know nothing of the account, it is not of my own making.

34,013. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I will just ask you this, Mr. Penfold, while you are upon that; did you in fact pay Hewett?—There is a man of the name of Hewett.

34,014. Did you pay him?—Not him.

34,015. Hewett?—Mewett, you mean.

34,016. No; did you pay Hewett?—Oh, yes, I paid Hewett over 2*l.*

34,017. Which Hewett?—George.

34,018. Will you undertake to swear that you did pay him?—Yes.

34,019. Do you know a man named Peat?—Can you give me the Christian name? there are several Peats in our neighbourhood.

34,020. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was a man who had been paid a good deal of money?—Oh! Richard Peat you mean.

34,021. You know him?—Yes.

34,022. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want you to answer me a question. Can you explain this to me; I see in this account produced here to-day there is given an account by Mr. Smith of 94*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.*, which you paid away; according to your own statement you paid 100*l.* 10*s.*: it does not tally?—No.

34,023. You say you received 100*l.* 10*s.*, and there is paid away 94*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.*?—There is a mistake of 5*l.*

34,024. There is a little mistake of 6*l.*; is there any accounting for that?—I believe there is a man or two in the list I have not accounted for. I believe there is 5*l.* mistake somewhere on the nomination day; that would be 25*l.* instead of 30*l.*

34,025. You say Henry Mewett was paid by you?—No, I found the money.

34,026. Who paid him?—Farley.

34,027. Did you pay George Hewett?—Yes.

34,028. Through your own hands?—I believe so; I think I can recollect paying Hewett.

34,029. He did not tell us so?—He has been paid.

34,030. You mean the man called here as a witness?—Do you mean the man with a cast in his eye?

34,031. That is Joseph?—George is in Mead-vale, he has left the neighbourhood.

34,032. Where is he?—He is working in London; he went away with Jackson & Shaw's men.

34,033. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It is perfectly inconsistent with the account received; you are put down by Mr. Smith as having received 25*l.*?—I assure you I did not.

34,034. However if you wish to or can explain this statement you can come here on Monday. You will attend here on Monday.—If you have me here a month you will not have a falsehood from me. Will you allow me the account. (It was handed to the witness.)

Adjourned till 11 o'clock the following day.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

Saturday, 15th September 1866.

WILLIAM FEATHERSTONE sworn and examined.

34,035. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carpenter and builder.

34,036. Where at?—Warwick-town, Redhill.

34,037. Do you pay a rent for your house?—Yes, sir, 19*l.* a year.

34,038. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

34,039. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,040. I believe you took rather an active part in that election?—I did.

34,041. Were you one of the persons who paid money, or through whose hands money passed?—Only a small sum passed through my hands.

34,042. Who did you receive it from?—Mr. Green the builder.

34,043. Henry Green?—Yes.

34,044. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Of Redhill?—Yes, sir.

34,045. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any money except from Mr. Green?—No.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

W. Featherstone.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,046. Received nothing at all from any one else?—No, sir.

34,047. How much money did you receive from Mr. Green altogether to pay away?—I am not certain of the sum, it was only one man I paid money to. I acted as canvasser, messenger, and clerk; in fact, I was engaged to him as assistant.

34,048. What monies were you engaged to pay away?—I do not know the sum, I took him a receipt; he knows the sum.

34,049. If you do not know the sum say so?—I do not know the sum.

34,050. Give me some notion how much money came from yourself, but only to pay away?—4*l.* 10*s.* and 2*l.* 15*s.*; I am not certain whether that was the amount or no.

34,051. Did you receive from Mr. Green any more monies to pay out?—No.

34,052. Are you quite sure?—Yes.

34,053. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said you paid to one man?—Yes, Mr. Brockwell; he keeps a beer shop at Redhill; I think his Christian name is George.

34,054. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much did you pay him?—I think those are the sums I paid.

34,055. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And he was the only person you paid?—Yes.

34,056. What for?—Refreshments supplied to watchers and voters.

34,057. How much money did you pay to Brockwell of Redhill?—I am not certain as to the amount.

34,058. How much? I do not want to tie you to any exact sum?—That sum.

34,059. What sum; you have not stated the sum?—I gave Mr. Green the receipts, and I believe those sums were 4*l.* 10*s.* and 2*l.* 15*s.* I am not certain of the amount.

34,060. Both to Mr. Brockwell?—Yes.

34,061. Did you pay anybody else anything?—No.

34,062. Is Mr. Brockwell of Redhill a voter?—He is.

34,063. Do you know what his Christian name is? George.

34,064. Did you receive those sums of 4*l.* 10*s.* and 2*l.* 15*s.* at different times from Mr. Green?—Yes, sir.

34,065. For what purpose did you receive them?—It was to pay some refreshments.

34,066. Did you tell Mr. Green you would pay Brockwell, or did he tell you; did he say, "Here, "take the monies and go and pay Brockwell"?—He told me to go and get Brockwell's accounts, and I did so; and I took them to him, and he told me to go and pay them.

34,067. You paid no more money?—I paid 5*s.* 6*d.* out of my own pocket to a man who did not vote.

34,068. Did you send in an account of the 7*s.* 6*d.* afterwards?—No.

34,069. After the election what money did you receive for yourself?—I received two sums for myself of 30*s.*, and 10*s.* expenses to London.

34,070. Who did you receive them from? Mr. Green.

34,070*. Were those two sums of 30*s.* to cover the expense you had incurred?—As part payment of my services I should say.

34,071. Did you receive any other monies of any account from Mr. Green?—Not before the election, afterwards I did.

34,072. After the election how much did you receive from anybody?—I received 7*l.* from Mr. Green to make up the 10*l.* to pay me for the work I had done.

34,073. (The Chief Commissioner.) You received 10*l.* or 10 guineas?—Yes, altogether, after giving me 10*s.* to go after a voter in London.

34,074. Are you quite sure that was all the money you received?—Yes, it was all the money I received for electioneering purposes of any kind whatever.

34,065. Did you receive any other money at the time from any election agent?—No, sir.

34,076. You quite understand my question?—Yes, whether any other money passed through my hands; and I say it did not.

34,077. Nor for yourself?—No.

34,078. Did you give any receipt to Green for monies?—I gave him a stamped receipt for 7*l.*, the balance of the 10*l.* which it was agreed should be paid me for my services, and I gave him a stamped receipt for 7*l.*, the balance.

34,079. Did your bill say, "Balance due," meaning the 3*l.*?—I believe it stated balance, I do not know that it mentioned the 3*l.*

34,080. Have you got a brother, Thomas Featherstone?—No, I have no brother, I have an uncle.

34,081. Which side was he on at the last election?—With Mr. Gower.

34,082. Did you work at all with him?—No.

34,083. Mr. L., did he take an active part?—Yes.

34,084. And canvassed?—Yes, he was deputy chairman on Mr. Gower's committee at Redhill.

34,085. Your Christian name is what?—William.

34,086. And your father's?—John.

34,087. Is a voter?—Yes, he did not vote at the last election.

34,088. Did he aid in the last election?—I think not; in the previous election he did.

34,089. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you taken part in any former election?—Yes.

34,090. Had you been a voter?—Yes, sir, in 1863 I was a voter.

34,091. Was that the first time you had any vote? Yes.

34,092. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

34,093. Did you work for him?—I did.

34,094. Tell me whether you were on his committee?—My name was placed on his committee.

34,095. Were your services much the same on that occasion as on the last occasion?—Yes.

34,096. What money passed through your hands in 1863?—None at all.

34,097. You were not employed to pay people?—No, sir.

34,098. How much money did you receive before or after the election?—None at all; I worked with my father, I assisted him: as he had done formerly when elections were going on where there were very active agents, such as Mr. Hart and Mr. Morrison, they would send him to come and receive his money, so he waited to see if Mr. Smith would act in the same way. He did not, and he sent in an account, when Mr. Smith said the account not having been received within the month he could not receive anything.

34,099. Do you know whether it was discharged?—No, it was not.

34,100. Was your account mixed up with your father's?—Yes.

34,101. What was your account?—I think it was five weeks, at 7*s.* 6*d.* a day.

34,102. Somewhere about 11*l.* or 11 guineas?—Yes, it was. I have no doubt Mr. Burt, the solicitor here, would be able to give you an account of it, for some time after the election, when my father found he could not get paid, he placed the bills in Mr. Burt's hands, in order to get the money if possible.

34,103. He did not succeed?—He said there was some statute of limitation which perhaps would compel Mr. Smith to pay the money. It appeared to me at that election those who did not do much work got paid and those who did work did not.

34,104. Had you been at previous elections?—I had not, but I assisted my father.

34,105. Had you paid any money out for your father?—No.

34,106. Attend to this question; had any money previous to the election of 1865 passed through your hands?—No, sir.

34,107. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take any part in Doulton's election?—I assisted my father for Rawlinson against Doulton; my father was opposed to my uncle on that occasion, and I know got a great deal of abuse because he worked for Sir Henry Rawlinson; he was called an old Tory, and got very much abused. My uncle was chairman to Mr. Doulton's committee, and my father was opposed to him in that election, he being for Sir Henry Rawlinson, and he suffered a good deal of abuse for it.

34,108. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Can you give me the name of any one you canvassed?—Several.

34,109. (The Chief Commissioner.) Let us have them?—I canvassed the two Thorpes.

34,110. You may mention those you canvassed who voted for Mr. Gower?—There was David Thorpe, Charles Henry Alcock.

34,111. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did he vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes, he did.

34,112. I only asked for those who voted for Mr. Gower; who else?—Henry Potter, Henry Johnson, Edmund Worsell, Jesse Holden.

34,113. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where does he live?—Garden-row; in fact, the list is innumerable. If I had a list of voters I should run through the names, otherwise I will do the best I can.

34,114. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) All these names are put on the committee list?—Some were and some were not.

34,115. How did you distinguish as to those who should be on the committee and those not?—I believe it was left to the judgment of Mr. Smith and Mr. B. who should be on; if not, I took them toMr. Gower. I used to say to the voter, "You had better come with me to the committee meeting at night;" and if Mr. Gower was there I used to take him up.

34,116. (The Chief Commissioner.) I wish you would mention to us one name?—If I had a list of voters I could.

(A list of the voters was here handed to the witness.)

34,117. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who was the paymaster in your district?—Mr. Henry Green.

34,118. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When you canvassed these men did you as a rule tell them they would get paid for their time?—Nothing of the sort.

34,119. You only asked them to come on the committee and their vote?—Yes, I told them the reasons why I wished them to vote for Mr. Gower or for Mr. Wilkinson against any one else.

34,120. (The Chief Commissioner.) Look over the list and tell me any one you canvassed for any candidate?—Charles Cearn, I asked him one time.

34,121. Where does he live?—He lives down in Bridge-road; I spoke to him about it.

34,122. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And he voted for Gower?—Yes, he did I believe.

34,123. (The Chief Commissioner.) Go on, and tell us who else?—Thomas Funnell of Hollis-row.

34,124. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If you think of any other names on looking the list over will you tell us?—Yes.

34,125. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not find any one else?—I cannot in a hurry.

34,126. Do you think that you could give us the names of those you convassed if you looked over the list?—Yes.

34,127. Do you think you can do it this morning beiore you go?—Yes, certainly.

34,128. Only these who were voters?—Yes.

34,129. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Those who voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

Alfred Knight sworn and examined.

34,130. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Mr. Knight?—Master tailor.

34,131. And you were on Mr. Gower's committee?—Yes.

34,132. What rent do you pay for your house?—45*l.*

34,133. You voted for Mr. Gower?—I did.

34,134. How came you on the committee? were you asked?—I do not know I am sure; I do not know that I authorized any one; I do not think I did, and I found my name on the committee.

34,135. You have no recollection of having authorized any one to put it there?—No.

34,136. Did you take an active part on the committee?—No, not particularly.

34,137. Did you canvass any voters?—I did.

34,138. Who did you canvass?—Mr. Charles Smith, who was then living at Little Hampton, and I believe is now.

34,139. (The Chief Commissioner.) What is he?—A draper.

34,140. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had he a residence?—He was on the register for a house in Birkhead-lane.

34,141. He had lost his vote?—I was not aware of that.

34,142. Did you inform the committee?—Yes, Mr. Smith asked me to go and see him.

34,143. And he is a solicitor?—Yes.

34,144. Of course he would know whether he was entitled to vote or not?—I do not know.

34,145. Did you pay Mr. Charles Smith of Little Hampton anything?—I paid him by post-office order 1*l.* 11*s.* The first class return fare is 11*s.*, and I gave 1*l.* for loss of time in coming away from his business.

34,146. And if he had travelled on his own account I suppose he would have come second class?—I do not know I am sure.

34,147. Did you canvass anybody else?—No, sir.

34,148. Or pay anybody else?—No.

34,149. Did any other money pass through your hands?—Yes, I had a cheque from Mr. Smith for 3*l.* I paid the 1*l.* 11*s.* out of that cheque. I was check-clerk.

34,150. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You acted as check-clerk?—I did.

34,151. You were entitled to a guinea?—Yes, for my expenses at Little Hampton. I put them down at 7*s.*, and I know they came to more, and the 3*d.* for the order I paid out of my own pocket, and I understood he could not think of coming to vote without being paid for his loss of time.

34,152. And you acted as check-clerk?—I did; sometimes I have been paid two guineas for it, and I put down a guinea, and so I make up the 3*l.*

34,153. You received nothing else?—I did not.

34,154. And no other money passed through your hands?—It did not.

34,155. Did you take any part in the election of 1863?—No, I had no vote.

34,156. You remember what was called the Doulton election?—Yes, I remember it very well.

34,157. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were check-clerk here at Reigate?—Yes.

34,158. Was it in this hall?—In the public hall, No. 2 poll booth; what I did was to send a list every hour of those who voted to Mr. Gower's committee room; slips they are called, a book with slips.

34,159. I believe there was only one voting place?—There were two poll booths in our place.

34,160. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were check-clerk?—Yes, at one of the two booths, and I was there from 8 o'clock in the morning till 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

34,161. How many check-clerks were there at your part?—I do not know.

34,162. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On your side, Mr. Gower's side?—I do not know. There was Blather and Mr. John Pitter.

34,163. Who else?—On the other side?

34,164. No, on your side. What you did was to send

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

A. Knight.

15 Sept. 1866.

up the state of the poll to certain individuals of the committee ?—Yes.

34,165. Did you send up the name of every voter ?—I did.

34,166. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) A transcript of the poll book ?—Yes.

34,167. Do you know whether there were any other check-clerks ?—Yes, on the Monson side, in the opposite corner, there were two, I know. Henry Joyes was one.

34,168. Was William Joyes another ?—No.

34,169. Can you tell me how many there were ?—No ; we could see, of course, but I never counted them.

34,170. How many were there in the other booth of Mr. Gower's ?—I do not know who was employed for Mr. Gower on one side or Mr. Monson, I saw Mr. Burt there for one.

34,171. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand you were employed from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon ?—Yes.

34,172. Acting as check-clerk ?—Yes.

34,173. In the manner you have stated ?—Yes.

F. W. Killick.

FREDERICK WILLIAM KILLICK sworn and examined.

34,174. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—Foreman to a painter and house decorator.

34,175. Painter and house decorator ?—Yes.

34,176. For whom ?—For the executors of my late uncle, Richard Killick.

34,177. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you voted ?—11*l.* I paid, but I have moved since.

34,178. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—Mr. Monson.

34,179. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

34,180. And did you canvass for him and work for him ?—I worked for him, but I do not think I canvassed any one.

34,181. For about how long do you think you worked for him ?—From the latter end of May till the time the election came off.

34,182. That would be five or six weeks, the whole of June till the 11th of July ?—Yes.

34,183. What did you receive a week ?—Do you mean my wages ?

34,184. Did you receive anything for going to the election ?—No.

34,185. What did you receive ?—I continued my regular employment.

34,186. Did you receive anything at all before the polling ?—No, not before the election.

34,187. How much did you receive after the election ?—2*l.*

34,188. From whom ?—James Nichols.

34,189. Your name is Frederick, is it not ?—Yes.

34,190. Is there another Frederick Killick ?—I should not think there is another voter of that name.

34,191. Just recollect, did you not receive more than 2*l.* from Mr. Nichols ?—No.

34,192. There is no other voter of that name ?—I believe not. I think there is a man named Killick in the place ; I think he is a labourer, but I do not know whether he is a voter ; I do not think he is.

34,193. Did you receive 5*l.*, because I have it here, and it is right I should tell you ; I have here "Frederick " Killick, 5*l.*" ?—No.

34,194. When were you paid ?—I think some time in the autumn.

34,195. About November ?—It might be about that time.

34,196. You are put down here as having received 5*l.* ; what do you say to that ? look at it (a paper was handed to witness). That is put down as a payment made by Mr. Nichols ?—That was what I received for myself ; but there were expenses included in going about.

34,197. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Which made it up to 5*l.* ?—Yes.

34,198. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then I will take this down, that Mr. Nichols paid you 5*l.* ?—Yes.

34,199. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am very much surprised at a gentlemen of your appearance behaving in that way ?—It was somewhere about that altogether.

34,200. It grieves me, it frets me, to see a gentleman of your appearance, to see you in the box and not recollecting the money you received ; you said 2*l.*, did you receive 5*l.* ?—Somewhere about that.

34,201. We will take it that you received 5*l.* for your services ?—No, not for my services. 10*s.* of that I paid to a man named Bennett.

34,202. For what ?—I had orders to pay him.

34,203. Then 4*l.* 10*s.* you received ; you see 5*l.* is put down to you ?—Yes.

34,204. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What Bennett was it ?—Charles Bennett.

34,205. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you sure you did not receive 10*s.* in addition to the 5*l.* ? You are put down as receiving 5*l.*, and I have Bennett put down as having received 2*l.* besides ?—I do not know anything about that.

34,206. Now the effect of your evidence would be to make Mr. Nichols surcharge or overcharge his employer 2*l.* ; that is it. It would be a severe imputation upon Mr. Nichols. Now you know that Mr. Nichols put down Bennett for 2*l.* ; I ask you again, I give you another opportunity of explaining, did you not receive the 5*l.* for yourself ?—For my services and expenses.

34,207. For yourself, services and expenses of yours ?—Yes.

34,208. (The Chief Commissioner.) Bennett came here and he proved he had received 2*l.* from Mr. Nichols ; so far as that goes the account is quite correct ; I dare say you have read it ?—I saw it when you handed it to me.

34,209. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Had you voted before ?—Yes, in 1863.

34,210. For whom ?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

34,211. Had you worked for him in the same way ?—Yes.

34,212. What did you receive ?—I think it was somewhere between 2*l.* and 3*l.*, but I do not know exactly what it was ; there were some odd shillings.

34,213. From whom did you receive it ?—Mr. James.

34,214. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was it 2*l.* 10*s.*, do you think ?—I cannot say exactly, but I think it was some odd shillings.

34,215. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose that was your first election, was it ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

W. Baggaley.

WILLIAM BAGGALEY sworn and examined.

34,216. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—I am in the building line.

34,217. You are a builder ?—Yes, a carpenter.

34,218. What amount do you pay ?—20*l.*

34,219. Do you pay it by the week ?—No, by the quarter.

34,220. Do you go on a month's notice or a quarter's notice ? — Half a year ; I must give a quarter's notice to them from the time that I take it, and I have got of course to leave from the time I take it.

34,221. You voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

34,222. Can you tell me who canvassed you ?—Mr. Gower.

34,223. You were on his committee, were you not ?—Yes.

34,224. Did you take an active part in the election ?—Yes, I did.

34,225. I may say you worked pretty hard?—Yes, I neglected my own business.

34,226. What did you do about the election?—I canvassed.

34,227. Did you canvass any person in particular?—I asked a great many, and persuaded some.

34,228. Who did you persuade?—I can scarcely tell you.

34,229. I will take one, if you please; I want the name?—There is one man of the name of Woodman.

34,230. Do you mean Woodman a farmer?—No, of Mead-vale.

34,231. Then it is another man; what is his Christian name?—I think it is Richard.

34,232. Who else?—Another man of the name of Hopper.

34,233. Not Hooper?—No, Hopper.

34,234. What is his Christian name?—I do not know.

34,235. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is he living here?—At Mead-vale.

34,236. (The Chief Commissioner.) There is another man?—I canvassed those two in particular. I cannot say exactly any besides, but a great many.

34,237. Can you mention any other name than Hopper and Woodman?—I cannot.

34,238. Nothing further?—No further than this, I did all they did.

34,239. Did they vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

34,240. Did any money pass through your hands?—Yes.

34,241. You were a committee man; who gave it to you to pay?—Mr. Penfold; Mr. Penfold was the chairman.

34,242. How much money did Penfold pay you to disburse, to pay it to men?—I paid a little bill, I think it was 1*l.* 17*s.*, for refreshment.

34,243. Who to?—To a man of the name of Tyrrell.

34,244. Was that for your own refreshment?—No.

34,245. 1*l.* 17*s.*?—I think it was 1*l.* 17*s.*, but I will not be quite sure.

34,246. I am not going to bind you down to all the figures, I only want to know generally. What else?—Then after the election——

34,247. But during the election did you pay any other money out of pocket, either of your own or what Mr. Penfold gave you?—No, I never paid anything more. I might have paid a trifle out of my own pocket.

34,248. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) These refreshments had been served out to voters?—We had a little meeting; of course we did not expect to meet without some little refreshment.

34,249. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you pay this 1*l.* 17*s.* in the first instance, and then go to Penfold?—No, he gave me the money for it beforehand.

34,250. Beforehand?—Yes.

34,251. Did he give you any money at all?—I think he gave me 2*l.*, I am not quite sure; I returned the balance and gave him the bill.

34,252. Did you say who you paid the bill to?—No; Tyrrell of Hollis-row.

34,253. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you sure of the amount?—Well, I am not quite sure, because I never took that particular account.

34,254. (The Chief Commissioner.) You think that you returned the balance?—I returned the money, whatever I had, and paid the bill and handed the bill to Mr. Penfold, and returned him the money, the balance.

34,255. Are you sure the amount of the bill was 1*l.* 17*s.*, or might it have been 1*l.* 7*s.*?—It was more than 1*l.* 7*s.*, I believe it was 1*l.* 17*s.*

34,256. Are you quite certain of the money that he paid to you?—No, I would not be sure.

34,257. He paid you over a sum of money to pay these bills with?—I am not quite sure that it was 2*l.* or 3*l.* he gave to me.

34,258. Are you quite sure it was 2*l.*?—It was quite as much as 2*l.* I will guarantee.

34,259. You are not quite sure of how much you returned?—No, I am not quite sure, I have forgot the amount. Penfold had the receipt, and I returned him the balance, but what it was I cannot say.

34,260. Was that all the money you received from Mr. Penfold?—No.

34,261. What else did you receive from Mr. Penfold?—After the election I received 4*l.*

34,262. But before the election?—That is all before the election, I never received a farthing more before the election.

34,263. Well, after the election?—Some time after, it might have been Christmas, I received 4*l.*

34,264. From whom?—From Penfold.

34,265. He is a builder?—Yes, he and I work together.

34,266. What was the 4*l.* for, for your services?—No, to pay two men for their services.

34,267. To pay who?—Woodman and Hopper.

34,268. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The men you had canvassed?—Yes.

34,269. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive any more than the 4*l.* after the election?—No.

34,270. What did you receive for your own services?—Nothing.

34,271. Did you not send in any account to him?—No, I never did.

34,272. How was that?—I do not know I am sure, I left it to him to give me anything he thought proper.

34,273. Who did you say that to, who did you leave it to?—I do not know any one in particular.

34,274. Who did you intimate to, you would not condescend to send any account, but you left it to them; who did you communicate with?—Not any one in particular.

34,275. At a committee meeting, or anything of that?—We had no meeting after.

34,276. In what way did you leave it to them, that is all I want to know of you?—I knew that Mr. Gower had promised to pay every one who worked for him.

34,277. How did you know it?—I heard him say so.

34,278. Where?—In the "White Hart." He said every one that is willing to work for him he was willing to pay.

34,279. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that in a committee room?—Yes, a committee room. He said he did not wish any one to work for him without being paid. I heard him say that in the "White "Hart," but that he would not allow a bribe to be given or a public house to be taken.

34,280. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are quite certain that was at the "White Hart"?—Yes.

34,281. (The Chief Commissioner.) When was that, was it a good while before the election?—Something like a fortnight before, I believe.

34,282. Were you in the committee room at that time?—Yes.

34,283. Had you before that given your assistance?—Yes.

34,284. And having heard that, and expecting to be recompensed, did you after the election tell anybody, or say to anybody, you expected to receive money as you had been working?—I have spoke to Job Apted, of course. I did not say how much I should have. I did not send in any account, or anything in fact. I made some long journeys, which took half a day, to see them, and I thought I was entitled to something as well as the others.

34,385. What did Apted say to you?—He said after it was settled he had no doubt I should be paid, or something to that effect. I never troubled anybody.

34,286. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) After the election, after the petition was settled?—Yes.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

W. Baggaley.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,287. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you ever received anything ?—Not a farthing.

34,288. Was this your first election ?—I had a good cup of tea after the polling day, at the "White Hart," and that is all I did receive.

34,289. We will excuse that; did you vote in 1863 ?—No, I had not got a vote.

34,290. Was this your first vote ?—Yes.

34,291. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say that you canvassed those two men in particular ?—They were neighbours of mine.

34,292. When you canvassed them did you make any promise that they should be paid for loss of time ?—I said I had not the least doubt but what the committee would recompense them for the time they lost.

34,293. And thought probably that would be the interpretation of Mr. Gower's words ?—Yes, I did not expect that these poor men could lose their time, and therefore I said there would be some recompense after the election; it was a certain thing.

34,294. Did you tell Mr. Penfold you would go and canvass them ?—Yes; but though I canvassed them, they did not canvass me.

34,295. Did Mr. Penfold give you any communication how you should canvass them ?—No, not to make any offer.

34,296. Not to make any offer ?—No, not the least; I used my own judgment.

34,297. Did Mr. Penfold hold out any promise to you if you got on the committee ?—No, he did not know my name was on the committee; I promised my name in the first place.

34,298. You might have heard about it before you heard Mr. Gower's speech. You heard it rumoured that the men should be paid for their loss of time ?—It is a general thing, of course; if I spend half my time and neglect my business, of course I expect to be paid. You would not like to sit here all the day, and not be paid.

34,299. I suppose you were not surprised to hear that Mr. Gower made that speech, that those who worked hard should be paid ?—I was not surprised, he was a straightforward gentleman.

34,300. Were you present in the committee room at this hall when Mr. Gower made a speech of the same sort ?—I was not here, it was at the "White Hart."

34,301. That was when you heard it ?—Yes, that was at a committee meeting at the "White Hart," a private committee meeting.

34,302. The room down below here was held as a private committee room, was it not ?—Yes, but it was not there.

34,303. You were not present ?—I was not present, only at the "White Hart."

34,304. There were half a dozen or a dozen men who heard the speech below, as well ?—I did not hear that; it was at the "White Hart."

34,305. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I heard you say you had a kind of connexion with Mr. Penfold; you worked with Mr. Penfold ?—We worked together.

34,306. You and Mr. Penfold ?—Yes.

34,307. Had you seen Mr. Smith at all, had you any communication with him ?—No, I never mentioned it to him, neither about money or anything else.

34,308. Had you any dealing with Mr. Penfold except with reference to the election ?—No.

34,309. Not any connexion or business ?—Well, we did jobs together, he took the brick work, and I took the carpenters' and joiners' work; we are doing a job now at the Union together, and other jobs we do.

The witness withdrew.

W. Featherstone.

William Featherstone recalled.

34,310. (The Chief Commissioner.) You wanted to add something to your evidence, about a statement made by a man named Scougall ?—Yes, Thomas Scougall.

34,311. Shall I tell you what he said ?—Yes, if you please.

34,312. What he said was "I know Featherstone, "that is William Featherstone; he is of the same "trade as myself, and received 1*l.* from Green after "the election."

34,313. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then he says, "Featherstone told me if I voted for Mr. Gower I "should be paid for my time" ?—I deny it in toto. I never told him anything of the kind. It is reported in the paper that he said he was in my pay, and I had promised him for his time; I never did anything of the kind.

34,314. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say the statement about promising is not true ?—It is not.

34,315. He did not say anything was paid ?—No, he made a statement that I had promised to pay him for his time.

34,316. That, you say, is not true ?—It is not.

34,317. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you make any proposition that if he worked he should be paid ?—No.

34,318. That they would be allowed for their loss of time ?—No, I had no authorization to do so. The man said "They are both Liberals, I see many have got "jobs on the election, and I should like one;" I said I had nothing to do with that, I did not have anything to do with setting the men to work. He said "They "are both Liberals, it does not signify which gets in." I said "It does signify, I should like you to vote for "Mr. Gower."

34,319. Did you hold out any inducement ?—I did not.

34,320. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were paid yourself ?—I worked all the time.

34,321. Do not put on such a virtuous air of indignation at the question.—I was called on, and promised my vote, before I was asked by Mr. Gower to assist them, and I had no expectation of being paid.

The witness withdrew.

M. Wicks.

Mark Wicks sworn and examined.

34,322. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A baker; but I have been out of business for the last 12 months.

34,323. What do you pay for the rent of your house ?—The house is my own.

34,324. What would it amount to if you were to let it ?—I am rated at 10*l.*

34,325. Then it would be 12*l.* or 15*l.* Did you vote for Mr. Gower at the last election ?—No.

34,326. For whom did you vote ?—No one at all.

34,327. You did not vote at the last election at all ?—I did not.

34,328. You had a vote at the last election ?—I had a vote, but I did not give a vote.

34,329. You voted in 1863, I believe ?—I did, for Mr. Gower.

34,330. I believe Mr. Durrant canvassed you, and asked you to vote; do you remember that ?—Mr.

Leveson Gower and Mr. Charles Smith canvassed me, and I promised them my vote.

34,331. And then you saw Mr. Durrant afterwards?—I saw Mr. Durrant afterwards.

34,332. And I believe you worked a good deal for Mr. Gower?—I worked all through the election as a canvasser.

34,333. And worked hard. What did they pay you?—I believe I received somewhere about 6*l.* through the election, and after that Mr. Smith paid me 5*l.* for my services throughout the election.

34,334. That was the election of 1863?—Yes.

34,335. You received 5*l.* from Mr. Smith after?—I did.

34,336. And when it was going on you received something like 6*l.*?—Yes. I cannot say exactly what it was, I never kept any account.

34,337. After it was over Mr. Smith was so satisfied with you he paid you 5*l.*?—He did.

34,338. How is it you did not vote at the last election; were you out of town, out of Reigate?—No, I was at home; I did not vote because I thought I would not.

34,339. Well, I will not ask you any more about it.—I think a person in a little business had better be out of it.

34,340. Had you voted before 1863?—I voted once for Mr. Wilkinson, I do not know what election it was in.

34,341. Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Monson were the candidates?—Yes, I think it was then; I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

34,342. Do you recollect whether you were on his committee?—No.

34,343. Did you work for him?—I did no work for him.

34,344. And received nothing, I suppose?—I received 1*l.* for my day.

34,345. (The Chief Commissioner.) You do not know when that was?—No, I do not recollect any date, nor time, nor nothing of that sort.

34,346. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is all you can tell us?—That is all I can tell you.

34,347. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid you the 1*l.* when you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. Charles Smith.

34,348. On this last election of 1865 you say you did not vote?—No.

34,349. You took an active part about it, I think?—I did not.

34,350. From what you say I thought you got a vote or two?—I did not. I told people who asked me I should not vote for neither side; that is it; that is the bottom of it.

34,351. Did you succeed in getting anybody to vote?—No; I never tried at all.

The Witness after he left the box informed the Chief Commissioner that he thought he had made a mistake, and that it was not Mr. Smith who paid him when he voted for Mr. Wilkinson, but Mr. James.

CHARLES SPENCER sworn and examined. C. Spencer.

34,352. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A watchmaker.

34,353. What is the rent of your house?—Mine is a freehold house.

34,354. On the freehold?—No; in Lesbourne-road.

34,355. What is it rated at?—10*l.*

34,356. Then it would be worth about 15*l.* a year?—Yes.

34,357. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

34,358. Were you on his committee?—Yes, I believe I was on his committee.

34,359. Did you attend the committees?—I attended several in this hall, but not all in this hall.

34,360. Did you work for him?—I did not give up any employment; I interested myself at odd times for him.

34,361. Just as the chance fell in your way?—Yes.

34,362. Did you not go out of your way to look for the chance?—No.

34,363. Then you voted?—Yes.

34,364. Did any money pass through your hands on account of the election?—Yes.

34,365. Through your hands?—I received 1*l.* after the election.

34,366. What was that for?—For what I did.

34,367. Up to the present moment you have told us you did nothing?—I did nothing more than interest myself in what was required.

34,368. Is that as it fell in your way?—Yes.

34,369. You received 1*l.* for that?—Yes, and I attended nomination day.

34,370. What did you do then?—I forget what I did; I did nothing more.

34,371. You voted and went back to your business, I suppose?—Yes.

34,372. Who paid you the 1*l.*?—A man named William Eve, a gardener.

34,373. How long after the election did he pay you?—I think it was in November. I went in one morning, and he said, "I have got 1*l.* for you;" I said, "Indeed;" and he said it was for paying my expenses of the election, and he said it was intended to be paid me for my trouble.

34,374. Did Eve tell you where he got the money?—No, he did not.

34,375. Did you tell Eve when he paid you the 1*l.* that you had done nothing?—I did do what I could; I used my influence and pressed people as much as I could to vote for Mr. Gower; I told them that Mr. Gower was the best man.

34,376. You are a very respectable man, living in your own freehold house worth 15*l.* a year, with a good business; do you think that you were entitled to 1*l.* for simply speaking to two or three voters in that casual way?—I do not know that I was; I did not expect anything.

34,377. Do you not think that it was more a payment for your vote than for what you did?—I do not think that. If a person had offered me payment for my vote I should never have voted for him.

34,378. You have no objection to receive 1*l.* some time after?—I understood they were satisfied my services were worth 1*l.*, and I received it.

34,379. Who did you represent your trouble to? Did you make any claim?—No, I did not make any claim at all; and I did not expect anything at all.

34,380. Did you vote in '63?—I did.

34,381. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

34,382. Were you on his committee?—No.

34,383. Did any money pass through or come into your hands at that election?—No.

34,384. Neither to pay away or receive?—No; I never received any money before this at all.

34,385. (The Chief Commissioner.) You received this 1*l.* from Eve; I want to know who Eve was acting under; I want to know where he got it from?—I do not know.

34,386. I dare say you know who he was acting under?—He was of course acting for Mr. Gower.

34,387. But you cannot tell me which of the agents he was acting under?—No, I cannot.

34,388. He was examined yesterday, and I know who paid him himself; but I want to know where he got the money from; he was not an agent?—No, he was not an agent.

34,389. I should like to know who he received the money from?—I cannot tell you.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

C. Spencer.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,390. I want to know who he received the money from; who he was agent to, to pay it again?—I cannot tell you; I did not ask him.

34,391. You cannot help me at all about Eve?—No, I cannot.

34,392. You are sure it was from Eve?—Oh, yes; he was examined the day before yesterday.

34,393. Yes; I have found his evidence. You received nothing when you voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—No.

The witness withdrew.

R. Dealing.

ROBERT DEALING sworn and examined.

34,394. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—I am a labourer.

34,395. What rent do you pay for your house?—4*s.* a week.

34,396. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

34,397. At the last election?—Yes.

34,398. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,399. And worked, I suppose, in the usual way way for him?—I used to work and attend the committees.

34,400. What did you receive?—I received 2*l.*; 1*l.* before the election, and 1*l.* five or six weeks after.

34,401. From whom did you receive the 1*l.* before the election?—Mr. Mulley.

34,402. Did you receive the other 1*l.* from him afterwards?—Yes.

34,403. (The Chief Commissioner.) You received 2*l.* from Mr. Mulley?—Yes.

34,404. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When he canvassed you did Mr. Mulley tell you you were to be paid for your time?—He told me I was to be paid for my time.

34,405. For your loss of time?—Yes.

34,406. Had you voted before?—No.

34,407. This was your first time?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

W. Longhurst.

WILLIAM LONGHURST sworn and examined.

34,408. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A house decorator.

34,409. What rent do you pay for your house?—16*l.* a year.

34,410. Do you pay it by the year?—No; weekly.

34,411. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

34,412. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,413. Did Mr. Green canvass you for him?—Yes.

34,414. Mr. Green of Redhill, the builder?—Yes.

34,415. And I suppose you knew Mr. Green in the way of business before that; had you ever been working under him?—Yes.

34,416. When Mr. Green canvassed you, what did he tell you?—He told me I was to prepare and make ready to assist him in carrying out the election as before, and that I was to be paid for my services.

34,417. Did he tell you how much?—No; he did not.

34,418. Were you in his employ at that time?—Do you mean worked for him in business matters?

34,419. Yes?—At that time?

34,420. Yes; at that time?—No.

34,421. You were to prepare to go to work as before; I mean, about the election?—Yes.

34,422. Then you had gone to work at the previous election?—Yes.

34,423. Did he tell you with what you would be recompensed?—No, he did not.

34,424. Did you get any votes?—No, I did not.

34,425. Did you do any work?—Yes, I did.

34,426. What sort of work?—I did several different jobs; I was at the committee rooms preparing the polling papers one whole week.

34,427. You attended the committees?—Yes; and I have the notices to attend in my pocket now, if you would like to see them.

34,428. Was there any money given you by Mr. Green, or anybody else, to pay away to the voters or for refreshments?—There was none given to me to pay away.

34,429. That is what I am speaking of. Did you receive anything for yourself before the election?—Yes.

34,430. How much did you receive?—I received 1*l.* at one time and 1*l.* 10*s.* the second time.

34,431. Were they both before the election?—Both before the election, the 2*l.* 10*s.*

34,432. Was that from Mr. Green?—Yes.

34,433. How much did you receive after the election?—Nothing at all; I have not received a halfpenny.

34,434. Now, the previous election you received 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Before.

34,435. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For voting?—Yes; a week before the election came off.

34,436. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that before you had done the work you have spoken of; making out the poll books?—Yes, that was before; because the week before the election I was preparing the polling papers.

34,437. When you received the 2*l.* 10*s.* you had done nothing?—Oh, yes; I decidedly had.

34,438. What had you done?—I had been employed from the 8th of May.

34,439. Doing what?—I was employed to post some bills, to post the committee bills, and one thing and another on the town hall; in fact, I was at his call and beck; I was supposed to stand at his call.

34,440. You are not an ordinary bill sticker, a practised bill sticker?—No.

34,441. Was sticking the bills on the town hall worth 2*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

34,442. How long were you employed bill sticking on the town hall?—It was chiefly the committee bills at the town hall, but also at other places.

34,443. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought you were a house decorator?—Yes.

34,444. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you call that house decorating, sticking up the bills?—Yes; it was outside decorating.

34,445. (The Chief Commissioner.) That was all the money you received in '65?—That was all the money I received.

34,446. Now we will go back to 1863; do you recollect whether you had been on the committee then?—I do not know whether I was on the committee or not.

34,447. You worked a good deal, I think?—I did.

34,448. Under whom?—Under Mr. Green, I believe.

34,449. How much did you receive from Mr. Green in 1863; you voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

34,450. How much did you receive from Mr. Green in 1863?—I cannot say exactly.

34,451. About?—It might be 8*l.* or 9*l.*, but I could not say exactly; I cannot remember it.

34,452. You cannot tell me the exact sum?—No; I cannot.

34,453. It was rather more than that?—Well, perhaps it may have been.

34,454. Did you receive in January, in the first instance, 30*s.*?—I never put it down.

34,455. Tell me whether you think this is right; first, 1*l.* 10*s.*, and after that 8*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.*?—I think that 8*l.* 17*s.* 6*d.* is correct.

34,456. And you received 1*l.* 10*s.* in January before?—Yes; I think that is right. I believe I received a little before.

34,457. I dare say the account is correct then. Was that your first election?—Yes.

34,458. Are you sure that that was all the money you received, so far as you can recollect?—So far as I can remember.

The witness withdrew.

HENRY BUTCHER sworn and examined.

H. Butcher.

34,459. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What do you give for your house?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

34,460. Is it determinable by the week or the month?—It is paid weekly.

34,461. But when or how is the tenancy determinable?—I think at a week's notice.

34,462. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

34,463. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,464. What are you?—Do you mean my present occupation? I am a shoemaker.

34,465. Were you a shoemaker at the time of the election?—I am a hawker at present.

34,466. A hawker now, and a shoemaker at the time of the election?—No, at that time as well.

34,467. Who asked you to go on the committee?—I volunteered to go; Mr. Mulley proposed it.

34,468. Did Mr. Mulley speak to you about voting for Mr. Gower?—He asked me which way I had made up my mind to go, and I told him I had made up my mind for Mr. Gower.

34,469. Did he say anything more to you about it?—He spoke in his favour.

34,470. Did he say anything in your favour?—Do you mean with reference to payment; anything of that kind?

34,471. Yes?—He said I should be paid for my time.

34,472. Did he tell you what you were to get?—No; in fact, he said that if there was anything I should have the same at the others.

34,473. How long before the election was that?—I cannot say exactly, but I should think about a month.

34,474. Did you work?—I attended committee meetings.

34,475. Where did you attend committee meetings?—At the town hall, Redhill.

34,476. What else?—I did the best I could to persuade the people.

34,477. Can you tell me any one individual whom you did persuade?—I believe I persuaded Bicknell; we were both proposed on the committee at the same time.

34,478. What were your persuasive observations which induced Bicknell to come?—Just before that time there had been an extract from the West Sussex Times to show Mr. Gower's votes, which I thought showed him to be a consistent Liberal, and that was the reason.

34,479. I will assume that you had a great respect for Mr. Gower and his principles, but together with those arguments did you use the other argument to Bicknell that if he came on the committee and worked he would very likely be paid, as you were going to be paid?—No, I did not know that I should be paid.

34,480. But acting upon your prospects of being paid?—I could not do that, because I did not know.

34,481. Did you see Bicknell after you had seen Mr. Mulley?—I believe it was.

34,482. Did you tell Bicknell what Mr. Mulley had told you?—I forget whether I did.

34,483. Did you take Bicknell to Mr. Mulley?—No.

34,484. Did you take Bicknell money?—When we went to the committee rooms we went together, and saw Mr. Mulley at the door, and he placed us on the committee.

34,485. Do you know whether Mr. Mulley said anything to Bicknell, the same as he said to you?—No, not in my hearing.

34,486. You voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

34,487. What did you get paid?—2*l.*

34,488. Who paid you?—Mr. Mulley.

34,489. What was that paid for?—Nomination and polling day, and attending committee meetings, and so on.

34,490. Who asked you to go on the nomination day? did you go of your own accord?—I went of my own accord.

34,491. And for your own amusement. When you went to the nomination did you expect to be paid for it?—Of course I expected to receive something; the same as the others, I said before, if there was anything.

34,492. There was a very large attendance, was there not?—I do not know how many there were.

34,493. Did it not cross your mind that if every one there was paid it would be rather expensive to the candidate?—I never thought anything about that.

34,494. Did you vote in '63?—Yes.

34,495. Who for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

34,496. Were you on his committee?—No.

34,497. Did you attend the nomination and polling days?—I did not.

34,498. You only voted?—That was all.

34,499. What did you get for it?—Nothing at all.

34,500. Had you voted before?—No, I had not.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS BARKER sworn and examined.

T. Barker.

34,501. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—I am a hostler, I keep the "Warwick Arms" tap.

34,502. What rent do you pay?—14*l.* 10*s.* I believe would be about the rent.

34,503. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

34,504. And you voted for Mr. Gower at the last election?—Yes.

34,505. Were you on his committee?—No. Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith canvassed me, and I told them I did not want to be put on the committee, but that I would do all I could for them.

34,506. You did work for him?—I did, all the time.

34,507. For about how long?—About six weeks.

34,508. How much did you receive afterwards?—Mr. Smith gave me 2*l.* after the election.

34,509. Did he give you anything during the election?—No.

34,510. Did you receive any money at all during the election?—No.

34,511. How long after the election was over did you receive the 2*l.*?—About two months.

34,512. (The Chief Commissioner.) I suppose that was a cheque, was it not?—Yes.

34,513. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I think it was two guineas?—I think the cheque was 2*l.*

34,514. Oh, yes, I see now, I think you are right; you sent in your bill, I think, for two guineas, that is it?—Yes.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

T. Barker.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,515. You sent in your bill, as a professional, for two guineas, and they took off the shillings ?—That is right.

34,516. That was not at all right of them; you voted before ?—No.

34,517. You never had voted before ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

J. Scarlett.

JOHN SCARLETT sworn and examined.

34,518. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you? —I keep a little shop.

34,519. At Redhill ?—Yes, and I am a little farmer.

34,520. What do you pay for your house ?—6*s.* a week.

34,521. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Gower.

34,522. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

34,523. Who put you on ?—Mr. Mulley.

34,524. Did Mr. Mulley tell you so ?—He asked me for my vote, for whom I intended to vote, and I told him "For Mr. Gower," and he said, "That is right; "would you like to be on his committee ?" and I said "Yes."

34,525. Did he tell you what would happen besides ? —He asked me if I would help them to canvass, and so on.

34,526. And you said you would ?—Yes.

34,527. What did he tell you would happen if you did ?—He said I should be paid for my loss of time.

34,528. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And I suppose you did canvass ?—I went about with him.

34,529. With Mr. Mulley himself ?—Not always, but when I had an opportunity of going about.

34,530. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you ever have occasion to go as a guard with Mr. Mulley, to take care of him ?—I did not go about as a guard.

34,531. Did you ever accompany him in a time of danger, when you went as a guard with him ? sometimes he might be going in a dangerous neighbourhood, and did you ever go with him to help him ?—No.

34,532. Did Mr. Mulley pay you anything before the election ?—No, nothing at all.

34,433. Nothing at all ?—Nothing at all.

34,534. What were you paid after the election ?—I was paid by the time, and he paid me 3*l.* after.

34,535. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I suppose while you were canvassing he treated you ?—Nothing more than a glass of ale; sometimes he paid, and sometimes I paid.

34,536. (The Chief Commissioner.) I suppose he was not close about it; if you were thirsty you had a glass of beer ?—A glass of beer would satisfy me all day.

34,537. When you were out with him did he refresh you with a glass of anything ?—A glass of ale, nothing more.

34,538. Was this your first election ?—Yes.

34,539. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 3*l.* ?—3*l.*

34,540. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you quite sure about the amount ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

J. Peters.

JOHN PETERS sworn and examined.

34,541. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you? —A bricklayer.

34,542. What rent do you pay for your house ?—10*l.*

34,543. By the week, or how ?—Quarterly.

34,544. For whom did you vote at the last election? —I did not vote at all.

34,545. Were you on the committee ?—Yes.

34,546. Whose committee ?—Mr. Gower's.

34,547. Did you take any part in the election before the polling day ?—I did what I could amongst my friends; if I saw any of them I asked them which way they were going.

34,548. Did you take an active part in that way ? —No, not in particular.

34,549. Were you to have anything for your services ?—Yes; I was to be paid for my time.

34,550. Did you apply to anybody to be paid before the election ?—I never asked for anything, I received 10*s.*

34,551. Who paid you the 10*s.* ?—Mr. Buckland.

34,552. When was that, before the election ?—I think it might be somewhere about two or three days before, or two or three days after, I am not certain.

34,553. How came Mr. Buckland to pay you the 10*s.* ?—For what I had done, I suppose; I had given him information of persons who had not promised their votes.

34,554. You got information of persons who had not promised their votes, and then did you give that information to Mr. Buckland ?—I gave it in to the committee.

34,555. Then, in fact, you were taking somewhat of an active part before the election ?—Yes.

34,556. Perhaps you will be good enough to explain why you did not vote ?—My business called me away.

34,557. Where did it call you to ?—To London.

34,558. When did you go to London ?—On the Friday evening after the nomination.

34,559. I am speaking of the election of '65, the nomination was on a Tuesday; were you at the nomination ?—Yes.

34,560. Did you take part in the nomination and hold up your hand for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

34,561. Did you go away on that evening ?—Yes.

34,562. What was the business that took you to London ?—Only my trade.

34,563. You are a bricklayer ?—Yes.

34,564. What did you go for ?—For materials.

34,565. What were the materials ?—Tiles.

34,566. What for ?—For a wall.

34,567. To put some tiles on some walls ?—Yes.

34,568. Or some tiles on a roof ?—Tiles on walls.

34,569. Are there any people in Reigate who deal in tiles ?—No.

34,570. Or in Redhill ?—No.

34,571. Or anywhere nearer than London ?—No, not that I am aware of.

34,572. Was it a matter of absolute necessity that those tiles should be got on nomination day ?—I was to get them and to do the work as soon as possible.

34,573. Who asked you to do that ?—Mr. Simpson.

34,574. What! Mr. Simpson of Wray Park ?—Yes.

34,575. Was it work for him ?—Yes.

34,576. What work was it at Mr. Simpson's for which you wanted the tiles so particularly ?—A dairy.

34,577. A dairy ? Was it a new dairy that was being built ?—No, an old one.

34,578. What was the matter with the tiles ?—The floor never had been tiled before.

34,579. Was the dairy occupied as a dairy ?—Yes, at the time I was working there.

34,580. At the time you were at work ?—Yes.

34,581. Were you at work there before you went for these tiles ?—No; I might have been, but I do not know of it.

34,582. Had you been working at these tiles a week before ?—No.

34,583. Then the first intimation you had of any tiles being wanted was on the nomination day ?—I think on that day; I ought, in fact, to have gone on the nomination morning, but I stopped.

34,584. When did you receive the order to go for the tiles?—I think the night before.

34,585. Did you go up to see the place where you were to put the tiles on?—No, because I had had an order before, only I had not got materials.

34,586. How long before had you had the order?—A fortnight, I should say; it might have been longer, it might have been two months.

34,587. From the time when you had received the first order?—He had not made up his mind whether he would have them done with tiles or not.

34,588. When you received the order a fortnight or a month before, about the tiles, did you go up and look at the dairy to see what was required?—When Mr. Simpson first spoke to me about it he thought he would have it done with tiles, and wanted to know how many it required, how many it would take.

34,589. That was a fortnight or a month before?—It might have been two months, but he did not give any order to say he would have it done at that time.

34,590. Did you go up to see the building?—Yes.

34,591. Was the building used for any purpose?—It was a dairy.

34,592. For which part was it that these tiles were required?—He had not quite made up his mind he should have the tiles or not.

34,593. There was some roof on it, was there not?—It was in his own house.

34,594. You mean attached to his house?—Yes, on the basement.

34,595. Was it a lean-to?—No.

34,596. Where were these tiles to be, on the floor?—No, on the wall.

34,597. What, all round?—Yes, white tiles.

34,598. All round the walls; then the dairy was to be lined with tiles. Now you were spoken to about this some two months before; from that time till you were asked to go to London by Mr. Simpson for the tiles, had he been to you about the matter, had you heard anything more about it?—Not till I had the order down.

34,599. Who brought the order?—I am sure I do not know who brought it.

34,600. Was it one of Mr. Simpson's own men?—I do not know.

34,601. Was it by note?—There was a note.

34,602. To you?—To my own house.

34,603. Have you got that note?—No.

34,604. From whom did that note come, was it from Mr. Simpson?—Yes.

34,605. Himself?—Yes.

34,606. Was it signed by Mr. Simpson?—He wanted to see me about the tiles.

34,607. Did you go to him?—No, I did not go to him himself; but he said that he had made up his mind to have it done, and of course I went to see about the tiles.

34,608. Then you went to London about the tiles?—Yes.

34,609. What else was there in the note?—Nothing else in particular that I know of.

34,610. Was it a note that urged you to go and get the tiles?—I was not urged more than that an order was given to say that he should like to have the work done immediately.

34,611. Was that the only reason why you went to London?—That was the only reason.

34,612. How long did it take you to get the tiles?—It was two or three days before they came down.

34,613. Where did you go to or give the order?—To Mr. Richardson's and several places, to find out where I could get them cheapest first.

34,614. At what time in the day did you succeed in getting the tiles?—About 2 or 3 o'clock.

34,615. In the afternoon?—Yes.

34,616. What time did you go away?—I went over night.

34,617. You went over night; what train did you go by?—Somewhere about 8 or 9 o'clock.

34,618. At what time in the day did you get the note from Mr. Simpson?—I do not know exactly what time.

34,619. I think you told me that it was the evening before the nomination day?—Yes, I believe it was.

34,620. Why did you not go on the nomination day?—I did intend going, but I missed the 4 o'clock train, and I started that evening.

34,621. Why could not you have gone the day after the polling?—Because I thought I had better go at once.

34,622. You had been taking an active part for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

34,623. You were at the nomination?—Yes.

34,624. Why did you not postpone going to London?—I thought I should have been back soon enough for the voting.

34,625. Is that your only explanation?—Yes.

34,626. Did anybody else see you about these tiles?—No.

34,627. Did anybody see you about these tiles, and speak to you about them, the night before the nomination?—No.

34,628. Or upon the nomination day?—No.

34,629. Then you did not care for voting for Mr. Gower?—Oh, yes, I did.

34,630. But you knew that Mr. Simpson was a Monson man?—I did not know that he was.

34,631. (The Chief Commissioner.) Which way did he vote?—I do not know at all; he asked me, about a month before that, which way I was going. I told him I was going for Mr. Monson, and he said, "I "have partly promised mine to Mr. Monson, but," he said, "I do not think I shall vote."

34,632. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Then you got this order about the tiles the night before the nomination day?—Yes.

34,633. Now you had seen this apartment of Mr. Simpson's two months before; can you give me no better reason why you forsook your friend Mr. Gower and went to London?—I did not forsake him.

34,634. Did you vote for him?—I did not forsake him, and I did not vote for him; I intended to get back in time.

34,635. But you did not?—I did not get back.

34,636. You might just as well have gone the next day if you had liked?—I do not know about that.

34,637. Were you paid anything for your services by the Gower party?—10*s*.

34,638. Was that all you got?—That was all, and I did not expect that.

34,639. Did you vote in '63?—No.

34,640. Have you taken any part in any of the previous elections?—No.

34,641. This was the first time you voted?—It was the first time I had a vote.

34,642. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just attend to a few questions I want to put to you, and answer them carefully. You knew this old dairy of Mr. Simpson's, did you not?—Yes.

34,643. You had had the measure of it, and had surveyed it, had you not?—Yes.

34,644. If you had not, you could not have ordered tiles for it?—No.

34,645. Then after that Mr. Simpson held his hand a bit and could not make up his mind?—He said he had not made up his mind.

34,646. That is exactly what I am saying. Had you sent in a contract for the doing of the work to Mr. Simpson?—No.

34,647. Pray be cautious about this, for it is material. Had you told Mr. Simpson what you would do it for?—No.

34,648. I do not mean you had written it on paper, but had you surveyed the premises, and said what you would do it for?—I might have said near what it might be.

34,649. What did you say the expense would be?—I do not know.

34,650. You know the dairy, you have got it in your mind's eye at this moment, and you were to get the tiles and put them in it; about what was it to cost?—I cannot tell you.

34,651. Can you not recollect what you told Mr. Simpson would be the cost of doing it?—I do not recollect it.

34,652. You can go over it in your own mind, you knew the dairy, and having surveyed it you can tell me now from recollection what it would cost to get the tiles and put them round?—I do not remember the sum.

34,653. Did you take the size at the time and put it on paper?—I really do not know.

34,654. It is not long ago, it was the '65 election?—I always employed a man to take all my measures.

34,655. Who was that man?—A man of the name of Briggs.

34,656. Did Briggs take all the measurements of the dairies?—Yes.

34,657. And did he give to you an account of what it would cost to do what Mr. Simpson wanted?—He told me the number of tiles I should want for it, that was all.

34,658. I suppose you told Mr. Simpson?—No, I do not recollect that I did.

34,659. Pray be cautious, I want an answer to this question, but I do not wish to press you at all unfairly; did you or not tell Simpson about what would be the expense of it. I used the word "about." Could the whole thing be done for 8*l.*?—I do not know.

34,660. Could the whole thing be done for 20*l.* should you think, putting it in round numbers?—I should think it would be more than 20*l.*

34,661. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you done the work?—Yes.

34,662. When did you do it?—As soon as we got the tiles down, about a week after.

34,663. A week after the tiles came down?—Two or three days after I went.

34,664. Directly you got the tiles down did you go to work?—As soon as we got the tiles.

34,665. The very next morning?—As soon as they were delivered.

34,666. (The Chief Commissioner.) Now, tell me whether it would cost 25*l.*?—I cannot tell you exactly.

34,667. "Not exactly;" that is not what I wish to know. I do not press you to tell me exactly, but about what do you think it could be done for?—I cannot remember now at all what it cost.

34,668. Do you suppose that it would cost to do what you wanted 25*l.*?—It might have.

34,669. Do you think it would cost 30*l.*?—No.

34,670. Do you think it would come to as near 25*l.* as anything you could hit upon?—I cannot recollect.

34,671. Are you not able to say now whether 25*l.* would do the job?—No, I am not able to say, I cannot say.

34,672. Now then tell me this, you went to London; did you bring down the tiles, or did you order them?—I ordered them.

34,673. What did the tiles cost?—I do not remember that.

34,674. I will tell you why I am asking you about it, because I am going to call Mr. Simpson, and Briggs may be called too; what did the tiles cost?—I do not know what they did cost.

34,675. Who did you order them from?—From Rozier's.

34,676. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Does he live at Lambeth?—Yes.

34,677. (The Chief Commissioner.) You ordered the tiles at Rozier's; do you order them by the gross or how?—By the 1,000.

34,678. How many tiles did you order?—I do not remember how many there were.

34,679. Did you order tiles for this particular job, or did you order a lot of tiles generally?—It all depends upon whether we have got anything to do.

34,680. Do not hurry yourself in the least, but I really do want answers to these questions, for they are not at all idle ones. Did you give an order to Rozier's for a quantity of tiles generally, or did you give an order for just the quantity wanted for this job?—Only for what was wanted for this job.

34,681. How much were you to pay Rozier?—I do not know, whatever the quantity was, I do not recollect the amount.

34,682. You do not remember?—No.

34,683. Who did Messrs. Roziers credit, you or Mr. Simpson; who was it put down to?—I think it was put down to Mr. Simpson.

34,684. Then of course it was for that job only if he was to credit Mr. Simpson?—He was to I believe.

34,685. Then I suppose he put it down in a book; of course it was a regular order?—Yes.

34,686. There is no doubt at all about that, and of course we can get Rozier's account. Now, cannot you tell us how much the orders was to Rozier's?—I do not remember.

34,687. When did the tiles come down?—About two or three days after.

34,688. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you come down?—I came down on Wednesday, on the next day.

34,689. (The Chief Commissioner.) Wednesday was the polling day, you were not here then?—Yes, I came back on the Wednesday.

34,690. What o'clock did you get here?—About half past 5 or 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening.

34,691. Did you do the work, the job for Mr. Simpson?—Yes.

34,692. When did you set to work at the job?—After we got the tiles.

34,693. No doubt after, but how soon after the tiles came down?—I believe we began to work the same day they came down.

34,694. Two or three days after you went to work had you finished the job?—Yes.

34,695. You did it yourself?—Not all of it.

34,696. Your assistant, a man, helped you, but it was in your hands, I mean it was your job?—Yes.

34,697. Were you ever paid for it?—Oh, yes.

34,698. How much?—I do not know.

34,699. Remember it is your own account?—I cannot tell, I have other accounts.

34,700. You did a job and were paid by Mr. Simpson; he paid you?—Yes.

34,701. It was not long ago, only a little before this time twelvemonth; how much did he pay you for the job?—I do not remember at all.

34,702. I suppose you gave a receipt for the money?—Yes.

34,703. When you were paid by Mr. Simpson you gave him an acknowledgment on paper?—Yes.

34,704. A receipt?—Yes.

34,705. How much was it for?—I do not know how much, because there were other goods.

34,706. This was specified in the bill; you know you were a customer, and would have a proper bill; be kind enough to tell me how much it was for. I will ask you once more?—I do not know.

34,707. Is that all you can tell me?—Yes.

34,708. I am going to ask you another matter; you were here on the nomination day?—Yes.

34,709. Who did you talk with particularly on the nomination day, did you see Mr. Simpson?—No.

34,710. Did you see Mr. Nichols that day?—No.

34,711. Not at all?—No.

34,712. Who were you talking to belonging to the Monson party; do not say no to it?—No one particularly that I know of.

34,713. Well, tell me generally?—I had no conversation at all respecting the election.

34,714. I do not say you had; which of the Monson party had you any conversation with about anything?—Ne'er a one.

34,715. Had you any conversation with any of Mr. Gower's party?—Yes, I believe I had.

34,716. Who did you have conversation with of the Gower party?—Mr. Buckland, I believe.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

J. Peters.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,717. He had paid you 10*s.* before that ?—Yes.

34,718. You can remember somebody on Mr. Gower's side; now, tell me somebody you talked with on Mr. Monson's side?—I did not talk with any one about anything particular.

34,719. I did not say anything in particular, but you remember Mr. Buckland?—Of course; he was on my side.

34,720. Very well, if you say so I will not contradict you. I want to know what time of day it was you got the letter from Mr. Simpson ?—That I do not know.

34,721. Who left the letter ?—I cannot tell you.

34,722. Now, pray bear this in mind: do you remember a man coming up to you and saying, "I say "Peters, I have got a letter for you" ?—No, I do not.

34,723. Or something like that ?—No.

34,724. Do you remember a man coming to you and saying, "Here is a letter for you," and handing you a letter ?—No.

34,725. How did you get the letter; it was not left by post?—It was left at my house.

34,726. When ?—The night before.

34,727. Who brought it?—I do not know who left it.

34,728. Was it left in your hands? Are you quite sure that it was left the night before ?—Yes, I think so; I believe it was.

34,729. You have not got the letter ?—No.

34,730. Are you married?—Yes.

34,731. Was it left with your wife?—Yes.

34,732. Do you think she has got the letter ?—I cannot say.

34,733. Do you think you can find it?—Of course, if I have got it I can.

34,734. Are you prepared to say positively that it was left the night before the nomination?—I think it was.

34,735. But you would not like to pledge your oath to it ?—Yes.

34,736. Did your wife receive the letter ?—Yes.

34,737. What is her name ?—Caroline.

34,738. Did you see Mr. Simpson himself on the nomination day ?—No.

34,739. Was he here ?—I do not know; I never saw him.

34,740. Had you got the letter in your pocket when you went to the nomination ?—I do not know that I had.

34,741. What house did you go into after the nomination was over ?—I went into the "Little "Crown."

34,742. Did you go into the "Grapes" ?—No.

34,743. Who keeps the "Little Crown" ?—Wells.

34,744. Did he vote for Mr. Monson or Mr. Gower ?—I believe for Mr. Gower.

34,745. Did you go into any of Mr. Monson's houses ?—No.

34,746. What was the last time you saw Mr. Simpson ?—It might have been two or three weeks before the election.

34,747. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said before it might be two months ?—I saw him two or three weeks before.

34,748. When you saw him two or three weeks before did he speak to you about the dairy ?—No; it was before that.

34,749–50. (The Chief Commissioner.) You cannot tell me what you told Mr. Simpson the dairy would come to, nor you cannot tell me what he paid for it ?—No, I cannot here.

The Court adjourned for 20 minutes.

E. Comber.

Edmund Comber sworn and examined.

34,751. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

34,752. What rent do you pay for your house ?—24*s.* per month.

34,753. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

34,754. Were you on his committee ?—Not to my knowledge.

34,755. Are you one of four brothers ?—I be, sir.

34,756. You and one of your brothers voted one way, and the other two voted the other way; is that right ?—That may be right. I voted for Mr. Gower. I cannot tell about the others particularly.

34,757. It may be so ?—Oh, yes; from my knowledge it is.

34,758. Who put you on Mr. Gower's committee ?—I do not know that I was on.

34,759. I misunderstood you then; I beg your pardon. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—No one.

34,760. Not at all ?—No.

34,761. Did not your brother ask you ?—No.

34,762. Not the brother who voted for him; did not he ask you ?—No one never asked me.

34,763. What was the name of your brother, his Christian name, I forget what it was, who voted for Mr. Gower ?—If either did, it was John; not to my knowledge; I don't know.

34,764. Did John ask you to vote ?—No.

34,765. Nobody asked you at all?—No one asked me for my vote.

34,766. Did any one ask you to do some work for Mr. Gower, to do what you could for him?—Not at all.

34,767. And did you do what you could for him ?—I never done anything; only for the two days I come up on the nomination, and likewise the polling day.

34,768. Who asked you to come up on the nomination day?—No one in particular; only it was a regular thing for the men I was working with, and I went accordingly.

34,769. Don't you recollect whether any one invited you to come particularly ?—No, they did not.

34,770. Did you receive any money at all to pay away to anybody ?—Not at all.

34,771. Not to get a vote ?—Not a vote.

34,772. Were you paid any money yourself?—I was paid 2*l.* in the following October.

34,773. What for?—Well, I took it as a remuneration to the two days I gave.

34,774. By whom were you paid the 2*l.* ?—By Mr. Thomas Penfold.

34,775. After the election ?—Yes, about three months after the election; that was the time.

34,776. When?—In October or the beginning of November.

34,777. Was this your first election ?—No, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

34,778. Was that all the money you received, 2*l.* ?—That was all, sir.

34,779. In 1863 you voted for Mr. Wilkinson; who asked you then to vote ?—On which election ?

34,780. On the election of 1863 ?—On Mr. Wilkinson's election ?

34,781. Yes.—Mr. Norman Wilkinson, I promised him; that is a brother of Mr. Wilkinson's.

34,782. Did you go on the committee ?—I cannot say whether I was or not.

34,783. Did you work and do what you could for him ?—I did not.

34,784. You did nothing ?—I did not; I come the two days.

34,785. And what did you receive that year for that ?—10*s.* I was paid 5*s.* a day for the two days.

34,786. By whom ?—Mr. Rose, of Mead-vale; Ephraim Rose, I believe.

34,787. Was that after the election ?—That was after, one month or two.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

E. Comber.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,788. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you asked for that 10*s.*?—Not at all.

34,789. Had you asked for the 2*l.* which you received in 1865 from Thomas Penfold?—No.

34,790. He volunteered to pay it?—Yes; I never asked for it, and he never promised it.

34,791. Was that your first election?—Mr. Wilkinson's was my first.

The witness withdrew.

EDWARD PENFOLD sworn and examined.

E. Penfold.

34,792. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A mason.

34,793. Master or man?—I have been in business for about six months.

34,794. For yourself?—Yes; for about six months.

34,795. What rent do you pay for your house?—It is a freehold house.

34,796. It is on freehold, or what?—Lesbourne Lands.

34,797. Is that a pure freehold or on the Freehold Land Society estate?—What do you mean, the house?

34,798. There is a Buckland Society; a freehold land society?—Yes; I am a shareholder of that society.

34,799. And some years hence the property will be your own?—Yes; when I have paid for it.

34,800. What is your house rated at?—11*l.*

34,801. That will make the house about 14*l.* a year value?—Perhaps it would. There is a piece of ground adjoining.

34,802. We know what the class of rating is; they deduct a fifth. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

34,803. Were you on his committee?—I believe I was, the latter part of the time.

34,804. Did you take an active part in the election?—Not very.

34,805. Did you attend on the nomination day?—Yes.

34,806. And the polling day?—Yes; I assisted in bringing up voters to the poll.

34,807. On the polling day?—Yes.

34,808. I suppose that Mr. Gower's supporters did the best they could, as they usually do at an election? I suppose there was a great deal of excitement going on?—Yes.

34,809. Did any money pass through your hands for the purposes of the election?—No.

34,810. Not for payment to anybody?—No, not for payment to anybody.

34,811. Did you any receive anything else?—I received 30*s.* from Mr. Buckland three or four months after the election.

34,812. How long after the election?—Three or four months; I won't be certain.

34,813. How much did you say you received from him?—30*s.*

34,814. Was that all?—That is all.

34,815. Are you sure?—Quite positive.

34,816. What did you do during the election except attending on the nomination and polling days?—Nothing previous to that.

34,817. Nothing at all?—No; no canvassing; ordinary conversation during my work.

34,818. Had you made any claim at all on Mr. Buckland or Mr. Smith, or any of the party?—No.

34,819. It was purely voluntary?—I accepted it as a recompense for the two days.

34,820. Understand me, it was purely a voluntary payment on the part of Mr. Buckland; you did not ask him for anything?—I did not ask him for anything.

34,821. Although that was a voluntary payment, had you been expecting anything?—I expected I should be paid for the two days.

34,822. What gave rise to that expectation?—From hearing the rumour. I did not hear Mr. Gower say so himself, but I heard that Mr. Gower said that every one that worked for him should be paid for their time.

34,823. I think very probably that is all you have to tell us. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

34,824. For whom did you vote?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

34,825. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,826. Did you take any part in canvassing or anything of that sort?—About the same thing that I did in the last election.

34,827. That was no canvassing, but simply attending the nomination and the polling?—And getting up voters on the polling day. I had a list given to me in my district, and I had to see that they polled.

34,828. Did you receive anything in 1863?—I received 3*l.* some time after.

34,829. Who paid you, do you recollect?—Mr. Buckland brought me a cheque from Mr. Smith.

34,830. Had you made any claim?—I had asked to to be paid for my loss of time on that occasion.

34,831. To whom had you made that application?—Mr. Buckland.

34,832. Did Mr. Buckland tell you that you should get something, or that you might expect something?—I forget whether he did or not.

34,833. How soon after you made the claim to Mr. Buckland did you get the 3*l.*?—Some time after the election.

34,834. That was in 1863?—In 1863. I can hardly tell you how long.

34,835. Was it more than a month?—It must have been.

34,836. Was it more than a month after the election do you think that you made the claim, spoke to Mr. Buckland about your being recompensed?—I should think it must have been two months.

34,837. Two months after you spoke to Mr. Buckland?—I think so; I won't be certain, it is so long ago.

34,838. Had you voted before 1863?—No.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN EDWARDS sworn and examined.

J. Edwards.

34,839. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—I am an outfitter and general clothier.

34,840. What rent do you pay?—I am rated at 23*l.* 10*s.*

34,841. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Gower.

34,842. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—I believe I was.

34,843. Were you on from the beginning?—I believe I was.

34,844. Did you take an active part?—Yes.

34,845. On behalf of Mr. Gower?—Yes.

34,846. And you had been an active supporter?—I believe so.

34,847. Did you canvass for Mr. Gower?—I believe not.

34,848. What do you mean by an active part?—I attended the committee meetings; I was in the town hall, I think, every day writing out circulars and addressing them, and so on.

34,849. At whose request did you undertake that duty?—At nobody's request.

34,850. Was it Mr. Gower?—I was not canvassed by Mr. Gower or any of Mr. Gower's party.

34,851. You took it at your own instance?—Yes, I suppose so. I was never asked by anybody; I was never offered any money to do it, and I attended there daily.

34,852. Did you ever receive anything ?—Nothing.

34,853. Have you never received anything since ? How long were you occupied ?—I suppose it was about seven weeks, and I was there every day.

34,854. You received no recompense of any kind ?—Nothing at all.

34,855. Is the same thing true of other elections ?—I have not voted for Reigate before since Colonel Parrott and Mr. Hackblock's time.

The witness withdrew.

RICHARD EASTON sworn and examined.

R. Easton.

34,856. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A labourer.

34,857. What rent do you pay for your house ?—9*s.* a week.

34,858. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—Mr. Gower.

34,859. Do you occupy all the house yourself?—No, I let a part of it when I can.

34,860. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee during the last election ?—No, sir, I was never at all on the committee.

34,861. Did you work for Mr. Gower and do what you could ?—No, I never interfered myself about it.

34,862. Who asked you about it ?—Mr. Green asked me if I would vote for him.

34,863. Well, what did you say ?—I did not give any answer at first; then I give my word afterwards.

34,864. But you did not go to work ?—No.

34,865. Did you receive any money to pay away ?—No.

34,866. Did you receive any yourself before the election ?—No.

34,867. None ?—No.

34,868. Did you come here on the nomination and polling day both ?—Yes, both of them.

34,869. And what did you receive after the election ?—Nothing.

34,870. Nothing at all ?—No.

34,871. Are you sure you did not receive anything ?—No, sir, I did not receive nothing myself.

34,872. No, not yourself; but you said you never received anything ?—All that was paid on the election was 1*l.* for my boys.

34,873. But you told me you received nothing ?—They received that, sir.

34,874. But did you not receive it ?—No.

34,875. Did not you get it first ?—No.

34,876. Was not it paid to you ?—No.

34,877. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did the boys give it to you ?—No.

34,878. What had they been doing ?—They were employed for two days.

34,879. For what ?—To go about.

34,880. What ages are your boys ?—One was 22, and the other 17.

34,881. Were they roughs ?—Yes.

34,882. They were a couple of roughs, were they ?—Yes.

34,883. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much did they receive ?—10*s.* each.

34,884. Who from ?—Mr. Green paid one.

34,885. Did you know they were engaged as roughs ?—Well, I knew they had no vote.

34,886. Did you know whether they were engaged as roughs ?—Well, I do not know what they were called, whether it was roughs or what it was.

34,887. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you know they were engaged to kick up a row; to shout, to make a noise and a disturbance for the two days ?—I suppose that is what they were engaged for. I know nothing about that.

34,888. Did you go with them ?—No, I had no hand in it.

34,889. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were you in the election of 1863 ?—No, this is the first one.

34,890. I want to know this; were you aware that your sons were engaged before the election ?—The nomination day I think was the first.

34,891. I say, do you know that they were engaged for Mr. Gower ?—I do not know who they were engaged by.

34,892. Did they tell you who engaged them ?—Mrs. Apted engaged one and Mr. Green the other.

34,893. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not mean that Mrs. Apted engaged one of your boys in that way ?—It was she that spoke to him. I had no hand in it at all.

34,894. (The Chief Commissioner.) How long before the election did they tell you this; that is what I want to know ?—Not a day before the election came off, the nomination day.

34,895. Did you know it the day before ?—I did not know nothing about it till the nomination day.

34,896. Then they did not tell you the day before ?—No, they never told me nothing about it.

34,897. Who was it told you that they were to receive 10*s.* ?—I believe that is what they got each.

34,898. Answer the question, if you please ?—They didn't know what they were going to receive.

34,899. Who was it told you that they would be paid ?—No one.

34,900. Nobody told you ?—No.

34,901. Had you any conversation with Apted about it ?—I do not recollect that ever I spoke to Mrs. Apted at all about it.

34,902. Did you ever have any conversation with Mr. Green about it ?—No.

34,903. Did you see them paid ?—No.

34,904. Did you receive the money for them ?—No.

34,905. Who did receive the money ?—They received it themselves.

34,906. How do you know they received it ?—That is what they told me.

34,907. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who do you say employed one; Mr. Green, was it ?—Yes.

34,908. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure that 10*s.* was the price they got ?—I believe so.

34,909. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It is put down as 30*s.* What I was anxious to know was, did not you yourself receive it ?—I never received no money, sir; I am no scholar myself, but——

34,910. But what ?—Mr. Apted did take a sovereign off my account.

34,911. He took a pound off your account for boots ?—Well, I owed 1*l.* for boots, but whether it was crossed off the bill or not I cannot say.

34,912. You have not been applied to by Mr. Apted since for the money ?—No.

34,913. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You do not expect to be applied to ?—Well, I never had a receipt, so that he could come on me for the money.

The witness withdrew.

EDWARD BROWN sworn and examined.

E. Brown.

34,914. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What business are you ?—A carpenter and builder.

34,915. What rent do you pay ?—I pay 15*l.* a year.

34,916. Do you live in Reigate or Redhill ?—Redhill.

34,917. For whom did you vote ?—I voted for Mr. Gower at the last election.

34,918. Were you on his committee ?—Yes.

34,919. How long had you been on the committee ?—I cannot say.

34,920. About how long ?—I should say about six weeks.

34,921. Did you vote for him ?—Yes.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

E. Brown.

15 Sept. 1866.

34,922. Did you canvass much for him?—I did; at least, not a great deal, either.

34,923. I mean those around you?—Yes.

34,924. And did you attend many of the meetings?—I did not attend many meetings; they are things I do not require to attend, public house meetings. I attended a meeting on the "common," and likewise one at the town hall.

34,925. How many did you canvass?—I was promised four, and got four.

34,926. You asked a great number?—Oh yes.

34,927. What are the names of the four?—Benjamin Brown, my brother, and Mr. George Clapson, and Mr. John Longers.

34,928. That is three; what is the other?—Mr. John Jupp.

34,929. Did you receive anything during the election, when the election was going on, for canvassing?—Yes.

34,930. How much did you receive?—5l.

34,931. That was during the election?—During the election.

34,932. Did you receive anything afterwards?—No.

34,933. That is all you received altogether?—That is all I received for my services.

34,934. Who paid you?—Mr. Buckland.

34,935. Was it before or after the election?—As near as I can guess, about a fortnight.

34,936. Did he pay it to you in one sum?—He paid it at once. I did not know as I was going to have anything.

34,937. Tell me, had you voted at the former elections?—Since 1856, I think; since I have been at Redhill.

34,938. In 1863 who did you vote for?—In 1863, let me see, that was——

34,939. Wilkinson and Gower?—I voted for Wilkinson.

34,940. Were you on his committee?—I suppose I was.

34,941. What did you receive for that election?—Nothing at all; I never received one halfpenny before this time.

34,942. Did you know how much these men received whom you canvassed? Did any money pass through your hands?—No.

34,943. You did not get money to pay them?—No.

34,944. Do you know at at all how much they received?—I do not know as they received anything.

34,945. You knew, I suppose, that persons who lost their time, and were on the committee, would be paid?—Some of them worked for me; and they came here on the nomination day, but I never stopped their time. I found I was losing by electioneering, and so I told Mr. Buckland when he canvassed me. I said, "I have been a loser by the elections ten or a "dozen times through my men going away, and I did "not like to stop their time."

34,946. If they came to the poll?—No.

34,947. In canvassing these men did you tell them they would be paid for loss of time, or anything of that?—No.

34,948. You never deducted anything?—Not I, sir.

34,949. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you live at Redhill?—I have lived there for 15 years.

34,950. Your business is carried on there?—Yes.

34,951. Do you know any instances in which the time of men employed by a master was deducted for the nomination and polling days, if they attended?—No.

34,952. Did you ever hear of any?—No.

34,953. Do you know of any instances in which they were allowed their wages just the same besides your own case?—I do not; I took no interest in it before.

34,954. You do not know of instances either way?—No.

34,955. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You only acted upon what you thought was right?—That is all I did do. I did not intend anything else; I would not care whether I voted or not. Mr. Gower came to me when I was on Reigate-heath for my vote; I said, "I have not made up my mind to vote," I said, "I am obliged to work pretty hard, and can not "afford to lose much time."

34,956. What did Mr. Gower say?—He did not say anything but that he should like to have my vote and interest, and I said most likely I should vote for him if I voted for anybody at all.

The witness withdrew.

C. Redman.

CHARLES REDMAN sworn and examined.

34,957. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A joiner.

34,958. What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.*

34,959. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

34,960. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

34,961. You pay a rent of 20*l.*, perhaps you can tell me what is the average rating of the town? How much in the pound?—No, I cannot tell you that.

34,962. The poor rates?—No; I do not know.

34,963. I thought perhaps you might?—No.

34,964. You were on the committee, how did you get on; were you asked, or did you volunteer?—I was placed on first, but I agreed to it afterwards when I saw my name on.

34,965. Who did you speak to to agree to it, to give your agreement to your name being on the committee?—Mr. Nichols or Mr. Green.

34,966. What took place between you and Mr. Nichols about your being on the committee?—Nothing took place.

34,967. But something must have taken place, you know?—I saw my name on the committee, and did not know before that it was there.

34,968. Then you say nothing took place between you and Mr. Nichols?—Nothing at all.

34,969. Then how was it that you intimated to him that you were agreeable to your name remaining there?—I saw my name on the list, and he said, "Are you agreeable to it?" and I said "Yes." Of course I was agreeable.

34,970. Who did you work for?—Mr. Carruthers.

34,971. Do you know James Brown?—I know him personally.

34,972. Did he speak to you about working for Mr. Monson?—No.

34,973. Did you work with him at all?—No.

34,974. Did you know he was working for Mr. Monson?—I understood so by hearsay, nothing more.

34,975. Did you work at at all for Mr. Monson, trying to get votes, and so on?—I did not canvass.

34,976. Did you ask for votes?—I was to do the best I could for Mr. Monson's interest.

34,977. Who asked you to do that?—I spoke to Mr. Nichols.

34,978. Was that upon the first occasion?—No, afterwards.

34,979. Well, how soon after you had spoken to him about your name being on the committee did you have this conversation about doing the best you could for Mr. Monson?—I could not say, it might have been a few days.

34,980. What took place at that interview?—I had no conversation with Mr. Nichols during the election, neither upon voting nor anything else.

34,981. You just told me that you had two conversations with Mr. Nichols?—Only on those slight occasions, nothing more.

34,982. It might not be a slight occasion when Mr.

Nichols asked you to do work, to do what you could for Mr. Monson?—That was all that passed; nothing more.

34,983. But you know if you worked for him you would be giving up your time?—Yes.

34,984. You would expect to be paid for your time?—I was to receive the same as the rest, I understood.

34,985. Mr. Nichols told you so?—Yes.

34,986. And that was at the second interview?—Yes.

34,987. You voted for Mr. Monson; did you receive anything?—3*l.*

34,988. Who paid you?—Mr. Nichols.

34,989. When?—I cannot say, it was some little time after the election, a week or two after, perhaps.

34,990. He did not tell you at the time what you would be paid, I suppose?—No.

34,991. What had you done for the 3*l.*?—Various things, nightwork part of the time, and attending on the nomination and polling day, and getting voters, and so on.

34,992. How much did you put down for the nomination and polling day?—Taking the time altogether, I commenced just at the onset, five or six weeks. I was at work at night sometimes.

34,293. You were at work, for Mr. Carruthers?—I could work night and day too.

34,994. You do not often do that?—Not often.

34,995. And I suppose you attended once or twice at committees?—Yes.

34,296. Was there a great deal of refreshment going on?—Very little refreshment.

34,997. Some?—I did not get any.

34,998. Perhaps you did not attend many of the meetings?—Not a great many.

34,999. Or else you might have got more refreshment, you know. Did you succeed in persuading anybody to vote for Mr. Monson?—No. I did not put myself up as a canvasser at all. Of course I did my best among my shopmates, and so on.

35,000. Did you succeed in getting your shopmates?—I cannot say now.

35,001. That was the only way in which you lost time, you kept on your work for Mr. Carruthers?—Yes.

35,002. Did you vote in 1863?—I had no vote.

35,003. Did Mr. Carruthers deduct anything for the nomination and polling day?—Oh, yes.

35,004. He did?—Yes.

35,005. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Are you sure of that?—Yes.

35,006. How much did he deduct?—We were paid for our labour; whatever work I did that week I was paid for, that was all.

35,007. Oh, you were not paid by the day.

35,008. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were paid by the hour, I suppose?—Of course if I work the whole day I am paid for the day.

35,009. How much?—Of course there was the nomination and the polling day.

35,010. Then you did not go near the place at those times?—I understood I was almost commissioned to go out and get the voters together, and do the same as the rest.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN PETERS recalled and examined.

J. Peters.

35,011. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you got those accounts, Peters, now?—The bill for the tiles was sent in to Mr. Simpson.

35,012. Can you tell me how much it was?—No.

35,013. First of all can you tell me by your books what you valued the job to Mr. Simpson at?—No, I cannot. (The witness handed in his day book.)

35,014. Never mind them. How much did Mr. Simpson pay you for the job? Will your books tell you that?—Each job is not kept separately, there is other work going on at the same time.

35,015. Was it intermixed in the book?—Yes; I could not get at it very well.

35,016. Do you know about when it was?—I do not know the date.

35,017. I see it is carried on to the ledger, at page 8. In the month of June you have got down that Mr. Simpson paid you 57*l.*, odd; do you know what that referred to?—You will see all the bills are delivered in the year.

35,018. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) That is it. You delivered a bill in June for 57*l.* odd, do you know what that referred to? I see there is an account in your book against Mr. Simpson for the month of June, commencing in May, and it appears that the bill went in for the whole, whether paid or not. That the bill went in in the month of June for 57*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.*, and you sent in a bill to Mr. Simpson in November that year for 54*l.* 12*s.* 11*d.* Can you tell me when Mr. Simpson paid you a bill after the election?—No, I cannot; my book will tell you there.

35,019. Will it?—I think so.

35,020. I think you have got rather heavy accounts.

35,021. (The Chief Commissioner.) Can you tell me what that cross means, that the bills have been paid, or merely entered in the ledger?—Been paid.

35,022. And that has been made at the time they were paid?—I put that cross.

35,023. When; lately?—As soon as I received the money, you know.

35,024. Then look here; can you tell me this; there is a cross against of 57*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.*; does that tell you when it was paid?—No.

35,025. That is in the 88th page of your ledger?—Ah, then that would be in the ledger.

35,026. Then I am afraid we cannot tell when they would be paid without the ledger?—I draw the money by instalments, weekly, you know.

35,027. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And when it is paid you put a cross to it?—When it is all paid.

35,028. (The Chief Commissioner.) When you are working by the week you draw it weekly?—Yes, most weeks I do.

35,029. I understand that; but how could you have a bill against him for 57*l.* 6*s.* 11*d.* if he pays you weekly?—That is the amount of the bill.

35,030. You could not do 57*l.* worth of work in a week?—No, but that is the amount as the bill was delivered for the whole.

35,031. We would rather have seen the ledger?—I have got the ledger with me.

35,032. Oh, have you. Let me look at it then.

35,033. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did anybody speak to you on the day of nomination before you went to London?—No.

35,034. On the part of Mr. Monson?—No.

35,035. When you have got a job which you wish to carry out do you generally go to London overnight?—Not always.

35,036. Did you ever do it before?—Oh, yes, I have gone before. I have gone on a Saturday.

35,037. And spent Sunday there?—Yes.

35,038. Were did you sleep the night in London?—I slept at my brother-in-law's.

35,039. You mentioned the name of Briggs as being the person who took your measurements. Did you see Briggs on the afternoon of the nomination?—I believe I did.

35,040. Did you see Langridge; did you go to Langridge's?—No.

35,041. But you saw Mr. Briggs. Did not he say something about going to London? He voted for Monson?—I do not know who he voted for.

35,042. Don't you recollect that he talked to you about the election?—I do not recollect anything of it.

35,043. What did take place?—I don't know that there was anything took place.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

J. Peters.

15 Sept. 1866.

35,044. Not between you and Briggs?—No.

35,045. Did not he mention to you about these tiles?—I don't know whether he did or whether he did not.

35,046. Did you tell him that you were going to London?—Very possibly I might.

35,047. Did you?—I don't recollect whether I did or not.

35,048. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I understand you to say that this was not the only occasion when you had an order for work that you went to London. You went frequently before when you wanted to give an order for goods, you went before over night in order to get it ready by the morning?—Sometimes.

35,049. That is, there was nothing unusual in your doing it?—No.

35,050. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you know Mr. Simpson's handwriting?—I cannot say that I should.

35,051. I mean I suppose you have had letters from him, orders?—Oh, yes.

35,052. Then don't you know his handwriting pretty nearly when you see it?—I couldn't swear to it.

35,053. I am not going to show you anything to look at, or anything of that sort; but supposing you got a letter from Mr. Simpson, you would know his handwriting pretty nearly, would not you?—I don't know that I should.

35,054. In whose hand writing was the letter that you got just before the nomination?—Mr. Simpson's, I suppose, I don't know.

35,055. Did you ever see Mr. Simpson again after the election before you began the work?—I don't recollect whether I did or not; I don't remember it.

35,056. Did you go and commence the work on getting these tiles without any further communication with Mr. Simpson?—Oh, no.

35,057. You must have seen him?—I must have seen him before I done it.

35,058. Do you believe you did see him before you began to work? If you did, do you recollect what took place between you and Mr. Simpson in reference to these tiles? Did you tell him that you had got the tiles?—I don't recollect at all whether I did or not.

35,059. To whom did you charge your expenses to London?—No one; I always get a little commission from parties where I deal to pay my expenses.

35,060. It cost you something to go to London; who did you charge that to?—I never did charge it.

35,061. But you would not go to London on business for nothing, would you? Tell me, who did you charge your expenses of going to London to?—No one.

35,062. You did not?—No.

35,063. How did you get repaid then? Repaid?

35,064. Yes?—I had the profit of my own business.

35,065. The profit on the tiles?—Yes, and anything else that I might do.

35,066. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You did not receive anything beforehand from anybody?—I only received 10*s.*, and that I received from Mr. Buckland.

35,067. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) If I understand you, when you left you thought you would vote for Mr. Gower?—Of course I was going that way.

35,068. And if I understood you rightly, too, if you had executed the order in sufficient time and come back in sufficient time you would have voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes,

35,069. There was nothing to influence your mind at the time of the nomination till you came back; no undue influence?—No one ever influenced me.

35,070. I mean neither by money nor anything else?—No money and no words.

The witness withdrew.

W. Clark.

WILLIAM CLARK sworn and examined.

35,071. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A house painter.

35,072. What rent do you pay for your house?—20*l.*

35,073. For whom did you vote?—I did not vote at all at this election.

35,074. Not at all?—No.

35,075. Did you take any part in the election?—Yes.

35,076. Were you on either committee?—No.

35,077. What part did you take in the election?—I did all I could on behalf of Mr. Monson.

35,078. You are on the list of voters?—Yes.

35,079. And you did all you could for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

35,080. Why did you not vote for him, then?—Well, I was not wanted.

35,081. Who told you you were not wanted?—Why, I came up late in the afternoon, and I found he stood no chance, so I went away.

35,082. Was that your simple reason?—Yes.

35,083. Did you receive anything for your services?—Yes.

35,084. How much?—I received 35*l.* altogether.

35,085. From whom did you receive those monies?—From Mr. Nichols.

35,086. All?—Yes.

35,087. After the election?—No, all before.

35,088. Did you receive that money in different sums?—Yes.

35,089. When did you first begin receiving money?—About a fortnight or three weeks before the election.

35,090. What sum did you receive then?—5*l.*

35,091. What were you to do with that money?—Nothing; it was for my services.

35,092. And did you retain it all?—Yes.

35,093. You did not pay any of it away?—No.

35,094. How long were you engaged?—About five weeks.

25,094. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you mean to tell us you received 35*l.* for your services?—Yes; 10*l.* was owing for a former election.

25,096. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say there was 10*l.* owing for a former election, the election of 1863?—Yes.

35,097. Was it 5*l.* that you received first, or 10*l.*?—5*l.*

25,028. What was the first 5*l.* paid for, for work or for the former election?—The first was 10*l.* for the former election. I received it in two 5*l.* notes.

35,099. How long before the election?—Three weeks before the election.

35,100. How came you to receive those two 5*l.* notes for the former election?—I sent in a claim to Mr. Smith for 10*l.* balance due to me.

35,101. That was in 1863?—That was in 1863.

35,102. But you were not paid it?—No.

35,103. Then you made a claim upon Mr. Nichols?—Yes, he engaged me in the election before.

35,104. That time he was for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

35,105. When you went to him for the 10*l.*, I want to know how you asked him for it?—I told him there was 10*l.* due on the former election, and I should not go to work till I had got it. He referred me to Mr. Smith, who referred me to Mr. Nichols. Mr. Nichols said I ought to be paid, and he paid me.

35,106. Then he belonged to the other side, so that Mr. Monson was to pay Mr. Gower's debt of 1863?—Yes.

35,107. You told him you would not go to work till you got it?—Yes.

35,108. He paid you in two 5*l.* notes, and then you went to work heartily for Mr. Monson?—Yes, and no mistake.

35,109. In what way did you work for Mr. Monson?—Anybody that asked me for money, I sent them to Mr. Nichols.

35,110. Anybody asking for money you sent to Mr. Nichols. Will you be good enough to give me the names of them, of those who asked for money and whom you sent to Mr. Nichols?—Davey, a man named Davey, I sent.

35,111. What is Davey?—A carpenter, of Redhill.

35,112. Anybody else?—Bennett.

35,113. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is his Christian name?—I think it is John.

35,114. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know Davey's Christian name?—No, I do not.

35,115. Anybody else?—My memory does not serve me well enough.

35,116. If you cannot give me any other names will you tell me, roundly, how many persons did you send to Mr. Nichols to be paid on account of the election?—I might have sent perhaps 30 or more. I was no use my canvassing without money, and I had none.

35,117. So you sent them to Mr. Nichols?—I referred them to Mr. Nichols.

35,118. Do you think if you were this afternoon to look through the list of voters you could give me the names on Monday morning? I should like the names of the 30 or 40 that you sent to Mr. Nichols?—I might be able to give a proportion.

35,119. Will you be good enough to do so, to be here at 11 o'clock on Monday morning and do so. I will just ask a few questions more. You expended none of the 35*l.* in paying voters?—No.

35,120. Did you have it all before you voted?—I never voted.

35,121. Why did not you tell us that? Oh yes, you said it was because it was too late?—If I had been there I should have voted for Mr. Monson.

35,122. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did not you come?—I had no particular reason for not coming.

35,123. Had Mr. Gower's party been to you?—No.

36,124. Did Mr. Smith know that you got the 10*l.*?—No.

35,125. Would this be the first time that he would know it?—I think so, in fact, I do not think I told anybody till to-day.

35,126. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you aware that Mr. Nichols has been repaid that money by Mr. Smith?—No.

35,127. Or by Mr. Gower?—No.

35,128. Are you sure that 10*l.* was the exact sum?—To the best of my recollection. I would not swear. It might have been 10*l.* and a few shillings.

35,129. I suppose the account was for services?—Yes; for three months I neglected my business, and did nothing else but electioneering.

35,130. How much time did you give in 1865?—Five weeks.

35,131. I suppose you went on with your business and attended to this in the evening?—No, I gave the whole of my time to it as I did before.

35,132. Did you give Mr. Nichols receipts?—No.

35,133. Not for the 10*l.*?—No.

35,134. How frequently did you receive the monies?—I received all in the three weeks.

35,135. At what rate?—5*l.* each time.

35,136. At what rate per date? Was there no agreement?—No, I was to have 25*l.* if I went to work.

35,137. Why did not you take it all at once?—I did not get it; I had it by instalments.

35,138. Did you get 5*l.* each Saturday night?—I might have had two 5*l.* notes in the week.

35,139. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Might I inquire, for the benefit of future candidates, how much is owing to you now?—Well, I am settled with now, sir.

35,140. You have got no back rent in case a new election should take place?—Not till the 29th; I shall have a quarter then.

TWENTY-SECOND DAY.

15 Sept. 1866.

Adjourned till Monday the 17th September.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

Monday, 17th September 1866.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

J. Shepherd.

17 Sept. 1866.

JOHN SHEPHERD sworn and examined.

35,141. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Mr. Shepherd?—A plumber.

35,142. At the last election you were living here, were you not, at Redhill?—Yes, I was.

35,143. What rent did you pay for your house?—17*l.*

35,144. Did you pay it by the week, or how?—By the week.

35,145. And a week's notice?—A week's notice.

35,146. Did you vote for Mr. Monson at the last election?—I did.

35,147. I believe you took an active part in that election?—Yes, sir.

35,148. And you were on Mr. Monson's committee? I was.

35,149. I think you exerted yourself principally at Redhill?—Yes.

35,150. And at Redhill it was a good deal among the railway men?—No doubt.

35,151. Are you able to tell me how many voters there were among the railway men at the last election?—I cannot tell the exact number.

35,152. Nearly?—About 30, I think.

35,153. I suppose you canvassed most of them?—Yes.

35,154. Taking it to be 30, more or less, how many men promised to vote your way?—I think about 18.

35,155. Do you know which way the others voted; whether the residue voted for Mr. Gower, or whether some did not vote at all?—Some did not vote at all, I believe.

35,156. Perhaps you can recollect how many, it will help us if you could?—No, sir, I do not know how many voted for Mr. Gower; I cannot say.

35,157. You think you succeeded in obtaining or secured, whatever you call it, about 18?—About 18; I am not certain as to the precise number.

35,158. I do not wish to tie you down exactly, but tell us as nearly as you can recollect; we have had a certain number of men here. Do you recollect Tilden Barham, and paying him 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I do.

35,159. Are you able to recollect him in particular?—Yes.

35,160. Can you tell me whether Tilden Barham returned you the money?—He did.

35,161. Daniel Boscawen, do you remember paying him?—Yes.

35,162. Tell me if I am wrong in any of these names; William Boulton, did you pay him 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

35,163. George Cheyney?—Yes.

35,164. And George Carter?—Yes.

35,165. I want to know where you received the money from that you gave to those men?—I received the money at Mr. Langridge's.

35,166. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) From whom?—It was left there for me by Mr. Nichols.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

J. Shepherd.

17 Sept. 1866.

35,167. How much did you receive?—I received 99*l.* altogether.

35,168. Was that all before the election?—All before the election.

35,169. And was all of it for you to pay away?—It was all to pay away.

35,170. Was that paid to you at once?—No; I received it at three different times.

35,171. Did you receive anything after the election was over?—I did.

35,172. After the election was over you received how much?—5*l.*

35,173. Was that all?—That was all.

35,174. From Nichols at Langridge's?—Yes, from Nichols of the "Grapes."

35,175. That is 104*l.*?—Yes, 104*l.*

35,176. Now as to the sums of money there will be no difficulty; was the exact sum you received altogether 104*l.*?—Yes; I received 2*l.* to go to Berkshire to see after a voter down there.

35,177. 2*l.* besides the 104*l.*?—Yes; it was to fetch a voter of the name of Smith from Berkshire, he had been in business at Redhill as a leather currier.

35,178. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was his address, Redhill?—Yes, Redhill, on the Brighton road.

35,179. There are several Smiths at Redhill, look down the list and tell me which it is?—770 on the register I think is the Smith.

35,180. Had William Smith left for town?—No, he was residing at Wokingham in 1866.

35,181. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was Smith a railway man?—No.

35,182. You are able to be accurate about the amount of money you received?—Yes.

35,183. 99*l.* and 2*l.* before the election, and 5*l.* afterwards?—Yes.

35,184. Was the 5*l.* for some other expenses you had incurred?—Yes, for the expenses I had incurred and been put to in going backwards and forwards.

35,185. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that the 2*l.* plus the 99*l.* and the 5*l.*?—I had 33*l.* each time, and I had 2*l.* after that before the election.

35,186. (The Chief Commissioner.) That makes 99*l.* and 2*l.* besides the 5*l.* you received after the election for your personal expenses?—Yes.

35,187. Was that paid by a cheque?—No, five sovereigns.

35,188. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the other money paid by cheque or money?—Money.

35,189. All was paid by money?—Yes, all paid by money.

35,190. (The Chief Commissioner.) How was the former money paid, I mean the 99*l.*; in what sort of money?—In gold.

35,191. I suppose they were left rolled up in parcels?—They were in a bag.

35,192. I think you said you had 5*l.* I did ask you about that; you are sure it was 5*l.*?—Yes, quite so.

35,193. What did you receive for your own time and trouble?—Not any more.

35,194. Was that to reimburse you?—I did not have anything at all for myself only the 5*l.* I have named, and that was for my expenses.

35,195. You had been working from the early part of the election?—Yes.

35,196. Do you mean to say none of that went to reimburse you?—Not anything.

35,197. Then I am afraid you have not been paid anything?—I was not paid anything for myself.

35,198. The 5*l.* was to reimburse you?—Mr. Nichols gave me the 5*l.*; in fact I did not expect it, but he said, "It will reimburse you the trouble and "expense you have been at."

35,199. You have been engaged from the early part of the election; did it not surprise you you were never remunerated for your services; you must have given up much time to it?—No, only in the evening.

35,200. You probably were in good business; how did you get repaid for the time you lost?—That repaid me for all the time I lost.

35,201. How much do you consider out of all the money you received, leaving out the 5*l.* and the 2*l.*, how much of the 99*l.* went to remunerate you for your trouble?—With the expense and trouble I expended, I suppose, 16*l.* and received that back. I expended 16*l.* out of the 99*l.* for the expenses or thereabouts, and this 5*l.* came unexectedly.

35,202. You had already received over and above your expenses?—No I had not.

35,203. After you had repaid yourself money of pocket, did about 11*l.* remain with you?—No, sir.

35,204. Can you tell me accurately the persons to who you paid money?—I can tell you every one.

35,205. I do not know whether you have any list?—I have got a list.

35,206. Tell us the names; let me have the names?—J. Compton, 4*l.* 10*s.*, Robert Young, 4*l.* 10*s.*

35,207. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where does Compton live?—I think in Rees-cottages.

35,208. Redhill?—Yes.

35,209. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Robert Young near Brighton-road, is that the man?—That is the man.

35,210. (The Chief Commissioner.) You have mentioned Robert Young; give me another?—Nye, Ladbrook-cottages, 4*l.* 10*s.*

35,211. Go on, give the list?—John Goldsack, Ladbrook-cottages.

35,212. Never mind the address?—James McMillan, William Smith.

35,213. Is that William Henry Smith?—I believe it is; William Bowen, Hayward, William Balchin, Peter Wornham, Lambert, I think it is John Lambert, Benjamin Hewett, Towes.

35,214. How do you spell it?—Towes or Towse, I do not know which.

35,215. What is his Christian name?—I forget.

35,216. (The Chief Commissioner.) John Towes, West-street, 821, is that the man?—I think that is where he does live, where he has his vote from; Tilden Barham, J. Donaldson.

35,217. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Barham, 4*l.* 10*s.*, I suppose?—Yes, Henry Taylor, Cheyney, Burlton, John Whitear, Thomas Ingram, and Thomas Bates.

35,218. (The Chief Commissioner.) Have you got another?—Only myself.

35,219. I think you will find that you have paid George Carter?—Yes, I did.

35,220. There is another man, David Boscawen, did you pay him?—Yes, Boscawen and Carter too.

35,221. You paid also Robert Young, Peter Wornham, and Henry Hewett; you paid them all the same, I think?—Yes.

35,222. In addition to those, did you pay yourself 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I kept that for my common expenses.

35,223. Was that out of the 99*l.*?—Yes; I have mentioned that there are two men I have not put down I had better tell you all about them.

35,224. Whitear was paid by you through McMillan?—I paid him myself, but those two I forgot. I received 9*l.* before the election. I forgot to put down these two names. I ought to have given you George Carter and David Boscawen instead of Whitear and Burlton, but I received the 9*l.* from Mr. Nichols and paid them afterwards. That was all at once on the day of the election.

35,225. On the day of the election you paid Whitear and Burlton and Boscawen?—No, Burlton and Whitear.

35,226. They were in the list?—They were in the list. I received the money all at once for those two.

35,227. Where did you get the money from?—From Mr. Nichols.

35,228. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That 9*l.* is besides the 106*l.*?—Yes, it was besides.

35,229. You are clear about that?—Yes, there were 24 voters I paid; I made a mistake in saying 22, for I paid 24 each of them 4*l.* 10*s.*

35,230. (The Chief Commissioner.) What I want to know is, you paid the men 4*l.* 10*s.*, did you include yourself among them; did you hand yourself over 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes, I did.

35,231, Now then, I want to refer to what I asked you before; what did you get for your own services?—I got 5*l.*

35,232. That was for expenses?—Nothing more than that at any time.

35,233. But besides the 4*l.* 10*s.* for yourself, I am not referring to that now, you only received 5*l.*; that places you on the same terms as the other railway men. Besides that did you not receive anything for your work?—Only this 5*l.* after the election.

35,234. Then I will tell you how the account stands. You paid away, including yourself, 108*l.*

35,235. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You paid 24 men besides yourself?—No; 24 including myself; I paid 23 men and myself.

35,236. The Chief Commissioner.) You received before the election exactly the same as the other men, and you received to pay away 99*l.*, 2*l.*, and 9*l.*, making 110*l.*?—Yes, I think that is right.

35,237. I am not now going to that, but you have paid out of that, according to your own account, 100*l.*?—108*l.*

35,238. Oh, and 2*l.* you paid besides, that would make it 110*l.*; that would make it exactly right; you have paid to 24 men 108*l.*, and you have received 110*l.*, but the 2*l.* went to the man in Berkshire?—Yes, for the expenses.

35,239. Your account, according to that, is quite right, but you received after for yourself 5*l.*?—Yes.

35,240. The amount you paid to Tilden Barham, as stated to us, he paid you back; is it correct that he returned it to you?—Yes.

35,241. Did that sum go to recompense you for your trouble?—It did.

35,242. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You put yourself in the place of Tilden Barham?—He gave me that on the morning of the election.

35,243. You took that as your 4*l.* 10*s.*?—No, certainly not.

35,244. What became of it?—I kept it myself.

35,245. Was the 4*l.* 10*s.* part of the 5*l.*?—No.

35,246. What became of the 4*l.* 10*s*?—I kept that myself.

35,247. Doing the work that you were engaged on had you been to any expense?—Yes, I had.

35,348. (The Chief Commissioner.) In what?—In attending the different committees and going about from place to place. I had to spend money with the different parties, and all that sort of thing.

35,249. I dare say if you were canvassing you had got to what we call treat them, and give them some beer?—Just so.

35,250. That was covered by a portion of the 5*l.* which you received after the election?—The money after the election was given to me for my trouble.

35,251. Can you tell me at all what your expenses out of pocket, in the shape of necessary treating in order to secure the vote, would be?—I could not exactly say, but it amounted to almost every halfpenny I had.

35,252. Of the 5*l.*?—Not of the 5*l.*, but of the money which I received before the election.

35,253. You see the money which you received for your own trouble amounts exactly to 14*l.*; you received 5*l.* and two 4*l.* 10*s.* that is exactly 14*l.*?—Yes.

35,254. Now I want to ask you are you clear that after the election you received only money from Mr. Nichols?—I did not.

35,255. Did you receive from any other person or from Mr. Nichols anything for yourself?—Not a fraction beyond the 5*l.*

35,256. From anybody?—Not a single halfpenny from any one.

35,257. Previous to the election did you receive any money from any other person?—Not any.

35,258. You have told us all?—I have told you all.

35,259. Before you got the money from Mr. Nichols did you tell him that you should require it, and how you would require it. Did you give him notice, and say in this way, "By to-morrow I shall "want 33*l.*," you know you received three 33*l.*?—No, there was an arrangement that they should be kept together, and have a committee amongst themselves, and they were to have this money to pay their expenses. The committee room was held at Langridge's, and the money was given to me to distribute amongst them equally to keep them together.

35,260. Were the railway men paid at Langridge's always?—No.

35,261. Anywhere?—Anywhere, at different places.

35,262. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you not take it and pay them all yourself?—I paid them all.

35,263. (The Chief Commissioner.) There was not a settled place for them to receive it at?—No, I paid them as I happened to meet or see them.

35,264. Was it Mr. Nichols who came to you and asked you to go to work?—No, certainly not; I saw Mr. Nichols in the first place.

35,265. Did you say I can be of use to you?—Yes, possibly I did.

35,266. Something to that effect; I mean you said you were ready to go to work; I suppose Mr. Nichols knew you before?—Yes.

35,267. He was the person who asked you to go to work?—There was no one else.

35,268. I want to know how Mr. Nichols came to make you the first payment; did you go to him and say I have secured so many voters and I shall want money for that?—Certainly; the money for the men all went together.

35,269. You had not at first money to pay them?—Certainly not.

35,270. How did you get it; did you go down to Mr. Nichols, and say I shall want money to-morrow morning, or something like that?—No, the money was sent over to me at Langridge's, and I was to receive it there; it was all arranged previous to that.

35,271. But did Mr. Nichols make the first advance, the first 33*l.*?—I told Mr. Nichols there were so many of them in favour of Mr. Monson and they would require a little for their expenses as they had a committee amongst themselves. They used to meet there frequently and they wanted something to reimburse them. I told Mr. Nichols about them and he said he would give it them.

35,272. Then he sent down to Langridge's 33*l.*?—Yes.

35,273. That was the first sum?—Yes.

35,274. And the exact sum?—Yes.

35,275. How did he come to give you the exact sum of 33*l.*, it is an odd sum?—He told them he should allow so much for expenses and they might divide it equally amongst themselves, it made 30*s.* each.

35,276. And when more money was wanted it came?—It did not come till the proper time, the time it was to run, that was over the week.

35,277. After that election did you go to Mr. Nichols himself and ask him for the 5*l.*, or did Mr. Nichols volunteer to give or send it to you?—I saw him in Reigate afterwards. The men wanted the same sum for the week of the election. They were not pleased, I believe, with the money, they wanted more; they wanted to be paid for the week or part of the week of the election, and he would not pay it; he told me so.

35,278. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you ask him for the money?—I asked him for the money, I was deputed to do so by the men.

35,279. When the election was over?—Yes, and he said he would not allow it, he could not pay any more, he would not pay it. "Well," I said, "they are not "at all satisfied, and I understand that you promised "them." He said, "I never did, and I cannot pay it." And then he said, "Here is a present I will make you "for your trouble;" that was five sovereigns all ready screwed up in a bit of paper, and he handed them to me when I went to him.

35,280. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told him they were not satisfied?—I told him they did not seem at all satisfied, and he said he could not help it.

35,281. You had five sovereigns which were ready wrapped up in a bit of paper?—Yes.

35,282. Was this your first election in which you have taken an active part?—No, I took an active part in the election of 1863.

35,283. Were you a committee man in 1863?—Yes, I was on the committee; I went on the committee.

35,284. Were you at the same place, at Redhill?—Yes.

35,285. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

35,286. Did you receive money to pay away?—No, I did not receive any money.

35,287. What did you receive for yourself on that occasion?—Nothing.

35,288. On Mr. Wilkinson's election did you receive any money to pay away to people there?—Not a halfpenny.

35,289. What did you receive for yourself?—Not anything.

35,290. Am I to take that in the fullest sense of the term?—I did not receive anything.

35,291. Do you mean you never received anything before the election, or you never received anything either before or after?—I did not take any interest in particular.

35,292. Do you mean that you received no money before the election, or no money either before or after the election?—Not any.

35,293. Neither before nor after?—I think not.

35,294. That is what I want to bring you round to my question; I was not pointed enough very likely. I do not mean any before the election?—I believe I did. I received 30*s.* from John Wilkinson.

35,295. Who is John Wilkinson?—He is a plumber at Redhill.

35,296. Was that before the election?—No, I think it was after, but I am not certain. Yes, it was after the election.

35,297. How came he to pay you the 30*s.*?—He was employed on the committee in some way and I was with him and he put me on his list to watch certain parties in Mead-vale, and he paid me 30*s.* for doing it.

35,298. Do you remember anything else you received after the election?—No, I did not receive anything after.

35,299. Are you sure about that?—Positive.

35,300. Did you receive at any time any money, I will not specify before or after?—Not at any time besides the 30*s.*

35,301. You are clear about that?—Quite clear.

35,302. Neither from agent or committee man or head agent?—Not through any source whatever.

35,303. Have you been in any previous elections?—No, I have not.

35,304. You had not voted before?—Not before Mr. Wilkinson's election.

35,305 That is the last election in 1863?—Yes.

35,306. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) David Boscowen did?—He did.

35,307. Do you know how that was?—I cannot tell you, I do not know at all.

35,308. Had he said anything to you about receiving more than the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Not a word. He received his money in the committee room, and he was a little bit queer at that time. He said he would vote for Mr. Monson.

35,309. Was that the night before the election?—No, it was the induction of the committee. He came several times and he received the money as the others did.

35,310. I do not want to go through his history, but did he say anything to you before he changed his mind and voted for Mr. Gower?—Not a single word.

35,311. There is a man of the name of Peter Wornham; he voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

35,312. He received the 4*l.* 10*s.* also?—He did.

35,313. Did he say anything to you before changing his mind?—Not a word.

35,314. He promised to vote for Mr. Monson and received the 4*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Monson, and then voted for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

35,315. Before he voted for Mr. Gower did he not come to you and ask you for more money than the 4*l* 10*s.*?—He grumbled about it, but he did not ask for more.

35,316. He said, "I told Shepherd that if they did "not pay to the last 30*s.* my contract was broken."?—He did not.

35,317. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He grumbled?—He grumbled, saying that others were getting paid.

35,318. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He got the same money as the other men?—I mean the other party.

35,319. You say you went to Mr. Nichols after the election when he paid you 5*l.*; you then said the men wanted to be paid more money?—Yes.

35,320. Did not something take place before the election week with reference to their being paid more?—There was a sort of paper drawn up and they appointed me to go to Mr. Nichols to ask for their expenses for nomination day and polling day.

35,321. And for the extra week, so as to make up 8*l.* per vote?—I almost think Mr. Nichols promised them that he would pay them for the week, that he would have no half week.

35,322. You think he did so?—Yes.

35,323. And for the nomination and polling day too?—No. They were not satisfied and they held a meeting then.

35,324. You may have been told by these men that they went to Mr. Nichols beforehand. I want to know whether you had any knowledge of the fact?—Yes.

35,325. Had you any knowledge of the fact that the men also went to the Gower party and offered to go with him if they would pay 8*l.* a vote?—I only have knowledge of one man, Hayward.

35,326. Have you not a knowledge of the fact that Hayward was a sort of deputation from all the other men?—I believe not.

35,327. Were you present at any of the meetings where it was discussed among them that they should go, or that Hayward should go?—I was not.

35,328. You used the term and I think it has not not been explained sufficiently. You said, "I told "Mr. Nichols there were so many men, and he gave "me so much money for their expenses;" what do you mean by the expenses?—They formed themselves into a committee.

35,329. (The Chief Commissioner.) At Langridge's?—Yes, and they used to meet there; and they were paid to keep them together, so that it should not cost any money out of their own pocket.

35,330. Shortly then, they used to meet at Langridge's to drink, and this money was to go for that?—They were to exert themselves and try and induce certain people they knew to vote for Mr. Monson.

35,331. Do not talk of exerting themselves. You had got them all?—Oh, no, certainly not; it was not simply the railway men, it was to induce others. If a man had a personal friend he was to try and induce him.

35,332. The inducement would be this: they would say, "Well, I have got 30*s.* a week for my expenses; "all I have got to do is to go to Langridge's of an "evening and enjoy myself; you can get the same "if you vote for Mr. Monson." That was the exertion they used?—No.

35,333. What do you mean by expenses?—They were to be kept together; they all meant to vote for Mr. Monson, and they met at Langridge's on purpose to be kept together, and they had expenses allowed them for meeting there; that is what I mean. There is an account in the paper, I see, that Balchin's answer to a question put to him was that he gave the money back to me because he did not think it was right to take the money; at the time he gave the money to me he was grumbling and negociating for more money.

35,334. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Answer for yourself. Did you give the names of the men to Mr. Nichols as well as the number?—Yes.

35,335. You did?—I did.

35,336. Did you ever tell Mr. Nichols that Barham repaid you the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—I did.

35,337. When?—After the election I told him.

35,338. Be cautious; before you received the 5*l.*?—Certainly not.

35,339. When did you tell him you had retained the 4*l.* 10*s.*?—A day or two after Barham had told him.

35,340. You did not tell him till Barham had seen him?—No.

35,341. What was your position with regard to the railway?—I was a plumber on the railway.

35,342. Had you a contract?—No, I was employed by the railway as a working plumber.

35,343. And you got hold of all these railway men; you were the medium for giving 30*s.* a week to all the railway men?—I paid them.

35,344. You were the medium?—I was not the medium at all.

35,345. You were indeed; and you gave it to men who were out with their engines, engine driving?—There were only two or three engine drivers.

35,346. Did you remain with the railway company long after the election?—Yes, I left the railway company in September.

35,347. How long had you been with them?—A twelvemonth ago I left.

35,348. How long had you been with them?—I had been about 10 or 11 years with the railway company; 10 years.

35,349. Did any one else in the railway, do you know, know these men were in the receipt of money?—Do I know whether they knew.

35,350. Yes; whether the station master or any one in authority of the railway men?—Not that I am aware of. I do not know that they did or not; very likely they might have.

35,351. They did not know it through you?—Not through me; it would not have mattered much if they had.

35,352. Why do you say that? Tell me why you say that? Do you think the railway people would be content to have you in their employ who was corrupting 22 or 23 of their servants they had placed confidence in?—I beg your pardon; I was not corrupting them at all.

35,353. Let us not mistake terms. You were giving them money for immoral and dishonest purposes, for nothing else in the world. Do you mean to say that those in authority at the railway, if they had known that, would have allowed you to remain in the company?—I cannot say.

35,354. You are a man of some position, and had been 11 years in their employ?—Only as a workman.

35,355. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Some of these men were receiving 30*s.* a week for their wages, and some of them receiving under a pound, plate layers; you knew that?—I did not know what money they made.

35,356. Do you think it was a proper sum to give, you call it giving it them for their expenses?—It is not right to pay men anything.

35,357. You say it was for their expenses; tell me the honest truth; was it not, in fact, buying their votes?—I believe it would amount to that.

35,358. I wanted to know your view; of course I have my own view, but I want to know what your construction of it is?—It would amount to that.

35,359. In plain truth you meant it for direct bribing?—I did not intend it to be so; at the same time others were paid. It is not me exactly; I was only deputed by the rest of the men. It happened to fall to my lot.

35,360. You were the agent to pay?—Yes.

35,361. I want to know what is your opinion as an honest man about it; was it not direct and positive bribery?—I believe so.

35,362. You believe so?—I believe so.

WILLIAM CURTIS BURT called, sworn, and examined. W.C.Burt.

35,363. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Mr. Burt?—Solicitor.

35,364. Were you on the committee?—No.

35,365. For whom did you vote?—Not any one.

35,366. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I think it is not in reference to the last election that you are here?—No.

35,367. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take part in any prior election?—Yes, that of Wilkinson and Gower.

35,368. In what year?—1863, I think.

35,369. Were you a freeholder at that time?—I was.

35,370. And a voter?—And voter, in respect of my occupation.

35,371. For whom did you vote then, Mr. Burt?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

35,372. Did you take an active part for him?—Yes, I canvassed the whole of the parish of Reigate on the west of the turnpike road.

35,373. I will ask you one general question. Have you any information to give us with reference to that election of 1863?—I believe it was conducted in an unsatisfactory manner. I believe there was a great deal of bribery, and a great deal of intimidation; in fact, everything that there ought not to have been.

35,374. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And I suppose, treating?—No doubt of it, to a very great extent.

35,375. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that, according to your view, as much on one side as on the other?—Equally so.

35,376. You have used three terms, "intimidation," "treating," and "bribery"?—Yes, I have.

35,377. Equally on both sides?—Yes.

35,378. Be good enough to confine your attention to the first term, "intimidation." In what way do you explain that?—I only know from what I heard during the election.

35,379, The common rumour?—The common rumour.

35,380. The common rumour of the election?—Yes, it was.

35,381. I think we may very fairly take from you what was the common rumour?—Only that various parties were insisting on their servants voting as they required them to do. They were canvassed very severely by their masters, and it was stated that many people would have voted differently, but they were compelled to vote as they did in consequence of the observations made to them by their superiors and masters.

35,382. Over what class of masters do you intend us to form that opinion?—I believe generally.

35,383. From the highest to the lowest?—I do.

35,384. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are speaking generally, of course?—Yes, I have nothing within my own knowledge.

35,385. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You are speaking of what was the general rumour and impression in the borough?—Yes.

35,386. Not only with yourself, but among those with whom you conversed?—It would not refer to myself, because whenever I went near a tenant of mine I invariably passed his house without canvassing him.

35,387. You misunderstand my question. What I want to know is, do you form that opinion from what

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

W.C.Burt.

17 Sept. 1866.

you observed yourself, and from what you gathered from conversation with others?—From what I gathered in conversation with others; from people who have told me when I have canvassed them.

35,388. I think I ought to go further with the question, because it is a very serious charge. Can you, in any possible way, recollect any individual whom you canvassed, and from whom you received such an observation?—Well, I cannot. It never occurred to me that an inquiry of this sort would take place, and it was a mere passing matter of conversation. I cannot charge my memory. I can only charge my memory with one fact, which is somewhat personal to myself, as I will explain presently. I canvassed some person behind the park. I saw his wife. She told me she was certain her husband would not vote for Mr. Wilkinson, for Mr. Phillips, a gentleman since dead, had been very kind to her. That is the only fact I can remember.

35,389. That we can quite understand. Persons may be kind, like Mr. Norman Wilkinson. We have heard that Mr. Norman Wilkinson was excessively kind to all the poor persons. And one cannot help saying, under such circumstances, "Well, I will sup-"port the gentleman who is so kind to me." That may happen with the purest possible motives?—It may, but it happened at a singular time.

35,390. We will not discuss that. Now with regard to treating?—I think it was universal.

35,391. Were you about the town at all in the election of 1865, although not on the committee?—No, only in my office; I did not interfere at all.

35,392. Then you are not able to say whether in 1863 there was more treating than in 1865?—I saw certainly a great deal more of it in 1863. In fact I saw nothing of it in 1865 beyond the merely shouting, and the people about public houses that appeared to be drunk.

35,393. In your mind it was very general in 1863?—No doubt of it.

34,394. Now with reference to bribery?—That has been very much confirmed by what I have heard since I have been in this Court. I have suspected, and I think I have made the observation frequently that I believed out of a constituency of 840 in 1863 400 were bribed; and I still believe so.

35,395. I have noticed that you have been very frequently in Court and listening to the evidence?—In the early part of the Inquiry I have.

36,396. Has the evidence which you have heard before this Commission tended at all to shake your previous opinion?—No, it has confirmed it.

35,397. Have you taken any part in previous elections?—Only that of Colonel Parrott and Hackblock.

35,398. But that was a very long time ago?—It was.

35,399. I do not think we propose to go into that. We decide to stop with 1858. Now, let me ask you, you have watched the evidence which has been given before this Commission, and probably have read it in the public papers?—I have.

35,400. Though I am not able just now to turn to the point, I think once or twice your name has been mentioned by a voter?—I think only once I have noticed it; by a man named Dewdney.

35,401. On what day was he examined?—I think it must be Friday. Friday or Thursday certainly.

35,402. Do you wish to make any observation with reference to that?—No; his observation was perfectly true. I canvassed him, and he refused to vote for Wilkinson; and I immediately left him.

35,403. Is there any information which you can give us which you think would be worthy of placing before the Commission?—I can only give you this, that I am very sorry to say that I believe a great system of bribery and corruption has existed in Reigate for a long time. I am sorry to say so, but I cannot deny the fact.

35,404. Can you give any date as to when bribery and treating first began in Reigate?—I believe it first began with Mr. Hackblock; and I will give you my reasons.

35,405. I am afraid we ought to ask you that question. Will you be good enough to state your reasons for saying so?—Colonel Parrott was the first candidate who attempted to break into the Somer's family in the representation of Reigate. He was very much opposed by the more respectable parties, and he stood that election without any chance of success. A second was about coming off. Mr. Hackblock proposed him on the former occasion, and had acted for him apparently as his friend for two or three years; but about a fortnight or so before the next election Mr. Hackblock turned round, and instead of acting as his friend and supporter he opposed him in that election, and was returned. And I cannot imagine a thing of that sort to have happened unless there had been some extraordinary exertions used to bring about that state of things.

35,406. In 1857 Mr. Hackblock was returned as against Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes, that was the election.

35,407. Major Parrott had opposed Mr. Somers Cocks in 1852, the previous election?—Yes, he had.

35,408. Then before that you say the representation was entirely——?—Entirely in the Somers family since the Reform Act. Previous to the Reform Act in the Hardwicke and Somers families, each having half the borough.

35,409. No further than upon general information, you believe that Colonel Parrott did bribe?—No.

34,410. Not bribe?—Colonel Parrott did not bribe.

35,411. Then what did he do?—Retired. And I know as a fact that Colonel Parrott's expenses in that election amounted to 64*l.*; and I believe that Mr. Hackblock's amounted to 2,000*l.* I think from that circumstance there must have been something more than —— 35,412. I see. Then Major Parrott was not returned in 1857?—No, he never was returned.

35,413. He did not go to the poll?—Not on the second occasion.

35,414. But left the battle to be fought between Mr. Hackblock and Sir Henry Rawlinson?—Yes.

35,415. And on that occasion you say Mr. Hackblock's expenses were how much?—It was generally reported that his expenses were 2,000*l.*, Parrott's being 64*l.*

35,416. Do you know what Sir Henry Rawlinson's expenses were then?—I do not know.

35,417. You simply judge from the amount of money which Mr. Hackblock spent?—It was the general report.

35,418. Can you tell me what has been about the average expenses of an election in Reigate?—I only know from the returns that are made by the candidates; but they are generally reported to have been very much in excess.

35,419. Reported to have been in excess of the returns?—Yes.

55,420. I think that is all you have to say?—Yes, but there is one observation I should like to make. It has been said in the town that I offered to buy, when I was canvassing for Mr. Wilkinson, an old-fashioned dresser; that I offered 5*l.* for it. I did do so, but my explanation of it would be this: For months previously I had instructed a man whom I have seen in the hall, I do not know whether he has been examined, to look out for me an old-fashioned thing of that sort that I might convert into a book-case for my library. In canvassing I saw what I took to be an old oak dresser that I thought would exactly answer the purpose, and I bid the man's wife 5*l.* for it. The man said, "It is not oak, it is only "dark from age," and I did not buy it. I instructed him to continue to look out, and he did not succeed. I find by a bill dated in 1863 that I had delivered to me from a furniture broker in the town here, a "book "case stained and varnished, 8*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*"; showing h at my offer to buy the dresser was not colourable, but a bonâ fide transaction.

35,421. To whom was the offer made?—To the wife of an elector. It has been stated in the town, and I wish to give this public explanation.

35,422. In consequence of having heard it in the town you anticipated that it might come out in evi-evidence; and that is your explanation in case it should?—I do not care whether it does or not. I only wish to say I would not do myself what I despise in others.

35,423. (The Chief Commissioner.) In 1863 you were on the committee, and worked a great deal?—No, not on any committee.

35,424. Are you aware in 1863 of any particular instance of money being paid to any voter?—No, I never was present, or saw any money pass. I never knew any money pass, but I had a strong suspicion.

35,425. I do not mean that you paid it yourself, but did you know of any?—No, I never saw any, and I never heard any bartering; and I never knew of any bartering. At the same time I strongly suspected that it was going on; and for that reason the moment I had done my canvassing I went home, and never attended any evening meeting at all, and never attended any committee.

35,426. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. James acted for Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. James was the principal agent, and I took one half of the parish. He did not canvass himself. I had one half of the parish assigned to me to canvass myself.

35,427. Who were the principal agents in 1863?—Mr. James.

35,428. But who was under Mr. James and under you?—I really do not know.

35,429. The working men?—I do not know at all. I never attended the committee, and I would not mix up myself with them at all. I did what I could in canvassing.

35,430. Had you anything to do with money being paid out to agents?—Not a farthing; I never saw a farthing; and never knew a farthing pass.

35,431. You had nothing to do with money?—Nothing whatever.

35,432. You never saw it pass from the candidate to the agent?—Not from the day the election was talked of till this moment.

35,433. You did not on that occasion sign any cheques?—Never; only a receipt for my fee.

35,434. For which you were retained beforehand?—I was.

35,435. I want to know, not what the amount was, but was the amount fixed beforehand?—It was.

35,436. I do not wish to know how much it was?—I will tell you if you like.

35,437. I do not wish to know; but I have a reason for asking, the amount was fixed beforehand?—It was.

35,438. Can you tell me in the election of 1863 what was the fee paid to the sub-agents?—I know nothing about it.

35,439. I thought you might have heard?—No; I studiously avoided anything of the sort.

The witness withdrew.

THOMAS PENFOLD recalled and examined.

35,440. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What day were you examined?—On Friday.

35,441. Have you been able to get any other account?—Yes, I have endeavoured to do so, and to get what information I could.

35,442. I hope this is from your own memory?—I should wish to state one thing.

35,443. You may state everything you wish?—I was taken by surprise the other day about that 25*l.*, and I may have made some errors in my answers, and I should be very sorry to tell you an untruth.

35,444. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was that in reference to?—I think it was in reference to Mr. Smith. I have been told since that I said I never gave him any account. I did.

35,445. You did not say so.—I have been told that I did; but I did not recollect myself.

35,446. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said you sent him the account.—That's right.

35,447. (The Chief Commissioner.) I will tell you exactly what you said: "I gave on slips of paper "separate accounts of the money I expended, and I "gave them in to Mr. Smith. Bills were brought to "me, and I handed them over to Mr. Smith."—That's right.

35,448. Those are the words you said?—That's right.

35,449. That is as plain as possible. You specified that you put them on separate pieces of paper?—Yes, I did, as they were brought to me.

35,450. There is no mistake about that, that is what you said?—That is correct, if that is so; but that is what I was told.

35,451. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You make your account now 92*l.* 8*s.* 9*d.* as having been expended?—Yes, that's right.

35,452. Out of 100*l.*?—Out of 100*l.* 10*s.*

35,453. Is this from your own memory?—Yes, and from my pocket book.

35,454. From your own observation?—I gathered it from people that I have paid money to.

35,455. You have put down here, "men employed "nomination and polling day, 25 men, 25*l.*" Could you give me the names of those men, "25 men, 1*l.* a "day"?—No, not 25; they are 50.

25,456. You are speaking of the "roughs"?—Yes

35,457. Are there any voters among them?—Not one, I don't think; because I kept them distinct.

35,458. Then you need not trouble yourself about that. One other question: when did you receive from Mr. Smith an account that he gave you 100*l.*?—I have never seen it. I never had any account. It was from memory that I have that, and when I went to Mr. Smith to inquire and make myself certain.

35,459. It was from memory?—At least from memory; and I asked Mr. Smith somewhere about a week or so previous to this inquiry.

35,460. That is what I wanted to know. You asked Mr. Smith about a week previous to the inquiry?—No, he sent for me. He wanted a copy of the account which detailed what I had paid.

35,461. And he gave you that; then he told you that he paid you 100*l.*?—100*l.* 10*s.*

35,462. Very well. It was then he told you that?—Yes; I asked him the amount. I recollect I asked him if that was so; and he told me, "yes, it was by the accounts.

35,463. Then that would merely give a balance of 8*l.* as against you?—Yes.

35,464. That would be the money you received for yourself?—No; I never received anything.

35,465. Then that remains on account?—I cannot account for any more. I have no doubt I may do so in time. I cannot account for every shilling. I have found out that I paid two boys half-a-crown each for doing circulars, one of the name of Fielder, and one of the name of Matthews.

35,466. I cannot understand how it is you are put down 25*l.*, as an agent, you know. The account is substantially the same.

35,467. (The Chief Commissioner.) The account you produce this morning and the other are substantially the same?—The other is from memory and this pocket-book.

35,468. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien. In making it out there is substantially no difference between them. I cannot account for your being put down still as having received 25*l.*?—I have seen Mr. Smith this morning, and he says it is a mistake; he will explain that.

35,469. I am glad to hear that. I could not account for it.—I have seen him because I did not feel very pleasant here on Friday afternoon.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

35,470. It is quite right that you should have an opportunity of explaining, because it is put down in two places your having received 25*l.* You see it here (showing the document to witness). Is this in Mr. Smith's handwriting or his clerk's?—I fancy it is his clerk's.

35,471. You say he will explain about that?—Yes, I fancy he will.

35,472. (The Chief Commissioner.) I see here, "Voters paid for services during the election." This is the account you produced this morning, and I see a name in it which I do not see in the other?—Yes; it is very probable.

35,473. "Robson, 2*l.*" Who is Robson?

35,474. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is he in the old bill, or in the new?—I paid him, I expect.

35,475. Is it George Robson, Mead-vale?—That is it. I may, perhaps, be allowed to say that Edsall and Frederick Cook, two names you see there, I paid them for Buckland.

35,476. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Is that the "Cook, 1*l.* 10*s.*"?—That's right. I paid him 30*s.*

35,477. (The Chief Commissioner.) You paid 30*s.* each?—Yes.

35,478. For Mr. Buckland?—Yes.

35,479. Do you know where Frederick Cook lives?—I think at Ashford, in Kent.

35,480. Where was he at the time?—I think Woodland-road.

35,481. I see you paid 3*l.* 10*s.* to Brand for refreshments. He is the man who keeps the inn?—He keeps the hotel. Titchener paid the man, I handed the money to him.

35,482. I want to know how you got Brand's account?—Titchener brought it to me.

35,483. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is one of the accounts you handed to Mr. Smith?—Yes.

35,484. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you pay any money to Titchener for which he did not give you an account?—Yes, 2*l.*

35,485. What was that for?—Canvassing expenses.

35,486. That is what you mentioned to us the other day?—Yes; and Farley, I paid him 2*l.* 10*s.*

35,487. He is not down here in your account this morning?—Farley is not?

35,488. You are quite right; "paid Mewitt 4*l.*, "Farley?"—6*l.* 10*s.* I paid to Farley.

35,489. Whom did you pay him through, yourself?—Yes, I paid Farley myself.

35,490. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was it Charles Farley?—Yes.

35,491. (The Chief Commissioner.) Farley paid out 4*l.*?—Yes, and he received 2*l.* 10*s.* from me for travelling expenses.

35,492. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You gave Farley 4*l.* for Hewitt, and 2*l.* for himself?—2*l.* 10*s* for himself, and 4*l.* for Hewitt.

35,493. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was Farley's account?—6*l.* 10*s.* He never sent any account. It was money I paid him; he was a canvasser.

35,494. (Mr. Commissioner Smith, reading.) "I at "first made out an account for 6*l.* 10*s.*; but Penfold "said he did not think he should be able to get so much."—That is in reference to his bill for his services that he sent Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith referred him to me. He went with an account after the election was over; an account for 6*l.* for services rendered.

35,495. Farley did?—Yes; he brought me the bill.

35,496. (Reading) "5*l.* for labour, and 1*l.* for the "nomination and polling day."—Yes, I think that was it. I told him if he would strike that off I would put my initials.

35,497. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You paid him 2*l.* 10*s.*?—That's right.

35,498. (The Chief Commissioner.) For himself?—Yes; he went down to see Mewitt, and went down to Godstone.

35,499. May I take it then, Mr. Penfold, that you have expended the whole of the 100*l.*?—Yes, I have; not a penny of it has gone into my pocket but has gone out of it again.

35,500. How much of your time did you give?—Only the day of nomination and the polling day. It was the evening generally that I worked.

35,501. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I want to ask you upon one point. You said, I think, on Friday, that you did not ask for votes?—No.

35,502. In what way did you canvass?—I did not canvass at all.

35,503. Did you not ask persons?—I might have done so when I was about; but I have no recollection of asking persons.

35,504. Did you ask them to come upon the committee or to work?—No.

35,505. Did you ask nobody to work?—No; I did not mean to take any part in this election when I began, but I got into it step by step.

35,506. I think you have told us when you first began to receive money to distribute?—Yes; I cannot recollect quite.

35,507. How long before the election?—A month.

35,508. During that month was, of course, the most active time of the election. Do you mean to say you did not ask anybody to come upon the committee or work?—No, I don't recollect ever using the words.

35,509. Or something like it?—No.

35,510. Or that if they exerted themselves they would be remunerated?—No, I never made any such remark.

35,511. I do not understand how you came to be paymaster?—Mr. Smith asked me to do it.

35,512. How did you know the names of those who were to be paid?—When the committee met of an evening these men brought in their reports, and I sat there to take them.

35,513. Then your duty was simply in the committee room?—Yes.

35,514. You did no other work except in the committee room?—No, that was my principal duty; the money paying was in my hand.

35,515. You knew who were the next sub-agents to you, and you paid them?—Yes.

35,516. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) There is one question I want to ask you: was there any transaction between you and Mr. Smith previous to the election?—No.

35,517. Any money transactions?—No.

35,518. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just tell me this: you know this gentleman showed you this account the other day; had you ever seen that before?—Never.

The witness withdrew.

C. Smith.

CHARLES SMITH called, sworn, and examined.

35,519. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Smith?—A draper.

35,520. Where are you living?—At Littlehampton.

35,521. What rent did you pay for the house for which you voted?—20*l.*

35,522. Of course the house was at Reigate? How long had you left it?—Nine months.

35,523. The election was in July; then you left i in the previous October. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

35,524. I understood a man came for you. What did he pay you for your expenses on the polling and nomination day?—After the election was over I had my railway fare paid.

35,525. How much did you receive?—I scarcely know the sum. I did not think of being called upon again.

35,526. How much, do you recollect, for your travelling and on the polling and nomination day?—I think my expenses and 1*l.*

35,527. You were here on the nomination day?—Yes.

35,528. And on the polling day?—Yes.

35,529. You were paid for both days, we understand?—No, I was only paid for one day.

35,530. How much did you receive?—I do not know exactly. It was the railway fare; I do not know what the railway fare was. I think it was 1*l.* 11*s.* and some odd pence. I can't exactly say.

35,531. (The Chief Commissioner.) The 1*l.* 11*s.* was your railway fare?—No.

35,532. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received 1*l.* 11*s.*?—Yes.

35,533. You received it from a person who was acting as check clerk; he received 3*l.*, and he paid you 1*l.* 11*s.* and kept the remainder.

35,534. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have not told us how that 1*l.* 11*s.* was made up?—No.

35,535. Was anything paid for loss of time on the polling day?—Yes.

35,536. How much?—

35,537. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I understood you to say so; and 11*s.* for expenses?—It was not explained to me what it was for.

35,538. But 1*l.* 11*s.* was a great deal more than your actual railway expenses?—Yes.

35,539. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Who paid you, Mr. Knight, a tailor, I think?—Yes.

35,540. (The Chief Commissioner.) Whom did it come from? You know, I dare say. Whom did Mr. Knight get it from to pay you?—I do not know; I had a post office order sent me through him.

(Mr. Commisioner O'Brien.) He got it from Mr. Smith. He says, "I received 3*l.* in all."

35,541. I suppose you were not aware that you had lost your vote?—No; or I should not have given it if I had known it.

35,542. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You would not have gone unless you had been sent for?—No, I should not; and when I was first sent for I refused to go, and I was sent for a second time.

35,543. How long before the election had you been asked?—I am sure I do not know; I should think about a month.

35,544. Were you check clerk?—No.

35,545. You were not employed in any way on the day of polling?—No, I know nothing about it.

35,546. You simply came up and voted, and went back and got 1*l.* 11*s.*?—That is all.

The witness withdrew.

William Clark recalled and examined.

W. Clark.

35,547. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Have you got the names of those men that you sent to Mr. Nichols?—Yes; but I cannot answer for their going (handing in a list).

35,548. I see there is a list of 22 names?—Yes.

35,549. Are those all the names that you can recollect that you canvassed and sent to Mr. Nichols?—Yes; I cannot answer for their going.

35,550. But you requested them to go?—I requested them to go. Mr. Hitchcock told me he would have nothing at all to do with it.

35,551. Mr. Hitchcock, that is the first name here; he said he would have nothing at all to do with it?—Yes; because he was so persecuted before.

35,552. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you pay any money to any of these?—No, not one.

35,553. (Mr. Commisioner Smith.) Did you know of any of these men going to Nichols; did you hear afterwards from Nichols that he had seen them?—I heard that Gage had been there.

35,554. Was he the only person?—I do not remember. I remember him because I saw him there with Mr. Nichols.

35,555. You say that you received some money from Mr. Nichols?—Yes.

35,556. On Saturday you could not give us clear account of those monies. You have had time to consider. Tell me in what proportions you received those monies, and when?—In six 5*l.* notes and 5*l.*

35,557. Give me the dates?—I cannot give you the dates. I had them all in three weeks.

35,558. Were you paid on each occasion 5*l.*?—Yes, 5*l.*

35,559. How much in all?—35*l.* 10*l.* for the last election. I received 25*l.* in 1863 for my services then.

35,560. Since your last examination have you seen Mr. Nichols?—Yes, I saw him at the bar of the "Grapes."

35,561. When?—In front of the bar, on Saturday. I went there for refreshments, and I saw him.

35,562. Of course you told him you had been examined?—No. There was a great deal of "chaff" at the bar that I had been examined, and of course he heard it.

35,563. Have you not taken the opportunity of consulting with Mr. Nichols as to how much money you received?—No; he knows what I received.

35,564. You see if you had applied to Mr. Nichols you might probably have got from him the actual sums you received, and the days?—I know the sums; that is all I have received.

35,565. Did you receive these monies at stated stated times; at regular times?—No; when I saw him there.

35,566. In what way did you get the money? Did you ask Mr. Nichols for it?—He knew I could not go to work unless I received money, and he knew what I received before for the other elections. I should think he has got an account of them too.

35,567. How much did you receive for the election in 1863?—In all I received 25*l.*; that might be within a pound.

35,568. Then there was 10*l.* owing to you?—There was 10*l.* owing to me.

35,569. Then you consider your services at the previous election worth 35*l.*?—25*l.* 10*l.* I had given me, and I kept it.

35,570. How much, in fact, did you receive in 1863?—That would make it, with the 10*l.*, 35*l.*

35,571. I do not mean the 10*l.* you got from Mr. Monson to pay Mr. Gower's debts?—25*l.*

35,572. You got 25*l.*?—15*l.* from Mr. Nichols; I can't say to 10*s.* or a pound; I received it every week for 10 weeks.

35,573. How much a week?—I do not know how much it amounted to, perhaps a pound or 25*s.*

35,574. Do you mean to say you received that without giving any account of your time?—Three months I gave all my time. I neglected my business. I never did an hour's work.

35,575. What is your business?—A house painter.

35,576. Do you mean to say that you never went to your business for three months?—No.

35,577. Are you a master house painter?—Yes.

35,578. And employ men?—Yes.

35,579. Do you use the brush yourself?—Yes, when I am at work.

35,580. Of course, when you are at work. You are such a master painter that you might have so much work to do that you would go about to see the men do their work?—No, I have not got enough for that. I may employ six or seven in the winter; perhaps 12 or 14 in the summer.

35,581. Now you have not quite clearly made it out how this money was paid in 1863. There were 15*l.* you got from Nichols, and there were 35*l.* to come to you?—There was no stated sum then; he paid me by instalments.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

W. Clark.

17 Sept. 1866.

35,582. You state there was no stated sum in 1863?—No.

35,583. How much were you paid in 1863?—Why, from Nichols about 15*l.*

35,584. Then, if there was no stated sum, how came you to make a claim in 1865 for 10*l.* owing to you in 1863?—I considered I was worth it.

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Worth 35*l.*

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) No, he got 15*l.* There was no stated sum, no contract; and then in 1865 he claims 10*l.*

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I thought he got 15*l.* from Nichols. I think he means he got something else.

35,585. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What else did you get in 1863 besides the 15*l.* you got from Nichols?—10*l.*, which came through Apted and Mulley.

35,586. In 1863?—In 1863. I accounted for the 10*l.*

35,587. In what way?—That I had it. I had it to use, and I didn't use, I kept it.

35,588. What were you to use it for?—It was to give to a couple of men at Redhill.

35,589. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And you kept it?—I kept it.

35,590. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who were the two men?—The two Dales.

35,591. Thomas and Edward Dale?—Thomas and Edward Dale. It was given through Job Apted for me to give them, and I did not give it them.

35,592. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For Mr. Gower?—On Mr. Gower's behalf.

35,593. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You were to give it to them, and you did not?—No. In fact, the price was not sufficient for them.

35,594. Did you tell those who had given you this 10*l.* that Dale and the other did not want the money, or that you did not apply it?—I had applied it.

35,595. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You used it, you mean?—I kept it.

35,596. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you tell your employers that you had kept the money?—Yes, Apted asked me for it. Although the excitement was very great at that time, about 5 o'clock on the polling day, he asked me for the 5*l.* back; I said I would give it up the settling day, I supposed it would be next day. I told Mr. Nichols I had got 9*l.* left out of the 10*l.*; and he said, "You can do as you like with it," and I did so.

35,597. There was no contract between you and Nichols?—No.

35,598. You got 10*l.* from Nichols, and 10*l.* you got on account of Dales?—Yes.

35,599. And you were asked on the polling day to return it, and you kept it?—Yes, I told him I would keep it till the settling day.

35,600. Which settling day never came?—No, not till now.

35,601. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The two Dales voted for Monson?—The two Dales voted for Wilkinson in 1863.

35,602. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There having been no contract for your employment in 1863, having got 15*l.* from Nichols and 10*l.* which you had retained on the part of the Dale's until the settling day, how do you make out your claim of 10*l.* which you made against Mr. Smith, as against Mr. Gower, prior to this election of 1865?—Why, the 10*l.* I put down as expenses.

35,603. Had you said one single word about those expenses of 10*l.* to Mr. Nichols or any of them in 1863?—They knew I had it, and I sent my bill in to Mr. Smith.

35,604. For how much?—For 10*l.*, and he said I ought to be paid; Mr. Green said I was worth double as much.

35,605. But you had already got 10*l.* on account of the Dales?—Yes, I had that 10*l.*

35,606. And that was a disputed item; you were to settle that on settling day?—I told Mr. Nichols I had got it, and he said I was to do as I liked with it. I said I would not give it up to Apted, but I would give it up to Nichols on settling day; and he told me I might do as I liked with it.

35,607. Then you made a further claim beyond that?—Yes.

35,608. Which you say was paid out of Mr. Monson's money; I will not say out of Mr. Monson's money, but out of the party's money?—Yes. I worked for Mr. Gower in 1863 through Mr Nichols, and I looked to Mr. Nichols this time for the money. I followed him; I was promised 10*l.* by Mr. Green.

35,609. (The Chief Commissioner.) When are you speaking of now?—This election.

35,610. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who promised you that?—Mr. Green.

35,611. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) On the part of whom?—On the part of Mr. Gower.

35,612. You mean 10*l.* for your vote?—10*l.* that was due to me from the last by a promise.

35,613. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What took place between you and Henry Green?—He said I ought to be paid.

35,614. You said Green said something about 10*l.* to vote for Gower?—He said if I went to work for him as I had before in 1863; I was under Mr. Green and Mr. Nichols at that time.

35,615. What did Green say?—He said if I could trust to him he would pay me the 10*l.* at the end of the election. I told him I would take his word for 100*l.* in business, but not in electioneering matters.

35,616. Was that before you had been to Mr. Smith in 1865?—About the time.

35,617. Which did you go to first, Mr. Smith or Mr. Green?—Mr. Green. I have asked him more questions, as he lives in the neighbourhood; I told him, and he said I ought to be paid, I was worth more than what I got at the former election.

35,618. Did you tell him how much you got?—I think I did.

35,619. How much a week were you paid, or to be paid?—About 25*s.* a week.

35,620. In 1863?—Yes.

35,621. With whom did you make that arrangement in 1863?—I made no arrangement, I saw Mr. Nichols, and Mr. Nichols gave me that at the end of the week.

35,622. The first week?—Yes.

35,623. Did you look upon it as an arrangement then that 25*s.* was to be paid you a week?—Yes; at least I went the following week and got the same.

35,624. Did you expect 25*s.* a week, then?—Yes; it was not for the particular week, but it was merely to expend, and I did expend quite that 25*s.* every week, and a little more.

35,625. What do you mean by saying that there was no agreement with Nichols?—There was no agreement. I went over there for some money, and he gave me 25*s.*; and he gave me 25*s.* the next week, and I believe continuously so.

35,626. Supposing it to be 25*s.* a week, how many weeks were you on?—Well, I think I was employed about three months.

35,627. That would be about 15*l.*; then, when you received 15*l.* you had received all your instalments of 25*s.* a week?—25*s.* a week; but that was no arrangement, that was merely to expend. I took it to expend because I expended quite that, and more too. I was about all day and at night.

35,628. You seem very much to have taken what you could get?—Just so. I should be very sorry to do the same thing under 50*l.*

35,629. The very little money that got into your hands never went back again?—No.

35,630. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is that you said about 50*l.*?—I said I should not like to do the same again under 50*l.*

35,631. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Not even do it for the good of the country?—Well, I was doing it for the good of the country.

35,632. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Don't say that. I do not understand why, having received the 10*l.* and the 25*l.*, you did not vote?—I did not vote for Mr. Monson.

35,633. Why not?—I had no particular reason.

35,634. You had every reason to support him. Do not talk to me about no particular reason?—There was no chance of his return.

35,635. Do not give me any foolish reasons. Here is the state of facts; you received 10*l.* from Mr. Nichols for back money, that is to say, you received 10*l.* of Mr. Monson's money to pay you for your services to Mr. Gower; then you received 25*l.*; that is 35*l.* Now, why did you not vote?—I had no reason for not voting. I went away, I dare say, quite an hour before the polling closed. I went to Satton-corner; I stayed there, I had some bread and cheese and had a cigar till about four, and then went to Reigate.

35,636. The 25*l.* was to include your vote, was it not?—I was never asked for it.

35,637. But you knew it was to include your vote; if you were working for him it was to include your vote?—On no occasion was I ever canvassed by any of the agents for my vote.

35,638. Did you intend not to vote for Mr. Monson when you received the money?—I had no intention at all.

35,639. You had no intention to vote, or not to vote?—No.

35,640. Did you intend to vote for him?—I should have voted for him had he wanted one.

35,641. Don't say that. He wanted one very badly?—I think he wanted 200.

35,642. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He wanted it more before 12 o'clock?—Yes, he did; more before 12 than he did after because after he stood no chance.

35,643. Why did you not vote early in the morning?—I had no reason for not doing it.

35,644. Were you paid by the other side not to vote?—No.

35,645. Or offered to be paid?—No.

35,646. Or persuaded?—Or persuaded in any way.

35,647. What time did you go to Satton-corner to have your bread and cheese?—About 3 o'clock.

35,648. How much was Mr Monson behind then?—About 100, and I had lost all interest then.

35,649. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You live at Reigate?—I live at Redhill.

35,650. And there was a polling place there?—Yes.

35,651. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you a vote in 1865?—Yes.

35,652. Did not Mr. Gower himself canvass you?—Well, I believe he called at my place, but I never saw him.

35,653. Did not any of his friends ask you for your vote? It is an odd thing if they did not?—I do not know that I was canvassed by any one else.

35,654. Did they not ask you to vote for Gower? I suppose they canvassed every elector, they generally do?—There was a great feeling for Gower; but they knew it was no good asking me, I should have gone my own way.

35,655. I assume that somebody did ask you for your vote; and all I want to know is who did?—I believe Mr. Gower called.

35,656. After Mr. Gower called who asked you on his part, which of his agents? When Mr. Gower called you had not made up your mind?—Yes I had.

35,657. But I mean you did not tell him so?—No.

35,658. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You made up your mind to vote for Monson?—I did not see him; I do not think I had any conversation with him at all.

35,659. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then they did not know whom you were going to vote for; and of course they would come and canvass you again?—I did not want so much canvassing.

35,660. Now, who did come and ask you?—I do not know that any one did. They knew I was employed for Monson, and they didn't trouble themselves further in the matter.

35,661. Then that observation would apply to Mr. Gower, who did not go about canvassing by himself. His agent who was going about with him would say, "It's no use applying to Mr. Clark, because he is "working for you." Do you know who it was?—I do not know who it was that called upon me. I only know one man, that was Mr. Green. He said, "You may "as well go with us again; you worked for us the "last time."

35,662. Was Mr. Green the only person that spoke to you about it?—I do not remember any other.

35,663. What did you tell Mr. Green when he spoke to you?—I told him that I should not go to work for him unless I had the money down.

35,664. And if you did have the money down, what then?—That I should go to work.

35,665. And you saw Mr. Smith?—I saw Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith sent me to Mr. Nichols.

35,666. You saw Mr. Smith about it. Now at any time afterwards, just before the election, did you happen to see Mr. Smith?—I saw him two or three times before the election.

35,667. I do not mean only seeing him, but did you speak to him?—I think I did see him to speak to him.

35,668. What did he say to you?—He referred me to Mr. Nichols. He said "Mr. Nichols owes the "money."

35,669. You told us that was some time before the election; I mean after he referred you to Mr. Nichols, did he see you about the election?—He told me, if I remember, that there was no more room for canvassers, and he could not do any more in it.

35,670. What I want to know is, what you said to him upon that; perhaps I can remind you?—I do not remember anything; I wish you would remind me.

35,671. I may be wrong, but don't you recollect saying to Mr. Smith that you were sorry; that you were with him last time, and should be glad to work for him?—Providing that ——

35,672. This was just before the election, long after the 10*l.*?—I do not remember it.

35,673. Could you say that such a thing did not occur. You know, after the time when you were referred back again to Nichols and Nichols took upon himself to pay you the 10*l.*, after that, just before the polling day, do you recollect saying to Mr. Smith something of this kind, I cannot give you the exact words, "I am sorry I am not upon your side; I will "do something now;" when Mr. Smith told you he had no more room for canvassers?—That was some time before.

35,674. After you had got Mr. Nichols' 10*l.*?—No.

35,675. You told me so. You made a mistake, I suppose; I will allow you to correct it by all means. When did you go and say something which induced him to say he had no more room for canvassers?—It might have been five weeks before.

35,676. Had not you a conversation with Mr. Smith just previous to the election, the polling day or the nomination day?—I did see him, I believe, the day of the polling.

35,677. Tell me what passed?—I have no recollection of anything like you say.

35,678. Tell me what passed?—I do not recollect; I only remember seeing him. I might have said "Good morning" to him, or anything like that, but I have no memory at all of ——

35,679. I should like to know what passed?—But I cannot inform you. I have no memory. If Mr. Smith said that I said anything to him ——

35,680. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There must have been something to impress upon your memory the fact that you had seen him?—I was in Reigate nearly every day.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

35,681. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you recollect his saying anything about polling at the election?—No.

35,682. As my friend says, you would not be able to remember that you saw him unless there was something to impress it upon your mind?—He is a very noted character here; and if you see him you would be likely to know him again.

35,683. The more noted he is the less you would notice him upon any occasion; the less you would recollect seeing him on a particular day?—After I was engaged by Mr. Nichols he did not want to have very much to do with me at all.

35,684. That is the reason I am asking the questions. I want to know what there was which enabled you to recollect seeing him the day before the election?—I recollect seeing him just before the election.

35,685. What impresses it upon your mind?—Nothing at all.

35,686. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Can you swear that you did see him?—Yes; but I could not say what day. I might have said "Good morning," but I have no recollection of anything further.

35,687. Did you receive, during the election of 1865, a cheque signed by Mr. Smith?—This last election?

35,688. Yes?—No.

35,689. Are you sure of that?—Yes.

35,690. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you receive, this last election, money from Mr. Smith?—In 1865?

35,691. Yes, in 1865?—Not to my knowledge.

35,692. It is a thing which would only have happened about a year ago; I am hardly satisfied with the answer "Not to my knowledge." Did you receive any money from any person coming from Mr. Smith?—No, sir, I never knew where it came from.

35,693. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive any money?—I received the monies I told you of. I received no cheque.

35,694. You say you received something, and you did not know where it came from; what was that something?—I did not know where it came from. I knew the money I received.

35,695. Don't go away from the point; you said you received something and did not know where it came from. What was that something that you received?—The money that I received? I don't know who paid the money to Mr. Nichols.

35,696. What was that something which you received, not knowing where it came from?—I know nothing of the money, but that it came through Mr. Nichols.

35,697. What did you mean by saying that you received something, and did not know where it came from?—I mean to say I do not know where Mr. Nichols got the money from.

35,698. You were not asked that question?—That is my meaning.

35,699. You were asked whether you received anything; a cheque or anything coming as from Mr. Smith?—And I said "No, sir."

35,700. Then you said you received something and did not know where it came from?—I received 35*l.*

35,701. You are very 'cute, but you let out something about having received money and you did not know where it came from. We have had all about the 35*l.* before. That was not passing in your mind?—My meaning was that I did not know who gave the money to Mr. Nichols to pay me.

35,702. You said it in answer to a class of questions which had reference to money received from Mr. Smith, and not Mr. Nichols?—It is my mistake.

35,703. I do not give you credit for making mistakes?—There was no money sent to me; it was given to me. I know nothing of where the money came from. I have no wish to baffle you; I only wish to speak straightforward.

35,704. If you won't say, you know, we must.—I cannot say; I can only speak the truth. No money was ever sent to me; it was given to me.

35,705. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received it all before the election?—I got on so badly receiving money after the election, that I would not take their word.

35,706. When was the last time when Mr. Nichols paid you? When was the last payment?—About four days before the election.

35,707. Before the polling?—Before the polling.

35,708. Did he ever ask you why you did not vote?—No.

35,709. And you have been on good terms with him ever since?—As far as I know of. Why, you see, my vote was nothing; I might as well save it as use it.

35,710. What was the use of it to you?—It was no use to me, and no use to Mr. Monson.

The witness withdrew.

DAVID THORPE sworn and examined.

D. Thorpe.

35,711. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you the son of the other Thorpe who was examined here?—Yes.

35,712. What are you?—Bricklayer.

35,713. Do you live with your father?—No.

35,714. I forget whether your father's name was David?—Edward.

35,715. What rent do you pay?—5*s.* a week.

35,716. And did you at the last election? Do you remember how much you were paying for your house then?—5*s.* a week, sir.

35,717. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

35,718. Did you go on the committee?—Yes.

35,719. Did you receive any money from anybody before the election came on?—Yes.

35,720. From whom?—Mr. Green.

35,721. How much?—2*l.* 10*s.*

35,722. That was before the election?—Before the election.

35,723. Did you receive any money from him after the election?—30*s.*

35,724. Then you received altogether 4*l.*?—Yes.

35,725. Was that all the money you received?—Yes.

35,726. Had you been promised anything if you would go for Mr. Monson?—Yes.

35,727. Who by?—By Corderoy.

35,728. How much had he promised you?—7*l.*, I think.

35,729. Did he tell you how he would pay you? So much a week, or what?—On the polling morning.

35,730. Did he offer you work before the polling morning came on?—No.

35,731. When was it he offered you the 7*l.*? Was that on the polling morning?—He did not offer it to me, but he said before the polling day. I was at Merstham.

35,732. How long before the polling day was it that he made you the offer?—About a week.

35,733. Did he tell you that he would pay you on the polling day 7*l.*?—I was to receive the money. There were two of us together.

35,734. Who was the other?—Peters.

35,735. You were to receive the money?—If we voted for Monson, on the polling morning.

35,736. Did you agree to it?—No, we thought we would have nothing to do with it.

35,737. Did you tell him so?—No, we never troubled anything more about it.

35,738. Did you receive anything at all from him as an earnest before the election?—No money.

35,739. Did you receive any money from anybody on the Monson side?—No.

35,740. When Corderoy came to you did you tell him which way you were going to vote, that you had promised Mr. Gower?—He had got it there on his list.

35,741. What, Corderoy had?—Yes.

35,742. Did you see it? Be so good as to tell me what he said? He came and said; well?—He came to Merstham, and I was on the job at the time, and they sent for me. I was up at the house, and I went down, and my mate had most to do with it.

35,743. What I mean is this. Had Corderoy got your name down on a list? Did you see it?—No.

35,744. How did he know you were going to vote for Mr. Gower?—He had heard something of it.

35,745. Did he say, "You are a Gower man"?—He said, "You vote for Gower?" or something of that sort, and I told him, "Yes, I am going to vote "for Gower."

35,746. What did he say then? Did he make an offer of the 7*l.*?—I beg your pardon; it was 11*l.* between us.

35,747. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There are three Peterses. What Peters are you speaking of?—Francis.

35,748. That is Frank Peters on the register?—Yes.

35,749. (The Chief Commissioner.) Where does Frank Peters live?—On Furze-hill. The one I mean has been examined here.

35,750. He has?—Yes, on Thursday last.

35,751. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why did not you take the 11*l.*?—I did not like to.

35,752. Why? You had no suspicion that you would not get it?—I think there was not much chance on the polling morning; but I did not trouble about it. I went and polled at 8 o'clock.

35,753. But you could not have much doubt about that, because there were placards up on the walls, were there not, "Monson, and the money down"? Don't you recollect that, large placards?—There was something of that sort; "Monson, and money down." "Gower, and no bribery."

35,754. You did not rely on the placards on the walls?—No, I did not like to break my word.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN NEWMAN sworn and examined.

J. Newman.

35,755. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A carrier.

35,756. What rent do you pay for your house?—Well, the house that I believe I voted for was the "Black Horse" on Reigate-heath.

35,757. What is the value of it?—30*l.* a year was what I paid for rent.

35,758. It is just before you come to the heath?—Just at the corner of the heath.

35,759. Who did you vote for?—Mr. Monson.

35,760. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee?—No.

34,761. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—No one.

35,762. Did you take an active part in the election?—Not at all.

35,763. Did not anybody on Mr. Monson's behalf ask you for your vote?—No one asked me.

35,764. Did not anybody ask you to do what you could for the party?—No.

35,765. Did you vote in the morning or late in the day, do you recollect?—I voted somewhere between half-past 10 and 11.

35,766. Was any offer made to you by the Gower party to go with them?—I never spoke to Mr. Gower or any of his party.

35,767. Very well. Did you receive any money at all to give away to any person?—No.

35,768. Did you receive any money before the election for yourself?—No.

35,769. Any after?—None. I received none either before or after.

35,770. Did not you receive anything at all at any time after the election?—Nothing at all.

35,771. Is there another John Newman besides you, can you tell me, who is a voter?—Not that I am aware of.

35,772. Did you make any application about money? Did you say anything about money?—Not at all. I drove a fly on the day of the election as well.

35,773. Whose fly was it?—It was an open carriage.

35,774. Whose fly?—My own.

35,775. You kept one?—Yes.

35,776. How many horses?—One horse.

35,777. Did you drive it on any other day besides election?—Any day? I was to be hired at any time.

35,778. I dare say; but did you drive on any other day besides the polling day?—Yes.

35,779. When?—I went to Redhill several times.

35,780. Do you mean on the polling day?—Yes; on the polling day I was there three or four times.

35,781. Did you before the polling day?—Yes, once or twice I went to Redhill.

35,782. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You live at Redhill, don't you?—I was living at Reigate at the time the election was on.

35,783. Who engaged you?—Mr. Nichols.

35,784. What were you to receive?—I was to receive during any election 11 sovereigns, or 10 guineas. That was six months before any election was thought of.

35,785. (The Chief Commissioner.) That is very odd?—It was somewhere in January.

35,786. During any election; whatever election took place?—Yes.

35,787. Mr. Nichols and you agreed?—Yes; it was to be on the next election.

35,788. For what?—For the fly and horse, and myself the driver.

35,789. That was specified. Was it 11 guineas?—Yes.

35,790. Well, the election did come on. What did you receive?—I have received nothing at present, because I have not settled with Mr. Nichols. I have received nothing.

35,791. What is owing to you?—I expect to receive 11 guineas; that is what I shall take off his account. I owe him a little money, and that is what I shall take off his account. I lived in a house of his since I left the "Black Horse," and therefore I shall expect to take that off.

35,792. You owe him more than the 11*l.*?—Yes, I do; something like 4*s.* or 5*s.* more.

35,793. After the election was over and you had worked with your horse, did you send in any account?—I did.

35,794. What was the amount of it?—Eleven guineas, horse and driver and carriage.

35,795. Have you seen him since you sent in that account?—No, I do not think I have seen Mr. James Nichols since.

35,796. You have had no conversation?—Not the least.

35,797. Then personally you have not asked him for the account?—No; I removed from the house where I was.

35,798. Since you sent in the account have you received a letter from Mr. Nichols?—I have not.

35,799. Will you allow me to ask how long have you been owing him money?—I dare say there has been an account for the last 10 or 12 years, if I was to go into it.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY

J. Newman.

35,800. I do not wish to go into it. Was that on both sides ?—Yes.

35,801. Was part of it for rent?—Some of it was for rent.

35,802. You owe him for rent as much as 11 guineas ?—Yes, within a trifle.

35,803. Never mind the trifle. How long is it since the rent account began ?—Well, I went into his house ; I could not say to be positive.

35,804. No, about when ?—It may be somewhere in January or Christmas.

35,805. This last Christmas you went into a house of his ?—Yes.

35,806. And how much a year were you paying ?—15*l.* a year.

35,807. Then there is 11*l.* due already ?—Yes. I am not talking about the previous accounts. In fact I have sold some property of Mr. Nichols'.

35,808. I do not want to trouble you about that ; I want to know the rent ?—15*l.* a year.

35,809. Then the 11 guineas is hardly due yet ?—Well, the fact is I never give him no notice to leave. I took a beer shop on the other side of the hill, and I was very glad for him to let me have the house as he did.

35,810. Are you in his house now ?—No, I left it without any notice, and I was very glad for him to take it off my hands.

35,811. There is about 11 guineas owing then ?—Yes, there is about three quarters. I may owe him, perhaps, for a suit of clothes, lots of other things, I cannot say about three or four years ago.

35,812. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I forget when you left Mr. Nichols' house ?—I left Mr. Nichols' house about a week before quarter day; about nine days before quarter day.

35,813. What quarter was that ?—The 24th of June.

35,814. (The Chief Commissioner.) I forgot to ask you ; had you voted in 1863 ?—The last time that I ever voted, sir, was when Rawlinson put up, I have not voted since. I think that is longer ago than 1863.

35,815. Was that Doulton's election ?—No, I think it was before that.

35,816. I do not think I quite understand ; at that last election of 1865 were you keeping the public house ?—No, I left the "Black Horse," and lived here in Reigate.

The witness withdrew.

J. Holden.

JESSE HOLDEN sworn and examined.

35,817. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—A bricklayer.

35,818. What rent do you pay for your house ?—13*l.* a year.

35,819. For whom did you vote at the last election ? For Mr. Gower.

35,820. Were you on his committee ?—No.

35,821. Who canvassed you ?—Mr Gower himself canvassed me.

35,822. That was in the first instance ?—In the first instance.

35,823. And you were asked by somebody else afterwards ?—No ; never.

35,824. Did you promise Mr. Gower in the first instance to vote for him ?—Yes.

35,825. Had you voted for him before ?—No, I had not before.

35,826. Who did you vote for in 1863 ?—No one.

35,827. Had you voted before those elections ?—Yes, ever since Mr. Hackblock was returned.

35,828. Except in 1863 ?—Except in 1863.

35,829. Did nobody ask you to go on the committee ?—No, not at this election.

35,830. You were on the committee ;—No.

35,831. I beg your pardon ; I thought you said you were ?—No.

35,832. Then you promised Mr. Gower your vote ?—Yes, I did, when he first called.

35,833. And nobody asked you about your vote, in fact, afterwards, until you voted ?—No.

35,834. And then you voted ?—Yes.

35,835. Did any of the Monson party canvass you in 1865 ?—Yes, Mr. Monson and Mr. Richardson.

35,836. Did any of the agents canvass you for Mr. Monson ?—No, not one.

35,837. May I take it that no overtures were made to you for your vour vote either by the Monson party or the Gower party ?—No ; in fact, if I may be allowed to speak, I voted from the time Mr. Hackblock was returned up to the present moment, and I never received a farthing, and I never wanted to.

35,838. Did you ever receive anything for expenses ?—No, I never had no expenses.

35,839. Is there a George Holden ?—Yes, there is a George Holden.

35,840. Were you a freeholder ?—My house at that time was freehold, but when I voted for this last time I had not been long enough. My vote was for the place I had left 35,841. You are still occupying your town house ?—Oh, yes.

35,842. I think I must ask you one general question ; were you about in the election at all ?—Which one ?

35,843. Either in 1865 or 1863 ?—No.

35,844. Not in 1865 ?—No, I never went once anywhere.

35,845. When Mr. Doulton was here in 1858, did you take part in that election ?—Not at all.

35,846. Who did you vote for ; do you recollect ?—I think, to the best of my recollection, I voted for Rawlinson ; but I won't say. I voted for somebody.

35,847. Perhaps your recollection will not carry you so far back as 1858 ?—No, I do not recollect more than this ; that I believe I voted.

35,848. Perhaps you do not recollect so much of it as to give me a description or notion of the character of that election ?—Of the character of that election ?

35,849. Yes ?—I never was busy about it. I never had to do with it. I have heard there was a good deal of bribery going on ; that is all I know about.

35,850. Where do you live now ?—At Redhill.

The witness withdrew.

H. Bicknell.

HENRY BICKNELL sworn.

35,851, What are you ?—A boot and shoe maker.

35,852. What rent do you pay for your house ?—5*s.* a week.

35,853. For whom did you vote at the last election ?—For Mr. Gower.

35,854. Were you on his committee ?—Yes, I was put on to work.

35,855. Who put you on ?—Mr. Mulley.

35,856. What did you receive before the polling ?—Nothing.

35,857. What did you receive afterwards ?—1*l.*

35,858. From whom ?—That was some time after the election.

35,859. From whom ?—From Mulley.

35,860. Only 1*l.*, I suppose ?—That is all.

35,861. Had you voted at a previous election ?—No.

35,862. That is your first time ?—That is the first time.

35,863. Was it Mr. Mulley who canvassed you ?—Mr. Gower canvassed me first.

35,864. I know ; but did Mr. Mulley afterwards ?—Mr. Payne, and then I saw Mr. Mulley.

35,865. Were you on the committee before you saw Mulley?—No, he put me on.

35,866. Did Mulley tell you you would be paid for anything you did?—Yes.

35,867. Did you apply to him afterwards for the 1*l.*?—I asked him.

35,868. For how much?—If I was going to get paid, and he said he had not got the money to pay himself.

35,869. Did he say how much you would be paid?—No, he did not say the amount.

35,870. You expected more than 1*l.*?—I expected more.

35,871. What did you think; I suppose about 5*l.*?—Yes, about 5*l.*

35,872. I suppose you had heard 5*l.* mentioned?—I heard that each man on the committee was to be paid 30*s.* a week, and that would amount to something like 5*l.*

35,873. Do you recollect whether Mulley told you that?—It was the general report.

35,874. In the committee?—Yes.

35,875. I suppose that all the committee men were to be paid?—Yes, they understood it so.

35,876. All the committee?—Yes, all the committee.

35,877. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were you present when Mr. Gower made this speech in this hall, or at the "White Hart"?—No, this is the first time I have been here.

35,878. But before the election, when you attended the committee meetings, did you hear Mr. Gower make a speech?—I heard him make a speech.

35,879. At the committee down below?—No.

35,880. Oh, you were at Redhill?—Yes, I was at Redhill.

35,881. Did Mr. Gower say anything at Redhill to the effect that those who worked for him should be paid?—No, not at Redhill.

The witness withdrew.

SAMUEL JOHNSON sworn and examined. S. Johnson.

35,882. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

35,883. What rent did you pay for your house at the time of the election?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week.

35,884. Who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

35,885. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

35,886. Who put you on his committee?—Mulley.

35,887. Did he tell you what would be the good of going on it?—No, he did not say.

35,888. Before the election did Mulley pay you anything?—No, not anything.

35,889. After the election how much did he pay you?—1*l.*

35,890. Was this your first election?—Yes.

35,891. The first time you ever voted?—Yes.

35,892. Were you offered any money by the Monson party?—Yes.

35,893. Who by?—By Rose.

35,894. What Rose is that?—I do not know.

35,895. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Is it Rose who works at the Asylum?—I don't know.

35,896. (The Chief Commissioner.) How much did he offer you?—5*l.*

35,897. When?—A day or two before the election.

35,898. Did you take it?—I took some.

35,899. How much did you take?—2*l.* 10*s.*; I returned it afterwards.

35,900. Why did you return it?—Because I thought as I had promised Mr. Gower I would not depart from it.

35,901. When did you return it?—I cannot say the day.

35,902. Before the election?—Yes, before the election.

35,903. Was that all the money you received from the Monson party?—Yes.

35,904. That was your first election?—Yes.

35,905. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you tell any one you had received the 2*l.* 10*s.*?—I did not tell any one.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS ALBUARY recalled. G. A. Albuary.

35,906. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were here the other day and were examined. Do you recollect that?—Yes.

35,907. And do you remember you told us that you received a bill of 19*l.* 15*s.*?—I told you I believed that to be correct.

35,908. 19*l.* 15*s.*, or whatever it was; I think it was something like that?—I think it was.

35,909. I make no point of that now. That was from Mr. Gower?—Yes.

35,910. I think you told us that you sent in your account, did not you?—I told you I took it in two or three times, you said "four."

35,911. I do not remember that. I dare say you were correct and I was wrong?—It might have been four.

35,912. The money which you were paid was for posting bills?—Yes.

35,913. And you said you received nothing except for posting bills?—No.

35,914. Now I happen to have your account, and I see these items in it, "Two days posting bills; two "days ditto, a man," that is all right; then comes "Two days attending the election"?—Well, it is very probable that is right, but at the same time I was posting bills one of those days, if I was not the two; but of course that slipped my memory.

35,915. I want to call your attention to this, that the same day, apparently, you charge 1*l.* 5*s.* for posting places?—No, I do not think I did.

35,916. I will show you your account?—1*l.* 5*s.*

35,917. Look, here is your account. "Two days "posting bills," then "Two days ditto, a man," then for "Two days attending election," and then "Expense "incurred during the election for posting places, "1*l.* 5*s.*" Here it is; of course you may see it?—(After examining the account) You see by this, sir, that I only had my 10*s.* a day for what I call "attending the election."

35,918. That is exactly what I am calling to your notice?—Then "Expense incurred during"—I don't hardly see what that is.

35,919. I can read it for you; it is your own handwriting?—Well, I know it is; I believe it is quite correct. I have not the slightest doubt it is quite correct. Then of course I put it all as bill posting, because that is what I am employed at.

35,920. You have not put it as bill posting?—No, not exactly, because it is two days attending the election.

35,921. That is what I want you to see?—I did post bills, no doubt. I did not recollect it at all; there never has been a question.

35,922. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You recollected all the part which was unimportant, and you left out that which was important?—Had you shown me that account I should have said what I say now, that I believe it is quite correct.

35,923. This was what you said, "The work "which I had done amounted to 19*l.* 15*s.*, and that "was all the money I received"?—I believe it to have been all the money I received. Is not that included in the 19*l.* 15*s.*?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Quite right.

35,924. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) But you put it in this way, that the charge of 19*l.* 15*s.* was fair

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

17 Sept. 1866.

and proper charges for the work done. I recollect very well putting the question to you?—All the argument is, I suppose, this, "Two days attending the "election." That is the thing. Now I was not asked that question.

35,925. You have imposed upon the Commissioners, because you were asked again and again?—I call that a fair and proper charge. I have no doubt I did post bills. I do not say on the two days, but I did one day, decidedly.

35,926. You have charged 1*l.* 5*s.* besides the two days, and when I asked you on your original examination I distinctly put this question to you, whether you were certain that the amount, 19*l.* 15*s.*, was exclusively for posting bills?—I believed it to be correct.

35,927. It turns out to be incorrect?—I cannot help that. I do not keep any books, therefore it would be a matter of impossibility to tell the exact amount I received.

35,928. You said more, that it is expected you will vote for the side for which you post?—I did say that on examination, and I did vote.

35,929. That was when you were posting bills, not when you charge simply for attending the election?—That was a little over and above.

35,930. You deceived the Commissioners by the evidence which you gave?—If you had shown me that bill I should have——

(The Chief Commissioner.) You were asked the question in express terms.

35,931. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You have deceived the Commissioners, and it looks very much like intentional?—I did not mean to deceive you, sir.

35,932. (The Chief Commissioner.) I am only sorry that you have been allowed your expenses?—I did not mean to deceive you.

The witness withdrew.

R. Legg.

ROBERT LEGG sworn and examined.

35,933. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

35,934. A bricklayer by trade, I suppose. Have you any other trade?—I have a beer house.

35,935. You attend to the beer house, do you?—No, my missis attends to the business.

35,936. What rent do you pay for your house?—8*l.* a year, but it is on lease.

35,937. For whom did you vote at the last election?—For Mr. Gower.

35,938. I suppose you were on his committtee?—Yes.

35,939. And worked for him?—Yes.

35,940. I think your house, if I recollect rightly, was used by the committee?—Yes, it was once or twice, sir.

35,941. For refreshment?—Yes.

35,942. Can you tell me at all the amount of refreshments that were used or, rather, supplied?—What do you mean, sir?

35,943. The amount of refreshment, the bills, you know, that you received?—One bill I received was 1*l.* 19*s.* of Mr. Joyes. That was for driving a horse and cart, I think, four times.

35,944. With refreshment?—It was all included. The refreshment and going with the horse and cart to Redhill, 1*l.* 19*s.*

35,945. That was made up of one journey with the horse and cart to Redhill and refreshments?—Three journeys.

35,946. And the refreshment?—Yes.

35,947. You received something, I think, from Mr. Penfold, did not you?—No.

35,948. From whom else did you receive anything?—I received nothing at all, sir. I never received anything from any one else.

35,949. For the supply of refreshment, you know, or the use of your room?—No, I did not get paid for the last refreshment.

35,950. What was the amount of that? I think we have had your name down?—I just took it off the slate.

35,951. How much was it?—1*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.*

35,952. Who had ordered that?—Different ones belonging to the committee.

35,953. It was ordered by the committee?—Yes.

35,954. Is that all the money you have received?—All that I received on my own account.

35,955. To whom did you send the account for that 1*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.*?—To Mr. Joyes.

35,956. You received the 1*l.* 19*s.*?—Yes, I received that.

35,957. And the 1*l.* 8*s.* 10*d.* is another bill, which you have not received?—Yes, that I have never received.

35,958. What monies did you receive to pay away?—Here is the receipt (handing same); you will see it has my name on it. That I sent to Mr. Smith, and he filed it. I asked him afterwards to give it to me to show to the men, in order that they might see what I received.

35,959. How much is it altogether?—10*l.* 9*s.*

35,960. How many men?—Nineteen each night.

35,961. What were they for?—For keeping watch in the neighbourhood of Nutfield-lane, and West-street, and Reigate-heath, and Glover's-fields, and the road near the park.

35,962. That is 11*s.* a man?—No, 5*s.* 6*d.* for each man, 6*d.* for refreshment, and 5*s.* for the night.

35,963. Two nights, that would be 11*s.*?—Oh, yes. There is one lot I paid, the Lesbourne lands men, to another man; he received for the rest. I paid all the others myself.

35,964. That is all the money you got through your hands?—Yes.

36,965. Who engaged the men?—Well, I did, most of them.

35,966. I see they are nearly all voters?—Most of them.

35,967. (The Chief Commissioner.) They all are?—I think they are. I don't know one that was not.

35,968. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, they are all voters. How was it you were not paid your last account, 1*l.* 8*s.*?—How was it I was not paid, sir?

35,969. Yes?—I don't know, I am sure.

35,970. I seems a singular thing, you see, that you should pay others and not be paid yourself?—No, I received this money to pay them, and I was to be paid that account afterwards.

35,971. Why were not you paid?—I don't know why. I took the 1*l.* 19*s.*

35,972. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was that for?—For refreshment and a horse and cart. It was before the election that I took that first bill, some fortnight before the election, and the other was incurred afterwards.

35,973. You see that bill was divided into two items. How much did you charge in the bill for the horse and cart?—I don't know. The 1*l.* 19*s.* I received of Joyes for going to Redhill three times, and it was put down on the slate and the refreshment the men had had up to that time.

36,974. How much of that 1*l.* 19*s.* was for the horse and cart?—I had no items myself. It might be something like 15*s.* or 16*s.*, I should think.

35,975. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What I want to know is this; you are a respectable man, and live by your business; you cannot afford to supply refreshments without being paid for them. Why were you not paid in this case?—I applied for it, and they told me that as soon as things were settled——

35,976. What have you to do with that? If a man comes in for a pint of beer you expect to be paid for it?—I know that. I don't know what business I have to be kept out of it, but I was never paid for it.

35,977. (The Chief Commissioner.) You were paid the 10*l.* 9*s.* by Mr. Smith, I suppose?—Yes.

35,978. How did he pay you? In gold?—Yes, I think he paid me 10 sovereigns and a half, and I give him a shilling in change.

35,979. (Mr. Commissioner OBrien.) After the election?—Yes.

35,980. And after that bill was incurred?—Oh, yes; but I had delivered this account to Mr. Joyes previous to that.

35,981. (The Chief Commissioner.) After the election did you receive any more money from Mr. Smith?—Not at all, sir.

35,982. Are you sure of that?—I am sure of it.

35,983. Are there any other Leggs beside you?—William Legg, my brother.

35,984. No, I mean a Robert Legg?—No, there is not another Robert Legg.

35,985. Look here then, Legg. I do not understand this. Just look at that (handing a document), and tell me if that is your handwriting?—Yes. Then I received a cheque, sir.

35,986. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have an excellent memory; you said you recollected paying the shilling back in change?—I thought I did, sir.

35,987. (The Chief Commissioner.) What did you receive from Mr. Smith?—Nothing more than that.

35,988. Then there was no necessity to hand him back any change at all, if the cheque was for the exact amount?—I thought I took it in gold.

35,989. Now, are you of opinion that you did not hand him anything back?—I am sure I could not exactly say whether I did or did not; I could not tell.

35,990. And how much did you hand him back, if you handed him anything?—That I don't know.

35,991. Now you see, to cut it all short, here is a cheque for 11*l.*; now how do you account for that, with your name on the back?—I suppose I took that.

35,992. It does not agree; it may be a mistake, but it does not agree with your evidence, you know. There it is, you can see as well as I can; there is your writing at the back?—Oh, yes.

35,993. Now can you explain it at all?—I cannot; I don't recollect. I thought I remembered giving him some change back; I thought, as I said, that I had given him 1*s.* back.

35,994. I know you said so; I particularly took that down?—I believe I did give him some change back, but I could not swear that I did.

35,995. Then I must make the best I can of it. Was this your first election?—No.

35,996. Very good. Now be kind enough to tell me who you voted for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

35,997. I see this is in Mr. Smith's handwriting?—Yes.

35,998. (Reading) "Received of Mr. Smith for "watchers on the nights of the election, 10*l.* 9*s.*" There it is in Mr. Smith's handwriting." This is the very receipt?—Yes.

35,999. How is it that Mr. Smith has not got that receipt?—Because I asked him to let me have it to show what he paid me for the men for the night's work, and he filed it. You can see it has been filed.

36,000. I do not doubt it. Who did you say you voted for in 1863?—Mr. Wilkinson.

36,001. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

36,002. Now what money did you receive, no matter for what purpose, in 1863?—4*l.* 10*s.*

36,003. Who from?—From Mr. James.

36,004. Was that for your services?—Yes, and the use of the horse and cart.

36,005. Did you use the horse and cart?—Yes, I went three or four times to Dorking, and Dorking-Homewood.

36,006. Did you receive anything after the election?—No.

36,007. Did you receive any more money at all?—No, not at that election. That is all I received.

36,008. I do not ask you for what purpose; I want to cut it short?—That is all the money I received at that election.

36,009. Did any money go through your hands?—Not the slightest.

36,010. You received 4*l.* 10*s.* Just tell me how much of that did you value for the horse and cart. The horse and cart; I should say, if I drove the horse at that election, I drove it above 100 miles.

36,011. You went three times to Dorking?—Yes; I should say the horse and cart was worth all the money, every halfpenny of it, what it cost me.

26,012. Why did you do it?—I did it; but I certainly was not satisfied with Mr. James when he paid me.

36,013. Why on earth should you work your horse and cart and not get paid for it?—Well, I worked it last time without gettingpaid for it.

36,014. I am talking of 1863. You may get that, you know, but why did you work it in 1863 for nothing?—That is all I got paid for it.

36,015. You say you have got an account this year outstanding. Have you got an outstanding account for 1863?—No, he said he could not afford to pay any more; Mr. James said he could not afford to pay any more.

36,016. And how much was your account?—I made out an account for 10*l.* to him.

36,017. Now be kind enough to tell me how much the horse and cart was valued at in the 10*l.* account?—Well, I believe the horse and cart was worth from 4*l.* to 5*l.* during the election.

36,018. How long was it?—I was about five or six weeks at their call.

36,019. You did send in an account then for services, I take it, but you did not get paid it?—I did not get paid it.

36,020. May I take that?—Yes.

36,021. Had you been in any other election?—Oh, yes.

36,022. Tell me shortly, if you please, about the election of 1859; that was Wilkinson and Monson the general election?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,023. Were you on the committee that year?—Yes.

36,024. Who paid you? Who settled with you?—No one at all.

36,025. Did you receive any money?—Not at all.

36,026. Not for your services?—Nothing at all.

36,027. Not for your horse and cart?—Nothing.

36,028. I pass on then to the year 1858, the last election of 1858. There was an election between Monson and Wilkinson?—Yes; then I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,029. What did you get for that election?—Nothing at all.

36,030. And that you mean in the fullest sense of the word?—Yes.

36,031. Neither for yourself nor for the horse and cart nor anything else?—No.

36,032. In Doulton's election, which was in the February of the same year, 1858, who did you vote for?—I voted for Sir Henry Rawlinson, but I had been at work for Mr. Wilkinson all through the election.

36,033. What did you receive that year?—9*l.* 15*s.*, I believe it was; I could not say exactly. I was about for 10 or 11 weeks carrying out circulars and doing anything.

36,034. You were paid 9*l.* 10*s.*, you think?—I think it was 9*l.* 10*s.* or 9*l.* 15*s.*, or something like that.

36,035. I will say "I think," you know?—That is far as I can recollect.

36,036. (Mr. Commisssioner Smith.) You were nine weeks on?—Eleven weeks.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

R. Legg.

17 Sept. 1866.

36,037. (The Chief Commissioner.) Paid by whom? Do you recollect who you were paid by?—Mr. Cape.

36,038. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Who was Mr. Cape acting for?—He was acting for Mr. Wilkinson. He has acted twice I think for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,039. As his agent?—Yes.

36,040. How long before the election did Mr. Wilkinson give up? I dare say you can remember he was balloted out?—The day before the nomination.

36,041. Then you did not do much work for Sir Henry Rawlinson?—No.

36,042. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you are not only owed 1*l.* 18*s.* 6*d.*, but for all the work you did besides you have received nothing at all?—Nothing at all.

36,043. Did you claim it?—I called upon Mr. Smith, and he said he could not settle with me at present.

36,044. What did you say would satisfy you?—I did not say any amount, I never agreed for any amount, he agreed to satisfy me what I wanted.

36,045. I did not say you agreed?—I told him I should be glad of the money if he could settle with me.

36,046. How much?—What he liked to pay down.

36,047. You would say what you were entitled to?—I ought to have had 7*l.* or 8*l.*

36,048. You said so?—No, I did not say so to him; I did not say anything of the sort; he said I cannot settle with you now.

36,049. You said, "I want some money for my "services."—Yes.

36,050. You do not go and engage men to work for nothing; what did he say?—He told me he could not settle with me then?

36,051. Why?—Because there was a talk of this petition, or something like that.

36,052. When was that?—When there was a petition talked about being had against Mr. Gower, and it was weeks after the election before I asked him; I thought it was no use bothering at him.

36,053. Till the result of the petition was known?—Till things were settled.

36,054. Of course, when you undertook the labour, you expected to be paid?—Certainly I did, I did not expect to have to lose my time and labour.

36,055. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you take part in the ballot in 1858 between Wilkinson and Doulton?—And Walters.

36,056. Did Walters come in on the ballot?—Yes, he came in on the ballot.

36,057. Did you take part in that?—Yes, I balloted for Mr. Wilkinson, and I believe Walters was the first one that began to buy in the tickets, 36,058. Did you know of any tickets being bought up?—Yes; in fact I was offered 10*s.* for my ticket.

36,059. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) The ticket had your name and the name of the candidate?—No, no name; you had three tickets and you put in for whom you liked, they would buy up two and do what you liked with the other.

36,060. (The Chief Commissioner.) You would buy up two and burn them?—It was found out in the course of the day, and they ballotted with a slip of paper. I do not know what they did with them.

36,061. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) So the bought-up tickets became of no avail?—Not after some part of the day.

36,062. You know a good deal about elections?—Yes.

36,063. You know something about the elections as to treating and bribery?—Yes, plenty of that; I think that was the groundwork of bribery at Reigate. I do not believe if it had not been for that you gentlemen would be sitting here.

36,064. Was it on a larger scale and to a greater extent than it has been since?—Yes, I believe it was, but I will not answer for it; the constituency was not then so large by a good bit as it is now.

36,065. It was a small constituency then?—Yes.

36,066. So far as 1863 and 1865 are concerned the money, I suppose, was pretty free?—Yes, I believe it went generally round.

36,067. Is there any information you can give to the Commissioners of importance in reference to the election of 1865 or 1863 beyond that you have already given, which you think they ought to know?—No, not more than I have told; there is nothing more that I am acquanted with, for I never meant to have anything to do with such things more than I could help; anything they asked me to do in reason I did, but I do not care to have to do with that sort of thing.

The witness then withdrew.

G. Brockwell.

George Brockwell sworn and examined.

36,068. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

36,069. What rent do you pay?—30*l.* a year.

36,070. You are a master bricklayer?—Well, I keep a beer house as well.

36,071. What is the sign of your house?—The "Jolly Bricklayers."

36,072. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower.

36,073. Were you on his committee?—No, sir.

36,074. Did you receive any money on account of the election?—I received a sum after the election from Henry Green of 3*l.*; this was three months after the election.

36,075. What was that for?—He sent for me; I went to him, and he said, "Brockwell, I have some-"thing to give you, you might as well have a trifle as "well as the rest;" and he gave me 3*l.*

36,076. Was this your first election?—Yes.

36,077. You were rather surprised, I suppose, to see this 3*l.*; you had not made a claim?—No.

36,078. Had you had any election parties at your beer house?—Yes.

36,079. Were you paid for those?—Yes.

36,080, Perfectly independently of the 3*l.*?—Yes.

36,081. What did you receive for refreshments supplied at your house?—The first bill was 2*l.* 15*s.*

36,082. How long before this election?—About a month, and I received no more until after the election.

36,083. How much then?—About 4*l.* William Featherstone paid me the 4*l.*

36,084. For whom?—For Henry Green, I suppose. I received it from Featherstone. The bill was made out to Featherstone, and the money was paid down; it was 4*l.* 3*s.*

36,085. Did Featherstone order the refreshments?—No.

36,086. How came you to make it out to Featherstone?—It was not made out to Featherstone, it was made out for Mr. Green.

36,087. I thought you said it was made out to Featherstone?—It was made out for Mr. Green, but by Featherstone; I misunderstood you.

36,088. Had Green ordered the refreshments?—A report came to me they would pay. I said I had heard nothing at all about it. He said, "It is all right," and I should have the money if I would let them have them; I think it was at Thorpe's brewery.

36,089. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was the whole bill of 2*l.* 15*s.* incurred that night?—No.

36,090. Was it on other occasions as from orders from Mr. Green?—I spoke to Mr. Green, and he said it was all right.

36,091. It having been said it was all right, you made out your bills against Green in consequence?—Yes.

36,092. And you were paid?—Yes.

36,093. That is as to the 2*l.* 15*s.* ?—Yes.

36,094. After that you got more money; you got the sum of 4*l.* ?—Yes.

36,095. William Featherstone paid it ?—Yes.

36,096. Was that made out to Featherstone or Green, or was there a bill at all ?—Mr. Green agreed to it.

36,097. And how much did he pay ?—I do not know whether it was 4*l.* or 4*l.* 10*s.*

36,098. The second bill ?—Yes.

36,099. You had not voted on any previous election ?—No, I had not voted on any previous election.

36,100. Is there anything more you know about the election of 1865 that you can tell the Commissioners ?—Nothing.

The witness withdrew.

ALFRED BARTLETT sworn and examined. A. Bartlett.

36,101. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A plasterer.

36,102. What rent do you pay ?—6*s.* a week.

36,103. I mean you paid that when you voted last time ?—Yes.

36,104. For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Gower.

36,105. Were you on his committee ?—No, sir.

36,106. Did you work for him at all ?—No, I did not.

36,107. Did you receive anything before the polling ?—Yes; I received 2*l.* from Mr. Green.

36,108. Before you polled ?—Yes, before I polled.

36,109. And how much did you receive after you polled ?—Nothing.

36,110. Did you receive that the morning of the polling ?—No, nearly a month before.

36,111. What did he give you the 2*l.* for ?—He did not say. I was not aware it was for the vote.

36,112. You were not aware when he gave it it was for the vote ?—No.

36,113. Why did he give you the 2*l.* ?—That I cannot say; I received it and I spent it.

36,114. Did anybody apply to you for Mr. Monson? —There was no other person but Mr. Green.

36,115. Your name is Alfred Bartlett ?—Yes; but they have always had me registered as George. I was sworn in my right name on the morning of the poll.

36,116. Who brought you to the poll ?—I went myself.

36,117. Did you see Mr. Green ?—I saw him there, but I went by myself; I was the third man that was polled on the Redhill list.

The witness then withdrew.

HENRY JOHNSON sworn and examined. H. Johnson.

36,118. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you vote at the last election for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

36,119. What are you ?—A chimney sweep.

36,120. What rent did you pay for your house ?—5*s.* a week.

36,121. And were you put on the committee ?—They teased me to be on the committee, but I did not attend more than twice, for I am hard of hearing.

36,122. Who was it put you on the committee ?—Mr. Green, I believe.

36,123. Did you receive any money before the election ?—Not on account of the election.

36,124. I did not say so; but did you receive any money before the election ?—Mr. Green came to me before the election one night and lent me a sovereign, and I never knowed but what he meant it to be lent to me till after the election.

36,125. Why was it lent to you ?—I had a sick wife who had been under the doctor's hands for six years, and I had a sick child; and he said to me when he called upon me, "John, how is your wife," and I told him; and he said, "Here is a sovereign for "you."

36,126. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your wife had been ill six years ?—Yes.

36,127. Had Mr. Green been so charitable to you before ?—No.

36,128. He never lent you a sovereign before ?—No.

36,129. How long was that before the election ?—A fortnight.

36,130. What did you receive after the election ?—Nothing.

36,131. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you asked him to lend you a sovereign ?—No, no.

36,132. Has he asked you to return it ?—No, he never has.

36,133. (The Chief Commissioner.) How is that ?—I cannot say.

36,134. Was this your first election ?—It was.

36,135. I dare say you guess why you ought to be out of his debt ?—Well, I think there ought to be something coming to me.

36,136. Then you think you do not owe the sovereign ?—There have been lots of people who have been paid; who have received money for what they did.

36,137. But why do you not owe him the 1*l.* ?—I went out at the election and carried a few circulars.

The witness then withdrew.

RICHARD BURGE sworn and examined. R. Burge.

36,138. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A mason.

36,139. A stonemason ?—Yes.

36,140. What rent do you pay for your house ?—26*l.* a year.

36,141. For whom did you vote ?—For Mr. Monson.

36,142. Were you on Mr. Monson's committee ?—No, I was not.

36,143. Who canvassed you to vote for Mr. Monson ?—Mr. Nichols and Mr. Peat.

36,144. Did you receive anything before the poll ?—I did not.

36,145. What did you receive after ?—2*l.*

36,146. From Mr. Peat ?—Yes.

36,147. You were not on the committee at all ?—I was not.

36,148. And did nothing ?—No, I did not.

36,149. You received 2*l.* for your vote ?—Mr. Peat told me he would give me 2*l.* for two days' time, for the loss of two days' time.

36,150. For your voting ?—No, not my voting.

36,151. Why did Mr. Monson care about your losing two days' work if you did not vote for him; a man of judgment and the least common sense would not say that was so; however, you received the 2*l.* ?—Yes.

36,152. How soon after the election did you receive it ?—I should say two months.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

R. Burge.

17 Sept. 1866.

36,153. Did you apply to him for it?—I did not.

36,154. How did you receive it?—He brought it to me when I was at work.

36,155. Did he name the 2*l.*?—No; he said most people had had something, and he thought I should have something.

36,156. When you promised to vote was anything said?—No.

36,157. He said you would be paid for polling and nomination day?—He told me so after.

36,158. And he gave you the 2*l.* for that?—The two days I had lost; but there was nothing said about it at the time.

36,159. There was nothing said about it when he asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Nothing was said about money matters.

36,160. Did you ever vote before?—No.

36,161. This was your first election?—Yes.

The witness then withdrew.

G. Robson.

GEORGE ROBSON sworn and examined.

36,162. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Mr. Robson?—A head gardener; a gardener.

36,163. What rent do you pay for your house?—I pay 13*l.* a year.

36,164. Do you pay it by the week?—I generally do, but my landlord is not particular whether it is paid weekly or monthly.

36,165. Who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

36,166. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

36,167. Who put you on?—Mr. Mazden.

36,168. What were you to do?—I was to attend meetings.

36,169. Did you do much of that?—I did all that was required.

36,170. Did it amount to much?—It amounted to more than I wished it; I did what I was required every night when he sent after me.

36,171. Did they send after you more than one night?—Yes.

36,172. Was any arrangement made with you what you were to have?—No.

36,173. Did you receive anything before the election?—No.

36,174. Did you receive anything after the election?—I received 2*l.* from Thomas Penfold.

36,175. Was that all you received?—It was, sir; every farthing.

36,176. Did the Monson party try to get your assistance?—Not from any one I considered an agent. Certainly I was asked by a party, but I did not considered him duly authorized to ask me.

36,177. Did they give you to understand in pretty plain terms what they would give?—They did not; I did not consider him an agent.

36,178. What were the terms?—30*s.* a week, and Joseph Hewett suggested it; but I never listened to this, because I had promised the other side.

36,179 Was this your first election?—No, '63; and I voted for Mr. Gower and was on his committee.

36,180. And what did you receive that time?—I received 3*l.* from Thomas Corderoy; it was my first election.

36,181. In 1863 you did not receive any other money to give to anybody else whatever?—Not a fraction.

The witness withdrew.

G. Etcell.

GEORGE ETCELL sworn and examined.

36,182. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A labourer.

36,183. What rent did you pay?—4*s.* a week.

36,184. What did you labour at?—In the roads.

36,185. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

36,186. Were you on his committee?—Yes.

36,187. Where were you on his committee?—Mead-vale.

36,188. I suppose you worked?—Yes, a bit.

36,189. By attending committees, I suppose?—Yes.

36,190. And voted?—Yes.

36,191. What did you get paid?—I lost two days, nomination and polling.

36,192. What did you get paid for it?—30*s.*, two months after the election.

36,193. From whom?—Mr. Penfold.

36,194. (The Chief Commissioner.) After the election?—Two months after.

36,195. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Penfold put you on the committee?—Mr. Buckland.

36,196. When you were put on the committee did Mr. Buckland tell you what you would have?—No, there was no money mentioned by Mr. Buckland.

36,197. Were you told that you would receive something for your loss of time?—Yes.

36,198. I suppose you took that something to mean money?—Yes.

36,199. Though money was not actually mentioned, you understood you were to receive money?—To be paid for my loss of time.

36,200. You are always paid in money?—Yes.

36,201. It is no use saying you did not expect to receive money. Eventually you received 30*s.* from Penfold?—Yes.

36,202. Had you voted before?—Yes.

36,203. In 1863?—Yes, for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,204. Were you on the committee then?—No.

36,205. Did you work?—No.

30,206. Nothing?—Nothing.

36,207. Did you lose your nomination and polling day?—I never received it or never asked for it.

36,208. Did you lose it?—No, I got off, because I was not gone 20 minutes; I worked near.

36,209. You were not paid for that?—No.

36,210. Was that your first election?—No, one before that.

36,211. Was that in 1859?—It was the general election in 1859.

36,212. For whom did you vote then?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

36,213. Did you receive anything for it?—No.

35,214. Did you receive anything at all during that election?—I received nothing till this time.

36,215. You understand what we mean now by being paid, money or money's worth?—I received nothing whatever.

36,216. (The Chief Commissioner.) I only want to ask you this: where were you working in 1865, when you received 30*s.* for nomination and polling day?—On the other side of the Brighton railway of the British Land Society.

36,217. How far from here?—About a mile or a mile and a half.

36,218. Did you have anything deducted from your wages for nomination and polling day?—Two days.

36,219. How much was deducted?—2*s.* 8*d.* was my pay. It was 4*s.* 4*d.*

36,220. 5*s.* 4*d.*?—Yes, 5*s.* 4*d.*

36,221. Then you were paid 30*s.* instead of your 5*s.* 4*d.*?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE TULLETT sworn and examined.

36,222. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A brewer.

36,223. What rent do you pay?—31*l.* a year.

36,224. For whom did you vote—For Mr. Gower this time.

36,225. What is your house?—The sign of the "Bell."

36,226. This is not the first time you voted?—No.

36,227. For whom did you vote in 1863?—For Mr. Wilkinson.

36,228. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—No.

36,229. Did you supply refreshments? Your house was used, I think?—Yes, it was.

36,230. What did you receive for the use of your rooms?—I had nothing for the rooms, only for the refreshments, 3*l.* 10*s.* from Mr. Green.

36,231. That was the first time?—That was for refreshments.

36,232. Was that paid before the polling?—No, afterwards.

36,233. Perhaps you did not send in your account till after the election?—No, not till after the election.

36,234. Did that include all the refreshments you supplied?—Yes.

36,235. How many evenings did that include?—Only one evening, and then they came in on polling day and nomination day.

36,236. Did you exert yourself for Mr. Gower?—No.

36,237. In any way?—No.

36,238. Did you receive anything for yourself?—Not a farthing.

36,239. Neither before or after?—No.

36,240. No consideration whatever?—No.

36,241. You voted in 1863?—Yes.

36,242. Were you on Mr. Wilkinson's committee?—No.

36,243. Was your house used by the Wilkinson party in 1863?—Yes.

36,244. What was your bill?—I forget what it was. It was about 3*l.*, but I never got the money, worse luck.

36,245. Why, if you supplied refreshments, did you not get it?—I took the bill to Mr. James up at Laker's; he pushed me aside and said, "I think you are one of "those fellows who would have turned the other "way."

36,246. What had that to do with supplying beer?—Nothing; still I never got my money.

36,247. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You had voted his way, Mr. James's way?—Yes, Mr. James was that way. Westbury gave me the order to give the men beer.

36,248. Why did you not sue Westbury?—I let it go.

35,249. (The Chief Commissioner.) Why do you not now sue Westbury?—I have let it go.

36,250. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Why should you supply beer for the benefit of Mr. Wilkinson's men?—I have no right to.

36,251. You might as well send in a barrel of beer to his cellar and say, "Mr. Wilkinson, you are a poor "man, I will supply you with beer." Did you receive any money that election?—No.

36,252. Was that the first time you voted?—No.

36,253. I take it that you received no consideration?—Nothing.

36,254. Except you were a loser?—I was a loser.

36,255. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you make an application to have a meeting held at your house?—No.

36,256. Did you not? Then how was it they came to hold a meeting at your house?—What I mean is, I never made an application. A few came in one night, about a dozen, and the rest at odd times in the day, when they were round with bills or anything.

36,257. Did they not pay then?—No.

36,258. Why not?—Because I was ordered to give it to the canvassers.

36,259. Who ordered you?—Mr. Green asked me to give some refreshments away.

36,260. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That was in 1865?—Yes.

36,261. (The Chief Commissioner.) What I want to know is how many meetings you had at your house, besides refreshments to canvassers?—Only one night, when there were about a dozen.

36,262. How did they come to hold a meeting there?—I spoke to one or two, and they spoke to one another.

36,263. You spoke to one or two, asking them whether they would come and have a meeting at your house?—Yes, I had a dozen of them.

36,264. Who was it you asked to come and have a meeting at your house?—I cannot say now; it was a few of the neighbours.

36,265. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You said, "Give me a turn"?—Yes, or something like that.

36,266. (The Chief Commissioner.) And they did?—Yes.

36,267. Was there much refreshment sold to other people when they had a meeting there?—No, there was no one else there.

36,268. How many were there?—I should think something like a dozen.

36,269. What did they take to drink?—Ale.

36,270. Only ale?—No more; I keep a beer house.

36,271. Does it occur to you now, after the conversation you and I have had, what the 3*l.* 10*s.* was paid to you by Mr. Green for?—For nothing; only the refreshments, which was three weeks before, and very often the canvassers came round.

36,272. And had a glass of beer?—Yes, when they were round.

36,273. How many times?—I could not tell you.

36,274. Allowing for that, does it occur to you what Mr. Green paid you the 3*l.* 10*s.* for?—For the refreshments.

36,275. You really think that?—Yes.

36,276. And you consider you earned it?—Yes.

36,277. For what beer was supplied?—Yes, what I supplied.

36,278. You really do not mean to say for one night's meeting of about 12 people, and for a casual glass of beer for canvassers, you had a claim for 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Not only one night.

36,279. Yes it was only one night, I got it particularly; and besides the one night there were casual glasses of beer to the canvassers as they came round, first one and then another?—Yes.

36,280. Do you mean to tell me that your proper account was 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

36,281. Did you send in an account?—Yes, Mr. Green had the bill.

36,282. Were there items in Mr. Green's account, or did you put down the amount, the whole sum, 3*l.* 10*s.*? I could not tell, I am no scholar, and my misses made the bill out, and they paid her the money.

36,283. You knew Mr. Gower had been up in 1863, now, knowing that, I ask you why did you promise for Mr. Gower?—Because when I promised for Mr. Wilkinson I never got the money for what they had in refreshments.

36,284. You voted for Mr. Gower because you had not been paid at the previous election by Mr. Wilkinson?—Yes.

36,285. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You cannot give us the supply of beer?—No.

36,286. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I suppose you give 36*s.* a barrel?—No, not quite so much.

36,287. What did you give?—33*s.*

(The Chief Commissioner.) That is a little over two barrels, or nearly two barrels and a half.

36,288. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I see refreshments put down, were there any other refreshments given?—Not that I know of.

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

G Tullett.

17 Sept. 1866.

36,289. I mean bread and butter, or bread and cheese ?—They might have some bread and butter to help the beer down.

36,290. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you have your meeting shortly before the election ?—No, three weeks or a month before.

The witness withdrew.

W. Hopper.

William Hopper sworn and examined.

36,291. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A groom and gardener.

36,292. What rent do you pay?—13*l.* a year.

36,293. Paid quarterly, or weekly, or how ?—When the man likes to come for it; sometimes six months, perhaps three months, or four.

36,294. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

36,295. I do not know who put you on the committee ?—Nobody.

36,296. You were not on ?—No.

36,297. Who was it talked to you about your vote ?—He came to me.

36,298. After he came, I want to know who of the agents came?—Baggalley talked to me about it.

36,299. Who was Baggaley working under ?—He is a master man for himself.

36,300. What did Baggaley pay you ? Did he pay you something before the election ?—No.

36,301. What did Baggaley pay you after the election ?—2*l.*, after the election.

36,302. From whom ?—From himself.

36,303. I wish you could tell me who he was working for ?—No, I cannot.

36,304. Who did you vote for in 1863 ?—Mr. Gower.

36,305. What did you get then ?—Nothing at all.

36,306. How was that ?—Because I did not get it, I suppose.

36,307. That is the same thing over again ; why did you not ?—I do not know ; I was promised it.

36,308. Who by ?—Mr. Nichols promised me I should be paid.

36,309. Were you on the committee ?—I was on the committee three weeks or a month.

36,310. When you asked to be paid what did he say ?—I saw him in the road one day ; I went and said it was a long time before I got anything; he said he could not pay me anything, and I did not see him again to say anything to him about it.

36,311. How much did he promise you ?—He did not promise anything at all.

36,312. Was that your first election ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

W. Hind.

William Hind sworn and examined.

36,313. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—I am underguard to a goods train.

36,314. For what company ?—South-eastern railway.

36,315. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

36,316. What rent was your house ?—10*l.* a year.

36,317. Did you pay by the week or quarterly ?—Weekly.

36,318. Who was your landlord ?—Mr. Stoneman.

36,319. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee ?—He told me I was.

36,320. Who did ?—Mr. Stoneman.

36,321. Did you attend any of the committees ?—I tried to do so.

36,322. Where ?—At the town hall.

36,323. When was it Mr. Stoneman told you you were on the committee?—I cannot tell you when it was.

36,324. Did he mention any sum to you ?—Yes.

36,325. He mentioned a sum, but you do not remember what sum ?—I do not.

36,326. Did you receive any money before voting ?—Yes.

36,327. Did you receive any money after ?—No; I have not got it yet.

36,328. Did you ask Mr. Stoneman about it ?—Yes.

36,329. How long after the election did you apply to Mr. Stoneman ?—I did not apply ; oh, yes I did.

36,330. I call asking him applying ?—Yes, I did ask for it, two or three times.

36,331. How long after the election did you first ask him ?—A few weeks after.

36,332. What did he say ?—He said he could not get the money.

36,333. Was it the same answer each time ?—Yes.

36,334. That he could not get the money ?—Yes.

36,335. Do you know Shepherd ?—Yes.

36,336. Did he ask you ?—No.

36,337. Did he not canvass you at all ?—No.

36,338. Are you sure ?—Yes.

36,339. Did you hear the other men on the railway were receiving money ?—Yes.

36,340. Had Stoneman seen you before you heard these men were to receive money ?—I do not know that.

36,341. I want to know whether you were promised by the other side ?—No.

36,342. You promised to Mr. Gower ?—I do not think I did.

36,343. I mean to say perhaps you can charge it to your recollection in this way ; you had promised Mr Gower through Mr. Stoneman ?—I never saw Mr. Gower at all.

36,344. You saw Mr. Stoneman ?—Yes; it might have been a little before; I think it was.

36,345. Before you heard anything about the other men receiving money ?—Yes. I do not know who it was that spoke to me about it, whether it was Shepherd or anybody else ; I cannot say who it was.

36,346. I suppose you said you had promised your vote ?—Yes.

36,347. And there was an end of it ?—Yes.

36,348. Did they offer you anything on the part of Mr. Monson, though you did not accept it ?—No, not till after the election.

36,349. You were offered something from Mr. Monson's party ?—Yes.

36,350. Though you had voted for Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

36,351. Who was it offered you anything on the part of Mr. Monson ?—William Cook.

36,352. Was he a fellow workman ?—He was an engine driver.

36,353. What took place between you and Cook ?—About the night before polling day he came and asked me if I would vote for Mr. Monson, and, as I could not get any money from the other side, I told him if they would put me on and canvass me I would let them have my vote, "otherwise," I said, "I will "vote for Mr. Gower." As I never heard any more of it, not till after the polling, I went according as I said, and voted for Mr. Gower, as there was no one who had come to me. Two days after the polling day, I think it was, William Cook brought me 5*l.*; I said, "Well, you may divide that, I have not voted for Mr. "Monson;" and I said, "You take half and I will take "half."

36,354. Which way did Cook vote ?—I do not think he had any vote at all.

36,355. Did Cook tell you who he got the 5*l.* from ?—I think he said from Langridge's.

36,356. Are you certain William Cook was not a voter ?—I am certain he was not; he told me he wished he had a vote at the same time.

36,357. How much were you paid by Cook ?—2*l.* 10*s.*

36,358. Did Cook tell you where he got the 5*l.* from?—I believe he said he got it from Langridge's.

36,359. At Langridge's?—Yes; at the "Railway" inn, I think it is.

36,360. Was that all that took place between you and Cook?—That was all that took place; it was only a day or two before the polling.

36,361. You were paid after the polling?—I was paid, I think, two days after polling.

36,362. Cook had asked to vote for Mr. Monson?—Yes. I did not think he had got anything to do with it.

36,363. Did this take place—just tell me whether I am right in the assumption—Cook canvassed you for Mr. Monson, remember, two days before the election, and you held out inducements to him that you would vote if you were canvassed?—If they would come to me and canvass me, and ask me; I said that he had got nothing to do with it, and therefore I did not take his word.

36,364. Do you know from any source that Cook had received the money before the polling day to be paid to you?—I do not think he did.

36,365. Did Cook tell you he had got the 5*l.* from Langridge's to pay you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—He said, "I have got 5*l.* for you."

36,366. Did he not tell you he had got the 5*l.*, and that it was to be paid to you for your vote for Mr. Monson?—He did not mention that word.

36,367. Or anything like it; he must have told you why he had got it?—I never asked him, because I thought perhaps it might be for that; I did not ask him how it was.

36,368. Did he not tell you he had got it from Langridge's for you?—He told me he had got 5*l.* for me; I said, "All right, you shall have half of it."

36,369. Was not that before the election?—It was two days after, I think.

36,370. Did he tell you from whence he got it?—He told me he had just got it.

36,371. He did not know that you had voted for Mr. Gower, I expect?—I do not know, I told him plain enough, that if no one came to me I should.

36,372. That was before the election?—Yes.

36,373. That was to Cook?—Yes, two nights before the election I did. They had never been to see me about my vote, and therefore I did not vote for them.

36,374. Are you quite certain that it was not on the nomination day you got the 5*l.* from George Cook?—It was two days after, I believe.

36,375. Where is Cook?—He is driver now on the goods train; he is at Redhill.

36,376. Does he live at the railway station, does he leave from the railway station?—Yes, to Bricklayers Arms.

36,377. Had you voted before here?—No, that was the first that I ever had.

36,378. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Stoneman canvassed you for your vote and told you you would be paid?—Yes.

36,379. How much?—I do not think he told me how much, he said I should be paid for my trouble.

36,380. You are at work on the railway, you could do nothing about it; how much did he say?—He did not say, and therefore I cannot tell you.

36,381. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said he did tell you, but you could not recollect?—Did I? Then I cannot recollect.

36,382. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What did you expect to get?—I did not expect to get much.

36,383. How much?—I heard the others were to have 30*s.* a week, but I did not expect so much.

36,384. You did not expect to get so much?—No.

36,385. And what the others had was 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

36,386. When you told Cook to send a man to canvass you, if the man came and offered you the same as the others were getting you would vote for Mr. Monson, that is what you meant by canvassing?—No, I do not know that I did.

36,387. Now, come, come?—No, I thought my vote was worth asking for.

36,388. You thought if your vote was not worth paying for you would not give it. You expected what the other men were getting. There is not a more intelligent and respectable class of men than railway men, they are obliged to be so from their work; now you must know that is what you meant by saying if they would come and ask you for your vote they should have it?—They never offered me anything.

36,389. You did not get the money before you voted, why did you keep it after?—I thought perhaps it might not go back to the right owners, and I thought I might as well have it.

36,390. Do you mean that he would steal it?—I did not expect that he had stolen it.

36,391. No, but retained it; that would be equally dishonest; do you mean that?—No, I do not mean that.

36,392. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you do not recollect what was the exact sum offered to you?—No.

36,393. Was it not 4*l.* 10*s.* for the three weeks, 30*s.* a week?—I know that appeared in the paper, but it was never offered me.

36,394. It was not offered you?—It was not offered me.

36,395. You say some sum of money was offered?—There was a sum of money offered, but not that sum; the sum of money was never mentioned to me.

36,396. I think you said this was the first time you voted?—Yes.

36,397. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you know who Stoneman was working under?—He was working under Mr. Gower.

36,398. Yes, I know all that; but what agent was he accountable to?—Job Apted.

The witness withdrew.

JAMES BYFIELD sworn and examined.

J. Byfield.

(The Witness.) Before you ask me any question I will say a few words, and then you may proceed as fast as you like. I have been an inhabitant of this town for 20 years, and I have been in every election for 20 years, and I have been on every committee, and I really am sorry to see my name mixed up with such a lot of bad men as I have seen it. My name is not on the register now, and I am very happy that they have made a mistake and left it off. I was ashamed to see it.

36,399. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I need hardly ask you after that, you never received any money?—I never thought of such a thing, such a thing never entered my mind, nor I did not suppose that anybody else did. I was so simple as that, although I am 74 years old.

36,400. We are never too old to learn.—I have learned a great deal I am sure.

The witness withdrew.

GEORGE BOORMAN sworn and examined.

G. Boorman.

36,401. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A painter.

36,402. What rent do you pay for your house?—12*l.*

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

G. Boorman.

17 Sept. 1866.

36,403. Weekly ?—Quarterly.

36,404. Who did you vote for ?—Mr. Monson.

36,405. Were you on his committee ?—My name was on.

36,406. Who put it on ?—I do not know.

36,407. Who asked you to vote for him, probably he was the man that did it ?—Mr. Monson and Mr. Gower came to my house.

36,408. After that who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson, which of their agents ?—I was not asked by any one; I told them weeks, almost months, before who I should vote for.

36,409. Who did you say you were going to vote for ?—Mr. Monson.

36,410. Did you work for Mr. Monson ?—No.

36,411. Not at all ?—No.

36,412. You took no part in it ?—No.

36,413. Did you receive any money to pay to any of the electors ?—No, not a halfpenny.

36,414. Did you receive any money before the election ?—Nothing.

36,415. Did you receive anything after the election ?—Yes.

36,416. Who from ?—Corderoy.

36,417. What did you get ?—3*l.*

36,418. What for ?—I suppose because I voted for them; I did not do anything.

36,419. You are the first man who has uttered that in plain English that I recollect. Was this your first election ?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

W. G. Love.

William George Love sworn and examined.

36,420. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you ?—A house decorator.

36,421. Is that all or are you anything else besides that ?—Paper hanging, if that is anything.

36,422. You are connected with that trade simply ?—Yes.

36,423. What do you pay for the rent of your house ?—20*l.* a year.

36,424. For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

36,425. And were you on the committee ?—I was not.

36,426. Did you receive anything on account of the election ?—I think not; merely for making a flag, and dying it and painting on it "Welcome Mr. Gower."

36,427. What did you get for that flag ?—1*l.* 1*s.* 9*d.*; it was a banneret.

36,428. A banner ?—Yes.

36,429. Was it a painted banner ?—Yes.

36,430. Who paid you for it ?—Mr. Smith.

36,431. Who ordered it ?—Mr. Heath.

36,432. What Heath ?—William Heath.

36,433. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was he a carpenter ?—No, a gasfitter.

36,434. (The Chief Commissioner.) William Heath of where ?—Of Reigate.

36,435. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) And a voter ?—And a voter.

36,436. (The Chief Commissioner.) William Heath of Church-street, is that it ?—Yes.

36,437. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the banner used for ?—To put up in the town hall, the public hall. It was to welcome Mr. Gower when he first came into Reigate this time.

36,438. It was not for the election ?—It was to welcome him here.

36,439. Was that the only banner you made, was that the only flag or banner used ?—The only one.

36,440. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were there any devices on it ?—Yes, "Welcome Gower."

36,441. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Were there any emblems ?—No.

36,442. Was that the only money you received ?—Yes.

36,443. From anybody ?—From anybody.

36,444. (The Chief Commissioner.) On any account ?—Yes.

36,445. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Had you voted in '63 ?—I had.

36,446. Were you on any committee then ?—On Mr. Gower's committee.

36,447. Had you anything to do then ?—Two flags; those were flags for poles on the tops of houses.

36,448. What did you get for them ?—I forget.

36,449. About ?—Perhaps 8*l.* or 9*l.*, or 9*l.* or 10*l.*

36,450. For the two ?—Yes.

36,451. What were those flags made of ?—I do not know.

36,452. They were not made of silk I suppose ?—No, that would not be the price of one.

36,453. Were they made of bunting ?—Yes.

36,454. Like ordinary ship flags ?—The ordinary flag; they were made here.

36,455. You said they were large flags ?—I should think they were 20 feet long.

36,456. Was "Welcome Gower" on them ?—No, I think it was "Gower for Reigate."

36,457. Who paid you then ?—Mr. Smith.

36,458. You had no flag "Purity for ever" ?—No.

36,459. "Purity of election" ?—Oh, no.

36,460. Had you voted before ?—No.

36,461. Or taken part in any election before ?—No.

36,462. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you send in a bill ?—I did.

36,463. To Mr. Smith ?—Yes.

36,464. You did not give a description of the banners ?—No, I did not give any description of it; I sent in my bill, "Supplying banner, materials and labour."

36,465. Had you been in the habit of supplying banners ?—Yes.

36,466. Before you were a voter ?—Yes, it is in my line of business.

36,467. Did you paint any banners in '59 ?—No, I was not here in Reigate then.

36,368. Then you never painted a banner for a Reigate election before ?—No.

36,469. Where did you paint banners before ?—I painted the first one in the High-street here.

36,470. For whom ?—The banner for last election, for Mr. Gower.

36,471. Did you paint banners in a place where you were not a voter ?—Yes.

36,472. Where ?—Norwich and Yarmouth.

36,473. You were not a voter at Yarmouth ?—No.

36,474. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you charge the Yarmouth prices ?—No, they are too dear.

36,475. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you paint that flag ?—Some time ago, twenty years ago.

36,476. For what ?—I forget.

36,477. Was it an election banner ?—No.

36,478. You cannot tell me the price ?—No, perhaps 15 or 20 guineas; it was in gold and silver perhaps.

36,479. You cannot tell me of any you have made lately ?—Yes; the price all depends upon what you put on them.

36,480. I will put it to you, was the price you charged for the flag a fair tradesmanlike price ?—Yes.

36,481. Was it a fair tradesmanlike price, and not put on for the purpose; not a mere pretence ?—Oh, not at all.

36,482. It was not much more than if you were doing it for anybody else ?—No.

36,483. I do not mean that you should not charge a fair price ?—No, I should not charge more than to any other man if he came to me at such a time.

The witness withdrew.

WILLIAM LEGG sworn and examined.

36,484. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A bricklayer.

36,485. A master bricklayer I suppose?—No, a journeyman.

36,486. What do you pay for your house?—16*l.* a year.

36,487. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

36,488. Were you on the committee?—No, never on the committee in my life.

36,489. Did you do anything for him?—No, not anything.

36,490. Had you voted before this election?—Oh yes, I voted for Mr. Parrott, as far back as that.

36,491. Did you receive anything during this election?—Not a farthing.

36,492. Nor after?—Nor after, and I never had anything promised me.

36,493. (The Chief Commissioner.) Not in this '65 election?—No.

36,494. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you receive anything in the '63 election?—Nothing.

36,495. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Wilkinson I think, that time.

36,496. You received nothing?—Nothing.

36,497. You had not worked for him?—I never did anything for him.

36,498. You gave an honest vote?—Yes.

36,499. Can you say the same of all the votes you have given?—I had 10*l.* for my room at Mr. Doulton's election, and that is all I received at any election; I had a beer house.

36,500. Do you keep a beer house now?—Yes.

36,501. Did your house supply refreshments to Mr. Gower's party?—It did once.

36,502. This last time?—For one night.

36,503. What was the amount?—30*s.* I think; I will not be sure to a few shillings.

36,504. Was that a fair price for the beer taken and drunk?—Yes, that is the ale, and ginger-beer, and everything.

36,505. Did they consume that?—They consumed that.

36,506. Honestly consumed it?—Yes.

36,507. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did the committee take your room this last election?—No, that was in Mr. Doulton's time.

36,508. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Have you been paid the 30*s.*, have you been paid it yourself?—Yes.

36,509. By whom?—Titchener, he paid me before he left the room 30*s.*; I will not be certain to a shilling or so, but it was something like that.

36,510. Do you mean that there had been a meeting at your house?—Yes, one meeting.

36,511. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Titchener paid you?—Yes.

36,512. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Now be sure that I will give you every opportunity of correcting yourself if you are in error; are you sure whether you received 30*s.*?—It might be a shilling under or over.

36,513. I do not mean a shilling under or over, but did you receive any other monies besides the 30*s.*? Not a farthing.

36,514. From anybody else?—From no one.

36,515. And who did you say paid it?—Titchener.

36,516. Did you send in any bill with the refreshments?—I gave Titchener the bill.

36,517. Can you tell me how much was in the bill you gave Titchener?—It was something like 30*s.*; it might have been a shilling under or over.

36,518. Might it be as much as 15*s.* or 16*s.* for refreshments, and you received 30*s.*?—No, it was within 2*s.* either way of 30*s.* I am sure.

36,519. Do not be too sure. Look at that bill, read it yourself?—(The bill was handed to the witness.) Well, that is it.

36,520. That is a bill for 16*s.* for refreshments, and you received 30*s.*?—Perhaps it was not any more, I never had but one.

36,521. I gave you every possible opportunity of correcting yourself?—I thought it was so.

36,522. You received the 30*s.*?—I do not know that I did; I received the money to pay for the bill.

36,523. I asked you again and again did you receive the 30*s.*?—I cannot tell, this thing was so long ago; I did not hear or see any more about them.

36,524. (The Chief Commissioner.) You said, "I "am sure it was only 1*s.* or 2*s.* more or under"?—Yes.

36,525. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I asked you first if there was anything besides the refreshments, and I wished to call your attention and confine your memory to it. This would appear as if you received the 30*s.* and that the refreshments were 16*s.*, and, therefore, that 14*s.* went into your own pocket?—It never went into my pocket.

36,526. But that is what it would appear?—I never had a farthing but the bill.

36,527. It is Featherstone you received it from?—No.

36,528. "July 4th, 1865, Mr. Green and Mr. L., "for refreshments,"?—I made a mistake, there must be two; there must have been two meetings, but I had quite forgotten about that.

36,529. (The Chief Commissioner.) Here is the bill, it is plain enough?—Oh, that is right enough.

36,530. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you vote for Mr. Gower?—Yes.

36,531. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do pray explain it some way or other?—It appears as if we had had two meetings, but I had forgotten all about it.

36,532. It does not look like it to me?—I recollect now, that Mr. Wesley came up; I think it was him.

36,533. Do you think it is this, that you sent in this bill for 16*s.* for refreshments, and that they paid you 30*s.*?—No, there was another one from Titchener.

36,534. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you had two bills?—I had two.

36,535. (The Chief Commissioner.) What for?—For refreshments, and I was thinking I had but one; that is how it is.

36,536. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you sign a receipt for the money you received?—I gave that to Titchener.

36,537. You sent in a bill to him?—No, he paid me before he left the room.

36,538. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then you gave him a receipt?—Well, I expect so.

36,539. Would you give him a receipt for it to enable him to get the money from somebody else?—Yes.

36,540. Robert Legg is your brother?—Yes.

36,541. Did you supply any refreshments in Mr. Doulton's time?—No.

36,542. You got 10*l.* for the use of the room?—Yes.

36,543. Did you vote for Mr. Doulton?—Yes.

36,544. Do you not think it will be worth while if you could clear this up by going to Titchener and asking him to give you the receipt?—I can go and ask him.

36,545. As it at present stands you were paid 30*s.* for a 16*s.* bill?—No, it is a mistake.

36,546. That is the way it stands?—Yes, but it is a mistake altogether.

36,547. My advice to you is, that you should turn it over in your mind, and ask Titchener for information; you understand how it is at present?—It is quite right; I made a mistake.

36,548. It is not right here, you can if you like explain it by getting the bill?—Well, I can; I really forgot that little meeting.

36,549. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are put down in Titchener's account as having received from

TWENTY-THIRD DAY.

W. Legg.

17 Sept. 1866.

him 1*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* ?—That must be it, I only had one against him.

36,550. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) That one is for 16*s.* ?—No, that is not Titchener's.

36,551. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then you think it might have been 1*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* instead of 30*s.* ? Yes, it might have been; I forgot entirely about that meeting.

36,552. Did either bill include anything but the refreshments supplied ?—Only refreshments.

36,553. Did it not include anything but the price of the refreshment which you supplied ?—That was all.

36,554. Nothing more ?—Nothing more.

36,555. You did not specify the different items ?—No.

36,556. Who made out the bill; did your wife ?—I expect one of my boys did.

36,557. Who kept an account of what was drawn and supplied ?—Perhaps I did; I think most likely I did.

36,558. Did you enter it on a slate ?—Yes, I made a mark for every pot.

36,559. I really want to know, not as against you, but rather as helping you, what did they have to drink ?—They had ale and ginger beer generally.

36,560. And they consumed all that amount ?—Yes.

36,561. You say that ?—Yes, I do.

36,562. How many of them were there ?—I do not know; 16 or 17 perhaps; I do not know exactly.

36,563. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you remember another meeting at all ?—No, I do not remember it.

36,564. Do you remember Mr. Thomas Featherstone paying you any money ?—That was in Mr. Doulton's election.

36,565. No, this last election of '65 ?—He never paid me a farthing.

36,566. Did you receive any money at all from Mr. Green through anybody ?—No.

36,567. Not in '65 ?—Only that for refreshments.

36,568. I mean for refreshments ?—Oh yes, I own I took that; I thought you meant for myself.

36,569. No, I meant for refreshments ?—I beg your pardon then.

36,570. Do you recollect who ordered the meeting that Titchener paid for ?—I do not know that any one did, and he said, "Bring us a drop of beer," and I brought it in and poured it out.

36,571. How many were there ?—There might be 16 or 18.

36,572. How about the bill ?—He said, "I will pay " for it."

36,573. Was that beer ?—Yes.

36,574. Nothing but beer ?—Ale and ginger beer, and beer and tobacco.

36,575. You do not mean that they drank 1*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* worth ?—They drank all that I charged him for.

36,576. There is a little bit of difficulty about how much you say you received; you say that you received 30*s.* from him; he puts it down to you 2*l.* all but 4*s.* 6*d.*, he puts it down at 1*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.*, that is the amount ?—I do not think it was so much.

36,577. He has entered it as 1*l.* 15*s.* 6*d.* ?—Is there any ticket with it ?

36,578. No, nothing at all from you; do you mean that 16 people coming in in that way would consume 30*s.* worth ?—They would drink what I charged them for.

36,579. You say you did receive it ?—I fancy it was something like that.

36,580. Was it the case that Titchener paid you more than you charged for refreshments ?—No, he never paid for anything more than they had.

36,581. Do you think they could drink up about 2*l.* worth; could that be possible ?—They consumed what I charged them.

The witness withdrew.

G. Clapson.

GEORGE CLAPSON sworn and examined.

36,582. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) For whom did you vote ?—Mr. Gower.

36,583. Were you on the committee ?—No.

36,584. Did you receive anything on account of the election ?—No.

36,585. What are you ?—A draper's assistant.

36,586. Had you voted before ?—Yes.

36,587. (The Chief Commissioner.) What rent did you pay ?—

36,588. Had you voted in '63 ?—Every election since Mr. Hackblock's.

36,589. Have you from first to last given as pure a vote as you gave in '65 ?—Yes.

36,590. Never received anything for it ?—Never.

36,591. (The Chief Commissioner). In 1865 you were a draper's assistant ?—Yes.

36,592. You did not keep any house, a beer house ?—No.

36,593. Did you make any application for anything ?—No.

36,594. Were you on the committee ?—I was on.

36,595. Who put you on ?—I do not know.

36,596. Who asked you to vote ?—I do not know.

36,597. In 1865 ?—Mr. Gower.

36,598. Which of his agents asked you after ?—Mr. Buckland asked me.

36,599. Did he tell you he would put you on the committee ?—No, I never asked him.

36,600. Did he ask you to vote ?—Yes.

36,601. Did he tell you why it would be a good thing for you to vote for Mr. Gower ?—No, I received nothing.

36,602. He did not speak to you about it ?—No.

The witness withdrew.

G. Cearn.

GEORGE CEARN sworn and examined.

36,603. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you ?—A carpenter.

36,604. What rent do you pay ?—Nothing at all.

36,605. You are a freeholder ?—Yes.

36,606. What is the value of your house ?—It is rated about 14*l.*

36,607. About what is the annual value of the house ?—About 20*l.*

36,608. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—For Mr. Gower; I had not a vote before.

36,609. Were you on his committee ?—No.

36,610. Who asked you to vote for him ?—Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith.

36,611. Besides Mr. Gower himself who asked you afterwards ?—Several people merely asked me.

36,612. But which of the principal agents was it who canvassed you ?—I do not know that any one did; I went to ask Mr. Mazden, of Mead-vale, being a friend, living there; I take my vote from that place; I asked him what he thought about the election, and which way he was going. He said he was going for Mr. Gower, and he being a friend, and as I had a house there for sale, I told him I would go the way he did.

36,613. Having a house there for sale ?—Yes.

36,614. What is Mr. Mazden ?—A publican of Mead-vale.

36,615. What would be the good of going his way because you had a house for sale ?—I left it in his hands to sell the property, and it was to my interest to go the way he went, as he was selling my house.

36,616. Is he an auctioneer ?—No, a publican.

36,617. How do you mean sell your house ?—I was going from there, and I left it in his hands. I had no particular choice for which I voted, and it was to my interest to go his way.

36,618. He was looking after your house to sell it for you?—Yes, and I promised him that I should vote for Mr. Gower. I did not promise any one else to my knowledge.

36,619. Did Mr. Mazden tell you that he could help you a bit if you did go?—No such thing was mentioned.

36,620. Did you receive anything at all from Mr. Mazden before the election?—No, never.

36,621. Did you from any one?—No.

36,622. Did you after the election?—No, not a farthing.

36,623. This was your first election?—The first election, and I never received one halfpenny.

The witness withdrew.

Adjourned till 11 o'clock the following morning.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

Tuesday, 18th September 1866.

William George Love recalled and examined.

36,624. (The Chief Commissioner.) You told us something about having been paid some money for flags, and for which you say you were paid a fair sum?—Yes.

36,625. You also told me you had been paid for flags in 1863?—Yes.

36,626. And that that was a fair price?—Yes, it was.

36,627. I neglected to ask you whether in 1863 you paid a man named Joseph Digance, 1*l.*?—I did.

36,628. Was it for his vote?—No, for his work.

36,629. Did you canvass him in 1863?—Yes.

36,630. And did you put him on the committee?—No, I do not think I did.

36,631. You do not think you did?—No.

36,632. Did you pay him the 1*l.* before the election?—No, after.

36,633. What had he done for that?—There was his loss of time on the nomination day and polling day; it was for his loss of time or something of that sort.

36,634. Did you canvass people in 1863?—I canvassed several, but I do not know their names now, it is so long since, but I canvassed several people.

36,635. Who did you pay money to besides Digance?—I think I paid Taylor.

36,636. What is his Christian name?—William Taylor.

36,637. Has he been examined?—I think he has.

36,638. How much did you pay him?—10*s.* at one time and 1*l.* another.

36,639. Who else did you pay for the election of 1863?—Gibbs, 10*s.*

36,640. He has been examined?—Yes.

36,641. Who else did you pay in 1863?—I cannot remember.

36,642. Then you paid money out?—Yes, but I cannot remember; I was taken ill and was ill 12 months under a doctor's hands; I lost my memory and the use of my side by a stroke of paralysis.

36,643. I am sorry you were ill, but it seems you were not too ill to pay voters?—I could walk about the streets with a stick, and that kind of thing; anybody could pay voters.

36,644. Whom did you receive your money from?—From Mr. Apted.

36,645. How much money in 1863 did Apted give you altogether?—2*l.* or 3*l.*

36,646. You must be more particular than that, this is money you are dealing with?—I cannot remember, it is so long since.

36,647. Will you swear you did not receive 5*l.*?—Yes, I am certain I did not receive 5*l.*

36,648. Are you quite certain you did not receive four?—I cannot be certain whether I received four or three; I cannot say exactly.

36,649. And that is all you can tell me, is it, about 1863?—Yes.

36,650. I believe you had nothing to do with previous elections?—Yes.

36,651. Did you pay any money then?—No, I never received any money to pay away; I received 1*l.* 1*s.* 9*d.* for the flag, and that is all I received.

The witness then withdrew.

Thomas Pither sworn and examined.

T. Pither.

36,652. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—A brushmaker.

36,653. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—18*l.* for the house out of which I vote.

36,654. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

36,655. Were you on his committee?—No.

36,656. Who canvassed you?—I think Mr. Gower and Mr. Smith canvassed me first.

36,657. And who after?—I think Mr. Monson and Mr. Hart called afterwards.

36,658. Did any one canvass you afterwards of the Gower party?—Not any one.

36,659. Had you voted in '63?—I voted in '63 for Mr. Gower.

36,660. Were you on his committee?—Not that I am aware of; I do not think I was.

36,661. You did not attend any committee meetings?—Never.

36,662. Did you canvass on his behalf?—Never.

36,663. Did you receive any money on his behalf?—No.

36,664. Neither before nor after?—Neither before or after; not a halfpenny.

36,665. Or in '63?—No.

36,666. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you been in previous elections?—Yes, I had voted; I never took any other part in them at all.

36,667. Were you in the Doulton election?—I was here at that time.

36,668. And voted?—I voted for Mr. Monson; I think it was the present Lord Monson.

36,669. Have you never, during the whole time you have been here, been offered anything for your vote?—Never in my life, not a hint of it. I should have considered it an insult if I had.

36,670. Have you a son of the same Christian name; I think there must be some mistake?—Yes, a younger son.

36,671. Has he got a vote?—No.

36,672. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He was employed about the election?—Yes, but he never had a vote; he was not of age at the time of the election.

36,673. He was employed about the election?—I think he did something in the shape of a messenger.

36,674. He was not a voter?—No; I have two sons, but they are neither of them voters.

The witness withdrew.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

R. Tugwell.

18 Sept. 1866.

RICHARD TUGWELL sworn and examined.

36,675. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—I am a collector.

36,676. What do you pay for your house?—18*l.* 10*s.*

36,677. That is rental?—Yes.

36,678. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

36,679. Who canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—I do not think any one did.

36,680. Were you on the committee?—Yes; I was almost the first who got the requisition up.

36,681. Did you canvass at all?—I did not; my employment was to be in the committee room; I may say I was employed, as I may term it, as a clerk.

36,682. During that time or previous did you at all canvass?—No.

36,683. You were employed, and by whom?—I was employed by Mr. Hart.

36,684. As what?—I assisted him in the office and in the committee room in selecting and directing and sending circulars.

36,685. To assist as clerk?—Yes, my term was so much.

36,686. Anything you like, you are the best judge of what it was?—Yes, so put your own construction upon it.

36,687. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Such duties as a clerk would do?—Yes, taking circulars to be posted.

36,688. (The Chief Commissioner.) It would not be a clerk's duty to take any letters?—I mean from the office to get them printed, and directing and sending out circulars.

36,689. That lasted some time?—Yes.

36,690. At this time you were a voter; what did you receive before you voted?—3*l.*

36,691. Who from?—Mr. Hart.

36,692. How much afterwards?—I think I received 3*l.* 10*s.* but I am not certain; and I also received a guinea as check clerk.

36,693. Then you received 3*l.* 10*s.* after the election; I have not come to the check clerk yet?—I believe it was, but I am not certain about the shillings.

36,694. I do not mind about shillings?—I know I am right about the pounds.

36,695. After that you were paid by Mr. Hart?—Do you mean the 3*l.* 10*s.*?

36,696. Yes.—No, the 3*l.* 10*s.* I received from Mr. Nichols; that was after my bill went in.

36,697. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you send in a bill?—Yes, which I have no doubt you have.

36,698. (The Chief Commissioner.) Who paid your bill?—Mr. Nichols.

36,699. How did you receive 3*l.* from Mr. Hart?—You will find it deducted from the bill if you have the bill in your hand.

36,700. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The money was received from Mr. Hart before?—He gave me a cheque for 2*l.* at one time, and he gave me a sovereign after; after that I sent in the bill, and I found that he deducted what I had already received.

36,701. (The Chief Commissioner.) It does not appear by this account that you deducted anything?—It was deducted in my account.

36,702. In this bill you appear to have received 7*l.* and 2*l.*?—I deducted from the account when I took the money, but I do not know whether it was put in the bill or not.

36,703. It is a receipt in which the only thing there is in pencil; 3*l.* is deducted at the bottom. You will please to explain how much you received from Mr. Nichols?—Deducting the 3*l.* I must have received altogether with the guinea for the check clerk, making 4*l.* 2*s.* The only canvassing I had done was one man. I did canvass one person; that was Turner of Bickley.

36,704. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is in the bill?—Yes, but in my answer before I said I had not canvassed any one.

36,705. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was he the only person you canvassed?—Yes.

36,706. You went down to see him specially?—Yes.

36,707. There were two persons there; there was Holdsworth, and who else?—I do not know anything of the other; I do not know there was another.

36,708. What is Turner?—A butcher; he used to be a butcher at the top of the town.

36,709. (The Chief Commissioner.) So you received altogether 6*l.* 10*s.* for your services during the election, the other guinea you got as a check clerk?—Quite right.

36,710. On the polling day?—No, I was paid in the bill.

36,711. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The office of check clerk was performed on the polling day?—Yes, I have been check clerk for the last six or seven elections.

36,712. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I see it is for assisting Mr. Nichols?—It was both; and attending committee rooms and Mr. Hart's rooms in his office. I was there every day previous, almost to the election address, which I think was in April.

36,713. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Hart paid you 3*l.* in the first instance, first 2*l.* and then 1*l.*; and in the second place you were paid 3*l.* 10*s.*; that would be 6*l.* 10*s.*?—I was paid the whole of the bill as it appeared then, but the 3*l.* I put in the corner as having received previously. I must have received, according to the bill, 4*l.* 2*s.*, which makes it 7*l.* 2*s.* altogether, because the check clerk is charged in the bill.

36,714. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes.

36,715. Did you go on the committee in 1863?—Yes.

36,716. For whom did you vote?—Mr. Gower.

36,717. Were you check clerk at the election?—Yes.

36,718. Did you receive a guinea for that?—Yes.

36,719. What else did you receive?—I think I received 3*l.* or 4*l.*

36,720. I should like you to tell me exactly?—I cannot, I have no account of it.

36,721. How much shall I take it you received?—I recollect perfectly well receiving from Mr. Smith at the "White Hart" 1*l.*, and some time after 2*l.*, which makes it 3*l.*; and I think after, with the fee for the election clerk, I might have received two guineas.

36,722. You mean you received one guinea for election clerk and one guinea besides?—Yes.

36,723. That would make 14*l.*?—Yes.

36,724. Was that your first election?—There was only one in 1859; I was then check clerk.

36,725. How much did you receive?—A guinea.

36,726. And how much besides?—I have no recollection.

36,727. I wish you would tell me?—I cannot indeed, I think I was employed on the committee, but I really do not know that I received 1*s.*

36,728. For loss of time you may have received some money?—I do not think I did; I have not the slightest recollection of receiving anything, only for check clerk.

36,729. There were two elections in 1858; were you employed then as check clerk?—Yes.

36,730. At both of them?—Yes.

36,731. You were paid a guinea each time?—Nothing more, I think I may positively swear nothing more besides.

36,732. I will take it as you think?—Yes, to the best of my recollection; I think I may positively swear I did not.

36,733. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) It is very important for voters to give us all the information in their power, because we have to pass judgment afterwards upon them; and I wish they would always give us every possible information?—I will give you every information I can.

36,734. Just brush up your memory; did you not receive 4*l.* from Mr. Smith, independently of what you received as check clerk?—Are you speaking of 1863?

36,735. Yes?—Yes, I think I did; because I recollect perfectly well asking Mr. Smith, after I had been assisting him in the committee rooms, the same as for Mr. Monson, to advance me some money; that was when I had been for a long time working.

36,736. You know you received 4*l.*?—Yes, I received 1*l.*, then 2*l.*, and I think after I was paid for being check clerk I received another.

36,737. Never mind the check clerk; you received 4*l.*, did you not, independently of the check clerk?—Yes, to the best of my recollection it was just that money; 3*l.*, or guineas at least; I know the three were pounds.

36,738. What did you do for that?—In 1863 precisely the same as I did at the last election; I was assistant in the committee room.

36,739. At the last election I see you assisted Mr. Nichols; your name is down for 3*l.* 10*s.* for doing that; we know how Mr. Nichols was engaged, and therefore there is no doubt at all about that, but I want to satisfy my own mind of what you did in 1863?—I believe, to the best of my recollection, it was 4*l.* I received besides.

The witness withdrew.

EDWIN SMALL sworn and examined.

E. Small.

36,740. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—A solicitor's clerk.

36,741. You are clerk to Mr. Hart?—Yes.

36,742. Were you a voter at the last election?—Yes.

36,743. What rent do you pay for your house?—18*l.* I think it was. I have two houses, but I think it was the 18*l.* for which I voted.

36,744. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Monson.

36,745. Were you on his committee?—No.

36,746. Did you act in the committee room?—Not in the committee room; I did a good deal of work in the office.

36,747. What office?—Mr. Hart's office.

36,748. I suppose you were a salaried clerk to Mr. Hart?—Yes.

36,749. And the time that was occupied in rendering your services to Mr. Monson was in Mr. Hart's office, so that there was no deduction of your salary from Mr. Hart?—No reduction.

36,750. Did you send in a bill for those services?—No.

36,751. Were you paid for those services?—All that I was paid was the guinea for acting as committee room clerk on the polling day.

36,752. What did you do in the committee room?—I received the slips every hour, and took out the votes and knocked them off the list, and reported who had not voted. I was engaged there all the day.

36,753. You were a voter yourself?—Yes.

36,754. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was yours a weekly salary or yearly salary?—Yes.

36,755. At what periods was it paid?—Quarterly.

36,756. Mr. Hart was the election agent?—Yes, for Mr. Monson.

36,757. Then was any deduction made in your salary by Mr. Hart for the time you were occupied on the committee?—Certainly not; Mr. Hart made me a present in addition to my salary some time after for extra services, because I did a great deal of work.

36,758. You received a guinea for your services?—Yes, as committee room clerk for the one day.

36,759. Did you receive anything extra beyond the guinea?—No.

36,760. You said something about Mr. Hart making you a present?—Oh, Mr. Hart did himself, but that was nothing to do with the election nor with Mr. Monson at all, nothing to do with him.

36,761. You were paid for your services?—It was for the two elections I was engaged in, the county as well as the borough election; we worked for the Conservative candidate for the eastern division of the county.

36,762. What did you get from Mr. Hart for your services?—He gave me 10*l.*

36,763. Were they at all apportioned, some portion for the county and some portion for the borough?—No, he did not apportion it, he gave me a cheque; he made me a present of that for my extra services.

36,764. (The Chief Commissioner). Who paid the cheque?—Mr. Hart.

36,765. It was a cheque drawn on whom?—On himself; I think it was drawn on the London and County Bank.

36,766. I understand you received this for extra services while you had been in Mr. Hart's office?—Yes, I did a great deal of work.

36,767. You did a good deal of work that would be returned by him as conducting agent, and for which he would be remunerated at the end of both elections?—Yes.

36,768. And you were at work from 8 o'clock in the morning till 4 o'clock in the afternoon on the day of polling?—Yes.

36,769. Taking an account as they polled and striking them off?—Yes.

36,770. Was that 10*l.* or 10 guineas that Mr. Hart gave you a cheque for?—10*l.* I think.

36,771. That was for your services?—Yes.

36,772. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) He says it was for his services at the election, for extra services.—Extra services.

36,773. (The Chief Commissioner.) I dare say you know whether Mr. Hart returned the 10*l.* in his charges to the candidate?—He did not.

36,774. Are you sure of that?—Quite sure.

36,775. How do you know that?—I made out the accounts.

36,776. Neither for the county or the borough?—Neither.

The witness withdrew.

JOHN YOUNGER sworn and examined.

J. Younger.

36,777. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you?—You may call me a gentleman; I am a retired tradesman.

36,778. It is a mere formal inquiry. What rent do you pay?—16*l.*

36,779. For whom did you vote at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

36,780. Were you on his committee?—No, I had nothing to do with it.

36,781. Nothing at all?—No, no further than to give my vote.

36,782. Had you voted at former elections?—Yes.

36,783. Had you been on any of his committees?—Yes; I think on former occasions.

36,784. So that you could give us information about them?—I was on the committee of Mr. Hackblock first.

36,785. That is going far back?—Well, I was on the committee at Mr. Doulton's election.

36,786. Tell us about that, if you please?—I was on his committee, and likewise canvassed.

36,787. Did any monies pass though your hands on that election?—No.

36,788. You were not paymaster at it?—No.

36,789. You did not receive any monies to pay away?—No.

36,790. What did you receive for canvassing?—I think to the best of my recollection, but I will not be certain, it was something like 14*l.* or 15*l.*

36,791. Who paid you?—His lawyer; but I forget his name. But I think it was of London.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. Younger.

18 Sept. 1866.

36,792. Was it not Mr. Truman?—Yes, it was Mr. Truman.

36,793. Do you know who was his partner; it was somebody and Truman?—No, I cannot remember.

36,794. You had seen a good deal of the election?—Yes.

36,795. Did you vote in the latter part of the year in 1858; there was another election?—In the same year was there another?

36,796. Yes, in October?—Was that Mr. Wilkinson?

36,797. It was?—Yes, I voted for him.

36,798. You were on his committee?—No.

36,799. But you worked for him?—No, I did not.

36,800. I mistook your word, then?—I beg your pardon. I had forgotten about the election. I know I never voted for Mr. Monson, and therefore I must have voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,801. Were you on his committee?—I think I was. No, I am wrong, I remember, the first time I did not vote for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,802. Who did you vote for? Mr. Wilkinson's first time was on the Doulton election, and then he was balloted out; he came afterwards, in the latter end of the year. Do you remember whether you voted for him or not?—I do not think I did.

36,803. But you do remember that you voted once for him?—I do.

36,804. And you were on his committee?—Yes.

36,805. What did you receive for your services?—3*l.* at first, and I think 4*l.* afterwards.

36,806. (The Chief Commissioner.) Then you think it was at the general election of 1859?—I think it was.

36,807. Did any monies pass through your hands?—No, not at any of the elections did I ever have a farthing pass through my hands.

36,808. Who did you promise your vote to on behalf of Mr. Wilkinson?—His lawyer, but I cannot remember his name.

36,809. Was it Mr. Cape, of London?—Yes, I think it was.

36,810. I suppose you received 3*l.* during the election and 4*l.* after?—Yes.

36,811. For whom did you vote in 1863; do you remember?—Not for Mr. Gower.

36,812. Then you voted for Mr. Wilkinson then?—I think that was the time I received the money.

36,813. I want to call your attention to it; 1859 was the sham election?—Yes; it was in 1863.

36,814. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you receive in 1863?—3*l.* and 4*l.*, I think it was to the best of my recollection.

36,815. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) From Mr. Cape?—Yes.

36,816. And I understand you you took no part in it, beyond voting on the last election?—Not in any shape at all.

36,817. And further, you received no money?—In no shape whatever.

36,818. (The Chief Commissioner.) You understand that only to refer to the last election?—Yes, the last for Mr. Gower. I went down and gave my vote and returned back again. I told the gentlemen when they came it was no use bothering me, that I would only vote that way.

36,819. You never received anything for it?—Not at all, not even a glass of ale, and I never attended any meeting.

The witness withdrew.

W. Heath.

WILLIAM HEATH sworn and examined.

36,820. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A whitesmith.

36,821. What rent do you pay?—25*l.*

36,822. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Gower.

36,823. Were you on his committee?—No.

36,824. Did you interest yourself in the election?—Not at all.

36,825. Not at all?—Not in the slightest way.

36,826. I understand that you ordered a flag?—I can soon explain that.

36,827. I do not know that it requires any explanation?—I ordered the flag, but I never attended any meeting.

36,828. I want to tell you that we have had it proved before us that you ordered a flag for the election?—Yes.

36,829. That is correct?—That is quite correct.

36,830. Was it of Mr. Love?—Yes.

36,831. Did you tell Mr. Love from whom you ordered it; what he should receive for it?—Not a word.

36,832. You simply said you wanted a flag for the election?—I would rather tell you the beginning of it. I was walking in the street, and I overtook Mr. Buckland; he is an agent. He told me Mr. Gower was coming to the town hall. I said, "We ought to "have a flag with, 'Welcome, Mr. Gower!'" He said, "Will you order it?" I told him if he gave me that to put on it I did not mind ordering it.

36,833. Mr. Buckland told you to order it?—That is it.

36,834. Did you tell Mr. Love how much it would cost?—Not at all.

36,835. You only ordered the flag?—That is all; it was written on the paper.

36,836. Who wrote the paper?—Mr. Buckland wrote on it.

36,837. What was on it? I do not mean the couplets and devices, but was not the order written on it?—No; only just the words that were to be put on it.

36,838. Are you able to tell me what such a flag as that would cost?—No.

36,839. You do not understand these things?—No, not at all.

36,840. Was any price mentioned before the election?—Not the slightest.

36,841. Can you give me the slightest idea of what it would cost?—I do not know, I am sure.

36,842. As you ordered the flag they thought you were active about the election?—That is all I did.

36,843. Did you canvass any one at all?—Not at all.

36,844. What part did you take in 1863?—Was that Mr. Gower's election?

36,845. Yes.—I voted for Mr. Gower then.

36,846. Did you canvass?—No.

36,847. Have you never interested yourself in canvassing at any election?—All that I have done is, I have given my vote.

36,848. Have you canvassed?—Never.

36,849. I mean, have you tried to persuade voters to vote the same way you intended?—No, not a word of the kind. I have not canvassed a man in any shape.

36,850. Not a man?—Not even my man in my shop.

36,851. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What is the man's name in your shop?—There are two, Palmer and Lamport.

36,852. (The Chief Commissioner.) They have both been examined?—Yes.

36,853. Do you know of Palmer receiving any money?—I know nothing, no more than what was talked about. I do not actually know that he had it.

36,854. Did you know at the time that he was receiving money?—I cannot say that; I cannot say that he received a farthing.

36,855. Did you hear at the time of the election that Palmer received money?—I just heard it in the town and in the shop; but that was all.

36,856. Did you hear at that time that your shopman Palmer was receiving money for his vote?—I heard he had some money.

36,857. Before the election or after had you heard that?—I am sure I cannot remember.

36,858. I am now asking of the election of 1865?—I cannot tell you.

36,859. But you did hear he received money?—Yes.

36,860. Did he vote the same way as you did?—He did.

36,861. Had you seen his name at any of the committees?—No.

36,862. Had you asked before the election for Palmer's name to go on any of Mr. Gower's committees?—Not a word of the kind.

36,863. Nothing of the sort?—Not a word, nor yet any other man.

36,864. You did not ask for Lamport's name either?—No.

36,865. Did you hear whether Lamport received anything during the election?—I did not.

36,866. You heard nothing about it?—I never heard that he had any money at all.

36,867. Nor have you heard it since?—No.

36,868. I think you told me that on no election whatever have you received anything?—Never, not the slightest thing, nor have I ever canvassed.

AUGUSTUS FREDERICK HITCHCOCK sworn and examined. A.F.Hitchcock.

36,869. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you?—An engine fitter.

36,870. In whose employ?—I am employed on the South-eastern railway.

36,871. What rent did you pay for your house so as to give you a vote?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week; 6*s.* I should say. I beg your pardon, it is rose a little latterly.

36,872. You did pay 5*s.* 6*d.*, and it is since risen?—Yes, since risen.

36,873. For whom did you vote?—At the last election? Not at all.

36,874. Did you vote in 1863?—Yes, I did, for Mr. Gower.

36,875. Now at this last election of 1865 were you canvassed by either of the parties, Monson or Gower?—At this last election I was canvassed by both parties.

36,876. Who canvassed you for Mr. Monson?—On the part of Mr. Monson Mr. Richardson.

36,877. Did you see anybody else on the part of Mr. Monson except Mr. Richardson?—No, they did not trouble me at all.

36,878. You were working about at the election, I suppose?—Yes.

36,879. Your work is local?—Yes, locomotive works.

36,880. I mean it is local at the station, you do not go away?—Very seldom. Sometimes I go away.

36,881. Then only Mr. Richardson canvassed you on the part of Mr. Monson?—On the part of Mr. Monson, that is all.

36,882. You did not see Shepherd?—I saw him many times, but I took no heed about him.

36,883. Did he ask you to vote?—I did not wish to be taken in the groove among the rest, so I objected to it.

36,884. You knew there was a groove?—Yes.

36,885. You avoided Shepherd?—I avoided Shepherd.

36,886. He did not speak to you about your vote?—He certainly spoke to me.

36,887. He did not make you any offer?—He knew I should not go on.

36,888. Did he; that is what I wanted to know?—He said I could go on the committee at 30*s.* a week.

36,889. That you declined?—That I declined.

36,890. On the Gower side were any overtures made to you, overtures of a similar character?—There was Mr. Gower and Mr. Dann canvassed me, and I gave a blank denial to both parties on those occasions.

36,891. I suppose those two gentlemen offered you nothing?—No.

36,892. After that did any person come to you on the part of Mr. Gower? Did any of his agents come to you and offer you money or work?—No more than being placed on the committee as you spoke of just now.

36,893. Were you on the committee in 1865?—No.

36,894. Only in 1863?—In 1863 I was not on the committee that I am aware of.

36,895. Did anybody come and ask you to be on the committee?—Yes.

36,896. Who was that?—So many asked me that I cannot tell. I always objected to it.

36,897. Whoever asked you said, "If you come "on the committee you will be paid for it"?—I always understood that I should be paid for it.

36,898. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) And that was the reason you objected?—I was rather abused over the previous election, and I rather objected to being on on that account.

36,899. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You objected to take any part in the election of 1865?—Quite so.

36,900. And did not?—And did not.

36,901. Of course I need hardly ask you whether you received anything in 1865?—I received nothing at all.

36,902. Now in 1863 you voted for Gower?—Yes.

36,903. Were you to have anything for voting for Mr. Gower in 1863?—Not a word was mentioned to me about having anything.

36,904. To whom did you promise your vote in 1863?—Well, sir, in 1863 I was canvassed by a great many, and I never promised my vote at all. In fact, all the rest were for Wilkinson, and they wished me to go for Wilkinson, but I declined on the first onset.

36,905. You literally voted for Gower?—Yes. I came from Reading that very night, and I went into the "Wheatsheaf," and told the gentlemen there (which there was many gentlemen there) that I should vote early next morning, because I was going away, and that is all that passed.

36,906. You did vote early, I suppose?—I voted about a quarter or half-past 8, something of that.

36,907. Did you receive anything on account of that election?—Not at all.

36,908. You used the term just now; you said you had been very ill used in 1863?—Yes, the former election.

36,909. You said you did not vote in 1865 because you had been ill used in the previous election. Will you have the goodness to explain what you mean by that?—I belonged to the sick club at the time, and I got turned out of the society for voting for Mr. Gower.

36,910. Was that a sick club amongst you working men?—Yes, amongst us working men.

36,911. You told us that all the working men at the railway were going for Wilkinson, and you declined?—I declined and went for Gower.

36,912. Then, to show the freedom and independence of an English election, your fellow workmen turned you out of the sick club because you voted against them?—Yes.

36,913. For that reason you declined to vote at all in 1865?—Yes, I gave a blank denial to anybody who came to me. As soon as ever they came into our shed I gave them a blank denial.

36,914. I do not know any more effectual way of showing intimidation than that conduct of your fellow workmen towards you?—That is the way in which I was treated I can assure you.

36,915. If it is so it is a disgrace to your fellow workmen that they acted in that way towards you, if they did do so?—Well, I have never been upon the club since.

36,916. I say, assuming your story to be true, it is a perfect disgrace that it should have happened?—I think you will find it is true upon inquiry.

36,917. Had you voted before?—Yes.

36,918. At this town?—Yes.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

A. F. Hitchcock.

18 Sept. 1866.

36,919. In what election did you vote before ?—I voted in Mr. Doulton's election.

36,920. And then had you voted from Doulton's election up to 1863 ?—Yes, up to 1863.

36,921. Tell me about Doulton's election. For whom did you vote then ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson—no, not in Doulton's election. I beg your pardon. I voted for Monson.

36,922. In 1858 ?—In Doulton's election.

36,923. Monson polled 95 votes, and you voted for Monson ?—Yes, I voted for him to oblige Mr. Richardson, just to make him show up.

36,924. Have you anything to tell us about that election of 1858, in respect of money ?—No, I never interfered with any election. I merely went and gave my vote early in the morning, and went to my work again.

36,925. Then you were not about so as to see what was going on ?—No, I never took no interest at all in it, because I was a stranger and knew nothing of the people.

36,926. Were you canvassed by the Doulton party ? Had you anything offered to you ? — A person named Boult ran after me, but they so knew that we railway men were one party, that they did not interfere with us. They did not interfere with me, at all events.

36,927. You were the Monson party ?—No, they varied very much; most of them were Wilkinson. Boult stated that he gave me 5*l.* at the meeting, and I believe he is capable of saying so. I never had anything.

36,928. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you mean that he said so here ?—No, it was put about in the town.

36,929. From that time to 1863 had you received any money at any of the elections ?—Yes, I received at Wilkinson's election.

36,930. What year was that in ?—The year that Monson was up.

36,931. That was in 1859, Monson and Wilkinson ? Yes, 1859 ; it lasted nine weeks.

36,932. Do you mean the October election of 1858, the one after Doulton's election ?—Yes, it was the one after.

36,933. That would be October 1858. What did you receive ?—I received 24*s.*

36,934. What was that for ?—Mr. Wilkinson knew that I knew a next-door neighbour of mine named Eastwood, that lived at Brighton, and he asked me on the nomination day to lose a day and come over to the show of hands, which I did, and he asked me to lose a day on the Saturday, the polling day, and I was to go to Brighton and fetch a man named Eastwood from Brighton. I went, and I paid 24*s.* out of my own pocket, and waited three months for it.

36,935. You actually paid that money to go to Brighton ?—Yes, I paid 7*s.* for a return ticket myself, and the man wanted to come up and give his vote, and I gave him 7*s.* out of my own pocket, because he did not want to return the same day, and 1*s.* I paid for a cab, sir. Then my money was 5*s.* 10*d.* a day, and I charged 9*s.* for a day and a half, for I did not think it requisite to lose two days, to put Mr. Wilkinson to greater expense.

36,936. Who paid it ?—A man named Holden ; he is a schoolmaster. He has got my receipt for 24*s.*

36,937. Then the next election, 1859 ; that would be the Monson and Wilkinson election ; for whom did you vote then ?—Mr. Monson.

36,938. Did you receive anything then ?—Nothing at all.

36,939. Did you ever receive anything except that 24*s.* ?—24*s.* is all the money I ever received from any election.

36,940. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I take it, you received nothing in 1863 ?—No.

36,941. And you did not vote in 1865. I suppose they did not want you ?—I did not vote at all, sir. It was not because they did not want me ; I gave them a denial when they first came. I never made nothing over any election. I should like to be paid for my loss of time, if you please.

36,942. You are a very good man to ask this question of. All the railway men generally hung together in voting, did not they ?—Yes, most of them.

36,943. I believe they voted for Wilkinson in 1863 ? —Yes ; they always very much hung together for Mr. Wilkinson.

36,944. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I think Wilkinson was a ballot man and Monson was not ?—No, Monson stood up, and I think one of the railway men told me the other day that they all voted for him because he voted for the ballot.

36,945. And they thought that if they got the ballot it would put down intimidation ?—I should hope it would, sir.

The witness withdrew.

H. Holdsworth.

HENRY HOLDSWORTH sworn and examined.

36,946. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you ?—A builder.

36,947. Do you carry on any other business ?—No.

36,948. What rent do you pay for your house ?—8*l.* 10*s.* I pay rent, but I am rated at 15*l.*

36,949. Then, I suppose, we may take it your house is worth about 18*l.* ?—Yes.

36,950. Did you vote at the last election ?—I did.

36,951. For whom ?—Monson.

36,952. Were you on his committee ?—I was.

36,953. Your brother, I believe, took an active part ?—Yes.

36,954. Your brother keeps the "Red Cross" ?—Yes.

36,955. Did you work for Mr. Monson ?—Well, I was engaged directing circulars and writing in the committee rooms, and taking voters to the poll on the polling morning. That is all I did.

36,956. That would be before. How long before the polling morning were you engaged ?—I was down here several evenings.

36,957. I mean about how many weeks ?—Three weeks altogether.

36,958. Were you paid by the week, or how ?—I received 5*l.* after the election from Hart.

36,959. Did your brother canvass you at all ?—No one.

36,960. Did any money at all pass through your hands ?—No, not at all.

36,961. You did not pay any ?—No.

36,962. Did you canvass anybody ?—No.

36,963. Had you voted in 1863 ?—Yes.

36,964. For whom ?—For Mr. Gower.

36,965. That was against Wilkinson ?—Yes.

36,966. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee ?—I do not think so. I do not recollect that I was.

36,967. What did you receive ?—I did not receive anything at all. I had nothing to do with it.

36,968. You were not on the committee ; you did not work for them ?—No.

36,969. Was that the first time you voted ?—Yes.

36,970. How soon after the election did Mr. Hart pay you the 5*l.* ?—I think it was about five weeks.

36,971. Did he come to you or did you send in a bill ?—I sent in a bill. Mr. Small came to pay me, and I gave him a receipt.

36,972. The clerk ?—Yes, Mr. Hart's clerk.

36,973. You had sent in a bill, and in answer to that Small handed you the money ?—Yes. He came and paid me the same time that I was check clerk at the county election ; he paid me at the same time.

36,974. You were a check clerk at the county election ?—Yes.

36,975. Had you a county vote ?—Yes, I had, but I did not vote.

36,976. That was the occasion on which he paid you the 5*l.* ?—Yes.

36,977. You had sent in a bill ?—Yes.

36,978. Can you tell me what was in the bill, how it was worded ? "Mr. Hart to Mr. Holdsworth"?—"Services rendered during the election," I think it was.

36,979. The amount was 5*l.*?—Yes, I think it was.

36,980. You assessed your own services ?—There was nothing agreed upon.

36,981. (The Chief Commissioner.) Were the meetings which you attended at your brother's house ?—I did not attend any meetings at all.

36,982. Not in 1865?—No, only at the "White Hart."

36,983. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You directed circulars?—That is all. I attended meetings at the "White Hart," committee meetings, but I never went anywhere else.

36,984. (The Chief Commissioner.) You say that no money at all went through your hands ? You are clear about that?—Yes, quite clear.

The witness withdrew.

ROBERT GAGE sworn and examined.

R. Gage.

36,985. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Gage ?—A carpenter.

36,986. What rent do you pay ?—15*l.*

36,987. You did at the election ?—Yes.

36,988. Who did you vote for at the last election ?—I did not vote at all.

36,989. How was that ?—Had you a vote ?—Yes.

36,990. Did not you vote ? Why not ?—I was not wanted.

36,991. Had you promised your vote ?—Yes.

36,992. Who to ?—Mr. Gower.

36,993. Were you asked to vote by the other side, by the Monson side ?—Yes, I was asked.

36,994. Who asked you?—Oh, I was asked by a good many.

36,995. But by which of the agents, which in particular ? Please to tell me quicker ?—Well, I was asked by Mr. Nichols.

36,996. Had you at that time promised Mr. Gower ?—Yes.

36,997. Who did you give your promise to vote for Mr. Gower to ?—Mr. Gower himself.

36,998. And what did Mr. Nichols say to you ? Be kind enough to tell me exactly. Did he send for you to his house ?—No.

36,999. Did he come to yours ?—No.

37,000. Be so good as to tell me as near as you can recollect ?—He asked me which way my men was going to vote, and I said I had nothing to do with my men voting. I liked them to vote for which they thought proper, and he asked me which way I was going to vote. I told him I had not made up my mind. That is the answer I made to Mr. Nichols.

37,001. Please to go on. What did he say to that ?—He said nothing more to me about it all. That is all that passed between me and Mr. Nichols.

37,002. Tell me what conversation you had about voting with any other of the agents, Monson's men ? Mr. Nichols was one of them ?—I do not know that anybody else asked me.

37,003. You may have had some talk ?—I never had no talk about it.

37,004. Did they write to you ?—No; I never went to none of the committee meetings at all.

37,005. Did you get any letters at all about your voting ?—No.

37,006. None at all ?—No, I never had any hands in it at all.

37,007. Did you get any letters from anybody, or a letter from anybody, about your vote ?—No.

37,008. You are sure of that ?— Yes, I am sure of it.

37,009. I do not think you told me why you did not vote for Mr. Gower after promising him ?—I was not wanted; there was quite enough without me. If I had been wanted I should have gone for Mr. Gower.

37,010. Why were not you wanted ?—Because he had a large majority.

37,011. How did you know it ?—Of course I knew of it; he had a large majority.

37,012. Where was your work ?—At Redhill.

37,013. When did you hear that he had a large majority ?—Continually from persons passing there.

37,014. And therefore—— ?—If Mr. Gower had wanted one I should have voted, as I told him at the first onset. I told him that if I did not vote for him I should not vote at all.

37,015. Did you canvass anybody ?—No.

37,016. None of your own men ?—No.

37,017. You are a master carpenter?—I am so.

37,018. You did not canvass anybody at all?—No.

37,019. Had you been a voter at the previous election, the one in 1863 ?—Yes.

37,020. Had you been on a committee ?—Yes, I believe I was on Mr. Wilkinson's committee.

37,021. Which way did you vote ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

37,022. Did you canvass for him ?—Yes.

37,023. You did what you could ?—Yes.

37,024. What did you receive at that election for what you did ?—I do not know whether it was that election or the other. I received 3*l.* 10*s.*

37,025. Who from ?—From Mr. ——

37,026. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Mr. James ?—Mr. James I think it was. That is the only money I received.

37,027. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) 3*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.*?—Either 3*l.* or 3*l.* 10*s.* I won't be certain which it was now.

37,028. (The Chief Commissioner.) At an election before that had you voted ?—Yes, I voted for Mr. Wilkinson every time he put up.

37,029. What did you receive at the previous election of 1859 ?—What, from Mr. Wilkinson ?

37,030. Yes ?—Nothing.

37,031. You never received anything down to 1863 ?—No, not from Mr. Wilkinson.

37,032. Were you in Doulton's election ? Did you receive anything then ?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in the ballot, and after the ballot I voted for Doulton.

37,033. What did you receive then ?— I think I received 35*s.*, or something like that, I forget exactly, from Mr. Doulton's party for my services then.

37,034. Who paid you ?—I think it was Truman. I don't know whether it was him, though. I won't say for certain.

37,035. You think it was Truman ?—Yes, I think it was Truman.

37,036. And you never received anything from Mr. Wilkinson ?—No, not excepting the 3*l.* 10*s.*

37,037. Nor from any person for him, or on his behalf ?—No.

37,038. Did you receive any money at all at any election previous to 1863, except Doulton's ?—Nothing.

37,039. Now just come down for a moment to 1865, the last election, when you say you did not vote ?—Yes.

37,040. Did not you tell anybody before the election came on that you were not going to vote ?—No.

37,041. You are sure about that ?—Yes.

37,042. Eh ?—I told Mr. Gower what I intended doing, and I stuck to it all the way through until the last of it.

37,043. You promised Mr. Gower first of all ?—Yes.

37,044. Did you tell anybody before the election came on who you had promised ?—No.

37,045. You kept it quite to yourself ?—I never told anybody.

37,046. Did you tell your own men ?—No.

37,047. How many voters did you employ ?—Four, I think there were then.

37,048. Four under you were voters. Who were they ?—Let me see; there was Davey and Simpson, and Jupp and Trussler. That was the four.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

R. Gage.

18 Sept. 1866.

37,049. Do you know which way they voted?—No.

37,050. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You did not know which way they voted?—No, I did not know till afterwards which way they voted. I hardly know now which way they voted.

37,051. (The Chief Commissioner.) I want to know did anybody else in 1865 ask you for your vote?—Yes; I think there were about 20.

37,052. Besides Mr. Gower?—Oh, yes, lots of people. Mulley asked me, and lots asked me about my vote.

37,053. What did he say to you?

37,054. Did Mulley make you any offer?—No.

37,055. Did anybody at all?—No.

37,056. Did anybody make you an offer from Mr. Gower?—No.

37,057. Nor from Mr. Monson?—No.

37,058. I suppose Mulley spoke of the character of the different men?—Oh, Mulley is very warm in his way. I stuck to my intention all the way through. I had promised Mr. Gower.

37,059. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You never voted?—I was not wanted, sir.

37,060. But you had never voted before for Mr. Gower?—No; I stuck to Mr. Wilkinson as long as he stood.

37,061. But you had never voted for him at all?—No; I should have voted if I had been wanted. I promised.

37,062. How far is your place from the polling booth, where you were at work?—Oh, about five or six hundred yards.

The witness withdrew.

A. Easton.

ABRAHAM EASTON sworn and examined.

37,063. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Easton?—I am a bricklayer.

37,064. And what rent do you pay for the house under which you vote?—11*l.*

37,065. Did you vote at the last election?—No, I did not.

37,066. Had you a vote?—Yes.

37,067. Had you promised?—I had promised Mr. Monson.

37,068. Who did you promise on behalf of Mr. Monson?—Mr. Hanbury.

37,069. Did not you promise anybody else?—No.

37,070. Mr. Hanbury, the banker, canvassed you?—No, he did not canvass me.

37,071. How came you to promise him then?—I was working at his house.

37,072. Well, then, he did canvass you if you were at work at his house?—He did not come to my house.

37,073. You were working at his house, and he said, "I hope you will vote for my friend," or something of that kind, and you said, of course, you would be glad to do it?—Yes.

37,074. Did anybody else canvass you on behalf of Mr. Monson?—No.

37,075. Anybody else at all? Just recollect.—No; only once Mr. Nichols asked me if I would be on the committee, and I declined that.

37,076. I do not mean persons that specially came to your house to canvass you, but that met you. Where did you see Mr. Nichols when he asked you to be on the committee?—I think it was in Linkfield-street, in the road from here to Redhill.

37,077. Did he ask you to call at his house at all?—No.

37,078. I suppose he told you that those who worked for Mr. Monson would be paid?—No, he never said anything about it at all.

37,079. You understood, did not you?—No, I understood nothing.

37,080. What did he say?—He asked me to be on the committee, and I said I did not wish my name to be on the committee at all.

37,081. Did not he say you could work for Mr. Monson?—No.

37,082. Did not he ask you to do what you could for Mr. Monson?—No; it was a very short meeting that we had, for he was riding on horseback when I met him.

37,083. Did anybody else canvass you for Monson?—No, no one.

37,084. Did any one speak to you on behalf of Mr. Gower?—No, no one.

37,085. Did not you see any of the Gower people at all?—Not at all.

37,086. Not one?—Not one.

37,087. How came you not to vote for Mr. Monson?—I don't know how it was, sir; I did not vote.

37,088. Why?—The reason was, I was rather late down; that is what it was.

37,089. What do you mean, "late down"?—Late from my work. I was working some distance away.

37,090. Where?—I was working on the Gatton estate. That is where I was working.

37,091. That is Monson property?—Yes.

37,092. Under whom were you working?—I was working for my brother then.

37,093. Is your brother a builder?—Yes.

37,094. For whom was your brother working? For Mr. Monson?—Mr. Monson.

37,095. Your brother was working at his ordinary work, building. Was not he building a model farm-house?—Yes.

37,096. Then it seems strange, if you were working on the Monson estate that you could not come to vote; that seems a reason why you should vote?—I did not.

37,097. But why did not you? What was on the other side to prevent you from voting; cannot you tell me?—No, I cannot tell you anything. I had nothing promised me; nothing at all.

37,098. I do not say anything was promised you; but you had some friends on the other side, had not you, on Mr. Gower's side?—Friends, and plenty of foes there.

37,099. But some particular friends on the other side?—No, I had none at all.

37,100. Did your brother vote for Mr. Monson?—No, he did not; he was out of it. I think he was disfranchised altogether. He had not a vote; I think he had not.

37,101. Now, for a moment we will pass from that and come to it again. Did you vote in 1863?—In 1863 I did.

37,102. For whom?—For Mr. Wilkinson I think I voted.

37,103. Were you on the committee?—No, never on the committee.

37,104. Do not you recollect for certain whether you voted for Mr. Wilkinson or not?—Yes, in 1863.

37,105. How often have you voted altogether?—Three times, I think; I am not certain.

37,106. What did you receive in 1863 for that election?—I never received anything.

37,107. Eh?—Nothing at all.

37,108. Not before or after?—Not before or after, not at all, not at any election; I never received anything.

37,109. Did you vote for Mr. Wilkinson at all the elections?—I think not. I think I voted for Mr. Monson once, Lord Monson.

37,110. That would be in 1858?—1858, I think it was; I forget.

37,111. And had you anything for that election? Did you work?—Not at all. I never worked; I did not do anything.

37,112. Had you voted in the Doulton election of 1858?—No, I think not. I am not certain.

37,113. Doulton and Rawlinson?—No, I do not remember which way I voted.

37,114. I daresay you voted for Doulton?—No, I do not think I did. I don't think I had a vote then.

37,115. I understand you had promised Mr. Monson in 1865 to vote for him?—At the last election?

37,116. Yes.—Well, I had promised Mr. Hanbury, you know.

37,117. You had promised Mr. Hanbury to vote for Mr. Monson, and nobody else spoke to you?—No one else spoke to me.

37,118. Except Mr. Nichols?—Except Mr. Nichols, and he wanted me to go on the committee, and I declined. I gave him a blank denial at once. I said, "I won't go on the committee," and I did not.

37,119. Why did you refuse to go on the committee?—I did not want to be on the committee at all.

37,120. Why?—I did not wish it at all. I gave him a blank denial, and said, "I won't go on."

37,121. Did you understand that the committee men would be paid?—No, not at all.

37,122. Then why did you refuse; I can understand your refusal if you knew they were to be paid?—No.

37,123. Then why did you refuse to be on the committee, if you did not know they were to be paid? It would be an honourable office for a man.—So it seems.

37,124. I mean if, at the time, you did not know they were to be paid. Did you know at the time the money was going?—No, I did not.

37,125. You must have kept your eyes very closely shut, I think?—Well, I did not know it.

37,126. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you tell Mr. Hanbury after you had promised him, did you ever go and tell him that you were not going to vote?—No, I did not.

37,127. When did you make up your mind not to vote?—Well, it was very late in the afternoon of the polling day.

37,128. Exactly. You had appointed somebody to come down to give you information, had not you?—No.

37,129. Consider, if you please; was not there somebody to bring you down information?—No, I do not think there was; I do not remember it.

37,130. But you heard about the state of the poll, did not you?—I do not recollect at all.

37,131. What I want to know is, did not you receive information in the afternoon about the state of the poll?—I do not think I did; I do not remember it.

37,132. How far were you at work from the nearest polling place?—Three miles and a half, I dare say.

37,133. Just think, if you please; did you not receive information of how the poll was going on? Perhaps I can remind you of it. Where was your brother all the time?—I am sure I cannot say where he was.

37,134. He was at Redhill, was not he, or Reigate?—Redhill, I think.

37,135. He was taking an active part in the election, you know?—Oh, no, I don't think he was.

37,136. I thought he was?—No.

37,137. It was my mistake then. You told me he had no vote?—No, he had no vote.

37,138. I understood from you that he took an active part in the election?—No, I think not.

37,139. Why was he not at work that day?—I am sure I don't know.

37,140. I want to know why he was not at work; it was his job that you were at work at?—Yes.

37,141. You went to work for him on the model farm, according to your account. Why did not he go to work there himself?—I don't know how that was.

37,142. What do you suppose was the reason?—Because he was employed better at home, perhaps.

37,143. What was he doing?—Why he was working for himself, I suppose.

37,144. What do you mean?—At the building business.

37,145. Do you mean that he was at his building business that day?—Oh yes.

37,146. How do you know; did you see him?—No I did not see him.

37,147. Then why do you think he was? had he been upon the farm last; the day before?—I think not.

37,148. Had he been there the day before that, on the Monday?—I think not.

37,149. How many days had you been there?—Oh, I had been working there several weeks.

37,150. Constantly every day?—Yes.

37,151. Had he been there all the time with you?—No.

37,152. Off and on?—Off and on.

37,153. Now, having mentioned your brother, be kind enough to tell me whether you did not receive information about the state of the poll on the afternoon of the polling day?—I think I did, sir.

37,154. Before the close of the poll?—Yes, I think I did.

37,155. Who brought it up; that's what I want to know?—I think he told me.

37,156. Then he came up to the house, did he? He came up to the model farm?—No.

37,157. That is where you were, you know?—That is where I was.

37,158. Then he must have been a very clever fellow to have told you without. Which did he do? Did he come himself, or did he send?—I saw him when I got home; that is how it was.

37,159. What time did you get home?—Between 3 and 4 I got home.

37,160. Then, you see, you had plenty of time to poll?—Yes.

37,161. But you began by telling my friend that you did not poll because you came home too late?—Well, I think I did.

37,162. I dare say you have some explanation to give me of that. You began by saying you did not vote, and your reason was, because you came too late from your work. Now you tell me that you came home before the poll was closed, between 3 and 4 o'clock. Perhaps you can explain it?—Well, I don't know whether I can, sir.

37,163. Very well, then we must leave it in that difficulty. Now tell me, as a fact, you had promised your vote to Mr. Gower at one time, had not you?—Never.

37,164. Pray don't answer hurriedly. I mean by "Mr. Gower" either himself or somebody for him?—No, never.

37,165. Never what?—Never promised Mr. Gower.

37,166. No, but did you promise any other person for Mr. Gower?—No.

37,167. Did you never say to anybody that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—No.

37,168. Not to anybody at all?—Never.

37,169. Did you give anybody to believe that you would vote for Mr. Gower?—No, never.

37,170. Then I am not going to ask you any more questions on that point. The only explanation you give for not voting is because you were too late from your work that day?—Well, did I say I was too late?

37,171. Yes you did, indeed?—That was wrong then, I will contradict that; I was there in time, but I did not vote.

37,172. I have taken your words down. I will read them to you, if you like; you distinctly told me that your reason for not voting (and you were asked the question) was because you were "too late down," that was your expression. That is what you said, and I am going to leave it there if you like. You see that reason does not hold good; had you any other reason?—I had no other reason.

37,173. Than what?—None at all.

37,174. You had no reason at all for not voting?—For not voting.

37,175. Now then, I will ask you this question. Had you any offer made to you at all; I don't say whether you accepted it or not; had you any offer made to you at all by either side if you would vote for them?—Not at all.

37,176. No offer made?—No offer at all.

37,177. No suggestion?—No suggestion.

37,178. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do you know

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

Mr. Simmonds?—John Simmonds? Yes, I know John Simmonds.

37,179. Is he a friend of yours?—No, he is no friend of mine; I know him.

37,180. On whose side was he?—He was the Gower side, I believe.

37,181. Do you know if your brother had had any communication with him?—No, I do not know.

The witness withdrew.

W. Crook.

18 Sept. 1866.

WILLIAM CROOK sworn and examined.

37,182. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A coachman.

37,183. To whom?—Mr. Hanbury.

37,184. Had you a vote at the last election?—Yes.

37,185. What rent do you pay for your house?—4*s.* a week.

37,186. Who did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

37,187. Were you on his committee?—I was.

37,188. Who put you on Monson's committee?—Mr. Hanbury asked me if I would go on, and I said I would.

37,189. Then probably he put you on?—Yes, it was him.

37,190. Did he give you any reason for going on?—None at all.

37,191. Had you any conversation afterwards with any of the agents?—No, not at all.

37,192. Did you canvass?—No.

37,193. What part did you take in the election?—I did not take any part at all. I think I attended two meetings at the "White Hart." I think it was two meetings.

37,194. Did you receive any money before the election took place?—No.

37,195. Nothing before?—None at all.

37,196. Did you receive anything after the election was over?—No, I had nothing at all.

37,197. Did you receive no money at any time?—No.

37,198. No money passed through your hands for anybody else?—No, none at all.

37,199. You are sure of that?—Yes.

37,200. Had you a vote at the previous election in 1863?—Yes, I had.

37,201. Wait a moment before we come to 1863. Did you send in any account or some note to be paid in 1865?—No, I did not; I did no work at all.

37,202. But did you apply to anybody at all?—No.

37,203. Not for the polling and nomination day?—No.

37,204. In 1863 who did you vote for?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

37,205. Were you on his committee?—I was.

37,206. And did you vote?—No.

37,207. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What were you in 1863?—A coachman; the same as I am now.

37,208. (The Chief Commissioner.) With Mr. Hanbury?—Yes.

37,209. Did you receive anything before the election of 1863?—No.

37,210. Nor after?—No.

37,211. Was that your first election?—Yes.

37,212. Then do you wish us to understand that you received nothing more for any election at Reigate?—I received nothing at all.

37,213. At any of those elections have you received anything at all?—Nothing at all.

37,214. Have you made any claim?—No, not at all.

37,215. Have not you been expecting something?—No; I did no work at all.

The witness withdrew.

H. Green.

HENRY GREEN sworn and examined.

37,216. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What are you, Mr. Green?—A builder.

37,217. At Redhill?—At Redhill.

37,218. What rent do you pay for the house for which you vote?—It is my own house.

37,219. What is the value of it?—About 50*l.*

37,220. You are a master builder?—Well, I build for myself; I have not built much of late years.

37,221. You build your own houses?—My own houses; I do not do for other people.

37,222. Did you vote at the last election?—I did.

37,223. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

37,224. Did you take an active part in the last election?—Yes, I did.

37,225. Did you vote in 1863?—I did.

37,226. For whom?—For Mr. Gower.

37,227. Did you take an active part in 1863?—I did.

37,228. Had you voted in 1859?—I did vote in 1859.

37,229. For whom?—Monson.

37,230. Did you take an active part in 1859?—Not at all; I was not living at Redhill then.

37,231. Was that the first time you voted?—No; I voted in all the elections. I have lived in Reigate 25 years.

37,232. You voted in October 1858?—In October 1858 I voted for Monson.

37,233. And in the January of that year you voted for Doulton?—In the January of that year I voted for Doulton. In 1857 for Hackblock, and in 1852 for Parrott.

37,234. Now we will commence with your operations. Perhaps it will be better to begin with the Doulton election. Were you on Mr. Doulton's committee?—No, I was not on his committee. I took very little part in Mr. Doulton's election. I did not come in till very late. Mr. Monson, I believe, put me on his committee without my authority. I did not come into Mr. Doulton's committee till four or five days before the election took place. I took no active part; I did not have a canvass book even.

37,235. But for four or five days you took an active part?—I was about with others.

37,236. And did money pass through your hands in that election?—Not a penny.

37,237. Who were his conducting agents, do you know?—Mr. Barton was his agent; Murphy and Truman were the sub-agents.

37,228. Were they solicitors?—I think Murphy was Mr. Barton's clerk, and Truman I believe was a manager for Mr. Roupell.

37,239. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Manager of the estates?—Yes, of Roupell Park.

37,240. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Then Mr. Barton was the agent?—Yes, the solicitor.

37,241. Do you know where he was living?—At No. 3, Walsingham-place, Lambeth.

37,242. Do you know where Truman is now?—At Roupell Park. I went up to see Mr. Doulton, and he was extremely anxious to come here. I went the other day, but could not get an appointment; but I made an appointment afterwards, and he is extremely anxious to come to explain. Mr. Searle in his opening observations made some remarks about me, and I feel very strongly on the subject. I have always held a respectable position in the place, and I hope I ever shall.

37,243. But you did go to Mr. Doulton?—I did.

37,244. When?—Well, it was last Thursday or Friday.

37,245. You went up for the purpose of seeing him?—I went up on the Thursday to see him, but came back late that night, not being able to get an appointment. However, I saw him the next day.

37,246. Perhaps you will be good enough to give Mr. Doulton's address in case we should wish for it?—He formerly lived at the Manor House, Dulwich, but he is at the distillery now.

37,247. He is a partner there, is not he?—Yes.

37,248. At Lambeth?—Yes.

37,249. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) It is turned into a public company, is not it?—I believe it is.

37,250. Then you had no money?—Not a fraction.

37,251. What did you receive for your services?—Nothing whatever. I had done nothing; I had not worked.

37,252. In the latter part of 1858 you voted for ——?—Monson; that was 1859.

37,253. No, no; there was another election in 1858 after the Doulton election, if you recollect, in the latter part of the year, Sir Henry Rawlinson and Monson?—I voted for Monson in 1859.

37,254. No, I mean the election before that?—I think you are in error about that. The early part of 1858 was Doulton's election.

37,255. On the retirement of Rawlinson?—I get confused a little.

37,256. In February 1858 the Doulton election took place Rawlinson was returned, and then Rawlinson took office under the Crown and there was another election?—Yes; I voted for Monson, the present Lord Monson.

37,257. Were you on the committee then?—No, I had left a short time; I was living at Cheam.

37,258. But you kept your qualification?—Yes; I was living there till September, and I came down here in October.

37,259. Were you on his committee?—No.

37,260. You were not on his committee and did nothing for him?—No; I received nothing.

37,261. No money passed through your hands?—No; not a fraction.

37,262. Now in 1859, that was the general election, did you vote for Monson? That was Monson and Wilkinson, you know?—I did not vote. That is in the spring, April, you mean, somewhere there.

37,263. The general election, it would be April?—Yes, I think it was.

37,264. Then in 1863 you took an active part?—I did.

37,265. For whom?—Gower.

37,266. Now I will just confine your attention to 1863. Had you any accounts? Did money pass through your hands in 1863?—Oh, yes.

37,267. Have you a copy of your accounts of 1863?—Well, I did not think I should be examined to-day, or else I should have brought the book with me; but, however, I know the amounts I received. I have seen the account which you have, and it is near as I can remember correct.

37,268. If you like to look it at you can?—No, I remember it; it is all pretty well in my mind.

37,269. First of all, from whom did you receive the monies?—In 1863?

37,270. Yes?—From Mr. Smith.

37,271. Did you receive all the monies from Mr. Smith?—Well, it was paid to me, it was a mistake, we paid it away together, it was paid to me.

37,272. You received all the monies from Mr. Smith?—Yes.

37,273. Tell me how much?—The whole that I received, without any payment for myself?

37,274. Exactly; I am only speaking about that?—I received 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* This is the way in which I received it.

37,275. I am only speaking now of the monies which you received to pay away?—210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

37,276. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) From Mr. Smith?—From Mr. Smith.

37,277. Will you tell me, Mr. Green, in what way you received it from him?—I received on January 24th 20*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

37,278. Was it a cheque?—No; it was paid in notes and gold. On the 31st I received 30*l.* I do not remember how that was paid to me, but I do not think it was by cheque. On February the 6th I received another 30*l.* On February the 7th I received 130*l.* The last I remember perfectly well receiving in gold and silver.

37,279. Then you think you may say that you received it all in gold?—I think I might have received one cheque, I should not like to swear to that. If I did it was a 30*l.* cheque; but I cannot swear to that.

37,280. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Are you speaking of 1865 or 1863?—1863.

37,281. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I am on 1863. I think you were here when Mr. Rees was examined?—I was, and I was very sorry to hear the statement made.

37,282. No, no. He worked with you, and I think he put it as high as 300*l.*?—He did; but I know this is the correct sum.

37,283. But he put it as high as 300*l.*?—He did.

37,284. (The Chief Commissioner.) Just let me get this right. I understand you to say that of the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* all was paid in cash, except perhaps, one sum, which may have been in a cheque for 30*l.*?—Except perhaps, one sum of 30*l.* I would rather correct myself about that. The last I remember now. I think Mr. Smith gave me 30*l.* in his own office in a cheque, which I got cashed at the bank. Mr. Smith was just going to Brighton or somewhere else, and he gave me a cheque to make up balances; and that I got cashed at the bank.

37,285. Then I am right in saying this, that all the payments were in cash except the last, which was a cheque for 30*l.*?—Yes; with the exception of my own fee.

37,286. I am not talking about that now?—That is quite right.

37,287. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What I want to know is (I am dealing with a man of business and a man of regular habits), have you any memorandum now, made at the time, of the different sums of money you received of Mr. Smith, and of the dates?—I have, but not here. If I had known I should have been examined I would have brought them.

37,288. I mean at the time?—Made at the time and on the very day. That I will bring to-morrow.

37,289. You will have time enough to bring it by-and-by. You live at Redhill?—I do.

37,290. Is it in a book?—It is in a book.

37,291. A regular debtor and creditor account?—Well, we are not so particular with these accounts, but I know it is correct. I received 130*l.*, and I put it down afterwards.

37,292. That is what you received from Mr. Smith?—Yes.

37,293. Before I leave that what was your own fee?—Well, I received 40*l.*

37,294. But did you arrange with Mr. Smith?—Nothing whatever, only that I should be paid; not as to the sum.

37,295. What I mean is this; did you arrange with Mr. Smith before you commenced the work of the election what your fee was to be?—No.

37,296. The amount of it?—No.

37,297. Then did you arrange with Mr. Smith after the election was over the amount of your fee?—It was not arranged. I wrote to Mr. Gower about May, and he wrote to Mr. Smith to settle with me.

37,298. Have you Mr. Gower's letter?—No, I have not. He did not write to me, he wrote in return to Mr. Smith.

37,299. Have you Mr. Smith's letter asking you to call upon him?—I think I have that letter at home.

37,300. We should like to see that letter?—You shall have it.

37,301. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Smith's letter said what?—Requested me to call. Mr. Gower wrote to him to settle with me.

37,302. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How did you settle?—I had a 5*l.* as a retainer when we first started.

37,303. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that in addition to the 40*l.*?—No, I include that in it.

37,304. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That was a retainer, as much as to say, "You will work for us"?—It was closing the bargain.

37,305. Then how did you receive the rest?—I received a cheque for 30*l.* and 5*l.* in gold.

37,306. At that time did you submit to Mr. Smith an account of how you disposed of the money you had received from him; the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—A long time before that.

37,307. I mean you had done that?—I had done

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

H. Green.

18 Sept. 1866.

that on February 7th, when I received the 130*l.* The account had been made up by Rees and sent in.

37,308. Is this a copy of the account that I have in my hand (passing the same to witness)?—This is not the bill we made out.

37,309. Whose handwriting is that?—This is my handwriting, and Rees' too; but this is not the copy we made out. The copy we made out was by young Rees, he copied ours.

37,310. But whose handwriting is that?—That is my signature.

37,311. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Do you know whose handwriting this is (showing another account.)?—I think it is Mr. Smith's clerk.

37,312. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How could he make it out?—I do not think this includes all. I cannot tell unless I have my book here, and then I could very soon tell.

37,313. You sent in an account?—I sent him in an account.

37,314. You sent in an account, of course, accounting for the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes.

37,315. Now, you have in your hand a bill that you and Mr. Rees signed?—Yes.

37,316. Not the bill you sent in to Mr. Smith?—Not the bill we sent in.

37,317. It is not within 50*l.* of it?—Not the bill we sent in.

37,318. Not within 50*l.* of it?—It is not in our handwriting; it is got out by Master Rees, by Rees' son.

37,319. I am speaking of the bill before you; I wish you would attend to my question. You have a bill before you now which is more than 50*l.* short of the monies that you accounted for, according to what you stated, to Mr. Smith. Let there be no mistake about it; you sent Mr. Smith in an account for 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—That is as I had the money, as I have told you.

37,320. Pardon me; I asked you had you sent in an account to Mr. Smith of the monies you had disbursed, and you told me you did on the 7th of September?—That bill that we sent in, that Rees made out, was only making up the amount to 130*l.*; it included former sums. There appears to me to be some error.

37,321. I asked you, having received the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* if you had sent in an account to Mr. Smith, giving a detailed account of how you expended that, and you told me you had?—We sent in a correct account. I am quite satisfied Mr. Smith had a correct account.

37,322. Don't tell me it was a correct account. Had he an account of how the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*, which had found its way into yours and Mr. Rees' hands, had been expended?—He had the account I am satisfied.

37,323. The account accounting for that expenditure?—The account accounting for that expenditure.

37,324. In the account you sent in did you account for that expenditure?—I am satisfied that he had the accounts accounting for the 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

37,325. Take that bill in your hand?—I see it is signed by me.

37,326. How came you and Mr. Rees to put your signature to that?—I think there is another account, besides this; that is my impression.

37,327. Why should there be?—I do not know.

37,328. You sent in one account, why should there be two accounts?—If I had my book, then you could check it by my book.

37,329. You mean you signed two accounts; that is your receipt for 168*l.*?—It appears to me that is only the last 30*l.* of the 130*l.*

37,330. You told me you had sent in a bill on the 7th February?—But that is not the bill. Mr. Smith has put that "February 7th." That is not my writing. The "February 7th" is put there, but not by me.

37,331. You told me you had settled with Mr. Smith?—On February 7th we sent in our account, making up the 130*l.*

37,332. No; you told me you sent in an account, accounting for the whole 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—I have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Smith had it; of course Mr. Smith had all the accounts.

37,333. It is not the slightest use to tell me that. Take that in your hand again. How do you account for signing an account which acknowledges the receipt of only 168*l.* if you had sent in to Mr. Smith a detailed account of the expenditure of 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* which you received. Give me some explanation of it?—I can't explain it unless there is another bill besides this.

37,334. Do you remember signing another bill?—No, I never remember signing another bill.

37,335. Leave that for a moment. Now will you tell me how the 50*l.* which is unaccounted for was expended?—In the first week's canvass, January 24th, I paid 20*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

37,336. No; look at that bill?—I cannot see which are the weeks by that. I only know unless I add this up; I paid 20*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* the first week. In the next week, up to January 31st, it was 30*l.*; February 6th, I paid nearly 30*l.* for watchers; and the other 130*l.* was paid for balances owing, and for the time owing up to that time.

37,337. That will not assist us in the slightest degree. Will you take that account in your hand and account for the 50*l.*?—This is 20*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.* the first week.

37,338. I have nothing to do with the weeks, not the least in the world; do not imagine that we can in any way be baffled in that way?—I do not want to baffle you, gentlemen, in the least.

37,339. That 50*l.* is a large item; will you tell me where the 50*l.* which is unaccounted for should come in?—I cannot tell you unless you allow me to go home and get my book; then I will give it to you as I paid it away.

37,340. You will have time enough for that. Have you a copy of the account that you originally sent in to Mr. Smith?—Mr. Rees I believe has a copy of the account we sent in to Mr. Smith.

37,341. Did you not keep a copy yourself?—I did not, Rees did. Rees has a copy. Rees did the writing.

37,342. When was the election terminated?—The 6th February.

37,343. Exactly. Now, you know this receipt says that you have received from Mr. Smith—— ?—I never signed that on the 7th February.

37,344. What does it matter when you signed it. It says that you have expended 168*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.* That is what it says?—Yes.

37,345. This bill up to the 7th February; there is nothing else in it, contains an expenditure of 168*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.* That is what you and Mr. Rees attested under your own hands?—Yes.

37,346. The effect of it is this: We have expended on Mr. Gower's account 168*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.*; that is what they say, you say you have expended 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*?—Yes, 210*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*

37,347. Take that bill into your hand, and study it, and explain it to me?—I can't. Unless I had my cheques I cannot tell you.

37,348. Will you bring your book, as you say you are taken by surprise?—Yes.

37,349. (The Chief Commissioner.) Mr. Green, could you bring it at 3 o'clock?—Yes; I did not know that I was going to be examined.

37,350. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You know what we want. We want an account of every shilling you expended of the 210*l.*, and of every shilling you have expended at the election?—Yes.

37,351. How much did you expend at this election in bulk, in one sum?—150*l.*, and 50*l.* for myself. I received 200*l.* of Mr. Smith. Out of that was 50*l.* for my own fee.

37,352. Let there be no mistake about that now?—No mistake.

37,353. You will come at 3 o'clock with your account?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

ROBERT YOUNG called, sworn, and examined.

37,354. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—A labourer.

37,355. Are you on the railway?—Yes.

37,356. What is your duty on the railway?—A platelayer.

37,357. What rent do you pay?—12*l.*

37,358. Whom did you vote for at the last election?—Mr. Monson.

37,359. Who asked you to vote for Mr. Monson?—Nobody ever asked me to vote for him.

37,360. Did Shepherd say anything to you about it?—He put me on his committee.

37,361. Then I suppose he asked you to vote?—No.

37,362. How much did Shepherd pay you?—30*s.* a week for three weeks.

37,363. Then he paid you 4*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

37,364. When did he pay it to you?—Weekly.

37,365. When was the last payment made?—On the Saturday before the election.

37,366. Was that your first election?—No.

37,367. In 1863 whom did you vote for?—Mr. Wilkinson.

37,368. Did you receive anything that year?—No.

37,369. Nothing whatever?—No.

37,370. When was the election before that?—Not at all before.

37,371. You are quite sure you received nothing in 1863?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

T. Hobson

THOMAS HOBSON called, sworn, and examined.

37,372. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you, Hobson?—A journeyman shoemaker sometimes; sometimes a labourer, when I can get a job to do.

37,373. What rent do you pay?—6*s.* a week.

37,374. Did you pay that at the election?—I have paid it for these three years.

37,375. Whom did you vote for last time?—Nobody.

37,376. Did you promise anybody you would vote?—Some of Monson's party asked me, and I did promise them on conditions.

37,377. Who was it you promised; which of the Monson party?—It was Nichols' party; I cannot say the man's name.

37,378. You promised the Monson party on conditions. Tell me what the conditions were?—They said they would give me 5*l.* if I would vote for them, but they would not give it me before the election. They would not trust me, and I would not trust them, and so I did not vote.

37,379. You mean they said they would pay you the money before you voted?—No, they said they would pay me after I voted; they were afraid to trust me, and I would not trust them, and I did not vote at all.

37,380. They would not trust you, and you would not trust them, and so you did not vote?—No.

37,381. You know a lot of people could not have offered you 5*l.* I wish you would tell me who it was?—It was some party with Nichols. I don't know the man's name; he was a tall man, and a stranger to me.

37,382. But don't you know who it was that came to you?—It was a public house where it was acted.

37,383. Who was there? Were there many people there when he offered it to you?—A vast lot of people.

37,384. Who was there, can you tell me?—James Nichols was one. He was the man that asked me, but he was not the man that offered me the money.

37,385. At whose house was it? Can you tell me the name of the house?—The "Royal Oak." A man named Grutchfield keeps it.

37,386. Was Grutchfield the man who offered you the money?—No, it was one of Mr. Nichols' party; I do not know his name.

37,387. Now, was this your first election?—Yes.

37,388. Then, as they did not trust you to vote, did you make an offer to the other side, finding you could not make anything out of the Monson party?—No, I didn't. Mr. Gower said there would soon be another election, and he hoped I would vote for him. None of Gower's agents asked me about it.

37,389. You are sure you cannot tell me the name of the man who offered you the 5*l.*?—No; I could recognize him if I were to see him.

37,390. Have you seen him about the Court here?—No, I have not.

37,391. Should you have been willing to vote for Monson if you could have trusted the other side about the money?—Oh, I didn't care who I voted for. I thought as other people were getting money I might as well be paid as them.

The witness withdrew.

W. T. Simpson.

WILLIAM THOMAS SIMPSON called, sworn, and examined.

37,392. (Mr Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Mr. Simpson?—A carpenter.

37,393. What rent do you pay?—15*l.* a year.

37,394. For whom did you vote?—For Mr. Gower I voted this last time.

37,395. For whom were you working as carpenter?—I was working for Mr. Gage who was examined this morning.

37,396. Were you on Mr. Gower's committee?—No, I had nothing to do with the committee.

37,397. Did you work at all for Mr. Gower?—No; I had work of my own to attend to without anybody else's.

37,398. Did you receive any money?—No.

37,399. From anybody?—No.

37,400. Or promise of money?—No.

37,401. Any offer, in any way or shape, of money or reward?—I had nothing at all to do with them. I kept to my own work, and when I had done my work I wanted rest, and went home, and I had nothing to do with them.

37,402. You simply voted?—I simply voted.

37,403. Did you vote in 1863?—I voted for Mr. Wilkinson in 1863.

37,404. Did you receive anything in 1863?—I received 5*s.* a day for issuing circulars and bills.

37,405. How many days were you on?—I think it was three weeks I was on. I had nothing of my own work to do. It was in the winter, and I had nothing to do. I got 4*l.* 5*s.* out of 4*l.* 10*s.*

37,406. Who paid you?—Mr. James; he employed me and paid me.

37,407. How soon after the election did you get that money?—I had it paid every week.

37,408. It was paid weekly?—Weekly.

37,409. Have you voted before?—Yes, I voted once before for Mr. Wilkinson.

37,410. Was that the election before, in 1859?—I do not know the date.

37,411. Wilkinson against Monson?—Yes, Wilkinson against Monson.

37,412. That would be I suppose in 1859? You then voted for Mr. Wilkinson?—I then voted for Mr. Wilkinson.

37,413. Did you receive anything in that year?—I did not take any active part in the election. I had work to do, and I kept to my work.

37,414. Do you know whether it was in 1858 or 1859?—I do not know; I do not know the year.

37,415. You did not receive anything?—I did not receive anything.

37,416. (The Chief Commissioner.) There was no other election?—No.

The witness withdrew.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. Towse.

18 Sept. 1866.

JOHN TOWSE was called, sworn, and examined.

37,417. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Tell me, Mr. Towse, what business or trade you carry on?—Labourer.

37,418. What rent do you pay for the house out of which you vote?—5*s.* 6*d.* a week; I did then.

37,419. And for whom did you vote?—Mr. Monson.

37,420. Were you on his committee?—No; I had three weeks' pay.

37,421. How much?—30*s.* a week.

37,422. Who paid you?—Young Shepherd.

37,423. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you a labourer on the railway?—No.

37,424. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Where were you labouring at?—For Mr. Easton, the builder.

37,425. Did Shepherd pay you 30*s.* a week, or did he pay you in one sum?—30*s.* a week.

37,426. Had you voted before?—No.

37,427. This was your first vote?—My first vote.

37,428. Did you attend any of the committee meetings at all?—I went twice to Langridge's to a meeting.

37,429. And had beer, I suppose?—I had some, once or twice.

37,430. Your master did not vote, we understand?—No.

37,431. Where were you at work for him at that time; up at Gatton-park?—No.

37,432. Where were you at work at that time?—I cannot say where I was; I was with the horse and cart.

37,433. You drove the horse and cart; was it at Langridge's you were paid?—No.

37,434. Did you see any of the men paid at Langridge's?—No.

37,435. Langridge's is at Redhill?—Yes; Warwick-town.

37,436. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did Shepherd pay you weekly?—Yes.

37,437. 30*s.* a week?—Yes.

The witness withdrew.

J. Easton.

JOSEPH EASTON was called, sworn, and examined.

37,438. (The Chief Commissioner.) What are you?—Grocer.

37,439. Are you a brother to the builder?—No; no relation.

37,440. How much rent do you pay for your house?—18*l.* a year.

37,441. Whom did you vote for?—No one.

37,442. Dear me! how was that?—I did not see enough difference in the men to vote for them.

37,443. Whom did you promise?—I never promised any one.

37,444. Were you canvassed by both sides?—I was.

37,445. Did you promise either of them?—No.

37,446. What did you say when they asked you?—I told them if I chose one of the two, at the latter end I would vote; but I would not promise at all.

37,447. Did you vote for either of them before, at any previous election?—I was not entitled to vote before.

37,448. This was your first vote, in 1865?—Yes.

37,449. I need hardly ask you, did you receive anything for not voting, from either side?—No.

37,450. Were you offered anything?—I was offered nothing, and I did not ask for anything.

37,451. I am not saying you did ask for anything; I am asking were you offered anything?—No. I was asked to go on the committee, but I refused it.

37,452. Who asked you?—It was a son of Mr. Webb, I believe.

37,453. Did he make you any proposal if you did come on the committee?—No.

37,454. Were any terms offered to you at all for your vote, by any person?—Not in the least.

The witness withdrew.

J. H. Apted.

JOB HEATH APTED was called, sworn, and examined.

37,455. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What are you, Mr. Apted?—I am sanitary inspector for the borough of Reigate. If you will allow me to say, I did not hold that position at that time, or I should not have engaged my services for any candidate, let him be who he may, because I could not have spared the time.

37,456. What were you then?—I am a currier by trade, and have a boot shop.

37,457. What rent did you pay for your house?—25*l.* a year.

37,458. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) When did you become sanitary inspector?—In February last.

37,459. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In whose gift is the appointment?—In the gift of the corporation.

37,460. And you voted for Mr. Gower?—I voted for Mr. Gower.

37,461. Were you on his committee?—No. I disapprove of any paid man being on the committee. A paid man is a servant.

37,462. As you have introduced that subject, what were you paid?—I was paid 50*l.* This last election I am speaking of.

37,463. And I am only speaking, at present, of the last election. When were you paid that 50*l.*?—I took it out of the last payment I had; that was in October.

37,464. Then, in fact, you paid yourself out of the last of the monies that you received?—Exactly; Mr. Smith requested me to do it.

37,465. Quite so; I understand that. Was that last payment paid in cheque?—I never received a payment except in cheque from Mr. Smith.

37,466. Then the answer would be, it was paid in cheque?—Yes.

37,467. And paid by Mr. Smith, the agent?—I must explain that. Sometimes I and Mr. Buckland went up to Mr. Smith together.

37,468. You shall explain as much as you please, but perhaps you will be kind enough to tell me this first; you say you got your 50*l.* out of a cheque. That cheque was for a larger amount than 50*l.*?—No, it was for two 30*l.*

37,469. Two cheques that come to 60*l.*?—That is quite right.

37,470. Were those cheques given to you by Mr. Smith?—They were sent in an envelope.

37,471. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You received them?—I received them.

37,472. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you receive instructions by letter or verbally?—He wrote a letter at the same time.

37,473. Have you got the letter?—No.

37,474. Is the letter destroyed?—I should presume it is.

37,475. You see it is a very important letter, because it would authorize you to apply 50*l.* out of 60*l.* to your own use; therefore that would be an important letter. Surely that letter is not destroyed?—Yes, I should presume it is; I did not think it at all worth anything.

37,476. It was worth this; it was simply your authority to apply 50*l.* out of these monies which you had received?—Mr. Smith told me, and I gave him a receipt for the 50*l.*

37,477. Then you gave the receipt to Mr. Smith after you had received that money?—After I had received the letter.

37,478. Had you received any money before the election, in the shape of a retainer?—No.

37,479. Not any?—No. I had received money, but not to keep myself.

37,480. Did you give a separate receipt for the 50*l.* for yourself?—Yes.

37,481. Did you give receipts to Mr. Smith for all the monies which you received from him? I am putting now a general question, never mind about the accounts at the present moment?—That I am hardly prepared to say; I presume I did.

37,482. I will ask you presently what is the amount you received; but from time to time, as you received money from Mr. Smith, did you give him a receipt for this money?—I should presume so; I cannot recollect.

37,483. Surely you will recollect in a matter of so much importance?—It is of importance to him; I presume he would look after that.

37,484. It would be so far important, that probably you would recollect whether you gave him receipts?—I do not recollect, but I should think most likely that I did.

37,485–6. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) For all the money you received?—As I received it, I imagine. That is what I mean.

37,487. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Before you look at your accounts at all tell me the full amount of monies you received from Smith on account of the election?—Including my own fee, I think, about 163*l.*

37,488. I do not want you to refer to any papers at all; I want you to tell me?—Only if a person comes into my shop to know what they owe, I go to my books to look.

37,489. But you see, Mr. Apted, you are rather doubtful that you gave receipts for this money at all?—Yes.

37,490. Therefore I want to test your recollection first, and then we will come to particulars?—I am quite sure I had the money; I am quite sure I had these amounts.

37,491. What amount do you say you had in full, including your 50*l.*?—163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.*

37,492. You can only tell that by referring to your account?—I cannot.

37,493. That is from first to last, from Mr. Smith on account of the election?—That is including my own 50*l.*

37,494. That is a very singular sum. How comes in a penny?—Because I generally paid the bills before I asked Mr. Smith for the money; and there were several small items come to odd pence.

37,495. When did you first begin to receive money from Mr. Smith?—June 9th.

37,496. Was that the first item?—That was the first item.

37,497. What was the amount you received from Mr. Smith on that occasion?—10*l.*

37,498. I will just take that as a fact; "June 9th, "10*l.*" Just put that paper down for a moment. Now, I am going to ask you about that paper. What paper is it?—It is a copy of my old account, that my son wrote out for me.

37,499. Where is your old account?—It is all torn to pieces.

37,500. Torn to pieces?—Yes.

37,501. This was only the election of 1865 we are talking about. How came that account to be torn?—It had been shattered about with this petition and one thing and another. We carried it about, and Mr. Smith wanted to see them, and altogether they got shattered to pieces. Mr. Smith has my regular account; I dare say he has kept it on the shelf.

37,502. When was that copy made?—I should think probably six weeks ago.

37,503. What was it made from?—It was made from——

37,504. The shattered pieces?—No, it is made from different items.

37,505. I ask you, when was that account made?—About five or six weeks ago.

37,506. You say your son copied it?—Yes.

37,507. He copied it from what?—I had an account of the money I received; he copied that.

37,508. From what document did he copy it?—From pieces of paper I had got it on.

37,509. Where are those pieces of paper?—They are burnt. When he made this out I destroyed the others.

37,510. Did you not think it rather important that these pieces of paper should be preserved?—Not the slightest. An account is an account. It does not matter what paper it is on; I should have been ashamed to have brought them here.

37,511. The original account is the important one. That is of no value?—It contains the truth, that is all I care about. It is like my ledger, I don't go to my day-book to know what my customers owe.

37,512. We always in Courts of Law prefer original documents, not copies. Our experience tells us that we can never rely upon copies, but upon original documents made contemporaneous with the facts. Then you tell me those documents which were contemporaneous documents were destroyed?—Every one of them, of which this is a copy.

37,512*. It is not a copy. I have a note here of an instance before the committee in the House of Commons on this very petition, where a gentleman said that he had burned his books directly he heard of the petition.

37,513. You say the 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* was the whole amount you received?—Yes.

37,514. And 10*l.* was the first item. Was that paid by cheque?—That was paid by cheque.

37,515. When did you furnish Mr. Smith with your account upon the election?—I forget quite whether it was the end of July or the beginning of August; I mean of last year.

37,516. How long after the election was that?—It was within the month, for him to send to the auditor.

37,517. Have you seen Mr. Smith since this Inquiry has been on?—Oh dear yes, and consulted with him about the Inquiry, and all that.

37,518. And have you compared accounts?—No, I do not think I have; no, I have not.

37,519. Surely that would be an important topic for you and Mr. Smith to consult about together?—No, I have not seen his account at all.

37,520. Then, that which you have before you, you believe to be a copy of those documents destroyed?—I do not believe, I am certain of it.

37,521. Did you compare them yourself?—Yes, and my son was by all the while it was done.

37,522. You say the first item there is 10*l.* as a receipt?—Yes.

37,523. When was the next receipt?—I received some from Mr. Buckland; that is, him and me went up together, and the cheque was made out for him and me united.

37,524. When was the next money which you received from Mr. Smith?—In October.

37,525. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Mr. Apted, you keep books of your business, I suppose?—Oh, yes; not electioneering books.

37,526. Why did you not put these down in a book?—I do not think it is my business.

37,527. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) We won't speak of anything you received of Mr. Buckland yet, but I want to know what you received from Mr. Smith ?—After the 10*l.* I received 30*l.* in October; 30*l.* in October, and 40*l.* in October. That is all I received.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

18 Sept. 1866.

37,528. From Mr. Smith ?—From Mr. Smith.

37,529. Do you know the days you received them ?—No, I don't.

37,530. Are you certain that that 40*l.* was received in October ?—As far as I can recollect.

37,531. Is it by recollection you say you received that 40*l.* in October, or is it from reference to those destroyed documents ?—I booked it at the time ; I should presume it is in October.

37,532. There is no presumption in the matter; it is a matter of fact. Did you, or did you not ?—I cannot tell you.

37,533. If you cannot tell me, might you not have received more money ?—No, positively no ! I can tell you what I did with it.

37,534. I don't care what you did with it ?—Only you might find out the date by that.

37,535. You are the recipient of the money, and you ought to be able to tell me when you received it, and how you received it ?—I received it by cheque of Mr. Smith.

37,536. On what days ?—I believe it was October.

37,537. On what days ?—That I do not know.

37,538. Do you mean to say you kept your accounts, receiving large sums of money, without putting the days of the month down to the receipt of the money ?—Yes, it would seem so.

37,539. Do you do so in your own private business ?—No.

37,540. Then, if not in your own private business, why in this ?—Yes, I do. I do sometimes receive money without putting down the date, if it is not a bill and I have to cross off anything. If persons buy goods ready money I should probably not put down the date.

37,541. But these are large sums you have to account for ?—For which I do account, and for which I gave a receipt.

37,542. You are uncertain as to when you received the monies ?—Well, I am certain I did receive them; so is Mr. Smith.

37,543. Never mind about Mr. Smith ; I wish to know the days that you received that 40*l.* ?—I can only say I wish I knew, for your information.

37,544. Did you receive the 40*l.* in one cheque ?—Yes.

37,545. You did ?—I believe so.

37,546. Are you certain ?—I should say I am certain.

37,547. That you received the 40*l.* in one cheque ?—Yes.

37,548. Did you receive money in November ?—No, none in November.

37,549. Are you certain ?—Quite certain ; I have only received this that I have told you.

37,550. Did you not receive the sum of 30*l.* in November ?—No, nothing, only this I have told you.

37,551. Did you ever receive a cheque for 10*l.* in October ?—No.

37,552. Are you certain ?—No, not without he gave me a cheque for 30*l.*, and another for 10*l.* to make up this 40*l.* I won't say what it was.

37,553. Is your mind so uncertain as to what you received, that you cannot tell me whether you received the 10*l.* in November ?—No, it is not uncertain as to what I have received; I have told you that before ; but it is uncertain as to how I received it. If I am paid a debt I don't care whether it is in shillings or sixpences.

37,554. This was not a debt, but a sum of money which you received, and which you were to account for afterwards ?—This was a debt.

37,555. No, it was not a debt; it was a sum of money which you received, and which you were to account for afterwards. It was not a debt ?—Yes, it was.

37,556. Can you give me no more definite notion as to what you received ?—Yes, I can ; I can give you quite a definite notion as to what I received.

37,557. But not how it was received ?—No.

37,558. Then, if you have no definite notion as to the times when you received it, is it not quite possible you may have received more ?—No, not at all possible.

37,559. Let me see that paper of your entries in that book. (The book was passed to the learned Commissioner.) I see you have got all these three items in October ?—Yes.

37,560. Did you make those entries of receipts at the time you received them ?—Do you mean the money I received ?

37,561. Yes ?—Yes.

37,562. Then, if you made them at the time you received them, why are you not able to tell me for a certainty that you received that 40*l.* in October ?—I do not know ; I might have made a mistake in the day of the month.

37,563. Then you did not make your receipts at the time you received the money ?—Yes, I did. I am not always immaculate ; I might make a mistake in a day ; it might be the first of November, or the last day of October. I do not know within a day or so all that kind of thing ; I say I have had it, and I suppose no one disputes paying it me.

37,564. You say you received monies besides that 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* Were those the monies you received from Mr. Smith, the 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* ?—Not from his hands.

37,565. What was the whole amount that you got from Mr. Smith? Was that the 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* ?—The whole amount that I received from Mr. Smith was 110*l.*

37,566. From Mr. Smith, 110*l.* ?—That is, immediately from him.

37,567. You mentioned just now that you received monies from Mr. Buckland ?—Yes.

37,568. How much did you receive from Buckland? —Well, Mr. Smith gave us a cheque between us, and he made it out in Mr. Buckland's name.

37,569. Did those cheques which were made out in Mr. Buckland's name come into your possession ?—No. He went and changed them, and then I took what money I wanted out of them.

37,570–1. Can you give us the total amount of cheques which were given by Mr. Smith jointly to you and Mr. Buckland ?—I cannot.

37,572. You do not know what the amount of cheques were that Mr. Buckland received ?—I don't ; they were given between me and Mr. Joyes.

37,573. They were given into the hands of Mr. Buckland ?—They were given into the hands of Mr. Buckland, and they were made out in his name only.

37,574. And the money was given by Buckland to you ?—Exactly.

37,575. How much did you receive from Mr. Buckland ; give me the whole amount first ?—The whole, 53*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.*

37,576. (The Chief Commissioner.) That makes up the amount that you say you paid away; 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* ?—Yes.

37,577. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You cannot tell me the total amount of cheques that were given to Mr. Buckland ?—I cannot. I do not at all remember ; they never came into my hands.

37,578. Have you the smallest notion ?—Yes, I should say if you multiply that by 3, that would be about the amount.

37,579. Multiply the 53*l.* by 3 ?—Yes.

37,580. Why multiply 53*l.* by 3 ?—Because I think we all spent about alike.

37,581. But you have only mentioned Mr. Buckland. Who was the third ?—Mr. Joyes.

37,582. It was divided between you three ?—Yes.

37,583. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) What was divided ?—Four cheques.

37,584. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How much were the four cheques?—I don't know; they never came into my hand. I saw them drawn. I don't know.

37,585. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Your notion is that the four cheques amounted to 3 times 53*l.*?—I should, simply because we spent about alike.

37,586. Had you spent the money, the 53*l.*, before you got those monies from Buckland?—It was paid in four different sums.

37,587. Four different sums; at one time, or at four different times?—No, at different times.

37,588. Did you three go up to Mr. Smith together and ask for money?—Well, I think I and Mr. Buckland generally went by ourselves.

37,589. Had you previously consulted with Mr. Joyes as to what he would require before you went up?—Generally.

37,590. Did you go to Mr. Smith to receive money for what you had expended or were going to expend?—I generally had expended nearly the whole of the amount; and then what I wanted to pay immediately I put down in addition, and went and drew the money.

37,591. Did you receive these monies from Buckland during the time that you were receiving monies also from Mr. Smith?—Well, it was in between. It was coming from Mr. Smith.

37,592. I know it was, but you had the 110*l.* direct from Mr. Smith?—Yes. Then, owing to Mr. Buckland and myself going together to Mr. Smith, Mr. Smith made out the cheque jointly for us in Buckland's name.

37,593. Then were you and Buckland and Joyes working together?—Yes, and very comfortably we worked.

37,594. I suppose each expended the money in the same way?—I don't know. I expended my money entirely at my own discretion; I would not work for anybody unless I did.

37,595. Then you and Mr. Buckland and Mr. Joyes worked together agreeably?—I left them to do as they liked, and they left me to do as I liked, and we got on comfortably.

37,596. You left them to do as they liked, and they left you to do as you liked, and that is how you got on comfortably?—Yes.

37,597. And you had the free run of the till?—Yes, whenever I wanted it.

37,598. Now, before I go into particulars, when you went to Mr. Smith for funds did you tell him what you wanted the monies for?—Yes.

37,599. What did you tell Mr. Smith you wanted the monies for?—To pay canvassers and inquirers to carry on the election.

37,600. Did you tell him how many canvassers you paid?—No; I knew how many I was paying; I did not know how many others were paying. That was the fault of the election.

37,601. That was the fault of the election you say?—Yes, that was the fault of the election.

37,602. In your notion is that the only fault?—I think I committed very few personally.

37,603. Did you and Joyes compare books, so as not to pay men twice over?—Yes.

37,604. So that you knew which you were paying?—Not as to the amount; I asked Joyes if he had had anything to do with them.

37,605. The amount which you were going to pay them?—Exactly.

37,606. When you went to a man did you tell him what you were going to pay him?—No; and I will give this answer once for all; that I never promised a man during the election more than he would have for the single day or week's employment. If I had him by the day I told him; distinctly, not every day but only the day I wanted him; and when I did employ him by the day I gave him 5*s.*

37,607. That is a very honest explanation; but will you give me one single instance of any paid canvasser you put on in this way?—Everybody I canvassed.

37,608. Say one?—Everybody I canvassed, I canvassed for his vote.

37,609. And to put him on the committee?—Oh dear no.

37,610. Or to work?—I never asked a paid man to go on the committee yet.

37,611. No, because you said you objected to a paid man being on the committee?—In fact, I thought it degraded the committee; I never canvassed one in that way.

37,612. What, do you mean to say that was not the mode of canvassing?—It was not my mode of canvassing; I never spoke about money when I canvassed.

37,613. Explain to me your mode of canvassing?—My mode of canvassing at the last election was this. I believed Mr. Monson to be a nominee of the Reform Club; that they had repeatedly, to my certain knowledge, that is, to Mr. Humphrey, declared they had Reigate under their dictation, and I considered it a disgrace to us to be under the dictation of the Reform Club.

37,614. You say you never offered a single man money for his vote when canvassing?—I did not say so; I said I never spoke to a man about money when I was canvassing.

37,615. Do you not think that is very much the same thing?—Not at all.

37,616. Did you canvass a man of the name of Fuller?—No, sir.

37,617. Do you know the man I mean?—You are alluding to a man of the name of Batchelor.

37,618. I am alluding to a man of the name of Fuller; I ask you whether you canvassed a man of the name of Fuller?—I have told you.

37,619. You swear you did not?—I swear I did not.

37,620. There is no other Apted on the register?—Yes, there is.

37,621. Which is that?—James Apted; there is no other Apted for Mr. Gower.

37,622. Did you ever canvass men, at the same time holding up your fingers?—I never dealt in signs at any election I have ever been in, neither did I do it myself.

37,623. Did you, when you canvassed, ask them to work as canvassers without going on the committees?—Not as paid men; I sometimes asked if they would assist, but not as paid men; I never asked them to assist us or accept employment when I canvassed them.

37,624. You say you paid the men?—Quite right, and I had good reason for doing it.

37,625. What was your reason?—As we proceeded on with the election we held a meeting, and we found a great number were being tampered with; and it was suggested, in fact I suggested, we should get all our voters more publicly to profess themselves on Mr. Gower's side, and, if possible, to get them to come to the town hall, and I thought that would probably be a sort of clincher to the professions which they had made before.

37,626. And was that the reason why you put them on?—Yes, we were obliged thus to employ paid men to go round to these people to get them to come round.

37,627. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do not call them paid men but paid voters?—Paid voters, paid men.

37,628. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you employ any men as canvassers except voters?—I would not employ a person who is a traitor.

37,629. Every person you employed in that way was a voter?—Every canvasser I employed was a voter.

37,630. Tell me in the rough, without referring to your book, how many canvassers you employed, whether a dozen, a gross, or a hundred?—I think probably it might be 30.

37,631. 30 canvassers?—And messengers.

37,632. I am speaking of canvassers to keep them

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

18 Sept. 1866.

together ?—They were not kept entirely for that, but they might take messages or anything.

37,633. You were talking about the canvassers you sent round ?—I did not bind them to do nothing else.

37,634. You told me some little time back you never paid a man but by the week or day ?—Exactly.

37,635. You never employed a man excepting by the week or by the day ?—Exactly.

37,636. How many men did you employ in that way ?—I do not know I am sure, but it is all down in my account, every man that I employed is down there.

37,637. When were those names put down from the original account you have destroyed ?—About four or five weeks ago.

37,638. From recollection ?—No; from a paper that I had of the list of names.

37,639. What has become of the paper of the list of the names ?—When I got a fresh list I burnt the old one ; I did not want my old collection of papers.

37,640–1. Do not talk like that, one half sheet of paper could not fill your house ?—About two years ago I burnt a barrel of them.

That is no reason why you should have burnt an important document of the size of half a sheet of paper.

37,642. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Fix a date ?—About five weeks ago, when this was written and put on paper, I burnt the old one.

37,643. Because you did not want your house full of papers ?—Yes.

37,644. Did you burn any others ?—Yes; besides election papers I had a regular rout out ; I am an inspector of nuisances.

37,645. Did you think that paper so great a nuisance you must burn it ?—Yes, there is no doubt about it.

37,646. And that was the reason you burnt that very important piece of paper ?—It was of no importance to me when I had a copy.

37,647. It was of vast importance ?—Well, I did not know it.

37,648. It was the very thing which was to test the accuracy of your accounts before us. When did you make the original list of your canvassers ?—When I employed them ; when I employed a man I put his name down.

37,649. You say you employed these men day by day, or week by week ?—Yes, sir, and sometimes for a night.

37,650. What were you to pay them ?—I paid them 5*s.* per day if I employed a man for a single day, and I paid them 1*l.* a week if I engaged to keep them a whole week.

37,651. Did you pay them all this time ?—No.

37,652. Did you pay them any monies before the election ?—Oh dear yes.

37,653. These canvassers that were going about ?—Oh dear yes.

37,654. How much did you pay them a day ?—5*s.* when they were at work.

37,655. When they were at work ?—Yes, when they were at work, and that accounts for the smallness of the sums they had. If a man was to work six days, his canvass days, he would have 30*s.*, and if a man worked a little more I should give him a day or two extra.

37,656. You said this was done to counteract the acts of the Monson party ?—Quite right.

37,657. When was it the Monson party gave you alarm ?—Bribery is all we fear, for intimidation, that is gone from Reigate, and so has landlords' influence.

37,658. Nothing else but money wins the day ?—No, except principle.

37,659. Principal and interest ?—My opinion varies from yours, I do not think you can find 30 men, I will not say 30, I do not think you can find 50 men in Reigate, that will vote against their inclinations for any man, and I think you have proved it to yourselves on this Commission, for you have had men take 30*s.* who might have had 5*l.*

37,660. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You are not in a condition of judging, for you are an agent yourself ?—No, it is only my opinion.

37,661. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I do not mind your expressing your opinion if it can be done in a very short time ; what we principally want are facts. You said you had reason to suspect there was bribery going on on the Monson side ?—We were told so.

37,662. You were not certain of it ?—We were quite certain in our minds.

37,663. And therefore you thought you had better begin yourselves ?—No, I did not begin.

37,664. You employed these canvassers ?—And very properly so.

37,665. And I suppose they were worth their pay ?—They were worth their pay.

37,666. How much money did you pay in that manner to those canvassers ?—Really I do not know, but you have got it all down there.

37,667. Did you give them instructions how they were to canvass ?—They were to go and canvass, and then report to me.

37,668. You say you did not employ more than 30 ?—No, about 30.

37,669. In what rank of life were those canvassers ?—In all ranks.

37,670. That is rather too wide an answer ?—Just so ; I mean all ranks among the working classes.

37,671. I suppose some were gardeners ?—Several were gardeners.

37,672. And I suppose they were to look after their brother gardeners ?—You can't get at a gardener except through a gardener : they are working in a garden, and usually exchange plants; therefore one gardener can have access to a brother gardener when another person can't do it.

37,673. Nobody else, I suppose, can get through the gates ?—No.

37,674. And among the bricklayers ?—Oh, anybody can get to them.

37,675. Did you at all employ Alexander Rose ?—Yes.

37,676. Was he under you ?—He was.

37,677. I believe you gave money to him to divide ?—Yes ; there were a kind of sub-agents who were well acquainted with the neighbourhood. I had a good deal to do with them, and they went about and did their duty, I believe.

37,678. How much did you give to Alexander Rose ?—I gave him altogether 30*l.*

37,679. What amount of money did you pay away before the election, before the polling ?—I should think about 60*l.*

37,680. Before the election ?—Before the election took place, including that day.

37,681. Was that 30*l.* paid to Rose before the election or after ?—After.

36,782. How much did you pay away after the election ?—I should suppose about 104*l.*

37,683. (The Chief Commissioner.) After the election ?—I should suppose so from the accounts. I know I paid the money away directly I got it, and I wish it had been more.

37,684. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How much after the election did you pay ?—About 100*l.* Oh, no, that includes my own salary, about 50*l.*

(Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I wish you would drop that.

(The Witness.) 110*l.*, I should suppose ; did I say 60*l.* ? It would be about 50*l.* besides my own salary, that includes my own salary.

37,685. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was that 30*l.* to Rose after the election ?—Yes.

37,686. What was the 30*l.* given to Rose for ?—To pay the men with.

37,687. What had they done ?—They satisfied me they had done their work. I have no reason to doubt their word, and I paid the money to be given to the men.

37,688. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that Mr. Alexander Rose?—Yes.

37,689. Then you only paid about 20*l.* besides your own salary?—(No answer.)

37,690. (The Chief Commissioner.) Do you mean you paid Rose only 30*l.* after the election? You told Mr. Smith you received 160*l.* 10*s.* I did not catch whether you paid Rose 30*l.*; was that so?—Yes.

37,691. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How many people did you pay after the election, voters I mean?—Sixteen. I do not know whether they were all voters; voters, I should say about a dozen.

37,692. Who were the men you employed that were not voters; what were they?—They were night-men selected for their muscular strength.

37,693. The roughs, I presume, for the purposes of a row?—No, it was to protect the men; to keep the peace, in fact.

37,694. To show their strength, then, and by so doing to keep the peace; the Amicable Protection Society?—Well, I never allowed a man to buy a pint of beer with his own money while they were at work.

37,695. To keep them sober, I suppose; you were the guardian of their sobriety?—Yes.

37,696. That was then that these men should not make a row, but be men of peace?—Yes, to prevent them hitting us.

37,697. Were the other men who were not roughs canvassers that you paid?—Canvassers and messengers.

37,698. Were they any of the men whom you had previously employed?—Yes.

37,699. Why were they not paid at the time, before the election?—I believe we did not have money to pay them, and some had never sent their bills in.

37,700. Did you pay money before the election?—Yes.

37,701. How much?—50*l.* or 60*l.*; 60*l.* I should think. There were a good deal of refreshments.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I will come to the refreshments directly.

(The Witness.) I had to pay a good deal, but nothing in the committee room.

37,702. (The Chief Commissioner.) Had you much to pay for refreshments?—Yes.

37,303. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I wish to know precisely what you paid to voters before the election?—I cannot tell you that.

37,704. But you ought to be able to tell me; if you cannot tell it from the paper you should tell it from your recollection. You have burnt this valuable paper which would have told us?—I will soon tell you.

37,705. Did you have any receipts from these men?—I never paid money without a receipt.

37,706. Have you burnt the receipts?—I think I gave them to Mr. Smith, but I will not be sure. I believe I paid 8*l.* or 9*l.* I never sent a working man from his home without paying him for his work. I never did nor I never would.

37,707. Did you send any one working man here from his work?—I have hired them to come from their work; that is, I told them to come the next morning.

37,708. Is there any one you can mention you told to come the next morning?—Yes, Amos Elliott and Joseph Peters.

37,709. What did Joseph Peters do?—He smoked and drank. You would be astonished what he did for his money; he said he did nothing but drink beer and smoke tobacco.

37,710. What did Amos Elliott do?—He took out messages and bills sometimes.

37,711. What were these bills sent round for?—To give notice of meetings.

37,712. Give us one single instance of any bill that was sent out to call a meeting?—I cannot give you an instance now. They were all written; that is, we had a form made out that a meeting would take place at the town hall on such a day, or at the Mead-vale hall, Redhill, or Mead-vale, at which you are expected to attend; then they had but the name and date to be inserted and to be folded up and sent off.

37,713. You have instanced Amos Elliott; first of all what did you say to Amos Elliott when you canvassed him?—I did not canvass him at all.

37,714. Did you ask him for his vote?—No.

37,715. Did you ask him if he would work?—Yes.

37,716. And did you tell him that if he worked he would be paid?—Of course; I told him I should give him 5*s.* for the day.

37,717. Did you never ask a man for his vote?—Yes, hundreds of them, almost all of them. When I had time I went indiscriminately to every door.

37,718. Did you not tell Amos Elliott you would pay him 2*l.* for work and 3*l.* more if he voted?—No, and no man has accused me of doing such a foolish thing.

37,719. But he has?—Then it is a lie, that is all I can say.

37,720. That you would pay him for his work?—Oh, yes, if I employed the man I would pay him for his work.

37,721. Tell me what A. Elliott did?—I can tell you one thing he did; he went by my orders to fetch a man of the name of King, and brought him here to the committee room. He got himself a pint of beer while I took the man down to the committee room here and talked to him, telling him, "You must be careful "what you are about, you are going to vote at this "election, and you are not on the register;" and I explained to him the punishment to which he would be exposed. The man was not on the register.

37,722. Did you pay him anything?—Yes, I did.

37,723. What did you pay him?—I paid him 30*s.* I think.

37,724. Was that for seeing Mr. King?—No, that was part of his work.

37,725. And what else did he do?—I cannot recollect.

37,726. Then if he said he did nothing you are not able to contradict him?—Yes, I know when I employed him he was here and came to the town hall.

37,727. And went back again?—Yes, at night.

37,728. Was not the 30*s.* given for the nomination and polling day?—I never gave a man a penny for that.

37,729. Did you pay Mr. Attwood anything?—Yes.

37,730. What did you pay him?—2*l.*

37,731. In what way?—It was for the work I employed him to do, and I paid him just the same as I would anybody else.

37,732. That does not give me any answer. What did you pay him?—I paid him something like 7*s.* 6*d.* a day, and before the pay day came he asked me to let him have a pair of boots or shoes and he would outset it when he got his money. I said, "By all means." That was before the man came for payment.

37,733. Who were the boots for?—I think they were for one of his children, but I do not know; I think my mistress sent them.

37,734. Have you credited him with the amount in your book?—I did at the time till he paid me; he paid me out of the 2*l.* I paid him his 2*l.*, and he paid me the money back again for the boots.

37,735. Have you got the names of the voters you spoke to afterwards?—Yes. I beg to say with regard to the man Gibbs, he came to me just after the election was over and said, "I think you owe me for my "week's work." I said, "I did not employ you, "but if you have worked I will take care you are "paid." I asked Rose, and he said the man had been about the nomination day and polling day, and five or six days besides. I gave him 30*s.* accordingly, and I gave him the 30*s.*, I think it was at Buckland's. However, I paid him the 30*s.*

37,736. You paid him 3*l.*?—No, I was going to explain. In October, I think it was, he came and said, "You never paid me for my week's work." I said, "Did I not, Gibbs; I really have an impression "I did pay you." I went upstairs, but my wife was gone out, and I could not find the book. I said, "Gibbs, I am under the impression I paid you, but "you ought to know." He said I had not, and so I paid him 30*s.* again. I have lost that, for I had sent the bill in to Mr. Gower, and I could not get it of course, and I have lost it.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

18 Sept. 1866.

37,737. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You were never allowed for that?—No, sir, Mr. Smith had not any money; I had sent in my list.

37,738. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You say you never offered any money to anybody?—I did not say so.

37,739. For his vote?—That is another matter.

37,740. All these canvassers you have mentioned were expected, I suppose, to vote for Mr. Gower?—If I had not expected it I would not have employed them, for I would not employ a traitor or an enemy.

37,741. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Do not use hard words?—I mean a political enemy.

37,742. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How did you find out they were on your side?—They came to the committee room and had their names put on the list.

37,743. The canvassers?—No, the men I personally knew; they were men I personally knew and respected.

37,744. Did you know Joseph Peters?—I did, well.

37,745. Did you not promise him 4*l.* to vote for Mr. Gower?—I did not.

37,746. Before the election?—I did not; that is one of Mr. Naylor's additions. It is what he was talking about at the "Red Cross" the night before the petition.

37,747. Were you there?—No.

37,748. Remember you are upon your oath. How can you say what happened at this house without being there? I ask you to be cautious; we are not now passing your time and occupying it with gossip in your shop, but you are giving serious evidence?—I swear on my oath I did not say that.

37,749. Mr. Peters has said in his evidence you promised him 4*l.* for voting for Mr. Gower?—I positively deny every word of it.

37,750. Did you canvass George Rance?—I found he had already promised. I said, "You are going our "way again, I think;" and he said, "Yes, I am."

37,751. Is that all that happened?—I do not suppose it was all that happened; most likely he said something else that was of no importance.

37,752. Did you say anything that was of importance?—No, I left Durrant to look after him.

37,753. Did you know from him that if he voted for Mr. Gower he would receive money?—No.

37,754. Or might expect it?—No.

37,755. Or if he worked?—Well, very likely I might tell him that. If he had been set a job he would come to me and say, "Are we to be paid for "this?" and if he asked me this I should say "Yes."

37,756. Did you give Henry H. 5*l.*?—No, not this election.

37,757. Or did you give anything like that to John Bailey?—No, not this election.

37,758. Was that 1863?—Yes.

37,759. How came these men's bills omitted to be put in the accounts, and bills omitted to be sent in?—They were sent in after the audit; they did not know they were obliged to send in their bills a month after the election, and they came in in September and October.

37,760. Where are the bills?—I do not know where the bills are; I put them all down on a piece of paper, but I do not know where the bills are.

37,761. Those bills are the vouchers. You had a large sum of money to account for; are all these burnt as well?—I should suppose so; I never kept them at all beyond showing them to Mr. Smith.

37,762. (The Chief Commissioner.) I see Apted paid 5*l.* to go to Ashdown?—No, 5*s.*

37,763. What were those claims for that you sent in afterwards?—It all was for messenger for one evening, and Elliott was for a messenger.

37,764. When you employed a man as a messenger or canvasser did you not note him down in a book or on a piece of paper?—I put him down for the day or week if I employed him.

37,765. Why did you not make out your account and include all the men?—Because they had not sent in their bills; that is, a good many of them had not, and therefore I did not absolutely know whether they had been paid or not.

37,766. Did you ascertain whether they had all voted?—Yes, I knew they had voted, but I did not know they would be paid.

37,767. But you had employed them; you told us you were to pay them by the day or week?—They were not always employed by the week or day. This man Rose sometimes employed them.

37,768. Did Rose and others send in separate claims?—Not separate claims; but if any one in the list was missed it was put in mine.

37,769. Why were they not kept in their accounts?—I do not know.

37,770. There is no reason why they should not send in their accounts and separate from yours?—I do not know; they were working with me.

37,771. Not if they had separate accounts?—They sent them in to me, and I paid them.

37,772. Did not Mr. Buckland ever keep an account separate at Mr. Smith's?—What for?

37,773. For money?—I presume he did.

37,774. Why did he send it to you?—Rose and Ede were acting under me; they never sent in any account to Mr. Smith.

37,775. Were those sent in to Buckland or you?—No.

37,776. Was Rose acting under Buckland at all?—No. If Buckland wished him to go anywhere of course he would go; we were all equal; we did not consider one above another.

37,777. You were receiving different sums of money, and you were keeping your accounts separately?—I kept my account separately, and so did they.

37,778. And if you did keep your accounts separately you can tell us what those accounts were?—Yes; out of the 20*l.* my son had 5*l.* for being the clerk downstairs during the whole election.

37,779. Who paid him?—I did.

37,780. Who engaged him?—Mr. Smith asked me, and Mr. Gower asked me personally.

37,781. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Be very cautious about this; did Mr. Gower know from you that you were employing all these men as messengers and as canvassers? Now be very cautious how you answer that?—To what time do you allude?

37,782. Before the election, the polling day?—I cannot tell you the precise amount, but we put down a certain number.

37,783. Answer the question positively?—I cannot answer it except in my own language.

37,784. Did Mr. Gower know you had been employing these men as canvassers before polling?—I must answer the question exactly in my own language.

37,785. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Answer the question in plain English?—I know plain English, and I know no other language. At the beginning of the election there were a certain number of voters named put down to be employed, but not a sufficient number, as was thought at the time. After we had gone on a little while we found the number was not sufficient, and we then agreed among ourselves we would go up to Mr. Gower as a deputation and represent to him the matter. I asked him whether he did not think it necessary more men should be employed. He did not then give us what we considered to be a favourable answer; but afterwards he came down to Reigate himself, and attended a full meeting of the voters underneath where we are now, and he told them all those who worked for him should be paid.

37,786. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Oh, we know

all that; you are not telling us what we don't know? —Then why did you ask me?

37,787. I asked you whether Mr. Gower knew you had been employing men as canvassers and messengers; that is what I asked?—He knew it afterwards.

37,788. Did he know it at the time of the polling? —Well, I should say he perfectly well knew it at the time of the polling.

37,789. (The Chief Commissioner.) You mean before the polling?—Yes; on the day of polling he knew the state of matters.

37,790. And were paid as canvassers and messengers?—Yes.

37,791. You said you paid your son 5*l.* to act as clerk?—Yes.

37,792. All I want to know is; was that 5*l.* paid to him out of the 163*l.*, or did you make a specific charge or payment of that?—No, no such payment.

37,793. Then it came out of the 163*l.*?—It did, sir.

37,794. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) How long before the polling day was the speech made by Mr. Gower below stairs?—I cannot tell you.

37,795. Was it a month?—About a fortnight I should think, not more; I know I had a swarm of people come to me the next day after the meeting.

37,796. You had your suspicions of bribery on the part of Monson?—Oh, yes.

37,797. And long before that time you had been employing these men as canvassers to keep them together?—They were unpaid men for a considerable time.

37,798. But expected to be paid?—We were trying to get some money for them.

37,799. Did you tell Mr. Gower the Monson party were seeking to influence the election by money?—Yes, sir.

37,800. That was long before Mr. Gower made the speech you mentioned?—Oh dear yes.

37,801. Did you inform Mr. Gower of your course of action so as to counteract the influence of the Monson money?—Yes.

37,802. And that you were employing those men to keep the voters together?—We asked his permission to do so.

37,803. What did he say?—He did not grant it, but said he would consider it.

37,804. Did you speak to Mr. Gower again before you put the canvassers on?—Yes.

37,805. When you spoke to him did you get his consent to put them on?—No further than he came here and told them himself that they were to be paid for canvassing.

37,806. Do you know when it was he spoke out in that way, that they should be paid for canvassing?—It was to a large number down below.

37,807. That was the speech you were alluding to, that all those who worked should be well paid?—Yes.

37,808. But there was a long interval between the time when you knew there was bribery on the Monson side and that speech?—Yes.

37,809. And very soon after I understand you put on the men as canvassers?—Yes, I suppose so; in another week or so.

37,810. And to work?—And to work; they were working before, but we told them they should be paid, and then they worked more willingly.

37,811. And Mr. Gower was aware of it?—He was aware of it to a certain extent.

37,812. He was aware of it as much as you were?—Yes, no doubt about it.

37,813. The money you had before the election was about 60*l.*, that is what you have told us?—Yes, that is about it.

37,814. Now, besides the 60*l.*, how much was paid before the election to messengers and canvassers, before the polling?—I should judge there were hardly any, but those who wanted their money every day had it. If there was a man who worked from hand to mouth he was paid every day.

37,815. Was there any man who was paid from day to day?—Oh dear yes.

37,816. Tell me any one?—George Elliott; then Batchelor—Crompton I think his proper name is.

37,817. (The Chief Commissioner.) You did not pay Collip?—Yes, I did, those sums of money.

37,818. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What did you pay to Collip?—I paid him 2*l.* 5*s.*

37,819. When?—Daily; and he gave me a receipt every time I paid him. No, I do not think he had 5*s.* a day, I think he had 1*l.* a week.

37,820. Was he at work at any other advertisement? —No, he was here, and devoted the whole of his time to it.

37,821. Did James Ede, the gardener, have anything before the election?—No; very likely I paid him something for his expenses, but nothing for anybody else; not before the election.

37,822. Did you canvass him?—Yes.

37,823. Did you pay him anything afterwards?—I have got Ede paid 1*l.*, but what it is I do not know.

37,824. You canvassed him?—Yes.

37,825. And engaged him to work?—Yes.

37,826. Now I want to know whether you paid him? —No.

37,827. Why not?—Because Mr. Smith paid him himself; I was busy, and I sent him up to Mr. Smith.

37,828. He said Mr. Buckland paid him?—That would be all the same; he would go into Mr. Smith's office, their offices are together.

37,829. It only shows, then, that you make a great confusion of interests?—No, it is quite different; I say I did not pay him; I do not know who it was, whether it was Mr. Smith or Mr. Buckland; I was not there to see.

37,830. Was there more than 16*l.* in the 60*l.* paid to these men before the election; I think you said 16*l.*?—I said 16 men.

37,831. Then how much of the 60*l.* was paid to those 16 men; what did you pay for those 16 men?—I think about 10*l.* to 11*l.*

37,832. Not more?—No.

37,833. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure you paid Collip?—I am very glad you have called my attention to it, because when he and B. came to me to be paid I took them up to Mr. Smith after, and Mr. Smith gave a cheque for 3*l.* to Collip and B. together; he said I paid him.

37,834. No, you are wrong, he said Mr. Smith paid him 30*s.*?—I took him to Mr. Smith.

37,835. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) He said you paid him 1*l.*, and that you referred him to Mr. Smith; did you pay him 1*l.*?—No, Mr. Smith paid him, and I went with him to Mr. Smith.

37,836. What was the other money for?—What money?

37,837. The balance?—Oh, for all manner of odd things; our circulars I paid for.

37,838. What circulars are they you speak of; are they burnt?—Well, they are out of my presence; I got a man to take them down to Mr. Penfold, and I gave him, I think, 4*s.* to take them round.

37,839. What were those circulars; we have heard a great deal about them, but we have not seen inside of them?—I think they were about a meeting at Meadvale school.

37,840. Did you send those circulars to the committee men?—Yes, and to all the voters, in two sets of 400.

37,841. How often did you send out those circulars? —We sent out two sets only generally; there were 800, and we stamped them; we found it was the cheapest.

37,842. How often did the circulars go?—There were only two sets.

37,843. You sent circulars to 400 voters?—To 800, 400 each time; we divided the districts into wards.

37,844. And you sent the circulars out twice?—Upon two separate occasions, but the district circulars were sent for summoning the committee.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

18 Sept. 1866.

37,845. The committee sat every evening, did it not?—Oh dear no.

37,846. Not at stated times?—No.

37,847. Are those circulars at all to call meetings at the public houses?—The general meeting did not sanction any district meeting or any public house meetings of any kind.

37,848. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I think you said you were not on the committee?—No, but I sent circulars to the committee.

37,849. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Amongst all the people you paid, did you pay anybody after the election who happened to be a member of the committee or district committee?—I never made any distinction whether they were on the committee or not.

37,850. But then you have got your conscientious scruples?—They affected myself only.

37,851. You would not employ them yourself if they were on the committee?—I did not.

37,852. Did you pay anybody after the election who was on the committee?—I should say I did; yes, almost all those were paid afterwards.

37,853. They were members of the committee?—Yes.

37,854. Of some committee here or the district about?—Yes, members of some committee here or the district about; here is the committee book.

37,855. Has that committee book been in your possession ever since?—Yes.

37,856. Why did you not burn it?—Because I thought I would keep it for the list of names.

37,857. Why did you not put the other half sheet of paper that you have burned inside the book?—There are a good many half sheets.

37,858. But that particular one that was so important?—I do not know that shows the time they came on the committee.

37,859. You burnt the paper that was so important, and kept this book which is of no importance?—You can have the book and look at it.

37,860. What is the odd 50*l.* paid for before the election; how did you expend it?—Shall I read the items? "Circulars to Mead-vale and Earlswood, "8*s.* 6*d.*"

37,861. I see here "Paid carriages and omnibuses "to Mead-vale"?—We sent men to the booth meeting to take care of it; we sent as many men as we could get to go there for nothing but the ride.

37,862. There is 2*l.* 15*s.* for that?—Yes.

37,863. "Twenty men employed to protect the booth "at Earlswood, 2*l.* 10*s.*"?—Yes.

37,864. Were those men voters?—No, they were muscular men.

37,865. Belonging to Reigate?—Yes, they were belonging to Reigate. They were not roughs.

37,866. They were not voters?—I cannot say whether there were any voters; they were not picked out for voters.

37,867. They were picked out for paying?—I think we did not pay them.

37,868. But they were paid 2*l.* 10*s.*?—That was for the carriage.

37,869. Have you got the names of those men?—No, I do not know the names.

37,870. Did you ever pay the men?—No.

37,871. Who paid them?—I paid for the carriage.

37,872. Who paid the 20 men?—I did not pay them at all.

37,873. But you charged Mr. Gower with it, "For "20 men employed to protect the booth at Earlswood, "2*l.* 10*s.*"; give us your account of it. Did you pay them?—I think that is a mistake; I think it was the 20 men who were employed on the nomination day.

37,874. If they were the 20 men employed on the nomination day, how came you to put in your account "20 men employed to protect the booth at Earls-"wood"? You told me they were not voters?—I do not know.

37,875. Would the piece of paper which you burnt explain it?—I cannot tell you anything about it if you refuse to show me the accounts.

37,876. I gave you the accounts?—I like plain and fair sailing, and I cannot tell you whether my book is right or wrong unless I look at it.

37,877. There it is (holding document to witness)?—I cannot see it there.

37,878. I will read to you the whole item; it has nothing to do with any other item. There it is plain, look at it, and explain it if you can. You say you are uncertain whether this was for men employed for nomination day or polling day, or at Earlswood (the document was handed to witness)?—They were not employed by me, but I did pay for them. I think they were employed by Mr. Rose. I did not employ the men, but I paid for the carriage.

37,879. Take that paper up again, and be good enough to explain to me why you can explain it in that way because you look at the paper?—Because it calls it to my memory, that is all.

37,880. By looking at that paper?—Yes.

37,881. Is there anything on that piece of paper which I have not read to you?—But I can see it in connexion with all the other items.

37,882. When did you make that entry of the payment?—At the time.

37,883. Then why did you not put the date?—I have not put dates to any of them.

37,884. I see you have not. If not, why not?—It was all in one expense.

37,885. Then I ask you, upon your solemn oath, did you not make up the account long after the election?—I did not.

37,886. Did you make the entries day by day as you made the payments?—The copy of that I did.

37,887. I should like very much to see that copy?—Because it is burnt you would like to see it, but you would not have cared much about it if it had been kept.

37,888. Yes, I should; I always distrust these accounts when they come in copies; experience leads me to that conclusion. I do not say merely in this particular instance, but generally. Are you enabled by seeing that item to swear these men were employed at Earlswood and not at the nomination?—I recollect paying for some on going to Earlswood.

37,889. Do you recollect what you paid?—No, I do not; anything further than that I cannot tell.

37,890. From whom did you hire these carriages to go to Earlswood?—I think from Sayers we hired two, and we hired the omnibus from Targers.

37,891. Both voters?—I dare say they were; nobody else kept carriages.

37,892. And these were all voters you took?—No.

37,893. Not in the carriages and omnibuses?—No.

37,894. Did you take any of these 20 roughs in the carriages?—On the top we did; some had a ride there and some had a ride back.

37,895. They were not strong enough to walk?—Yes, but we wanted to get a good lot of them.

37,896. Furnishing the town hall committee room with necessary articles. I see "Stationery, 7*l.* 16*s.* 1*d.*" Did you pay that bill?—There were a number of items for that.

37,897. Where are the bills?—Not bills, but payments. Mr. Smith asked me to pay the money, which I did, and there were two sets of stamps for 800 letters.

37,898. Did you not get accounts for them and receipts?—They will not give you accounts and receipts for postage stamps.

37,899. You did not pay 7*l.* for postage stamps?—No. I bought two sets of postage stamps, that was 800; and then the odd ones, I suppose, would come to 6*s.* or 7*s.*, the casual ones; then we had a committee board cost 8*s.*; then there were three panes of glass broken by a man leaning his back against them. I had to pay for them, because we did not pay for the hall. We were obliged to make the hall decent for our use; then there was a cover for the table, and pens, ink, and paper.

37,900. Show me the portion of paper of these accounts that have reference to your payments before the election. Take a pen and just mark where the account begins before the election, and where it ends on the day of the election?—I have paid this.

37,901. I ask you one simple thing; draw a line upon that list where the account ends before the election?—Well, I should say that is it (marking paper). Some of those men were paid and some were not, but those that were not were paid within a day or two afterwards.

37,902. Did you attend any of the public house meetings where there were refreshments going on?—I attended the "Black Horse" at Woodhatch; it was the only meeting I took part in. I went to others, but took no part in them. What did I call it; did I call it the "Black Horse"?

37,903. Yes. Reigate-heath you mean?—No, I mean the "Angel" at Woodhatch.

37,904. Were you in the chair at Woodhatch?—I was not in the chair, but they asked me to go there and speak, and I did.

37,905. Was it a large meeting?—Yes.

37,906. Who paid for the refreshments?—I think I paid, but not at the time. I think it was the next day.

37,907. How much did you pay?—I paid more than that meeting.

37,908. How much did you pay?—I think I paid 4*l.* 10*s.* or 4*l.* 12*s.*, or something like that, but it was for a little expense besides the meeting; and I had tea there when I went to pay the bill.

37,909. How many men were present that evening?—I do not know; I think there might be fifty. There were two rooms.

37,910. Was it a sort of general meeting? Had there been any circulars sent out to call that meeting?—I believe there had.

37,911. Generally?—I do not know, but I believe there had.

37,912. Was there any other house that you attended?—No; it was done by messengers.

37,913. How many messengers were employed?—I think Mr. Durrant employed his men.

37,914. Did you pay any other monies for refreshments at a similar meeting?—Yes, I paid several refreshment bills after I found they were incurred.

37,915. Was that before or after the election?—Before, I should think.

37,916. How much did you pay for refreshments that had been so incurred?—I paid the committee room down stairs.

37,917. No, but the public house refreshments?—I should think perhaps 7*l.* or 8*l.* altogether.

37,918. At the "Angel," and 7*l.* or 8*l.* elsewhere?—Yes.

37,919. Where did you pay it?—At their own houses.

37,920. What houses; what names?—I think I paid Sore something like 2*l.* 15*s.*, and Thatcher, I paid a bill there 3*l.* 8*s.*; it was for two or three meetings there.

37,921. Any more?—I do not know that I have.

37,922. How did you know that these bills were being incurred at these other houses besides the "Angel"?—They came and told me.

37,923. Anywhere else?—Yes, there was the "Black Horse" at Reigate-heath. I paid some there. I went down during the meeting.

37,924. You were at the meeting?—Word was brought me that a man of the name of Johnson was sticking up a lot of beer to Mr. Gower, and I went down there to ask the landlord not to let them have any more, and I spoke to the meeting there, and I told them of Mr. Gower's wishes.

37,925. You say these landlords came down to you and told you these bills had been incurred?—No, I did not say so.

37,926. How did you know the bills had been incurred at other public houses besides the "Angel"?—The people at the meetings came and told me, one or another.

37,927. Was that the only information you had, that bills had been incurred at other public houses besides the "Angel"?—Yes.

37,928. And then you went to the public houses and paid them?—I went to speak to them, and if I found the amount was not anything extraordinary I paid it.

37,929. Without further inquiry?—Yes; I did not like to pass a little bill.

37,930. At the "Angel" you say there were some 50 men present; those were general voters, were they not?—I do not know; I did not stay there more than 10 minutes.

37,931. You paid the bill?—Next day, along with some more beer that had been had.

37,932. Did you leave any instructions with the landlord at the "Angel" to say you would call and pay?—No, he asked me who was going to pay the bill the next time I saw him.

37,933. Then that makes about 16*l.* you paid in that way?—I have not added it up; I do not know how much it is, but it is in the account.

37,934. Show me the item in your list where you charge the 16*l.* that you paid at the "Angel" and the other public houses?—There is Hall 1*l.* 5*s.*

37,935. No, it is before the election?—Well, that was about then I had paid it and charged for it.

37,936. Who is Hall?—He lives at the "Black Horse," Reigate-heath.

37,937. You have not told us about the "Black Horse," Reigate-heath, excepting going to Johnson and stopping the beer?—You stopped me.

37,938. Did you pay the "Black Horse"? I paid him 1*l.* 5*s.*

37,939. Then that makes over 17*l.*?—There is the amount, 15*l.* 10*s.*

37,940. Read it in your own plain English. "Paid "amount of travelling expenses for myself and "messengers to London and other places, including "refreshments to canvassers and assistants at dis-"trict meetings."

37,941. What do you call assistants at district meetings?—People who have gone about to help to get up the meeting.

37,942. You have told us there might have been 50 at the "Angel;" you did not know who they were, you were only there 10 minutes. How do you know there were canvassers and assistants?—I knew the men without asking.

37,943. You told me just now you did not know them.?—I could not tell you the names, it is 12 months ago, and there were 50 people there.

37,944. Were the principal part of them canvassers?—No, I should think not; a good many of them were voters.

37,945. Did you put down in your pocket-book, or enter in these papers which you have destroyed, those payments directly you paid them, and when fresh in your memory?—I put them on a slip of paper and took them home.

37,946. Why did you not charge the whole amount?—So I have, it is 15*l.* 10*s.*; that is about it.

37,947. You have made it up to 17*l.*?—It might have been.

37,948. You have charged here 15*l.*, including travelling expenses for yourself and messengers to London. How much have you put down for yourself and messengers to London?—Not messengers to London; I have not written good English.

37,949. It is plain, honest, sensible English?—No, it is not; good English ought to express in words what I expended, and my meaning, and that does not.

37,950. What did you intend?—It was only for my own personal expenses to London.

37,951. And the messengers to other places?—Yes.

37,952. You have already told us you paid about 17*l.* for refreshments?—That is it.

37,953. You have charged 15*l.*?—If you examine me in that manner I cannot possibly tell you within a 1*l.* or 2*l.* what I paid for refreshments.

37,954. You are supposed, according to your own account, to have made out a correct account of all your expenditure at the time you paid it, and you say you have a true account of all the expenditure?—Yes, I have put it down and added them together.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

37,955. I am testing your accuracy. I want you to explain this. There is 17*l.* you have paid as for refreshments alone?—I think about that.

37,956. And here you charge 15*l.* for canvassers and assistants; there were 50 canvassers and assistants at the meeting you say?—No, I do not mean to say there were not any voters; of course when one man is drinking beer he always asks his neighbour to have a drop, at least he ought to.

37,957. Was it not in truth a systematic case of treating on that one evening; was it not a regular treating evening at the "Angel"? You are an old electioneerer, and you know what I mean?—Not illegal treating.

37,958. Do not put your construction upon what it was; was not the whole of it treating?—Certainly if I stand a glass of ale it is treating.

37,959. But if you stand a glass of ale to 50 people, what then?—It is just the same; it was not for the purpose of corruptly influencing the opinions of any man present; that is treating, in my opinion.

37,960. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Now there was one question I wanted an answer to from you as connected with 1863. You know we had a gentleman here yesterday of the name of William Clark, and he spoke of 10*l.* that was owing to him from the Gower party in 1863, and that he met you?—No, I do not know that he met me, I gave some money to Mr. Mulley, and Mulley gave it to him.

37,961. I merely want to ask you as to what your construction of it is; did you see him with reference to the 10*l.*?—I did; I know all about it.

37,962. Do you know about the 10*l.*?—I do.

37,963. Tell me your history of it?—The "Wheatsheaf" was our committee room, and I was in the "Wheatsheaf," but my district was not there. Mr. Rees came to me and said that some of the men were very dissatisfied that they had not been paid the last week's work, and amongst others I think he mentioned the two Dales; at all events, I heard their name mentioned in connexion with it. I said, I did not know anything about it. Mr. Rees said, "I have no money "about me;" I said, "I have 10*l.*; if Mr. Mulley "likes to take that, and to be accountable for it, I will "pay it to Mr. Mulley, but to no one else."

37,964. My question has reference to Clark?—Yes, I was going to tell you about it. Mr. Mulley had the 10*l.* and paid it to Clark in the same hour; that was it I think, so far as I can remember. Mr. Mulley came to me afterwards on the same day and told me that Clark had kept the money, and that it was all a story about these people grumbling, that he had merely fudged that story in order to get possession of the money. I said, "Mr. Mulley, I will go over to Smith." I went over to Mr. Smith and said, "Clark has dis-"honestly taken the money for himself, do not pay "him what you have engaged to pay him." I believe they had engaged to pay him 10*l.* for salary, and that then I believe Mr. Smith refused to pay him his salary, because he would not deliver up the 10*l.*; that is all I know about it. Mr. Clark came to the "White Hart" at this election, and came in to Mr. Green and told him he wished to be on the committee, and I told Mr. Green that I would not sit on the same committee with him.

It being ascertained that Mr. Mulley was in Court the witness was requested to stop till Mr. Mulley had been asked a few questions to confirm his statement.

Mr. Mulley.

Mr. Mulley.

37,965. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) You have been sworn before, Mr. Mulley?—Yes.

37,966. Do you recollect receiving that 10*l.* from Mr. Apted?—I do recollect it.

37,967. I forget whether you said you had received any money in '63 or no?—Nothing whatever except the 10*l.* I handed it over to Clark through Apted.

37,968. You received nothing yourself?—Nothing at all.

37,969. I may as well ask you this as we are upon it; did you dispose of anything at that election?—I disposed of some money of my own.

37,970. Did you sell anything?—No.

37,971. Did you not get 5*l.* for a dog?—That was a private transaction, and had nothing to do with the election.

37,972. All I can say is, that it is down in Mr. Smith's election accounts?—The dog was worth more money than I made on it, but it was a private transaction, and had nothing to do with the election at all.

37,973. (The Chief Commissioner.) Was that with reference to '63?—Yes. I wish to say one thing.

37,974. It must only be about the dog?—It is only about the dog. That was a private transaction with Mr. Gower alone. Mr. Smith, unexpectedly to me, sent me the money for the dog, and the next day, or the day after that, Mr. Gower sent me the money. I wrote to Mr. Gower a letter to say I had already received the money for the dog from Mr. Smith. Mrs. Gower wrote me a letter, informing me that Mr. Gower was not at home, but that he would reply to it; at all events, he wrote a reply to me to say that I could return the 5*l.* to him, which I did.

37,975. You did return it to Mr. Gower?—I returned the 5*l.* to Mr. Gower himself.

37,976. You had already received a 5*l.* note from Mr. Smith?—Yes, I did not expect to receive it.

37,977. Mr. Gower himself did not know that Mr. Smith had sent it?—I only wished to show that there was no bribery in it. I understand it was worth 20*l.*; it was one of the finest dogs in Surrey.

37,978. What was its breed?—It was a retriever.

J. H. Apted.

Job Apted, examination resumed.

37,979. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you pay Hodge anything for his house?—No, we did not take any houses.

37,980. You merely used them?—We merely went there one night; we did not have the room.

37,981. You distributed your favours over the borough?—We bought the beer.

The Chief Commissioner stated that he desired to ask Mr. Mulley a few questions in explanation of what he had stated.

Mr. Mulley.

Mr. Mulley further examined.

37,982. (The Chief Commissioner.) I think, Mr. Mulley, you ought to have an opportunity of explaining how it was Mr. Smith came to put that down in the account?—I cannot tell at all.

37,983. He has put it down in his account of election expenses?—If I had sent the money back to Mr. Smith instead of to Mr. Gower it would have been better, but Mr. Gower wrote to me to send the money to him.

37,984. I merely wanted to know whether you could account for Mr. Smith sending you the money?—I cannot account for it any more than in this way, that on one occasion Mr. Gower asked me when he should have the dog, and Mr. Smith was present; that was after I had promised the dog, after he had purchased it.

37,985. Mr. Smith would not know what he was to pay for it?—He might have mentioned it in conversation, but I cannot tell you about that.

37,986. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) How long before the election was it?—I should think a fortnight or three weeks.

Examination of JOB APTED resumed.

37,987. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you expend money before that election?—Yes.

37,988. In the election when Mr. Wilkinson was put up against Mr. Monson at the eleventh hour?—Mr. McCulloch was first.

37,989. You either proposed or seconded Mr. Wilkinson?—Mr. McCulloch came forward first and canvassed, and I found that he did not have a chance of getting in, and then he presented me with a testimonial.

37,990. What was the testimonial?—A work of his own composing, with a letter thanking me for my unpaid services in his behalf.

37,991. And then, I believe, you proposed Mr. Wilkinson?—I did.

37,992. Nobody had canvassed anybody for Mr. Wilkinson?—No.

37,993. When was it decided to put up Mr. Wilkinson?—We went over to Mr. Norman Wilkinson.

37,994. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Was that in '63?—No, '59. He promised to correspond with his brother, because his brother was away from home; he had not any answer till the evening previous to the nomination day, and then Mr. Norman Wilkinson agreed, on his brother's behalf, to pay the expenses of the election.

37,995. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) In '63 you took an active part in the election?—Yes.

37,996. What money did you receive in 1863 to expend?—That I cannot tell you.

37,997. About?—I should say probably 200*l.*, but I could not tell you within 20*l.*

37,998. From whom did you receive that money?—Mr. Smith.

37,999. Have you burnt all the accounts?—I have found a book that I did not know there was any electioneering in, but whether this was the proper account, or whether it was not, I hardly know; there are some items here.

(The book was handed in.)

38,000. You received nearly 200*l.* you say?—You will see it is put in divisions.

38,001. This is a copy of "Reigate election 1863." When was that made?—It was made at the time.

38,002. It is "C. J. Smith, Esquire, to Job "Apted"?—That is the only book and the only paper I can find respecting that election.

38,003. Did you pay much more money on that election for refreshments?—Yes, I should say quite 20 times as much as I did this time.

38,004. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Were you on Mr. Gower's side?—Yes. Mr. Gower was a perfect stranger to the inhabitants, and this district being very large, we were obliged to meet the working men near their homes, and we had to have meetings every night.

38,005. (The Chief Commissioner.) Did you say 20 times as much?—I know it was a very large sum more.

38,006. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Did you employ canvassers as well?—Not so many as we did this time. I might have employed more personally.

38,007. I see you paid one man of the name of Monk. I will take his name, because I recollect his name as occurring in this last election. I see he was paid 20*l.*?—That was in '63.

38,008. Did you employ Monk this time?—No. Mr. Joyes came to me, and asked me if I would go and ask Monk for his vote, and I said I thought he was an evil-disposed man, and I would not have anything to do with him. I mean towards the election; nothing else.

38,009. You thought him evil-disposed because he was not well-disposed towards you?—He cheated me out of a 1*l.* the previous election.

38,010. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) I would take it as a favour if you would not introduce these matters?—You should not ask the question then. Mr. Joyes can bear me out, wherever he is, that it is the truth that I told him so.

38,011. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Was Henry Monk engaged by you this time?—No.

38,012. Or Etcill?—No.

38,013. Or Davey?—No, he did not vote.

38,014. I think Henry Wye is another man we have mentioned this time?—He was long-stop this time.

38,015. What do you call a long-stop?—He waited to see which party would bid the highest.

38,016. Did you succeed in getting him?—No, I did not attempt it.

38,017. Which way did he vote?—He did not vote at all; the votes fell to nothing at 12 o'clock.

38,018. How much should you say you paid away in refreshments in '63?—I think I paid very few canvassers.

38,019. Did you pay 50*l.* in '63 in refreshments?—I should say far more than that.

38,020. 100*l.*?—I do not know; perhaps that would be the amount.

38,021. It is not so far back but what you can remember how much you paid for refreshments?—I should think perhaps 100*l.*

38,022. In '63?—Yes, and the rooms together.

38,023. Then you did engage public houses?—Oh dear yes; I got sick of them.

38,024. What did you pay for houses generally?—I paid 5*l.*, and in some instances 20*l.*

38,025. Do you mean to say that you paid this money yourself?—No, not 20*l.* I did not go so high as that.

38,026. But, including all, it would be about 100*l.*?—I should think so. I am not speaking from memory. I do not remember exactly.

38,027. You are speaking generally?—Yes.

38,028. How did you expend the other 100*l.*?—I should say probably in canvassers.

38,029. In paying their expenses of 30*s.* a week?—1*l.* a week.

38,030. It would make some 30 or 40 canvassers, I suppose?—It was a very long election; we are unfortunate; we always have long elections.

38,031. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) That is rather fortunate?—No, unfortunate.

38,032. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) Unfortunate for the candidates, you mean it is unfortunate for them?—It is unfortunate too for us who are called off our business.

38,033. In '59 did you disperse any money?—'59 was the most earnest election that I know of. There were 168 working men came up willingly to vote without one single farthing expected to be paid for any of them. There was one man who told me he would come for nothing if I never would tell anybody, but that he never was more ashamed of anything in his life.

38,034. Do you recollect who that was?—William Brown, of Earlswood.

38,035. How many of these men came up and polled?—161.

TWENTY-FOURTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

18 Sept. 1866.

38,036. The whole of them working men?—The whole of them working men, all of them against the other party I believe.

38,037. That was the whole of the number that Mr. Wilkinson polled?—Yes.

38,038. Then I suppose you could say as much for the 260 who polled for Mr. Monson?—That they came to poll without money?

38,039. Yes, in '59?—No; I think their expenses will show different to that.

38,040. Then yours was the only pure side?—At that election.

38,041. Yes, but if Mr. Wilkinson did not pay anything at all you must remember he was put up without his knowledge. What did Mr. McCulloch pay?—He went away without paying for his printing.

38,042. Then he had no expenses at all?—No.

38,043. He paid nobody?—No; I think I had the most of any of them from Mr. McCulloch; I had a book and a letter thanking me.

38,044. He paid you by making a small present?—Yes.

38,045. Did you take a part in the election of '58, between Mr. Monson and Mr. Wilkinson; it was when Sir Henry Rawlinson accepted office?—Then I was for Mr. Wilkinson.

38,046. Were your services gratuitous?—Entirely; and my own personal expenses also. I never had a farthing from any one before Mr. Gower came.

38,047. You never received anything from any one with the exception of Mr. Gower?—Yes. I felt I could not afford it, and I told Mr. Gower I would not do it without I was paid.

38,048. Did you take part in the general election, 1858?—I was for Sir Henry Rawlinson, that is, I voted for him; I did not take so active part as I have taken sometimes.

38,049. We have heard a great deal about the general character of that election; have you anything to tell us about it?—Do you mean Mr. Doulton's election?

38,050. Yes, the election of Mr. Doulton's. You have heard what has been described in this Court, do you agree with that description of the election?—I think any one coming into the town as Mr. Doulton did would have done just the same here, and would have hired people to go about with boards.

38,051. I ask you whether you agree with the description given in this Court with reference to that election. I mean that there was a great deal of treating going on?—Yes.

38,052. We have heard it so frequently described that I only ask you a general question?—Oh, there is no doubt of it.

38,053. You agree with that description?—Yes.

38,054. (The Chief Commissioner.) Will you give me your attention for a few minutes. I suppose Collip may now be erased out of your list. Collip received 2*l.* 5*s.*, and it turns out that that was really paid by Mr. Smith?—No, he had that in addition; it was a settler that Mr. Smith gave him.

38,055. He does not say that you gave him a farthing?—But I did, and took his receipt for it every day.

38,056. Let me put it down, as it is important. Collip himself does not say that you paid him a farthing; it is material that we should get it right?—How much does he say he had?

38,057. I will tell you directly what he had?—Because he had several pounds altogether.

38,058. He says he received 30*s.* "Smith paid me "without knowing what I had done for him." He never said a word about your paying him?—He was paid every day; he was kept here four weeks, and I paid him 2*l.* 5*s.* That is quite right, that Mr. Smith did not ask him what he had done, because he had my signature that it was right and due to the man; it was paid daily.

38,059. Now I want to ask you another matter. I see you have put down Easton 1*l.*; did you pay it?—Yes. It ought to have been "Eastons," there are two of them.

38,060. Can you tell me whether that is the father?—No, his two sons; Richard, I think.

38,061. There is another Easton, a gardener; we have had here?—No, that is not the man. I think when he was up I read in the paper something about boots. I wish to state that he owes me now 13*s.* or something of that sort, but I have never spoken to him about boots concerning the election in my life or anything else to him.

38,062. Am I right in saying you have paid a man named Rance?—Yes; 2*l.*

38,063. I will give you the figures; Bailey 2*l.*, Attwood 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Attwood had 2*l.*; he had 10*s.*, I think, for two nights' watching.

38,064. What Attwood said was that you paid him 1*l.* 10*s.* and a portion in boots?—He had a pair before the poll day.

38,065. Have you charged him in your list as 1*l.* 10*s.* or 2*l.*?—I have charged him the 2*l.*, which I paid him in full; and he then paid me back again the money which he owed me.

38,066. Then you have paid a man named Fuller through James Ede; you sent the money by James Ede I understand?—James Ede acted entirely on his own responsibility, and I did not know his men until he brought the names in. They canvassed him.

38,067. I suppose he got the money?—I paid him the money.

38,068. Then you charged it there?—I paid him 30*l.*, and I paid Fuller nothing.

38,069. Fuller was paid through James Ede?—Yes; he was in partnership at that election with Rose, and I paid them 30*l.* between them, out of which Ede had about 7*l.* 10*s.* and Rose spent the other.

38,070. Then Fuller comes out of the 30*l.*?—Yes.

38,071. You paid James Dormer 5*s.*?—Yes.

38,072. You paid Gibbs 3*l.*?—Yes.

38,073. Daniel Gillett 3*l.*?—I have paid him nothing.

38,074. He says you have?—I got up a subscription for him, because Mr. Smith would not pay him. I paid him nothing on account of the election.

38,075. I will tell you what he says, "I got 3*l.* "from Apted, but it was not paid out of the election "money but after the election;" that is it?—Yes; a great many of Mr. Monson's supporters helped to pay that.

38,076. It is not charged in your account?—It is not; I never paid a farthing out of Mr. Gower's money to him.

38,077. You paid Rose 30*l.*?—Yes, Rose and Ede together.

38,078. "William Meadows 2*l.*"?—I paid him nothing, I heard him give his evidence; that was in '63.

38,079. He said he was paid 2*l.* by Apted?—Not me.

38,080. Then it must have been in '63?—I have paid him nothing this election.

38,081. I understood him to say '65?—I positively deny having paid him a halfpenny.

38,082. Can you tell me who he would be under?—I should think Joyes.

Mr. Joyes informed the Commissioners that in the last election he had paid Meadows 4*l.*

38,083. Shall I take him out of your list, Mr. Apted?—Out of my list, decidedly. I paid him 2*l.* in '63.

38,084. I dare say you are quite correct. George Pullen, you paid a pound to?—Yes.

38,085. And Walker a pound?—That was on the day of nomination.

38,086. Did you pay Henry Gray 4*l.*?—No.

38,087. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) What was the pound paid to Walker for on the day of nomination?—For a week's wages.

38,088. (The Chief Commissioner.) Are you sure you did not pay Henry Gray 4*l.*?—Yes.

38,089. Frederick Fullbrooke you paid?—Yes. He went over to the other party because I would not pay him a week's wages.

38,090. James Hall 1*l.* 10*s.*, John Peters 2*l.*; John Bailey you gave 5*l.* to through Baines?—No, in '63.

38,091. Are you sure?—Quite sure; I have given him nothing for this election at all, he was in Reigate when I gave him the money.

38,092. You paid him through Baines?—I did not pay him at all.

38,093. But it came from you; Mr. Rose may have paid him?—I dare say he might.

38,094. Henry Baines you paid 2*l.*?—Yes.

38,095. Henry Gray you paid 5*l.*?—He was in Mr. Durrant's district, that is all I know.

38,096. You are sure you did not?—I am sure I did not.

38,097. Frederick Fullbrooke you paid 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes.

38,098. George Stanford 7*s.*?—I am very glad you have brought that under my notice; I deny it; I did not pay one single halfpenny. He said he had it in shoes or something of that sort.

38,099. Have you charged it in your account?—I have not. I never paid him one single farthing.

38,100. William Stevenson 2*l.* 10*s.*; I hope that is right?—I think that is wrong, I have got it down 2*l.*

38,101. I will alter it, I am taking your word?—I know it was only 2*l.*, whether he ever had 10*s.* for watching for a night or not I do not know.

38,102. But not from you?—Not from me.

38,103. John Brooker you paid 1*l.* 10*s.* to through Ede?—I do not know anything about his account.

38,104. He says he got it from you through Ede?—I do not know anything about it.

38,105. Did you pay him?—It does not come into my account at all, only through the 30*l.*

38,106. Did you pay him yourself?—No.

38,107. Richard Easton you paid 10*s.*?—Not Richard Easton; the father had nothing, it was his two sons; I gave them 5*s.* a week.

38,108. You have charged it in your account?—1*l.*

38,109. Richard Easton, together with the boot bill, is 1*l.* 10*s.*?—My boot bill is standing now; I never spoke to the man about his bill.

38,110. What do you consider you gave Easton?—Nothing, not a shilling.

38,111. Then I will take him out?—Yes.

38,112. I am taking this exactly as you desire to have it. George Baines 1*l.*?—That was for his driving in the place of an old coachman.

38,113. John Flint you gave 2*l.*?—No.

38,114. Yes, I think you paid him 2*l.*?—John Flint has not had any money from me.

38,115. Are you quite sure?—Yes.

38,116. Will you tell me the names of anybody else you paid money to?—There is Attwood, Mills. I do not think you have had Mills, he has gone away from the neighbourhood.

38,117. How much was Mills?—1*l.* 10*s.*; Baines 2*l.*, Walker 1*l.*, Peters 2*l.*, Gibbs 1*l.* 10*s.*, Fullbrooke 10*s.*, Rance I think you have.

38,118. Yes; go on?—And Collip I think you have.

38,119. No, Collip I have taken out. Did you pay Collett?—2*l.* 5*s.* he had from me. Batchelor.

38,120. Did you pay Batchelor?—Yes, daily.

38,121. How much?—2*l.* 5*s.* altogether. Stevenson 2*l.*, Amos Elliott 1*l.* 10*s.*

38,122. I thought it was not you who paid him; how much did you pay him?—1*l.* 10*s.* Then Pullen, Dormer, and Walker.

38,123–4. You paid Fuller 1*l.* 10*s.*?—No, Pullen 1*l.* What went through Ede I have nothing to do with. Attwood 1*l.* 10*s.*

Adjourned till 11 o'clock the next morning.

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY.

Wednesday, 19th September 1866.

JOB H. APTED recalled.

38,125–6. (The Chief Commissioner.) Tell me this; I have got your evidence before me that you gave yesterday, and I see you stated you received no money at all from Mr. Smith excepting cheques?—No, sir.

38,127. And you specified a certain number of cheques, which amounted altogether, you say, to 125*l.*?—110*l.*

38,128. That 110*l.* would not include your fee?—Yes, it did; I stated I received no other.

38,129. What you stated was, and I have no doubt what you meant, "Altogether I received 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.*, "including my own fee."—That is quite right.

38,130. And you went on to say, "The first cheque "commenced June 9th, a cheque for 10*l.*"—Yes.

38,131. And you mean to say all the cheques you received amounted to 110*l.*?—From Mr. Smith.

38,132. Can you tell me, how did Mr. Smith pay your fee?—He paid it by cheque.

38,133. Did Mr. Smith pay it?—Yes.

38,134. When did he pay you your fee?—I took it out of the two last cheques; they were both given to me on the same day, 30*l.* and 30*l.*

38,135. And you took the 50*l.* out of that?—Yes, I took the 50*l.* out of that.

38,136. That was paid on the 26th of October, was it not?—I have got it down October.

38,137. At any rate it was presented at the bank on the 26th?—That is quite right, it was so.

38,138. That being so, the only money I wish to call your attention to is that which you received to pay away to voters and canvassers. I do not call it bribery now, but money you received to pay away to persons who were voters?—Yes.

38,139. 24*l.* or 24*l.* 10*s.* they would seem to amount to. You received 163*l.* 10*s.*, and you paid out of that 30*l.* to Rose; there is an end of that?—Yes.

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

19 Sept. 1866.

38,140. You paid your fee of 50*l.*, your own fee?—Yes.

38,141. You paid your son 5*l.*; then the voters would be 24*l.* 10*s.*?—No, more than that.

38,142. No; you will perhaps explain how you made the rest up; all that this comes to is 109*l.* 10*s.*?—Will you allow me to refer to my own account?

(The Chief Commissioner.) Yes, you have a right to refer to it (handing account to witness).

38,143. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Did you send in a copy of what you have in your hand to Mr. Smith?—To the audit; that was for Mr. Smith to send to the auditors.

38,144. Did you send a detailed account of what you all paid to Mr. Smith?—Yes; and I believe you both have asked me for it, to give into your possession.

38,145. (The Chief Commissioner.) When?—Three or four days ago.

38,146. How does that accord with this fact, that you gave a copy to him; that must have been a month after the election?—That cannot alter the case; I might have made 20 copies.

38,147. Mr. Smith has that copy?—No, it is lodged, I presume, in the House of Commons with the petition. I should presume so, but I do not know.

38,148. You will find, I think, that 24*l.* 10*s.* was very nearly about what you paid to voters and canvassers; if not, tell me how much it was?—About 38*l.*

38,149. Oh, no! I beg your pardon.—I think you have only got the voters who were paid previous to the audit.

38,150. Do not let us have anything to do with the audit, the audit is a thing we do not care about. The last money you received, if I mistake not, was on the 20th of November, from Mr. Smith?—The 20th of October, was it not?

38,151. No, the 20th of November, 40*l.*?—Yes.

38,152. Your account starts with the 9th of June and ends with the 20th of November?—Quite right.

38,153. I went over this privately last night, and if I am not much mistaken your amount is not correct, but very likely I am mistaken?—I think you will find it so.

38,154. Perhaps so. You paid away to voters 24*l.*?—It is different to my statement.

38,155. I will tell you what you made it?—I will read it over if you like. H. 1*l.* 10*s.*; E. 1*l.* 10*s.* Oh, no! my son is 5*l.*

38,156. Never mind him.—Yes, that is where I have made the mistake.

38,157. Your son is put down 5*l.*?—Yes. Glover, 1*l.*; you never had him, I do not think. Oh! that I see was for beer.

38,158. I am not talking of refreshments?—Hall, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Dormer, 1*l.*

38,159. No, Dormer was 5*s.* Yes, but I have got 1*l.* in addition to that.

38,160. No, I think you have not?—It is in my account, that is all I can say.

38,161. Yesterday you particularly made me strike out Dormer from 5*l.* to 5*s.*?—Yes, that was for journeying. I have got it in one part of the bill, and then 1*l.* in another. I have not got them classed together, because they were paid at two different times. Then in 1863 Gibbs, 3*l.*; Gillett, 1*l.* 10*s.* Have you got Walker, 1*l.*?

38,162. Yes.—Pullen, 1*l.*; Frederick Spiller, 10*s.*?

38,163. How much did you say to Gibbs?—1*l.* 10*s.* I paid him twice; it really was 3*l.*

38,164. You did not charge that to Mr. Gower, so I will put it down 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Frederick Fuller, 1*l.*; Hall, 1*l.* 10*s.*; James Peters, 2*l.*; Henry Baines, 2*l.*; Fullbrooke, 10*s.*; Stamford, nothing.

38,165. William Stevenson, 2*l.*; George Rance, 1*l.*; Meadows, 1*l.* 10*s.*; Collett, 2*l.* 5*s.*; Batchelor, 1*l.* 5*s.*; Elliott, 1*l.* 10*s.*?—Have you Attwood?

38,166. Yes; William Attwood, 1*l.* 10*s.*?—2*l.* he had.

38,167. Yes, 2*l.* Are you able to tell me out of your account how much you paid to men of that sort?—I think, if you have got them all there, it is correct; I made a mistake, because I added my son's money along with them.

38,168. 26*l.*; is that it?—That is about it, I think.

38,169. Then the account stands thus: you paid Rose 30*l.*; you paid voters 26*l.* 13*s.*; you paid your own self 50*l.*, and you paid your son 5*l.*?—Yes.

38,170. That makes 111*l.* 13*s.* out of 163*l.* 10*s.*; be kind enough to tell me what you did with the rest?—There were circulars from Mead-vale and Earlswood.

38,171. Those circulars were taken, were they not, by voters?—No, it was before anybody was employed; it was at the preliminary meeting of Mr. Gower that he held, no one was put on then.

38,172. Tell me really how much you paid for those, as I do not want to go over each item?—14*s.*

38,173. Altogether?—Yes. Then there was horse and cart to Bletchingley and Caterham, 12*s.* 6*d.*; then there was paid Dormer—we went to him twice—paid Dormer to Bletchingly, 5*s.*; then there were six registers of voters, 6*s.*

38,174. 6*s.* each?—No, 6*s.*, they were a shilling each; then there is bill distributing and posting, 1*l.* 7*s.* 6*d.*,—only one was employed then; there were three carriages and omnibus to Earlswood, at our demonstration you may call it, 2*l.* 15*s.*, and 20 men employed to protect the booth at Earlswood, 2*l.* 10*s.*; that was 2*s.* 6*d.* each.

38,175. They were not voters?—No.

38,176. So far as you know?—Yes, I will not say positively. Furnishing town hall and committee-room with necessary articles in stationery, I have not mentioned stamps, but the stamps are included, 7*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.*; that was in different little bills.

38,177. That is for the town hall?—Yes; then there is paid for refreshments for the town hall committee——

38,178. Before you come to that I want to ask you whether those are all the bills you paid, except for refreshments?—There are the watchers.

38,179. Well, Legg paid the watchers?—No, he had one party.

38,180. Let us have the watchers?—Do you want their names?

38,181. No, I do not want their names, I want to know how much they were?—5*l.* 9*s.* altogether, throughout the election.

38,182. Anything else before you come to refreshments?—Only the canvassers.

38,183. We have had those in the 26*l.* 13*s.*?—There is an amount that includes the refreshments, that is, I paid the little bills for different districts.

38,184. I am quite aware of that; is there anything before that?—No.

38,185. That comes to exactly 133*l.* 3*s.*; now the difference between 133*l.* and 163*l.* 10*s.* 1*d.* is 30*l.* as nearly as possible; did you spend that 30*l.* for refreshments. I have not reckoned the few shillings difference?—No; there were a few persons here who were not voters, their names I will tell you; Jackson and Huntley.

38,186. Those are included in the other bill?—No, they are not included in the other bill, because their bills were not sent in till October.

38,187. You paid them?—Yes, but I have not given you any account of them. I have only given you an account of those that were paid at the election.

38,188. Then besides what you paid, making 133*l.*, you paid something else?—Yes, 4*l.*

38,189. That makes 137*l.*, now the difference between 137*l.* and 163*l.*, there is 27*l.*; did that go in refreshments?—The whole of it. There is a little trifling expense for myself, but what I should spend does not exceed 1*l.*

38,190. Never mind that; tell me this, if you please: when you received the two 30*l.* cheques on the same day why did you appropriate 50*l.* of it for yourself?—Because Mr. Smith told me I could.

38,191. But then was it drawn in this way, "To Job "Apted for services," or anything of that sort, "50*l.*"?—No; I think that he only drew a cheque for 30*l.* at first, and I told him that there was some due to other people, and he made it two 30*l.*, so that I did take my salary out of it.

38,192. Why did he draw a sum of 30*l.* first, that is what I want to know?—I cannot explain it.

38,193. Allow me to explain it to you: I asked you yesterday, and I will ask you again to-day this question, when did you agree with Mr. Smith that you were to receive 50*l.* for your fee?—I do not know exactly.

38,194. Was it before the election?—No.

38,195. It was after?—Yes, when we knew what we had got through.

38,196. I do not want to know to the day, but tell me generally when you agreed with Mr. Smith that 50*l.* was to be your fee?—I should think it must have been within about two weeks of the election.

38,197. The cheque itself, out of which you paid yourself, you did not receive till the 26th of October?—I took my salary out of the last cheque.

38,198. No; after that you received a cheque for 40*l.*?—Yes, I did. I beg your pardon.

38,199. It was the last cheque given you but one?—Yes.

38,200. Pray since then, at that time, this 50*l.* had been agreed on by you as your fee?—Yes.

38,201. I mean, agreed between you and Mr. Smith?—Yes.

38,202. How do you account then for this, that when you went to him on the 20th of November he drew you a cheque for your own fee for 30*l.*?—It was in October.

38,203. Yes, I mean the 26th of October; that was a considerable time afterwards; how do you account for that fact, that when you went to him he only drew you a cheque for yourself for 30*l.*?—I suppose that was because I had 30*l.* the previous election, and he kept that, I presume.

38,204. That could not be it?—Well, then I cannot say.

38,205. Then I will take your answer that you cannot account for it?—No; I cannot explain his motives, I can only tell you his actions.

38,206. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) When was the agreement for your fee made?—I should think it was about a fortnight after the election.

38,207. (The Chief Commissioner.) I will take your word for that. I do not at all wish to tie you to the particular time, you may have a month, any way you like?—We did not know the expenses of the election before.

38,208. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) I misunderstood your answer, I took it down, "I was to be paid "my fee when we knew what work we had to do"?—No, what work we had done.

38,209. (The Chief Commissioner.) Pray do not misunderstand me, you may have what latitude you like as to the fortnight after?—I will retain the same statement.

38,210. I dare say you are quite correct, but I do not care whether it was a fortnight, or three weeks, or a month, just exactly as it turns out?—Then I will take a fortnight.

38,211. Then there is this fact left, that on the 26th of October, the day when the cheques were placed at the bank, it was probably a day or two after you were paid them, but on the 26th of October there is this fact, you having already made an arrangement with him for 50*l.*, you received a cheque for yourself for 30*l.*?—Two cheques.

38,212. No; he hands you over 30*l.* for your services. Do you think you can explain that at all?—I cannot explain it any more than I suppose he looked back and saw what the amount was before, and wrote it out carelessly without thinking.

38,213. He could hardly write it out carelessly. I will tell you what makes me lay more stress upon it: unfortunately the stump of it I have left in the house, but I know that he drew these cheques in this way; on the stump was 30*l.* for Apted for himself, and 30*l.* for canvassers?—Then I expect that is the very reason why he drew a second cheque.

38,214. I perfectly well understand that I am not asking you about that; what I want to know is, having made the arrangement with you about the 50*l.*, why he should not draw the first cheque for 50*l.* instead of 30*l.*?—That is the only reason I can give, that he probably looked back to the 1863 election and saw my services were charged 30*l.*

38,215. Here is the cheque for 60*l.*, look at it (handing cheque to witness)?—I thought it was two thirties.

38,216. No, it was not indeed, I am very sure, and I left the stump behind me, but I will go and get it and show it to you. Now you can take my word for it, but I will promise to show you it, that on the stump is written for yourself 30*l.*, and for canvassers 30*l.*; so apparently you had to pay for them?—No, that, of course, did not come into my possession.

38,217. Oh, yes, of course it did?—Not the stump.

38,218. I am only asking you if you can account for it?—If it had been sent to me I should have returned it to him again.

38,219. That being so I will now take you to another matter. I find that you received on the 20th of June a cheque for 9*l.*, which you do not appear to me to have accounted for?—I do not know that I had that to spend at all, it was to give to some one else.

38,220. But all your cheques have been to give to some one else, excepting your own fee?—I have got no 9*l.*

38,221. There is the cheque, I will show you the stump of it if you like?—I do not know anything about that; I have no account that I have received at all that sum, not for myself nor for my own expenditure.

38,222. None of it was for your own expenditure?—All of it, except what I paid over to Mr. Rose.

38,223. Yes, for your own expenditure in that manner, but not for your own pocket?—I mean the 9*l.* I have had nothing to do with expending.

38,224. There is a cheque for 1*l.* 5*s.*, dated the 25th of October?—No, that is not mine, and I think the other is not either.

38,225. Is not that yours?—No, it is for my brother for reporting, and I think the other is too. I think you will find the other is for my brother and not me; I have never seen the cheque to my knowledge.

38,226. Is he here?—There he is (pointing to the table).

38,227. At any rate it would have nothing to do with you?—I believe you will find the other is the same.

38,228. You think it is not yours?—I am certain it is not. Mr. Smith would not pay me an odd 9*l.*

38,229. I do not think you have brought into account a cheque for 4*l.*; what you received was 10*l.*, two 30*l.*'s, and a 40*l.*, making 110*l.* Now here is Job Apted, plain enough, 4*l.* I dare say you are right about the 9*l.*?—I think it is probable I may have taken the 4*l.* cheque to some one, or paid it to some one, or something of the sort.

TWENTY-FIFTH DAY.

J. H. Apted.

19 Sept. 1866.

38,230. I do not at all doubt but that it was paid to you to put in your account?—Not to my knowledge.

38,231. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The whole of these monies, excepting 50*l.*, you are the conducting pipe for?—Yes; then the 4*l.* was probably given to Mr. Glover, as a messenger.

38,232. (The Chief Commissioner.) No, forgive me, it is drawn in your favour. There is another cheque, dated the 2nd of December, which I see is endorsed by you, for 6*l.* 10*s.*, you have not brought that into your account. I only want to get the two cheques right?—Yes; I will give you every information I can.

38,233. It has got "R. E." on the back of it; I do not know what that means, does it mean Reigate election?—Oh, yes, Reigate election is what it should be; a great many have got that.

38,234. You have not brought that into your account?—No, that has been paid in by me early after I received it from Mr. Smith, and no doubt it has got into his account.

38,235. Those two cheques you have got down?—Will you be kind enough to let me have the items, and I can ascertain what I received them for. I will give you the particulars.

38,236. The cheques I have against you are cheques for 6*l.* 10*s.*, and then for 60*l.*; I am not taking them in their chronological order?—The 60*l.* cheque was instead of the two 30*l.*

38,237. Yes, there would be no question about that. Then comes a cheque for 10*l.* on the 9th of June?—You will see that in my account.

38,238. I am telling you what I have against you; here is a cheque for 5*l.*, and then a cheque for 40*l.*, and then a cheque for 4*l.*?—The 4*l.* and the 6*l.* are the only two that are not put down in my account.

38,239. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) There is the cheque for 9*l.*?—The cheque for 9*l.* is my brother's.

38,240. At the present moment it is not clear that that is so?—I should like to have the exact amounts.

38,241. (The Chief Commissioner.) 22nd August 4*l.*; 2nd September 6*l.* 10*s.*; 20th October 5*l.*; that is for your son. 26th October 60*l.*; 20th November 40*l.*; and I see for the 9th of June there is one for 10*l.* I began at the wrong end, so that instead of receceiving 110*l.* you received, in fact, 125*l.* 10*s.*?—Will you kindly give me the cheques that are not in my account? I mean the small cheques.

38,242. Yes; the cheques not in your account are 4*l.* on the 22nd of August, and then the 2nd of September 6*l.*; and then Smith's 9*l.* cheque I presume to have been for your brother, James Apted. I am not proposing you should give regard to that?—Then there are three cheques, amounting to 15*l.* 10*s.* altogether that I have to account for.

38,243. Whether you trouble yourself about going into your accounts for any other purpose there is this fact I wish to bring to your mind; you have received 125*l.* 10*s.*, and how do you make your account right?—I cannot.

38,244. I took particular care to explain the account in the first instance. I made it up to 133*l.* 3*s.* as you know, and the residue was put down for refreshments; that made exactly the right sum?—I have not paid these away for refreshments. From the smallness of the cheques I have no doubt Mr. Smith gave them to me to give somebody else, and I have handed them over to them without taking them into my account, but still I quite admit that I ought to have done so.

38,245. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) The 5*l.* you say you gave your boy?—Yes.

38,246. Then it would be the 6*l.* and 10*l.*, and the 4*l.*?—Yes.

38,247. (The Chief Commissioner.) I do not wish to conceal anything from you at all. I am not so particularly anxious about this account of 15*l.* and 10*l.*?—Yes; but I am rather more anxious over that than you can be.

38,248. I dare say you can give us a very good account of it. Do not misunderstand me; all I am anxious to do is to show you that you have not given us in the first instance correct accounts, and I wish to tell you why you have not; it is because you have burnt the originals; you would not condescend to give us the originals?—With respect to the originals I should say this, that it is not businesslike until we put an account into an intelligible shape to hand it over to anybody. If there was a customer who came into my shop to ask me for an account, I should not take him the day book, but I should take him to my ledger.

38,249. No doubt but what that may be all very well, as between you and a customer but when you are submitting accounts to a third person in the shape of an auditor, like Mr. Smith, you always give a man the vouchers; you did not give the vouchers?—I believe that I did.

38,250. You told us yesterday you burnt them?—I did not say anything of the kind.

38,251. You said yesterday you had burnt them?—I said I had burnt my accounts, not the vouchers. I did not say I had burnt the vouchers.

38,252. (Mr. Commissioner Smith.) You said you had not taken receipts at all for many of those?—I do not think you will find that in my evidence; in fact, I am certain that you will not find that in my evidence.

(The Chief Commissioner.) I have not much more to ask you as to this part.

(The Witness.) I will hear all that is true, but not more.

38,253. I hope I have not said anything that is not true; I was not aware that I had done so?—No, you did not.

38,254. I have stuck closely to what you said, and gone no further?—Quite right.

38,255. The money you paid to the voters you canvassed amounted to 26*l.* 13*s.*; you told us that this morning, and I dare say you are about right?—Yes, I think that is within a few shillings.

38,256. Are you able to tell me how much money was paid to men of that description, voters, during Mr. Gower's election for him?—No.

38,257. You cannot?—No.

38,258. I should like to know from you?—I have no doubt I could ascertain for you, but I only know so far as myself is concerned.

38,259. That is 26*l.* 10*s.*?—Yes; and I can tell you a little more than that. Rose and Ede had 30*l.*

38,260. It would be a very small sum to add to the 26*l.*; it would only make it a little above 56*l.* Can you tell me any more?—I cannot.

38,261. Can you say how much money you believe?—Only so far as my own account is concerned; we were almost independent of each other.

38,262. You may have compared notes since. I should like to get it from you if you know it?—I do not.

38,263. Not at all?—No.

38,264. Were you aware at the time of the election in '65 how many voters received money; you saw through the list of course carefully?—Do you mean gifts of every description, such as pheasants; if a gentleman has received a pheasant?

38,265. Oh, no, I do not mean that; you went through the list, and I rather expected you would be able to tell me?—No, I am not.

38,266. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Pheasants would not be very plentiful in July?—They would in October, and the accounts were not settled till then.

38,267. (The Chief Commissioner.) Can you tell me the number of persons, voters, who received money; I do not say properly or improperly?—I cannot tell you, indeed.

38,268. (Mr. Commissioner O'Brien.) Out of 430 who voted for Mr. Gower?—I think if you hand up the list of those who have been summoned it would include every one.

38,269. How many voted for Mr. Gower?—We had 197 majority.

(Mr. Commissioner Smith.) 473 voted for Mr. Gower, and 276 for Mr. Monson.

38,270. (The Chief Commissioner.) Out of the 473 how many received anything?—It is impossible for me to say.

38,271. I tell you how it might be possible; by comparing notes. One might say, I have paid money to 40, and another to 46, all the way round; so that I think it would be very possible for an active man like you to put it down in detail and add it up?—It would have been quite possible, but I have not done it.

38,272. I will take your answer. I am only sorry I cannot get at it, but are you aware there were over 200 persons, voters, of the 473 to whom money was given?—No, sir.

38,273. I do not say what amount?—No, I was not aware of the fact.

38,274. You were not aware at all what number had received money?—No.

38,275. Now I am going back to the election of 1863?—That is Mr. Gower and Mr. Wilkinson.

38,276. Yes; have you any account of the monies received and paid over in that election?—I found a book, but whether it is the account I do not know; it seems to have been made up in some places, and not in others. I thought I had lost it.

38,277. You received money to pay out in 1863?—Yes.

38,278. Can you tell me now from memory or anything else how much money you received in 1863?—I should say, as far as my memory goes, from 150*l.* to 200*l.*

38,279. I wanted it a little nearer than that; cannot you give it me?—I really cannot give it.

38,280. Who did you receive the money from?—I received all of it from Mr. Smith, but I think not in cheques. I think at that election Mr. Smith did not pay in cheques.
